We would like to quote once again Judge Housholder's remarks and hope it will be a lesson to kids in the future. "The only difference between what you four did and premeditated murder is the fact that you didn't have a gun." The judge, who usually keeps his composure added that although he didn't like to give the harsh sentence "I must do what I think is right." "I cannot give you another chance." "The vandalism could have been fatal if the motorcyclist who was shot had lost control of his vehicle and veered for life with their names in the paper and they now realize the wrongs they had committed If these youngsters are sent to re-

We hope the judge will reconsider his stand. He has the respect of us all and will gain even more in stature if he is merciful now.

If this Confession is ratified by two-thirds of all the Presbyteries and approved by the next General Assembly in May of 1967, our church may well have undergone the most radical and revolutionary change in its entire history. At the General Assembly, there was little opportunity for effective opposition, criticism or careful consideration of such an important change. Therefore, anything that is to be done to stop this Confession from being adopted must be done by lay members and concerned ministers. As members of the Presbyterian Lay Committee, we are opposed to this new Confession. We firmly believe that, in its attempt to update the confessional position of the church, it undermines certain basics of our Christian faith. It also lacks the clarity of our time honored Westminster Confession. The purpose of this call is (1) to make sure that every Presbyterian is fully aware of the sweeping changes that have been proposed (2) to indicate what this may mean to the future of the Church and (3) what you still can do about it if you disagree with the changes being proposed.

Very few Presbyterians have read The Proposed Book o Confessions as it was approved by the 178th General Assembly in Boston on May 24, 1966. A surprising number of laymen are not even aware that such radical and revolutionary changes in the confessional position of the United Presbyterian Church are being proposed.

This proposed document is the result of some eight years of work of a Special Committee on a Brief Contemporary Statement of Faith. It then was reviewed and revised by a special Committee of Fifteen which considered suggestions submitted by Synods, Presbyteries, Ministers, Church Sessions and lay members.

As often happens with the written efforts of committees, the resulting product is so full of compromises. concessions, contradictions, and obscure sentences that it promotes serious disagreements in the way it is interpreted and applied.

Far more serious, however, is the radical nature of some of the proposals that shatter the very foundation of our faith.

All this has disturbed an increasing number of dedicated members. They are concerned over the direction our church is taking in its interpretation of the Bible and in its becoming more and more involved in secular matters at the expense of the true ecclesiastic mission of the church as defined in the Westminster Confession.

I. THE CHANGES

Let us illustrate with a few of the more radical changes found in the Confession of 1967. Space does not permit printing of the entire sections referred to. You can get the full context by reading the "Proposed Book of Confes-

Is the Bible "Words of Men" or the "Infallible Word of God"?

Did you realize that the Bible will no longer be considered as the inspired and infallible word of God? How far the authors would go in humanizing the Bible can be realized in this excerpt from the new Confession:

"The Scriptures, given under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, are nevertheless the words of men, conditioned by the language, thought forms, and literary fashions of the places and times in which they were written. They reflect views of life, history and the cosmos which were then current. The church, therefore, has an obligation to approach the Scriptures with literary and historical understanding, (Part I, Sec. C, No. 2)

The Westminster Confession which is a part of our church constitution clearly states the truth that has guided us for twenty centuries:

"The authority of the Holy Scripture, for which it ought to be believed and obeyed, dependeth not upon the testimony of any man or church, but wholly upon God (who is truth itself) the author thereof; and therefore it is to be received because it is the word of God." (Chapter I, No. 4)

The Bible contains over 3,000 references to "the Word of God" as put into the mouths of the Prophets. Christ himself accepted the revelations of the Prophets as the true Word of God, and Christ, being Divine, could not have made a mistake.

Are you willing to give up your belief in the Bible as the true and infallible Word of God? Are the Scriptures a divine guide or is the Bible a human and, therefore, unreliable document?

The new Confession now attempts to answer these questions in a way that weakens the concept of the Bible as we have always accepted it. It claims to be a modern document necessary to challenge the modern age. But careful study reveals a close parallel between the criticism of the Scriptures as stated in this new Confession and the criticism of atheists and extreme liberals down through history.

Involvement in Social. Political and Economic Issues

Here are three more illustrations of radical changes that are proposed by the new Confession:

"In each time and place there are particular problems and crises through which God calls the church to act. The following are particularly urgent at the present time: (Part II, Sec. A, No. 4)

- 4a "The church is called to bring all men to receive and uphold one another as persons in all relationships of life: in employment, housing, education, leisure, marriage, family, church, and the exercise of political rights. Therefore, the church labors for the abolition of all racial discrimination. Congregations, individuals, or groups of Christians who exclude, dominate, or patronize their fellow men, however subtly, resist the Spirit of God and bring contempt on the faith which they possess."
- 4b "The church, in its own life, is called to practice the forgiveness of enemies and to commend to the nations as practical politics the search for cooperation and peace. This requires the pursuit of fresh and responsible relations across every line of conflict even at risk to national security, to reduce areas of strife and to broaden international understanding."
- 4c "A church that ... evades responsibility in economic affairs ... offers no acceptable worship to God."

Do you accept the belief that your church should take whatever position on any political, social, or economic issue the governing body of the church decides is the proper one? Who decides what issues are to be opposed, what are to be supported? On what basis are church leaders qualified to make a judgment on such secular problems of the day?

"Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God, the things that are God's" is the way Christ answered this whole question (Matthew 22:21). The Westminster Confession states it clearly: "Synods and councils are to handle or conclude nothing but that which is ecclesiastical, and are not to inter-

It is your duty to become involved on such a serious issue!

Protestant denominations generally have limited themselves in their jurisdiction to ecclesiastical and spiritual subjects. This fundamental was recognized by Christ, the Apostles, the Early Church, The Reformers, the Westminster Divines, and our own Church founders. However, all these have encouraged their members to become involved in economic, social, and political affairs wherever they possessed competence and knowledge as individuals, but not under the dictates of the Church.

II. WHAT THE CHANGES SIGNIFY

The 1967 Confession does not ring true. It is so filled with ambiguities, undefined statements, involved meanings, and obscure language that it becomes possible to rationalize almost any point of view the reader seeks to establish.

The Westminster Confession of Faith, on the other hand, is so clearly and succinctly stated that anyone who can read can understand its meaning. It does not require group of intellectuals to explain it.

This greatest of all our church documents has been the safeguard of our Faith for centuries. As included in "The Proposed Book of Confessions" issued August 1966, the Westminster Confession of Faith remains as a part of our Church Constitution, although the Confession of 1967 makes only passing reference to it. Presumably it will have future recognition only from a literary, technical, and historical standpoint. Thus, its power to safeguard the Faith of our fathers will have been severely limited.

III. WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT If you agree that the new Confession is unclear, unsound, and should be subject to more study, review, revision, and redefinition, then organize yourself into a committee of one and take these simple steps:

1. Obtain a copy of "The Proposed Book of Confessions" and read carefully both "The Confession of 1967" and "The Westminster Confession of Faith." (If you cannot get one at your church, then order one from the office of the General Assembly, the United Presbyterian Church, 510 Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia, Pa., or from the address below and enclose $1.00.)

Express your opinion to your Minister and each member of your session.

3. Find out who will be the Elder chosen as the law Representative of your church who will vote at the Presbytery meeting called to ratify the new Confession. 4. Personally contact this Representative and give him your views. Remember, Representatives cannot be "instructed" how to vote. They are expected to "vote their conscience." 5. Talk to your friends in the church. Get them to express their views likewise.

6. Urge both your Minister and lay Representative to vote "NO" on the proposed Confession, with the understanding that it will be returned to General Assembly for further study and review.

There is no reason to rush these changes through just because of a deadline date in 1967. Our church has survived for nearly 300 years with a much better Confession of Faith written by the Westminster Divines who deliberated on it for years. Another year or so of deliberation will not be catastrophic. Hasty approval could be. It is unfortunate that not enough lay people have become exercised about this new Confession before this. However, the power of public opinion is a real power. So, this is your chance to demonstrate it.
