STOKES' PUTOUT OF TWO MEN AT PLATE UNUSUAL

Red Sox Catcher Tags Detroit Players With One Sweep Of Arm After Fly-Ball Drops From Flagstead's Hands

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—One of the unusual plays of the 1925 American League season revealed by "scoo-league" analysis was that in which Arthur Stokes, catcher for the Red Sox, retired two Detroit men at the plate with one sweep of his arm. He pulled it August 25.

Johnny Bassler was on second and Fred Haney was at first, in the seventh inning, when Rigney hit a long fly to the outfield. Ira Flagstead ran it down but dropped the ball. Bassler started for home when he saw the ball strike the ground, but Haney, starting at the crack of the bat, was almost at second before Bassler got away.

The two runners were pacing almost as a team when they neared third and going into the plate, Haney slowed up enough to stay only a step behind the slower Bassler.

In the meantime, Flagstead retrieved the ball and threw to Rothrock, at short, the latter relaying the ball to Stokes. The two Tigers, looking over their shoulders, saw the ball coming and hit the dust simultaneously.

Stokes stood his ground and with one sweep of his arm tagged them both before their spikes touched the rubber.

Not to be outdone, the umpire shot both arms upward, indicating the double play.

New American Opera Said To Include Many Historical Themes About Salem

SALEM, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The author of a new opera, which is to be produced in this city, has selected for his "Slipper Tressor" the Salem witch trials. Charles Walter Gold, composer of the opera, says it is the third of the series of operas which he has written about the history of the city. The first was "The Pilgrims" and the second was "The Founding of Salem." The new opera is to be produced in the city in the month of October, 1926. The week of the month has been set aside for the production of the opera.

Chicago Store Opens Special Department To Sell Golfers' Togs

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—So many golfers are buying their golf clothes from the city that a special department has been opened in the Sears and Roebuck store today to sell golfers' togs. The department is located in the main building of the store and is the first of its kind in the city. The department is to be a success, according to the store officials, because of the large number of golfers who are coming to the city for the winter. Californian Says Florida May Be Scene Of Next Big Rush For "Flowing Gold"

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Jan. 18.—Florida may be the scene of the next oil rush. This is the opinion of Prof. Andrew C. Lawson, eminent geologist of the faculty of the University of California, who has been a Hollywood visitor.

In addition to all of her other resources and advantages of ideal climate, natural beauty, fertile soil, hundreds of miles of coastline, and all the other things that have drawn thousands here from all parts of the country, Prof. Lawson believes Florida possesses rich oil deposits.

Prof. Lawson, who is making a several weeks' tour of Florida and Cuba, and his party, were the guests of J. W. Young, founder of Hollywood and mayor of that city, during their stay here. They were taken on a boat trip through the inland waterways in and around Hollywood including Lake Mabel, where the $15,000,000 harbor is being built, on Mr. Young's private yacht.

Should Drive Wells

"There is a distant possibility that oil can be found under the soil of Florida," said Prof. Lawson, "and the people of this state should begin looking for it. Oil was not found in California until after long search, but they continued looking for it until rich deposits were found. The whole city of Los Angeles was originally made as a result of the oil rush. They have been finding oil in California for 35 years, and in my opinion there is plenty to be had under the ground of Florida. Floridians should drive a few wells and try to find it."

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The way the Washington citizenry is bedeviled by government is one sin and two district commissioners. The two district commissioners—the third or engineer commissioner concerns himself only with technical matters, for which thank providence—rule like twin czars. Whatever they say "goes"—at least it does for awhile. Later the courts often knock it out.

The frequency with which this happens is significant of the regime's irresponsibility. The commissioners slap on some new regulation and it's law until somebody employs counsel and spends a lot of money putting up a fight. Then, as likely as not, it transpires that the whole thing was illegal all along.

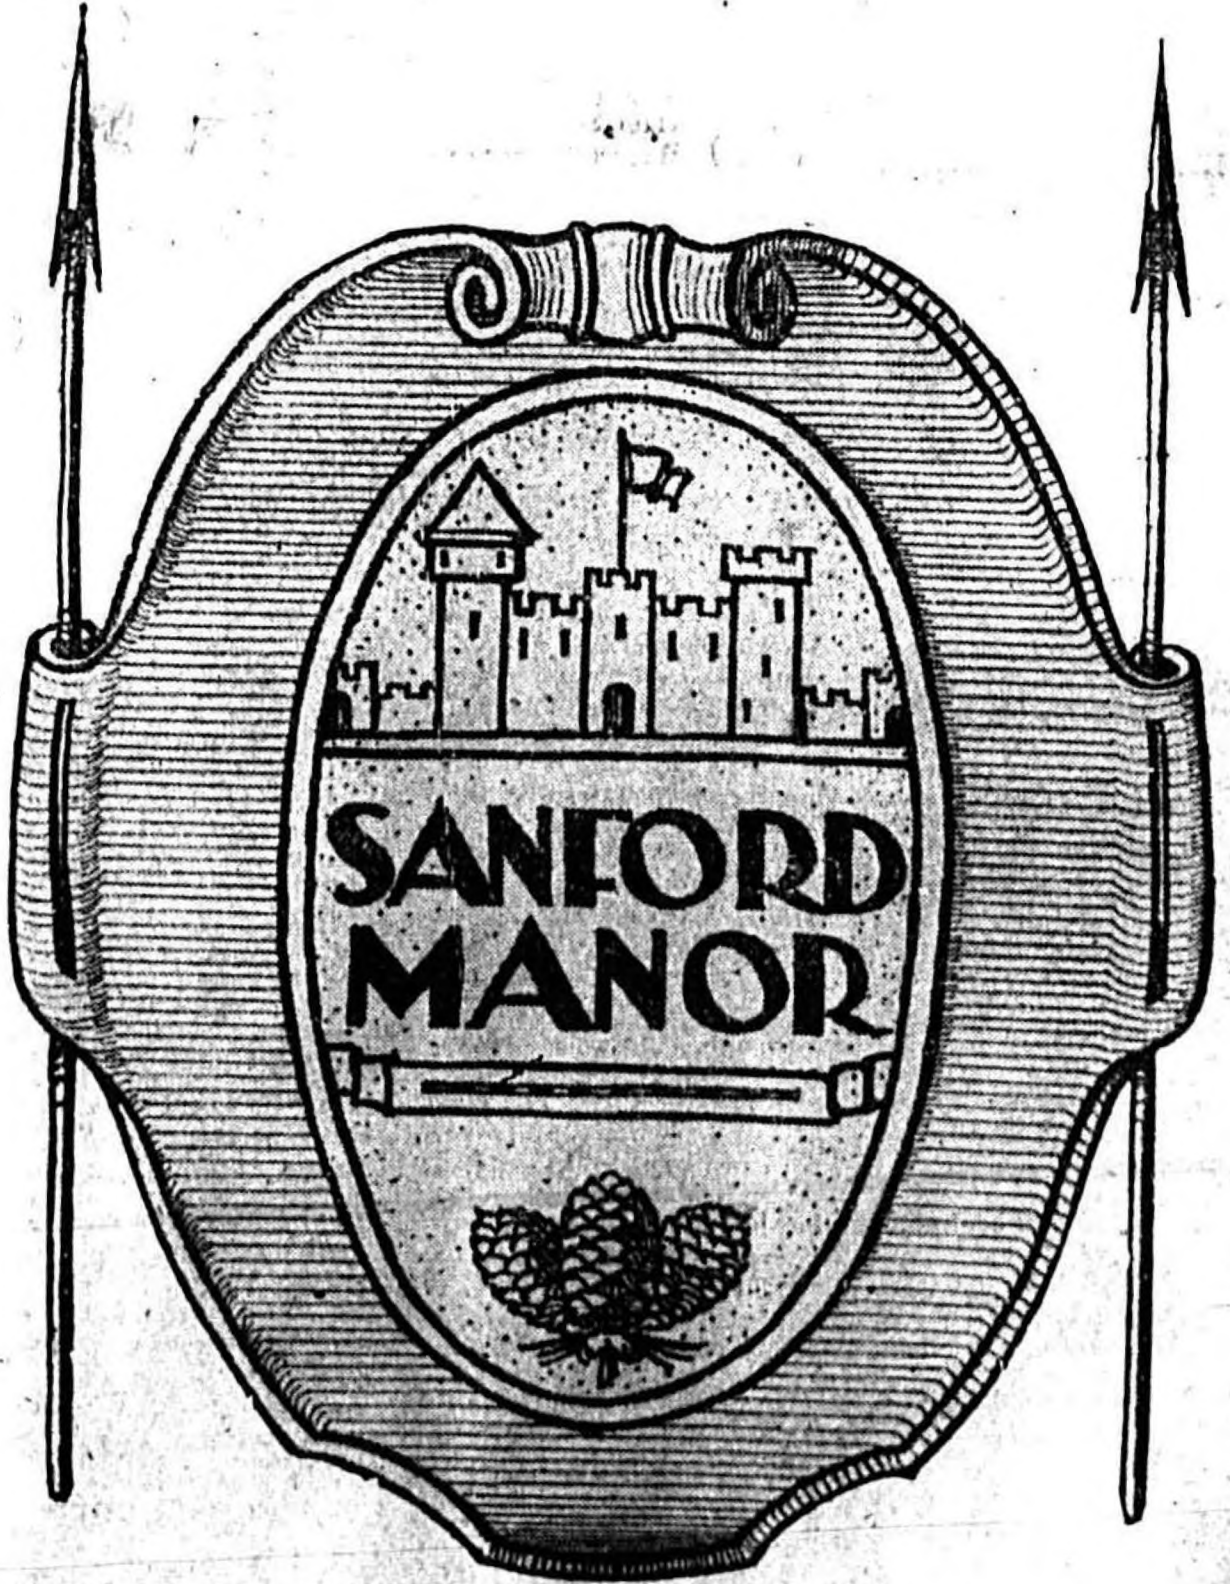

The rule subjecting pedestrians to arrest for auto traffic code violations was a recent sample. Traffic Director Eldridge wanted it and persuaded Commissioners Rudolph and Penning to issue the decree. The police dropped everything else to go after pedestrians.

Trying to cross a street was practically equivalent to a pinch. Obeying the traffic officers' signals was to invite being run over, for the cops were too busy with pedestrians to bother with autos and they ran wild. To disregard them was to land in jail.

THE SONNET

Mama fret not at their convent's narrow rooms;
And hermits are contented with their cells;
And students with their pensile citadels;
Mada at the wheel, the weaver at his loom,
Sit blithe and happy; bees that soar for bloom,
High as the highest peak of Furness-fell,
Will murmur by the hour in fox-love bell;
In truth the prison, unto which we doom
Ourselves, no prison is; and hence for me,
In any clime, 'twas pastime to be bound;
Within the Sonnet's scanty plot of ground,
Pleas'd if some souls (for such needs rhyme) find liberty,
Who have felt the weight of two much liberty,
Should find brief solace there, as I have found.

Scorn not the Sonnet; Critic, you have frowned,
Mildew'd its joys and honours; with this key,
Shakespeare unlock'd his heart; the melody,
Of this small lute gave oars to Petrarch's wound;
A thousand times this pipe did Tasso sound;
With its Camæo sooth'd an exile's grief;
The Sonnet glitter'd a gay myrtle leaf,
Amid the cypress with which Dante crown'd
His visionary brow; a glow-worm lamp
It cheer'd mild Goethe, call'd from Faery-land
To struggle through dark ways; and when a damp
Yell round the path of Milton,
In his hand became a trumpet;
Soul animating strains—alas, too few!
—William Wordsworth.

It seems that eggs aren't the only things that get "hard boiled."

While we are insisting that parked automobiles show parking lights, why wouldn't it be a smart thing to make wagons and trucks which use the highways after dark show some kind of light so that motorists will know they are on the road?

A French physician declares girls and women who abhor dishwashing do not merit all the hard words heaped upon them. They are ill, he says, and suffering latent alterations of the cervico-brachial nerve plexus. The Frenchman says this condition can be successfully treated, but perhaps the sick ones would prefer to say "I'm miserable, thank you."

Holdups

This is the time of year for crooks and thieves as well as tourists. It is not the climate that these people who prey upon the public are looking for although no doubt they like that too. They come down because for a few months during the winter, practically all the wealthy people of the United States congregate here, bring their emeralds and diamonds with them, and make it especially easy for second story men, by leaving their jewels in their hotel rooms with the doors unlocked.

Burglaries are daily occurrences; holdups are common and the victims of swindlers of one kind or another are becoming more numerous every day. By saying this The Herald is not attempting to frighten timid old maids or unsuspecting children, but is merely trying to offer a word of warning which if properly heeded will doubtless suffice to protect fully all of one's person and property.

Recently in one Florida town a good sized cracker boy was waiting on the outskirts of the town for a jitney. He noticed the approach of three men and became suspicious at their maneuver. He drew his pocket knife which had an unusually long blade and busied himself with the careful remodeling of his fingernails.

Suddenly, "Stick 'em up", someone barked directly behind him. He turned quickly, at the same time raising his hands. Instantly he caught the gun barrel, which was pointed very closely to his nose, and raised it as the cartridge discharged. His right hand with the long bladed knife in it, as if he were pairing an onion, circled the crook's neck. He emitted a whoop and fled as did the other two men who were still some distance away.

The cracker boy immediately called the police station and advised the sergeant that if a man were found going around with his head half chopped off, to let him know and he would come down and finish the job.

A similar outcome to a few more holdups would have a very decided tendency toward reducing the number of crimes in this state. However, The Herald does not advise any of its readers to try to imitate the tactics of the big cracker boy in case of a holdup. From a selfish point of view by far the wisest plan is to submit peacefully.

I Don't Know

The conversation may not have actually taken place but the words might have fallen from the lips of almost any resident in Sanford, even old timers, and especially the five or six thousands persons who have come in the past two years to make their homes among us, and we will leave it to your own sense of fairness to judge if it is not so.

- What is the population of Sanford? I don't know.
How many hotels are there in the city? There used to be three.
What is the per capita wealth? The exact figures have slipped my mind.
What is the assessed valuation? I don't know.
What is the tax millage? I've forgotten.
What are the total bank deposits? More than last year.
How many miles of paved streets have you? Oh, that increases every year.
What is the annual income from Seminole county celery crops? I don't know.
There may be a few well informed persons in Sanford who could answer all of those questions but we are well satisfied that their number would be limited to a surprising few. And this, in spite of the fact that the answer to every question has been published in The Herald within the past two months.
- These are all important facts which strangers constantly coming into our city will ask and want to know before they determine upon settling here. So doubtless there have been asked some of these very questions by visitors in our midst. Could you give an intelligent and entirely satisfactory answer? If not, get out your old copies of The Herald and brush up on "Sanford Facts."

FROM ALL PARTS OF Florida reports come to us that every worth-while improvement—and some of these are vast in extent—proceeds undisturbed and undismayed. The benefit to the state through the expenditure of so much money due to the optimism and vision of so many people of brains and unusual resources is incalculable, and nothing has occurred to check either the flow of money or the trek of Americans southward at this auspicious season of the year. —August Hecksher in New York Evening Post.

TAMPA, JACKSONVILLE AND Pensacola will each within the next fifteen years have at least 600,000 people. Florida at the same time will have between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 people. Visualize, if you please, the business activity and industrial development that will be necessitated to take care of the necessities of this increased population in this short time. So, justly, it is worth in those three cities just what it will be worth in any other cities of the same population. —Peter O. Knight, in New York Evening Post.

THE PRESENT SEASON—and the Florida season now carries from about the early part of December until well into May or June—will bring an amazing tale of progress in Florida. Already the current is running deep and strong. Increase in population, increase in the exploitation of natural resources, increase from day to day in the over-tourism of money through banks increase in bank deposits, in week-ly clearances, in the movement of freight by rail, by boat and truck transportation, increase also in the enthusiasm of a wealthy nation that sees its winter playground from day to day more attractive, from day to day more worth while, will tell a story of farflung and attractive growth such as we have not seen before. —August Hecksher in New York Evening Post.

"Now then, children," said the Sunday School teacher in her best Sunday School teacher's manner, the lesson for today is about the Prophet Elisha. Can any little boy or little girl here tell us anything about the Prophet Elisha?"
"Me," answered a ten-year-old urchin holding up his hand. "I can tell about him."
"Very well then, Eddie," answered the teacher. "Now then, all the rest of you be nice and quiet while Eddie here, tells us about the Prophet Elisha."
"Well," said Eddie, "Elisha was an old bald-headed preacher. One day he was goin' along the big road and he came past where some children were playin' in the sand, and they laughed at him and poked fun at him and called him names and holler'd, 'Oh look at that old bald-headed man.' That made Elisha hoppin' mad and he stopped and turned around and shook his fist at 'em and he said: 'Don't you kids make fun of me any more! If you do I'll call some bears out of them woods yonder and they'll shore eat you up.'"
"And they did and he did and the bears did."

As Brisbane Sees It

Another investigation.
Ask England.
In Far India.
Schwarz on War.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE
Copyright 1925, by Star Co.

A NEW "aviation investigation" is ordered in congress. It will be known although might find out some little "aviation" to be investigated.

Perhaps congress will find out why it is that we haven't any aviation, but those that control aviation do nothing about it, and among other things, send a Shenandoah, as a political advertisement, to be destroyed in a middle west thunderstorm, against the protection of the Shenandoah's commander, once if he killed.

CONGRESS IS puzzled by surplus farm products production. Some reckless bolshevik, or at least socialist, suggests that the government might interest itself in helping farmers market their surplus abroad.

Charles Williams, who ought to know something about controlling surplus products, says "no, that problem should be left to farmers, without government help." Two months old baby might be left to put on an eagle as the native's "mommy's help." The farmers would be as well able to deal with foreign governments, under our constitution, or with foreign products, as a baby would be to deal with its own nourishment and clothing.

TO LEARN how farmers can be helped, and surplus products sold at a profit, might be a good idea what the British do with their surplus rubber products. That is a rubber farm surplus. And you notice that they manage to sell it to the United States at about a dollar a pound, whereas it could be sold profitably at 30 cents a pound. A government that wants to do a thing can do it.

OUR GOVERNMENT is so afraid of doing something "socialistic" that it doesn't do anything except let the farmer shift for himself.

The United States government has all it can do to take care of railroads and other really big financial organizations.

MOTHER NATURE supplies the human race with infinite variety. In Venice, there is skating on the canals, gondoliers are taking a rest.

Rome is sweltering in unusual heat. And on far off "India's coral strands" the natives are hurrying back to wicker, magic, etc., to drive away the evil spirit, at present causing an eclipse of the sun. All of earth's inhabitants, Christians included, once acted in an eclipse as the natives in India do now. So let us not mock them in our new found science.

C. M. SCHWAB, WHO builds "skyscrapers, automobiles, and other things," says: "There never was a war that did not commence with selfish trade motives at the bottom of it."
He adds, there will never be another great war like the last.

Never is a big word. Mr. Schwarz knows that his description of war applies to relatively modern war.

When Alexander took his thirty thousand Macedonians, long inches, and his "swage formations" now used in college football, and went against Persia's millions of men, and long rows of fighting elephants, he had no selfish trade motives in his mind.

Taught by Aristotle that ambition is the great thing, he went to make himself greater than his father Philip. About all he did in the way of trade was to collect specimens for Aristotle's natural history studies, and ship them back to Athens.

He was a grateful pupil, as an event with a good teacher should be.

ANY SOUTHERN state joining the hue and cry in favor of the world court should think this over. One of the first names taken up by that world court would be the question of collecting cash for bonds sold in Europe by the Confederate states during the civil war.

EUROPE SAYS "if you ask us to pay what you lent us in our war you ought to make your states pay for the bonds that we bought in good faith in your civil war."

Any southern congressman voting for the world court will vote for a world court that will try to collect those southern bonds.

Can anybody mention any important question that our own courts can't settle that we would submit to a foreign court? Mexico says defiantly to this huge country: "In matters affecting Mexico you must come to the courts of Mexico." Why does the United States need foreign help? Washington did not need it. He did not have 15,000,000 people back of him, or 5,000,000 either.

THE PRINCIPAL SUFFERER

INLAND SHIP ROUTES
MELBOURNE TIMES

For years the East Coast Chamber of Commerce has made efforts to bring to the attention of the people the advantages to be enjoyed by the opening again of the East Coast Canal to navigation. Now comes the railroad embargo bringing inconvenience to thousands of citizens and holding up building construction throughout the State; and the thought of the people and investors is turning to the matches system of waterways in Florida, when proper attention is given in the way of development. No other state in the Union is so well favored for nature for a continuous inland waterway system. Each county in Florida has ocean, lake or river frontage, which is now or can be easily made navigable. In what is known as the peninsular end of South Florida streams flow east, west, north and south—their headwaters so close they give constant alluring invitation to man to connect them and create a waterway, not only for transportation, but a route for pleasure yachts unexcelled for scenic beauty. Much work has already been done toward this end, for instance, the branches of the St. Johns River are navigable—one to Sanford and Lake Monroe thru Lake George, the other thru beautiful Oklawaha to the chain of lakes on whose shores are the thriving cities of Eustis, Leesburg, Mt. Dora. The connecting canals between these points are the result of unselfish effort on the part of these cities which recognized the great advantages to be gained by water connection. Lake Apopka, the second largest lake in the State, has only a short thirty miles from a string of lakes in the Kissimmee district which are connected by canals and navigable for steamers of medium draft.

The distance is short to the shores of Lake Okechobee, the largest body of fresh water lying in any one state in the Union. The various canals leading from this lake were originally intended for drainage only, but later engineers saw the wisdom of planning and working for water transportation as well.

The possibility of increasing the attractiveness of Florida to tourists who wish to do Florida by boat, as well as the inestimable advantages to every community from a commercial transportation standpoint will not be overlooked much longer by the developers of Florida. Those who have enjoyed the incomparable beauty of Florida's crystal lakes and dimpling rivers, from whose sloping shores rise rows on rows of orange and grapefruit groves—their golden harvest awaiting better and cheaper transportation, know that a trip on these sunny seas can not be equalled.

Those who are confident that within a few years we shall have in Florida the greatest state of them all, include in their vision Florida's Greatest waterways system.

FREE BRIDGES
DELAND NEWS

"Make it a free bridge!" cries the Sanford Herald in reference to the Monroe bridge over the St. Johns river on state road No. 3 leading into Sanford. From the east coast of Volusia county in taking these bridges over the hands of private individuals and companies who operated them for profit. Of course it was not possible for the county to immediately operate the bridges toll free any more than it was possible or profitable for individuals to do so. But at the very outset tolls charged at the Crow's Bluff bridge and the Monroe bridge were reduced 50 per cent when the commissioners negotiated a deal for their purchase.

Even reduced tolls have brought an income to the county that will soon pay the purchase price of the structures, and then toll bridges in Volusia county will be a thing of the past.

The Sanford Herald states that the Volusia commissioners have suggested that Seminole county collaborate with this county in the operation of the Monroe bridge after it is paid out. This the sentiment in Seminole county does not favor.

In the case of the Crow's Bluff bridge, the structure is a connecting link of state road No. 3, over the St. Johns, and it seems just that the state highway department should maintain this structure as contended by residents of Seminole county.

When the bridge becomes free of toll there will be no income, but the maintenance cost—the cost of repairs, for the wages of the operators, of the draws will continue as in the past. If the state road department will not pay this cost and it must be borne by the county, it would seem that while the Monroe bridge was purchased by Volusia county, it should pay a portion of the maintenance cost, as it receives the benefits of the bridge.

Other bridges in Volusia county's east coast, of course, being county property must be maintained after they become toll free at the expense of the taxpayers of the county.

INFLATED CREDIT
TAMPA TIMES

The annual report of the secretary of the treasury tells the public that "most of the factors underlying the present business situation are apparently sound and warrant optimism for the future."

But this assurance is coupled with a warning.

Secretary Mellon refers rather doubtfully to the "tendency for the consuming public to pay every conceivable commodity on time and hopes that the speculative tendency in real estate may not proceed to the point of undermining the spirit of caution in business."

That is, he thinks the first particularly deserves attention.

Credit is a mighty valuable and useful institution—so much so that it is a dangerous thing to abuse. It is probably better, on the whole, to do business on a credit basis than on a cash basis, because so much more business can be done that way—more goods made and sold and more people kept profitably busy. But there are limits to the usefulness of credit.

Over-inflation of credit among customers generally, in retail buying as well as in business operations, may make very good lines for a while—then again, it might end suddenly in bad times, with everybody in the hole.

MRS. DE LESLEY HILL IS HONORED AT BRIDGE PARTY SATURDAY NOON

The second of a series of lovely bridge parties, which are being given by Mrs. Ernest Krupp and Mrs. Deane Turner, honoring Mrs. De Lesley Hill of Orlando, a recent bride, was that of Saturday afternoon. There were 10 tables of players.

Green and gold, the colors chosen for this affair, were effectively carried out with chrysanthemums, and asparagus ferns.

In the dining room, violets, roses and anemones were used in charming profusion, forming a colorful setting for the delightful party.

Greeting the guests upon arrival, was Miss Martha Fox, who then introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. Ernest Krupp, Mrs. De Lesley Hill, Mrs. Deane Turner and Mrs. Robert John Holly, Jr.

Tallies dealt in yellow and pink roses, were given out by Mrs. H. J. Holly, Jr. and the guests were shown to their places by Mrs. H. R. Deas and Miss Edna Schweikart.

The hours passed all too quickly in the spirited game of bridge and when scores were counted it was found that Mrs. T. L. Dumas was holder of top score, and was awarded a sea green handled sand-wich tray. The second high prize, a pair of metal curtain tie backs, fell to the lot of Miss Edna Schweikart, while Mrs. E. A. Douglas was the winner of the consolation, it being a pottery vase in the form of a parrot. Mrs. Hill was given a pair of dainty guest.

Following the awarding of the Music Department Is To Present Program On Tuesday Afternoon

The Music Department of the Sanford Woman's Club is most fortunate in securing Mrs. Abel Amheart Coult of Jacksonville for the program on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Coult is well known both in Jacksonville and throughout the state as a musician of merit.

She has been an active member of the Florida Federation of Women's Club, and is now serving as state chairman of National Music Week. For many years she has been an active member of the Jacksonville Friday Morning musical, having served as president of that organization for two years.

Mrs. Coult received her musical education at Peabody Conservatory of Music at Baltimore, Md., also studied with George F. Boyle, a well known teacher and composer. Her harmony studies were under Gustave Fritke, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

Assisting Mrs. Coult will be Mrs. Emma Abbott Lyman of Altamonte Springs, whose sweet voice is always welcomed with delight by her many admirers here and throughout the state. Mrs. Lyman needs no introduction to Sanford audiences, having sung here on all important occasions for several years.

The program will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock, and is open to all club members, music lovers and their friends. The usual small sum will be charged.

The luncheon are open to all members of other departments and their house guests. Those who recall the delightful Welfare Department luncheons of last year will look forward to this one. At the meeting several affairs of importance will come under discussion and since every activity of the Welfare Department has its direct relation to the life of the community, there will be interest for every visitor.

The Social Department annual dance, that is dancing classes under the direction of the Doshman School of Dancing of Jacksonville, will begin on Tuesday, at the clubhouse. The classes will begin on Tuesday of this week, under the instruction of club members. Those desiring to enroll for these classes are asked to leave their names with the maid at the club or to write them on the pad that will be placed for the purpose in the office to the right of the stage.

Expression Class To Give Recital At High School On Wednesday

On Wednesday evening the expression class of Miss Margaret Mclae will present an expression recital, at the Sanford High School Auditorium. The following program will be rendered:

"Which One Was Kept"—Louise Colpepper.

"The Runaway Boy"—Nora Pow.

"The Sugar Plum Tree"—Blanche Cunningham.

"O, Spring and Its Longings"—Caroline Biggers.

"The Quarrel"—Laura MacBrown.

"Where's Mama"—Eloise Winn.

"At Aunt's House"—Katherine Collins.

Piano Duet—"Rose Petals" (Paul Lawson), Dorothy Marshall and Elizabeth Methvin.

"The Moo Cow Moo"—Jane Keely.

On Wednesday the Welfare Department will give its first luncheon meeting of the year. This meet-

Woman's Club Column

This promises to be an unusually pleasant week in club activities. The parliamentary law classes are continuing for the present on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The attendance is excellent, and the spirited interest shown in the discussion is the best evidence of those who are enjoying the instruction of Mrs. Gibbs.

On Tuesday afternoon, the Music Department will present its joint recital. Mrs. Abel Amheart Coult of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Emma Abbott Lyman of Altamonte Springs, Mrs. Coult is a pianist of ability and a woman of splendid standing in musical circles in Jacksonville, while Mrs. Lyman's lovely voice is well known here.

On Wednesday the Welfare Department will give its first luncheon meeting of the year. This meet-spent the day in Sanford on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Deane Turner, Mrs. Noble and Mrs. B. F. Whitner are among those from Sanford motoring to St. Petersburg on Tuesday where they will attend the convocation of the Episcopal Churches of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Small of Miami are spending a few days here enroute to their home from Pennsylvania where they have spent the past two months. Mrs. Small will be remembered here as Mrs. Eva Herndon.

Mrs. Carrie Marlowe left Sunday afternoon for Jacksonville where she spent the night with friends, joining the party from Sanford on Monday for New Orleans where they will attend the convention of realtors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ferran and daughter, Miss Margaret Ferran, Estis, were the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher on Sunday. Miss Margaret Ferran sang Sunday morning at the Presbyterian Church.

Bithlo

The Vigorous Heart of a Growing Commonwealth

Its Tradition

Many years ago when the courage of that famous railroad pioneer, Henry M. Flagler, penetrated the wilderness of Eastern Florida, there were no roads or cities to guide his surveyors and then prospective town sites were nothing more than a mark on the map to be given some name. It was the suggestion of Mrs. Flagler that a group of cities on the Okeechobee Division be given Indian names, and among them one point in Eastern Orange County, she called "Bithlo." In the dialect of the Florida Indians we understand Bithlo means "the lookout." Hence, "the City with a Vision."

Its Future

Since the beginnings of history a town has always grown at the intersection of two arteries of commerce. This economic significance has always been the most potent factor in permanent land values. There are rare exceptions where artists have created communities that have survived, based solely upon political or scenic inspiration. The skill of the landscape architect may be likened to that of the sculptor who creates beauty and value out of mere clay. Bithlo has the transportation facilities to insure commercial value and has now employed one of the country's best known landscape architects to bring out to the fullest extent its natural beauties.

The Facts

Bithlo heretofore has been little more than a name, but now all things are heading towards its development of permanent values and real prosperity. It is destined to be a center of commercial activity and charming homes. The Cheney Highway passes through it and will carry hundreds of thousands of automobiles to its door. The Florida East Coast Railroad is now building beyond Okeechobee City to Miami and announces that the road through Bithlo is being made a main line.

The companies interested in the development of Bithlo have engaged the firm of Wayne Styles & John Van Kleeck to lay out one of the State's finest country clubs and golf courses and to replan the northern part of the town with delightful little lakes and public parks. They have also retained Mr. Harold Field Kellogg, an architect of national reputation, to design the various municipal and semi-public buildings so as to assure the citizens of Bithlo all the charm and beauty the best talent can produce.

Eastern Orange County values are advancing at an unheard of rate. They are going far higher. This means that the investors and builders of Bithlo will participate in the tremendous prosperity that is coming to this rich section of Florida.

Bithlo already has

Over 5 miles of paved streets, including
2 miles of the wonderful Cheney Highway.
Florida East Coast R. R. Station—nearest to Orlando.
A high elevation and delightful climate.
Numerous small lakes.

Bithlo is to have

A new county school.
A new railroad station.
A municipal park system.
Ornamental entrance arcade.
A community church building.

A fine country club and golf course.
A municipal water system.
Electric lights.

A 125 foot lookout tower with a bird's eye view over 100 square miles of Florida.

AT'S Fancy Poultry Exhibit To Be Attractive Feature Of Volusia County Fair

DELAND, Jan. 18.—The Gold Medal Poultry Show of the Volusia County Fair is assuming such proportions that it will be truly a great exhibition in itself. The additional 12,000 square feet of space has long since been taken up, and the concrete water fowl pool is now just about complete.

The poultry show has attracted the attention of such fanciers as those mentioned below:

F. De Busk, of Saltville, Md., will have an exhibit of his famous strain of Black Langhans; F. A. Bistine, of Longwood, Fla., will bring out a few pens of Silver Laced Wyandottes which carried many Firsts at the Madison Square Poultry Show; E. J. Gorman, of Keams, Va., and Apopka, Fla., has applied for space to house 400 birds, among them some very rare fowl; Claude Varney of Mt. Dora, Fla., will have an extensive exhibit of rare pheasants and some specimens of Bleeding Heart Pigeons of which there are no others in this country except at the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens.

J. P. Entenza, ex-President of the Jacksonville Poultry Association will have an exhibit of Rhode Island Reds. The poultrymen of the country are betraying active interest in this, Florida's greatest Poultry Show.

Contrary to expectations, taking into consideration the great difficulty experienced in handling freight and express everything required for the successful conduct of this, the South's greatest County Fair, is being delivered with great promptness.

The Johnny Jones Show will be moved into Deland on Sunday preceding the Fair, and those youngsters and oldsters who like to see the circus come in and see by notified to be on hand bright and early and see the elephants shift the heavy vans from the flat cars to the Fair Grounds. There will be other things to see, of course, but that will be telling.

SEES BIG OUTLET BY MAKING CORN SUGAR FOR TABLE

Mid-West Farmers Have New Way Out Dilemma Caused Market When Extra Heavy Crop Come During Season

DESS MOINS, Iowa, Jan. 18.—(AP)—An effective way out of the corn belt farmers' recurring dilemma of big crops with low prices is development of corn sugar, in the opinion of many financial and agricultural leaders of Iowa.

The only legislative action sought would be a minor change in the pure food and drug law, removing the present discrimination against corn sugar, which classifies it as an adulterant. The principal advantage, exponents point out, is the corn sugar would not seriously compete with any other American product, but would create profitable employment not only for the farmer but for a large number of American workmen.

Rep. Cyrenus Cole and Senator A. B. Cummins have prepared amendments to the food and drug law which would include in the definition of sugar permissible in preserved foods the word "dextrose" (corn sugar) in addition to the present word "sucrose" (cane or beet sugar). At present, products prepared with corn sugar must state that on the label.

Rep. Cole refers to the report of government chemists that corn sugar is more healthful than cane or beet sugar because it is identical with "blood sugar," and does not need to be changed by the stomach in digestion.

The legal definition of sugar only as sucrose was adopted before the commercial development of corn sugar, although the process for making sugar from corn starch was discovered over a century ago by a Russian chemist.

The present commercial process for production of corn sugar utilizes the entire grain, developing from a bushel of corn the following commodities:

Sugar	25 lbs.
Corn oil	1 1/2 lbs.
Molasses	15 lbs.
Gluten stock food and oil meal	14 1/2 lbs.

"If we buy only one-fourth of our present foreign importations of corn sugar from ourselves," says Rep. Cole, "we will create a market for a hundred million bushels of corn."

The youngest author on record is Winifred Sackville Stoner. At the age of three she wrote a poem which has lately been set to music. At five she wrote a book which was published in Europe, China and Japan.

Hundreds Of Books In Business Library Started At Boston

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Organization of the Business Historical Society, Inc., as a step in an international movement to obtain recognition for business as a profession and to develop it as a science, was announced today by Charles H. Taylor of the Boston Globe, president of the organization.

Harvard University's business library will be utilized to hold the collections of business records, historical and other data that the society has gathered. After a consolidation of other similar collections it is estimated 400,000 bound volumes and nearly a million items of business material will be deposited in a new building left to the Harvard library by the George F. Baker Foundation.

In addition to making its library the most complete of the kind, the society's purposes include the stimulation of investigations and studies of the evolution of finance, commerce and industry; to encourage others, as well as to engage actively itself in the collection of records, accounts, maps and other material relating to business; to promote a better understanding of the essential unity of business activity and its inseparable relation to mankind as an international, intersection and interclass binding force.

Hollywood To Have New Dictionary Containing All Movie Screen Slang

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Because of the increasing use of slang, "vocabulary" in motion picture work and the fact that the uninitiated find it almost impossible to understand directions, a dictionary of screen slang is being prepared. Allan Dwan, producer and director with Famous Players-Lasky, is doing most of the work on this "Hollywood Edition" of the English Dictionary. To date he has collected upwards of 400 words of mystical meaning to the intelligentsia.

For instance, when a director yells: "Hey! you Angels! Shift these an' center to the right a bit. This flatlight baby can't stand 'em that way!" a dictionary is needed to discover the meaning. The "Angels" are the electricians operating the lights from runways far up above the "chickens" are a type of light, and the "flatlight baby" is an actor whose face is so lined that he can be photographed to advantage only with a flat light.

An order to "shake 'em" means for the electrician to turn the lights quickly off and on again, to steady their glow, so that the "heavy" or villain can be "shot." "Lens Louie" and "Scene Hog" are the gentle names applied to an actor who is always forcing his face into the camera lens while the make-up man who applies false beards to the unadorned faces of male stars is known as a "crepe hanger."

These are among other definitions:

"Dailies—The result of a day's filming which the director, cameraman and perhaps the leading players in a company look at in the projection room after work at night. The company always views the preceding day's work.

"Hot points!—The cry sounded by a cameraman carrying a camera with the sharp tripod points forward, through a crowd."

"Muff—A beard."

"Blood Pock at—Artificial wounds made so as to permit blood to drip forth."

Monday evening the following made short speeches: T. C. Calloway, of Atlanta; J. N. Moorehead of California; Bert Beddle, Canton, Ohio; Arthur E. Ranney and John W. Cain, of Akron, Ohio; D. E. Manasco, Longwood; Walter D. Magruder, Canton, Ohio; Walter B. Ballard, Altamonte, and L. G. Prime, Orlando.

Dinner was served by the hotel management, dancing was enjoyed 'till a late hour and music was furnished throughout the evening by Mr. Fiddler, pianist; Mr. Kenyon, violinist, and Hendrick Libby, cornetist.

Highway Education Board Offers $6,500 In Prizes For Best Essay On Safety

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Planning the solution of the traffic problem a generation ahead is the policy of the Highway Education Board, according to a statement here announcing the fifth national safety campaign open to all elementary schools of the country.

The campaign includes an essay contest for pupils and a lesson contest in which teachers in elementary schools are to compete. In these contests $6,500 is given for the best essays and the best lessons, the prizes the gifts of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which co-operates with the board in its highway safety campaign. The contests close Feb. 24 of this year.

In addition engraved certificates of merit will be given those schools in each state which comply with certain requirements of the highway organization in the teaching of safety education. These certificates bear the signatures of Dr. J. T. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, Department of the Interior, and of the State Superintendent of Schools or the principal school official. Dr. Tigert also is chairman of the Highway Education Board.

The contest is being announced now to the schools of the country. Pupils are requested to write essays of 500 words in length on the subject "My School's Share in Highway Safety." Four hundred thirty-eight medals and as many cash prizes will be given for the best essays in the several states, while three national awards will be given for the premier essays that are written by the pupils of the fifth, six, seventh and eighth grades in school. The first national prize consists of a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The remaining pupils being under the care of board officials.

Gold Medal Offered
In each state a gold medal and a check for $100.00 will be given for the best essay, and a silver medal and a ten dollar check for the second best paper. The number of other prizes, each consisting of a bronze medal and five dollars, varies somewhat in proportion to the elementary school enrollment. New York State, for example, receives twenty-seven state prizes, while the number for Alabama is nine, for California 13, Texas 19, Illinois 20, and other states in proportion.

Movement For New Little Theater In Movie World Starts

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—That a motion picture institution similar to the little theatres of the legitimate stage, in which the director may follow his artistic ambitions without restraints, some day will come into existence, is the belief of Herbert Brenon, who directed the filming of Barrie's "Peter Pan" and "A Kiss for Cinderella." The plan, he thinks, will be put in operation by one of several wealthy producers interested in real development of the movies.

"It will mark the time when the director will not temper artistic desires with commercial knowledge," Brenon declares. "Even now the reins lead not so much from the producer's pocketbook as from the public's taste."

"A film to be a financial success must please the average man and woman. This taste naturally has its effect on the artistic development of the motion picture. The public's appreciation has shown a remarkable improvement in recent years, and we must do our part in making better pictures."

The busiest man in a studio is the director. He is the greatest responsibility, and to him generally comes the least credit as far as the public is concerned.

Before Brenon asks any of his cast to play a scene, he works it chiefly for the schools, it enlists the aid of automobile clubs, women's clubs, civic bodies, public officials, and to a very general degree, the support of teachers, principals and superintendents of schools. Indeed, Board officials assert that no single group is doing more in highway safety than the schools, through the medium of these contests.

BERLIN LETTER

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Frank A. Munsey's bequest of many millions—estimated at between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000—to the Metropolitan Museum of Art suggests a fresh menace to European art centers, in the opinion of German art critics.

These critics fear that the New York institution will be in a position now to gobble up Europe's choicest art treasures unless rigid export embargoes are interposed.

"Once more we are confronted by the American menace against which we were warned by the veteran curator, Wilhelm von Bode, many years ago when the late J. Pierpont Morgan was on the scene," is the lament of Lothar Brieder, the well known critic. He demands tightening of the restrictions on exportation of art works and appeals to the governments of private collectors to remain steadfast in the face of tempting offers from the United States.

out on the set, acting all the roles himself just to see if what he has evolved in the way of action feels natural in the playing. Many times he goes through the parts to show the players how he wants them acted.

A quaint peasant cottage at Elselben, in which Martin Luther was born in 1483, has been transferred by the city to the Evangelical church. The cottage is in a remarkable state of preservation. Though owned by the city of Elselben, the Prussian government has been appropriating funds for its upkeep since 1817. The church now assumes the responsibility of keeping the property. The city council has voted to add the word "Lutherstadt" to the name "Elselben."

Experienced generals in the Indian army of 1600 reckoned one good elephant equal to a regiment of 500 cavalry, or if properly supported by matchlocks, at double that number.

The United States Treasury estimates that more than $400,000,000 is hoarded in stockings, old sugar bowls, teapots, and old-fashioned cupboards, or otherwise kept out of circulation in the United States.

When horses were first introduced into Polynesia they frightened the natives, but they are now called "maas-hoo-fennis," meaning "a pig which runs quickly over the ground."

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—One thing this season's White House social functions have proven is that the plume is far from obsolete. That is to say, it's still affected by an overwhelming majority of the president's civilian callers. Of course the army and navy men wear their uniform headgear. With the exceptions the members of the diplomatic corps are uniformed, too, mostly with cocked hats and some with waving plumes like an old-fashioned hearse. But for ordinary people—ordinary people of consequence, not the hot polio, who attend the public receptions—the stovepipe is the rule among all who care a cent for appearances. Speaking of hats, St. George Tucker of Virginia had his blown off a few days ago, going down Pennsylvania avenue, in it was a speech Tucker had prepared, denouncing the appropriation of money to enable prohibition agents to buy liquor. The wind broadcast that speech all over northwest Washington. Right then Tucker delivered a speech all right, but it was impromptu. Wayne B. Wheeler grinned fiendishly when he heard about it. Col. Cheney, chief military aide at the White House, used to be one of the principal ornaments at all functions there. Now there's a scandal about him. All during the New Year's reception one of the front buttons on his full dress uniform coat was unbuttoned. Nobody noticed it at the time, but a photograph of him standing in the receiving line along side the Coolidges, subsequently revealed it. The president has decided against a court-martial, but like Meyer can be the same again to Sherwood Cheney.

REALTY BOARD IS DISCLAIMING ANY INTENDED HARM

Secretary Of Orlando Board Makes Statement Saying The Decision In "Realtor Case" Was Misconstrued

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—J. R. Masek, secretary of the Orlando Realty Board, who recently issued a statement denying that L. S. Hamilton, a local real estate dealer, was a "realtor," today stated it was not his intention to refer to Mr. Hamilton as a "shyster." He says that he only used the term in explaining the purpose of the local and national real estate boards' association.

The secretary stated that it was not his purpose to cast any reflection on Mr. Hamilton but that press reports had referred to Mr. Hamilton as a "realtor" and he only wished to correct that impression.

Mr. Hamilton was found guilty of "conduct unbecoming a real estate dealer" for collecting a fee from both the buyer and seller in which the seller agreed that he should have all above the listed price of the property and the buyer agreed to pay the price asked by Mr. Hamilton.

Judge Victor A. Hutchins in Orange county court ruled that while Hamilton had practiced no fraud and had harmed no one he had technically violated the law for not informing all parties of the beginning of the deal of the collection of two fees. The license of Mr. Hamilton was suspended for a period of sixty days but he instructed his lawyers to appeal the case and is operating pending the appeal.

College Editor Says Girls Ought To Have Own Smoking Supplies

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—"It's all right for co-eds to smoke, but they ought to provide their own supplies."

This quotation of Fred Handzschy, editor of the Circle, a student publication, in an editorial on smoking printed by the Daily Maroon, another student publication of the University of Chicago, campus leaders were interviewed on the question.

Co-eds smoke cigarettes with a gusto that is alarming, avers the editor of the daily Maroon. And when they do, they infringe on man's hitherto exclusive vice, forgetting that "civilization rests upon their small shoulders."

One member of the undergraduate council called the habit "filthy." Another hoped that none smoked "to fake collegiate atmosphere."

Enjoy Eating

If your blood is pure~ You like to eat

REMEMBER how you used to come in from play hungry as a bear? But you could hardly wait until Dad filled your plate!

And didn't everything taste good? Seemed like you never would get enough. Didn't you feel good those days. Yes, they were the red blood days.

Why isn't your appetite like that now? Why don't you like to eat just the same as you did in those days? Here's the reason—your system is simply starving for the lack of rich, red blood! You've lost your appetite because you've lost your red blood power. No red blood nourishment for the tissues of your body.

Build up your blood to where it is pure and red and rich and watch that appetite come back! S. S. S. is the way to do it! S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions!

You'll get hungry and you'll enjoy eating when S. S. S. helps Nature build pure red cells in that weak blood of yours. And you'll look better—your skin will be clear and unblemished—your flesh will become firm and solid—strength and power will come to your flabby muscles—you'll be your self again.

Mexicans Reported Interested In The Growing Of Bulbs

DELAND, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Professor Juan Balme, of Centro Technico de Agricultura de Mexico, located in Mexico City, has become interested in Volusia county's bulb growing industry and has written for information regarding the subject, according to the local chamber of commerce. He has also requested information on other lines of growing in this county, such as grapes, ferns, blackberries and fruits.

Officials of the chamber of commerce feel that the embargo on imported bulbs that became effective January 1 under order of the United States Department of Commerce, will aid the county and state in the development of the bulb industry.

LIGHT MEASURES DISTANCE

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A beam of light of 10,000,000 candle power measures distances of scores of miles with errors of only a few inches, already it has spanned the 160 miles between France and Corsica.
