Lake Mary Commissioners Start, Stall, Delay Actions

Lame Duck Panel Starts Tax Repeal

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary commissioners started, stalled, approved and amended in actions Thursday night—actions by a board of which a majority will be replaced next month. Three new commissioners will take their seats on the five member panel Oct. 5.

The meeting included a series of sweeping actions resulting in a start to repeal the city's water utility tax, the delaying of attempts to condemn property proposed for the city hall site, and approval of the 1987-88 city budget.

The commission also amended a resolution authorizing the negotiated sale of $3.17 million in public improvement bonds that wound up playing an integral role in all those actions.

From the first bang of the gavel beginning the meeting residents opposed to a two-year-old tax on their water bills confronted the commission with their opinions.

Former commissioner Harry Terry started the debate by telling the commission it wasn't fair that only people connected to the city's water system had to pay a 10 percent tax.

The revenues generated from the taxing of the approximately 1,500 city water customers is projected to raise $20,500 during the 1987-88 fiscal year. That money was to be returned to the city's water department. City Manager Bob Norris said the average water bill amounts to about $13, based on the use of 7,000 gallons of city water.

"I know this is an emotional issue for everybody," Fess said of the situation. He told opponents of the tax that the city's 'water base' could never be expanded without the water department being a solvent operation.

Two Children Killed In Separate Accidents

Two children have become the 15th and 16th victims of traffic accidents in Seminole County this year.

A 10-year-old bicyclist was killed on State Road 434 in Longwood Thursday afternoon, and a three-year-old girl was killed when the car her mother was driving crashed into a tree in Altamonte Springs shortly after midnight. Altamonte Springs police said Irene K. Brown, 21, of 1500 Gay Road No. 20D, Winter Park, was driving west on Center Street when her car veered off the road and struck a tree at 12:01 a.m. Her three-year-old daughter, Samantha, was killed.

Police said the accident was alcohol related and charges are pending against Brown, who was listed in stable condition at Orlando Regional Medical Center this morning.

Mother's Sentence: Probation

A Winter Springs woman, turned in to police by her 12-year-old daughter for using marijuana in April, was sentenced Thursday to three years probation by Seminole Circuit Court Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr.

Kathleen Andriola, 30, who pleaded guilty to possession of more than 20 grams of the illegal substance on Aug. 3, will also be required to undergo drug counseling if tests show it is needed and to perform 50 hours of community service.

Andriola will not have a criminal record if she successfully completes her probation, because the judge withheld adjudication of guilt.

Andriola's husband, Alain, 35, free on bail while awaiting trial on Sept. 15 for possession of more than 20 grams of mari-

Holiday Closings

City, county, state, and federal offices will be closed Monday for the Labor Day holiday. Banks, post offices and schools will also be closed.

The Seminole County Public Library System's Central Branch, Casselberry, the North Branch, Sanford, and the Bookmobile will be closed Monday for Labor Day. The libraries will reopen Tuesday at 10 a.m.

There will be no garbage pickup in Sanford on Monday. Monday's pick up schedule will be shifted to Tuesday and Tuesday's to Wednesday. The normal schedule will resume on Thursday.

In Altamonte Springs, there will be city garbage collection as usual.

Tri County Transit buses will operate on their Sunday-holiday schedule on Labor Day, which means there will be no service on some routes and reduced service on other routes. Riders can consult individual schedules or call 841-8240 for more information.

Over Boy's Suicide

County Jail Guards Fired

Aunt: Charge Them With Murder

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Four Seminole County jail guards have been fired for neglect of duty in connection with the recent suicide of a 17-year-old murder suspect, and today the boy's aunt is asking the guards be charged with murder or some other criminal offense.

The guards were on duty Aug. 27 when Edwin Paul Bateman hanged himself in the juvenile section of the jail where inmates are supposed to be checked every 15 minutes. The guards on duty the night the boy died had signed a log indicating those checks had been made, but an internal investigation disclosed the guards were lying, according to the sheriff. The guards were also dismissed for falsifying records.

Bateman, of Forest City, his girlfriend and co-defendant Suzanne Phillips, 15, also of Forest City, were charged with first degree murder in connection with the robbery murder of florist Diane McGinnis, 39, of Longwood. They were arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies on June 26, three days after McGinnis' body was found in woods behind Floral Creations, Hunt Club Corners, where she worked.

Bateman had been awaiting trial in the juvenile section of the county jail but hanged himself in the early morning hours Aug. 27 by tying strips of a pillow case together and wrapping it around his neck. His body was discovered by a guard about 6:40 a.m., some three to four hours after he died, according to the county's medical examiner. The four guards on duty throughout the night, however, had indicated they had checked his cell every 15 minutes as required by jail rules and state law.

The aunt claims the autopsy report shows that Bateman was hanging for two hours before he died, and was dead for about three hours before his body was discovered. The sheriff disputes her claim, however. "I don't think she knows what she's talking about," said the sheriff, adding, "Bateman died within minutes of his own hanging." The sheriff also said he does not intend to pursue filing any criminal charges against the fired guards.

Even if the guard checks had been made, Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said today, Bateman's life might not have been saved, because, Polk says, the medical examiner reported Bateman died of strangulation and death probably occurred within three minutes.

State Says No Again On Longwood Police Probe

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The state has now rejected two separate requests by Longwood officials for investigations of allegations against the city police chief and two of the city commissioners.

Mayor Ed Myers received a letter from the Governor's Office dated Aug. 31 in response to his Aug. 12 request that the Governor's Office investigate charges of malfeasance and misfeasance made by a citizen against Commissioners Lynette Dennis and Dave Gunter.

Responding at the request of

Gov. Bob Martinez, Deputy General Counsel Barbara M. Linticum stated that "it appears that the allegations made against the commissioners are for violations of the Longwood City Charter and the Governor's Office does not investigate city charter violations. Therefore if you feel an investigation is necessary, I recommend that you contact your state attorney."

Myers said at a work session Thursday night, "We should forget the past...We're going to make mistakes, but let's forget about all these investigations and go on and do what we were elected to do—the city's work."

City Administrator Ron Waller said Thursday night after reporting to the city commission that the Florida Department of Law Enforcement had declined to investigate Police Chief Greg Manning and his operation of the police department. "I know you voted to investigate (allegations by Gunter), but I can't spend more than one or one-and-a-half hours a week because right now the sewer connection to the county is the main priority."

"I will continue to monitor all the departments including the police department, and upgrade their services wherever I can. Above that I can't offer the type of full-scale investigation the FDLE might have," Waller said. Waller said he will still be looking into questions brought by Gunter about the use city money, equipment, personnel and facilities by the Police Benevolent Association and on the SWAT team fund.

FDLE said in an Aug. 7 letter to Waller that in the absence of a reasonable suspicion that Manning had committed a criminal act their office would not pursue the matter further. Jack

Fenwick, FDLE director of the Office of Executive Services, said in the letter that some of the allegations had been looked into earlier in an investigation of Manning completed May 4 and that a "management dispute apparently exists between Commissioner Gunter and Chief Manning."

Fenwick stated that "None involve an allegation of criminal misconduct on Manning's part. This office, therefore, has no appropriate jurisdiction to become involved in the matter." He said he would re-evaluate the

3-2 Victory Amid Raindrops In Jamboree

Blake Bomb Sets Seminole Win

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — Jeff Blake only completed one pass Thursday night — but it was a big one.

Blake, returning to the gridiron after missing a year due to a broken leg, lofted a 43-yard bomb to Curtis Rudolph to set up the winning field goal as Seminole trimmed Kissimmee Osceola, 3-2. In one half of jamboree prep football action at Lyman High School before 502 rain-drenched fans Thursday night.

"At first, I was very nervous because I had been out one year," Blake said after the half. "I had butterflies. But after that first snap of the ball, I was all right."

Blake, who threw for over 1,000 yards as a sophomore, suffered a broken leg when a motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile in March of 1986. He received a compound fracture of the right femur, a broken right (throwing) arm and 50-plus stitches in his right knee.

The 16-year-old senior was anxious to get back into action last year after undergoing a strenuous rehabilitation program, but there was some doubt that the calcium had hardened enough in his leg to withstand a hard knock. Emory Blake, now

Seminole's offensive coordinator, then decided it would be better for his son to sit out the 1986 season and come back strong in '87.

With the return of eight defensive starters, along with hard-running Rudolph, a 100 percent healthy Blake was deemed crucial to any championship aspirations of this year's Seminoles.

"Jeff (Blake) hit the first long one, which was great," coach Roger Beathard said. "He got the big one out of the way. That was real important for his confidence."

Despite less than desirable conditions for throwing the ball, Blake did not waste any time. After Earnie "Sackman" Lewis recovered an Osceola fumble at the Seminole 48-yard line, Blake dropped back and waited for Rudolph to outrun his defender down the right sideline.

"Jeff hung it up high and I went at it," Rudolph said about his lunging catch at the Osceola 5-yard line. Three plays later, J.J. Partlow came on and drilled an 18-yard field goal through the uprights for a 3-2 lead with 4:38 left in the first quarter.

Partlow's three-pointer erased a 2-0 Osceola lead which the Kowboys acquired when they sacked Blake in the end zone for a safety just two

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Man Accused Of Raping 12-Year-Old Several Times

A 43-year-old Altamonte Springs man has been charged with sexual battery and lewd and lascivious assault on a child under the age of 12 years.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported the attacks would occur when the girl was in the man's care and a medical exam is said to support the girl's accounts of the incidents.

The allegations by the girl and her mother and grandmother were first reported to Health and Rehabilitative Services Investigators.

Karl E. Righter, of 148 Hattaway Drive, was arrested at 10:50 a.m. Wednesday at the sheriff's department.

Man Rammed With Car

Catherine Abram Ramirez, 28, of Daytona Beach, was charged with aggravated battery after she allegedly rammed a Sanford man with her car during an argument outside 1122 Celery Ave., Sanford.

After Sanford police made that arrest at about 3:37 p.m. Wednesday, Ramirez' car was searched and several partially smoked marijuana cigarettes and a cigarette holder were found in her car.

School Burglary Suspect Nabbed

Oviedo police responded to a burglary alarm which led to the search of Jackson Heights Middle School and the arrest of a man found inside the school at about 5:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said that in the man's pockets they found two screwdrivers, an envelope containing about $15 in change, a cigarette lighter and a small calculator.

Two Threatened By Gunman

A man who allegedly forced one man to the ground and pointed a gun at him as well as at a second man who came to aid the first victim was arrested by Sanford police after the victims reported the attack.

Sanford police reported that when the second man saw the first victim, who was on the ground being kicked, he came to his aid. But the gunman turned on the second man and told him he would "blow his head off if he didn't get back."

The accused man, Reginald D. Conquest, 28, of 401 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, was arrested on a charge of aggravated assault at his home at 1:48 a.m. Thursday.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Eugene F. Ragan, 52, of 1715 Sunset Drive, Longwood, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a 1971 Honda motorcycle from his home between Aug. 13 and 24.

A computer printer valued at $417 was stolen from Greenwood Lakes Middle School, 601 Park Drive, Lake Mary, between June 9 and Aug. 28.

Earl Wayne Martin, 46, of 963 W. Second Place, Longwood, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $530 handgun and $35 holster from his vehicle in Oviedo Aug. 23.

Three blowers with a combined value of about $1,200 were stolen along with a $275 weedwhacker from the pickup truck of Darryl Scott Walker, 25, of 226 Colony Drive, Casselberry, Wednesday.

Daisy J. Hardy, 23, of 432 Condor Court, Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies a $170 television was stolen from her home Tuesday.

A $180 television was stolen from the home of Sylvia C. Garner, 904 Tumbleweed Lane, Casselberry, Tuesday.

Abandoned Property, Few Takers

By Brad Church Herald Staff Writer The state comptroller's office has only received a few calls from Seminole County residents inquiring about abandoned property since newspaper ads listed the names of owners of abandoned property last week.

Marjorie Green, one of the people who takes calls at the Orlando office of the comptroller, says some of the people who have called have been eligible to claim only small amounts.

Abandoned property includes money left in checking and savings accounts, utility deposits, stocks, bonds, insurance refunds and items in safe deposit boxes.

A list of 35,000 Floridians, including 282 from Seminole County, were printed in newspaper ads throughout the state the last two weeks of August.

Green said only a small percentage of the unclaimed property is normally claimed. The most common reason property is unclaimed is because its owners have died.

Money that has been unclaimed for 10 years and safe deposit boxes or trust department items that have been unclaimed for seven years must be turned over to the comptroller's office according to law.

Although the Florida Highway Patrol has predicted 30 people will die in Florida during the upcoming Labor Day holiday, the Florida Coalition for Auto Safety Now, Inc., believes the number of deaths may be lower.

The coalition believes the death toll is dropping because people are paying more attention to highway safety.

Kathleen Teague, executive director, said two other holidays this year showed a downward trend in the death rate.

"We are very pleased with this downward trend in highway deaths over the summer holidays. We hope it continues through Labor Day but we want people to use safety belts, child restraint seats, not to drink and drive and to drive safely whether it's a holiday or not," said Teague.

There were 36 people killed in 34 accidents on Florida's highways during the 1986 Labor Day weekend.

last known address is in Florida. If the property remains unclaimed, it becomes part of the State School Fund. However, a claim could be made for the money at any time since Florida has no statute of limitations on abandoned property.

People who think they may have unclaimed property on file with the state and know the state file number, or know the county they lived in when the money became abandoned, can call 305-423-6115 in Orlando.

Workers' Dispute Brings Arrest

A 26-year-old Winter Park man who allegedly brandished a gun against co-workers and followed a fellow worker to his Sanford home after threatening to kill him, has been arrested by Sanford police on a charge of aggravated assault.

The trouble began at an A & B Roofing jobsite in Altamonte Springs at about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and ended with the arrest of Dwayne Earl Bohannon, of 1111 Timber Road.

Bohannon followed the victim to his home at 225 Woodmere Blvd., but he didn't approach the home. Police took him into custody near the victim's home.

He was also charged with carrying a concealed firearm driving under the influence and driving with a suspended license.

Area Building Firm Acquired By GDC

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Florida Residential Communities, Inc., with corporate offices in Altamonte Springs, has been acquired by General Development Corporation, Miami, for $4 million in cash and the assumption of approximately $23 million in various project financings.

FRC, which had its most successful year in 1986, will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of General Development, one of the state's oldest and largest developers of planned communities. In 1986, General Development earned $22.6 million on revenues of $388.6 million and delivered 1,502 homes. Last year, FRC delivered a record 366 units representing sales of $27 million. Founded in 1975, FRC is building 11 residential communities and currently employs 66 persons. FRC President and principal shareholder Burton Bines will join the General Development Corporation management team.

"The quality of FRC management was a primary consideration in our decision to purchase FRC," according to General Development Chairman David F. Brown and President Robert F. Ehrling. "Burton Bines has done an outstanding job as president, earning a national reputation as an innovative builder and marketer of homes."

Under Bines' leadership, FRC has won numerous awards for the design and marketing of attractive, functional homes and lifestyle communities, they said. In 1986, the National Association of Home Builders named Bines one of the country's top six merchant builders.

General Development officials said, "FRC is a perfect fit for our homebuilding marketing and growth strategy. FRC will allow us to expand into the medium-priced housing market in two of the state's prime areas: Seminole County and Orlando, and Palm Beach County. We expect FRC to be an immediate contributor to General Development's profits."

With more than 4,000 homes built or in the planning stages in the state, FRC has developed 30 communities in central and south Florida. There are plans to introduce five new communities this year. FRC builds a variety of detached and attached houses priced from $55,000 to $180,000.

FRC's current projects in Seminole County include 50 zero-lot-line homes planned for Heathrow, Lake Mary; Barrington, 56 single-homes, and Danbury Mill 220 duplexes, both in Longwood; Beacon Hill, 165 townhomes in Casselberry; Stockbridge, 196 zero-lot-line homes and Wekiva Reserve, 220 townhomes, both in the Apopka area of southwest Seminole.

Among General Development communities are Port St. Lucie, Port Malabar, Sebastian Highlands, Port Charlotte, and Port LaBelle.

Our Uncle Sam, Sugar Baddie

Every day, the Soviet Union buys $6 million worth of Cuban sugar and pays $10 million for it. That's how Fidel Castro's sick socialist economy creeps by.

Unfortunately, the United States treats its own neighbors and allies in the Caribbean with much greater disdain — not to mention its own consumers. To protect inefficient U.S. sugar growers, we artificially limit sugar imports from other countries. This drives the U.S. price up to 22 cents a pound, while it drives the world price down to 6 cents.

Under a law passed in 1981, the United States has cut its import quotas by 82 percent, and in the process practically wiped out what's left of the economies of the Dominican Republic (which has lost more than $240 million a year in precious exports), Haiti and Jamaica. One of the most recent converts to democracy, the Philippines, also has been hurt.

On top of this, our apparel and textile quotas make it virtually impossible for these nations to ship any significant amounts to the United States, even if they buy and use U.S. fabrics.

This makes a mockery of the liberal arguments that we should spread democracy in Central America and the Caribbean Basin by "peaceful means" instead of through Contra aid. Most of those who oppose aid to the anti-communist resistance in Nicaragua also were among those who voted to gut President Reagan's 1983 Caribbean Basin Initiative by taking away all of its freer trade provisions to protect their own special interests.

Now, a couple of very sensible free-trade Democrats, Reps. Sam Gibbons of Florida and J.J. Pickle of Texas, have teamed to write and promote a piece of legislation that would allow duty-free imports of clothing made from U.S. fabrics in Caribbean countries, and to more than triple the sugar quotas for 12 Caribbean countries. In effect, this would restore the Caribbean Basin Initiative plan to its original concept.

As Gibbons said, increased trade is preferable to guns as a way to help "these nations work their way out of the present economic morass" they are in, and to "create business certainty and provide a long-term investment climate ... so that the economic prosperity will ensure political stability." Under their bill, Caribbean nations would have their sugar export quotas raised from 340,000 tons a year to 1.124 million tons annually, the level that existed in 1984.

This also would help American consumers by lowering U.S. sugar prices by 5-10 cents a pound — but don't expect the fat-cat sugar and textile lobbies to go along with it. The textile industry, which has enjoyed an 838 percent increase in the price of its publicly traded stocks since 1982, is determined to get still more protection. It likes the idea of a government-assisted sugar cartel. At the same time, the sugar lobby, bolstered by the profitable corn sugar crowd, desperately wants to shut out cheap Caribbean sugar.

So, the Cubans will go on selling their sugar to Moscow at subsidized prices, while their Caribbean colleagues go on losing their markets and revenues to U.S. protectionism. It's a stupid, self-defeating policy that is sure to drive more of these countries into the Marxist morass. But that's the way Congress is these days — all posture and no policy.

Reagan Faces Ups, Downs In Fall Season

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan apparently is facing a number of ups and downs as he ends his California vacation and prepares for a busy fall season in Washington.

The happy side of the ledger is the prospect of signing an intermediate range missile agreement with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev at a summit meeting in Washington, possibly in late November.

On that score, there appears to be an exorable drive for a pact with major concessions already made concerning on-site inspection and West Germany's decision to scrap 72 controversial Pershing missiles.

The word being passed to reporters in Santa Barbara, where the president is vacationing, is that Nancy Reagan wants her husband to go down in history as a peacemaker. Oddly, in his nearly seven years in office, Reagan has never expressed the same wish.

Contingency plans for a summit have been in the works for many months on the premise that the United States will be prepared to play host to a "big-two" meeting.

It will be a third encounter between the superpower leaders who both want and arms agreement and need it.

The down side of the coin is the possibility that there may be more bad news about the Iran-Contra scandal.

If Lawrence Walsh, the special prosecutor, decides to interview the president before pressing ahead with criminal charges against two former members of the national security staff, Reagan may be pinned down on whether Adm. John Poindexter and Lt. Col. Oliver North ran away with presidential power or were acting under his general mandate.

North has testified that everything he did, including the diversion of funds from the Iran arms sales to the Nicaraguan rebels, or Contras, had the approval of higher-ups. Poindexter has said that he tried to protect the president, giving him plausible deniability, in making the foreign policy moves outside of government channels.

Reagan has yet to condemn North and Poindexter for allegedly staging a "coup" as some senators have contended, and bypassing his authority. He has slapped Poindexter on the wrist for saying "the buck stops here," but he has said that both men were well-intentioned and motivated.

The president also has acknowledged that it was his own "stubborn pursuit" of a policy that led to the worst political crisis of his administration.

Reagan has consistently claimed he did not know that money from weapons sales to Tehran had been passed along to the Contras.

If North and Poindexter were renegades who "privatized" foreign policy and made end runs to avoid congressional surveillance, they could be culpable and subject to conspiracy charges.

On the other hand, if they were acting under orders, it might be another ball game.

At some point, the president has to come to grips with the fact that two aides dealing with the highest security matters of the country kept him out of the loop or were following orders. As long as those questions remain, his own credibility is at stake.

Fertilizing Without A Shovel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Company, attention!" the topkick barks. After the formation, the men "fall out" and police the parade ground until it's ready for inspection.

That, at least, is the way basic training is conducted for dogfaces and I see no reason for changing the routine for canines themselves.

"Dogs, attention!" their trainer might command, and to a hound, they heel.

Then, after the formation, they fall out for exercise, which means "walking the dog" in such a way that my lawn gets fertilized.

Fertilizing the grass of a homeowner who doesn't even have a dog seems to come naturally. Anyway, there was no mention of it in the training pointers given by Fred Einhorn of Chester, N.Y.

Einhorn is the owner-trainer of Reggie, billed by the Gaines people as the "best-behaved" dog in America. At least for the next couple of months.

The next "super bowl of dog obedience" is scheduled early in November at Tacoma, Wash., at which time there presumably will be a new champion. Meanwhile, Reggie, last year's winner, stands at a paragon of well-behaved dogs everywhere.

At a time when pit bulls have been getting a bad name, the stock of golden retrievers apparently is going up. Anyhow, Reggie is a golden retriever.

Not for nothing did Einhorn write "Beyond Basic Dog Training." The Howell book people say he and his fiancée, Diane Bauman, "have developed a dozen guidelines to help owners teach their dogs to be better citizens in his home and community."

If fertilizing their own lawns isn't evidence of good doggy citizenship, I don't know what is. The entire community will cheer.

Baumanisms and Einhornisms include:

—"Never call a dog to yourself and then correct him. The next time, he won't come."

—"A dog that is confused or afraid should be helped, not corrected." (Maybe that explains why pit bulls sometimes turn on their owners. I understand they are easily confused, as who wouldn't be by those commands.)

—"Never give a command you're not prepared to enforce."

—"Teach your dog to pay attention before you teach it anything else."

BEN WATTENBERG

Chu, Wu and Harvard

Does Harvard discriminate against admitting potential Nobel Prize winners? My recent reading offers a roundabout answer: probably so.

Consider first a recent New York Times Magazine article, "In the Trenches of Science." It deals with a historic breakthrough in superconductivity — the hottest topic in science today. Superconductivity is also believed to be the next big arena in the global "competitiveness" race; America has big stakes riding on the outcome.

The big new discovery in superconductivity was made by an American physicist at the University of Houston named Ching-Wu Chu, a man who was born in China, came to graduate school in the United States in 1962 and has been here ever since. Chu is in the race to get a Nobel Prize for superconductivity research.

The Times piece mentions Chu's colleague at Houston, Pei-Heng Hor, and notes that Chu has expanded his team to include a group of University of Alabama scientists headed by one of his former students, Maw-Kuen Wu. Times writer James Gleick describes a phone conversation where Chu is "using one of the increasingly common languages of American physics, scientific Chinese, every fourth word an English technical term."

Against this backdrop, consider a recent article by John Bunzel and Jeffrey Au in The Public Interest magazine, "Diversity or Discrimination? Asian-Americans in College." Bunzel and Au examine the possibility that there is anti-Asian discrimination at elite American universities. They look specifically at data from Harvard, Princeton, Stanford and Brown.

At Brown, the most recent data show that 20 percent of all applicants are admitted but only 14 percent of Asian-Americans; that is, the Asian-American admission rate is only 70 percent of the overall rate. The ratios are similar at the other schools. More disturbing is that the ratios declined through the first part of the 1980s, the latest time for which statistics are available.

A committee at Brown investigated and said their inquiry "reinforces the idea that there exists an unwritten quota for Asian-Americans at Brown ..." Committees at Princeton and Stanford reported that those schools are not guilty of anything at all, but don't explain apparently discriminatory data. Mighty Harvard did not allow the release of any official documents, but Bunzel and Au cite some damning statistics: Caucasians offered admission to Harvard had average Scholastic Aptitude Test scores of 1,355, while Asian-Americans had an average of 1,467. Thus, at Harvard, an Asian-American had to be 112 points better in order to have the same chance of admittance as whites. Would younger versions of Chu, Wu or Hor make the cut at Harvard?

Bunzel and Au examine some other possible reasons for the apparent discrimination against Asian-American students: charges that they engage in less extracurricular activity, that they have different personality characteristics, that they are over-concentrated in the fields of science. The available evidence shows none of these excuses are valid.

The real problem with Asian-Americans is that they do too well. Why? A study of high school students by Stanford professor Sanford Dornbusch led the professor to this comment: "My bottom line is there's no question the Asians are working a heck of a lot harder."

Bush, Dole Begin To Take Off Gloves

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The crowded field of Democratic presidential contenders has yet to produce even two or three short-odds favorites for the nomination. But the Republican race is rapidly narrowing down to two tough competitors: Vice President George Bush and Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas.

Dole's solid early strength has come as an unpleasant surprise to the front-running Bush. Dole has been attracting both money and supporters at a faster pace than the Bush camp anticipated. With five months still to go before the first caucus, the GOP nomination contest is shaping up into a close one — a lot closer than Bush's people like.

"We have become competitive with the Bush campaign," Dole's campaign manager, Robert Ellsworth, told us. "They know they've got serious competition." A top Bush supporter insisted, however, that they had never underestimated Dole's strength.

Signs of strain are beginning to show between the two candidates, and it could break out into open feuding. President Reagan's famous 11th Commandment for party rivals — "Thou shalt speak no evil of another Republican" — may prove too constricting for a political in-fighter of Dole's scathing wit.

In fact, the opening skirmish may already have occurred, presaging a bare-knuckle brawl that could rescue at least the Republican half of the presidential race from eye-glazing boredom.

It began with Dole's appearance Aug. 24 in Texas, supposedly rock-solid Bush country. It was one stop in Dole's 30-state campaign swing during the congressional recess.

According to a Dallas newspaper, Dole's organizers "expected only 200 to 300 people" to show up at the reception. The candidate was greeted by "an enthusiastic crowd of 2,000" instead.

No doubt stung by this evidence of defection in his adopted state, Bush took an indirect slap at Dole in a speech the next day in San Antonio. He charged that Congress has "tied the president's hands" by trying to "micro-manage" U.S. foreign policy. As Senate minority leader, Dole has publicly expressed misgivings about the president's foreign policy initiatives, so Bush's criticism clearly included Dole.

Never one to sit idly by in a political dogfight, Dole immediately and publicly denounced the vice president's remarks as "unfair." In a shrewd appeal to the GOP right wing, Dole said he and other congressional conservatives should not be lumped together with Reagan's liberal Democratic opponents on Capitol Hill.

Bush supporters in the White House also quietly spread the word that Dole privately backed the president's Persian Gulf policy "all the way" but was publicly hedging his bets. We believe this to be untrue, because during the debate over the re-flagging of Kuwaiti oil tankers, Dole told Dale Van Atta he had serious reservations about the policy.

Stellar Spinning Space Top

By Deltha Ricks
UPI Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Imagine a figure skater in a pirouette on ice, pulling in the arms as the revolutions begin, then hitting a spin so fast that the visual effect is one of a blur.

So it is with pulsars, the distant neutron stars that whirl like tops and whose revolutions are timed so close to the millisecond that you can set your watch by them.

"They're great clocks," said astrophysicist John Middleditch of the Los Alamos National Laboratory in New Mexico. "A millisecond pulsar is better than any terrestrial clock we could ever have."

Middleditch and scientists at the California Institute of Technology, Berkeley and a team in London have pinpointed what they believe is the second fastest pulsar in the universe. It is spinning in revolutions clocked at 327 per second or once every 0.327 milliseconds.

What makes this so mind boggling is that the pulsar is more densely packed matter — star stuff and cosmic debris — than can be found in our own sun if it were jammed into a tight pulsing ball measuring about 15 miles in diameter.

Although the new pulsar, designated 18-2124, is located about 16,000 light years from Earth in a cluster of old stars orbiting the Milky Way (and visible with a good pair of binoculars), the cosmic spinning top cannot be seen.

Pulsars are characteristic for their radiowaves, throbbing pulses of energy distinctive for their signals that sweep across the skies much like the beacon from Darth Vader's light saber but much faster — and invisible.

The pulsing energy not only gives pulsars their name but also allows their detection by ground instruments.

Middleditch said the new pulsar, surrounded by magnetic fields billions of times stronger than those around Earth, is the first detected in the M-28 globular cluster. It is one of only 500 of the rare cosmic bodies spotted since their discovery in 1968.

"They're getting torqued up from the binary companion," said Middleditch, referring to a companion star that dumps energy into pulsars to give them an extra boost.

IN BRIEF

Prosecutor Walsh Fingers Hakim As Official Probe Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Independent prosecutor Lawrence Walsh, again defending a grand jury subpoena in the Iran-Contra scandal, contends arms dealer Albert Hakim cannot claim constitutional protections in refusing to surrender foreign corporate records linked to the case.

Hakim, the Iranian-born American money man in the scandal, maintains he can invoke such rights with the knowledge that he faces possible criminal charges as "a target of the independent counsel's investigation."

Lawyers for the two men squared off Thursday at the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, where Hakim has become the latest figure in the case to lodge a legal challenge against Walsh.

Attorney Richard Janis, representing Hakim, argued that his client could not be required to turn over corporate records of unidentified foreign companies because they eventually could be used as evidence against him.

Reagan Plans New Commission

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — In what he has called the "home stretch" of his presidency, Ronald Reagan is making a renewed push to remain true to some of the political goals that have eluded him over the last 6 1/2 years.

Accused by key conservatives of doing too little to further the principles that brought him to office, Reagan suddenly is stressing a domestic policy agenda all too often rejected in the past by Congress or overshadowed by foreign policy concerns.

To that end, the White House announced Thursday that Reagan had created a 13-member commission to recommend areas where responsibilities now carried out by the federal government can be better handled by private business.

Following up on recent actions aimed at promoting what he has called "family values" — and keeping faith with the anti-abortion movement — Reagan also signed an executive order Thursday requiring federal agencies to consider how their rules and regulations might "enhance family well-being."

Courtroom Brawl Triggers Curfew

DECATUR, Tenn. (UPI) — Police enforced a curfew and guarded some jurors after a long-running feud between the Allen and Anderson clans erupted into a chair-breaking brawl that left a Meigs County court in a bloody shambles.

The rampage began Wednesday night when a Meigs County Circuit Court jury found Jerry Allen, 27, innocent of killing Eddie Anderson, 25, and wounding two other men in a barroom shooting last March.

In a pitched battle that ensued, members of both families grabbed chairs and used them as weapons. Geraldine Anderson, mother of the victim, was treated at Athens Community hospital after she was smashed on the head with a chair.

Police finally managed to clear the courtroom, but the fighting spilled into the streets and Highway Patrolmen and officers from nearby communities were called to help restore order.

Meigs County Sheriff R.L. McKenzie ordered a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew through the weekend to discourage further violence.

Steve Rondinaro, left, host of the WESH-TV telethon is joined by Jamie Harris, the Florida MDA Poster Child, in preparing for the annual Labor Day telethon.

Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Scheduled

The annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association will begin at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Sanford and Lake Mary number residents will be able to phone in pledges to 622-8241, and may also call in pledges to the First Union Bank in Sanford at 322-6211 during the hours of the telethon, 9 p.m. Sunday to 7 p.m. Monday. Donna Wiken, a bank employee, and members of the Junior Women's Club of Sanford, Inc., will man the phones at the bank.

Residents of the Deltona-DeBary area may also phone in pledges of the Sanford number and people in western Volusia County within the 904 area calling code can call 706-6444 to DeLand, where members of the DeLand Jaycees will be manning telephones in the Quick & Associates office during the telethon.

Residents of Alamonte Springs, Longwood, Casselberry, and Oviedo may call in their pledges to an Orlando number which like, like other numbers for pledges, will be regularly flashed on the television screen during the telethon.

Leslie Battalen, district MDA director, said the organization's goal is to raise $1 more than last year's total of $481,797.

The telethon will be broadcast from 9 p.m. Sunday to 7 p.m. Monday on WESH-TV, channel 2, in central Florida, with Steve Rondinaro, news anchor for Channel 2 news, as host. Local cut-ins will originate from the Orlando Airport Marriott, where a live audience will be heard.

Cocoa Woman Wanted For Cruelty, Arrested

COCOA (UPI) — A former kennel operator charged three years ago with putting more than 100 animals through "living hell" was arrested in North Carolina and returned to Florida this week to face 39 counts of animal cruelty.

Carol Hook, 46, was held Thursday at the Brevard County jail in Sharps in lieu of $41,000 bond.

The Humane Society of Central Brevard launched a nationwide hunt for Hook with a warrant issued Aug. 23, 1984, when she failed to appear for trial. The charges stem from an August 1983 raid in which more than 100 emaciated and diseased animals were seized at Carol's Critter Care.

"What we walked into was an absolute living hell," said Director Clara Gunde of the Humane Society of Central Brevard, who was one of the investigators on the case.

"There were animals penned in ankle-deep feces, many of them dead or dying," Gunde said. "There were hundreds of rats munching on puppies. We saw things you could not even visualize in a horror movie."

About 25 of the animals were beyond help and had to be destroyed. But a judge awarded the society custody of 41 dogs, 19 rabbits, 11 ducks, 10 goats, seven cats, three burros and a ram. Many of the animals later were adopted by county residents.

The sight was so repulsive a sheriff's homicide agent became ill and had to leave the scene, Gunde said.

Hook had been working as a waitress and was arrested this week in Marton, N.C., by McDowell County sheriff's officials and returned to Florida by a prison transport service. She pleaded innocent to the charges Tuesday, and a Nov. 9 trial date was set.

About 70 animals in ill health were confiscated from the home of Hook's mother, Isabel Parker, the same month as the kennel raid.

American Legion Moves Sonny's, Scotties To Open

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer
The property at 3096 Orlando Drive which has been the headquarters of Post 53 of the American Legion for about 40 years will soon be a Sonny's Real Pit Bar-B-Q restaurant and a Scotty's home improvement center.

Legion Commander John B. Clark said the 550-member Legion post sold the aging building to Scotty's last February and has been meeting in the Disabled American Veterans headquarters since then Post 53 plans to be in a new headquarters building on Sanford Avenue by the first of the year.

A 3.2-acre lot on Sanford near 27th Street, which is not within the Sanford city limits, is the site of the new Post 53 building. Clark said an application for a building permit was filed with the county last week. Vic Richnburg of Sanford will be contractor for the 12,000-square foot building. Clark said the building will take 90 to 120 days to complete and the Legion post hopes to occupy it by Jan. 1.

He said the property is served by Sanford water and sewer systems and since it is largely surrounded by land within the city limits, the Legion plans to eventually request annexation to the city.

Part of the property on 3096 Orlando Drive, including the old Legion building, was sold by Scotty's to Sonny's Real Pit Bar-B-Q, which has obtained a building permit for their $195,000 development.

Sonny's will occupy part of the front of the property and will share access to Orlando Drive with the Scotty's outlet. Part of the former American Legion building will be demolished and replaced by a new structure, and the main part of the existing building will be completely remodeled into the new restaurant.

Couple Sues S&L

A Longwood couple have filed suit against a savings and loan association maintaining the business booted them out of the home they were renting and has refused to return their personal property.

Suing for specific damages are Lynn M. and Louann Wilson formerly of 505 Cornwall Court filed suit against Shawdown Lawn Saving and Loan Association of Wayne, N.J., northwest of Jersey City.

The Wilsons state in their suit that the savings association was foreclosing this year against the owner of where they were living. They state that the association confiscated their personal property without notice and will not return it. The Wilsons state in the suit that they have been damaged in the amount of $19,269.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mizer Jr. No hearing date has been set.

Brother Of Coup Leader Caught; Arms Cache Captured

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Police arrested the brother of fugitive coup leader Gregorio "Gringo" Honasan in a Manila townhouse and seized enough arms and explosives to blow up a city block, television reports said today.

Police confirmed the arms seizure in a townhouse in the fashionable Makati business district, but declined comment on reports the building was owned by a friend of a prominent opposition politician.

A television report said the police arrested Don Honasan, brother of the coup leader who has been in hiding since authorities crushed the rebellion that left 53 people dead on Aug. 28. A radio station said the raid was staged in response to a report that Gregorio Honasan was sighted in the area.

Gen. Alexander Aguirre, head of the city's security forces, said an inventory was incomplete but that the explosives were powerful enough to blow up an entire block.

Diplomat Doubts Iranian Attack

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — America's ambassador to Bahrain, who has a ringside seat for the Persian Gulf war, says Iran is unlikely to confront U.S. warships in the gulf because Tehran respects power.

"We're not here to confront them," said Sam Zakhem, the Lebanese-born ambassador who tends America's interests in the tiny island nation, 300 miles west of the strategic Strait of Hormuz at the entrance of the Persian Gulf.

As for the Iranians, he said, "They respect power. They respect force."

Zakhem said Thursday he hoped Iran also would show a prudent regard for the military capabilities of Saudi Arabia, which in recent days has seen Iranian attacks on oil tankers just off its shores.

Zakhem said Iran's avoidance of U.S. ships escorting Kuwaiti tankers through the Persian Gulf demonstrates that the massive convoy operation is a success.

He said he favors mandatory sanctions against either party in the Iran-Iraq war that does not comply with the U.N. Security Council's call for a cease-fire.

Pilot Faces 8-Year Sentence

MOSCOW (UPI) — West German pilot Mathias Rust, facing a possible eight years at hard labor, gets a last chance to plead for leniency in today's final session of his trial for flying a light plane from Finland to Red Square.

As the bespectacled Rust, 19, sat in the dock rubbing his chin on the second day of his three-day trial Thursday, prosecutor Vladimir Andreyev tore into the flyer's defense that he soloed from Finland on a bold mission of peace.

"Who is Mathias Rust — an idealist or a political adventurer, or did he come for false glory and idle publicity?" Andreyev said. "This trial has shown the real face of Rust."

Rust earlier testified that his May 28 flight was a journey for peace and that he hoped to meet Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev to discuss his ideas for a better world.

Black History Museum Planned In Original 1808 Cottage

PENSACOLA (UPI) — More than a decade after it was saved from demolition, one of the oldest cottages in town is being transformed into the latest museum in Pensacola's historic district.

The Julee Cottage, named for a "free woman of color" who purchased it in 1808, is scheduled to open in February as an interpretive museum. Photographs and period artifacts will be used to tell the story of west Florida blacks.

The opening will coincide with Black History Month. The cottage will become the latest addition to the board's "living village" effort, a mix of private businesses, residences and museums that portray life on the site of the first mainland Spanish settlement in Pensacola.

Contracts Awarded For Lottery

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A $1.9 million contract to design financial systems and test tickets for Florida's new lottery has been awarded to firms in Atlanta and Columbus, Ohio.

Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul completed negotiations late Wednesday with Arthur Young & Co., an Atlanta-based accounting firm with nine offices in Florida, and the Battelle Memorial Institute, a non-profit research arm of Ohio State University.

Lottery Department spokesman Ed George said Thursday the two companies had estimated their services would cost $2.3 million, but the final contract was for $1.9 million.

Young will set up the accounting and financial systems needed for the lottery, which begins operation next Jan. 15. Battelle will test lottery tickets to see if they are safe from alteration and other fraud.

Court Romance Threatens Case

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A romance between a court reporter and a defendant in the drug case initiated by television reporter Gerardo Rivera may result in a new trial or a review of the official case record, officials say.

The new development, revealed earlier this week by Broward County Circuit Judge Mel Grossman, caused the judge to order trial notes taken by Victoria Rojahn, 26, sealed. He also has banished her from working in his courtroom, officials said Thursday.

"My concern is for the integrity of the process," said Grossman, who added that Rojahn fell short of the need for court officers to avoid even the appearance of impropriety.

Grossman said he told lawyers in a meeting Tuesday that Rojahn had admitted she was romantically involved with defendant William Sorg, 28, who was sentenced to spend 30 years in jail and pay a $500,000 fine in the case.

Western Firestorms: No End In Sight

United Press International
Virtually every professional forest fire fighter in the country is struggling against a growing maelstrom of flames in the West that has blackened an area twice as large as New York City, and fire bosses say the end is not in sight.

More than 18,000 firefighters, worn out from up to six days of battling a seemingly endless series of fires crackling through the scenic timberland of northern California and southern Oregon, today faced several more days of scorching temperatures and dry lightning storms that have touched off at least 1,600 separate blazes.

Fires lit up an arc from Washington more than 1,000 miles south to Southern California's Mojave Desert, most started by the estimated 9,000 lightning strikes recorded since last Friday.

"We're at our limit — and past it — already," U.S. Forest Service spokesman Samuel Harrison said Thursday.

The exhausted fire crews were working 24-hour shifts, often in 100-degree heat, and getting 24 hours off. One firefighter has been killed and at least 45 injured, one critically.

It was costing about $4 million a day to fight the fires, and the value of the lost timber was enormous. More than 8,000 people were driven from their homes but the situation was so chaotic in places that exact figures were not known.

The heat was so intense in some areas that the fires were creating their own weather, causing devastating updrafts that sucked in the flames from nearby blazes.

In seven Western states, mostly in California and Oregon, more than 680 square miles — about 436,000 acres — were burned. The five boroughs of New York cover only 301 square miles.

Fire blackened 342,000 acres in California where 1,322 fires raged, 67,000 in Oregon and 27,000 in Idaho, where a 20,000-acre fire was being allowed to burn uncontrolled. Small blazes burned in Arizona, Nevada, Washington and Wyoming.

Officials said none of the major fires was anywhere near being contained.

"We are not getting an upper hand on any of the major fires," Earl Clayton of the U.S. Forest Service said. "We may not get any measure of control until there are cooler temperatures or drying winds, but the forecast is not good."

Southern and Eastern forest officials said they would have to use backup crews or call back some of their own people from the West, where the crews were being deployed on a priority basis to the most dangerous fires.

Tahoe with Sacramento and the San Francisco Bay area was closed Thursday night.

In California's Sierra Nevada, an awesome fire in Tuolumne County near Yosemite National Park suddenly grew to 90,000 acres Thursday when 20,000 acres of timber "blew out" and shot a smoke column thousands of feet straight into the sky, creating a thunderstorm that dropped rain.

"It burned up 20,000 acres almost in a moment — it was a firestorm," said Dale Wierman of the state Division of Forestry. "It just generated its own weather and some rain fell."

At one point in Tuolumne County, people could see the spectacular tree-eating flames 300 yards from their homes and 2,000 residents, about a quarter of the town, already had packed and left. Another 3,000 Californians have been forced from their homes in nearby areas.

Officials at the Boise Interagency Fire Center in Idaho, firefighting headquarters for six federal agencies, said the crisis already was the worst they had seen.

"There have never been so many fires burning at the same time," spokesman Arnold Hartigan said, "and the fire behavior is so erratic because conditions are so dry and hot. The result is a really disastrous fire situation."

Air National Guard crews from as far away as North Carolina flew hundreds of dangerous sorties, swooping in low over the flames in giant C-130 tankers that streamed tons of bright red chemical slurry over the ridgelines.

With thousands of professional firefighting crews called in for the Western emergency, officials in other parts of the country were afraid the upcoming Labor Day weekend could bring disaster.

"We are concerned about fires at the present time because we do have manpower sent West and it leaves us a little skimpy if anything happens here," said Larry L. Hakel, chief park ranger for Virginia's Shenandoah National Forest. "If we have any fire that gets over 100 acres, it would be beyond our capabilities."

Martinez Takes A Few Days Off

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez has begun a Labor Day weekend vacation in Longboat Key, far from the furor he provoked by throwing wide open the debate over Florida's consumer services tax.

He is considering going on the road next week for meetings with business and opinion leaders concerning the tax, which the Legislature will reconsider in a special session in two weeks.

Martinez' position on the tax seemed more tentative than ever Thursday. He indicated he might not press for the March 8 referendum he so boldly proposed just 12 days earlier to head off a petition drive by tax opponents.

"Last time I was kind of tough and ran way out there and they said I didn't allow debate," Martinez said. "We will allow a lot of debate on this one."

House Speaker Jon Mills, who has been meeting with business figures to line up support for the tax, reported confusion over the governor's actions of the past week and a half.

"I would suggest he needs to communicate some leadership," Mills said. "He needs to remain calm and to follow through with what we all began in April to the extent that's still viable, and correct it where it isn't."

April was when Martinez and

House and Senate leaders rammed the tax through the Legislature at unprecedented speed. Now the governor wants the Legislature to convene at 9 a.m. Sept. 21 until noon Sept. 23 to take such actions regarding the tax "as may be appropriate under the circumstances."

Martinez said the Legislature may consider allowing a referendum on the services tax, repealing the tax or reforming it to eliminate inequities lawmakers concede made it into the final tax bill. "The call is such that the entire tax will be debated," he said.

The tax applies the 5 percent sales tax to an array of consumer services. It will raise an estimated $750 million this year and more than $1 billion each subsequent year. Tax supporters say the money is vital if Florida hopes to cope with its staggering population growth.

Senate President John Vogt, a tax supporter, fears any tinkering with the tax might bring a full scale assault from special interest groups trying to win exemptions denied them during the regular session. Senate leaders hoped to salve critics by revising administrative procedures to make the tax fairer, without opening the way for a special interest assault.

"There is the potential for that sort of donnybrook, and that would be unfortunate because it would not be in the public's interest," said Mills. "If we can get out and explain clearly what's going on, that can be avoided — with some cooperation between the Senate, the governor and the House."

Martinez has met with legislative Republicans throughout the week, but has not spoken to Mills. The speaker refrained from criticizing Martinez, whom state Democratic chairman Charles Whitehead has called the worst governor since Claude Kirk, Florida's last Republican governor.

Mills said he hopes the debate will not degenerate into partisan bickering.

"It's not the right time to engage in that kind of thing, when you're in the middle of a situation where we are playing with real bullets with the public's future," Mills said.

The governor has not ruled out expanding the call to let lawmakers address the medical malpractice insurance crisis, but there was talk of delaying until November. The special session might also be a chance to reconsider the gun law reforms of last spring, which might allow the open display of guns in banks, shops and city streets.

It also appeared likely the call would be extended to take up problems in the state's foster care network. Foster parents have threatened to quit unless the state assumes responsibility for crimes or damage foster children might cause under their care.

Missile Hits Kuwait

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — A long-range missile that diplomats said was probably fired by Iran crashed into Kuwait's southern coastline today, one day after a U.S. convoy of re-flagged Kuwaiti tankers steamed away from the area on a return trip down the Persian Gulf.

Diplomatic sources said the missile, possibly a Chinese-made Silkworm, was the second fired at Kuwaiti territory this week. The first missile was aimed at the Kuwaiti island of Faylakah but fell into the gulf nearby.

The seventh convoy of re-flagged Kuwaiti tankers and U.S. warships left Thursday from Kuwait, and Western diplomats reached by telephone in Kuwait said the convoy was probably well south of the area when the missile struck at 4 a.m. today.

The U.S.-escorted convoy — consisting of the Gas Queen and the Gas Princess, 46,000-ton liquefied natural gas carriers, and the 290,000-ton oil tanker Townsend — was shepherded by the guided missile cruiser Reeves and the guided missile frigate Hawes. Pentagon spokesman Robert Sims said.

The Kuwaiti Defense Ministry said the missile caused no casualties or damage, the official Kuwait news agency reported. The brief government statement from the news agency did not say who was responsible.

often operate outside the authority of the Iranian navy.

In addition, some diplomats speculated it would be easy for the Iraqis to obtain speedboats and pose as Iranians to provoke retaliation against Iran.

The Jolly Rubino was hit close to the Revolutionary Guard base at Farsi Island.

Late Wednesday, a Japanese tanker carrying Iranian oil was hit — apparently from a speedboat — by three rockets near the United Arab Emirates in the southern gulf, injuring a Japanese crew member, the ship's owner said in Tokyo.

Iranian Revolutionary Guards "aiming for the crew's quarters" hit an Italian freighter with bazooka fire Thursday, a ship engineer said, and Japanese shipowners today ordered their vessels to stay out of the gulf for one or two days following another strike against a Japanese tanker.

Officials said two more European countries — Belgium and the Netherlands — were considering sending mine sweepers to protect freedom of navigation in the Persian Gulf.

Iranian attackers clearly were interested in causing casualties on the 17,172-ton Italian ship, Jolly Rubino, its first engineer, Donaldo Galloni said. Two people were injured in the 20-minute assault.

"They were aiming for the crew's quarters. There was no reason for it except for the fun of killing people," Galloni said in a ship-to-shore interview as the Jolly Rubino steamed with a cargo of empty containers to Dubai.

"The crew is still under shock. It was a very, very ugly experience," he said. "A lot of them don't want to come back to the gulf again."

The assault off the coast of Saudi Arabia was the first attack on an Italian vessel in the gulf "tanker war," a spinoff of the nearly 7-year-old war between Iran and Iraq.

In Rome, a spokesman said the Italian Foreign Ministry told its ambassador in Tehran to lodge "the firmest protest of the Italian government for the attack ... by a motor launch whose characteristics indicate from all the evidence that it was an Iranian vessel."

A spokesman for the Iranian Embassy in Rome "categorically denied" an Iranian navy vessel could have attacked the Italian ship.

Sources have said the Revolutionary Guards, who use speedboats to launch attacks,

Infuriated McEnroe Flashes Past Reneberg

NEW YORK (UPI) — Angered by a spectator and challenged by a rookie pro, John McEnroe Thursday responded with flashes of his enduring temper and old skills.

The left-hander struggled late in the third set of his 7-6 (7-3), 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over unseeded Richey Reneberg in the second round of the U.S. Open, a tournament he won four times before taking a long sabbatical last year.

Before set point, McEnroe confronted a front-row fan who had been cheering his mistakes. McEnroe allegedly hit the blue backdrop along the court's end with his racquet, striking the man on the right knee. The self-described 47-year-old businessman from Manhattan, who would not give his name, responded by throwing a towel wrapped in plastic toward McEnroe.

"He has no right to hit me for cheering for Richey," the fan said. "I just came to enjoy the match."

McEnroe walked over and from approximately 10 feet away faked a windup as if he were going to drive a tennis ball at the fan. Instead, he returned to the baseline and served the final point of the third set. He then efficiently snuffed Reneberg's challenge in the fourth set.

"Lately I've let things like that bother me," McEnroe said after the incident. "This is the first time I've let something like that

Tennis

McEnroe, who until this week had not won a Grand Slam singles match for two years, hit several spectacular passing shots off Reneberg's serve. He also used a variety of spins and sharply angled placements to wear down the 21-year-old from Houston, Texas.

All 16 seeded players in action Thursday won their second-round matches. Top seeds Ivan Lendl and Steffi Graf both advanced without losing a set in the first two rounds.

Other seeded men who moved into the third round were No. 4 Boris Becker, No. 6 Jimmy Connors and No. 9 Andres Gomez.

Among the women who reached the third round were No. 2 Martina Navratilova, No. 4 Hana Mandlikova, No. 6 Helena Sukova and No. 8 Gabriela Sabatini. Only Mandlikova was extended to a third set, the 1985 Open champion ousting Jo Durie of Great Britain 6-3, 6-7 (11-13), 6-2.

A mere two seeds have been eliminated from the tournament after three days of play. Lendl, playing on the grandstand court, crushed Frenchman Jean Fleurian 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, despite problems with the shadows and swirling wind.

"I was suffering very badly," said the No. 1-ranked player. "I just couldn't see the ball. Most of the time it was 'find me if you can and if you find me in time, try to hit me.' That's the game we played out there."

The two-time defending champion has won his last 16 matches at the Open, stretching over three years, and swept his last 13 sets here.

However, when Fleurian held serve to start the contest he snapped Lendl's string of winning 27 consecutive games at the Open. In the first round, Lendl blanked Barry Moir in three love sets.

West German Graf dispatched unseeded Petra Huber of Austria 6-2, 6-3, improving her record this year to 57 victories in 58 matches.

Becker overcame his own erratic serving to beat Jonathan Canter 6-4, 6-2, 7-6 (7-3). And Connors continued to take advantage of an easy draw with a 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 decision over qualifier Wayne Hearn, ranked No. 530 in the world.

Navratilova, the defending women's champion, swept the final four games of her 6-1, 6-3 triumph over Robin White.

Becker, who recovered from a two-set deficit in his first-round match with Tim Wilkison, says he is learning to win when he doesn't have the weapon of his powerful serve. In two matches at the Open, he has tallied only 13 aces, well below normal.

New Defenders, Partlow Make Jamboree Success

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
LONGWOOD — Welcome back and welcome aboard.

Rehabilitated quarterback Jeff Blake tossed a 43-yard bomb to set up J.J. Partlow's game-winning field goal while defenders Ralph Hardy, Paul Newell and Myriel Reid all turned in impressive debuts as Seminole slipped past Kissimmee Osceola, 3-2, in one half of prep football jamboree action Thursday night at Lyman High School before 501 rain-drenched fans.

The first half was delayed one hour by the steady rain, which held up the arrival of Osceola's bus.

In the second half, Greg Fulsang's 25-yard field goal in overtime lifted the Lyman Greyhounds past the Oviedo Lions, 3-0. Seminole opens at home next Friday against Titusville Astronaut. Lyman travels to Orlando Boone and Oviedo journeys to Lake Brantley.

"We got the win, that's what we wanted," interim coach Roger Beathard said. "Jeff hit his first long one, which was great. That was real important for his confidence."

Blake, who missed last season with a broken leg, did not waste any time going for broke. After all-state linebacker Earnie "Sackman" Lewis recovered an Osceola fumble at the Kissimmee 48-yard line, Blake dropped straight back and waited for Rudolph to outrace his defender.

With excellent protection, Blake stepped up and let it fly as Rudolph sped down the right sideline. The senior fullback made a lunging catch at the Osceola 5-yard line for a first down.

"They put me in motion and I just went down the right sideline," Rudolph, who added 20 yards in four rushes, said. "Jeff hung it up high and I went at it."

Blake said the play did not go as anticipated. "We were going for a short play, but as I looked downfield I could see Curtis pointing his finger," Blake said. "I just hung it up there because I knew he had his man beat."

Lyman Wins, 10A

Blake said the Noles will be throwing to Rudolph and halfback Jerod Jones. "We want to get our speedy backs against their linebackers," Blake said. "We don't feel that the linebackers can keep up with Rudolph or Jerod."

After the grab, however, Osceola stiffened, stopping rushes by Rudolph, Blake and Jones six inches short of the goal line. Beathard, who replaced Dave Mosure for a one-year interim period, faced his first tough decision. He sent in Partlow who drilled an 18-yard field goal with 4:38 left in the first quarter for a 3-2 lead.

"We had to get the points," Beathard said. "We were behind and it was important for us to win."

Blake finished the night 1 for 7 with an interception, but the driving rain made it tough on the passer and receivers. "I don't like to use the rain as an excuse, but on some passes the ball was wet," Blake said.

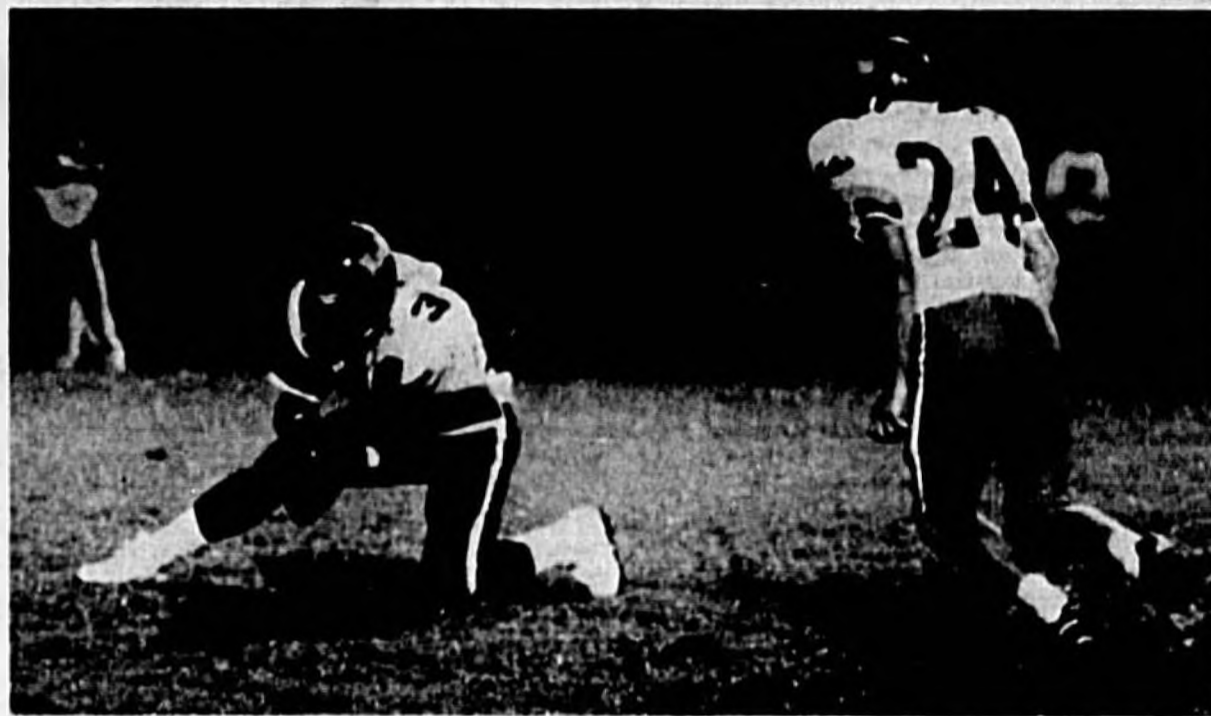

Seminole was also tagged with three penalties, two of which — a clip and a personal foul — saddled it with poor field position. After the clipping call, Blake was nailed in the end zone for a safety just two minutes into the game by Corey Lindsey for Osceola's 2-0 lead.

The defenses dominated play the rest of the half. Seminole's aggressive 11 limited the Kowboys to 50 yards rushing while forcing three fumbles and recovering two. Safety Leonard Lucas hopped on the other bobble.

Although the Tribe returns eight defenders, it was the play of the three newcomers which had Beathard and defensive coordinator Bill Zeiss excited.

Hardy, a 5-7 183-pound tackle, collected six tackles, including one for a loss. "Hardy got good penetration and made some nice tackles," Beathard said.

"I just used my speed and Seminole's Curtis Rudolph, above, carefully places the football as kicker J.J. Partlow keeps an eye on the placement. Partlow, below, follows through with his 18-yard field goal attempt as Osceola's Sonny Pupura rushes from the outside. The kick was good, giving the Tribe a 3-2 victory. The sure-handed Rudolph also snagged a pass.

quickness," Hardy said. "We're going to have an awful tough team."

Lindsey, Kissimmee's quick-hitting tailback, wouldn't argue that. Facing a fourth-and-two at the Seminole 26, Lindsey smacked head-on into the 6-2, 208-pound Newell who dropped him dead in his tracks for the defensive play of the game.

"Paul stood him right up and put him right on his back," Beathard said about the defensive end's crushing hit. "Everybody in the crowd heard that one."

Newell's big play came after a time out, during which Zeiss alerted Newell that Osceola may be coming his way. "I told him to get some character and get some heart," Zeiss said. "Newell said, 'I'll do it.' And he did it."

"How could I help but be fired up with Earnie Sackman (Lewis) beating on my back in the huddle," Newell said. "It was a big play, I knew I had to make it."

Osceola mounted just one other drive, but Hardy and Lewis sacked quarterback Chuck Stoudimire for a two-yard loss on fourth down.

Lewis led the tacklers with seven stops. After Hardy, Reid and Bernard Burke had three apiece while Steve Warren, Lucas and Castello had two each.

"We just played together tonight," Lewis said. "Every time a ball carrier was held up there was a pack of white jerseys around him. It's going to be like that all season long."

Zeiss agreed. "Our new guys did well," Zeiss said. "They ran off tackle on us a little bit until we adjusted, but I was pleased with the effort we got."

Gator Lang Surviving All-Americans

By Mike Dame
Special to the Herald

GAINESVILLE — As Bill Lang trudged wearily off Florida Field, the fatigue in his eyes showed how demanding a college football workout can be.

"I'm surviving," said the 6-0, 190-pound junior defensive back as he marched toward the clubhouse.

Survival, however, has not been easy for Lang. After seeing no playing time as a redshirt freshman in '84 and as a freshman in '85, Lang finally saw duty last year as a sophomore, playing on special teams and as the backup strong safety to All-American (and now New York Giant) Adrian White.

With the departure of White, it looked as if Lang might get a chance at the first team strong safety position this season. In spring practice, however, another All-American — senior Jarvis Williams — was moved from cornerback to strong safety to replace White. The move left Lang in his familiar backup role once again.

The situation has not left Lang bitter, however.

"I learned a lot last year from Adrian (White)," Lang said. "With Jarvis moving in front of me, I just want to push him and make him better."

The backup spot is something that Lang had to adjust to. In his junior and senior years at Lake Howell High School, Lang collected 17 interceptions as a defensive back. He also returned two kickoffs for touchdowns as a senior, earning All-Conference and All-County honors both years.

"I was disappointed when I first got here," Lang said of his arrival to the Gator football program. "Being dominant in high school and then coming here and starting all over was tough."

"There is so much talent in front of me that there's nothing I can really do except just learn from it and be ready when I get my chance."

Playing behind to great defensive backs like White and Williams, however, does not provide Lang with a lot of chances to show his talents as strong safety. Lang saw defensive duty in only one game last season, against Kent State, but he was a regular on the kickoff team. He was credited with five total tackles (four solo) as a member of the kickoff team last season.

Lang, who has 4.62 speed in the 40-yard dash, will continue to be a fixture on special teams this season and is hoping that the Gator defense will continue to be one of the team's constant forces.

"The defense is going to be tough," Lang said. "I still think we have improvement to do — you know, just touch-up areas and stuff like that."

Lang feels that his personal performance has improved since last season.

"I think I'm playing better than last year," Lang said. "The second (defensive) team wants to play just as bad as the first team and everyone's pushing each other."

And with the talent that Lang has played behind and learned from over the past couple of years, one can be sure that he will be ready when he is called upon to perform.

WILLIAMS 60-60: In Monday's practice, starting strong safety Williams sprained his hamstring. Coaches say he has a 50-50 chance of playing Saturday, meaning Lang will see more action.

Bitter At Its Best: Gators Vs. 'Canes

MIAMI (UPI) — The rest of the country will get a chance to see on Saturday why the Miami Hurricanes and Florida Gators have become two of the most bitter rivals in college football.

But if anyone misses the 1 p.m. EDT contest in the Orange Bowl, they will have to wait until 1992 to catch a rematch.

With Florida spending the past two seasons on probation and banned from television, fans outside the state have missed two extremely physical games. The Hurricanes won last year's contest, 23-15, in Gainesville, while Kerwin Bell threw four touchdowns passes in 1985 as Florida won 35-20 in the Orange Bowl.

This also is the first year since 1984 that Florida is eligible for the top 20, and the Gators, 6-5 last year, are ranked 20th, while Miami, 11-1 in 1986, is No. 9.

Because of a Southeastern Conference mandate to play another conference game, the Gators have had to reduce their series with Miami. That makes this game even more important, especially to the Miami players, who view the Gators as their biggest rival.

Miami tailback Warren Williams said the fact that the two schools will not meet for five years after Saturday makes this game even bigger.

"Yes, it does add something to it," he said. "I think it will be a stepping stone for the season. This is for bragging rights until 1992. For us to go out and win the game means a lot to us and our student body."

The game is the start of a 1987 season that Bell, a senior from Mayo, Fla., hopes will end with a trip to New York for the Heisman Trophy presentation. He is within range of several SEC career passing records, and the television exposure will help get his name out across the country.

"A lot of people from southeast know what kind of quarterback I am, but a lot of people around country don't," Bell said. "I want to show them that I am playing for a great team and I am a good quarterback. Not necessarily me individually, but the Florida program itself."

The Hurricanes will have a new quarterback, third-year sophomore Steve Walsh, calling the signals. With Walsh's inexperience, he has thrown only two college passes, and injuries to Miami's wide receivers, the Hurricane running game will be important offensively.

Joining Williams in the starting backfield will be fullback Melvin Bratton, who scored two touchdowns at Florida Field last year.

The Miami defense returns nine starters, including All-America safety Bennie Blades and defensive end Daniel Stubbs. The Hurricanes punished Bell in last year's game, forcing him to be hospitalized after the contest, and the Florida offensive line must do a better job of protecting him.

Florida's secondary is strong and Clifford Charlton is one of the better outside linebackers around, but the defensive line is thin, one of the areas hardest hit by the scholarship limitations that were part of the NCAA penalties.

"When you start thinking about Miami, the first fact that comes to mind is they have one of the best defensive football teams in the nation," said Florida coach Galen Hall. "They very well could be the best defensive team around in 1987."

For the Hurricanes, the key to their success will be strong defense and no mistakes on offense. Coach Jimmy Johnson expects Florida to try and confuse Walsh.

"I would think they would want to blitz quite a bit," Johnson said.

In other games involving ranked teams, North Texas State is at No. 1 Oklahoma, Utah State at No. 2 Nebraska, San Diego State at No. 4 UCLA, Texas at No. 5 Auburn, Bowling Green at No. 7 Penn State, co-No. 10 Louisiana State at co-No. 10 Texas A&M, Western Carolina at No. 13 Clemson, Texas Tech at No. 14 Florida State, Stanford at No. 15 Washington, Colorado State at No. 17 Tennessee and Southern Mississippi at No. 19 Alabama.

It's Almost Time To Plant Strawberries

Strawberries! Just the mention of the word makes one's mouth water. In addition to their taste appeal and attractive appearance, strawberries are well suited to Florida conditions and are relatively easy to grow. And now we are rapidly approaching the proper time to plant strawberries in our area.

The strawberry plant is perennial by nature, but is grown as an annual in Florida. The plant goes through a cycle of vegetative growth, flower formation, fruit production then runner development. For those of you familiar with growing strawberries in the north, it is important to note that our production season is totally reversed.

Strawberry plants should be set out during October and no later than November. The cool nights and short days of winter stimulate the plant to produce flowers with develop into fruits ready for harvest in about a month. Plants set out in mid-October should produce ripe fruit by Christmas. Berry production and harvesting continue throughout the rest of the winter and through spring. As the weather gets warmer and the days grow longer, the plants will stop producing berries and form runners. These runners will take root and become new plants. However, for most home gardeners, it is more practical to destroy the plants at the end of the season and purchase new plants in the fall.

Although strawberries can be grown in almost any type of Florida soil, they prefer a well drained one which can be kept moist but not wet. A sandy soil with considerable organic matter is the best. Some form of irrigation is needed because strawberries have a shallow root system.

Strawberries are sensitive to climatic conditions like day length and temperature and it is important to select varieties adapted to Florida conditions. Varieties like Dover and Florida Belle yield large fruit and are resistant to a common plant disease called antracnose. Other recommended varieties are Florida 90, Tioga and Sequoia. Everbearing varieties are not recommended in Florida.

Strawberries should be planted on raised beds approximately six inches high. For a 100 square foot area, broadcast about 2 lbs. of 6-6-6 fertilizer in bands six inches deep and to the sides of the beds. After the beds have been formed, fertilized and well moistened, cover each with a sheet of 1/4 mil black plastic. Place soil in the edges of the plastic to hold it in place. Then cut slits in the plastic where the plants are to be inserted. Space the plants 12 inches apart in the rows.

Always start with certified, disease free plants which are available at your favorite garden center. Keep them moist before planting. It is extremely important to plant them at the correct depth so that the crowns are not covered and the roots are not exposed. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Agriculture Center and requesting Bulletin VC-9 "Strawberries in the Florida Home Garden." With proper maintenance and a bit of luck, you should enjoy fresh strawberries in a few months.

Orr Recipient of Living Legends Award At Centennial Celebration

One-hundred years of freedom and self-government was celebrated by the city of Eatonville with many special events scheduled.

One of the programs highlighted was the Hungerford High School reunion banquet held at the Wymore Career Education Center. Horace Orr, a 1953 graduate of Hungerford, was the master of ceremonies for the evening. Orr and other Hungerford graduates reviewed the history of this great school and the town of Eatonville.

Hungerford High School was founded in 1889 in the spirit of Alabama's Tuskegee Institute as a prestigious boarding school for blacks. In 1967 Hungerford was renamed

Marva Hawkins
322-5118

Wymore Career Education Center.

Many students, graduates and teachers gathered to share their memories of their good old school days. Eatonville serves as the home and birthplace of scholars, politicians, intellectuals, artists, educators, medical professionals, sports heroes, jurists, businesswomen, businessmen, labor ofsocials and numerous other national, state and local leaders.

The Living Legends Award was presented Horace L. Orr, president of SEEDCO. Among the others sharing happy moments during the Centennial Celebration of Eatonville were Dr. Buel Stagers, a 1955 graduate of Hungerford, who is now a practicing orthopedic surgeon, and Eatonville Mayor Abraham Gordon.

Retirement and Appreciation Services will honor the Rev. and Mrs. Israel Black Sr. for their 51 years of Christian service and 30 years of pastoral-ministrial work. The community and friends are invited to share in these services to be held Sept. 5 at 3:30 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center.

This service is sponsored by the State Overseer of the Churches of God, the Hickory Avenue Church of God and the couple's children, Israel Black Jr., Barbara B. Deace and Bettye B. Dorman.

Allen Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church, Olive Avenue and 12th Street, will observe its Annual Women's Day Services on Sept. 13 at the 11 a.m. service. Mrs. Naomi Bentley of Daytona Beach, will be the guest speaker. Theme for the observance will be "Christian Women Empowered by God For Change." The Rev. J.H. Woodard is the church pastor.

New Bethel African Episcopal Church will host a series of Appreciation Services for Pastor Rev. J.L. Gay. At 11 a.m., Sept. 13, the Rev. T.P. King of Bethel AME Church, DeLand, will be in charge. At 5 p.m., the Rev. D. Rosier and the Mt. Zion AME Church, DeLand will be in charge.

The closing Appreciation Service will be by the Rev. Arthur Graham and St. Matthew Missionary Baptist Church, at 3 p.m., on Sept. 20.

The community is invited to attend these services.

Tall Men Don't Measure Up To Woman's High Standards

DEAR ABBY: Just yesterday, my father pulled a clipping of your column out of his wallet and asked me to write to you and find out how old it is. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Too Tall," women in the know go for small men. That's why so many women go wild over Latin Americans and fight over jockeys. The big, tall men tend to fall apart earlier. They get potbellies and double chins, and succumb to heart attacks in their mid-40s, while the little wiry men are still going strong.

The next time you go to a dance, notice that the best dancers on the floor are small men. Half the women married to tall, dark, handsome men would love to trade them for this little runt they wouldn't go out with before they got married.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Thanks, Abby.

BARBARA SAGLIMBENI, SCHENECTADY, N.Y.

P.S. My father is 5 foot 3.

DEAR BARBARA: Your father has been carrying that clipping in his wallet since 1968. Hug him for me, Barbara.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to ask you two questions:

1. Will "kids" ever be "children" again?
2. Will electronic toys ever

Dear Abby

replace parents as storytellers?

NEIL M. ANDERSON, MALDEN, MASS.

DEAR MR. ANDERSON: 1.

What difference does it make what children for kids are called? Labels are meaningless. Feelings speak volumes.

2. Electronic toys will never replace parents as storytellers because electronic toys cannot answer questions, nor do they kiss the kids goodnight.

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old unmarried daughter brought her 1-month-old baby girl to us and said, "Here, keep her, she's yours!"

My wife worked days and I worked the night shift so one of us would always be with that beautiful child we called "Sweetie." We cared for her for five years. We were the only mother and daddy she knew. Our daughter, Sweetie's real mother, would run in and run out. She paid not one penny for the support of her child. Meanwhile Sweetie had become a truly remarkable little person, bright, beautiful and well-mannered. Everyone who saw her fell in love with her.

Then one day, our daughter came and took Sweetie, saying she would be right back. Well, she didn't return. She kidnapped the child. We found a note in our car telling us that she was married now and could take care of her daughter. When we went to see Sweetie, she sobbed her heart out, begging us to take her with us. We went to a lawyer and tried to get Sweetie back, but to no avail. It's been nearly a year, and my wife is still on tranquilizers. We are not even permitted to see the child.

Our hearts are broken, Abby, please warn other parents never to agree to raise a grandchild unless they get a real adoption! Every time I see a little, girl, I think of Sweetie.

Rotary Seeking Applicants For Japan Cultural Exchange

The local district of Rotary International is seeking qualified applicants to comprise a five-member group study team that will travel to Japan for a six-week cultural exchange during April-May of 1988.

Candidates must be business or professional men between the ages of 25-35, employed on a full-time basis for two years in the district, and must be U.S. citizens.

The purpose of the exchange is to further goodwill and international understanding. Transportation and living expenses are provided by Rotary.

Applications should be submitted no later than Oct. 1 or by calling Sanford Rotary Club, Robbie Robertson, 322-5854; Rotary Breakfast, Dan Lykens, 322-1242; or Oviedo Rotary Club, Ed Rummel, 282-2775.

Barbecue To Benefit Disabled

The American Veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam, Post #17 of Sanford, will hold a fund-raising barbecue, Sept. 5, starting at 11 a.m. in the parking lot of Pinecrest Shopping Center, 2701 S. Orlando Drive, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

The meal, open to the public, will feature a variety of foods including fish, chicken, meat loaf, baked beans, salads and cakes, according to Cmdr. Walter Mosley. The cost will be $3.50 per person.

Senior vice-commander Jerry Hester assisted by club manager John Jeffrey will do the cooking.

Public relations chairman John Marlon reports that all proceeds will aid Rainbow Futures Inc. for its philanthropic activities for the disabled of Seminole County. Mrs. Elaine Wilson is coordinator of the event.

Jones Brothers Win Scholarships

The Jones boys did it again. They both won Air Force Sergeants Association grants last year, fresh out of high school, and then did it again this year, during their first year of college.

The AFSA 1987 Frank C. Fini $2,000 and Dr. Harry Page $1,500 Scholarship grant awards were won by David L. Jones and Christopher S. Jones, twin brothers, sons of SMSgt. (ret) Lawrence S. and Mrs. Jones of Longwood.

Members of the Orlando AFSA Chapter 556 and Mr. and Mrs. Jones were also given special recognition by AFSA International, Division 5 and their Chapter for their parental support of these fine young men.

The awards were presented jointly by Jack McGhee, Division 5 president; George Blue, Division 5 senior advisor; Bill Brown, Division 5 vice president and Chapter 556 senior advisor; and Bob Maynard, president of Chapter 556.

The presentation took place at the chapter's annual steak picnic on Aug. 23 at the Navy Training Center McCoy Annex in Orlando. Over 135 AFSA members were present.

They Jones brothers both became associate members of Chapter 556, AFSA at this event.

Underwriting Policies Can Cause Migraines

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor prescribed Inderal as a preventive for my daily migraines. It worked! However, an insurance company has refused to write hospitalization insurance on me because I take this medicine, although my doctor wrote the company to say that I don't have heart trouble.

Maybe you can help me get the "outer-space" insurance industry to understand this use of Inderal. Increased coverage costs are giving me an even bigger headache.

DEAR READER — You bring up a troublesome question for which I have no ready answer. Insurance companies are becoming increasingly chary about providing health coverage for "pre-existing conditions"; these mega-corporations are also trying to maximize profits by refusing to write insurance for certain ailments. The companies have a right to do this, because in a free-market society, they can make their own rules.

In my opinion, refusing to insure a patient with medication-controlled migraine is unfair — it's really stretching the limit.

I think that you have several options. First, write a letter to the medical director of the insurance company. Explain your problem and emphasize that your use of the prescription beta-blocker Inderal is for migraine prevention, not for the treatment of cardiovascular disease. Unfortunately, your application and your doctor's letter may have ended up on the desk of someone who saw the word "Inderal" and equated it with heart disease. Go over this person's head to the director. Send the letter by registered mail, return receipt requested, and ask the doctor for a ruling. If he or she rules against you, demand a copy of the company policy that was the basis for the rejection of your application.

Second, look for a competing company that would be willing to write your insurance at standard rates. The insurance business is competitive and you may be able to find satisfactory coverage by shopping around. To my knowledge, there is no standard industry agreement that discriminates against migraine sufferers.

If these approaches are ineffective, ask your attorney to write (on his letterhead) to the president of the insurance company. It's amazing how much action can be precipitated by a carefully worded little letter

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is what is commonly called a Mama-Papa bidding sequence, not to denigrate parenthood but to describe a simple, easy-to-understand invitation to game, happily accepted by North, who held nine high-card points plus a 10-spot kicker. And I am happy to tell you that the declarer, whether Mama or Papa, did draw the right inferences after the opening lead to make the contract. Would you have done as well?

East won the king of clubs and continued with the ace, ruffed by South. After a little thought, declarer cashed the ace of hearts and then played a low heart. When West followed low, declarer put in the 10 and made the contract. "I'd better start holding my hand back," West angrily exclaimed. "How could you go against percentages unless you saw my cards?"

West should have contemplated South for good thinking. East was marked with the A-K of clubs and presumably also the diamond king. (If West held A-K of diamonds, his opening lead would have been the diamond king.) South rightly assumed that East would have opened the bidding in third position if he also held the queen of hearts, and so it was quite correct for South to finesse against that card in the West hand.

And now, if you like to take wild guesses instead of drawing inferences, who was the declarer, Mama or Papa?

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 5, 1987

A new source will open for you in the year ahead. It will be of benefit to you financially. This venture will involve a bold person who will prove to be very lucky for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day to devote a little time to a hobby you've been neglecting. It will help put you in a better frame of mind if you work with your hands. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a chance you may have to choose between two social invitations today. Pick the one that caters to both the old and the young.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You should do rather well in your commercial dealings today if you adhere to a no-nonsense approach. Treat serious situations respectfully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of your better problem-solving days, so be sure to follow through on situations that you conceive at this time. They'll work if you'll give them a chance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something of value to which you're entitled but have been denied will be in your hands shortly. Don't give up hope at this stage of the game.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today will be more gratifying if you participate in things that are of your own choosing. Don't be lax and let others set up your schedule.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You have a unique knack today that could work to your advantage. It is your ability to put yourself in the right place at the right time.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you believe your ideas are right, be sure to stand up for them today when challenged by others. Be open-minded, but not submissive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A critical situation may be handled rather strangely today. It could cause you to wonder if the one with whom you're involved has your best interests at heart. Don't worry — the answer is affirmative.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're likely to arrive at a sensible decision today regarding a serious issue you've been pondering. You're on track, but should still be cautious.

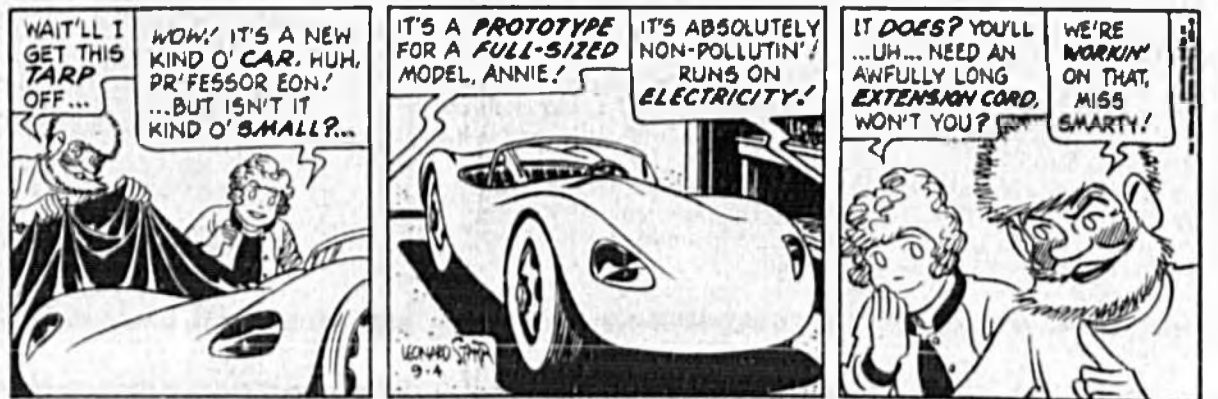

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lady Luck tends to favor you today where your work or career is concerned. However, she may operate through intermediaries instead of directly with you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something of consequence could develop today from a social encounter with an older friend. This person has always had your best interests at heart.

Although travel cases are taken for granted when they are new and have been discarded by the owner that even a simple repair can be made.

Each trunk has its own personality. Farrell said of his collection of about 20 cases, including a variety of trunks, even a girl's trunk, as well as cases for the tools of carpenters and medical men of bygone days.

"I like the Jenny Lind," he said of the style of trunk that took its name from the 19th Century soprano known as the Swedish Nightingale. He said the curved sides of the Jenny Lind trunk may have mimicked her hourglass figure.

"The lines of the trunks are all different. The Jenny Lind has two curves one down and one out, like Jenny Lind, I guess," he said.

Farrell said restoration enhances rather than diminishes the value of old luggage. "I just wonder what's there, I don't really know," he said.

That season's crop offers a skewed interpretation of family dynamics in "Mama's Boy" (NBC), "My Two Dads" (NBC), "Full House" (ABC) and "Everything's Relative" (CBS). Confused paternity, slap-together family units and unusual mother-son relationships seem to be the abnormal norm this season.

No one network comes out on top with this season's offerings, either. Each of the big three has a handful of strong — but not guaranteed — shows and a balance of largely mediocre programs.

Comedy is supposed to be king these days, but the fall lineup offers almost as many new police/detective dramas (seven, most of which hail from CBS) as it does sitcoms (eight), with two hybrids that offer both bullets and belly laughs.

Kudos should go to CBS for even airing "Tour of Duty." Even though the show's topic — Vietnam — will probably keep away viewers looking for the upbeat viewers, CBS is the first network to give the controversial war more significant attention than a passing documentary or TV movie.

The best of this fall's crop is ABC's "Hooperman," which is either a sitcom with pathos or a drama with laughs. It's from the creative team that gave us last year's class act, "L.A. Law."

The worst? The competition is too strong to single out a top stinker.

Networks Unveil New Fall Programs

By Frank Benello
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — This fall's TV season will not be remembered for its vanguard of innovative and strong programming. In fact, many of the new shows are rather weak and seem to be awaiting their inevitable mid-season replacements.

But a few gems, like "Frank's Place" (CBS), "The Slap Maxwell Story" (ABC) and "J.J. Starbuck" (NBC), have managed to sparkle amid a vast wasteland of nighttime programming.

TV's zeal for re-creating the sanitized nuclear family — sparked by "Cosby" and spread like wildfire to "Growing Pains" — has dimmed. Instead, this season's crop offers a skewed interpretation of family dynamics in "Mama's Boy" (NBC), "My Two Dads" (NBC), "Full House" (ABC) and "Everything's Relative" (CBS). Confused paternity, slap-together family units and unusual mother-son relationships seem to be the abnormal norm this season.

No one network comes out on top with this season's offerings, either. Each of the big three has a handful of strong — but not guaranteed — shows and a balance of largely mediocre programs.

Buck James (Sunday): Dennis Weaver is a crack trauma surgeon at a major Southwestern hospital. A good-ole-boy rancher, Dr. Buck ropes cattle and sews up emergency-room patients with equal unbelievability. Buck's personality is more obnoxious than flinty. 1 star

Thirty something (Tuesday): A yuppie soap opera about two married couples and their unmarried friends, all pushing 30. Self-absorbed like most yuppies, they all take themselves too seriously, especially since the pilot's big dramatic question is whether or not one couple can find a baby sitter in order to take a camping trip. Tedious and hard to watch. 1 star 1/2

Hooperman (Wednesday): The new show to beat. The first episode has an hour's worth of grim humor and full-blown pathos a la "Hill Street Blues" and "L.A. Law," compacted into a fast half-hour. John Ritter is Harry Hooperman, a San Francisco police detective who inherits an apartment building full of eccentric tenants after his lovable landlady is brutally murdered. Great ensemble cast headed by Ritter's police boss, Barbara Bosson (Fay Furillo on "Hill Street"). 4 stars

The 'Slap' Maxwell Story (Wednesday): Dabney Coleman is the title's newspaper sportswriter. The pilot wasn't available for review, but the first two scripts were hysterical. In the opening scene, Coleman asks a golf pro if it's true that "a bunch of homosexual coke freaks have infiltrated professional golf" and gets beaten up for his effort. 3 stars 1/2 (based on scripts)

Full House (Friday): A recent widower raises three young daughters with the help of two live-in friends who are so immature you wouldn't trust them with your pets, much less your children. Lame gags (one of the friends is a standup comic) with icky-sweet kids. 1 star 1/2

I Married Dora (Friday): Comedy about an architect who marries his Salvadoran maid so she won't be deported. From a creator of "The Cosby Show." Unavailable for review.

Once a Hero (Saturday): Captain Justice jumps off the pages of his failing comic strip and enters the real world in order to pep up the bored cartoonist who draws him. The hero also fights crime with the aid of fellow cartoon character Detective Gumshoe. Unavailable for review.

NBC
My Two Dads (Sunday): Another sitcom with a weird, rather distasteful premise. Thirteen years ago, Greg Evigan and Paul Reiser both had sexual relationships with a woman. She dies and leaves them her 12-year-old daughter. The dubious laughs come from each man trying to prove that he's the biological father. "Lolita" without sex — or much intelligence. 1 star 1/2

JOHN RITTER puts "Three's Company" far behind him as he takes on the title role in the highly touted ABC series "Hooperman."

J.J. Starbuck (Tuesday): Veteran TV Western star Dale Robertson returns to portray an eccentric Texas billionaire who travels the country helping people and solving murder cases that stump the local police. Producer Stephen J. Cannell ("The A-Team") brings us a witty, touching mystery with a lot of heart. 3 stars 1/2

A Year in the Life (Wednesday): Last year's miniseries returns as a weekly show. The best role and performer in the original was Eva Marie Saint, and the producers killed her off in the first episode! The miniseries was a pretentious soap opera. Maybe the series will be better. Unavailable for review.

Beverly Hills Buntz (Thursday): Of all the colorful, wonderful characters on "Hill Street Blues," why did the network decide to spin off two of the creepiest — crooked cop Norman Buntz (Dennis Franz) and his stoolie, Sid Thurston (Peter Jurasik)? On "Hill Street," Norm and Sid were fun in small doses as supporting characters, but they're not strong enough to carry their own show. 2 stars.

A Different World (Thursday): Denise Huxtable (Lisa Bonet) goes to college in a spinoff from "The Cosby Show." NBC could probably air a dramatization of my computer manual in the time slot after "Cosby" and get as good a ratings share. My computer manual, however, is slightly more entertaining. The only spark in the pilot occurs when Cosby makes a cameo telephone appearance.

Nuking Crime Story

By Mark Schwed
 UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last time we left NBC's "Crime Story," it was a prime candidate for cancellation. Two of the leading characters were about to be nuked after accidentally straying into an A-bomb test range.

Thanks partially to the people meter, a new way to measure audiences that seems to favor yuppies and urbanites, NBC renewed the low-rated "Crime Story" for a second season (It premieres Tuesday, Sept. 22, 10-11 p.m.).

But what about mobster Ray Luca and sidekick Pauli Taglia, who drove smack into the middle of a radioactive mushroom cloud in Frenchman's Flat on the last show of the season?

"Ah, they may be, you know, turned into Morton Salt in the desert," joked Michael Mann, the executive producer behind both "Crime Story" and "Miami Vice."

Do they live? "Well, we still don't know how they come back. They may come back and glow in the dark," Mann said.

"I saw a lava lamp the other day that kind of ..." interjected Dennis Farina, who stars as mob buster Det. Lt. Mike Torello.

"Every time Luca exhales this purple cloud may come out, you know," Mann said. "Clocks don't run when he comes into the room."

When it became clear that most everyone thought the nuked characters meant that "Crime Story" was finished — Mann's way of going out with a bang — Mann considered putting a giant question mark over the screen at the end of last season's finale.

He had intended it as a cliffhanger in true "Dallas" and "Dynasty" fashion. So now Mann must resurrect the dead, or make them glow green, or concoct some twisted TV tale that explains how two men driving into the middle of a nuclear explosion can live to commit more crimes.

Both Luca and Taglia will be back since the actors who play them, Anthony Denison and John Santucci, are listed in this season's credits.

As for the people meter acting as savior for "Crime Story," Mann doesn't buy it. "Well, I met the first people meter the other day and he's a nice guy," Mann wisecracked.

The crime drama traces the growth of three characters — Luca the mob boss, Torello the cop, and David Abrams (Stephen Lang) the liberal lawyer. This year, "Crime Story" will stay put in Vegas, tooling around in sleek black cars with fins, with women in beehive hairdos and miniskirts.

GUIDING LIGHT
 Meredith and Fletcher talked about the fact that Fletcher is her adopted brother. Alan-Michael stole a kiss from Dinah. Rode discovered a mysterious lump on Johnny's neck. Alan-Michael agreed to pay Cameron's college tuition. Johnny was surprised when Lacey said she's decided to leave town. Reva flipped when she received a legal summons from Kyle's lawyer, who is demanding that Marah undergo another blood test to determine her paternity. Josh ignored Sarah's plea that he help Reva keep it a secret that Kyle is Marah's father. Josh went back to work at Lewis Oil after reconciling with H.B. Chelsea failed to make Philip realize that he won't gain anything by getting revenge against Alan, who has disowned Philip. Mindy had nightmares that Rusty would be killed, but he nixed quitting the police force. Lewis Oil bought Kaz's construction company from Josh.

LOVING
 Alan confessed to April that she's the brother of a boy who once got April pregnant. Alan told a frightened April that he wants to protect her from the evils of the world. Ava gleefully accepted Clay's marriage proposal. April learned that Alan had been mentally abused by his parents, who idolized his younger brother. Harry gave Ann an engagement ring. Ann came close to discovering Lily and Jack's affair. Jack told Lily he's calling off their affair because he won't risk losing Stacy. Ned is upset that he hasn't found April.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE
 Leon sharks Sid and Leonard pressured Sandra to pay off the debt Frank owed them. Rafe warned Jonathan that he could be charged with murdering Frank. Wade told Jonathan that he witnessed the shootout and it seemed to him that Frank purposely let Jonathan shoot him. Former madam Renee urged Lee (Carole) to admit to Mari Lynn that she had been forced into prostitution by a man who had abused her. Cord was grateful when Kate agreed to postpone their marriage plans so that he can keep an eye on Tim. Cord learned that Maria had been blackmailing Tina, but he doesn't know that it was over Al's parentage. After receiving a letter from Dorian, Cassie agreed to be a sponsor for Dorian's sister, Melinda Cramer, who is being released from a mental hospital. Larry reluctantly agreed to take part of the responsibility for Melinda's care. Wanda and Gilbert are getting very chummy. Clint and Viki went to Europe.

RYAN'S HOPE
 Carl Humphreys' lab assistant, Cattie, told Ryan that Carl died in the college laboratory explosion. Two thugs attacked Ryan after Cattie gave her some file papers that belonged to Carl. Ryan miscarried her baby as a result of the attack. Ryan was upset that she lost the papers Cattie gave her. An unforgiving Rick put all the blame for the miscarriage upon Ryan. Jack was curious when Emily broke their date without an explanation. Dee failed to talk Lizzie into reconciling with John. Pat isn't sure how he feels about Concetta.

SANTA BARBARA
 Keith ordered Paul and his sister, Marsha, to get out of town before the police find out about their baby-sitting scam. Kelly told Jeffrey that she has had vibes about Eleanor (Elena). Jake nervously accepted the job of spokesman for Best cologne, which was invented by Kelly and Jeffrey. Paul checked out a flyer advertising the Santa Barbara Beautiful Baby Pageant. Tori and Julia talked about entering their babies, Chip and Summi, in the pageant. Cain was disappointed when Eden told him that they were never lovers. Pearl told Cruz that he's convinced there's a connection between Cain and Eleanor (Elena). Elena (Eleanor) ordered Willie to torture Mason until he signs the papers that will turn his fortune over to Jeffrey. Kelly warned Cain that Eden will never love anyone but Cruz. Ted nixed selling his winery to C.C. Gina fumed that C.C. got a court order to keep her away from Brandon.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS
 Kay accompanied Philip to his first AA meeting. Victor rented an apartment next to Nikki and Jack's love nest and then secretly installed a two-way mirror so that he can spy on Nikki. Kay is worried about the fact that she is drawn to Rex even though she knows nothing about his past. Jack was livid that Jill and Brad's new line of men's cosmetics seems destined to make money for Jabot. Jill agreed to a dinner date with Skip. Philip told Cricket to keep his car boys until he kicks his drinking habit. Andy refused to listen when Faren (Michelle) tried to explain why she kept mum that Evan had sent her more photos of their daughter, Betsy. Faren (Michelle) had flashbacks of a speeding car that exploded. Cricket encouraged Philip, who resisted the temptation to take a drink. Steven and Victor argued over Ashley. Victor vowed to take back the Jabot stock Nikki conned him out of.

 (10) MOVIE "Suppose They Gave a War and Nobody Came?" (1970) Tony Curtis, Brian Keith.

Was That Really Huey Lewis We Saw?

Dear Dick: My husband and I were watching the movie "Back to the Future," and are sure we saw the singer Huey Lewis as one of the four judges at the school audition for the dance band. We think he was the one talking through the megaphone, but his name wasn't in the credits. Was that him? — K.L., Ojai, Calif.

Dear K.L.: Yes. You have the eyes of an eagle. Lewis did that bit in the film just for the fun of it, and a few others among my sharp-eyed readers spotted him, too.

Dear Dick: Could you tell me what happened to "Hill Street Blues" with Daniel J. Travanti? Also "Crime Story"? — J.R.B., Houston.

Dear J.R.B.: With hoopla, tears and self-congratulation, "Hill Street Blues" called it a career last spring. It had a long and honorable career, but enough was enough. "Crime Story," however, was only temporarily out of action. It is on NBC's schedule for the fall.

Dear Dick: As a left-handed person, I usually notice others who are left-handed. Lately, I've noticed on TV commercials involving food — yogurt, cereal, etc. — the people are eating with their left hands. Are there more lefties among the models, or are the pictures reversed? — J.L., Oley, Pa.

Dear J.L.: Since I received your letter, I've been watching carefully and I have yet to see a single lefty eater. So I think it's a series of coincidences or else you are also left-eyed.

Dear Dick: What was the name of the movie musical of the 1930s that featured the hit song "Let Yourself Go," and who were the main actors in it? — D.L.C., Salisbury, N.C.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Dear D.L.C.: That was the all-time favorite, "Follow the Fleet" (1936, to be exact) which starred the all-time greats, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

Dear Dick: I would like to know if Kenny Rogers' real name is Kenneth Rogers. I used to know a man named Cody McCombs. Is this his stepfather? I also ran around with the sister of Kenneth Rogers before she was shot. We lived in Kennard, Texas, at the time. Can you find out for me if he is the same person? I believe his mother's name was Irene. — J.V.R., Conroe, Texas.

Dear J.V.R.: Enough there for a novel, but, sorry, wrong guy, Kenny Rogers, the singer, was born Kenneth Ray Rogers in Houston. His mother's name was Lucille.

Dear Dick: I've been to every video store in this area to find the movie, "Picnic," with Kim Novak and William Holden. Can you tell me if it's on cassette and where to find it? — Y.B., Moncton, New Brunswick.

Dear Y.B.: They can order it for you, because it very definitely is on a cassette. So it is available.

Dear Dick: I would like to know if the "Max Headroom" show was based on the Pepsi commercial or was it the other way around. I say the commercial came first. My husband says there is no way they could make a whole show from a commercial. A complete message is on the line. — L.M., Killeen, Texas.

Dear L.M.: Loosen up your fingers and start rubbing. You are extremely wrong. In the first place, it's a Coke commercial, not a Pepsi commercial. (Ad agencies hate people like you, who can't keep the products straight). In the second place, "Max Headroom" began in England, first as a dramatic show, then a talk show. Then it was brought here. And Coke bought the rights to use the character in its ads.

Dear Dick: Is Chester Morris still alive? In what films has he appeared? — Mrs. L.H.L., Fort Pierce, Fla.

Dear Mrs. L.H.L.: Chester Morris, who was one of Hollywood's best liked and busiest actors, died in 1970. He had been in hundreds of movies — good one such as "The Big House" and "Five Came Back," and stinkeroos such as "Blondie Johnson" and "The Bat Whispers." He was also Boston Blackie in many of those films, and did a lot of TV in its early years, too.

But maybe new producer Ann Beatts ("Square Pegs") will give this series fresh impetus. 2 stars

Private Eye (Friday): Written by the creator of "Miami Vice," "Private Eye" ends up looking and sounding like a parody of it, with interminable MTV-style sequences and brooding method-acting by stars Michael Woods, who plays an ex-cop thrown off the force for a crime he didn't commit, and his sidekick (Josh Brolin, James' son). It's even more violent than "Crime Story" and the pilot is convoluted beyond comprehension. Set in corrupt 1950s Los Angeles, "Private Eye" tries hard for a Raymond Chandler flavor, but instead offers only pseudo-tough-guy dialogue and world-weary cynicism. 1 star

Mama's Boy (Saturday): A weird comedy with Oedipal overtones. Nancy Walker moves in with her newspaper-columnist son (Bruce Weitz) and wreaks havoc with his sex life. Embarrassing rather than amusing to watch. The show airs only once a month, like "Beverly Hills Buntz." NBC calls it a "designated hitter," but it sounds as if the network feels "Mama's Boy" isn't strong enough to run weekly. They're right. 1 star

Everything's Relative (Monday): Two bachelor brothers — one a hunk, the other a toad — share a New York apartment and a nagging mother who constantly asks the stale question, "When are you getting married?" Nice performances all around can't rescue a hoary premise. 2 stars cops 'n' robbers show with a few nice gags. 2 stars

Tour of Duty (Thursday): Experiencing the Vietnam War once was one time too many, but the war is doing boffo box office these days, and CBS hopes to duplicate the success on the small screen. But do we really want to see the war refought every week in our living room? So as not to offend liberals or conservatives, the series refuses to take a moral stand. Instead, it substitutes endless battle scenes that are sanitized for the family hour. 1 star

Wiseguy (Thursday): In this Stephen J. Cannell production, a good-looking cop goes undercover to infiltrate an organized-crime family as a "wiseguy," or low-level employee of the organization. Even though they're Anglo-Saxon Protestants, the gangsters are attractive in a

because he can't tell them he hasn't really become a crook. 2 stars

Beauty and the Beast (Friday): Despite some surprisingly touching moments, the ridiculous premise that a half-man, half-beast (Ron Perlman) lives in the sewers of New York and rescues citizens in distress makes it hard to take this dramatic show seriously. The show has garnered praise from many TV critics, but it remains to be seen if the plot will regress into predictable weekly derring-do. 2 stars

Frank's Place (Saturday): A gentle character comedy from the creator of "WKRP in Cincinnati." A New England college professor (Tim Reid) inherits a restaurant in New Orleans and has to deal with its wonderfully cantankerous staff — plus a beautiful mortician! The humor may be too gentle for some. 2 stars

Leg Work (Saturday): Will New Yorker Claire McCarron ever find a steady boyfriend? Will she ever catch the hitman out to kill her? This curious hybrid mixes "Molly Dodd" angst with formula detective fare. McCarron (Margaret Colin) quits her humdrum job as assistant attorney for the more glamorous life of a gun-shoe? The plot gives equal importance to her arid love life and battles with bad guys. 1 star

THE SMALL SCREEN tackles the Vietnam War in CBS's "Tour of Duty" starring Stan Foster, foreground, and Kevin Conroy, among others.

Jake and the Fatman (Tuesday): Veteran TV detective William Conrad ("Cannon") is wonderful as a slob of a district attorney who not only convicts criminals but chases them too. The two-hour pilot is a "Columbo"-style mystery. Joe Penny will give Don Johnson competition as the fashion-plate detective who works for the roly-poly D.A. 3 stars

The Law and Harry McGraw (Tuesday): A spinoff of "Murder, She Wrote," but not as clever. The chemistry between Jerry Orbach's low-life detective and Barbara Babcock's ("Hill Street Blues") socialite lawyer almost makes up for the lack of suspense. Almost. 2 stars

The Oldest Rookie (Wednesday): Paul Sorvino is the head of public relations for a big-city police department who decides to chuck it all and become a beat cop. The gimmicky premise is quickly dumped after Sorvino and his handsome young sidekick are promoted to detectives, and the series turns into a routine

"Godfather" sort of way. The undercover cop (Ken Wahl) is sympathetic as a man cut off from family and friends
