

'Dan Cupid' Gets Rough Time In Soviet Union

By Leon Dennen
NEW YORK (NEA) — What should a nubile Communist girl do when a romantic young Red invites her to a party at a country house and then, after consuming a glass of vodka, tries to kiss her?

According to Komsomolskaya Pravda, Russia's official youth publication, she should slap his face, stalk out of the dacha and report his offense to the newspaper. That is exactly what Comrade Miss Svetlana did after she "innocently" accepted an invitation to a party at a dacha near Moscow. She slapped the young man's face and denounced him in an indignant letter to the Komsomolskaya Pravda.

But did Miss Svetlana's friends appreciate her courageous act? Not at all, reported Pravda's angry editors. In fact, the paper was deluged with letters from "romantic" girls who hardly shared Miss Svetlana's pure Marxist-Leninist view of necking.

What puts them in a dither is that this preoccupation with love between the sexes keeps young men and women from the only thing that counts—working and producing for the Communist state. But physical love, alas, is just too impudent to be regimented, Communist style. And there are no "sacred" Marxist-Leninist texts giving guidance as to how romantic love should be handled in a materialistic collective society.

So, despite strict orders to substitute love of work and love of the Communist party for physical love, romantic capitalist love laughs at traitors, factories and locksmiths. The authorities are forced to admit this, however reluctantly. The director of Communist Poland's Academy of Science—putting the best possible face on the resurgence of romanticism—recently said:

"We are now facing an imbalance in various fields, including love. I venture to say that romanticism is disappearing. However, love cannot exist without sincere courtship and gentlemanliness, because such a lack would deny the very essence of the love union."

The Red leaders are obviously in a quandary. What makes it difficult for them to expound a strict Communist line on sex is that there is none that can serve the Red state on all occasions.

In the early days of the Russian revolution, there were continuous jobs at the family as an outdated institution of the "old capitalist order." Alexandra Kollontai, Lenin's close collaborator and Russia's apostle of "free love," even preached that the family was "ceasing to be a necessity for its members as well as for the Communist state."

19 Persons Dead In 5 Years Of Rights Strife

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, of Detroit, fatally shot by a sniper Thursday as she helped run a shuttle service for Negroes between Selma and Montgomery, became the third person to die in the current civil rights struggle in Alabama.

The 33-year-old mother of five also was the ninth person to die in civil rights causes during the 1960s.

Rev. James J. Reeb, Unitarian minister from Boston, was the first white person to die in Dr. Martin Luther King's nine weeks old voter registration drive that was climaxed Thursday with a march on the state Capitol at Montgomery.

Reeb was fatally beaten on a Selma street and died several days later, on March 11. Reeb's death signaled the influx of numerous clergymen into Alabama and demonstrations in his behalf were staged all over the United States.

Jimmie Lee Jackson, a 26-year-old Negro pulpwood cutter, was killed earlier in racial violence in Marion, Ala.

Other whites killed:

Sept. 30, 1962—Paul Guihard, French newsman, and Walter Roy Gunter, Oxford TV repairman, killed in a desegregation riot at the University of Mississippi.

April 23, 1963—William L. Moore, 35, Baltimore, shot to death on a protest march near Gadsden, Ala.

June 6, 1963—Fred Link, automobile mechanic, killed by a rifle bullet fired into a crowd of whites at Lexington, N. C.

April 7, 1964—Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, crushed to death in Cleveland, Ohio, by bulldozer during a demonstration against de facto segregation at a new school under construction in a Negro neighborhood.

Aug. 4, 1964—Bodies of Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, both white, and James Chaney, Negro, found buried in an earthen dam near Philadelphia, Miss. They were believed slain on June 18.

Serving will be Mrs. Virginia Hughes, president; Mrs. Imogene Yarborough, vice president; Mrs. Polly Denton, secretary, and Mrs. Maxine Ricks, treasurer.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Dora Russell, a rummage sale to be sponsored by the organization was rescheduled for April 9-10 after an earlier postponement. The sale will be held at the corner of First Street and Sanford Avenue in Sanford.

Mrs. Roy Nichols, principal of the school who was in charge of the program, spoke on problems facing the school during the coming year.

He's On Way To Last 'Lockup'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Harold Normandale, the most-arrested man in New Orleans, died Thursday. He was 65.

Normandale made nearly 200 trips to the lockup.

His last arrest was August, 1964, for loitering. The charge was dismissed.

"I'm square with the world. I never want to see another policeman again," said Normandale in 1959.

Police said most of his arrests were for narcotics violations, but he also was picked up on charges ranging from minor traffic infractions to manslaughter.

His first arrest was in November, 1917, at age 17 for breaking and entering and petty larceny.

Space Weapons May Place Reds Ahead Of U. S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, retired Air Force chief of staff, warns that Russia may be developing space weapons that would give the Soviets military superiority over the United States.

LeMay told a dinner of the National Security Industrial Association Thursday night that the Soviet Union may develop weapons that would leapfrog U. S. military progress and upset the balance of power which has existed since World War II.

The retired four-star general, who left the Air Force's top post Feb. 1, also warned that Red China is capable of developing intercontinental missiles with nuclear warheads. He said this would be an "extremely serious threat to the United States."

Although U. S. military power is supreme now, LeMay said, the nation is following a "conservative" weapons development program that could jeopardize its lead.

The country that gains military superiority in the future will be the one which has "vision and purpose to capitalize on the promises of technology," he said.

LeMay said that the military, industrial and scientific communities formed an "unofficial but essential alliance," forged originally during World War II.

The alliance produced the abundance of weapons which deterred "a giant of a nation"—Russia—and forced it to alter its aggressive course in the postwar years, LeMay said.

He expressed confidence that defense policy makers would expand the American military effort if they see increasing threats to the country. But he said it was up to military, industrial and scientific leaders as well "to speak out firmly if they feel the danger signs are not being heard."

Moon Landing Spots 'Found' By Ranger 9

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ranger 9 found two and possibly three spots for the America's Apollo spaceship and its two-man crew to land on the moon.

The information was relayed to President Johnson and the cabinet Thursday by James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It was based on a preliminary survey of the more than 3,000 pictures that Ranger 9 took Wednesday morning as it soared in on the crater Alphonsus. Rangers 7 and 8 had photographed plains areas of the moon's surface.

Webb told reporters after the cabinet session that the Ranger 9 photographs enabled

U. S. lunar experts to "now know there are two spots—probably three—where we can land on the moon, but we will need and get lots of other information."

What scientists had hoped to check was whether the floor and ridges of the craters would be firm enough to support a spacecraft as it settles down for a landing. There is still question whether the plains areas are too soft.

The Ranger 9 was the last flight of this particular spacecraft. Next in line is Surveyor, scheduled for a year or so from now, which will land on the moon and send back reports on the composition of the lunar surface.

Space Twins Jolted Only Once On Flight

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Gemini 3 spaceship that gave space twins Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young a three-orbit ride around earth reduced the rigors of re-entry by half.

By gliding their capsule into earth's atmosphere, the astronauts felt only four times the pull of gravity instead of the eight experienced when one-man Mercury ships dived into earth's thick air.

The one jolt that did occur during the pioneering Gemini mission last Tuesday knocked a hole in the face plate of Grissom's helmet and scratched Young's face plate.

Grissom said the mishap occurred when the parachute suspension system on the capsule switched from a single line on the craft's nose to a three-point connecting system to position the spacecraft for landing.

"When I went to the three-point attitude, this thing flops down very hard and John and I both hit the windshield. This was the biggest surprise to me in the whole day."

Spain Wins First Round in Feud

By Fred McMane
UPI Sports Writer
Bobby Spain may yet have the last laugh on Warren Spain, but give round one of their celebrated feud to Spanish and credit the Met hurler with a much deserved belly laugh.

The feud between the Milwaukee manager and the former Brave southpaw, which began last July, was rekindled Wednesday when Bragan told reporters that he didn't believe Spain could pitch any more than three innings a game any more. When Spain heard this statement, he preferred not to talk but insisted he would let his pitching speak for him.

The 42-year-old hurler wasted no time in proving his point. He went out Thursday and calmly held the New York Yankees at bay for six innings as the Mets defeated the Bombers 5-2. Not only did Spain's arm do some talking, but his bat as well as he stroked a home run in the seventh off John Breenman to give the Mets their margin of victory.

Keane Pulls Big Switch, Aims For Series Title

By Leo H. Peterson
UPI Sports Editor
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Johnny Keane has pulled the biggest switch in baseball and aims to finish exactly where it started—in the World Series.

Keane inherited a set ball club—with power, speed and pitching. "We haven't any problems," he insists, "or we wouldn't be talking pennant."

At the most there are only three positions open on the 1965 team and they are not in starting roles.

The Yankees start off with an outfield of Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Tommy Trotter; an infield of Joe Pepitone at first base, Bobby Richardson at second, Tony Kubek at short and Clete Boyer at third; and the game's last season—the Yankees fifth straight pennant. No team ever has won it six years in a row but the odds-makers say it will be done this year, for Keane's Yankees are a 6-3 favorite.

Then there's the pitching, beginning with starters Whitey Ford, Jim Bouton, Al Downing and Mel Stottlemyre and Pedro Ramos in the bullpen. The Yankees were hurt for a starting pitcher and a relief hurler last season, so first they called up the 23-year-old Stottlemyre and won three games while losing three. Then they got Ramos from Cleveland and he responded by winning one game and saving 13 in the Yankees' stretch run to the pennant.

Ball Club President Has No Easy Chore

By Milton Richman
TAMPA UPI—Nine out of 10 kids coming out of college today are a little leery about starting at the bottom of the ladder.

Keane is looking for a fifth starter with Steve Hamilton, 7-2, Bill Stafford, 5-0 and Roland Sheldon, 5-2, the leading candidates. The two who don't make it will form up the bullpen corps with Ramon, Pete Mikkelsen (7-4) and Hal Reniff (6-4).

It's a tip off on the kind of horses Keane has going for him as he strives to become the first manager in baseball history to win two pennants and two World Series in separate leagues in successive years.

Florida Relays Draw 150 Teams

MacPhail follows the Orioles around closely during spring training, not so much because he likes to, but primarily because he has to in order for him to make some vital decisions before they open the regular season against the White Sox on April 13.

"We have to come to several decisions in the next few weeks," said MacPhail on one of Baltimore's exhibition stops here.

Chaparrals New Threat At Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI)—Two streaking white cars from the Texas plains unveiled a secret weapon today to plague the beleaguered racers of Ferrari, seeking their fifth consecutive victory in Saturday's 12 hours of Sebring.

'Silvia' At Ritz

Two of Hollywood's most exciting stars, Carroll Baker and George Maharis, appear together on the screen for the first time in "Silvia," Paramount's exciting new romance-drama which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

This Martin Poll production, co-starring such top names as Joanne Dru, Peter Lawford, Viveca Lindfors, Edmond O'Brien, Aldo Ray, Ann Sothern and Lloyd Bochner, is certain to be one of the year's most controversial films.

Sylvia West (Carroll Baker), a budding poetess, is engaged to Frederic Summers (Peter Lawford), an ultrarich industrialist. Summers, eccentric as he is, wonders if Sylvia loves him for what he is, or for the money that he has.

Don't forget that the Mar Lou serves luncheons as well as full dinners - wonderful charcoal-broiled steaks are their specialty, along with delicious, spicy pizza, made in their own special way by the Chef. DID YOU TRY those scrumptious barbecued ribs at the PIG AND WHISTLE last weekend? You did, you say? Then you really got a bargain! They are featuring the same delicious taste treat this week, at the real price, instead of the one that was erroneously advertised last week. At any price, they will make your mouth water - Mrs. Hickson is out there cookin' them up now, just waiting for you to come and get 'em!

Highlights

TV Time Previews

9:30-10 p.m. (NBC) Jack Benny program. "Dennis Open Bank Account." A lot of laughs at the opening of the show as Jack, his press agent and a photographer close it up. Then the show settles down to the serious business of getting Dennis to open his first bank account with the funds coming straight from a messy, bigging piggy bank. As long as Jack's in the bank, he decides to visit his $5,000-a-year safe deposit vault and what he keeps hidden there should offer only a momentary jolt before logic takes over.

to be shown on TV. NBC received more than 50,000 letters requesting the rest of the film to be shown, and here is Bob's answer. Besides Janis Paige, Anita Bryant, Anna Maria Albergotti, Jerry Colonna, John Bubbles and Les Brown, there will be studio guests and Bob will deliver a new monologue. 9:10 p.m. (CBS) The Great Adventure. "The Outlaw and the Nun." (Rerun) An exciting and sometimes humorous of a drama told the conscience of a lawless town (Trinidad, Colo., 1872) in her fight to provide education. She subdues Billy the Kid (Andrew Price) and then bullies the town boss (Lull Erickson) into acting as her trusted officer. The grimy courageous nun is Joan Hackett.

Slattery goes into action, investigates the home, takes on an entire legislative committee and beats down their objections to keeping the home open. Ed Wynn is an appealing older and Richard Kiley has some good moments as the director of the home. 10-11 p.m. (NBC) The Jack Paar Show. (Color) Jack has two girl singers as guests tonight and, as usual, Peggy Lee takes over, even though Dorothy Loudon is very good in her melody of "Remember That" songs and her "Songs That Never Went Anyplace." Peggy sings "Pass Me By" and her own version of "Hello, Dolly." William C. Marland, the former governor of West Virginia who was recently found driving a cab in Chicago, talks with Jack about his days as governor and as a hackie. Writer Cindy Adams shows a brief film sequence of Indonesia's President Sukarno, about whom she has written a book.

7:30-8:30 p.m. (NBC) International Showtime, "Fairyland Circus." Guess what! Here's a show loaded with jugglers, acrobats, clowns, dogs, animals and magic. A standard line-up for circus buffs, with the best moments offered by the dog act. 8-8:30 p.m. (ABC) The Farmer's Daughter. "Katy's Campaign." Katy turns out to be a pretty good politician. She runs for president of a women's club and learns that her chief campaign asset is her chief campaign deficit; an unmarried woman will make a better president than a married one because she has more time and fewer responsibilities. Glen wants her to lose, but he refuses to catch on to the one surefire method of sabotaging her campaign. It's left up to Agatha to pull the right strings.

9:30-10 p.m. (ABC) FDR. "Rendezvous With Destiny." Against a backdrop of turbulent and threatening international conditions, this half hour covers FDR's controversial attempt to pack the Supreme Court and to rid his party of its effective conservative opposition. He falls on both counts and what might have happened politically is overshadowed by the military explosions in Europe. This program gives one the feeling of history racing forward. 10-11 p.m. (CBS) Slattery's People. "Question: What Ever Happened to Ezra?" (Rerun) It seems probable that a home for the aged will be closed because of it director's disregard of conventional methods of operation. But, when resident Ed Wynn makes a personal appeal,

10-11 p.m. (ABC) 12 O'Clock High. "Mutiny At 10,000 Feet." Larry Flyden usually does an effective job as a villain and in this one he does it again. His victim is poor General Savage (Robert Lansing) seems to be taking a beating from everyone (these days). Taking advantage of Savage's normal premission behavior, Captain Kemp (Flyden) tries to make it look as if Savage is having a breakdown and is unfit for command. The captain's object: to get out of the Air Force and the war by landing in Switzerland. Savage is a good talker or next week the series might be called "Inter-

Cadette Scouts Visit Capital

Girl Scout Cadette Troop 338 took advantage of recent school holidays to make a four-day trip to Tallahassee where the girls toured state buildings and worked on their "My Government" badge. Mrs. Nance Russell is troop leader.

During their stay they camped at Silver Lake Recreation Area 15 miles outside the capital. The group left Casselberry Thursday morning arriving at their destination that afternoon in the rain. The sun appeared Friday for the tour of Tallahassee. First stop was at the capitol building where they visited the office of Gov. Haydon Burns, who was out of town, and the House and Senate Chambers. Their guide pointed out the desks of Seminole County's Rep. Joe Davis and Sen. Mack Cleveland. Mrs. Lucille Rogers, personal secretary to Gov. Burns and former governor, Farris Bryant, pointed out that his private office is in the process of being redecorated. At the State Supreme Court Building, the girls had as their distinguished guide, the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The beautiful building was built in 1948 and James Gamble Rogers of Winter Park was architect, a point of interest to the girls as he designed many lovely homes and buildings in Casselberry, such as the Casselberry Community Methodist Church and the picturesque Normandy style houses on the highway. The impressive and dignified atmosphere of the supreme court is set by the tall black marble columns in the rotunda and green velvet drapings of the courtroom.

For a change in pace the group drove out to Killbuck Gardens State Park, which was in full array for spring time. Acres of azaleas provided masses of color reflected in the pools. Camellias were the size of trees and many spring beauties unfamiliar to Seminole Countians such as dogwood, red magnolia, apple, cherry, wild azalea, hyacinths and jonquils, were in full bloom. A cold front brought chilly breezes, air conditioning the cabin with its many open windows, so the superintendent thoughtfully stapled up mattress covers over the windows for Saturday night.

Many of the meals were prepared over an open fire in front of the cabin and served al fresco. To keep from freezing to death, the campers kept busy Saturday playing outdoor games. A camping sing that night was the occasion for the presentation of the International Friendship Pin to the girl chosen by her fellow scouts as "Girl Scout of the Weekend." Co-leader Pam Cannon announced that Estia Leonard was recipient of this honor. After breakfast and packing up their gear Sunday morning, the girls held an inspirational "Scout's Own" service on "Friendship" outdoors. Scouts making the trip not previously named were Sharon Warren, Cheryl Watters, Karen Donaldson, Debbie Webber, Barbara Andrews, Pam Lyons, Joan Higgins and Melinda Casselberry. Mrs. Leonard Casselberry also accompanied the group.

LBJ Opens 'New' News Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson cast a quick glance around his crowded, littered cabinet room and said quite pointedly, "God have mercy on your souls."

His remark was addressed Thursday to about 20 reporters being inducted into a new, slightly disjointed phase of the Johnson public information policy—a mass cabinet news conference.

This newest facet of the President's "tell-'em-everything-possible" program provided a mass of information for the public. But some of the star performers were too busy with immediate problems of war and diplomacy to stick around for their turn on stage.

Freke Change

YEOVIL, England (UPI)—Declaring that British men are too dull in their personal appearance a local barber launched a new fad by dyeing his beard blue and his bushy moustache blond. His name—John Freke.

Either Holland or The Netherlands is proper as a name for the Dutch nation.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, for example, could not wait for his turn to talk about Viet Nam and Red China because the first cabinet officer called upon to report was Commerce Secretary John T. Connor who talked at some length about the balance of payments.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara lingered only long enough to express his indignation over racial job discrimination at Craig AFB outside Selma, Ala., then he had to rush back to the Pentagon.

But other cabinet officers and agency heads remained on hand for statements and questions. The President himself, supplied several statements which he had read to a two-hour closed meeting of the cabinet.

With the dialogue came a shower of mimeographed texts and long reports. Included was a statement by Johnson on policy in Southeast Asia, an order for a country-by-country examination of U. S. programs overseas and a review of economy in government. Reporters tried to keep the documents in a semblance of order, make notes and ask questions at the same time. This was why Johnson, as he viewed their efforts to stay afloat in a flood of fact and opinion, commended the newsmen to divine mercy.

They needed it, along with fat notebooks, pencils and a catalogue familiarity with everything from space flight to the Gross National Product (GNP), from summer jobs for restless youth to lunar landing surfaces.

The regular cabinet meeting lasted from 1 to 3 p. m. Thursday. The session with reporters went on for another hour. White House Press Secretary George E. Bedy explained that within security limitations, the mass cabinet news conference would be a relatively regular feature in line with the President's desire to keep the public fully informed on its government.

Improves Image

LONDON (UPI)—The British railroad system, anxious to improve its image as a modern, streamlined industry, recently changed its name from "British Railways" to "British Rail." It announced recently another step forward—replacement of its locomotives' 1840-style kerosene lamp with powerful electric models.

Next on the agenda was a tour of the Agricultural Department's Division of Standards Laboratories, which are kept busy testing products and standardizing weights and measures to protect the state's consumers.

Such items as gasoline, brake fluid, pesticides, feeds and fertilizers are tested to make sure they live up to advertised standards. They were shown master weights, measurements and scales used in calibrating all those in the state.

They visited the Pesticide Residue Lab similar to the one located in Sanford at the Farmers' Market. By then the scouts and their leaders were more than ready for lunch and a chance to sit down in the cafeteria located Seminole County's population growth is projected as second highest out of 15 counties in Florida expected to grow most in total number of people by 1975.

This information, from the latest Florida Kiplinger Letter, projects a growth of 83 per cent for Seminole in 10 years.

The projection is for a population of 96,000 in Seminole by January, 1970 and 128,000 by 1975. That would be an increase of 37,000 over the current estimated population.

The newest estimates of Florida's future growth are based on talks with population experts, government, business and industry leaders.

There seems to be some question about the size of the Senator, the giant cypress at Big Tree Park. The figure mentioned by the "Clock" the other day was 35 feet, 2 inches around. That is the figure listed by the Florida Forest Service in its December Reporter. A speaker on a recent television program referred to the circumference as 53 feet, two inches.

Seminole County Sportsmen's Association will hold a fish fry at its new pavilion near the Wekiva River Friday night.

The Kiwanis Club's annual Pancake Day is reported to be about the most successful ever. The financial report isn't complete but it is expected to be very good.

The DCT banquet, an annual event honoring employers of students in the program will take place at the Seminole High School cafeteria, or student lounge, as it is called, on April 6. That's next Tuesday, rather than this week.

Science fairs are wonderful events. Despite derogatory charges made against today's teenagers, a trip to a junior and high school science fair will put today's youth into their proper perspective. You feel kind of stupid as you walk around and try to comprehend the brilliant work of these science students, who write knowledgeably of things we never even heard of a generation ago.

The Space Age we are living in today is really hard for the average person to comprehend. Just how hard is brought home at a Science Fair, when half of what these students are demonstrating is over the head of most of their parents.

One of the most fascinating facets of this era is an entirely new subject, entitled Earth-Space Science. They are just now writing the textbooks about it. One of Seminole County's teachers, Ronald Hill of South Seminole Junior High School, will help write such a book this summer.

247 Persons Die In Chile 'Quake

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)— Authorities disclosed today that 247 persons died in the earthquake that devastated a wide area of central Chile Sunday.

National police officially listed as dead 214 residents of the village of La Cobre which was wiped out by tons of mud and water when a dam burst.

Elsewhere, 33 persons were known dead, including four each in Santiago and Valparaiso — Chile's two largest cities.

Merchants Favor Lakefront Project, Survey Shows

By Paul Brookshire
Downtown merchants jukewarm in their support of the lakefront project? Not hardly.
Mention words like "apathetic," "indifferent," and "dragging heels" to these people and they come out fighting.
Every merchant polled by The Sanford Herald said he was unquestionably for the proposed marina and lakefront improvement plan.
"We're 40 years late right now," said John D. Ivey, of Ivey's Shoe Store. "The lake is not being used for a real good purpose when it could be our biggest asset."

"Terrific" and "wonderful" were words used by Miss Doris Fleming, of Fleming's, when asked for her reaction on the project.
"I think it will be terrific and a money-making thing," she said.
Francis Roumillat, of Roumillat & Anderson Drugs, said he is 100 per cent behind the marina.
"It is our only answer to save our identity as a community," he declared. "I will give my time and whatever effort I can to get this project started."
Glenn McCall, of Touchton's, had a similar response to reports merchants were not giving their all in support of the lakefront-improvement.

"We're 100 per cent behind it," he said. "Anything we can do, we'll do it. We are giving our full support to the city commission and are willing to help anyway we can."
Manuel Jacobson, of Jacobson's department store, echoed sentiments of the same nature:
"We're all for it," he said. "Everyone I know is for it."
Howard Hodges, president of Sanford Atlantic National Bank, had this to say:
"We're solidly behind the program. It will create an image for our city."

At Florida State Bank, Vice President Loring Burgess commented:
"We have been spearheading this from the beginning and there is no question where we stand."
B. L. Perkins Jr., of Perkins Men's wear, said he couldn't understand how talk got started that the downtown merchants might not be supporting lakefront improvement.
"We're certainly for it. We feel it is our biggest asset and we hope it goes through," he said.
Charles Robinson, of J. C. Penney's, said simply, "we're all for it."

44 Students Win Honors In Science Fair

By Evelyn Lundy
Awards ceremony which climaxed the two-day Seminole County Regional Science Fair was held in the Oviedo School auditorium with 44 students receiving ribbons, trophies, bonds and cash.
Six of the students will have their exhibits entered in the State Science Fair in Orlando April 8-9. All received savings bonds from the sponsors of the fair as well as blue ribbons.
