Board Urges Extension Of Security Act

Group Recommends Old Age Pensions Should Cover All Employed Persons

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Thousands of American farm hands, kitchen maids and government employees rostered today for the Social Security Board, which asked Congress to extend old age pension benefits to workers not now covered.

The board's recommendation was that Social Security benefits be broadened to include all gainfully-employed workers. This would cover the man in business for himself, the farmer and the farm worker, maids, butlers and other domestic help, government employees and workers in non-profit organizations. Such people, an estimated 22,000,000, now have no federal old age protection.

The Social Security Board also urged that the present scale of old-age benefits be increased, especially for low paid workers. Another recommendation was that the annual amount of income which counts toward Social Security benefits be stepped up from $3,000 to $3,600.

The board asked Congress to lower the pension age limit for women from 65 to 60.

Soil Conservation Program Beginning

The 1947 soil conservation program is beginning, according to C. R. Dawson, county agent, who announced that the first step in this program is for the operator to apply for or his intention to participate in the 1947 program.

This may be done by the applicant coming to the county agent's office and signing a prepared form, or a form mailed to him, or sending a letter or card stating intention to participate in the 1947 program.

At the close of business, Mar. 15, the books will be closed and those who have filed their intention to participate will be eligible for payment for soil conservation acres carried out on the farm.

Those who fail to meet this deadline, Mar. 15, cannot receive payment under any provision of the program, Mr. Dawson stated. Changes in acreage should be reported immediately so soil health allowances can be adjusted.

China Is Faced With Crisis As Dollar Drops

Chiang Kai-Shek Summons Experts To Review Financial Status In Country

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The inflated Chinese dollar dropped to a new low today.

As a result, it was said that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek summoned China's top economic experts for a recent review of the nation's financial crisis.

In Nanking, however, a government spokesman declined to confirm the rumor meeting of Chiang and his experts. He said he would not comment on economic matters because of the possibility of producing provocative effects in an already inflating situation.

When exchange markets opened in Shanghai today, one American dollar was worth 13,500 Chinese dollars. When the markets closed, the exchange rate was 18,500 to one, a drop of 3,000 points.

This was the third straight day that the Chinese dollar fell in value, and it made Shanghai a city of complete economic confusion. Prices soared when the news of the currency crash reached other cities.

From Canton to Fuzhou, the price of rice skyrocketed. In Shanghai, hoarders had bought up the complete stocks of many shops in Shanghai.

Farmers Own Stock Worth $93,737 In Co-Operative Body

The Central Florida Production Credit Association held its 13th annual stockholders' meeting on Feb. 5, at the office of the Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Centre. Forty three members and others attended.

The first thing which Chairman Thomas A. Edison pointed out was an automatic vote of appreciation for the work of the association in 1946. It was a comparatively new arrival in the East at that time. But the thing for which the nation owes Edison is the electric light bulb, the photograph and the motion picture.

To be sure, Edison's light bulb; it was in Menlo Park, N. J., that Edison went to work on sockets, switches and knowledge of other devices which have become household objects since that time.

In the autumn of 1872, he began to hunt for a filament which would glow when it was sealed in a vacuum and heated by electricity.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1947

An interesting article by D. B. McKay in the Tampa Tribune reveals that Tampa was a little town of just 451 persons in 1860, or just 87 years ago.

Representative Joe Martin says he is out to "remove the Red menace from America." "A powerful and strategically placed minority has set out to destroy the American system and replace it with Communism," he continues. Some over-confident Americans may reply, "Propaganda! Red-baiters." Even so, he might be right.

Today is the birthday of Thomas A. Edison, one of the truly great men of all history. Born just one hundred years ago today, he produced more inventions during his lifetime for the benefit of mankind than any other man who ever lived. Floridians take particular pride in his achievements because for many years he was a resident of this state, with a home at Fort Myers.

Snow was reported in a number of Florida cities Sunday afternoon and included among them was Sanford, where something which some called sleet, others snow, fell for an hour or more. It may have been a rather poor imitation of snow as snow goes in New England, but it was the nearest thing to snow we have ever seen in Florida. Some of it fell on our roof Sunday afternoon and it was still there Monday morning.

We may be a little dumber than most but why we should continue to send oil, machinery and other equipment to Russia, now that the war is over, without even asking them to pay for it and when they refuse to make any effort toward settling Lend-Lease balances is hard to understand. Now Congress is about to investigate another shipment amounting to some $35,000,000 because the Russians didn't want to pay the shipping charges. It looks as if they'd be willing to transport it if we give it to them.

Sanford's winter visitors may have noticed the cold weather we have been having recently, but we hope they also noticed how much colder it has been in almost every other part of the country. We also hope they noticed that while the lowest reported Sunday in Sanford was 27, most other North and Central Florida cities reported even lower temperatures. In Ocala it was 24; Gainesville, 18; Deland, 19; New Smyrna, 25; Winter Haven, 22; Avon Park, 24; Sarasota, 24; Cocoa, 6. You could have done much worse than spend the winter in Sanford. Not until you get down to the Lower East Coast district, do you find warmer weather than Sanford's.

How Socialism would work in this country can be understood from a study of New York's subway system where you can ride farther and faster for less money than anywhere else in the world. Begun on a paying basis with a nickel fare in 1904, costs have steadily risen with no increase in rates until this year the City faces a $76,000,000 deficit largely caused by subway losses. In other words the city government borrows the money so that the people can get out of paying the cost of their subway ride. If the government owned the railroads, that's the way it would be with railroad fares. If the government owned the coal mines, that's the way it would be with the cost of coal.

Presidential Tenure

Congress is making up its mind about limiting the tenure of presidents, never done so far. The House has voted for such limitations. If the Senate agrees, it will have to go to the states. If three-fourths of them approve it, it is passed as an Amendment to the Constitution.

Two plans are proposed: one that the president be elected for one term of six years; the other that one man hold the office for not more than two terms of four years each.

This is a good time in the nation's history to decide the limitation idea, for here can be no question of reflecting on the incumbent now in office. The heat in the issue revolves around the theory of limitation itself, not around which limitation arrangement is best.

References to the late President Roosevelt are irrelevant. He was elected to more than two terms at a time when there was no law against it. Had there been such a law, the people would have adjusted themselves to it. When there is one, they will do so.

Those against limiting presidential tenure hold that this might shackle future generations in having the best man in an emergency. But who, say the proponents, can say what is an emergency? Is any man ever really indispensable? Would it not be an insecure nation which depends on one man? And finally, what is to prevent one man from being elected again and again, and from thus turning a flexible democracy into a static despotism?

This is one of those nicely debatable questions full of the juice of disagreement, which the American people love. Much will be heard about it during the next few years.

The Price Of Success

General Douglas MacArthur seems to be the kind of forceful personality which breeds either veneration or dislike, both to an extreme degree, in all those with whom he comes in contact. This is echoed in articles drifting back already from the group of American newspaper men now enroute to Japan under the jurisdiction and at the invitation of the War Department. General MacArthur has become a fabulous character through whichever of these channels he is viewed.

The sharp difference of evaluation of this man is probably what always happens in the case of markedly and meteorically successful individuals, particularly in the case of those who have been efficient without bothering always to be tactfully aware of the people whose toes must be stepped on in the process. Current measurements of a national figure are not always accurate. And history oftentimes fails, too, in just appraisal. Yet usually time itself winnows the chaff from the real worth of a man who has been forced to assume great responsibility. The chances are that Douglas MacArthur will emerge in the record as one of America's great sons, and the yapping now heard at his heels will be forgotten.

"The State Of The Nation"

Styling Florida "THE STATE of the Nation," an advertisement in the recent "So Goes The Nation" edition of the New York Sun, prepared by Jack Lacey Advertising Agency, of Tampa, and paid for by the Tampa Electric Co., the Florida Power Corporation and the Florida Power and Light Co., presents attractively the highlights of Florida's appeal to good people everywhere.

The advertisement shows Florida leading the nation in bank deposits' gain—national gain 1935 to June, 1936, 247 percent; Florida gain 652 percent. Leading the nation in gain of income to citizens—National gain 1941 over 1940, 95 percent; Florida gain 144 percent. Leading the nation in international air travel which is 58 percent of national total—and leads the nation in aerial exports—40 percent increase in population past 10 years—Center of the Americas, the nation's distribution point for new international trade—Political climax as good as natural climax—no state income tax, no general sales tax, no state bonded debt, friendly taxes for home and business. Factual publicity, free of padded propaganda and over-emphasis, counts best in attracting people and money to Florida. The Sun advertisement is an excellent example.—Tampa Tribune.

transmitter, used in the mouthpiece of all telephones. He also started to think about a means of recording and reproducing sound, and began work on the phonograph.

From that, Edison turned to attempt to devise something which would do for the eye what the phonograph did for the ear. In 1889, in a tar-papered shack in West Orange, N. J., he showed the first motion picture. Edison's researches went farther than all this. He first observed and patented the principle that the flow of electrons can be controlled by introducing a metal filament in an incandescent lamp globe. That discovery is the basis of the science of electronics. Man was led toward discovery of the forces within the atom through this principle stated by Edison. Radio, radar and television owe a debt to the energetic worker from Milan, Ohio.

Edison died in 1931. But if he were alive today, on his 100th birthday, he probably

Building Designated At Southern College

LAKELAND, Feb. 11. (Special) — Designation of the last building started in the Florida Southern college expansion program as the Emil E. Watson Administration building was announced today by President Ludd M. Spivey. Construction of the $125,000 building, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, was started in December with completion expected by October.

Mr. Watson, a Columbus, Ohio, consulting actuary who last spring was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Southern, has made possible the erection of the new administration by a cash donation, Dr. Spivey revealed.

The administration building will be the sixth in a group on the west campus at Southern designed by Mr. Wright, an internationally known architect regarded by many as the world's greatest building designer. The project involves several other buildings which the college hopes to begin within a short

Court Rules Talmadge Is Georgia Head

Judge Says General Assembly Did Not Exceed Rights By Electing Governor

MCDONOUGH, Ga., Feb. 12, (AP)—A Georgia Superior Court Judge ruled today that Herman Talmadge is the legal governor of Georgia.

He said that the legislature was within its constitutional rights when it elected Talmadge to the, four year term of his father, the late Eugene Talmadge. The decision is in direct opposition to the finding of another Superior Court Judge. Last Friday, Judge Claude Porter ruled that the legislature had exceeded its authority and that Talmadge's election was invalid.

Today, Judge Hendrix, sitting in McDonough, dismissed a suit brought by Lieut. Governor M. E. Thompson for a judgment ousting Talmadge. The judge said it is clear that the general assembly has the right to decide when there was no election by the people and that it did decide that on account of the death of the elder Talmadge, there had been no election by the people.

Thompson's attorneys said they would immediately appeal Judge Hendrix's decision to the Georgia supreme court.

Police Plan To Aid Prisoner Recaptured After 1933 Escape

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 12, (AP)—Two Alabama sheriff's deputies who arrested a 35-year-old combat veteran as an escaped life termer from Florida now are planning to aid the man they captured.

Deputies J. C. Holcombe and H. C. Hall said they are going to give James Soles their $25 reward and do everything they possibly can to help Soles gain his freedom. The deputies identified Soles as a convict who escaped from a Florida prison camp in 1939 while serving a term for murder.

But since that time, the deputies said, Soles served 39 months in the Army, including combat duty with the late General George Patton's Third Army.

The Alabama officials said they found Soles living in Mobile under the name of James Rogers and earning $100 a week as a foreman for an engineering firm.

In a telegram to Mr. Truman, Lehman expressed bitter disappointment at the British attitude toward Palestine. But he added that he could not allow this disappointment to blind him to the needs of British suffering from lack of fuel.

Kiwanians Enjoy Luncheon Address By Lee Ragsdale

Western Union Executive Tells Story Of Communication

Kiwanians got a real treat today in the form of rapid fire wit, humor or optimistic forecast of the future when they were addressed by Lee Ragsdale, past president of the Chicago Rotary Club, present assistant to the vice president of the Western Union Telegraph Company and nationally known lecturer, humorist and philosopher. He was introduced by Dr. Luther J. Doss, and was afterward thanked for his talk by Lester Sharp, club president.

Mr. Ragsdale got his listeners in good humor by declaring that he was slightly frostbitten, told of the many Kiwanis clubs at which he had talked and said that he believed that his travels had been exceeded by no man and by only one woman.

Reverting to more serious vein he told of the rapid improvement in modern communication, which for 2000 years was no faster than the ox-cart that carried the bearer of news. Stressing the slowness of conveying messages in the day prior to Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, he said that the Battle of New Orleans was fought and 700 lives lost, 15 days after the treaty of peace had been signed.

Enemy Weapons Of Last War Exhibited

An interesting display of bombs, torpedoes and weapons used during World War II by the Japanese, Nazis and Italians was shown yesterday in a huge truck parked in front of the Krumholtz and Anderson Drug Store.

Of particular interest was an Italian man-guided torpedo with a dummy diver in the pilot in his divers' clothes. This torpedo, guided under water, was fastened to the hull of the doomed ship; then the pilot made his getaway. Other exhibits included a large Nazi radio-guided bomb dropped from a plane, in order to explode various types of gas, including the Nazi burp gun and Jap knee mortars, a 600 horsepower jet power German motor of amazing compactness, and various types of machine guns, cameras and equipment used by enemy forces. The exhibit was presented by the Navy Club of the United States of America as a means of securing voluntary contributions to carry on work and to interest prospective members who have served in the Navy.

Stern Says Signing Contract With CIO Guild Was Mistake

Suspension Of Paper Is Explained By Former Publisher

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12, (AP)—J. David Stern told the House Labor Committee today that by becoming the first publisher to sign a contract with the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) 10 years ago, he had put newspapermen "in the straight-jacket of a union pressure group."

"All my aims have turned to dust," he said in an emotion choked voice. "I have done more to harm the position of the working newspaperman than to benefit him."

Stern testified at hearings on a Guild-management dispute that developed into a strike November 7 and ended January 31 when he announced the sale of his Philadelphia Record and Camden, N. J., Courier-Post and radio station WCAU to the Philadelphia Bulletin. The committee is not seeking to fix responsibility, but is looking for guidance in its study of proposed changes in labor laws.

Facts Wanted About St. Johns River Boats

Any information concerning former St. Johns River steamboat mail service history and operation has been requested in a letter to The Herald by Vernon L. Arditt, Sr., whose address is care of W. W. Lipscomb, East Second Street, Farnville, Va. He would like to know when the old boat routes were established or discontinued, information about operating companies, mileage, routes and all about boats, former personnel etc. He would also like old steamboat stationery, envelopes. In fact a whole history of central Florida water mail routes.

Retired from the Naval service by injury, Mr. Arditt is making a hobby of collecting this kind of information which some Sanford "pioneer" may be able to supply.

Reduction In Regular Army Is Anticipated

Plan Depends On Universal Training; Additional M-day Force To Be Ready

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12, (AP)—Members of the House Armed Services Committee today disclosed War Department plans for a reduction of almost $200,000 in the regular Army. The plan also calls for the establishment of an M-day force of 1,750,000 trained men. By an M-day force is meant troops ready for immediate mobilization should the need arise.

Committee members said the plan depends upon a universal training program to build up the National Guard and the organized reserves so that within one year from M-day the force could be expanded to 5,500,000 men. The congressmen said that just how quickly the reduction of the regular Army will be effective depends largely on international developments.

Pilot Club Reveals Milk Pool In Need Of Additional Funds

A report from Mr. Edward Kitcher, general chairman for the Milk Pool sponsored by the Pilot Club at the meeting of the club held in the Tourist Center last night revealed that funds thus far promised can furnish milk for only four needy persons, whereas the need is far greater. Mrs. Kitcher stated that there are more than 65 persons in Seminole County in need of milk. These figures resulted from a survey of the State and County Welfare Organizations, the Tuberculosis Association and the Seminole County Health Unit. This, however, is not complete, she said.

The Pilot Club contributes $15 monthly toward this pool and an appeal has been made to various church groups, fraternal organizations and civic clubs to assist in this worthwhile project. Mrs. Mary Rawlins, president, announced plans for the "Spring Council" which will be held at the Marston Hotel in Ocala on April 26-27. She urged as many as could to attend and to make their reservations early.

A committee composed of Mrs. Frank MacNeill, Mrs. B. E. Chapman, Mrs. C. L. Powell and Mrs. Maude Ramsey was appointed to work out plans to refurbish the room which the club maintains at the hospital and the amount of $75 was allocated for this purpose. The club plans to participate in the hospital drive which will be underway sometime this month.

Candice Cook, author and lecturer, visited the club and talked briefly on aviation and the part Sanford can play in the future with "its wonderful facilities for aviation."

Reveal War Plan To Protect Documents

FRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12, (AP)—A wartime plan to remove government historical documents from the nation's capital to Springfield, Ill., for safe keeping has been disclosed today. The disclosure was made by the Illinois Secretary of State, Edward Barrett, who said that in a favorable military situation in 1943 resulted in cancellation of the project.

Barrett said that the documents, including Abraham Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, had been packed and crated for shipment prior to the cancellation order. Springfield was chosen, the state secretary explained, because of the city's fire-proof state archives and because of its remoteness from the danger of coastal bombing attacks.

Celery Feds Drop Game To Bulldogs

Seminole High School basketballmen split a twin bill in DeLand with the Bulldogs last night. The varsity dropped a 38 to 28 decision while the Baby Feds topped a 42 to 12 contest.

Harold Kastner, Willis Anderson and Buck Gammage paced the Fed attack by scoring 7 points each. Lloyd Swain tallied four points and Clarence Grantham scored three.

Crop Damage Is Estimated At $50,000,000

Federal Bureau Releases Figures; 7 Day Embargo Effective Last Night

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12, (AP)—The first monetary estimate of the total damage to Florida citrus and vegetable crops in last week's bitter freezing weather was made today by the Federal Weather Bureau in Washington who said the damage will amount to $50,000,000.

Sources in Florida have not announced a general figure, but observers agreed that the damage was the most severe in many years. The weather bureau said the cold weather struck sharply at unprotected citrus groves, except in the Indian River, lower East Coast and West-Central coastal areas.

The bureau report said losses to the vegetable crop were very heavy except in the Bradenton-Egmont area, where the damage was light.

At Lakeland, a court order will be sought to permit citrus groving plants to operate during the seven-day embargo on citrus shipments.

The Florida Citrus Commission ordered the shut-down in order to prevent fruit affected by the past week's freezing weather from leaving the state.

After the embargo has been lifted, growers will face what has been described as the toughest shipping regulations since imposed after a Federal marketing committee recommended that oranges shipped in the so-called combination grade must contain 65 percent number one quality and 35 percent number two grades.

H. M. Eddy, head of the Federal Food Inspection Service, said that rigid inspections would be made to detect and eliminate fruit damaged by the freeze.

The embargo against fruit leaving the state goes into effect at 12:01 A. M. fruit production on all citrus markets. Buyers, acting in anticipation of an embargo, had paid the highest prices for citrus fruit since last October.

The immediate effect of the embargo is the temporary discontinuance of advanced perishable train operations. The Atlantic Coastline, Florida East Coast and the Seaboard Airline Railroads announced that operations known as "third morning" trains would be stopped for the week.

Safety Award To Be Given W. M. Black

W. M. Black, division superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, will receive one of the annual Safety Awards for 1946 in a ceremony on Feb. 14 to supervisory officers of the railroad whose departments achieved the best safety records on chargeable injuries per million train hours.

Director of Safety and Insurance Robert Scott will make the presentations in Savannah following a luncheon held in connection with the railroad's annual System Loss and Damage Prevention meeting. More than 150 employees of the Coast Line and their families are expected to witness the ceremony.

SHIRNER DINNER
A dinner meeting of the Sanford Shrine Club will be held at the Seminole Country Club on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present according to Roy E. Wright, Jr., secretary of the club.
