

Flying Disc Is Seen Again By Air Force Men

"Object" Makes Five Roaring Passes At Hamilton Air Base

OAKLAND, Calif., June 21—(AP)—The Oakland Tribune said a "disc shaped object" roaring at an estimated speed of 1,000 to 1,500 miles an hour made five "passes" near Hamilton Air Force Base early today.

The newspaper quoted three Air Force non-commissioned officers who said the "flying saucer," shooting blue flame and with a "roar like thunder" dived near a beacon just north of the field. Hamilton Field is 25 miles north of San Francisco.

Corp. Roger G. Pryor, a control tower operator at the field, said he saw a blue flame shooting out as the saucer flashed by from the southwest and headed northeast.

"I thought it was a falling star," the Tribune quoted Pryor. "But it didn't fall. It just kept on going."

The Tribune said Pryor's observation was verified by Staff Sgt. Ellis R. Leiner, another control-tower operator, and Staff Sgt. Virgil Cappuro, member of the Airways Communications Staff.

They said the saucer returned from the northwest and made another pass north of the field, then later made three more approaches.

The Tribune said the object was described as circular, thick in the center and tapering to the sides. They used binoculars in following its course.

The men said the disc was accompanied by a roar like thunder and the blue flame looked like an acetylene torch. They described its approach altitude at between 5,000 and 5,000 feet.

The men said the sky was clear over Hamilton Field, although high fog prevailed elsewhere in the San Francisco Bay area.

Dapper Don Dies

But by 1939 he had sunk to cheap swindling, when he drew $100 to $500 in Sing Sing prison for stealing $200.

He was transferred here last Nov. 4. He spent his last days cleaning cell blocks.

Next February he would have been eligible for parole consideration.

Warren Walter B. Martin said "Dapper Don's" real name probably was Robert A. Tourbillon. He probably came from Atlanta Ga.

The prison knew of no relatives. Meanwhile in Montgomery, Ala., an old Negro life termor who died at Alabama's Alton prison left his life savings, $210, to help a crippled fellow prisoner.

Officials said Warren Riggs, 65, asked them to give the money to his friend, Tyler Russell, 32, whose legs are paralyzed. Russell walked on padded knees.

Riggs, suffering Bright's disease and heart trouble, had been warned by doctors he would not live much longer, prison director Frank Boswell said.

He was convicted of murder 18 years ago. Boswell described his record as unblemished for the entire time he was in prison.

Russell, also a Negro has three more years of a five-year sentence to serve for assault with intent to kill.

Meanwhile, in Vatican City, news sources here declined to comment on reports the Vatican had intervened in negotiations between the U. S. and Hungary to exchange American businessman Robert A. Vogeler for the crown of St. Stefan.

The reports were that the negotiations had been disrupted temporarily by Vatican belief the crown should not be returned to Hungary while the Communists are in power.

Reliable sources in Vienna said earlier that negotiations for Vogeler's release are under way with the return of the ancient crown the price. He was sentenced to 15 years last February on charges of spying.

And in Frankfurt, the U. S. Commission announced today that City 31 Henderson, 33, a U. S. Vice Consul in Frankfurt, committed suicide yesterday.

Henderson, an official announcement said, was found dead of a self-inflicted gun shot wound in his apartment.

Henderson who was born in Puchontas, Ark., has a mother and brother living in Ventura, Calif.

Henderson's body was discovered last night after a member of the consulate staff in Frankfurt had been sent to investigate his absence from his office.

Henderson's body, the commission stated, was found lying beside a gun.

"Mr. Henderson had shot himself through the right temple and apparently had died about 3 P. M. yesterday afternoon," the announcement said.

Two other hand guns and two sporting rifles were found in the apartment.

Henderson left three notes, the high commission said. One was addressed to his mother, Mrs. Virginia R. Henderson, one to a woman acquaintance and one was an open letter.

Nothing in these indicated any reason for his act except mention of his deafness which necessitated his wearing a hearing aid.

Associates said he was extremely sensitive about this affliction but that nothing in his actions recently indicated contemplation of such an act, the announcement said.

Fourteen others ran about the grounds. They were rounded up quickly authorities said.

Three girls escaped Sunday, but were returned.

In Albany officials of the State Department of Welfare, which operates the school, termed the Monday escape an "aftermath of the Sunday break."

The mass escape was led by "three chronic runaways," Miss Goldstein said.

Escapes by two or three girls are not unusual. There are no guards at the institution and the girls are given freedom of the fenced-in area.

There are about 225 girls under 16 years of age in the school. Some have been committed because they are "uncontrollable" and some because of moral charges.

Labor Dispute

The main demands of the $250-man union include a five days work week with six days pay, an increase from $10 to $13.50 in drivers' daily minimum and restoration of a two cents a bottle cut in commissions.

Acheson Declares Allies Now Reach New Peace Period

Secretary Of State Says U. S. Arms To Stave Off Blow, Not To Strike It

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson declared today the United States and its allies "are on the threshold of a new period" in their quest for peace.

Despite the obstacles posed by the "inordinate ambition" of Soviet leaders, he said, war is not inevitable.

"We are building our strength," Acheson said in a speech prepared for the Harvard University Alumni Association, "in order that we may eliminate the conditions which would give rise to war, and we are on the threshold of a new period of peace."

"We face this new period with confidence, but we must be very clear in our minds about our purposes in times that lie ahead."

Declaring that it is "the determined purpose of this country, working with us, to prevent war," Acheson asserted:

"We do not aim for purposes of conquest. Our strength is a shield, whose purpose is to defend our people and the world against a progressive and successful revolution of the difficulties which would beset the international community."

"The second purpose of our strength is to enable us to carry ahead a creative relationship with the other nations of the free world."

He said that "Democracy is a dynamic idea in the world," and added:

"Both the North Atlantic community and the community of the American people are institutions founded on principles which must eventually prevail."

These principles, he said, include the cooperative association of nations, individual liberty, mutual aid and respect, and the responsibility of aiding other peoples to achieve their own development in their own way."

The Secretary spoke on the third anniversary of the day on which his predecessor, General George C. Marshall, proposed the European Recovery Plan that bears his name—also in a speech at Harvard.

Acheson said that while strength may now be essential to a settlement of the world problems, it is not a substitute for discussion and accommodation."

And he expressed hope that a healthy European community will be the determining factor in bringing peace to the world.

3 Wounded When Violence Flares In C. I. O. Strike

State Officials Dispatch 70 Police To Trouble Center

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—The Federal Conciliation Service said today it is powerless to act in the strike at the American Enka Corp. plant in Morristown, Tenn., until the National Labor Relations Board determines whether an AFL or CIO Textile Union represents the employees.

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 22—(AP)—Three men were wounded by gunfire at the American Enka Corporation today and two hours later a barrage of gunfire shattered windows in the strike harassed rayon producing plant.

Gunfire erupted at 7 A. M. during a change of shifts at the plant, scene of recurrent disorders since the CIO Textile Workers Union Local 1054 went on strike May 28 in support of a wage increase and other benefits.

Three men were killed in this firing.

The rattle of gunfire was heard again shortly after 9 A. M. when plant officials said, bullets apparently were fired from a highway leading to the main gate. Windows were shattered by these slugs but no one was injured.

The official said at the time of the second outbreak about 60 to 75 men were milling around the gate armed with rifles, shotguns and pistols.

The State Highway Patrol immediately sent 70 heavily armed patrolmen with gas bombs speeding to the trouble center.

One report received by highway patrol said that the rioting was apparently organized, said two men had been killed. There was no confirmation of this report from any source.

State Safety Commissioner Sam Nelson and Patrol Captain W. T. Shelton started here from Nashville by automobile. Other details of patrolmen were rolling toward Morristown from Knoxville, 40 miles to the west, and Kingsport, 60 miles northward.

Morristown, a city of 9,000, is an industrial and agricultural center in a tobacco area 42 miles east of Knoxville.

The patrolmen have orders to disperse strikers milling about the gate of the Enka plant, seven miles from here. The pickets reportedly had barricaded the gates with automobiles.

The shooting broke out as these workers attempted to cut across a field to avoid the picket line to report for the early morning shift. Their cars were halted and bullets were fired as they fled the machines.

William McElmish was shot in the leg and head. He was brought to a hospital, where his condition was reported as critical.

Victor McDaniel and James McAnney suffered superficial flesh wounds.

McElmish told Joe Q. Dougherty, industrial relations officer for Enka, he returned the fire before bullets of the ambushers knocked him out.

Dougherty said no law enforcement officers were present when the shooting broke out.

The violence broke out near the plant entrance and employees picked up McElmish and carried him inside.

The shooting occurred after a night of rioting during which workers due off at midnight were kept on duty through a second shift to avoid possible trouble outside the plant gate.

5 Seminole County Boy Scouts Headed For U. S. Jamboree

Five boy scouts of Seminole County will leave Monday for two weeks of adventure and fun at the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., the historic site where George Washington and his small force of patriots braved a bitter winter during the Revolutionary War.

This morning the scouts and leaders picked their decorated tents in the Chamber of Commerce to be photographed. The units bear many trophies and point out Sanford as a fishing, baseball farm camp and fishing center. The painting was done by the Oles Sign Co.

Donald Futrell, scout leader of Post 84, sponsored by the Lions Club, is one of the group. He recently graduated from Seminole High School, and after school hours has served the group as a mailing clerk. Volney Davis, scout leader of Troop 544, also will attend the jamboree. John Pierson, former scout master, will serve as a leader on the team.

Three Negro Boy Scouts will be in the group leaving here. They are Eddie Bell, Jr., second class, and Major Williams, star scout from Troop 544, and Louis Stalkowski, star scout and class of Troop A-1, Scout. Peter Cobb will serve as team leader, and may be accompanied by James Foster, star scout of the Central Florida B.S.A.

Eric Nelson, Scoutmaster, will serve as leader of the scouts from Central Florida, who are making the trip on Troop 50.

When the group leaves Monday, they will be on their way to the jamboree, which will be held from June 25 to July 10 at Valley Forge, Pa.

30 Persons Hurt When Cinema Roof Falls On Balcony Crowd

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., June 22—(AP)—Thirty persons were hurt in a freak accident which dumped some tons of ornamental plaster on movie-goers in the balcony of the Sequoia Theater here last night.

Fifteen were injured enough to need hospitalization, but only one was in serious condition early today. The others required only first aid.

Mrs. Vangie Case, 84, of Redwood City, was still unconscious in Palo Alto Hospital several hours after the accident. She either jumped or fell from the ornamental plaster in front of the balcony. She was not in the area where the plaster fell. No one was certain in the confusion which followed the crash.

Dr. Robert Case, a staff member of the Palo Alto Hospital, said her injuries consist of a possible concussion, possible internal injuries and a broken finger. First report that her legs were broken in the 30-foot drop to the main floor were not borne out by hospital examination.

Six other persons were taken to the Palo Alto Hospital and eight to the San Mateo Community Hospital. None of the injuries, besides those of Mrs. Case, was considered serious.

The accident occurred about 15 minutes before midnight, when most of the patrons had already left.

The crash of the ornamental plaster and wire lath reinforcing came suddenly with a roar like thunder and seemingly dropped in a single sheet, said Police Officer William Goldsmith, who was attending the show at the time. Another policeman, Phil Bray, said the collapse was "like an earthquake." A brief panic among patrons immediately died down.

Redwood City Fire Chief Joseph Lodi said the ceiling seemed to have given away in the center and sent "peeled off" to the sides. He estimated that about 10 tons of

Solons Produce Top Document In Amerasia Probe

Paper Refers To Information Given Reds By Service

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—Senate investigators today produced a document, seized in the 1945 Amerasia case, which referred to information received from career diplomat John S. Service on two "top secret" wartime messages from President Roosevelt to Chiang Kai-Shek.

The document was put in evidence by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) at a public hearing by committee investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Service collaborated with Communists.

Services was in the witness chair when Hickenlooper produced the material.

Hickenlooper described the document as a copy of one of the documents seized by the FBI when its agents raided the New York offices of Amerasia, a magazine no longer published, and found hundreds of secret government papers.

A Justice Department notation on the material quoted the State Department as saying "this is a personal note and not an official government document."

It was not immediately brought out at the Senate hearings just what the document had prepared the note.

Before Hickenlooper produced it, Service had denied he ever aided the Communists while serving in diplomatic posts in China.

That was one of the accusations McCarthy made against him.

Service declared that on the contrary he had done all he could to resist the domination of China by Communism.

The Senators had first planned to hear him behind closed doors, but Service asked for a public hearing.

A thin wiry man, Service leaned forward in the witness chair and told the Senators it just is not true that he was a "collaborator with Communists" as McCarthy charged.

Service and five others were arrested in the Amerasia episode and charged with conspiracy to obtain illegal possession of the government documents. A grand jury returned indictments against Service and he was returned to duty in the State Department.

Only two of the others were prosecuted. Philip Jaffe, editor of the magazine, was fined $2,500 and Emmanuel Larsen, a State Department employe, was fined $800.

Some Republicans in Congress have charged there was a "cover up" on the case and "bungling" of the prosecution.

Service told the committee today:

"When I was arrested by the FBI on June 6, 1945, I told the arresting officer and the interrogating agent that I was innocent of the charges, that I was mystified by the arrest, and that I wished to do what I could to help solve the matter. That has been and still is my attitude.

Service testified in the big caucus room of the Senate Office Building. Since the decision to hear him in public was made only at the last minute, there was only a handful of spectators in the chamber when he took the stand. By contrast, the committee's previous public hearings had drawn standing-room-only crowds.

McCarthy sat behind the committee table, facing directly toward Service. He is not a member of the investigating committee.

Two State Employees Prepare Pirate Map For Gold Hunters

Want to Spend Your Vacation Hunting Doubloons and Pieces of Eight

TALLAHASSEE, June 22—(AP)—Want to spend your vacation hunting doubloons and pieces of eight?

A lawyer who never went on a treasure hunt himself has made a case for you to go in search of pirate gold. He's Assistant Attorney General Ralph L. Odum who with district attorney Walter Landrum of the State Road Department has prepared a colorful Florida treasure map.

He's titled dozens of legends, rumors and tales of treasure hidden in Florida's sands and waters. Three years of research in the state libraries, the Library of Congress and the files of the Encyclopaedia Britannica have gone into the map.

Selecting the best documented of the stories, Odum wound up with the whereabouts of some $105,000,000 worth of treasure—shown approximately on his map.

The "true chart of pirate treasure" doesn't pretend to be an exact guide to the ancient buccaners' loot.

"If I could do that, I'd go and dig it up myself," Odum said. "What he's done is to mark the map of Florida with crosses indicating the areas in which persistent stories say treasure is to be found. Sanford has indicated the spot with sketches of swashbuckling pirates, hapless victims, a three-masted sailing ship flying the Jolly Roger, and a treasure chest overflowing with doubloons, pearls, and gold coins.

Odum has visited almost all the sites shown on his map but says he's done up to 80 percent of the map.

"It takes a lot of capital to

President Says U.S. Budget Won't Stand 70 Group Air Force

Solons To Probe Money Spent In State Campaign

Complaints Point To Huge Expenditure In Senate Battle

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—Senate Finance Committee today will check numerous complaints of alleged huge expenditures in at least four Senatorial primary races.

The committee will investigate complaints in North Carolina, Florida, Pennsylvania and Illinois and other undesignated states.

Call to the chairman of the committee, Senator William E. Jenner, Indiana, in a letter today, the committee will check the money spent in the primary races, which he has the duty of reporting to the Senate.

In a statement, Jenner said the group is probing and ready to investigate and report on any specific complaint or charges which come within its jurisdiction.

Details on the complaints of money spent were not disclosed today. Jenner said the group is investigating money spent in the primary races, which he has the duty of reporting to the Senate.

The committee does not want to anticipate contested elections, nor encourage these contests, Jenner said. But it feels that it would be desirable in its state of mind to take some action to develop the facts relative to the expenditures of such sums in the primary races.

The committee will investigate the money spent in the primary races, which he has the duty of reporting to the Senate.

Bailey Tells Of License Income

Hope For Schools, Says Supervisor

TALLAHASSEE, June 22—(AP)—The head of Florida's school system today earmarked additional revenue for many educational projects, including school building needs and post-graduate teacher education facilities.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey told leaders of the State Parent Teacher Association Florida today that the state's educational needs are $140,000,000 worth of school buildings, $40,000,000 of it in home Negro schools up to a par with white schools.

He said recent Supreme Court decisions regarding school desegregation will require the state to spend more money on school buildings and other facilities if they are to be segregated.

He said the state's educational needs are $140,000,000 worth of school buildings, $40,000,000 of it in home Negro schools up to a par with white schools.

Truman Declares Finances Not Congress Will Decide Size Of Air Force

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—President Truman today said the nation can't afford a 70-group Air Force at the time.

He made the news conference statement in commenting on a Congressional proposal to limit the Air Force to that strength. It now has about 48 groups.

Mr. Truman hammered on the theme that this country should buy the armed forces which are within a budget capacity. He said it doesn't make any difference how many Air Groups are authorized if the question is how many the budget will allow.

The President's discussion with the newsmen also ranged into the field of domestic politics, foreign affairs and other matters.

In the political field, the President said sharply that it is very wrong in other spheres. Senator Earl Warren, who is running for re-election in the world, said the President's statement is a "big mistake."

He predicted that the Democratic majority headed by Truman will win the question of the number of Air Groups.

The President's discussion with the newsmen also ranged into the field of domestic politics, foreign affairs and other matters.

Sanford Jaycees Are Entertained By Elk Organist

Harry Kudell, Elk Club member, today entertained the Sanford Jaycees at a luncheon at the Vacht Club with a concert of old time hits on the piano, some of which he played with a piano player many years ago in the city of Chicago. He was introduced by Douglas Stenstrom and the program was to close over Station WTRK.

Bradley Odum, state president-elect, reported on his attendance at the National Convention in Chicago, where 1,000 were present and said that let me know about Sanford.

Reginald Moffat, president-elect, confirmed the fact that the Sanford Jaycees had been invited to the National Convention in Miami to bring as many through this section as possible, as well as that Odum will offer a free vacation time party.

Douglas Stenstrom asked the Jaycees to attend the State Convention meeting at the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night.

During the luncheon, one of his program Harry Kudell had the Jaycees singing with him, including "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Among the hits he played was "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which he pointed out he had sold the famous Sophie Tucker in introducing. He also played many numerous other numbers, "When My Baby Smiles At Me" and revealed that Ted Lester, who took this number famous, had at one time played with him in an orchestra. Ted at the time, played violin.

Provincial Police Hunt Bank Robber

LANGTON, Ont., June 22—(AP)—Heavily armed provincial police, looking for a young man and his bloodhound, pushed through tangled swamps near here today in search of a bank bandit who already has shot two pursuers to death.

The bandit armed with a sub-machinegun, disappeared into the bush yesterday, abandoning his loot from the Langton Branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

Chief Fanning W. of Mount Clemens, Mich., arising on his own, led a posse of police and armed citizens, numbering possibly 100 men. Plans and radio were guiding the pursuers.

They searched for a killer about 28 years of age, of medium height and wearing a pith helmet and dark glasses. This man, police said, shot down Arthur Lierman, 31, and William Godfrey, 24, after they forced his escape car into a ditch yesterday.

LIGHTNING BOLT

Two Sanford firemen, Claude Whidden and Wilbur Spivey, narrowly escaped injury from a bolt of lightning which struck an oak tree near which they were standing at Loch Arbor yesterday afternoon at about 3:00 o'clock.

The two firemen at the time were surveying a grass fire which was threatening homes in the area near the Chase grove, and had parked the small Dodge fire truck nearby. The bolt of lightning hit the oak, flicked over to several pine trees, and showered the men with moss, bark and pine needles.

Three of the planes, which came from Texas, remained behind, the Air Force said.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

You cannot recall your works. They have wings and escape beyond your power to control. Job 1:9-11. There is no cause for fear if God is indeed God and we have committed our ways to his wise guidance. It will come out all right. Fear not, neither be discouraged.—Deut. 1:21.

WHILE LILACS LAST

While lilacs last, let me share the essence of their dear humility. For these sweet-clustered things bloom, unobserved, near any window sill. Fragrant doorway of an inland town. Orangy doorway of an inland town. Tender, deep purple—pink-tipped mauves between. And yet, as if to prove their faithfulness, To daily shores—they flower: thrifty. Beside some small gray homestead, mute with fog. Tracing good tidings on a muted pane— White as the star that brings a schooner home! Virginia Gritley

A New York laundry owner, called a "dog" by his crying wife, has been charged with beating his 12-year-old son and leaving the boy with a recent laceration on his forehead. Calling his husband a "dog" is an insult to the canine breed for we have never known a dog that wasn't lovable, loyal and a joy to give. We can think of many more appropriate epithets which might have been used and we can think of the right kind of punishment for the husband. However, we don't know whether the leather goods stores carry whips long enough and heavy enough with which to carry out the proper verdict.

The low level to which judgments have fallen in certain parts of the country is revealed in Indiana, where a circuit court judge, a buddy of the Communist Paul Robeson has been sent to a penal farm for 60 days. He is under a charge in his own court for issuing a fraudulent check to a woman whose funds were held by the court, and is out on $100,000 bond. He is a drunkard, a thug and a manipulative municipal court. He served 18 months in the Federal reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio in 1939 after pleading guilty to forgery in a name to a veteran's bonus certificate. And, believe it or not, he was pardoned by the late President Franklin Roosevelt.

Senator Russell's provision for suspension in the proposed reorganization of the Pacific Coast is being attacked by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans. The Democrats argued that it is "true" that the traditional rights of individuals to select their own representatives. We cannot, however, ignore the fact that the traditional rights of individuals to select their own representatives is being violated by the proposed reorganization of the Pacific Coast. The Democrats argued that it is "true" that the traditional rights of individuals to select their own representatives is being violated by the proposed reorganization of the Pacific Coast.

Our Ungrateful Nation

Nations are traditionally ungrateful, and the United States is little, if any, better than the rest. Thomas Jefferson was forced to sell his library to pay his debts, and Congress delayed and skimmed on the purchase price. Another case of ingratitude of which Americans have just been reminded, was that in which Robert Morris was involved. Eleanor Young has told the story in her new biography, "Forgotten Patriot".

A wealthy Philadelphia merchant, Morris served as superintendent of finance during the Revolution. He secured foreign loans, worked out barter schemes with Spain, and made extensive personal loans to the struggling government, in order that the soldiers might be paid. Like almost everybody else in those days, Morris dabbled in land speculation, in his case too much for his own good. He finally suffered the ignominy of spending three years in a debtor's prison. When finally released, he had only his wife's annuity on which to live. Then was the time for Congress to aid this man, without whose money the Revolution would have collapsed.

Americans may well hang their heads when they think of the shabby treatment accorded Robert Morris. A little understanding at the time is better than much adulation later.

The Arab Mind

The people of the West have in the past been inclined to dismiss the Arab peoples as mysterious and impossible to understand. That it is possible to understand them, and to lead them to fashion our ways also, is about to be proved in Beirut, Lebanon, where is located the American University of Beirut.

The Making of the Modern Arab Mind is the subject for the investigation which is to be financed by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. Students will go into such aspects of the question as the Arabic language, the unity or separateness of the Arab states, the bond of the Islamic religion, and the interpretation of Arabic thought to the people of other nations.

The culture of the western world owes a distinct debt to the Arab mind. Early Arabic studies in mathematics and astronomy are not to be forgotten, nor the rich imagery of its literature, the sound ethics of many of its folk tales. We tend, sometimes, to forget such things, but they are a vital part of our cultural heritage.

Tolerance and a spirit of compromise are rooted in understanding, and world peace is the hoped-for fruit of their growth. It is harder to work at removing barriers between peoples of alien racial backgrounds than it is to dismiss them as mysterious. It is, however, a distinctly worthwhile undertaking.

Vanishing Australians

Unlike the native population of South Africa, which outnumbers the whites, the aborigines of Australia are rapidly declining in numbers, say observers there. From 300,000 at the time of the first white settlement, to less than 60,000 at present, their decline increases with the advance of white civilization.

Their culture was of a high order, say the experts who have studied it. Their social order was complex, and is collapsing under the paternalistic regime now in existence. Studies are being made of their legends and songs and color photographs taken of their cave paintings, which show a knowledge of anatomy as well as artistic skill, say the anthropologists.

Our civilization, which seems good to us, and has advanced us materially beyond any other group which has ever existed, differs so greatly in its underlying philosophy from that of the natives of countries like Australia that it brings them nothing but ruin. The conquering races have much to answer for.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, June 22 — (AP) — Every time a man is called before a Congressional committee, refuses to answer questions, is cited for contempt, and lands in jail, an ancient question arises: What right has Congress to force anyone to answer questions if he doesn't want to? Where does Congress get the power to do that?

There's nothing in the Constitution which directly gives it such power at all. But from the earliest days Congress assumed it had the power. It assumed such power this way: Congress represents the interests of the people. And, when it is making an investigation to obtain facts upon which to pass a law, it does so for the benefit of the people.

Therefore, it is reasonable to get information which it considers necessary. Congress assumed two things: (1) that it has the right to demand an answer to its questions; (2) that it has the right to punish anyone who refuses.

And there's no longer any doubt about Congress' right to do both, because the Supreme Court has ruled that Congress does have both rights. Many times during its history when witnesses refused to answer or refused to produce papers which a Congressional committee wanted, Congress has cited people for contempt.

If it happened before a House committee, the person would be fined $500 a day, or imprisoned for 30 days. If it happened before a Senate Committee, the fine would be $1,000 a day, or imprisonment for 60 days.

Usually, though, the witnesses for the House or Senate, depending on whose committee you refused to answer, cited you for contempt.

Acheson Speech

"The efforts of the non-Communist nations to establish a firm peace, Acheson said, have been confronted with a single great obstacle: 'The inordinate ambition of the Soviet leaders, which is based on their delusions about the non-Communist world.' He added: 'As the leaders of the Soviet Union come to appreciate that their analysis of the world situation, and their policies flowing from that analysis, have been incorrect, the possibility for reasonable settlements of matters affecting the stability and progress of the international community will increase.'

"Until the Soviet leaders do genuinely accept a 'live and let live' philosophy, then no approach from the free world, however imaginative, and no Trojan horse from the Communist movement will help to resolve our mutual problems."

"This does not mean that discussion should not take place of that every effort should not be made to settle any questions which are possible of settlement."

"It is our policy to be, as General Marshall put it, the first to attend at international conference tables, and the last to retire."

Acheson recalled the speech in which General Marshall proposed the European Recovery Program and acclaimed it as one of the major steps in the development of an active American policy toward Soviet Communism.

The Secretary noted that this was followed in January 1949 by President Truman's declaration of American intentions to make a defensive treaty for the North Atlantic area and to supply military assistance to other non-Communist nations.

"In the 37 months which have elapsed," he said, "we have witnessed the rapid emergence of the North Atlantic community as a political reality."

Drawing a sharp contrast between the Democratic position in this community and the Communists it is aimed at halting, Acheson declared:

"It is in the nature of Democracy to recognize that the message of the free world is not a final end, in the sense of a utopia."

LOVER'S LEAP

THE CHANGING SOUTH—An Era Of Progress

By HEN PRICE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of 12 articles written by Associated Press writer Hen Price on the racial problem in the South following a personal tour of investigation. It is being published in newspaper columns over the United States. The opinions expressed therein are those of Hen Price and do not necessarily reflect the views of The Sanford Herald.

By HEN PRICE AP Newfeatures. TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—The race greeter pastures the South. Southerners, Whites and Negroes, have gone in search of them. In addition, there have been tremendous shifts of population within the region.

The war years saw more than a million southerners, including an estimated 600,000 Negroes, pull up stakes and move into the south's cities and towns.

How many thousands shook the south's dust from their feet and moved out of the region altogether, though the movement of the 1950 census, but some students place the figure at better than a million.

In all the pattern of migration, though the movement of the Negro stands out most vividly.

For one thing, the 1940 census indicated that enough southerners moved south to offset the movement of White southerners into other regions. The Negro, however, moves out and stays out.

For the first time in history the Negro population of the south is showing a decline, even though the national Negro population is rising.

There is a strong possibility that this will not be known until census data from the movement of southern representation in Congress, Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi are expected to lose one representative each.

Donald Wyatt of Fisk University at Nashville estimates that the decade has seen the south's Negro population decline from 10,000,000 to 9,800,000.

Where have the Negroes gone? Just recently Detroit wrote to since passed," he said, "we have witnessed the rapid emergence of the North Atlantic community as a political reality."

DALLAS—The "Hound Dog" Roy Sanner, a fabulous ball player in the Evangeline League, was the man in the middle of a dollar tug of war in 1948. On one side was Burren Peters, president of Burren's in the Texas League; on the other was Dick Burnett, wealthy owner of the Dallas Eagles. Burnett bid $10,000 and got Sanner.

By came to Dallas with this week's record.

With home runs and 128 runs scored in the campaign, 24 years of the outfield between pitching assignments.

fact that in 40 short years the Negro population had doubled until it now totals about 30,000,000. At the same time Mayor also warned that racial tensions were on the upswing in Detroit for the first time since 1943.

Two of the causes of friction, Mayor Cobb, continued, has been the mounting pressure of Negroes for better homes and the resistance of White neighborhoods to Negro residents.

The same tensions produced the bombing of Negro homes in Birmingham, Ala., last year.

Wyatt in a study of city housing for Negroes in the south found that 82 per cent were valued at less than $1,000 and that barely 14 per cent exceeded a valuation of $5,000 as against over 60 per cent of the white owned by Whites.

At the same time, Wyatt reported, the demand among Negroes for better housing was much greater than among the Whites.

In 24 southern communities, he continued, a survey indicated 23 per cent of Negro veterans were willing to enter the housing market at current prices whereas only 16 percent of the White veterans were willing to do so.

Detroit has not been alone with its Negro problem. Other cities all over the country are awakening to the fact that Negroes are entering in great numbers.

For example in the period 1940-44 the Negro population of Los Angeles increased 15 per cent; New York and New Jersey, 51 per cent; the Portland-Vancouver and the Bay area, 57 per cent; the First Sound area, 50 per cent; Philadelphia, 38 per cent and Chicago, 36 per cent.

Another startling aspect of this great shift of population is the belief that Negroes no longer can be classed as a rural people.

In 1910 only 27 per cent of the Negroes lived in cities, whereas in 1944 the figure was 40 per cent. Many students believe the end of the war found rather than 50 per cent living in urban areas.

Why are Negroes leaving the farm?

Barthel, "MAGICIAN" BENEATH THE RIVER AP Newfeatures

DALLAS—The "Hound Dog" Roy Sanner, a fabulous ball player in the Evangeline League, was the man in the middle of a dollar tug of war in 1948. On one side was Burren Peters, president of Burren's in the Texas League; on the other was Dick Burnett, wealthy owner of the Dallas Eagles. Burnett bid $10,000 and got Sanner.

By came to Dallas with this week's record.

With home runs and 128 runs scored in the campaign, 24 years of the outfield between pitching assignments.

There is the answer by Ernest Neal, director of the Rural Life Conference here, an organization to study means of bettering rural life.

"The old south is in the midst of a revolution. The established order of cotton cultivation with the tenant-share system is giving way to green fields, cattle, tractors and cotton pickers."

"It is not unusual to see tractors plowing the ground, airplanes dusting the cotton and mechanical pickers picking the cotton."

"We are not arguing against mechanization of cotton. We are only stating that mechanization displaces farm families from the Mississippi delta about 85 per cent of the families have moved off the land."

"Farm mechanization and cattle in eliminating farm tenants, have pushed Negroes off the farms faster than Whites. In 10 states the numerical decrease of all farm operators in the past 16 years was 322,416, including 208,687 Negroes."

To Neal the great tragedy of the displacement for both Whites and Negroes is the fact that when they get to the cities they are equipped to do nothing.

"They go to the cities," he said, "as the ditch diggers—but the cities don't need ditch diggers any more."

Eventually, Neal believes, the problem is going to catch up with the urban areas—and the nation. There may come a time, he thinks, when the nation will have to decide whether to educate these people for useful work, or put them on a sort of dole.

To Neal the long run solution, though the initial cost may be high, is the educational process.

One step, Neal thinks, would be to teach them to become better farmers and thus keep them in production on the land. Another would be to give them vocational training after they reach the city.

The problem will have to be solved, Neal believes, by federal action. It is too much for the states alone. (Tomorrow—Housing Negroes)

As a pitcher he won 21 games and lost two. He struck out 251. He pitched 21 complete games out of 25.

With Dallas last year he won nine games and lost three. He pitched 11 complete games out of 15.

This year Dallas sent him to Gainesville in the Class B State League. Burnett is playing in the outfield for Gainesville.

Burnett paid a little more than $1,000 for each game Sanner won for him.

Each time Dick Baker of the Phillips State Sports Club, his father, George Baker, Hall of Fame first baseman, attended the game, Burnett always bid $1,000 for Sanner.

New Trombone Is Invented By Arm Weary Musician

By PAUL FITZ AP Newfeatures Writer

Davis Shuman has invented a new trombone. Now, wait, don't rush off. This really concerns an act of mercy. For years—hundreds of years—trombonists have been stretching themselves out of joint, have suffered dancing eye balls and come home in their pitching arms. And for what?

For a public which generally didn't care, except in the light music field. For composers of serious music who thought so little of the trombone they rarely wrote solo pieces for it. Did you ever hear of a concerto for the trombone?

The principle obstacle has been the slide on the conventional trombone. It slides straight forward, and even a man with long arms has to stretch for the sixth and seventh positions. The slide slides right in the line of sight of the music stand, and this is hard on the player's eyes. To avoid hitting the music stand or jabbing the man in front, the conventional trombonist has to point his slide downward. This means the trombone is working its sound down and losing much of it in the basement.

Now, at long last, these dangers and difficulties are reduced. Now even a midget can play a trombone.

For Davis Shuman has invented a trombone which slides, not forward, but off to the right at an angle, somewhere between 80 and 45 degrees. The angle can be adjusted for kids. The shorter the playing arm, the wider the angle.

"The big advantage," says Shuman, "is that my trombone eliminates fatigue, especially on the right arm. It breaks out of the straight jacket of the old trombone and makes possible a new freedom and gracefulness."

Another advantage is the angular slide which improves the balance of the instrument. The straight-forward slide tended to make it top heavy and pull the player forward.

Shuman, 37, holding and grav, is an authority on the problems of the trombone. He teaches it at the Juillard School of Music in New York. More important, he has probably lost more money playing the trombone than any other soloist around.

So devoted is he to the instrument that Shuman gives trombone concerts. In serious music, this is almost as rare as a concert by a cyballist. On his trombone concerts, Shuman loses from $300 to $1200 a performance.

"I'm hoping more people will learn to love the instrument," he says, "and more composers will write for it. Man like Beethoven, Brahms and Mozart limited the trombone to very brief or very slow passages in a symphony. They'd give it eight or 10 measures and then let the trombone rest."

"Now, with my new slide, composers no longer need to worry about the fatigue problem and whether the trombone is equal to playing their more difficult passages. The trombone is no longer a weak stepchild in the orchestra."

Oh, yes, Shuman also has invented a diaper for the trombone. This is a little cap filled with absorbent cotton and attached to the water key. It catches water resulting from condensation.

This, Shuman points out, removes a great embarrassment for trombonists. "I was always nervous on the concert platform," he says, "worrying whether the water was messing up my clothes or creating a puddle around me. I used to try to shake it out, hiding the instrument behind me so that the audience wouldn't notice but it never worked well."

Now, he believes, the trombone will behave itself in public.

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which has been working for a long time to have a law passed in California that would prohibit the use of animals in the motion picture industry, has today announced that it has succeeded in getting a bill introduced in the California legislature.

The bill, which is known as the "Anti-Cruelty Bill," would prohibit the use of animals in the motion picture industry, and would also prohibit the use of animals in the motion picture industry.

A permit to seek "precious metal and stones in the underwater areas owned by the State of Florida" was renewed just four months ago by Bula E. Croker and two associates, Mrs. Croker, who lives in Palm Beach, has been getting Florida treasure hunting permits for years.

There is no indication here that she ever recovered anything. The lease she renewed until Mrs. Post is for hunting in Bay, Walton, Okaloosa, and Escambia Counties.

Capt. P. D. Truesdell of Miami also has a current permit allowing him to hunt for treasure in the Florida Keys.

Recent permits which have been permitted to explore have allowed hunting in the Suwannee River and in West Florida.

That all these players dig for treasure is a little hopeful. "Everyone will be bothering me for treasure licenses," he said.

Wagon loads of the treasure hunters' equipment, including a dynamite and a large amount of dynamite, are being taken from the state and stored in a warehouse.

30 Injured

-later and reinforcing fell.
Apparently only two persons heard anything resembling a warning of the crash. Dr. Case, sitting with his wife in the Loges, said he heard what he thought was a cracking about three to five minutes before the ceiling came down. He looked around, saw nothing and decided he was mistaken, he said.

When the roar began, Dr. Case said, he ducked between seats and reached for his wife but she jumped up and ran to the left.
He ran to the balcony where the plaster had fallen and helped check the injuries of those under the plaster. He did not find his wife until he went to the main floor, where she lay unconscious, spread eagled in an aisle.
Policeman Bray said Mrs. Case had fallen on a seat about three rows in front of him. In response to calls from Bray and Goldsmith ambulances from three cities rushed to the theater.
Frank Martin, driver of one of the ambulances, discovered as the stretchers were being loaded, that his son, Frank R. Martin, 27, of San Mateo, and his son's wife, Gloria, 21, were among the injured. He was scheduled to take to a hospital. Martin had a leg and head injury and his wife an injured leg.

One of the injured, Edward Trantow, 30, of Redwood City, had taken his son, James, 14, to the movie. The father was hit on the head and his arm was broken.
Jimmie, unhurt, carried his dazed father from the debris.
Mrs. William Guy Caskey, 39, of Memphis, Tenn., was the only person not a resident of the immediate area to be hurt.

Stevens Hurls, Hits Giants To 3-0 Win

Manager Cal Ermer Ejected From Game; Locals Will Meet G's Here Tonight

The dew-covered Orlando Senators are still standing in their defensive positions this morning waiting for the break that never did come last night when the locals succeeded in reversing their 3-0 behind the four hit, 10 strike out performance of Clyde Stevens.

The ex-schoolboy hurler, aside from whitewashing the Solons, also was credited with driving in the winning run, Simple by Tomak, and Hal Long in the 5th set the stage for Stevens' victory blow.

John Rider announced today that the first 500 fans to enter Municipal Ball Park tonight will be given FSL All-Star ball caps upon which they may mark their choice for this year's camp, the diamond team. The game is scheduled to be played July 4 in the park of the team leading the league as of midnight.

Eleven hundred Orlando fans watched Manager Al Ermer get ejected from the contest in the eighth frame after vigorously protesting a call by umpire George Hettlinger.

The tubbush came about when the umpire called Kerestes out at the plate claiming the runner never did touch the dish when he slid over.

Ermer's protest was so violent that Umpire Hettlinger declared after the game that he would recommend to the FSL that the manager draw a fine and be suspended.

Stevens, although in serious trouble twice, managed to pitch himself into the clear.

Hal Long iced the issue in the ninth frame when he doubled two team mates across the plate.

The Giants entertain the G-Men tonight at Municipal Ball Park. There is expected to receive the hurling nod from Ed Levy.

Mates, Umps, Opposition Break Backs To Applaud Ted Williams

BOSTON, June 22—(AP)—The men who play baseball alongside of Ted Williams, and against him, admire and like him.

This chorus of approval is highly significant when regarded against the background of his feuds with baseball writers and baseball fans.

Those reports of friction between the great Boston Red Sox hitter and his manager, Joe McCarthy, or his team-mate, Vern Stephens, appear to be entirely imaginary.

"Take the rumor that Williams and Stephens aren't speaking," Williams' own explanation sheds light on his personality, his theories of life, and the reason why it is easy for false ideas about him to spring up.

"There's nothing to it," said Williams, "maybe the talk started because there is no handshaking when either of us hit a home run. That's only because I don't believe in it. That's a silly thing, and it doesn't mean a thing. Some do, it just suits them to show for the fans. If a fellow hits a home run I let him know how I feel about it in the dug-out but no handshaking for me."

"Stephens used to shake my hand all the time after I hit a home run but I told him to cut it out. The other day he told me that since he stopped shaking hands with me he's gotten a hundred letters from people calling him a conceited, jealous, so-and-so because he refuses to shake hands with me."

Stephens further disproved the feud by declaring that recently Ted used influence to speed delivery of a new car when he slugging infielder wrecked his old one in an accident.

"Ted helped me out with my hitting," modestly said Stephens. "Whenever I get in a batting slump, I go to Williams. His advice usually helps."

How does Ted get along with Manager Joe McCarthy?
"McCarthy is a great manager, and a fine man. He's never said a harsh word to me. There was more than one occasion when he could have chewed my head off, but he's never said an unkind word to me. I suppose I'm afraid there will always be a first time. That's why I hustle like all get out for the old man. I'd hate to see the day when he's not my boss."

Will he ever forget the '48 world series when the St. Louis Cardinals beat them in the final of the seventh game for the championship?
"McCarthy was sitting on a stool holding his head between his hands. He kept looking down at the floor as one by one the players dressed and left the clubhouse. Ted solemnly walked over next to McCarthy and said humbly:

"I'm sorry we let you down, Joe."
McCarthy looked up at Williams, his face expressionless. Finally, Joe managed a smile and said in a low voice: "We should have let you down."

McCarthy never talks about his relations with Ted. One day he was asked to have answered a question about the team's performance. "I don't know," he said. "I don't know."

Lord Steward figured to be one of the favorites for the Sanford title. He was a big, powerful man, and he had a good record in the past. He was a former champion, and he was a former champion. He was a former champion, and he was a former champion.

Honeymoon Ended For Gardella And Organized Ball

NEW YORK, (AP)—The honeymoon is over for little Danny Gardella and organized baseball. Now it's probably back to the courts.

The pint-sized outfielder was reported today riding to battle for his full $5,000 year's salary from the St. Louis Cardinals, who cut him adrift yesterday.

"Danny feels he is entitled to a full season's pay or the chance to work for it," said a confidant of Gardella, who asked the Cardinals during the year, to make part of the settlement of his $300,000 suit against baseball last fall.

The Cardinals announced Gardella's pay would end 30 days after his outright release, as provided in the standard contract.

Gardella, back at his Bronx, N. Y., home, said tersely, "the matter is being handled by my attorneys."

When the suit was settled out of court last Oct. 7, Gardella, who chased files for the New York Giants during the year, became the property of the Cardinals.

The story outfielder never broke into the Cardinals lineup. He was optioned to the Houston Buffs, a St. Louis farm club, Apr. 25. The Buffs returned him and his .211 batting average to the Cards last Thursday.

The Cardinals forthwith gave Gardella his walking papers after announcing all other major clubs had waived on him.

Fred Saigh, owner of the Cardinals, insists Danny signed with the proviso he would be paid "according to his proved ability" and he simply failed to make it.

Gardella's viewpoint, which he has not been bashful about expressing is that he wasn't given a fair chance.

Whether there is further litigation on the part of baseball, growing out of last fall's settlement of the $300,000 suit, remains a mystery.

Cardinals officials contend there was no "deal," that the deal came back to baseball for nothing more than a chance to prove himself.

Gardella said in Houston last week-end he was "paid something to drop his litigation."

The outfielder was one of a core of major leaguers banished in 1940 for joining the Houston Mexican League. Shortly afterwards he sued baseball, charging the reserve clause violated the anti-trust laws and deprived him of a livelihood.

The reserve clause, never put to modern court test, binds a player to one club for life or until the club chooses to dispense of him.

Manager Gruber Is Given Heave-Ho By Jacksonville Team

JACKSONVILLE, June 22—(Special)—Hal Gruber, who built a hitting record of nine first division finishes in years as a baseball manager, before coming to Jacksonville this Spring, was let out as skipper of the local South Atlantic League entry yesterday afternoon.

With the hapless Tars mired hopelessly in the loop cellar and reeling under the impact of an 11-game losing streak, the axe fell where it customarily does in circumstances of this sort.

Hal Bamberger, veteran left fielder, will manage the Tars until the next day or two. Business Manager Crother Boyd revealed.

"We are not trying to make a whipping boy out of Hal," Boyd declared last night. "He is a fine man and there is nothing personal in his release. It was just one of those moves that had to be made."

Boyd further disclosed that two men—neither currently connected with the local ball club—are being considered for the position.

Gruber, who took over the Tars after a phenomenal managerial record at Bristol, Tenn., and Sanford, as well as at Manchester, N. H., saw his club make a fight of it for the first 30 days or so of the season, mainly on the strength of a lineup full of better-than-average batsmen. However, his infield—defensively wretched most of the time—was already stream of sore-armed pitchers, fed here by the parent New York Giants organization caught up with him and once the Tars hit the bottom they stayed there.

Unusually popular with fans despite the inept performances of his charges night after night, Gruber will probably stay in the New York Giants organization in some capacity.

His firing came two days after Carl Hubball and Mel Ott of the Giants' farm system organization came to town to see what was wrong with the club.

AFTER WINNING the second annual 1,500-mile "Powder-Puff Derby," Betty Hays, of Sarasota, N. Y., waves to friends for the benefit of photographers at West Palm Beach, Fla. Although she successfully flew from Montreal, Canada, to the Florida city, she landed without crossing the finish line. She quickly took off when informed of the error and flew her plane over the final marker. (International Soundphoto)

Fred Egan, who won the Hambletonian in 1949 with Miss Tilly has quit the Maryland circuit for the leisurely atmosphere of Goheen to prepare his charges for the forthcoming Grand Circuit date in the East. "Too much rain down there," says Egan. But he's not apt to find weather conditions another in New York, which has seen few dry days all summer.

One of the stars in Egan's stable is Scotch Dean, a top-ranking contender for this year's $85,000 Hambletonian classic.

Lord Steward, Ralph H. Kroenig's three-year-old gelding, continues to be the early season sensation among 1950 Hambletonian hopefuls. The Danbury youngster took the first of a series of melon-banquets in New York, which he handled when he won the $10,000 Western Trot at Santa Anita, Cal. in 2:04 2/5. His next big test will come in the $5,000 Silver Spring and the $10,000 Diamond Luck event at Laurel Raceway Park, Md., June 21st and 28th.

In The Swim

(This is the first of a series of how to swim articles by Bob Kipphut, Yale and Olympic swimming coach, and Harry Mark, Yale freshman coach. It is based on their book, Basic Swimming.)

By ROBERT KIPPHUT and HARRY M. MARK (Written Especially For AP News-features)

The heroic but totally unsound method of teaching children to swim by throwing them overboard is a thing of the past. Children can be taught to swim without difficulty so that they are completely at home in the water.

The methods we will describe are those we have developed over a period of years and found to produce excellent results with children of faculty members at Yale.

Our first lesson for the beginner is the kick. The beginner must learn to kick from the hips and not from the knees. This does not mean that the legs are kept rigid. The toes are pointed and the knees naturally will bend slightly. But the action must originate from the hips.

Learn to kick properly before actually attempting to swim. Hold on to the side of the pool and practice the kick until it becomes second nature. Remember! Once you learn to swim with a knee-kick instead of a hip-kick, it is extremely difficult to correct the mistake.

Children who are at a beach or lake (instead of in a pool) can practice in shallow or knee-deep water by throwing on their heads.

During these first lessons, the child should have the support of a small, inflated tube, water-wings or float cans. At Yale we use ordinary one-gallon paint cans with the cover sealed and strapped around the child's middle.

If kick-boards are available, the beginner can support his arm and hands on the board and continue his kicking practice. A large inflated tube also can be used. This exercise provides a good test to see if the beginner has developed the proper kick. The child with the hip-kick will move smoothly and easily through the water, but the child with the knee-kick will produce plenty of splashing and will not be moving forward as fast as he should.

Tomorrow: The dog-paddle.

By coincidence, the two highest placed harness horse venturers of all time, White Hanover ($42,000) and Imperial Hanover ($37,000), will make their racing debut in the same season. White Hanover, bought at the Harrisburg, Pa. auction in 1947, will get in the post for the first time this year at the age of four after being kept off the track for three seasons due to lameness. Imperial Hanover, last year's yearling price, also is slated to start in the two-year-old stakes this year.

The veteran trainer Tom Berry, who has shipped the night training tracks for ten years, will make his debut under the lights at the Louisville Fairgrounds next June 2-7. Ordinarily Berry waits until the Goshen Historic Track day meeting to send his horses into selling. Now the "old timers" capitulate to the trend to night racing.

Four Ace Routers To Strive For Win

DAYTONA BEACH, June 22—(Special)—Four ace routers, Kenman, Round Edge, Thought, and Alrock will each be striving for their third win of the season when they meet tonight over the 5.10th mile route in the feature ninth race, at the Volusia County dog track. Four other top performers completing the celebrity set are all ninth race veterans, namely Carrie's Bit, Biffenma, Phylak and Rustic Rub. When a pack like this starts burning the oval thrills are certain to be dished out by the bucketful.

Thought, owned by E. F. Sinker is certain to rate among the favorites for this red brilliant recently covered the route in 21.2 seconds. Just two-fifths off the track record, and in six starts here he has landed three times in the money. Hands-omew, Round Edge is to date the best money maker in the octet. Since the season started here he has accumulated $340 worth of purses for his owner. Alrock rates second with purses totaling $217. Carrie's Bit finished third in the recent Biffenma Derby, and as she has now had time to get geared to the local track she may be in a mood tonight to make the oval smoke.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN THE EARLY days of the blitz, Winston Churchill motored hurriedly to Canterbury to see that proper precautions were taken for the protection of the famous cathedral there. Later he explained to the Archbishop, "We have bolstered the edifice and approached with sandbags to spare. Every device known to man has been applied. No matter how many close hits the Nazis may make, I feel sure the Cathedral will survive."

"Ah, yes, close hits," said the Archbishop gloomily, "but what if they score a direct hit upon us?" "In that event," decided Churchill, with some asperity, "you will have to regard it, my dear Archbishop, as a summons."

James Thurber was boasting of his native Ohio at a dinner given by the Columbia Jester. "If Ohio is such a wonderful state," chided Howard Dietz, "why do so many of its valiant sons leave it and come to New York?" "In Ohio," Thurber pointed out loftily, "the competition is too tough."

The East German politburo called its meeting to analyze the results of last Sunday's elections in North Rhine-Westphalia, where the Communists, in a smashing defeat, got only 5.5 per cent of the vote.

Atomic Weapons Plan Boosts Army Prestige | Selective Service Law May Expire June 24

Special to Central Press WASHINGTON—Army prestige has soared at the Pentagon since Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff, announced that the ground forces expect to get atomic artillery and guided missiles.

Previously, the Army feared it was being subordinated in the defense picture because of announcements that Atlantic Treaty commitments would compel the United States to place more emphasis on the Air Force and the Navy. Collins' statement is being hailed as evidence that it is now possible to plan atomic warfare without destruction of cities.

Since 1946, administration leaders have felt there has been too much talk about the A-bomb as a "horror" weapon. Many people in neutral parts of the world have had the impression that Uncle Sam is awaiting a chance to "atomize" whole populations.

On the military side, there is a serious question whether a nation presumably fighting for its life could afford to use atomic bombs in the field when the same bombs would be so much more destructive if dropped on industrial centers.

However, overbalancing this is the growing conviction that a nation which expects to retain world leadership could never initiate atomic bombardment of cities in the face of world sentiment against that type of warfare.

DRIFT—The Selective Service law, under which millions of men were inducted into the armed forces, may end June 24—at least temporarily. A bill to extend the draft law beyond that date and permit inductions only with the approval of Congress has been passed by the House. But the Senate has not acted, though its armed services committee approved a three-year extension.

With Democratic leaders seeking adjournment by Aug. 1, the Senate faces a speedup to clear its jammed legislative calendar. While the draft bill is on the "must" list okayed by Majority Leader Scott Lucas, several other measures are ahead of it, and it would not be surprising if the Senate adjourned without acting on Selective Service.

In any case, it is doubtful that the Senate can act on the extension bill by June 24, when the present law expires. So even if a bill were passed later, the draft technically would be dead for the intervening time.

RED JAPAN?—United States military leaders fear that if American occupation forces are withdrawn from Japan, Nipponese nationalists will play right into the hands of the Kremlin. They point out that Japanese Communists, masked as "zealous patriots," can be expected to lead demonstrations against maintenance of United States bases in Japan once the occupation troops leave.

Try and Stop Me

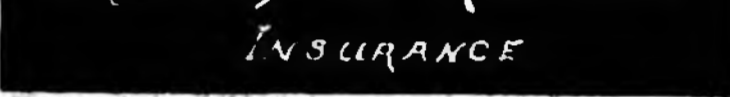

By BENNETT CERF

JAMES SHERIDAN, of Indianapolis, sends me the story of a bird hunter who paused at an old farmer's house and requested permission to indulge in his favorite sport on the premises. The farmer eyed the two big bird dogs tied to the car's rear bumper with huge disfavor and curtly said, "Nothing doing."

When the disappointed hunter started to re-enter his car, however, the old fellow retorted, "I'm sorry, feller," he said, "I don't hear for you goin' huntin', but I ain't goin' to have a passel of dogs runnin' over my place, shootin' my stock. You want to go huntin' so I'll tell you what I'll do. You kin have my hired man Zeb. He kin point as good as any bird dog an' beat most of them all holler when it comes to retrievin'." The hunter agreed and off they went through the brush with Zeb on all fours.

It didn't take Zeb long to convince the hunter that he was better than any bird dog that he had ever used, for in no time at all they had bagged the limit. Handing Zeb five dollars he promised he would be back in two weeks and would use him again. On his next visit he inquired for old Zeb, but the farmer shook his head.

"Zeb ain't with us any more. He got to chewin' up birds on his retrieve an' we had to shoot him."

KOREAN CRISIS GROWS HOTTER

Invading North Koreans Demand Surrender From Leaders Of Republic

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, June 27.—(AP)—"Too little and too late" American military aid for South Korea was blamed by President Syngman Rhee today as Communist invaders from the north slashed to the outskirts of this capital.

SEOUL, Korea, June 26.—(AP)—Invading North Korean Communists stabbed a tank column to the outskirts of this southern Republic's capital early today and broadcast a demand for southern surrender. The surrender demand was made over the Pongyang radio by General Chai Ung Jun, commander of the Northern Forces that suddenly invaded South Korea Sunday morning.

Prospects of total defeat through had morale rather than by being beaten in the west in evidence at this zero hour today.

The Northern mobile column that thrust perilously upon Seoul did so by piercing two full Southern divisions that were engaged in a counter-attack.

It reached Seoul's outskirts with little or no resistance for the last dozen miles.

Exact whereabouts of the Northern column was not mentioned in this dispatch, filed at 2:30 A. M., Korean time.

Last official report had the Northern tanks nine miles north of Seoul at 10 P. M. Monday and nothing about the situation there were said to be on the outlook.

President Syngman Rhee and his cabinet remained in conference all night but there was no immediate response to the North Korean demand for surrender.

In some quarters it was known that suggestions had been made to move the capital more than 300 miles south to the port of Pusan.

The southern government's reluctance to abandon Seoul was tempered by a defensive attitude made complete capitulation appear as the only alternative to moving the capital.

The public's morale remained high in the face of the surprise onslaught Sunday and throughout Monday despite adverse reports from the field and a spectacular machine-gunning of Seoul's streets by the North's Russians.

General Says Cooperation Is Necessary

Diplomats And Military Leaders Must Join Forces For Peace, He Claims

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(AP)—General Omar Bradley said today the present state of world affairs requires the closest possible cooperation between the nation's military men and its diplomats.

"In peace," Bradley said, "the diplomats would be the principal spokesmen for the American people in foreign affairs. In war, the soldier's advice is sought and heard as we defend our nation."

"But today, in this half peace, half war, neither the soldier nor the diplomat alone can lead the American people in a wise course of international action. Both voices must be heard if American policy is to be realistic and effective."

In a speech which he prepared for delivery at the graduation exercises of the National War College, Bradley said that since new weapons pose a deterrent to aggression "they also place in the hands of any enemy the quick trigger of foreign policy." He added:

"Some nations can commit themselves in a matter of seconds."

Bradley's speech, written last week, made no mention of the Communist attack on South Korea. But it hammered at the theme that the democratic world is confronted by "an aggressive ideology which places its political faith and authority in the hands of military force."

"If our ideals of democracy could challenge Communism in words alone," he said, "we in diplomatic negotiation or even in economic and political control, I know that the abundance of our way of life and the Christian beliefs behind it, would win out."

But the close combination of Communist with military dictatorship demands that we include strong defense measures in our program of containment."

At the same time he made clear his belief that the military must remain under civilian control at all times. Under the American form of government, he said, the military can then "best serve its purpose."

Gambling King Is Rapped With 2 Year Sentence

Erickson Also Draws $30,000 Fine From Three N. Y. Judges

NEW YORK, June 26.—(AP)—Frank Erickson, kingpin of a nationwide bookmaking business, today was sentenced to two years in prison and a $30,000 fine.

The chubby, 54-year-old gambler was indicted for racketeering in 1949.

Erickson threw himself on the mercy of the court last Monday by pleading guilty to a 60-count bookmaking charge.

A three-judge panel gave Erickson a one-year prison term of one count of conspiracy and a second year on the first of 59 counts of bookmaking. The terms are to run consecutively.

The moon-faced, balding gambler, indicted in 1949, operated at a $12,000-a-year, coast-to-coast bookmaking empire, also was given a suspended 10-month prison term of three years.

The sentence was handed down by Justice Nathan D. Perlman, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan had urged the court to impose a penalty of five years imprisonment, and a $50,000 fine.

Perlman was fined the maximum amount, $500 on each of the 60 counts.

With time off for good behavior, Erickson could get out of jail after serving 20 months in the city penitentiary.

Each of the counts also would have permitted a maximum prison term of one year, or a total of 60.

In addressing the court, Hogan had called Erickson "the master mechanic in what has been described as the nation's biggest racket."

Defense Attorney Sol Galt, appealing for leniency, argued that the gambler was "part and parcel of the weaknesses of our society manifest all too clearly day by day."
