Best Concedes Congress Race In Wee Hours

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

David Best, the Orlando attorney who challenged incumbent Congressman Richard Kelly, hit the sack at 5 this morning, after acknowledging he had lost his first bid for elective office and that Kelly had won a third two-year term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"We ran a good race," said Best's campaign press secretary, Jack Calderon. "We are only 4,000 votes behind, but it's too much to catch up with in the count of absentee" in the sprawling fifth congressional district, he said.

The result, said Calderon, according to the unofficial returns, is that 4,000-vote difference.

"We were disappointed in the result in Seminole and Pinellas Counties. We thought David offered an alternative," Calderon said. Best lost Seminole by 1,130 votes—15,717 for Kelly to 14,587 for Best. Best carried Seminole in both primaries—the second with 62 percent of the vote.

"We knew that Seminole and Pinellas traditionally vote Republican. But we thought the better educated voters in the two counties would be voting for David Best, because they are better read, follow the newspapers and understand the issues.

"If we could have carried both counties we would have won."

"We lost Lake County a little more than we thought we would. We won Sumter and Hernando and lost Citrus by 300 votes. We lost Zephyrhills, Kelly's hometown, by only 100 votes," said Calderon, noting he is in the market today for a new job.

"We are disappointed and sad. David hasn't considered whether he will try again in two years or not. We expected to win," he said.

Seminole School Board Voters Elect County's First Black

By LEONARD KRANSDORF
Herald Staff Writer

Two of the winners had a feeling they would win, while the two opponents in another race thought it was going to be close.

And when it was all over, incumbents Pat Telson and Roland Williams kept their seats on the Seminole County School Board while another incumbent, E.C. Harper Jr., was defeated by newcomer William Kroll.

The three winners will be sworn in Nov. 21 at an organizational meeting.

However, while Telson and Williams thought they would win, both Harper and Kroll thought the race would be closer.

Unofficial results show Mrs. Telson, school board chairman, seeking her second term, received the most votes in defeating her opponent Robert Czernakowicz 18,833 to 9,388 in the district four race. Kroll, running on a platform of getting parents more involved in the school system defeated incumbent Harper for the district one seat by 8,183 votes. In the race Kroll tallied 11,230 votes to Harper's 11,147.

Williams became the first black ever elected to a county office by defeating retired naval commander John Carlson for the district three seat. The unofficial tally had Williams with 15,906 votes to Carlson's 12,106 votes.

He credited the win to his campaign manager

Vival Gilson who "helped me put it all together." Harper, who was seeking his second term, noted, "I was a little surprised because I honestly thought it would be closer."

"I guess they wanted a change and I'm the one who had to be removed," he said, mingling with friends at his Sanford home.

Harper, president of Sanford Electric Co., attributed his loss to several factors including the board chairman estimates she spent about five to six hours a day "getting out to the grassroots people and working to win."

"I don't know what it's like to lose but it sure is nice to win," she said.

Mrs. Telson won in all but five precincts with Czernakowicz taking two precincts in Oviedo and three in the Sanford area.

For Williams, his election was a "unique situation because after five months in office, I was tested and evaluated and the people gave me a vote of confidence."

Williams credits his win to "being consistent in my voting and checking out each issue and being responsive to the parents' needs."

He added that he had expected to win by a greater margin, but later noted "a 3,000-vote lead isn't that bad."

In the Kroll-Harper race, both candidates expected it to be closer with Kroll saying the deciding factor was the amount of campaigning.

The unofficial county vote showed Kroll winning 52 of the 67 precincts while Harper carried 15. Most of Harper's support came from much closer and closer to the school board.

"I really thought it would be much closer and thought it would be as tight as about 500 votes," he said, as he looked over the final votes at the Seminole County courthouse.

He credited the win to his campaign manager

institutional personnel do not have a contract and they believe I'm responsible," he added.

Harper said he had had an enjoyable four years on the board and "gave the taxpayers their money's worth."

One positive aspect of his loss, he acknowledged, was that "I actually win because I can now spend more time with my family."

His daughter, Jill, agreed, saying, "I got my father back."

Both Kroll and Williams were backed by SEA and received contributions from the Seminole Educators Political Action Committee (SEPAAC).

Tuscaloosa De-Annex Bid Loses In Winter Springs

In Winter Springs deannexation is out; a city manager-type government was not allowed in, and two new faces are on the city council, or at least they will be early in December.

Tuscaloosa voters 3-1-1 rejected the idea of deannexing their homes from the city of Winter Springs. The question, one of the first few times on a city ballot in the state under a new state law, was decided by Tuscaloosa residents only. The tally was 357 against and 171 for.

City Attorney Thomas Lang only 10 days ago argued in Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi's court that any decision on the suit filed by the Winter Springs Development Corp., owners of a major portion of Tuscaloosa, against the city on the deannexation question, was premature and should be delayed until after the election. Lang's plea was granted by the court.

Tuesday night Lang said he was relieved that problem is over.

In the same election, Winter Springs voters turning out 63.13 percent strong—1,441—of the city's eligible 2,363 turned down a binding referendum on creating a city manager-type of government. Voting against an appointed city manager were 773 votes to 643.

Craven did not seek re-election to the council, withdrew from the contest after the election, and his daughter, Jill, agreed, saying, "I got my father back."

Both Kroll and Williams were backed by SEA and received contributions from the Seminole Educators Political Action Committee (SEPAAC).

The New Congress: Don't Expect Too Much Different

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 96th Congress, despite a generous infusion of fresh blood in January, will not look or act much differently than the one which adjourned last month.

The Democrats, fulfilling wide-held expectations, will again have a numerical dominance in the Senate and House which makes Republicans virtually an extinct species.

But, as the 96th Congress proved, having an overwhelming edge in the two houses is far from a sure-fire guarantee for any program President Carter may submit as he embarks on the last two years of his first term.

The days of a rubber-stamp Congress are long gone — as Carter found out in a virtual running battle with the 96th that lasted until the last weeks of the past session.

If the campaign were any indication, the sharpest congressional shift could come on the question of slashing federal spending, cutting the deficit and pruning the bureaucracy.

Hardly a candidate in either party failed to brag himself or herself in those new-found virtues, even some of the big New Deal Democrats of the past.

The storm clouds were met out by California when it approved Proposition 13 earlier in the year and primary elections reinforced that the mood abroad in the country was for fiscal conservatism.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., is a prime example of a candidate who walked around too long to heed the "message."

At the start of the campaign, Percy, a two-term liberal Republican, was tabbed as a show-in. Before it ended, he was on the brink of involuntary retirement.

He pulled out a victory over virtual unknown Alex Seltz but to do it, this 56-year old former business magnate was forced to grovel, promise repentance and pledge to change his ways.

The promise Percy was forced to undergo will not be lost on those colleagues who have voted with him in the past.

That could mean that the 96th Congress will be frugal — a prospect that pleases Carter.

One era are most likely to come in, action of major new social programs, such as universal health insurance and welfare reform, and very possibly in a rollback of existing government functions.

The military budget — last year's was the largest in history — could be a target but might again escape the axe.

The new party lineup can bring no comfort to the GOP.

Detecting Cancer Of Colon, Rectum

DEAR DR. LAMB—Will you please answer some questions for me about cancer? Can cancer of the colon or rectum be found by a finger examination? If so, will this cause fluid to accumulate in the stomach, hips, feet and legs? Will the bowel movement be black, mixed with blood? Will this cause constipation, and is milk of magnesia harmful to take as a laxative? What is the appropriate life span from the time of detection of cancer of the colon?

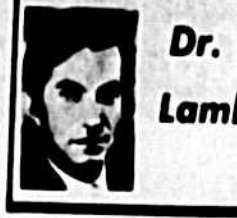

DEAR READER—I am glad you are asking about this because cancer of the colon and rectum is the second most common cause of cancer deaths in both men and women. A high percentage of these can be found by a finger examination of the rectum that is in the rectal area within the reach of the finger.

That's one of the reasons a good, competent medical examination will include a finger examination of the rectum in both men and women. To not do such an examination really means to fall to provide a complete, adequate, physical examination which could detect cancer of the rectum.

The finger examination itself will certainly not cause the accumulation of fluid in the hips, stomach or anywhere else. If you have cancer involving the obstruction of the drainage of the lymph nodes in the pelvic area, then you might expect some swelling and other problems.

Anytime there is an unexplained amount of blood in the bowel movement, a person should have an examination. It can be a sign of cancer. Blood from higher up in the digestive tract may be black because of the digesting process on the blood itself.

Cancer of the rectum can cause constipation but, of course, most cases of constipation are caused by other problems, usually poor dietary habits and lack of proper bowel function. Frankly, I am not enthusiastic about using any chemical laxative. Milk of Magnesia or others.

The best approach to preventing constipation is a good diet that contains bulk and regular living patterns. To give you more information I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation.

One of the important signs of cancer of the colon is a change in bowel habit. If a person has a normal pattern, and then develops persistent diarrhea for no cause, or if a person suddenly develops constipation for no apparent cause, it's time for a medical examination.

You can't tell how long a person is going to live after a cancer of the bowel has been found, unless you know how far advanced the cancer really is. A small cancer detected and removed sufficiently early can be completely cured. That's why a rectal examination is so important.

If the cancer has already spread, it is another matter. Therefore, I can't give you any exact answer to that question. I would like to point out, though, that individuals with cancer of the bowel that have been operated upon early enough, even if it is not early enough to induce a complete cure, often live a comfortable life for years afterward.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDEKOBOL
For Wednesday, November 8, 1978

YOUR BIRTHDAY
November 8, 1978

This coming year should be an exciting one for you because you'll be both underwriting and investing. You'll develop favorably provided you let your business exceed your good judgment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
There's a hole in your pocketbook that should be plugged immediately or you may lose more than you can afford to. You have a tendency to spend foolishly. Find out to whom you're romantically tied by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 10 cents for each and a long, well-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, PO Box 400, Radio City Station, NY 10101. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Tolerance and patience seem to be reserved for outsiders. When it comes to your family, you'll argue the minute someone does anything that displeases.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't snarl in silence today if an acquaintance makes derogatory remarks. Let him know quickly how you feel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Usually, you cater to what is good for the majority. But today, at the expense of others, you're overly protective of things that you care about.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Pace yourself. Try to take on only that which you know you can handle. Do do yourself a disservice by pushing your energy beyond its limits.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Be on guard when you speak, weighing each word carefully today. A thoughtless remark could set off sparks with one who has a low boiling point.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Success you know very well to just a trifle too curious about something you consider personal. She'll pry again today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You're apt to ignore your better judgment today and yield to someone who applies a little pressure. Don't be bullied.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Coworkers are sensitive about their methods of doing things today. Fall to show a little respect for their intelligence and you could easily bring on a squabble.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You could misinterpret a friend's independent behavior as disloyalty. Try not to expect more of others today than you have a right to.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Riching is likely to disrupt the tranquility of the home front today because everyone is having a tough time coping. Be the first to strive for unity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Your work and possibly that of others could suffer today because of your carelessness and impulsive. Coworkers will be quite irritated.

Ask the Experts

A Nebraska reader asks if he ever drop the bidding one trick short of game.

Years ago Oswald Jacoby gave the basic rule for stopping at this unfavorable spot. You only do so when you feel that you have either reached your limit or actually gone beyond it. And, of course, you never stop when your partner's bid is one less than game was a force.

County Commission: 1st Woman, 2 Republicans

Two new faces—both Republican—will become members of the Seminole County Commission Nov. 21. At the 11:30 a.m. meeting, City Commissioner Sandra Glenn, the first woman ever elected to the county's 11-member governing body, was chosen by the voters by a nearly 5:1 margin, defeating her opponent, Democrat John Perkins. Mrs. Glenn received the highest number of votes cast in a local election at 20,700 to Perkins' 11,500 in unofficial returns. The spread of victory was 8,200 votes. She is replacing Harry Kwiatkowski, a Democrat, who did not seek reelection.

County: 2 Home Legislators 1st Time In 11 Years

Two home legislators were elected to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners in the 1978 election. Bobby Fitchell, a Republican, and Charles J. Kuntz, a Democrat, were elected to the board. Fitchell is the first home legislator since 1967. Kuntz is the first Democrat to be elected to the board since 1967. The board will meet on Nov. 21 at 11:30 a.m. in the county commission building. Fitchell is a member of the Florida House of Representatives. Kuntz is a member of the Florida Senate. The board will be responsible for the county's budget, public works, and other local government functions.

Miami: Still Bans Gay Rights

MIAMI (UPI) — Dade County voters have held off for a year on a referendum that would ban discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. The vote was held on Nov. 7, but the results were not announced until Nov. 8. The referendum would have prohibited discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation in housing, employment, and public accommodations. The measure was defeated by a narrow margin.

Turnout Tops Forecast

Counting board composed of County Judge Wallace B. Brown, County Commissioner Robert French and Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce began the process at 10 a.m. of counting 1,200 absentee ballots. The count of the ballots will be completed by 7 p.m. on Thursday, Mrs. Bruce said. The election Tuesday saw a different kind of turnout. Unofficial returns were held up for more than an hour because of a problem with the absentee ballot machines. Mrs. Bruce's prediction of a 66 percent turnout was met and exceeded with 69.35 percent — 27,857 voters cast their ballots on either the voting machines or via absentee ballot. The highest turnout was in a record for an off-year election, however. The off-year turnout record, according to Mrs. Bruce, occurred in 1976 when a turnout of 73.6 percent of the eligible voters was seen. The 1978 primary election voting machine failures were caused by faulty tech mechanisms and other factors.

"I had much of my support through churches and if you figure that they (SEAFAC) gave me about $800 and consider that amount spread among 1,700 teachers it does not come out to that much," Williams said. Kroll also acknowledged the approximately $800 support but added that it was part of about $1,300 that was contributed to his campaign. "I don't think the money will affect my wife because I do whatever is best for the schools and if that means staying with SEA I'll stay but if it isn't in the best interests I will not stay," he said.

Ferry Crash Injures 253; City, Federal Probe Asked

NEW YORK (UPI) — Capt. Irving Satter, scheduled to retire in two weeks, had piloted the Staten Island Ferry hundreds of times through a fog-shrouded New York Harbor without ever having an accident. But now he faces city and federal investigations for missing the ferry slip by 700 feet Tuesday and slamming the vessel into a concrete wall, injuring 253 of the estimated 2,000 morning rush-hour commuters on board the American Legion.

New Law To Stop Hookers?

"All I was trying to do was make them go somewhere else, away from where children cross the trail."

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal grand jury indicted a retired Navy commander, an anti-Castro Cuban activist and a Minnesota tire dealer, along with nine other persons Tuesday for conspiracy to smuggle large quantities of marijuana and cocaine from Colombia to northern Ohio. The tire dealer, Jack B. Scientists from the United States and several other countries were in Italy Oct. 10 to conduct four days of numerous tests on the cloth, upon which the image of a man is projected.

Stolen Credit Card Gets Woman Jailed

A Daytona Beach woman has been arrested for forging, using a forged instrument, retail theft and possession of stolen property. According to records, Deborah Lee Harrison, 26, was attempting to make a purchase at the Sears store in the Altamonte Mall when a check of the credit card she was using revealed it had been reported stolen in Chicago. The woman had already used the credit card at the Sears store to purchase clothing and had signed the receipt with another name, according to records.

store to purchase clothing and had signed the receipt with another name, according to records. The arrest came at noon Tuesday and initial bond was set at $5,250. AND THEN WHAT? During the weekend, the outside lights in the parking area at Continental Courts in Longwood were knocked out. On Tuesday, four cars in the parking lot were burglarized. From three of the cars gasoline was siphoned out of the gas tanks. From the fourth car, a 1969 Ford Van, about $100 in merchandise was reported stolen. Among the items reported stolen were a radio, two jackets and a tennis racket. CAR FIRE A car fire in Longwood may have completely destroyed the usefulness of a 1969 Chevrolet Camaro. The car belongs to Terry Flicher of Altamonte Springs and was parked at State Road 343 and the Springs when the fire occurred, according to records. MOTOR TAKEN A 50 horsepower motor valued at $1,500 was reported stolen from a home near Sanford. Charles A. Gracy Jr., 53, of Highway 46 said the merchandise was stolen sometime between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday. Records show marks in the dirt in the front yard show the motor was dragged on the ground from the boat to the front. Also reported stolen was a trailer motor, a gallon of gasoline and a 15-ohm battery, according to records. MIXER STOLEN A mortar mixer valued at $1,000 was stolen from the carpenter area of a home under construction at Highway 46 and W. W. White, 47, of Longwood.

Golden Age Olympics

Well, they've been off and running. And biking. And sitting. And playing. And swinging. And soon they'll be swimming and — you name it.

The fourth annual Golden Age Olympics are on their merry way — and everyone involved seems to be having a ball.

We've said it before — but we'll say it again: this athletic-recreation endeavor is a stroke of genius and due credit must be given to Vic Arnett, the gentleman who dreamed up the concept four years ago.

And credit to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices and sponsorship the program has grown each year with more interest and more participants.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the chamber, has had one primary dream: to make the event a nationwide happening. And that might not be too far down the road.

Either today, or Thursday, for example, a television crew from the ABC-TV network is expected here to film part of the proceedings for the "Good Morning, America" morning TV news show.

That means the word is spreading. Through such exposure the future is opened. The Golden Age Olympics not too far down the road will then become, indeed, a nationwide happening.

And Mr. Arnett who started it all and all those dedicated workers who have helped nurture and foster it year after year can then bank in pride and glory.

We commend them all — and welcome all of this year's contestants and participants to Sanford — and athletic and recreational immortality.

Not-So-Good Men

The United States Marine Corps now admits that, in looking for a few good men, it is signed up some who were not so good by helping test cases, falsifying applications and overlooking such things as drug habits and police records.

The result: 11 percent of the 74,000 Marine Corps recruits enlisted during the last two years have been discharged for reasons that would have disbarred their civilian counterparts.

But the Army and the Navy have had similar problems, though on a smaller scale.

The Marine recruiters have been leading and breaking services in order to fill the enlistment quotas assigned by their superiors. In turn, supervising officers have been guilty of laxness and inadequate review of recruiting procedures.

We know the activity of congressional investigators will prompt the services to police their recruiting practices more thoroughly.

But the Army still leaves the recruiters the task of meeting high entrance standards from the military draft that ended five years ago. This is not an easy task.

All the services are hampered by the difficulty of recruiting young men and women who meet the increasingly high standards of education and intelligence that modern armed forces require.

In other words, for example, the Navy must reject eight out of 10 men who are recruited because they cannot meet minimum educational requirements set by Congress and the Pentagon; recruiters will have trouble filling their quotas.

Around

The Clock

By LEONARD KRASNOBODY

The school system in Seminole County like others across the country has many dilemmas.

But the most important aspect of any school system is the children who are served by that system.

One area of teaching which does not get enough emphasis is the exceptional education program.

In the past several weeks readers of the Evening Herald have read stories about the program. The most recent one was Monday and dealt with the Homebound Program.

The five-year program is designed mainly to assist at home the student who has to miss school because of an illness or injury.

Like all the other exceptional education programs

the most striking aspect is the teachers.

Perhaps their most important quality is the patience they must have to deal with the students.

While most of the Homebound students are in the program for short periods of time there are those few who may be terminally ill or suffering from a disease preventing them from functioning in a regular classroom.

In coming into contact with any of the programs for the first time it is hard for a person not to be impressed with the teachers.

Granted, teachers of non-exceptional education children have their problems in the class, but one has to be a little more sensitive to the teachers of the exceptional education children.

The most impressive aspect of these teachers is the patience and compassion they exhibit toward their students when, at times, depending on the particular class, the student may be off in another world or have no idea what is being taught.

But in personal observations of these teachers, it is apparent that they do not get frustrated easily and are willing to take that extra minute or sometimes days to communicate with the student or students.

Before coming to the county I had never had much contact with any of these type students and really didn't believe I had missed anything.

But, after seeing the program firsthand it is apparent that my initial thoughts were unwarranted.

RONALD REAGAN Is There Happiness In Amnesty?

Can a communist find happiness trying to free political prisoners from the Soviet Gulag? Apparently Amnesty International thinks such an unlikely combination is possible, for the 188,000-member organization which monitors the plight and seeks the release and prisoners of conscience everywhere, has just appointed a leading Australian communist, Professor Derek Roebuck, to head its research division.

How did he get the job and what makes Al think he will not put the aims of Soviet Marxism ahead of the good intentions of the freedom-promoting group which last year reported on conditions of political prisoners in 117 countries? A little naivete may be involved.

As to how Professor Roebuck got his job, he applied for it. In a letter to the editor of Human Events, the conservative Washington weekly, Martin Enghel, secretary general of Al, said that Roebuck "was among a large number of qualified individuals who submitted applications following advertisement of this post. The appointment was made by the full international executive committee of our organization following exhaustive interviews and discussions and in full cognizance of all relevant facts including Professor Roebuck's political affiliation."

Enghel goes on to defend the selection and to contend that Roebuck could not slant research or divert attention from, say, Soviet repression. In fact, according to Enghel, the research director at Al isn't a very important position. "As in all research," he writes, "this involves a method unrelated to the personal views of those engaged in the task. The research department is made up of some 70 staff members, all working with experience and knowledge of their own areas of research. The preparation of materials is in the hands of the researcher, not the head of the department, who is responsible for quality control, training and guidance of staff and seeing that information in the most effective way possible."

If a communist were to become research director of a major American organization, wouldn't you expect him to "train" and "guide" his staff and to use information "in the most effective way possible" for his own political purposes? It is hard to believe that Moscow would not like to infiltrate a respected, widely utilized human rights group such as Al to further its own aims.

Amnesty International has received the Nobel Peace Prize and has frequently drawn attention to the lack of human rights in the U.S.S.R. Roebuck, when asked by Human Events in a telephone interview if he had ever criticized the Soviet Union, said he had, but added, "I haven't written articles attacking the Soviet Union."

No, but he has authored plenty of Moscow-line articles denouncing the United States. In fact, he co-authored a book, "Whore of War," with Wilfred Brundage, the "journalist" who for years has parroted the line of Moscow and during the Korean War interrogated Allied prisoners for the North Koreans.

The Roebuck appointment has caused controversy within Al. The appointment is often attacked because Al's comments on a country often affect the way U.S. policy toward that country is shaped. Reported human rights violations may result in cuts in aid or trade. Conversely, reduced criticism of the Soviet Union would allow Moscow to come off the defensive in one of the areas where world opinion seems settled against it.

BUSINESS WORLD Buy Managers Move Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — A purchasing agent's views need to be more important to the average company president than those of the office boy.

But things changed in a hurry after the Arab oil embargo suddenly made everybody twice as cost conscious as in the past, says the National Association of Purchasing Management.

The status of the purchasing agent began to improve even earlier, during the 1960-70 crunch, when the purchasing man began to point out that $100 saved on the cost of buying materials or services actually means $100 added to gross profit whereas $100 in additional sales added profits only $8 to profit.

Since for some companies purchases consume 60 cents of every dollar taken in, much more than wages, this also caused chief executives to begin to attach a lot more importance to purchasing management.

But the oil embargo lifted the purchasing manager into the upper echelons of many companies virtually overnight, as it was realized that both his administrative abilities and his talent at making speculative decisions could have a vital effect on earnings.

Of course, the purchasing man immediately found himself in the hot seat with new responsibilities and with the need for more knowledge of technology and generally larger executive and professional standards.

The National Association of Purchasing Management has had been compensating for such standards for 10 years. It wanted for the master's degree CPA, certified purchasing manager, the same prestige as CPA, certified

ANGLE-WALTERS Where Cotton Is King

WASHINGTON — When the president of Cotton Inc. agreed three years ago to accept a substantial cut in his pay, the board of directors of that national agricultural organization praised him for the "personal sacrifice" involved.

Now, however, federal officials are investigating allegations that a leading member of the Cotton Inc. board of directors sought to circumvent the intent of Congress by directing in 1975 $50,000 originally earmarked for a cotton industry promotion program.

The controversy over Walters' compensation dates back to 1974, when he signed a contract making him the operating head of the organization devoted to cotton promotion, research and product development. Among the benefits he was to receive:

— An annual salary, beginning in May 1975, of $117,750.

— A furnished apartment in either Raleigh, N.C. or New York City, the two cities where Cotton Inc. maintains offices.

— Payment of all travel, entertainment and business expenses, including those for Walters' wife, whose presence during his travels "may well be desirable."

— All membership dues, fees and other charges at the Harvard Club of New York, the New Canaan, Conn., Country Club "and such other clubs or organizations" whose membership "would facilitate" his work.

— A new $500,000 life insurance policy and a package of health and disability insurance.

Rep. Robert D. Collins (R-Ill.) and other members of Congress in a private agreement with Walters' compensation committee, questioning whether the "luxurious" should be required to subsidize (this) type of "sweetheart" employment contract.

As Cotte notes, Congress had authorized Cotton Inc. to receive $10 million annually in payments during 1974 and 1975. The subsidy was a lower but still substantial $5 million yearly in 1974, 1975 and 1976.

In addition, the Agriculture Department, through a quad-governmental organization called the Cotton Board, collects and turns over to Cotton Inc. the proceeds of a $1 per bale assessment imposed on all the nation's cotton growers. These payments have averaged $10 million annually.

The spending habits of Cotton Inc. are hardly new in Washington. In 1972, the organization allocated almost $1.3 million for new office space in New York and research facilities in North Carolina.

Included in that total was $100,000 for salaries, $60,000 for catering and food, $75,000 for grants used in a recreation room and $125,000 for floor, wall and window carpeting.

On that occasion, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., was among the congressmen who questioned the "reckless and extravagant use of public money."

In 1975, Congress added to an appropriations bill a provision that would have denied Cotton Inc. its yearly $5 million federal payment unless Walters' annual pay was reduced to the salary level of the Secretary of Agriculture — $82,250.

Walters' annual pay was reduced to the salary level of the Secretary of Agriculture — $82,250.

JACK ANDERSON Rebels Plan Battle Against Somoza

WASHINGTON — Within the next few months, Nicaraguan rebels will launch a major offensive which they hope will topple Anastasio Somoza from the presidency in a revolution that has lasted 40 years through the courtesy of United States Marines.

Blooded but unbowed, the Sandinista guerrillas learned a lesson from their abortive effort against Somoza last September: Even with overwhelming support from the Nicaraguan people, a revolutionary movement can succeed without taking on Somoza's 7,000-man National Guard in a direct military battle.

The National Guard, equipped and trained by the United States, is more than able to keep 2.5 million Nicaraguans under control unless it is confronted with a reasonably professional army prepared to conduct a reasonably professional war.

For this reason, the Sandinista National Liberation Front is training a small but dedicated military force of 10,000 men in remote areas near the Honduran and Costa Rican borders. Although it numbers no more than 1,000 the rebel army is confident that the support of the population will more than make up the difference when the full-scale war on Somoza's regime is launched.

Since their emergence as a national force in the early 1970s, the Sandinistas have operated on a rag-bag guerrilla outfit which specialized in hit-and-run raids on rural farm estates. They carried out successful attacks in Honduras and an attack on the National Palace last summer that forced Somoza to flee the country.

Waters and children fought with cutting but their hands and fingers, "Thanks O'Connell, we told our reporter Bob Sherman, "to see we will build an army and arm these people."

In Altamonte Springs

Floyd Re-Elected Mayor; Constantine Wins Seat

Altamonte Springs voters Tuesday gave their mayor a third term in office, selected the youngest candidate in any election in the county for a term of the city commission and called for a run-off election next week to choose a second city commissioner.

Sixty-three percent — 4,043 — of the city's 6,370 eligible voters re-elected Mayor Norman Floyd by a landslide. Floyd, seeking a second three-year term — he had earlier also served a two-year term — was given 2,052 votes to 1,541 for his challenger City Commissioner George Perkins.

Commissioner-elect Sandra Glenn, the voters called for a run-off between Mrs. Peggy Childress and ex-city commissioner Dan Dorfman. Mrs. Childress received 1,642 votes while Dorfman received 1,887. Other candidates in that race, Terry Hill received 882 while George Schmalz got 208. The city's charter requires a winner to carry 50 percent plus one vote in a contest to win.

Voters Put Cap On Taxing

The voters of Seminole County showed Tuesday they like the idea of setting a limit on the county commission's ability to levy taxes by approving the commission-sponsored legislation by better than 2-1.

Voting for a tax cap of $7.25 per $1,000 valuation on real property were 5,000 voters while 9,000 voted against.

The county's tax rate is currently $6.00 per $1,000 valuation.

The state and federal mandated programs are included within the current $6.00. The state-wide property tax cap is $10 for county government.

Knockin' 'Em Over, Checking 'Em Out

Sanford's Harold Antoine concentrates on next move in domino tourney. It paid off; he won.

Golden Age: Wait And See

By MAX EKILITIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Today was a day of anticipation for competitors in the Golden Age Olympics.

Competition in the cross country bike race, bowling, tennis and bobby show which all began Tuesday was continued today and in some cases will not be concluded until Thursday.

The bike race began Tuesday morning. However, the final heats of the competition will not conclude until Thursday.

Bowling competition, which also began Tuesday, will not conclude until Thursday afternoon.

At 1 p.m. bowling competition gets underway at Bowl America Lanes, 180 Airport Blvd.

Though the final tallies in much of the competition is not in, one thing is sure, entries and spectators have increased in many events.

In Tuesday's golf match 36 entrants endured 18 holes of par 72 play at Mayfair Country Club, according to Ernie Horrell, chairman of the golf committee.

"We almost filled the golf course this year and I don't know what we're going to do next year," said Horrell.

Two of the checker stalwarts keep their eyes trained on the board. That's Margaret Ulmer of Lake Mary, making a move as the only female competitor. And at right is Herman Minkler pondering his next move. His moves were right on the mark - he won the tourney.

68-Mile Trip To Sanford Pays Off

Herman Minkler, 64, says he drove 68 miles from Melbourne for one reason and one reason only: To win the Golden Age Olympics checkers tournament.

He did just that, beating A.C. Madden, 75, a resident of Sanford for 30 years and defending champion in the checkers tournament.

Minkler, who said he has won several tournaments, including a statewide tournament in Ohio, has been playing for 40 years.

"This guy is tough," Minkler said, "he made his move in a try game against Madden."

The tournament, sponsored by the Sanford Senior Citizens Club and played at the club's round-robin affair with 16 points going to the winner of a game and one point for each contestant in a draw. Most points after all games was declared the winner.

Margaret Ulmer of Lake Mary, who admits only to being "dreaded" was the only woman in the tournament. "It's just fun to play," she said. "I only play once a year - at the Golden Age Olympics."

Also entered in the tournament was Mrs. Ulmer's husband, John, 68. The couple has participated in the Olympics for the past three years. "I'll take any of the medals they'll give me," Ulmer said.

For C.J. Holmgren, this is his first Olympics. "I'm doing pretty good," he said. "I haven't played in years. I'm just competing to see how good I could do," he said.

...Golden Age Events

Competition in the tennis tournament was scheduled to end today.

Today's events got underway with a rotation billiards tournament, tennis and bridge action. Bridge and Canasta are scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center along with dancing at the center beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Thursday's activities begin at 9 a.m. with table tennis competition. The cross country bike race will conclude with the dance tonight and the track and field events Saturday.

"We expect a big turnout of spectators and participants for the dance today and the track and field events Saturday," commented Horner.

Chamber officials anticipate about 600 for the dance this afternoon at the Sanford Civic Center.

Hobby

A less strenuous, but popular Golden Age Olympics event is the hobby show held in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building. This year entries have increased from last year's 75 to 207 in five divisions - arts, crafts, ceramics, horticulture and collections.

Awards in each division include a gold medal for best of show; silver for best of show runner-up; and bronze for most blue ribbons.

Domino winners: Harold Antoine, 88, first; Edith Harrison, 78, second; and Curtis Pinlayton, 67, third. All are from Sanford.

Winners in the men's division were: Russel Garcia, 64, Altamonte Springs with 70; second place Harold Hechenbach, 58, Longwood with 71 and third place W.C. Morgan, 66, Daytona, with 71.

Winners in the Women's division, all with scores of 75, were: Mary Anderson, Sanford, first place; Kathy Mather, M. Orange City, second place and Bernice Boyson, 61, Deltona, third place.

Exhibits will be open to the public today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Thursday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Exhibitors will pick up their entries Friday between 1 and 4 p.m.

The hobby show is sponsored by the Seminole County Extension Homemakers Council. Mrs. Beverly Dorton is chairman.

The golf competition Tuesday resulted in several ties. Winners in those cases were decided by comparing their finishing scores. The player with the best score on the last hole was rated the winner.

Firestone Stalls Crenshaw Bid To Make GOP History

MIAMI (UPI) — Democratic State Sen. George Firestone of Miami turned back Rep. Anderson Crenshaw's bid Tuesday to become the first Republican elected to the state Cabinet since Reconstruction Days and the voters gave two Democratic incumbents the nod over their GOP opponents.

Firestone, a 67-year-old veteran of six years in the House and six in the Senate, parlayed his South Florida power base into a victory over the non-law of former Gov. Claude Kirk.

In the other two contested Cabinet races, incumbent Treasurer-Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter snowed under Republican Jeffrey Latham of Davie, taking 73 percent of the vote, and incumbent Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington took 64 percent of the vote to easily repel his GOP challenger, Herman Williams of Gainesville. Elected without Republican opposition were veteran Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, who won a sixth term, incumbent Comptroller Gerald Lewis and Tallahassee attorney-rancher Jim Smith as attorney general.

Seminole Countians showed their loyalty and support for Gunter, their former state senator and ex-congressman, again giving him more votes than any other individual.

Only the against casino gambling issue received more votes locally than Gunter. Gunter received 25,800 unofficial votes, or 73 percent of the vote cast in that race to 8,876 for Latham.

The surprise in Seminole County in the cabinet contests was the nod of local voters for

Incumbents Fall, Demos Hold Congress

The Democrats won another two-year lease on Congress and a third of the nation's governorships in Tuesday's mid-term elections, and many voters seem to be pecking a long list of incumbents from both parties.

Governors and senators fell like ripe fruit in a high wind. But the Democrats' revolt apparently kicked off by California's Gov. Jerry Brown, the 11th last summer started the air more gustily in autumn.

Incumbents who lost included Republican Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan and Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, the Senate's only Republican; and Democratic Sen. Floyd H. Damm of Colorado, the only Democrat. In the House, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, William Bennett of Maine and Thomas McIntyre of New Hampshire.

Another Senate seat was in the balance in Texas, where Republican Sen. John Tower held a slim lead over Rep. Bob Hall. In the last stages of vote tabulating, Hall won.

On a cross-country list of referendums calling for tax cuts or spending cuts passed or were leading in Alabama, Idaho, Nevada, North Dakota, Texas and two counties of Virginia.

In 13-type proposals were rejected in Michigan, and voters in Colorado, Florida and Arizona said "no" to their tax cut referendums; and residents of wealthy Montgomery County, Md., killed a local tax-trimming initiative.

Republican House incumbents were ousted in two Democratic districts in both the South and North.

Thad Cochran won the Mississippi Senate seat being held by incumbent Democrat James Eastland, becoming the first Republican to represent the state since Blanche K. Bruce, a Democrat, left office in 1881.

Incumbents almost as sweet for the GOP gave the Minnesota House seat held by the late Hubert Humphrey and his widow, went to Republican Dave Durenberger, and Anderson's seat to the Republican Rudy Boschwitz. They will be the first Republican House incumbents in 25 years.

The Democrats had some victories to crow about too: Gov. Jerry Brown ended a string of Democratic losses to capture a second term in California and former professional football star Bill Bradley won the New Jersey Senate seat held for 24 years by the Republicans, beating New Right GOP nominee Bruce Babbitt.

In the Senate he lost its only black member in Brooke, it got its first black member elected in 12 years. Nancy Landon Kassebaum, the daughter of 1980 GOP presidential candidate Alf Landon, held the Kansas Senate seat for the GOP. She is the first woman to win a Senate term since Margaret Chase Smith of Maine in 1949.

Among the House members defeated were several who became embroiled in personal or public scandals. Losers included Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Pa., indicted just before the election, and J. Robert Burns, R-Ill., convicted of charges stemming from a $2 million bribe.

Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., under two indictments, and Harris Wofford, D-Mich., convicted on 29 counts of payroll irregularities, came through without trouble.

These Buys Are Unbelievable But True

Southeast: GOP Makes Few Gains, But...

By United Press International

The Grand Old Party showed Tuesday it is anything but dead, particularly in the Southeast where Republicans won a Senate seat in Mississippi, a governorship in Tennessee, and back Democratic Senate challenges in the Carolinas and perhaps boosted a 1980 presidential bid.

But Democrats remained stretched in most legislatures and congressional delegations, and dealt the GOP defeats in ones requiring segregated schools and prohibiting dueling.

Rep. Thad Cochran of Jackson gave up his safe Republican congressional seat to win the Senate seat of retiring Sen. James Eastland. Democrats apparently split their votes between Democrat Maurice Danin and black independent Charles Evers, the mayor of Fayette and brother of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

The GOP also retained

Cochran's seat with Jim Henson defeating John H. Stennis, son of the prominent Mississippi senator, John C. Stennis.

In Tennessee, Republican attorney Lamar Alexander defeated wealthy Knoxville banker Jake Butler to succeed Democratic Gov. Ray Blanton.

But perhaps more important from a national standpoint, Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker scored an impressive victory over Democrat Jane Eakin to perhaps boost any 1980 presidential aspirations he may harbor.

The GOP also turned back Democratic challenges in the Carolinas. Conservative James Helms easily defeated Democrat state Insurance Commissioner John Ingram in North Carolina. And in South Carolina, veteran Strom Thurmond swamped Charles D. "Dick" Ravert to win re-election.

And Republican Nev. Gingrich defeated Democrat state Sen. Virginia Shapard in Georgia's 6th Congressional District.

But Democrats won heavily in Alabama with the election of Democrat Gov. Fob James as governor; former Supreme Court Chief Justice Howell Heflin to a two-year Senate term (the remainder of the late James Allen's term); and state Sen. Donald Stewart to a full term to succeed retiring Sen. John Sparkman.

Florida Demos Net Gain: 2 House Seats

MIAMI (UPI) — The Republican Party's dreams of picking up a seat or two or three in Florida's congressional delegation were dashed Tuesday when plus three turned into minus two.

The result is that when the 98th Congress convenes, Florida will be represented by at least a dozen Democrats and only three Republicans instead of the 10-3 ratio of the last four years.

When veteran Democrat Robert L.F. Sikes and Paul Rogers announced their retirements earlier in the week, the GOP started to get ideas about adding their seats. Both Sikes' 1st District and Rogers' 11th are conservative and seemed a good bet for the GOP.

But that didn't happen and the Democrats wound up with at least two more seats than they started with.

Instead of Republican Wayne Briggs succeeding Robert L.F. Sikes in the 11th District, it will be the state Rep. Earl Killebrew, a Democrat. And instead of the GOP's own state Rep. Bill James, it will be Rogers' longtime aide, Don Hill.

In addition, Malvern attorney Bill Nelson's defeated former Sen. Edward J. Gurney in central Florida's 8th District and Broward County Sheriff Ed Stack beat scandal-plagued J. Herbert Burke in the 13th.

The only Republican with opposition who didn't have to sweat was C.W. "Bill" Young of Treasure Island who trounced businessman Jim Christian by a nearly 4-1 margin in the 6th District and will return to Capitol Hill for his 8th term.

Four veteran Democratic incumbents won easy victories. They were:

Don Fuqua of Tallahassee in the 2nd by a 4-1 margin over Pete Bradshaw of Gainesville.

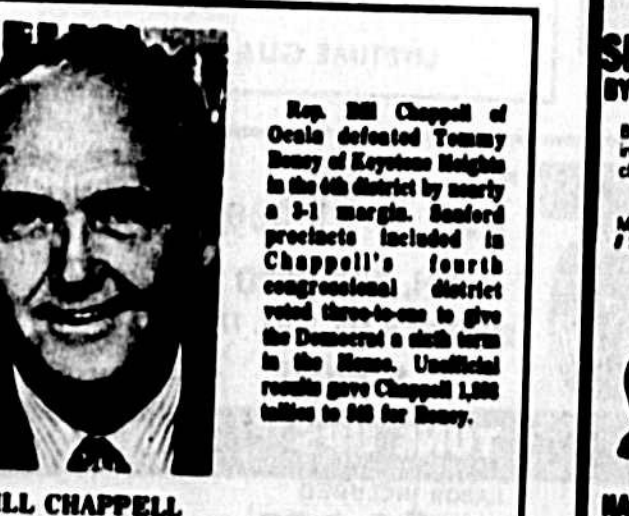

Bill Chappell of Ocala by nearly a 2-1 margin over Tommy Boney of Keytown Heights in the 9th.

Claude Pepper of Miami won a 52-47 percent edge over Cuban-born attorney Al Cardenas in the 16th District.

Demmie Pascoe of Miami defeated consulting engineer Herbert Hoodwin by nearly a 2-1 margin in the 19th.

Burke was hurt badly by his guilty plea to disorderly intoxication and resisting arrest without violence charges last May at the Central Club, which features nude go-go dancers.

An employee said Burke pinched one of the girls, but Burke said he never went inside and was actually investigating rumors of drug traffic in the neighborhood.

ERA Lobbyist: 'Feel We're OK' On Vote

MIAMI (UPI) — Equal Rights Amendment supporters won a majority vote in the Senate, but couldn't pick up the insurance vote in the Florida Legislature.

Tampa Rep. Pat Frank and George Stuart Jr. of Orlando won crucial races Tuesday, giving the ERA a bare 51-49 majority in the Senate, barring prospects of pre-announced candidates in races where returns are still incomplete.

But supporters in two other targeted Senate races lost and Revision 2, the state constitutional amendment dubbed the "ERA," was rejected by Florida voters.

Feminist groups had hoped for an overwhelming vote for ratification that might prod a couple of anti-ERA amendmenters into changing their stand.

"It's shaky, but I feel like we're okay," said Florida NOW lobbyist Tina Slatery.

Revisions: Fans Will Try Again

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida voters continued over the mass of amendments proposed by the Constitutional Revision Commission. They understood another amendment, however, Revision 9 legislating casino gambling. They approved 9 and it took the eight CRC proposals with it. That's Governor-elect Bob Graham's assessment of the defeat Tuesday of the entire constitutional package and CRC officials concede Graham is probably right.

Florida voters stood firm for the Cabinet and came out against an appointed Public Service Commission. They rejected some 100 changes to the 1978 Constitution put together over the last six months by the CRC.

Seminole: 2 Win OK

While all nine constitutional amendments failed statewide, Seminole County voters opted for Revision 3 and 4. Revision 3 dealt with creating a state member legislative district, which is called for changing the system of selecting circuit and county judges to the Missouri plan — six-year terms with voters being limited to voting for reelection or against retention of incumbent judges.

The one issue regarding the most notice of the voters was the ballot in Seminole County. Revision 8. More Seminole voters — 77,000 — cast their ballots against the casino gambling issue than any other item on the ballot. Total votes in favor locally were 7,700, for a total of 35,000 on this item. All but 800 persons who voted in the polls in the 17 precincts of Seminole cast votes in this contest.

Revision 9 created an atmosphere of no vote actual the board and that took them all to defeat," Graham said.

"The people want to elect their public officials," said Education Commissioner Ralph Turington, a leader in the "Vote Your Vote" campaign, the organized opposition to the CRC recommendations.

"The collegial governance system such as we have with the Cabinet works," Turington said. "The people support it. They don't want to put all their eggs in a single basket."

"Revision opponents will say the people won. I don't agree with that. The people didn't win, but they didn't lose either," said Steve Thibodeau, who served as CRC executive director.

Defeated three-to-one was Revision 1, the massive catch-all amending the CRC work and provisions limiting Cabinet members to two consecutive terms, establishing a state right to privacy, and letting grand jury witnesses be accompanied by their attorney.

Also defeated were proposals making county and circuit judges appointed instead of elected, establishing a "Little Equal Rights Amendment," ordering single-member legislative districts, providing tax breaks to big business, and allowing the legislature to increase the homestead exemption.

Revision 4 abolishing the Cabinet under which the governor shares power over executive agencies with six

By BARBARA FRYE
MIAMI (UPI) — Holding a sign bigger than he is, governor-elect Robert Graham stood on a busy street corner today and said, "Thank You," to the voters who gave him a thundering victory over Jack Eckerd Tuesday.

Graham and Lt. Gov.-elect Wayne Mixson, Marianna peanut farmer, caused a small traffic jam as they waved from a traffic island at the busiest street corner in Miami.

Later Graham donned a green vest and black bow tie and whipped up a batch of Cuban sandwiches at the Versailles Restaurant in Little Havana. He was a busy at the restaurant for a day during the campaign, part of a workday gimmick in which he lured at 100 odd jobs to learn the concerns of the working man.

Customers clustered around the counter as Graham whistled, sang a chorus of his campaign song and asked how to say "gracias" in Spanish.

The newly elected governor, who will succeed Reubin Askew in January, told reporters that his first priorities will be to appoint a law reform study commission, start a move to shift funding of public schools to the state and select a new group of people to come to Tallahassee to replace the bureaucrats now holding many of the government jobs.

One customer pulled at Graham. "This place is going to lose money, your sandwiches are too good."

President Carter was the first to congratulate Graham whose election assured continued Democratic dominance of Florida's government. He telephoned, calling Graham, "Mr. Governor" and promising a close state-federal working relationship.

One of Graham's first actions — probably before he takes office — will be to get a commission working on recommendations for permanent reform of the state tax structure.

His chairman will be his newly elected Lt. Gov. Mixson, who served in the Legislature with Graham.

In the interim, Graham promises to win the 1979 Legislature's approval of a two-year freeze on property taxes, which so far has gotten a lukewarm reception from House and Senate leaders.

In winning, Graham put to rest a bugaboo that no south Floridian could be elected governor. He was unable to match the 61.3 percent vote margin given Askew in 1974, but Graham's total vote of more than 1,236,513 set a new state record for a governor's race.

Governor-elect Bob Graham (right) and running mate Wayne Mixson bank in victory. Unofficial results in Seminole County gave Graham 18,251 votes to 17,600 for Eckerd.

Askew: Graham Will KO Casino Tries

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida voters soundly defeated a proposal for casino gambling on the "Gold Coast" Tuesday and, with Bob Graham taking over as governor, the odds were against any legal gaming tables in the near future.

Gov. Reubin Askew wouldn't take the credit for the 3-1 defeat of Proposition 9, but it was clearly the highlight of his unprecedented eight-years as the state's chief executive.

And with Graham succeeding him, Askew predicted: "If they come back and try to put it on the ballot again, they will be met with someone who will work just as strongly in '78, '79 and '80. Bob is good for eight years."

Cook Of The Week She Likes Gourmet Cooking

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

Linda Stone prepares Stroganoff.

Linda Stone of Longwood, is a gourmet cook who loves to cook, but still keeps trying to learn more about the subject.

"I've taken courses in Chinese and Italian cooking at the 'Kitchen County,' in Altamonte Springs. These are gourmet courses and have proved very interesting," she said.

Linda, who entertains a lot, finds grocery shopping easier if she writes a menu ahead of time. "When I'm going to have friends, I try to shop early in the week, so that I can prepare as much ahead as I can. Even though a recipe may say not to like to be ready on the night of the party and don't want to leave anything to chance. That way, there's no confusion at the last minute," she explained.

Linda is on a year's leave of absence from Sabal Point Elementary School, where she was a specific Learning Disability teacher. She is presently devoting full time to her business, Educational Evaluation Services, on Red Bug Road.

Her family has proved most cooperative to her cooking experiments. "My husband, Stephen, has always been a meat and potato man, but he's really become much more flexible in his eating. My son, Ben, who's 12, likes to cook too, and took a week cooking class with me. My entire family is very good about trying new things," she said.

Daughter Jerry, eight, completes the family, except for two beautiful cats and a large pseudo-ferocious dog.

According to Linda, cooking classes at the Middle Schools and high schools are good for students. "Besides the enjoyment, they really learn a lot," she said.

Linda's own cooking ability grew when she was very young. "I learned the basics of cooking from my mother, who worked. There were three of us kids at home, and I just gradually took over all the cooking chores. My sister always did the cleaning up afterward," she said.

Linda has two goals in the cooking line. The first is to have a dream kitchen built. "I plan one all the time. I would like a really well-organized kitchen," she said wistfully. The goal is to someday study at the famed Cordon Bleu Cooking School in Paris.

With today's ever-rising food prices, Linda admits she thinks twice before she buys. She also likes to change recipes. "I take a basic recipe that looks interesting and then modify it to our tastes," she said. She uses a microwave oven, but said, "I'm not as adept at it as I could be, but I really enjoy using my food processor."

Linda is involved with Epicerie, "where she is a marital separation seminar facilitator. She is also learning to assess babies for mental development in the Neo-Natal Clinic at the Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Besides cooking, she keeps fit at an exercise salon and loves animals. "I'd have a hundred if my husband would let me!" she said.

In And Around Altamonte 'You Picked A Fine Time To Come Home, Lucille'

When Sister Lucille Socciarelli arrived back in Altamonte Springs after ten days in Buffalo, N.Y. where she was honored in a whirlwind of just celebrations, she thought all the celebrations in honor of her 25th anniversary of 1953 were over.

"Little did she know that, as she disembarked the airplane, waited for her luggage and fought SE traffic hounds, the youth of Saint Mary Magdalen (SMM) parish where she is director of youth ministry were surprising about preparing for a surprise party in her honor."

"I was so surprised," exclaimed Sister Lucille. She confides that "I must have lost 50 pounds of fluid I cried so much."

She was particularly touched by a song written by two members of the youth group, Stephanie Fusco and Sally Murray, "You Picked a Fine Time to Come Back Home, Lucille," which is sung to the tune of the popular, "You Picked a Fine Time to Leave Me, Lucille."

A plaque presented to Sister Lucille rather sums up the feelings of the youth group members of the youth group, Stephanie Fusco and Sally Murray, "You Picked a Fine Time to Come Back Home, Lucille," which is sung to the tune of the popular, "You Picked a Fine Time to Leave Me, Lucille."

The champion winners won their respective age group titles and the overall district championship.

Giulia Jones and Nancy Perkye of the Greater Seminole Toastmasters Club were awarded a Certificate of Training for their successful completion of a Leadership Training Institute sponsored by the St. Petersburg Toastmasters Club in St. Petersburg.

Naming Son 'Jr.' Has Been Pain In The Neck For Mom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Please print my letter so other mothers won't make the same mistake I made. After 19 years, I realize the error of naming our son "Junior," after his father.

When he got older he decided Billy was too babyish, so he asked us to call him Billy, which was not too bad — we called one Big Bill and the other one Little Bill. That worked out fine until Little Bill soon got bigger than Big Bill.

Now it's worse. It's Young Bill and Old Bill and you can imagine how thrilled father is to be Old Bill at 44.

Not only that, but their voices are identical, and they are constantly being mistaken for one another on the telephone. And their mail gets mixed up, too, when there is no "Sr." or "Jr."

It's a pain in the neck. I should have named him Lawrence, like I wanted to. I've always loved that name. Phooey on these Juniors!

TOO LATE NOW
DEAR TOM: Thanks. New mothers, take note.

DEAR ABBY: I think your advice to ME IN MALIBU was way out of line. Six years ago I met Bill. We fell in love and became roommates. Between us we have a total of eight children ranging from 9 to 19. We've never tried to hide our lifestyle from them. They accept us and we accept them. The two youngest live with us.

Traditional Turkey Ushers In Winter Holiday Season

Tradition is the mainstay of the long winter holiday season. Adults tend to carry on with the same rituals they experienced as children. And children joyfully anticipate the holidays, knowing they can count on sharing a season similar to the one the year before.

Those traditions carry over to almost every aspect of the holiday, including the foods served. Children and adults alike know they can count on virtual groaning boards brimming with foods that mean "holidays" to them.

Golden brown roast turkey—once enjoyed only at Thanksgiving—has long since become the traditional choice for this entire festive season, as well as family meals all year round. In planning your holiday food purchases, figure one pound of turkey for each main meal serving plus enough leftovers for sandwiches, waffles and casseroles later. Fortunately, turkey, either large or small, is an excellent buy this season.

And what's a holiday meal without perfect gravy? By following the accompanying Turkey Gravy recipe, you'll serve smooth, translucent sauce. The gravy is thickened in a 10-second up-to-date way with corn starch. An additional advantage of the gravy recipe is that it makes enough for leftovers, especially for hot turkey sandwiches. The same corn starch thickening method is used in the recipe for Creamed Onions and Celery.

Fruit always has a place in the seasonal cornucopia of foods. This holiday season, try a relish with an unusual twist. Cranberry Pear Relish, marinated in white wine, pine cranberries, oranges and crunchy walnuts for a Christmas-appropriate relish. The addition of orange to the cranberry relish offers a pleasantly fruity taste to the turkey's sweet potato combination.

Top off the holiday meal with No Bake Pumpkin Pie, worthy of starting a new tradition all its own.

TURKEY GRAVY
Turkey giblets and neck
7 cups water
2 stalks celery, halved
2 stalks onion, halved
3 tablespoons salt
1 bay leaf
6 tablespoons turkey pan drippings
4 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 cup water
3 chicken-flavored bouillon cubes

In large saucepan place turkey giblets and neck, water, onion, celery, salt and bay leaf. Bring to boil; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until giblets are tender. Drain broth; reserve. Pour pan drippings into large measuring cup. Allow to stand several minutes until fat separates from turkey juices. Return 6 tablespoons fat drippings to pan; discard remaining fat drippings. Add reserved giblet broth to turkey juices to equal 4 cups, return to roasting pan. Stir together corn starch and water until smooth; add to roasting pan. Add bouillon cubes. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat, stirring to loosen bits from bottom of pan; boil 1 minute. If desired, chop giblets and add to gravy. Makes 6 cups.

CRANBERRY PEAR RELISH
3 cans (16 oz. each) pear halves
one-third cup dry white wine
1 (2-1/2 lb.) cranberry
1/2 teaspoon white cloves
2 cups whole cranberries
one-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
2 tablespoons water
2 eggs, beaten, coarsely chopped

In large saucepan place pears, wine, cranberries, cloves and sugar. Bring to boil; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until pears are tender. Drain pears; reserve 6 cups juice. Add cranberries and brown sugar. Bring to boil; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until cranberries have popped. Stir together corn starch and water until smooth; add to mixture. Stirring constantly, bring to

TURKEY ROASTING GUIDE
The National Turkey Federation recommends placing thawed turkey breast-up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into the thickest part of thigh, not touching bone. Your turkey is done when thermometer reaches 180-185 degrees F., thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with thumb and forefinger protected with paper towel, or drumstick and thigh move easily. Approximate Cooking Time in 325 degree F. Oven

6-8 pounds	3 to 3 1/2 hours
9-12 pounds	3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours
12-15 pounds	4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours
16-20 pounds	5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours

Unstuffed turkeys require about 1/2 hour less roasting time. Roasting times can only be approximate since conformation of turkeys, accuracy of home ovens and degree to which turkey is thawed are all variables.

CREAMED ONIONS AND CELERY
1 bunch celery with leaves
1 bay leaf
1/2 cup parsley
1 ground small white onion, peeled
3 cups water
3 chicken-flavored bouillon cubes
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons corn oil
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 cup slivered almonds

Cut 1/2-inch from top of celery leaves, stem. The celery tops, bay leaf and parsley from remaining celery bunch, scrub stalks. Diagonally slice celery stalks 1/4-inch thick. In 2-quart saucepan place celery tops, onions, water, bouillon cubes, salt and pepper. Bring to boil; cover and simmer 30 minutes or until onions are tender. Discard celery tops. In large skillet heat corn oil over medium heat. Add sliced celery; cook 2 minutes. Add onions and broth. Stir milk into corn starch until smooth, add to skillet. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Sprinkle with almonds. Makes 6 servings.

one-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 baked (9-inch) pastry shell
1/4 cup sugar

3 eggs, lightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped, divided

In small saucepan melt margarine over medium heat. Add chopped pecans and brown sugar; cook, stirring frequently, until mixture boils. Sprinkle over bottom of pastry shell. In 2-quart saucepan stir together sugar, corn starch, pumpkin pie spice and salt. Gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stir in pumpkin and eggs. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. For extra smoothness, beat 30 seconds. Stir in vanilla. Cool. Gently fold in 1 cup whipped cream. Turn into pastry shell. Cover with remaining whipped cream and pecan halves. Refrigerate. Makes 8 servings.

TURKEY STEW
1 can (16 oz.) over halives
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
3 cups cubed turkey

Winners in National Beef Cook-Off 'Butterfingers' Capture First Prize

Calling it creativity captured the first prize of $1,500 in the 1978 National Beef Cook-Off in Chicago, Ill. Her winning recipe, "Butterfingers," was developed by Mrs. Draville and her husband, who are representing New Hampshire in last year's contest. Her winning recipe topped those of the finalists from 30 other states and the District of Columbia.

The 1978 Cook-Off was the 15th national contest sponsored by the American National Cow-Bellies Women's Auxiliary of the National Cattlemen's Association, in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The sixth Cook-Off will be held in Omaha, Neb., Sept. 29-30, 1979. As in this year's contest, winners will be limited to recipes using two to five pounds of beef chuck (one to two pounds of beef chuck), round, rump or brisket (not to be cooked in a state confined).

Mrs. Draville's recipe calls for setting pieces of meat from the broiler top side of the beef chuck and quickly pan-frying them in a medium-rare before topping with the tasty mushroom sauce. The creaming sauce is provided by a "beef and onion" fashion of green onions.

Win Accolades With A Tempting, Low-Cal Shrimp Broccoli Bake

Shrimp, in particular, are great when time is important and good eating is paramount. Low-calorie shrimp are "A small or puny one or thing" but the only part of that definition that applies to shrimp is that they are small. There is nothing puny or unimportant about these little crustaceans, after all they do have the reputation of being "heroes" with thousands of people. Their versatility is well known and they are simply delightful whether in appetizers, casseroles, cocktails, salads, or gourmet entrees.

Shrimp are power-packed with high-quality protein and other nutrients while being low in fat and calories. They may be purchased raw or cooked, peeled or unpeeled, and fresh or frozen in all parts of the U.S.A.

You'll win accolades with a tempting, low-calorie Shrimp Broccoli Bake. This recipe flavor accents the shrimp in an Italian dressing, catsup, onion, and parsley mixture. The shrimp are sautéed on top of and surrounded by buttered broccoli and baked in a covered casserole for about 30 minutes. Just before serving, sprinkle the shrimp mixture with cheese and pop back into the oven until the cheese melts, or omit the cheese if you are seriously counting calories.

SHRIMP BROCCOLI BAKE

1/2 pound cooked, peeled, and deveined shrimp, fresh or frozen
One-third cup commercial Italian dressing
1/4 cup catsup
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli spears, cooked and drained
2 tablespoons margarine
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup finely shredded processed American cheese (optional)

Combine and mix Italian dressing, catsup, onion, and parsley. Pour over shrimp; mix carefully. Cut broccoli stems into small pieces. Arrange in bottom of shallow 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Arrange broccoli florets on either end of casserole. Melt margarine; stir in lemon juice. Drizzle over broccoli. Spoon shrimp mixture between broccoli florets; cover with aluminum foil, crimping it to edges of dish. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., about 30 minutes or until hot. Uncover; sprinkle with cheese, if desired. Return to oven to melt cheese. Makes 8 servings.

For convenience, shrimp may be cooked ahead of time, cleaned and stored in refrigerator until preparation time. About 1 1/2 pounds of raw shrimp will yield 4 pounds cooked, peeled, and cleaned shrimp.

No Total Prevention Against Heart Attack

DEAR DR. LAMB—There is so much written about preventing heart attacks because they are so common. But I never see anything about a person who does not have all of these above problems, like me.

I am 78 years old, 5-foot-4, weigh 128 pounds and never had high blood pressure in my life. I was getting out of the shower on a Sunday morning when suddenly I had severe chest pains. My wife called the ambulance and they came in five minutes. They gave me oxygen which helped to relieve the pain.

I was rushed to the hospital and was in the coronary care unit for four days and in the hospital for two weeks. I haven't had any pain since. During the pain, I had cold sweats. When they X-rayed me in the hospital, there was water in my lungs.

I am getting my strength back, eat and sleep good and feel like I never was. I have been under the impression that I would never have a heart attack because of not having high blood pressure or the other problems that you often mention in your column.

DEAR READER—There is no formula which guarantees anyone that he will never have a heart attack. You are absolutely right, there are people who are not overweight, don't smoke and don't have high blood pressure who do have heart attacks.

But, I would like to point out that, even in your case, you didn't have one until you were 78. Moreover, you survived it. We recognize that we can't totally prevent people from having heart attacks. But we hope that by following a prudent course of action, you have, that rather than having a serious heart attack in your latter 60s, 70s or even early 80s that you might live to 78 before having any more problems.

By having a good lifestyle and keeping your blood pressure down, you decrease your chances of having a heart attack or a stroke. That doesn't mean no one will ever have heart attacks if they follow such a lifestyle.

To give you more information about what happens when you have a heart attack, I am sending you The Health Letter, number 211 Heart Attack: When It Strikes.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am 8-foot-4 and weigh 130 pounds. Recently, I noticed I am developing a doubled chin. How can I get rid of this without losing weight?

DEAR READER—By surgery. Local fat pads such as the doubled chin just simply do not disappear on their own. There is no such thing as "spot reducing." If you want to get rid of a spot or lump of fat, it has to be cut out.

The alternative is to lose excess body fat all over. In the course of losing all that fat, hopefully, you will get rid of the undesirable feature. Unfortunately, it doesn't always work that way. A person may get thinner and thinner and still have fat in spots they don't like, your double chin being a classic example.

Some people have a familial characteristic to develop a double chin. Others have characteristics to develop heavy thighs, and it makes it more difficult for these people if they want to avoid such features.

Certainly, the removal of the fat pad just underneath the chin is a difficult surgical procedure. A good cosmetic surgeon can do it without much trouble. If you really think you are thin enough already, and don't want to lose weight elsewhere, it might be a good idea to see a doctor who does cosmetic surgery.

Alaska 'No-Bake' Good Substitute For Baked Treat

Baked Alaska is an impressive dessert. But if you don't want to hold your breath over its outcome—or if you want a similar dessert that takes less effort—try a no-bake version.

At the heart of the "Alaska no-bake" are strawberries, whipped smooth in a blender or with a rotary beater. The strawberries are used as filling for slices of pound cake, or, if you prefer, you can use the cake as the base. Frost the entire cake with whipped light cream before serving.

Whipped light cream
Early in the day or the day before, prepare strawberry ice. In blender, whirl berries smooth. Add liqueur or juice. What again to dissolve. Pour into deer back pan (9-by-9-by-2 inches). Freeze until almost firm.

Cut cake into 6 slices. Arrange evenly over strawberry ice. Return to freezer for at least one hour. Then unmold strawberry ice onto serving plate by loosening along edges with knife. Touch bottom of pan in hot water for 10 seconds (if melting occurs, place dessert in freezer for 10 minutes).

Frost entire cake with whipped light cream. Return to freezer for an hour, or cut and serve at once. (For ease in cutting, remove from freezer 20 minutes before serving.) Makes 6 servings.

Goulash Teams with Sauerkraut

Aromatic, Spicy Goulash Is Easy On Food Budget

Goulash goes a long way to stretch the family meat dollar. Aromatic Hungarian veal uses less expensive chuck, which is tenderized by slow simmering. Serve alongside additional sauerkraut, topped with sauerkraut, sliced potatoes, toast wedges and rolls and a dessert of vanilla pudding or your favorite fruit.

The goulash also makes a tempting buffet dish.

ADAPTATION: HUNGARIAN GOULASH

2 pounds beef chuck, cut into 1-inch cubes
Salt and pepper
One-third cup flour
1/4 cup oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 tablespoon Angostura aromatic bitters
2 cups beef broth
One-third cup catsup

2 teaspoons sweet paprika
1/4 cup sour cream
1 can (27 ounces) sauerkraut, drained
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
6 large boiled potatoes, peeled and cut into quarters
Sprinkle beef cubes lightly on all sides with salt and pepper.
Roll flour and beef together until cubes are well coated.
Heat oil in a large soupçon or Dutch oven and brown beef cubes on all sides.
Add onion. Sauté for another 5 minutes. Stir in bitters, catsup and paprika. Cover and simmer for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until beef is tender.
Stir in sour cream. Correct seasoning with salt and pepper.
Heat sauerkraut and caraway until piping hot. Spoon beef onto serving platter and top with goulash. Serve with boiled potatoes. Makes 6 servings.

The French Have A Name For Classic Pot Roast

The French may call it (boeuf en daube), but it's really a classic pot roast that goes well with freshly cooked vegetables.

This pot roast with a French accent differs from most American versions of the dish. Although the French, too, tenderize a more economical cut of beef by simmering, they add more flavor by marinating first. Sleeping for a couple of hours in a fully-seasoned marinade has the added advantage of breaking down fibers for extra tenderness.

Boeuf au daube might be passed up the traditional roast turkey at Thanksgiving.

BOEUF EN DAUBE
4 pounds beef pot roast
Salt and pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
2 large onions, sliced
1 cup sliced celery
2 carrots, sliced
1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 teaspoons salt
8 whole peppercorns
1/4 cup French red wine vinegar

1 cup French dry red wine (or beef broth)
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed beef broth
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup tomato puree
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Sprinkle roast with salt and pepper. Rub with garlic. Place into a large glass or earthenware bowl. Add onions, celery, carrots, parsley, salt, peppercorns, vinegar, wine and broth. Cover and let stand at room temperature for 2 hours.
Drain meat and reserve marinade. Heat butter in a Dutch oven. Brown beef on all sides. Add marinade and bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer for 2 to 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender.
Remove roast to a platter. Skim excess fat from pan juices. Mix tomato puree with cornstarch and stir into pan juices. Stir up pan of range over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens slightly. Slice beef and top with gravy. Makes about 6 servings.

SCC Head's Daughter Slain By Husband

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

The 24-year-old daughter of Seminole County College President Dr. Earl Weldon was murdered this morning. She was shot by her estranged husband who then turned the shotgun on himself and shot himself in the head, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's office.

Eileen Brown of 151 Springwood Circle in the Springwood Village Apartment complex near Longwood was dead on arrival at Florida North Hospital, Rick E. Brown, 39, of Sanford was dead at the scene.

The murder-suicide occurred in the parking lot area outside of Mrs. Brown's apartment at 7:30 this morning. The manager of the apartment complex said Mrs. Brown rented the apartment for herself about two months ago.

The couple had been married about three years, according to friends.

Sheriff's deputies say Brown, who is from Panama City, was apparently waiting for his wife to come out of her apartment this morning.

His car, a blue Opel, was parked across from her apartment and the car door was still open when sheriff's deputies arrived this morning.

Deputies speculated Brown ran out of his car and fired a single shot at his fleeing wife who was hit in the back. Brown was found lying next to his wife's new Corvette, about 30 yards away from his wife.

The shotgun was on his chest. Brown was a construction worker and Mrs. Brown has worked for the past four years at the Flagship Bank of Seminole, 3000 Highway 17-82.

She was a former student at Seminole Community College (SCC).

Events at the apartment complex said they heard two shots fired close together and soon afterward there were screams and yelling. "She was a beautiful person."

It seemed like she didn't have a care in the world," the apartment manager said. "She had just bought this Corvette, she was very excited about it."

The Corvette still had its temporary tags. "She was a fine person. Very bright, nice personality, friendly," Ray Milroy, assistant to Weldon at SCC, said.

Milroy said he had met Brown only a few times. "He was a nice, young fellow," he said. The couple had no children. Weldon and his wife, Jerrit, have three children. A second daughter, Janice, is married and a son, Steven, is a student at Seminole High School.

The Weldons are originally from Gainesville and Dr. Weldon served as dean of instruction at St. John's Community College before accepting the president's post at SCC in 1981.

Weldon took over the college administration during its first full year of operations and has been its only president.

Election Muddies Future Of County Ambulance Pact

What's going to happen with ambulance service in Seminole County? Will a contract with Herndon Ambulance Service, which has been under contract with the county for the service for the past 18 years be continued and with a substantial subsidy, or will the county go into the business and provide the service "in house"?

All those questions were answered by the county commission on a 3-2 vote Tuesday. But the voters spoke and now the questions are up in the air again.

The commissioners had been wrestling with the questions concerning emergency ambulance service for the past several months.

Ten days ago, commissioners tied 3-2, with Commissioner John Alexander absent, on whether to pay Herndon a $8,244.63 subsidy for November and at the same time instructing Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser to develop an ambulance service program and system with the emergency portion to be run in house by Seminole County.

"I think the county fire department with its emergency medical technicians has the capability of handling emergency ambulance service," said Alexander.

For other aspects of ambulance service, said Alexander, the county should consider granting a franchise to an ambulance service which is willing to return the most money to the county. "This is what is commonly known as the gray portion of the program," said Alexander.

Kaiser's report was to have been ready for the commissioners by Dec. 1.

The voters decided Tuesday Alexander was not the man of their choice on the county commission and elected Robert Sturm of the Woodlands.

Sturm said today he sat in on a 1 1/2-hour meeting with County Administrator Roger Neimander, Kaiser and Jeff Eichberger, director of the county's Office of Management, Analysis and Evaluation (OMAE) on the costs of alternatives.

"Right now I have an open mind," he said. "I have not seen a verification of Herndon's figures yet. The key is how much is a life or lives worth and an awful lot of lives in Seminole County are involved. When you come right down to it, you don't put a dollar value on it every time."

A workshop has been set with Neimander, commissioners — including new members — and Kaiser for 10 a.m. Wednesday. Herndon first asked for a $74,000 subsidy to continue the program as is in the county with three ambulances stationed here. See AMBULANCE, Page 2A

U.S. 'Rembrandt' Rockwell Dies

NORMAN ROCKWELL IN EARLIER DAYS

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Norman Rockwell, whose hundreds of honey paintings depicted the fabric of American life like no other artist, died at his home late Wednesday. He was 81.

Rockwell, who drew 317 covers for the weekly Saturday Evening Post, was in failing health for two years and had been unable to work in the studio he kept in the Berkshire mountain town of Stockbridge.

On the onset of the time of his death was his last painting — an unfinished depiction of Stockbridge.

If he was sometimes dismissed as a painter of sentiment — one critic called him the "Lawrence Wells of painting" — he also was praised as "America's Rembrandt" and its favorite painter.

Born in New York City Feb. 3, 1894, Rockwell dropped out of high school at 16 and on the strength of a few months' education at the Academy of Design, began illustrating youth magazines. In three years he was art director of Boys Life Magazine.

He sold his first painting to the Post when he was 22 for $88. It showed a young boy reluctantly pushing a baby carriage and marked the beginning of an era.

"I'm really almost religious about the Post," he once said, although he also was the illustrator for the Annual Boy Scout Calendar, the Top Value Stamp and Franklin Mint catalogues.

Over the next four decades, he turned out throat-catching, eye-twisting scenes that caught Americans — big and American — a doctor patiently examining a little girl's doll, a hard-boiled boy ready to receive a shot, a family solemnly giving thanks before dinner. Her father, Norman Rockwell, Johnson and Nixon, as well as astronaut John Glenn and Neil Armstrong — but it was the quiet unknown Americans who made him famous and wealthy.

The first marriage in 1916 ended in divorce. His widow, Molly, a former English professor, and he met at a Stockbridge town meeting in 1931.

He has three sons, Jarvis, a painter, Thomas, a poet, and Peter, a sculptor. Rockwell's personal physician, Dr. Franklin Paddock, said the painter died at 11:15 p.m. EST, of an undisclosed illness.

His Violin For Show — But Not For Play

JAMES MORRIS AND HIS WINNING VIOLIN

James Morris, 63, of Sun City Center, a community of retirees located 25 miles south of Tampa, spent 1,000 hours lavishly and skillfully fashioning his violin. But he doesn't know how to play it.

Morris entered the instrument, patterned after the classical Stradivari, in the hobby show at the Golden Age Olympics and took the gold medal for best in the entire category of the craft division.

Morris learned violin-making from 14-year-old amateur violinist Walter Gregory — and using Gregory's patterns carved the violin from blocks of wood.

His coach, Mrs. Len Baker, a Sanford resident, but they did not enter. This year, Mr. and Mrs. Morris entered their work and both received recognition.
