Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

Just Plain Mutt
Lyric, Wednesday.
Leo, the lion in "Sunshine Dad," has a near rival in De Wolf Hopper's third Triangle vehicle, "Mr. Goode, the Samaritan." It is just a nameless, little mongrel dog that was rescued from the Los Angeles pound because he looked so disreputable enough to be seen in the company of the ragamuffin girl played by

De Wolf Hopper and Fay Tincher in Triangle Feature, "Mr. Goode, the Samaritan." At the Lyric Wednesday

Fay Tincher. No part was written for him, no rehearsals were given him; he was taught no tricks of make up or stage business. He just went on unannounced and unheralded and he nearly stole a dozen scenes from picked company of players, including Hopper himself. So, of course he was made much of and given a special dinner of lamb chops on the well appointed dinner table of the mansion in which Mr. Hopper is supposed to reside. His reward was duly recorded in a close up during the action.

Dustin Farnum at the Star Friday
This is an actual scene in "The Parson of Panamint" that comes to the Star Friday. A church is in flames. Through a perfect holocaust of fire the figure of the parson appears high up at the belfry window. Slowly he lowers the struggling panic stricken deacon to safety. Meanwhile the heat of the burn; structure drives the rescuer to the very edge of the window and then all hope is lost—the rope has burned through just below the window ledge. So perfect is the realism, that, as the parson driven by the imminent flames launches himself into space and lunges down, down, to the street beneath—the spectator is frozen with horror. This is but one of the thrills that permeate this live, rapidly progressing end entirely fascinating screen-drama produced by Pallas Pictures for the Paramount Program.

New Triangle Warner Play Hits at an Evil of Society

Marriage for title Assailed in the story of "The Market of Vain Desire." At Lyric Friday.

Marriage to obtain a title; marriage that is mere marriage and sale; marriage without love, in which a girl gives herself to a man unworthy of her affection, merely to gratify selfish ambition and pride—what subject has been brought more prominently and painfully before the American public in the last few years than this?

The list of American girls of wealth who have sold themselves, or have been sold by scheming mothers, to foreign noblemen is a long and notorious one. A girl doomed to just such a fate, and saved only through the daring intervention of a fearless man is a character in the latest Triangle drama to offer H. B. Warner as star—"The Marriage of Vain Desire."

Clara Williams, Leading Lady in Triangle Feature, "The Market of Vain Desire." At the Lyric Friday.

Helen Badgley's mother wants her to marry Count Bernard d'Montaigne. The latter is a worthless specimen of humanity, with nothing save his title to recommend him to anyone's notice. He wants a slice of the Badgley millions and to get the beautiful young girl along with them is a prospect most pleasing to him. Helen's father is dominated by his wife. The girl herself has seen so little genuine affection in the set in which she moves that she doubts whether there is any such thing, and wearily accedes to her mother's plan.

But John Armstrong, a young clergyman who has come from a country pastorate to the city church attended by the Badgleys does not like the prospect at all. In the first place he sees the sordidness and wickedness of the marriage; in the second place he is in love with the girl himself. Asked by Badgley to announce the engagement of Helen, he instead preaches a vitriolic sermon denouncing the very sort of marriage which the girl contemplates.

A terrific sensation in the church follows. The girl, shocked into a realization of her folly breaks the engagement. The trustees, calling later on the young preacher to ask his resignation finds him laid low by a whack on the head from the infuriated "noblemen's" loaded cane. And the rest of the story is perhaps not so hard to imagine.

In Warner's supporting cast are Clara Williams as Helen and Charles Miller as the count. The story was written by C. Gardner Sullivan.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison at the Star Tonight

"The River of Romance" will undoubtedly prove the most popular photoplay that the two delightful stars, Harold Lockwood and May Allison have yet made for the Metro program. It is produced by the York Film Corporation and provides a wealth of adventure for these truly adventurous stars, with much bright, clean humor as well.

The Thousand Islands, in the St. Lawrence river, the beauty spot of North America, furnishes many glorious settings for this screen masterpiece which is unrivaled in its scenic beauty. The swiftly moving story is full of incidents that absolutely demand the daring of two such fearless players as Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison. Films by night in strange waters are followed by narrow escapes from drowning and sensational rescues. And through the fabric of beauty and adventure is woven the scarlet thread of a powerful and delightful love story.

In "The River of Romance," the hero, William Kissam Kellogg, heir to millions starts out to make some money on his own account with the aid of a decepting one cylinder motor boat. His patrons, ignorant of his identity call him "Sam." While matters are in this shape, to the regions of the St. Lawrence and the Thousand Islands, comes dainty Rosalind Chalmers, a society girl from New York.

She is delighted with "Sam," even though circumstances cause her to think he is a burglar. How she, an expert on engines comes to his rescue, when his one cylinder craft breaks down and saves him from the gunfire of his pursuers; how both narrowly escape drowning, and how he finally carries her away in true cave man style before divulging his identity, are some of the incidents which make of "The River of Romance" a story of breathless interest.

Alice Brady in "Miss Petticoats"
Miss Petticoats, a pretty young mill worker lives with her old grandfather—her mother had run away and married a French count, neglected and abused by him, had returned to her broken hearted old father, shortly after the birth of Miss Petticoats. Reared in poverty, her parentage, the subject of gossip in the village, Miss Petticoats' life was an unhappy one. One day she stopped a runaway, saving the life of wealthy Mrs. Copeland, who rewarded her by making her her secretary.

Guy Hamilton, Mrs. Copeland's spoiled nephew, resented Miss Petticoats' entrance into the home, fearing she might share inheritance. Later he is attracted to her and takes her around. Mrs. Worth Courtleigh, of very jealous disposition spreads rumors concerning Miss Petticoats' parentage, resulting in the latter being snubbed by the women of the village. The old grandfather learning of this suffers a shock and dies. Harding, a young minister bitterly resents the slurs cast upon her, and preaches a sermon which drives Guy and Mrs.

Worth Courtleigh out of the city. He becomes the protector of Miss Petticoats and unites her interest in welfare work. Mrs. Worth Courtleigh dies, confessing her part in ruining Miss Petticoats and demoralizing Guy. Guy tries to renew friendship with Miss Petticoats, but is scorned. The minister tells of his love, which is accepted by Miss Petticoats.

"Miss Petticoats" is a five part motion picture production made by the World Film Corporation with Alice Brady in the title role, supported by an all-star cast, headed by Arthur Ashley, Alec B. Francis and John Hines, which will be the attraction at the Star Theatre on Wednesday.

Vivian Martin in "The Little Mademoiselle"

It doesn't take such a vivid imagination to grasp the generalities of the situation which confronts a young French girl suddenly settled down in a New England village, when the girl speaks no English and the villagers speak nine but their own language. But, to grasp the details and to realize the scores of both pathetic and humorous adventures that beset the girl before she finds some one who can understand her and who can make her understand, one must see the World Film Corporation's Feature in which Miss Vivian Martin is starred as Lili Breval in "The Little Mademoiselle."

"The Little Mademoiselle" will be shown at the Star Theatre on Thursday.

That Lili's rescuer is a young American man, true to type, only adds to the interest of the story, but the fact that he is as badly "broke" as she is when he rescues her adds more than humor. It furnishes the opportunity for some quaintly amusing situations such as a charming young actress as Miss Martin with her delicate bits of almost pathetic comedy and her pure, girlish characterization of that part of Lili carries the interesting story through to a finish that gives a final touch to a true to life tale of modern love and adventure.

"The Vagabond," Newest Chaplin "The Vagabond," third of the Chaplin Mutual comedies filmed under Charles Chaplin's $670,000 contract with the Mutual Film Corporation will be at the Lyric Theatre on Sept. 18th.

Considerable of the action of this production takes place in the open, these particular scenes having been filmed in an exceptionally beautiful woodland section some miles south of Los Angeles, Chaplin and his company of players, together with the others identified with the production having camped for more than a week on the location while the production was being filmed.

In order to obtain the proper atmosphere for the filming of the egypt scenes in "The Vagabond," a band of nomads on their annual pilgrimage to southern California, then camping near Los Angeles, were engaged by the Chaplin Mutual studio management along with their paraphernalia.

Chaplin in "The Vagabond," again returns to his famous make up which he discarded temporarily for the filming of "The Fireman," his preceding Mutual release.

Eric Campbell, the "heavy" of Chaplin Mutual releases; Edna Purviance, the comedian's leading woman; Leo White, Charlotte Mineau, Phyllis Allen and Lloyd Bacon, members of Chaplin's supporting company, all have important parts in "The Vagabond."

Always Wishing.
To be always wishing for something we cannot get is the worst possible way to spend time. All of us have blessings which are enough to make us happy if only we are so wise as to enjoy them instead of fretting for something more. Take the pleasures of today with a grateful heart, and never waste time in hoping you will have something better tomorrow.

Using Old Bottles.
A bottle may be cut off by wrapping a cord saturated in coal oil around it several times, then setting fire to the cord, and just when it has finished burning plunging the bottle into cold water and tapping the end you wish to break off. Oddly shaped or prettily colored bottles make good vases. The top of a large bottle having a small neck makes a good funnel. Large, round bottles make good jelly glasses.

Music and Children.
Music preserves in children that idealty which is one of the most precious possessions of childhood, and which we would fain keep in after-life; which loves flowers and animals, which sees the truth in fairy stories, which believes everything to be good and is alien to everything sinister, which sees the moon and stars, not as objects so many millions of miles from the earth, and parts of a great solar system, but as lanterns hung in the heavens.—Thomas Whitney Sorette in Atlantic.

The baseball "serious" will be wound up this week and then we can settle down to the real business of making enough money to buy grits and bacon for the next six months.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Brumley and interesting son, Willie are expected to leave Thursday for South Carolina, where they will enter Willie as a matriculate in the Bulley Military Academy for the coming year. Mr. and Mrs. Brumley expect to visit their old home at Charlotte, N.C., before they return to Sanford.

Miss Evelyn Hargraves of Waycross is spending some time with Miss Luca Chappell of Celery avenue. Miss Hargraves will be one of the teachers in the High School this year.

School time is here—the schools of Oviedo, Longwood, Lake Mary and Altamonte Springs opened yesterday morning. If conditions attending the opening of these schools may be taken as indications, we are justified in predicting for these schools one of the best school years, and one of the most progressive school systems and results of any year since the creation of the great county of Seminole.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON BOSS OF CINCY REDS

New Manager of Cincinnati Team.

Christy Mathewson has been appointed manager of the Reds to take the place of Charley Herzog, who goes to the New York Giants in exchange for the star right-handed twirler.

Cincinnati, in addition to getting Matty, also will land infielder McKechnie and outfielder Rousch, while the Giants will take outfielder Killifer from the Reds. This is one of the biggest deals to be made this year and strengthens New York's chances for the flag.

Seventeen Years in League. Christy Mathewson has been pitching in the National league for 17 years. He joined the New York Giants in 1900 and since that time has been rated as one of the game's greatest hurlers.

In that series he pitched three games without letting a runner score off him. That exhibition stamped him as one of the stars for the Philadelphia club had famous sluggers in Hartzel, Lord, Davis, Seybold, Murphy and Monte and Lave Cross.

Twirled Two No-Hit Games. Before this wonderful exhibition of pitching Mathewson proved that he possessed the ability and stuff by pitching two no-hit games, the only two credited to him in his 17 years of work with the New York club. He twirled his first no-hit game a year after he joined the McGraw staff. On July 15, 1901, he blanked the St. Louis Cardinals without a rap. His next performance of this kind was against the Chicago Cubs on June 13, 1905, and it was that year in which he won the world's title for McGraw by beating the American league champions.

After 1905 Mathewson was ranked as the leading pitcher of the major leagues.

Compared With Johnson. When Walter Johnson of the Washington club appeared on the scene with his brilliant twirling it was questioned whether Mathewson was his equal. Of course, American league partisans said not, but those who were impartial declared Matty was the king of them all. He was one of the best fielding pitchers as well as a fair hitter for a sluggish.

Matty was always a glutton for work and it is said that without him McGraw would not have won the championship he did. This is probably true for McGraw won the Nation-league in pitching for years, and especially in the seasons when the title went to the New York club.

Would Not Jump to Feds. Mathewson did not jump to the Federal league when it was organized, although he had flattering offers to leap. He has always been a man of his word and one of the finest characters in the game. He has always been a sportsman and has gained his reputation on his ability to do things. He has never sought publicity and is modest, although many were inclined to think differently.

His years of pitching are nearly over and he longs to be successful as a leader. He has been with McGraw for so many years that he understands his tactics and strategy to the letter and with a fairly good ball team ought to carry the Reds up in the race. He will probably do some of the flinging, although he has been bothered with a lame arm that has thrown him a bit out of gear.

BASEBALL NOTES

The home team continues to dig in.

Stallings still carries six outfielders, more than any other manager apparently needs.

It is said that Johnny Evers will not be with the Braves next year. Will the Cubs get him?

One reason for Joe Birmingham's failure at Toronto may have been too much newspaper management.

Bert Daniels of the Colonels, who broke his right leg in Kansas City, will not be able to play for two months.

Five defeats in a row is the limit for the Phillies and they announced that it won't happen again this season.

Cleveland critics accuse the Boston Red Sox pitchers of using the "bean ball" to drive the Indians away from the plate.

The Washington players are kicking about the White Sox diamond, which they say is the worst in any ball park in the big leagues.

Unlike most pitchers, Walter Johnson would have been a star ball player if he had been developed in either the infield or the outfield.

Frank Schulte, the "Last of the Cubs," the lone survivor of a fallen host, is playing a greater game today than he has in many seasons.

Tyrus Cobb of the Detroit Tigers is another baseball star who has decided not to mix golf with his regular business during the ball season.

Persons who are jealous of the success of the Clevelanders have started a story that Lee Fohl is using a sign-tipping bureau. There's nothing in it.

Tony Walsh has been doing great work on first base for Scranton and the Miners at last seem to have that position provided for after experimenting all season.

Johnny Dell has another job, or did have at last accounts. He caught on with Lawrence after his release by Bridgeport, and was sent to the outfield by Manager Burkett.

Manager Jennings evidently made no mistake when he supplanted Crawford with Hellman in Detroit's fight with the Athletics. Hellman is hitting at a .311 clip and is hitting splendidly.

MEYERS MAKES A HIT

Indian Catcher Doing Real Comeback With Brooklyn.

Not Only Has Chief Improved in Batting, but Work Behind Bat Has Been Revelation—Timely Hits Have Helped Win Games.

Chief Meyers has come into his own. Discarded by John McGraw as "through," looked upon by Polo Grounds fans as a once great catcher who had slipped back immeasurably, the chief has accomplished a wonderful comeback and is an idol in Brooklyn.

It is an admitted fact that a player, grown stale, will often stage a startling change in form when he dons the uniform of another team, and this is exactly what has happened in the case of John Tortes Meyers, the college-bred aborigine.

The chief has had a rather picturesque career. A graduate of Dartmouth, he took a three-year post-graduate course in baseball in the minor leagues and came to the Giants from St. Paul in 1908, costing the club $6,000. At Marlin in the spring of 1909 he jumped into the limelight as a long-distance hitter and was received by the New York fans with open arms. Personality, a quality in which so many players are lacking, stuck out all over the chief, and for six years he was one of the most popular players who ever wore a Giant uniform.

It was last year that Meyers gave the first indication that he was slipping, and there were few regrets on the part of the fans when the Indian was sent to Brooklyn and Bill Hariden was signed to take his place. In 110 games last year he hit the ball for an average of exactly .232, and it appeared that he was about ripe for the minors.

Then came the transformation, not only in his batting, but in his catching. Meyers loomed up in great form behind the bat when the Robins opened the present season, and he has maintained a steady pace ever since. The result is that he ranks second only to Uncle Robble in the affection of the fans across the bridge. He looks like a different man today, and his timely hits have broken up more than one game for the league leaders. Just now he is suffering from a bad cold, but it hasn't affected his playing to any noticeable extent.

WHY CANNOT HURLERS BUNT?

Miller Huggins Unable to Understand Reason for Twirlers' Failure to Advance Runners.

Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Nationals, is in the market for a course of instruction or some inducement that will make his pitchers good bunters. Huggins, who formerly led the league as a sacrifice hitter, cannot understand why the average pitcher pushes the ball hard enough to make an easy out or pops up a dinky fly when trying to advance a man.

When it was suggested that he offer a bonus, he smiled. "I've tried it," he said. "I've even called them out to special practice, but the pitchers won't get the knack."

Huggins believes this is due in great measure to the obsession fostered from the sand lots up through the minors to the big league that the pitcher is not supposed to hit.

BASEBALL GAME IS MENACED

President Hill of Western Association Issues Warning Against Betting on Contests.

President Hill of the Western association has sounded a warning against betting on baseball, especially on the games of the association. He does not believe the national game ever will become corrupted by gamblers as was racing. He declares the sport is being menaced seriously and urges everyone who loves it to assist in checking the evil. It gains much further headway.

PHILS ARE A POPULAR TEAM

Manager Pat Moran's Champions Are Liked Because of Their Clean Tactics on the Field.

There is no doubt that the Phillies are popular among the fans of the country as champions of the National league. They are also liked by rival crowds, because of their clean tactics. While they are aggressive at all times, and are always full of paprika, they never transgress the rules of diamond decency. Pat Moran will not tolerate umpire baiting. He figures that a team that isn't "riding" the umps all the time will come out best in the long run, and he is right.

No more serious-minded team was ever banded together than the present Phils. Where they used to be carefree and disposed to skylarking, the present club is entirely different.

There are more students on the team than in any one year in past history. On the road and in the hotel lobby, every play is thrashed out and analyzed. If mistakes are made, Pat Moran sees to it that the same mistake is not made twice.

Moran forgives physical errors, but he will not tolerate mental slips. Woe betide the tosser who pulls a "boner." He is certain to be lashed by the biting sarcasm of the down East Yankee. A rebuke by the manager is certain to be felt, but it does not linger. There isn't a man on the team that doesn't look up to Moran and cherish his advice. And all are giving 100 per cent of their skill to make him leader of a world's champion team.

Such a Record-Breaker. Strolling across a large estate, he came upon a man fishing. "What sort of fish do you catch here?" he said. "Mostly trout," replied the man. "How many have you caught?" "About ten or twelve, sir." "What is about the heaviest you have caught?" continued the gentleman. "Well, I don't know the weight, but the water sunk two or three feet when I pulled it out."

We have a good mind to run down Tampa way and get little Miss Annette Kellerman to teach us how to swim.—Macclenny Standard. You will have to lick Bob Holly first.—Kissimmee Gazette.

If a bank cashier could get the wages that a negro fireman shakes down each month there would be fewer of them pulled for speculation. Still, it's education that counts in this world—the great leaders of learning in all countries inform us.—Palm Beach Post.

E. A. Moreno, late of the Florida Grower expects to start a new fruit and farm journal at Winter Haven called the Florida Fruit World. Mr. Moreno knows as much about Florida and her crops as any man in the state and is a hustler for business therefore we predict that the Florida Fruit World will prove a winner. He has our best wishes for success.

Avery G. Powell, formerly of the Macclenny Standard has leased the Bradford County Times and will publish the same after October 1st.

Bradford was the scene of his early labors in the newspaper field. That he will make good is already assured, for Avery Powell is gifted in his chosen work. His old friends in Bradford should give him the glad hand and help him put that county on the map in big letters.

E. E. Naugle, the managing editor of the Kissimmee Gazette for the past two years has resigned from that position to accept a similar one with the St. Petersburg Times since Editor Straub has been sentenced to serve four years behind the bars (of the St. Petersburg postoffice). Well, Straub could not have found a better man than Naugle, even though he has no hair and we congratulate Straub and St. Petersburg upon their new acquisition in the newspaper line. Mr. Naugle is a newspaperman of wide experience in many states and for some time was managing editor of the Jacksonville Metropolis going from that paper to the Kissimmee Gazette. He is a live wire and a booster and this combination in the Sunshine City ought to get the bacon.

Every newspaper man in Florida will vote to have the half holiday on Saturday instead of Thursday. With the half holiday on Thursday, when everybody else is playing and having a good time, the newspaper man has to work the hardest. Most of the weekly papers are published either on Thursday or Friday.

Daytona included, Thursday afternoon during the summer time is a half holiday. But Saturday would be more satisfactory from a number of viewpoints. With Sunday following it would give employees of mercantile establishments time to get away from town and visit friends or relatives and still return in time to resume work on Monday morning.

A movement has been started in Jacksonville to make Saturday afternoon a half holiday in most Florida cities and towns.—Cocoa Star.

Building activity in Sanford during the present summer has surpassed any previous time in the history of the Celery city. There are now going on some changes in the business and other sections that will make a noticeable difference in the aspect of affairs. The addition to the grammar school and the construction of a new primary school building, the changes in the building for the Seminole bank, alterations and improvements in the cold storage plant, new stores and apartments and many new homes and dwellings for rental for permanent improvements that will go to make the growing population more comfortable and increase the possibilities of the city in accommodating the winter travel and winter visitors, Sanford is one of the prettiest of Florida's cities, and it is growing in importance every day.—Times-Union.

Uncle Joe Dixon has returned from his annual tour of the southwestern states made on foot and writes in the Lakeland Telegram that he was a sick man when he started but the beneficial effects of camping out in the "great open" has made a new man of him. We read his account with much interest, especially where he stated that he had been entirely rejuvenated in every part of his body except the growing of hair. That lets us out, Uncle Joe, and you need not invite us to accompany you on the trip next year. However, we are glad to see you back, you "owdshlous old kermudgeon" for we missed you greatly.

FLASHES FROM SANCTUMS

Most of the criticism of the President and congress for preventing a railroad strike by the only means available is either so maliciously partisan or so foolishly short sighted that it hardly merits serious consideration.

This is not the first time that extraordinary conditions have necessitated a resort of extraordinary measures, and that it has been necessary for the government to serve private interest in order to protect the public interest.

In the year 1907 the United States experienced one of the most disastrous panics in its history. Years were required to liquidate it.

In the midst of this panic President Roosevelt placed the resources of the United States treasury at the disposition of J. Pierpont Morgan and a coterie of New York bankers.

Some of these men were immediately responsible for the panic, in the sense that it began in their determination to crush Morgan. They did not intend to have a panic, but they loosed forces they were unable to control.

When the panic became a fact, however, there was no time to waste in fixing responsibility. The thing to do was stop it. The quickest way to stop it was to turn the treasury over to Mr. Morgan and his associates and let them re-establish the market. This was done.

In theory there could be no act of government more reprehensible morally, legally, politically than to put a group of Wall Street bankers into physical possession of the United States treasury. No sane man would think of defending it as an established policy of government. Nevertheless there was no other method immediately available of meeting the crisis. The United States had an antiquated banking and currency law which encouraged panics, and the situation had to be met without an hour's delay.

The panic was stopped. Mr. Morgan and his associates are said to have made fortunes out of their operations and probably they did. It could not have been otherwise, but their gains were small in comparison with the losses the country would have sustained if the panic had continued even a week.

Out of this situation, however, came the "public sentiment" that finally enabled President Wilson to obtain the enactment of the banking and currency law which has made the United States panic-proof.

The country confronted a similar situation of disaster in the threatened railroad strike. The President and congress took the swift and sure way to avert it. In itself this legislation is not defensible, but as an emergency measure it was the only common sense course to take.

Out of it must come a code of labor legislation analogous to the banking and currency act. That code will not be adopted in a week or a month, but it will be adopted. The machinery has finally been set in motion.

The main difference between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Roosevelt in these two crises is that Mr. Wilson took decisive measures before the damage had been done, and Mr. Roosevelt waited until after the damage had been done.

The President and congress saved the country from a civil war and gave it time for calm, dispassionate action to prevent a similar crisis in the future. What would be the state of affairs in the United States today if less prompt and effective measures had been adopted by the government? That is the complete reply to all this irresponsible criticism.—World.

Winter Park Board of Trade Visits the Wekiwa Ranch

On last Thursday afternoon members of the Winter Park Board of Trade, with their families, nearly fifty persons in all, visited the Wekiwa Ranch, on invitation of Dr. and Mrs. Blackman. They came over in automobiles, reaching the Ranch at three o'clock. At four they witnessed the dipping of a number of steers, a process which most of them had never seen before and which greatly interested them; thirty-seven were put through the vat in seven minutes.

They inspected some fine fields of corn and velvet beans, Para grass, cowpeas and sorghum, and the various sheds, corn cribs and shops which have been erected on the place, as well as the herd of purebred Aberdeen Angus cattle and Duroc Jersey swine which are grazing on the superb Bermuda and joint grass pastures.

At five o'clock they had a basket lunch under the trees of the "Cowpea Hickory Grove," on the banks of the St. Johns. Mrs. Blackman furnishing coffee and punch, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Lee assisting in the serving. The day was perfect and the occasion most enjoyable.

On their departure they gave three cheers and a tiger for their host and hostess, their old friends and neighbors and motored back to Winter Park by moonlight. Major Charles H. Baker, county demonstration agent of Orange county accompanied the party. Perhaps it is not generally known that the switchgrass which grows so luxuriantly along the St. Johns, the spartina bakeri was named for Major Baker.

NEWS PRINT FAMINE

Causes Florida Press Association to Take Steps for Remedy

The threatened news print famine is causing uneasiness in many Florida sanctum these days and President Oscar Conklin of the Florida Press Association is sending the following communication to every member:

Miami, Fla., Sept. 8, 1916. To Members: The Florida Press Association:
The news print famine which threatens the publishers of the nation is a matter of great importance to members of the Association, and it is now up to the publishers to work out their own salvation. The trade publishers are urging publishers to reduce the number of and all complimentary copies, and even with this reduction of consumption of paper it appears very doubtful if the situation is relieved within two years.

In my opinion, it is important that the members of this Association prepare for the emergency by attending a special meeting to be called for a near date, to consider the matter of conserving paper, raising rates (advertising and subscription) and advocating a paper mill in or near Jacksonville. Many publishers in the state are now paying a very high price for news print paper, and they are within their rights when they raise subscription and advertising rates.

Concerted action on their part will be necessary, and to this end I am writing to all members, asking them to express their views in regard to calling a special meeting for the purpose of that definite action on the matter above mentioned. I trust every member will realize that the situation is a grave one and will make arrangements to attend a strictly business meeting, one without the usual entertainments which take up valuable time.

Will you please write at once and advise whether you will attend a special meeting, if called, and if not able to attend, if you will abide by the action of the Association in regard to raising rates, etc.
Respectfully,
Oscar T. Conklin,
Pres. Florida Press Association.

LABOR SITUATION CRITICAL

Every Line of Business in New York Affected

New York, Sept. 12.—All members of trade unions in New York, Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle found themselves today active factors in the dispute between the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. and its employees. The various individual labor organizations in these cities by the interborough and its subsidiary companies received the appeal drafted by the central labor bodies last night, requesting a sympathetic strike of all organized wage earners, in their jurisdiction "in support of the contention of the street railway men for the right to organize."

Since the response to this appeal must be decided by vote of members, several days must elapse before its effect will be known. A central committee has been organized and daily meetings will be held to direct a sympathetic general strike in case it is called. Opinions were expressed today that most of the unions appealed to would defer definite action in the hope that such a radical step might be avoided. Labor leaders declared, however, that strikes might be called without delay in trades directly affecting the operation of street cars.

BLEASE AND MANNING

In Runoff for Gubernatorial Nomination in South Carolina

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 12.—With Richard I. Manning and Cole L. Blease contenders in the gubernatorial race, South Carolina Democrats will vote today in a runoff primary. Chief interest centers in the contest for governor, though there are second races for railroad commissioners, for congress from one district and four places as circuit solicitor. In addition there are many county offices to be filled at the second primary.

The campaign for governor, interesting throughout the summer has become especially warm with the elimination of all but two candidates in the first primary, two weeks ago. At that primary Mr. Blease, who has already served two terms as governor and who was a candidate for United States senator against senator E. D. Smith two years ago, led the field by some 22,000 votes, but lacked more than eight thousand of having enough to elect him on the first primary. Under the party rules a candidate must get a majority of the votes to secure the nomination. Since the first primary, Robert A. Cooper, who ran a strong third to the two survivors, has announced that he would support Governor Manning in the second race.

For railroad commissioner, James Gansler who led the field and Albert S. Fant are in the second race.

In the Third Congressional District F. H. Dominick, who led in the first primary, opposes Wyatt Aiken, the incumbent who ran second.

Make the Farm Produce Your Living

Every dollar that is spent for something that can be grown on the farm is wasted, and the farmer who can ill afford to lose that dollar is the one that most frequently throws it away. Goodness knows the poor man has enough trouble without this indictment but he must face the facts. Not a farmer in the state raises as much food for his own table as he should. This is particularly true of the poor man.

With all his work and sweat and his efforts to get along, he contributes further to his own poverty every time he gives a coin from his emaciated spurs in exchange for something that he can grow.

Ask one of these farmers why he does not grow more products for home consumption, why he does not adopt certain methods or why he does not grow livestock. His answer will be the universal one. He hasn't the money. Now what really can be made of an answer of that kind? Of course it is the lack of money that makes him poor. Dr. A. H. Logan, veterinary field agent for the United States Department of agriculture, who is stationed at the University of Florida, urges such farmers to raise everything possible that they consume and they can save the money which they usually pay the grocer. With that money they can make the needed improvements, and lift themselves out of the rut.

J. L. Hollingsworth convicted of embezzling city funds was today sentenced to five years in the state convict camps by Judge Lee J. Gibson of the criminal court of record. Judge Gibson allowed John P. Wall, attorney for Hollingsworth, 90 days in which to file a bill of exceptions, and filed a supersedeas bond at $7,500.

At a recent meeting of the state Democratic executive committee Hon. For vitality and longevity the San Diego Panama Expedition is a record breaker. It has been running nearly two years. It has paid all expenses and has a respectable surplus. More than 2,500,000 visitors have seen it. And it is still doing business the same as ever.

With Cuban capital interested in the proposition, Jacksonville is confident that a line of steamers with a regular freight and passenger schedule will soon be a certainty between that city and Havana.

Had Enough. A party of musicians were out "bunking" one Christmas eve, and their music was not such as would "soothe the savage breast." They were about to begin playing in one of the streets when an elderly dame came out and, handing them a coin, remarked: "You need not bother to play. I heard you in the next street."

Easy to Radiate Happiness. It is astonishing how much one without money may give—a kind word, a helping hand—the warm sympathy that rejoices with those who rejoice and weeps with those who weep. No man is so poor, no woman is so poor, as not to be able to contribute largely to the happiness of those around them.—Anon.

Farmers and Fruit Growers Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Marion Boys Will Raise Hampshire The Marion county pig club received a carload of purebred Hampshire pigs recently. These pigs came from Indiana, and there were thirty two in the lot. Since there were only twenty-three members in the club the other pigs were taken by farmers. Another carload of the same breed will be placed among the farmers of the county.

Each of the important diseases and pests of citrus trees will be discussed. There will be exhibits of these diseases and pests showing important stages of their life histories. The latest information concerning these troubles will be given. Methods of prevention and control will be thoroughly discussed. In addition there will be lectures on fertilizing and cultivating citrus trees, gasoline engines, spraying machinery, the marketing of citrus fruits, bud selection, the new farm loan act and a number of other subjects.

The bakers of Marion county are financing the pig club. They have furnished the purchase price, $40, and have taken the boys' notes for eighteen months.

Jefferson Farmers Buying Purebred Hogs

It will be remembered that the club decided several months ago to raise one breed of hogs. Several farmers signified their willingness to raise the same breed when a breed should be selected. Pursuant to this agreement those farmers took the pigs that were not needed for the pig club and ordered another carload.

Jefferson county farmers have made a discovery. You have often heard how much money one could save if he did not have to spend so much. Well, Jefferson county farmers propose to save some of the money which they have been spending uselessly. There is a great deal of expense in harvesting and marketing crops. Furthermore the market will pay a bigger price for a finished product. Consequently these Jefferson farmers are going into the manufacturing business.

The advantages for a uniform breed of hogs in a given locality are many. C. K. McQuarrie, state agent for the University of Florida Extension Division, said recently, "The farmers, pig club members, and bankers of Marion county have taken a step which will be beneficial not only to themselves but to the whole county as well. By raising a given breed of hogs they will be able to market advantageously. They will have no trouble in marketing in carload lots. They will obtain uniformly high means an increase in price. A carload of hogs of a given breed, quality, size and color will bring from a half cent to a cent more a pound than a mixed lot of the same quality and size. Furthermore, farmers will be able to trade sires or to buy them cooperatively. This will save hundreds of dollars when the whole county is considered."

They are buying hogs, purebred hogs, too, with which to harvest the raw products and through which they expect to market those same products as meat. The hog makes a good harvesting machine and when he is through with a crop it has increased to several times its original value. Furthermore, he is capable of taking the crop to market on his body.

Citrus Growers Will Meet October 17th to 20th

A fruit buyer recently told a fruit grower near Clearwater that he would give him a good price for his bright fruit, but not a cent for his rusty fruit. He explained that perhaps he might be able to handle the marked fruit after Christmas.

M. C. Gardner, agent for the University of Florida Extension Division in Jefferson county, has been pushing the purebred hog, and to show that he has faith in his teachings he has purchased some purebred Hampshires himself. The purebred animal will harvest as efficiently as the razorback, use the feed more economically, and will produce meat of higher quality from the feed. These are the reasons that they are changing from the old order.

Mr. Grower do you know what this means? The fruit buyer knows his business. He would show no preference if he knew he could make as much money from handling the rusty fruit. He knows that the market is growing more critical of the fruit it buys. It wants bright fruit. Are you prepared to deliver bright fruit? Can you do it every year, or is it a matter of accident that you have bright fruit this year?

Mrs. Inman Dead Winter Haven, Sept. 10.—News was received here this morning from Dr. Mary B. Jewett announcing the death of her sister, Mrs. Florence E. Inman at their summer home at Chautauque, N. Y. The news came by wire and was addressed to John A. Snively of this city, who is connected with the family. The news was not unexpected, as messages of warning had been given during the past few days announcing the serious condition of Mrs. Inman who was given every care and attention by most competent physicians and nurses. Arrangements for the funeral have been made and interment will take place in the private burial grounds at Florence Villa. Relatives who were at the deathbed will leave Chautauque early Monday morning and will arrive in Winter Haven Wednesday night and interment will take place Thursday.

A man who was not feeling very well in Jacksonville on account of the excitement, heat and Davis package clubs of that city left in his Ford for DeLand thinking the quiet atmosphere of that city would be beneficial. He also took a bottle of Tamarack with him upon the advice of his neighbor. He took several doses between Jax and St. Augustine and began feeling very well indeed and felt so well by the time he reached Daytona that he noticed the car running very much better and the rough places being smoothed out of the road. By the time he reached DeLand he was feeling like a Willie boy on Saturday night and wonder of wonders the Ford car had grown into a Cadillac. This Tamarack thing is great.

Says the Charleston News and Courier: "It is not easy to believe that much of our happiness is due to self inflicted, yet a careful study of conditions as they exist today force us to such a conclusion. It may be our present manner of living, or it may be some phase of dissatisfaction innate in the human heart and which has developed gradually from generation to generation; or it may be even pure contrariness of spirit, which accounts for our discontent, but whatever the cause, we cannot help knowing that as a whole the human race is not as happy or as light hearted as it might be. So many persons go through life with a chip on their shoulders, so many have a grudge of their own creation either against a fellow being or a condition which does not please them, and rather than take the trouble, or be fair and impartial enough to prove their contentious groundless, they prefer to fan their smoldering discontent into a blaze which sometimes consumes their reason and makes them incapable of acting with common sense. Fortunately such cases are more the exception than the rule, yet at the same time there are many other persons who, while not going to such extremes in the blindness of their personal antipathies, are still unfair enough to nurse their grrouches at the expense of others as well as themselves. It is this latter class which yields so unpleasant an influence in all conditions of life—in the home where perhaps its blight is the greatest; in the sacred circles of friendship, in business relations and in all forms of social intercourse."

BLISS ON STAND

General Will Give Information on Mexico
Washington, Sept. 12.—Secretary of War Baker today granted the request of the American Mexican Commission to have Maj. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff, go to New London, Conn., to give the commissioners the information he has gathered first hand concerning the military situation along the international boundary.

General Bliss was authorized to hold himself in readiness to respond to a summons and will leave whenever notified he is wanted. The General is regarded as one of the army's most competent authorities on Mexico questions. He completed a personal inspection of all the border patrol militia camps.

Pressure from political and business quarters is being brought to bear upon Secretary Baker and Administration officials generally to withdraw national guard organizations from the border.

The department has informed all inquirers that action will be taken as soon as practicable. Secretary Baker already has indicated that as soon as the units now en route to the border arrive other organizations will be withdrawn. "Guardsmen still in their state camps probably will be given a tour of border field service before being mustered out.

Smart Decorations.

Among the decorations which will be used by smart folk this year, and which are very useful when natural flowers cannot be had, are the paper water lilies and cherry bouquets sold in the Japanese shops. These, however, generally go with Japanese crockery and they are most often used at the tea given with the afternoon reception. When real water lilies can be had at the florist's, it is not uncommon to drop one or two in the punch bowl, where they look pretty and suitable.

HAVE TOO MUCH LEISURE IN AIR

Aviator Says There Isn't Enough to Do While Flying Aloft.

THRILLING TALES OF AIR

"Ball for Hours Without Putting a Hand on Lever," Says One—Clouds Most Deadly Things They Have to Fear.

London.—The hardest part about flying in war is the thinking that a flying man has to do. Here's the idea in an English flying man's own words:

"There isn't enough to keep a man's mind busy in the air since the war has developed the aeroplane. In the old days of the aeroplane there were so many things a flying man had to watch that he didn't have time to worry about what might happen to him. But in these days sitting in your machine is about like sitting on a log and waiting for something to happen.

"We don't have to use our hands as we used to. There is only one lever, and you don't have to watch that very closely. You can fly for hours without having your hand on it. You can write or read or smoke, and unless you touch the lever to change its position you will fly along at the same level indefinitely owing to the self-stabilization of the machine.

Look Down; Watch Shells.
"So, with your attention only mildly occupied, you keep looking down over the edge to see what's happening. You get to watching the wires and wondering what would happen if a bullet cut one of them. You look at the rail irons and consider how frail they really are. Shrapnel is breaking below you and around you, perhaps. That's a daily occurrence. There's no use of trying to dodge it, for by doing so you may only run into it.

"So there you sit imagining all sorts of horrible possibilities. You've been told to go to a certain place and then return. Your route is all laid out for you and your duties are so simple and easy that while you're performing them you have a thousand times too much spare time for thought and worry. As for myself, I'd much rather have the aeroplanes a less simple affair, just to have my attention occupied. An imagination is a curse to a

And then there's the problem of the whirling compass.

An airman flies into a cloud; suddenly the finger of his compass begins to whirl around like a clock gone mad. Scientists say it doesn't whirl, but so many English airmen have had the experience that even the scientific men are wondering whether the phenomenon isn't worth studying.

The Whirling Compass.

Here's a flying man's side of it: "My compass finger had whirled like a top when I have gone into a cloud. It's enough to turn you demented. It's bad enough, goodness knows, to be lost in a cloud, but to have your compass go back on you at the same time is too much. Our scientific instructors tell us that the compass doesn't change. It remains as steady as it was in the sunshine. Why should a flier jiggle his course unknowingly in one cloud and not in another? My opinion is that there are certain kinds of clouds that are charged with electricity. In such clouds your compass goes crazy. In other words, where electricity is not present your compass behaves itself."

"How far are the clouds above the earth?
As high above as we wish to climb. But the chief question with a flying man is how low the clouds are. A crack English flier told the correspondent something about low clouds.

"You may be walking along the street on a heavy day and, looking up, may think that the clouds are miles high. As a matter of fact they may be only 200 or 300 feet above you. That's the kind of a day that the airman dreads. I've been lost in a cloud in France and come down out of it only to find myself flying around among the church steeples of a French town, with good chances of killing myself.

"In a cloud you can never tell whether you're over the enemy's lines. You may come right down into his trenches before you know it. Clouds, the low kinds, are the most deadly things we have to fear."

Perches on High Sign.

St. Louis.—Standing on the tip of a big electrical sign on top of the Terminal hotel, 110 feet from the sidewalk and extending out 12 feet from the building line, Robert E. Pruitt of Detroit, Mich., desisted from his perilous "stunt" only after attaches of the hotel had repeatedly threatened to call the police. "I wanted to see the city," said Pruitt. He was taken to the city hospital and placed in the observation ward.

DIAMOND NOTES

Ray Caldwell's work has shown a big improvement of late.

The Central league is in the best financial condition it has ever been in.

Pitcher Barnes of the Braves has as much speed as Alexander or Walter Johnson.

Joe Judge, first baseman of Washington, may never be able to play baseball again.

Ray Schalk, star catcher of the White Sox, still outclasses all of the big league backstops.

Luther Cook, the former New York outfielder, has been benched by the Oakland club for poor hitting.

Next to Grover Cleveland Alexander, Ed Pfeffer of the Robins has no equal in President Toner's circuit just now.

Del Howard, former manager of the San Francisco club, is in with Orrie Overall on the purchase of the Oakland club.

The Boston Red Sox have turned Pitcher Dick McCabe over to Hartford of the Eastern league.

Jack Coombs pitches an average of one fast ball to each batsman, or about 85 in an ordinary game.

Hughie Jennings has turned reformer. He now insists on putting an end to loud and profane-mouthed fans.

Rube Schauer, the Giants' extra pitcher, has been released to the Louisville club of the American association.

Why the Choice.
"Of course, I want my daughter to have some kind of artistic education. I think I'll let her study singing," said Mrs. Neighbor. "Why not art or literature?" suggested Mrs. Highbrow. "Art spoils canvas and literature wastes reams of paper. Singing merely produces a temporary disturbance of the atmosphere," was the reply.—New York Times.

His Verdict.
At the meeting of the Afro-American Debating club the question of capital punishment for murder occupied the attention of the orators for the evening. One speaker had a great deal to say about the sanity of persons who thus took the law into their own hands. The last speaker, however, after a stirring harangue, concluded with great feeling: "An aggressor will capital punishment an' all dis heah talk 'bout sanity. Any pusion at c'mits murder ain't in a sanitary condition."

Good in Industry.
"Thank God every morning that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work and to do your best will breed you a hundred virtues which the idle will never know."—Charles Kingsley.

ALL-STAR TEAM SELECTED FROM SANFORD AND ORLANDO CLUBS--AND WHY THESE PLAYERS WERE PICKED FOR THIS TEAM

BRINSON THOUGH A WONDERFUL FIELDER WAS LEFT OFF--DILLINGER HAS BEEN HITTING OVER 300 ALL SEASON--TEAM COULD DEFEAT AUGUSTA CHAMPIONS

Sanford and Orlando, now almost at the end of their forty-game series, are represented by two of the strongest nines that have ever played in this state. Both teams have drawn on the South Atlantic and Southern Leagues for players, Dana Filligim of Orlando, late of Charleston and Cleveland being among the more prominent stars induced to come here.

A picked team from the two clubs would make it interesting for any South Atlantic or Southern League team and it is possible an effort may be made to bring the Augusta pennant winners of the Sally League here. Picking the 2 men for their proven ability in the local series to date, a picked team would line up about as follows:

Dillinger, Orlando, first base.
Engman, Sanford, second base.
Crowell, Orlando, shortstop.
Crow, Sanford, third base.
Moore, Sanford, center field.
Taylor, Orlando, catcher.
Chapman, Sanford, catcher.

The pitchers for such a team could be selected from Filligim, Orlando; Burmeister, Orlando; Fulton, Sanford; Zellars, Sanford; and Mosley, Orlando. Bell, Sanford, and Schuyler, Orlando, would fill in the utility roles.

Picking all-star teams is one of the hardest jobs in the game, for if you fall down on one position you have to be ready to explain why you left such and such a player out of your team. Now, taking each player of both clubs the writer will try and explain just why the above players were selected.

In selecting Dillinger over Brinson the writer received more comments on this one position than all the rest of the team combined. Each and every one seems to think that the local first sacker should have had the call. Brinson is without a doubt the best fielding first sacker in this part of the country, but the Orlando first sacker was chosen on account of his hitting.

Second base was handed to Engman of the Sanford club, not on account of his fielding but his all round playing has his opponent beat.

Spitznagle covers a world of ground but he will miss more balls in a week than Engman will in a year.

Crowell was selected over Bell not because Bell is not in his class for when the writer put the two men together he had a little doubt about putting Crowell over Bell. We fail to see where Crowell is any better hitter than Bell and so far this season his work at the bat could not be compared with that of Bell's. But the honor is handed him for his excellent fielding which no one will doubt that put the Orlando short stop has put up this season. That's why he was selected.

An third base Luc Crow was selected over Herndon, as the first base Herndon is not a first base, he never looked like one to the writer and he never will be one. He may have it on the Sanford third sacker when it comes to hitting, but Crow so far outshines him around the third cushion that he justly deserves the call for third base.

Out in the left field Lee Gooch is placed. Without any doubt he has this place cinched. His hitting and all around playing puts him in this place.

Center field is taken care of by Jim Moore, the heavy son of swat. Jim has not made an error this season and his arm is better than any player that we have seen down here so far this season. When it comes to hitting Jim is far from being down and out and many a pitcher will have to look Jim in the face before he will be forced to lay his bat and glove aside.

Purcell is placed in the right field for the simple reason there is no one else looks good enough to put out there. Unless we put Robinson in this place. Both are local players and only one can be selected so the call is handed to Purcell, though Robinson deserves honorable mention for a player who can hit over the 300 mark all season, as Robinson has done he deserves mention.

Chapman and Taylor were selected as catchers, as if any one was to come down here and see these boys work, they would have the hardest jobs of their lives--telling which one was the better receiver. Both are good hitters and good throwers and good ground coverers.

The following pitchers were selected: Filligim, Fulton, Zellars, Burmeister, Palmer and Mosley, all in all this staff would burn up everything in the South Atlantic League and with this club behind them losing ball games would be few and far apart.

Utility men Schuyler and Bell both are dandy men and to leave them off together would be showing bad judgment.

PALMER IN HIS USUAL RARE FORM

Sanford defeated Orlando here last Friday by a score of 4 to 1. It was a case of too much Palmer, as has been the case all season, for with this victory Palmer has won eleven games, lost three and tied four, not bad!

BILL had things his way in this game, for the supposed to be heavy hitters of the Orlando club were absolutely helpless before his fadeaway and fast balls. Bill not only twirled a beautiful game but his double in the fifth inning brought in two runs. The Sanford infield like a twenty three jewel Hamilton watch, never blowing in the pinch, or rather never blowing at all, for if there were any pinches during the game we failed to recall it. The fielding of LEE CROW was the outstanding feature of the game. Lee made a bare hand stop of a ball that was sent down to a third base by Herndon that was very hard to handle, but Lee made a jump for the flying sphere and with his bare hand threw Schuyler out at second base. PURCELL led the "Sanford Sluggers" with three hits out of four trips to the plate. Purce beat one out in the sixth that looked something like the ones that have been making Ty Cobb famous in the past.

Purcell also accepted four chances in the outfield, and altogether his work was of the highest type. In this game the Sanford boys looked more like a real ball club than in the game of the past.

All of the boys, from the bat boy to Jim Moore, the biggest man on the club were in there fighting all the time. Sikes was sent in to work for the Orioles but the Sanford Sluggers got next to Sikes in the early part of the game and he was ataken out in favor of the "Spit Ball King." Mosley pitched brilliant ball all the way. For the first three innings not a Sanford player reached first base. In the eighth inning Moore connected with one of Mosley's spits and sent it sailing down the first base line a mile a minute.

Purcell came up and beat out an infield hit but Mosley held the boys safe, for from then on his Spit Ball was a little more than the Sanford boys could solve.

The boys are going after the rest of the games and it promises to be interesting for the rest of the week.

We have to say something in regard to the rooting. The Sanford fans seem to be a little behind the Orlando fans when it comes to encouragement. A little encouragement every once in a while helps out the boys in their playing. So let's give them a little more encouragement.

PROBABLE BUT NOT ALTOGETHER POSSIBLE

"FROM MISSOURI SO YOU GOT TO SHOW US" ONLY ONE FAMOUS SNYDER IN THE GAME AND HE PLAYED YESTERDAY WITH THE ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

A few days ago it was reported in The Herald that a noted ball player was in Sanford resting up from an injury received while playing in the big league. This report was circulated around and the Sporting Editor has been asked so many times if the report was true. It must be a mistake, for the simple reason it is impossible for the fastest train in the world to bring any person from St. Louis to Sanford in four hours time. The St. Louis Sporting News, the official sport paper of this country published in their paper on Sept. 7th a box score of Snyder playing first base in the morning game of Sept. 4th which was Labor Day. Now this Snyder who has been in Sanford witnessed the games here between Sanford and Orlando on that same date. So if any one can figure it is the same Snyder who plays with the St. Louis Cardinals go ahead and FIGURE. It does seem as if the report was untrue that the party to whom the report was written about would notify the paper of the mistake and save us all the trouble of trying to explain this to the readers. When any NOTED BALL PLAYERS come to Sanford from now on we will be sure and get the facts before publishing it. The writer of the Sport Page did not put the article in last week's paper. The report was handed in to a nother department of the paper. If the writer is mistaken in his article and the gentleman to whom this is written for will only come around and tell us he is the same Snyder now playing with the St. Louis Nationals we will publish an APOLOGY. But not until then.

Quite So. Plagiarism is theft extenuated by flattery none the less real because unintentional. (In a printed German version this bon mot is signed O. E. W.)

Not by a Long Way. "Do man dat goes lookin' for trouble," said Uncle Eben, "doesn't most always git de easy kind he had made up his mind to."

FILLIGIM AND FULTON HAVE BAD DAY TO WORK--RAINS

Orlando defeated Sanford yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. It was a case of too much Filligim and little too many errors behind Fulton that caused the defeat. The Sanford infield was charged up with seven errors, a little too many to expect to win a ball game on, while the Orlando boys took advantage of these errors and secured a four run lead enough for any pitcher to get away with, especially a pitcher of the type of Filligim.

Fulton twirled, winning ball nine times out of ten. When you look over the box score you will readily see that Orlando never made an earned run. Sanford failed to earn a run themselves. The two which were made by the locals were on an error of Herndon, who overthrew Dillinger and with Harbison backing up Dillinger he (Harbison) touched the ball and it bounded over the fence.

SAM LaROCQUE PROVEN VERY SATISFACTORY

EVERY ONE THAT UMPIRES BETWEEN THESE TEAMS ARE CROOKS SO IT IS A KNOWN FACT IF EVER AN UMPIRE GETS AWAY DOWN HERE HE IS CONSIDERED LUCKY

LaRocque, who has been umpiring the last few games between Sanford and Orlando has been giving both sides satisfactory work. Of course he has made mistakes. They all do but for all round work his umpiring has been as good as any one would care to see. The Orlando diamond is a beautiful diamond, but lime must be very expensive in Orange county for the foul lines have never been worked upon. In place of a chalk line down the right and left field lines they have an American flag posted in the outfield. When LaRocque calls one foul and the opposing team thinks he ruled wrong they immediately say he is rotten. But the writer has never used his page yet to roast an umpire. And if we had to roast an umpire we would never have had the chance to do so this season for as long as LaRocque has been here this season and his accurate decisions have been satisfactory. Imagine an umpire to get out between these two towns as excitable as these two towns are over base ball, and umpire for five dollars and receive the personal insults which he receives is enough to make any man call bad ones once in awhile. But just the same, without his services right now there would be a CIVIL WAR between the two towns.

To Wind Yarn.

We all know that it is difficult to wind wool or yarn of any kind if there is no one to hold the skein. To overcome this difficulty put two flatrons on the table a sufficient distance apart to allow the wool to be tightly stretched. This will answer just as well as someone holding the skeins.

For Revenue Only.

Most of the time the plaintiff would hit the nail upon its well-known head if she'd spell it income-taxability. Judge.

Blow at Modern Fiction.

Magazine short stories multiply, but those that improve on the short stories of "Mother Goose" are few and far between. Brooklyn Eagle.

Time's Changes.

A man used to be known by the company he kept, but now you spot him by the selections he turns loose on the phonograph.

Best Way to Wash a Rug.

Stretch the rug and tack it upon a clean floor. After scouring it well with soapuds, rinse thoroughly to remove all trace of the animal matter in the soap. Let the rug stay tacked down until perfectly dry, so that it will not shrink.

Reasonable Explanation.

Perhaps the idea that two can live as cheaply as one originated in the mind of a young fellow who boarded with his father-in-law.
