Washington SEE & SAW

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT? — Did he do right or did he do wrong? All Washington is still debating the Sherman Adams case. And while the words continue to fly, one man at least feels the whole mess never would have happened if folks had listened to him. Back in 1961, Congressman Charles Bennett proposed that Congress adopt a "Code of Ethics" for all in government to follow. At that time, Bennett introduced a resolution setting forth a definite standard that would guide the conduct of those in public service. For seven years he has been pushing his resolution. He said last week that he looks for its passage during this session of Congress.

Bennett's code would not be written into law. It would not be binding. But it would clarify what is and what is not ethical conduct by public servants. "Canon Number Five" of Bennett's code deals with the acceptance of gifts. It reads: "Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept for himself or his family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties." Bennett says that the present trouble is not new, but is a natural outgrowth of a pattern that was laid during the 1952 presidential campaign. "When this problem came up during the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign," Bennett said, "I felt a very serious error was being made when they did not face the problem properly. The pattern was laid during the famous 'checkers' television broadcast. They should have said two things. First, that what Nixon had done was wrong, and second, they should have made it clear that it would not happen again."

Bennett says that some of these cases are matters of taste rather than ethics. "Ethics are involved," he said, "when some benefits is derived from the man's official position. This was true in the Sherman Adams' case. But in the case of Jim Hagerly at Ponte Vedra, I think it was just poor taste. It might be all right for a man in his position to lend his person and name to help advertise Ponte Vedra if he wants to. But it seems to me that there is an ethical blind spot there. The State Department was disciplining a minor official for accepting a gift automobile from King Saud, the President was given a jeweled sword by the same hand. What's the difference?"

CONGRESSMAN Charles E. Bennett announces candidacy for reelection.

Bennett Candidate For Reelection

Congressman Charles E. Bennett today announced that he has filed qualifying papers as a candidate for reelection.

Now serving his fifth term, Bennett is a member of the House Armed Services Committee, one of the major committees of the House. He has missed no record votes in the House since 1951, a record equaled by only two other House Members.

Since entering the House, Bennett has sponsored or co-sponsored 31 public general bills which were enacted into law. Included in these are laws which: prevent employment by the Federal government of those who advocate the overthrow of the U. S. Government and require oaths by new Federal employees that their employment will not violate this law; establish "In God We Trust" as the national motto of the United States and require that this motto be inscribed on all new U. S. currency and coins; changed the income tax deadline from March 16 to April 15 to help Florida's tourist trade; made disabled children over 18 eligible for dependents' social security benefits; adopted Hoover Commission recommendations to improve government budgeting and accounting methods.

TOURIST SPENDING

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Bank of Commerce reported today that tourists from the United States and other countries spent $68 million dollars in Mexico last year.

President Eisenhower has accepted more than 100 gifts and more valuable than those received by any other President. "It seems to be inevitable that this issue will be a part of the Democratic platform in the coming elections. But to me the important thing to be learned from the current happenings is that we need an official code of ethics for those who work in the government and for persons dealing with them."

Stratotanker Crashes On Take-Off; 15 Killed

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (UPI)—A giant jet stratotanker crashed and exploded on take-off early today, killing all 15 on board.

The other victims included seven crew members and two representatives of the National Aeronautics Assn.

The planes were dubbed Alpha, Bravo, Cocco and Delta for the mission designed to dump the United States' air might.

Alpha trailed Alpha by about two minutes, making it in five hours, 29 minutes, 34 seconds, an average speed of 636.5 mph.

It was brighter than daylight. It was the most awful thing I ever saw," said farmer Earl Miers F. Machowski, whose three-acre cornfield was set ablaze by the flaming plane.

UP THESE STEPS the lame, blind, sick, and aged must go to reach the Seminole County Health Unit on Palmetto Ave. This is the only entrance and only exit to the building.

Action Needed Before Buildings Crumble

AN EDITORIAL. For 30 years Seminole County schools were allowed to run down until, by pure might and power, the Board of Education started a planning campaign and added new facilities to the local school system to take care of a "mit" of the local needs.

Even longer, Seminole County's public buildings have been deteriorating. Nothing has been added in the way of new facilities. The theme has been "just any old hole will do just so long as we can get by."

It stands to reason that necessary changes in the Seminole County tax structure could have been made years ago to provide a surplus large enough with which buildings could be replaced, new facilities added, and modern conveniences provided for the operation of county government in all of its branches.

You'll hear an answer—more than likely—one that will go like this: "We've gotten by, haven't we?" Most certainly, the county has gotten by. But by the skin of their teeth and only that.

The county structures are so depleted and rundown today that it is necessary to replace all of them for their life in the same condition.

Take, for instance, the Seminole County Health Unit. It is in an upstairs location. Steep steps lead to the dingy, over-crowded offices that can't take care of one-tenth of the people who make use of the services there.

As a citizen, you would probably become enraged if you visited the County Health Unit and found 30 or 40 people crowded into a waiting room that actually can take care of a mere five or six.

And yet there are those who say "We don't need new buildings. What we have is good enough." Seminole County should be ashamed of the fact that such offices as this one exist!

Especially should the county be ashamed when modern facilities could be provided, on county property, with half of the bill paid.

No! There's no planning, no looking to the future, no replacing of worn out buildings and facilities, no provision made for funds with which such plans could be made.

9-Year-Old Boy Drowns In Clay Pit

A nine-year-old Sanford boy was drowned late Wednesday afternoon as he and another youngster slipped off from a group attending a church summer camp.

It was reported that the youngster boy pulled Jerry Lee Smith up in the water but could not hold him.

The youth was attending a Nazarene Church summer camp and was scheduled to stay one week. He had arrived only last Monday.

He is survived by his mother, Jack R. Smith and his father, Mrs. J. J. Smith; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Smith.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. at the Church of the Nazarene in Sanford with the Rev. Robert F. Spear Jr. officiating.

Interment will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park. Gramkow Funeral Home is in charge.

IN THIS ROOM from 30 to 40 patients must wait their turn at the Seminole County Health Unit. These are the facilities that a progressive, aggressive and growing county must use to take care of its citizens.

ONE MAN DIED and another was injured when this car, skidding on the wet surface of the St. Johns River Bridge, 16 miles east of Sanford on State Road 46, tore out two metal and wood sections of the bridge structure before wrapping itself around a steel girder.

Driver Of Car Faces Manslaughter Charge

A 32-year-old Titusville Negro is being charged with manslaughter following an automobile crash late yesterday afternoon which demolished the car completely and took the life of a passenger.

The accident occurred about 6:30, Patrolman Garrett said. One of the fishermen at the east end of the bridge said that the crash "sounded like an explosion."

Albert Thomas, driver of a 1951 Ford passenger auto, apparently lost control of his car at a high rate of speed, and smashed into the St. Johns river bridge, 16 miles east of Sanford on State Road 46.

The accident was as slick as glass, Patrolman Garrett said. Apparently the accident occurred immediately following a heavy downpour late yesterday.

A Negro passenger in the car, tentatively identified as Clifford Robinson, about 45, died at Seminole Memorial Hospital following a desperate attempt to save his life.

Roberson received head injuries, a chin laceration, fractured right arm, and severe lacerations of his legs. He died shortly before 10 o'clock last night following emergency treatment June 21 before being sent to an Orlando hospital for further medical aid.

Reconstructing the accident, Patrolman Garrett said that the car, traveling west on the way to Sanford, struck the bridge on the east end and tore out the wooden structure and then skidded, bounced and smashed into a steel girder after tearing out another section of the wooden structure on the right hand side.

Law enforcement men are continuing their attempts to positively identify the dead man. Thomas knew his passenger only as "Heavy."

Papers found in a billfold which Thomas said he picked up from the seat of the car and believed to be the property of the dead man had papers which gave five different names.

Officers investigating the accident included Patrolman Garrett, Trooper T. Mark Mack, and Deputy Sheriff Carl Smith and W. Johns Jr.

Three wreckers were called to the scene in order to take the twisted mass of wreckage from the bridge.

SANFORD FIRE CHIEF MACK N. CLEVELAND SR.: speaks out on fire protection needs in the county.

Assn. Discusses Fire Protection Needs Of County

CASSELBERRY — Mack N. Cleveland Sr., Sanford Fire Chief, led a discussion on the establishment of fire control districts in certain parts of counties having not less than 25,000 nor more than 27,000 inhabitants at a meeting here this week of the Seminole County Firemen's Association.

The meeting was attended by representatives of fire departments from Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood and Casselberry, Oviedo and Altamonte Springs departments were not represented.

E. L. Zimmerman, a director of the Lake Mary V.F.D., reported that precinct number ten had met all preliminary requirements for organizing and establishing the first fire control district in Seminole County, under a law passed at the last session of the State Legislature.

A fire control district becomes operative only after approval by a majority of the eligible freeholders in a referendum. Eligible freeholders in precinct ten will have that opportunity in the September elections. The law also provides for the appointment by the County Commission of a board of five fire district commissioners to administer the affairs of the district without pay.

Under the law an assessment of ad valorem taxes not in excess of 3 mills can be levied, but only real and personal property lying outside a municipality is subject to the levy.

Longwood CofC Elects Screeney President

Daniel Joe Screeney, former mayor of Longwood, and long active in civic matters, was elected president of the Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce this week.

In the first meeting held by the directors of the Area Chamber who are serving for the 1958-59 year, Screeney was chosen for the higher office in the chamber.

Mrs. Ruth Hamilton was elected vice president, Mrs. John Carhart, treasurer, and Miss Dorothy Heath was appointed secretary.

Other directors are: R. W. "Dick" Zartman, Fred Esclavon, Mrs. L. L. Cox, Mrs. Ralph Hammond, H. S. "Law" Arnold and J. Russell Grant.

Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce met the second Thursday of each month, in the Library Hall, or in the Park, when the weather permits.

Mrs. Ruth Hamilton was appointed chairman of the Program Committee. She anticipates a lively and entertaining year, and asks every member to submit new ideas, and to advise her of any talent which may be used to provide entertainment for the programs during the year.

A campaign for new members will be started in the near future in an effort to double the present membership of 145.

A lively Chamber of Commerce is one of a town's greatest assets. The Longwood Area intends to accomplish big things for not only the Town of Longwood, but for the entire fast growing area.

C. C. F. Operates, Aids 287 Orphanages

By LOUIS CARROLL United Press International Kim Kwang Hyung was four years old when a GI patrol found him lying on a heap of rags in the cellar of a bomb-battered house in Korea.

Today Kim is a healthy, boisterous 16-year-old. He lives with 280 other orphans on a well-kept farm near Anyang, Korea. On his birthday, at Christmas, and several other times during the year, he receives packages of clothing, toys and food from an elderly couple in Iowa.

Kim is one of 22,000 children who have been "adopted" by Americans through a remarkable organization called the Christian Children's Fund (CCF).

CCF is the largest Protestant child welfare agency in the world. It operates or helps to operate 287 orphanages in 28 countries around the world.

It was founded in 1906 by a Presbyterian minister, Dr. J. Calvin Clark, who still serves as its international director. Clark recalls that CCF was born in a barbershop conversation with a Methodist missionary who recently had returned from China.

The organization he founded "with a prayer and a dollar's worth of stationery" has collected more than $60 million dollars in the 50 years since.

CCF operates with one of the lowest overhead costs of any charitable agency in existence. Last year, about 18 per cent of its total budget went into administrative expenses, including fundraising costs. The rest went to food, clothing, shelter and educate orphans.

CCF will give help to an orphanage operated by any denomination, provided it can give assurances that the children will grow up in a Christian atmosphere, with proper food, medical attention and schooling.

More than 80 per cent of CCF's funds are contributed through an "adoption plan" which establishes a direct, personal link between the donor and the particular orphan he is sponsoring.

Here's how it works: The sponsor (who may be an individual, a couple or a group such as a church school class) contributes $10 a month through CCF. This is the average cost, on a worldwide basis, of maintaining a child in a CCF-affiliated orphanage.

The sponsor indicates the kind of child he prefers to "adopt"—boy or girl, approximate age, and nationality.

He soon receives from CCF a little packet introducing the adopted child. It contains a photograph and a brief biography telling when and how the child came to a CCF orphanage, how he is getting along in school, what his interests are, what size clothing he wears.

Sponsors are encouraged to write to their "adopted" children and to send them packages if they wish. In turn, the sponsor gets progress reports from the orphanage.

There is no obligation to continue an "adoption." A sponsor may discontinue payments after the first $10. But the drop-out rate is incredibly low. Last year it was less than four per cent.

Notes:—Last year, evangelist Billy Graham conducted a spectacular crusade in New York City. It was by his own estimate the greatest challenge he ever faced. Now, he has completed a seven-week crusade in San Francisco. United Press International asked Graham to tell in his own words how, in this country, East meets West in the spiritual sense.

He has, he says, found a greater spiritual "responsiveness" in the West than elsewhere in America, and expressed the hope that "flame has been kindled" there that "will not die but spread eastward in the months ahead."

In the midst of this valley stands a vast stock-auditorium known as the Cow Palace where for seven weeks it has been the scene of a crusade. It has been a prophetic insight, for in this very spot has become the scene of a remarkable "spiritual visitation."

These cold statistics, however, tell nothing of the spiritual quakes that has at least caused a tremor in the San Francisco Bay area. San Francisco knows something about earthquakes, and the Cow Palace lies near the famous San Francisco Bay area is waiting for the dust to settle.

Spiritual Response Greater In West

Notes:—Last year, evangelist Billy Graham conducted a spectacular crusade in New York City. It was by his own estimate the greatest challenge he ever faced. Now, he has completed a seven-week crusade in San Francisco.

United Press International asked Graham to tell in his own words how, in this country, East meets West in the spiritual sense.

He has, he says, found a greater spiritual "responsiveness" in the West than elsewhere in America, and expressed the hope that "flame has been kindled" there that "will not die but spread eastward in the months ahead."

In the midst of this valley stands a vast stock-auditorium known as the Cow Palace where for seven weeks it has been the scene of a crusade.

These cold statistics, however, tell nothing of the spiritual quakes that has at least caused a tremor in the San Francisco Bay area. San Francisco knows something about earthquakes, and the Cow Palace lies near the famous San Francisco Bay area is waiting for the dust to settle.

As one newspaper editorial expressed it—"Christians have long been inferiorly complex around here."

I believe California is ripe for spiritual awakening than any other state. There is a possibility that a flame has been kindled here that will not die but will spread eastward in the months ahead. There is evidence that the people of California will respond to a warm, Christ-centered message.

I have sensed a greater responsiveness among college, university and high school students here than elsewhere across the nation.

A distinguishing feature of the crusade was its accent on youth. Each Thursday night for seven weeks the Cow Palace was jammed with teenagers, and there were never fewer than a thousand who came forward at the invitation, blocking the aisles.

These thousands of young people that marched down the ramp seemed to be telling the world that they would not be coerced out of their spiritual birthright by II-bombs or the Age of Space.

Many people have written asking, "What is the secret? I have no answer except that this is God at work, meeting the hungers, longings, desires of a confused, bewildered, frightened generation. My message has been simple, biblical and direct. The basic message that I have preached night after night is two thousand years old.

It is the message that Christ is able to transform the lives of individuals in 1958 as he did in the 1st Century. I am convinced that this is the message of hope to which thousands are responding.

How to Adjust Lights For Most TV Comfort

UNDER the proper conditions, there is no less eye strain involved in viewing television than there is in doing such close-up work as sewing or reading. Inadequate room lighting or improper adjustment of the TV picture, however, might cause a good deal of eye strain.

Keep your set in good condition so you can receive steady, clear pictures. Watch only the stations which come in strong in your particular area. Flickering or grainy images can quickly tire your eyes.

Adapt Picture Always adjust the contrast and brightness dials after the room lights have been turned on. The picture should be adapted to the lighting in the room. Don't adjust the room lighting to the brightness of the TV tube.

Your eyes, remember, can become more tired watching TV than viewing a movie in a theater. The reason for this is simple. In a motion picture theater, your eyes are moving constantly, but in watching television at home, your eyes converge steadily for long periods of time.

Don't try to see the entire screen equally well, and don't try to hold any detail. It's best to keep your eyes and attention constantly on the move.

Periodic Rests Every half hour or so, get up and take a walk to the kitchen to rest your eyes. Even while watching a program take the opportunity of being annoyed—or commercial—to

Don't wear sunglasses while viewing TV. They shut out too much light for clear vision. If you wear sunglasses when they light your eyes to become adjusted to normal light again.

Specific Prescriptions Some persons require special glasses to correct their vision for their usual television distance.

In some instances, those of you who wear bifocals will find that neither prescription is focused for the distance at which you generally watch TV. Glasses, which require glasses only for reading or other close-up tasks, also will find their prescriptions not correct for television. Obviously, you need specific prescriptions for your TV viewing.

Whether you wear glasses or not, if you suffer visual discomfort, or if your eyes water after watching TV for an average length of time, better see an eye specialist.

QUESTION AND ANSWER Q. B. Do hugs do anything besides provide oxygen for the body? A. Hugs have many functions besides the providing of oxygen.

The hugs help regulate the body heat by warming the air that is breathed in and out, and thus eliminate excessive heat from the body. An excessive amount of water in the tissues is many times excreted by the lungs in the form of moisture. The movement of the hugs also promotes circulation.

SAUCER SKIING—As a future outdoor sport on its own, a Canadian Army Pvt. Mike Dugan, 31, of Toronto, British Columbia, was a first water-skiing on the water in the week before the last Olympic team. Mike Dugan is six feet, three inches tall and weighs 140 pounds. He is a potential contender for world honors in the 1956 Olympics. (Control Press)

Saucer Offers Fun Afloat For Skiers

Bruce Parker, that granddaddy of water skiing and author of the "How To" Book of Water Skiing, illustrates a new wrinkle in riding over the water—the use of a saucer for fun afloat.

An increasing number of water skiers are getting their kicks from riding a saucer. The equipment is simple; a circular board 26 to 40 inches in diameter, a good beat with an outboard motor, and a person to mania towline similar to the lines used for water skiing.

Riding the saucer is a cross between water skiing and aquaplaning. One stands on the disc directly in the center and the tow bar is held in the hand or hands. You ride the saucer at considerably slower speeds than normal for water skiing, especially at the takeoff where it is important to ease into the operating speed.

After you are in motion, you can stand, kneel or sit on the saucer and make turns of 90, 180, or 360 degrees. The saucer will go well in any direction, but it is difficult to get it out of the wake. It will keep the rider on his toes, maintaining balance and direction.

Many of the advanced saucer riders become very proficient at the sport. They sit on ladders aboard the saucer, sit on chairs and perform any number of tricks. This series of shots shows how anyone with a sense of balance can become a disc jockey overnight—or on a Sunday afternoon.

DICK FARRELL

Dick Farrell, a 24-year-old right-hander, has been pretty generally known until recently as the "other rookie pitcher" of the Philadelphia Phillies brought up with Jack Sanford last season.

Sanford, of course, was rookie of the year with a 19-8 record. Farrell, blessed with tremendous speed, did have a 16-8 record and a 3.30 earned run average but pretty much was lost in the shuffle as another relief pitcher.

He's proving this year, however, that he's the class relief pitcher of the National League—and may be the best in baseball.

Dick's current record is 4-2 and his earned run average is 1.23. He's credited with another half dozen "saves" for the Phillies and is a likely pitcher for the NL in the July 2 All-Star game.

Miami Pitching Star Signs With Pirates

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami High school pitching star Roger Irvine, 27, has signed a baseball contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A right-hander, Irvine was ordered to report immediately to the Pirates' Salem Va. club in the AA-Bucolic Appalachian League.

The amount of cash involved in the contract was not disclosed.

Whatever Happened To

Carl Dutch Selbert

Dutch Selbert, one of hockey's greats, was named to different teams on the National Hockey League's All-Star team. Selbert came up with the New York Rangers in 1931-32 and shortly thereafter was swapped to the Chicago Black Hawks where he starred for 12 seasons. In 10 of those years with the Black Hawks he was a league All-Star. In 1944, Selbert was traded to the Detroit Red Wings and ended his career there. Whatever happened to Dutch Selbert? Now 46, the Ontario-born former star lives in Springfield, Mass., where he owns and operates a beverage company.

PRICE WAS FOR HIS RECORD—Bruce Park, owner of the national AAU track meet in Philadelphia, had an enthusiastic fan for Herb Elliott of Australia. Elliott had just set a new world record for the mile of 3:57.5 in a thrilling stretch run with his countryman, Murray Lincoln. The time may be recorded as a tie with John Landy's record of 3:58 since the AAU only recognizes a fifth of a second as the smallest unit.

THE LONE DEPUTY

CHAPTER 21

LAURA MADDOX had never been close to her father. As long as she could remember, he had been a self-centered, withdrawn man who had seldom given her more than superficial attention while her mother was alive. The thinking had been based on his various projects and enterprises.

The family had drifted through Laura's childhood years from Denver to Central City to Leadville to Cripple Creek to any place where money was being made. Barry Maddox, in spite of his ups and downs, always left a place with more money than when he arrived there.

Laura's only permanent home, the only house the Maddoxs had ever owned, was in Saddle Rock. She didn't know why her father had chosen here. She had a vague idea it had something to do with Cole Weston, and she knew her mother, who had welcomed this chance to have a home even in an isolated town like Saddle Rock, bitterly opposed the arrangement with Weston.

Over the years Laura's mother had learned to handle Barry Maddox. She ordered to his every whim, but when it came to things which Mrs. Maddox had considered important, such as the social occasions she dearly loved, she went her own sweet way and her husband had to make the most of it.

Now that Laura thought about it, it occurred to her that Cole Weston and his wife had not lived in the Maddox house since her mother had died. She remembered that her mother, a charming woman who loved to talk, had trouble being civil to Weston, and Laura remembered, too, how Mrs. Weston would sit apart from the other women in the parlor when the men had come back to the study.

Laura had never understood it, but she noticed that when her parents had gone to Rocking C, they hadn't spoken to each other for two days afterward. It proved, Laura supposed, that Cole Weston had some sort of strange hold upon her father, but she'd never thought much about it until now when she had cause to worry because of Price Regan.

"You don't know what it's meant to me," Jean said in a low voice. "Even now I don't know what I'm going to do or where I'll go. Sometimes I thought I hated Ma. She was always nagging and I felt sorry for Pa and Bruce."

She looked down at her cup, fighting back the tears that were constantly threatening since she'd heard of her parents' death. "But now Pa and Ma are both gone and I don't have anything or anybody. Except Bruce, and I'm not sure he's alive."

"Of course, there were these..."

Laura reached out and put her hands over Jean's. "You've got me, and you're going to stay here as long as you need to."

"It won't be for very long, Laura," Jean said. "You know it won't. Your father doesn't want me here. I guess I can't blame him, toying around after Cole Weston the way he does."

Laura was looking Jean for a moment, and angry. She drew her hands back and rose, saying, "Let's get the dishes done." She carried a load of dishes into the kitchen, and it came to her that Jean was perfectly right. Her father ran Saddle Rock, everyone but Price, and yet he did today around after Cole Weston.

When Jean set the dishes down she had carried in from the dining room, Laura put an arm around her. "I don't know what's going to happen, Jean, but I have a horrible feeling it's going to be bad. So bad I don't know what I'll do."

"I don't understand," Jean said. "You don't have anything to worry about. It's wonderful."

"Would you worry if your father was on one side and the man you were going to marry was on the other?" Jean said.

"Of course I would," Jean said. "I didn't think of it that way, but I wouldn't have much trouble choosing. Mr. Regan is pretty wonderful, isn't he?"

"Wonderful, a real stubber," Laura said, "and maybe born to be before we married."

"If that happens," Jean said, "it would make anything that happened to me seem very small and unimportant."

Laura picked up another handful of dishes and carried them into the kitchen. Jean was older and a great deal wiser, Laura thought. Maybe it was because she had so very little in life and therefore appreciated and cherished the tiny bit she did have.

Barry Maddox came home late for dinner, but Laura and Jean had waited, keeping the food in the warming oven. He seemed even more distraught than he had been at breakfast, barely picking at his food. When he finally rose, he said, "Laura, come back to the study for a minute."

He left without a word of explanation. It would be about Jean, Laura knew, and when she glanced at Jean she sensed that the other girl knew, too. "I won't be long," Laura said. "You take the dishes into the kitchen."

"Don't fight with him, Laura," Jean said. "Not on my account."

"I think I'll have to fight with him," Laura said, "but it may not be on your account."

"A man has an unshakable pride in his chosen death if he is chosen. And Price has," Laura said, "as tension seems to be climax in the story tomorrow."

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Wagon Train," an NBC-TV excursion which last Sat. for 15 weeks ago, pulled into Sacramento City, Calif., Wednesday night, the final stop of its 1,000-mile journey.
 Next week, the re-run starts and I figure the cast of that wagon train needs the rest. It's had trouble with Indians, gamblers, drunks, cheats, shady ladies, card sharp, disease, stubborn Indians, faded water, hired killers, renegades, fanatics, half-breeds, whole-breeds and the ill-bred.
 I can't think of any train in history that's had more trouble except possibly, the Long Island Railroad.
 Anyway, Wednesday night's show kind of showed the effect of the consistent success of "Wagon Train." There was an itzy-bitzy plot about a bad man who wrangled a good man out of $5000 and Robert Horton, the lead scout of the wagon train, got it back within the hour after some itzy-bitzy action.
 Everybody looked kind of beat and the script was kind of beat, too. It trotted in some past "Wagon Train" passengers like Linda Darnell, Dan Duray and Marjorie Main for no discernible reason and, oh yes, Margaret O'Brien floated around the edges.
 Miss O'Brien, incidentally, has turned into a remarkably pretty girl and a capable actress.
 Verdict: Liked her. Hated it.

The Channel Swim: Screen Gems, an independent outfit, looks as if it has landed two new film series on NBC-TV next fall for Thursday night — "The Ed Wynn Show" and "Behind Closed Doors."
 Miss Mabel, Elaine May and Paul Winchell have been added to the panel of "Keep Talking" which bows in on CBS-TV July 8. They join Ika Chase, Daany Dayton, Joey Bishop and emcee Monty Hall.
 Ed Murrow's "Small World," a half-hour show that features chats between personalities from widely varying fields, looks set for a Sunday late afternoon spot on CBS-TV next season — it'll start on either Sept. 14 or 21.
 If Clint Walker and Warner Bros. fail to resolve their current feud, Walker will be replaced in ABC-TV's "Cheyenne" by Ty Hunter. ABC-TV is dropping its new "Dennis Day Show" into a tough spot next season — opposite NBC-TV's "The Millionaire" and CBS-TV's "Milton Berle Show."

WAVING SPREE
PORT FORTS, Tex. (UPI) — A started district judge got quick reaction when he told Neal Eubanks and Robert Adams he could pass sentence immediately if they waived rights to a 10-day waiting period on pleas of guilty to charges of tampering with pay telephones.
 The puzzled Eubanks and Adams looked to defense attorney George Cochran for advice. "Waive," said Cochran. Both held up their right hands and began waving at Judge Willis McGregor. He gave each a two-year probation sentence when he regained his composure.

'From Hell To Texas' Opens At Ritz Sunday

"From Hell to Texas," Robert Buckner's initial production under a long-term contract for Twentieth Century-Fox, starring Don Murray and Diane Varsi will have its first local showing Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Based on a Charles O. Locke best-selling novel, "From Hell to Texas" is the taut, suspense-filled story of a young, peace-loving man who tries in every way possible to avoid violence. His intentions, however, are steadily marred by the ruthless efforts of a revenge-crazed cattle baron who wrongly believes him to have killed one of his sons. Thus the meat of the story is well seasoned by a thrilling manhunt as the halleluiah baron hires a gang of guns to relentlessly track down the elusive cowboy.

As the hunted man in question, Don Murray makes his debut in an outdoor western, circa 1880. Once previously, Murray donned the western garb of a present day Montana cowpoke opposite Marilyn Monroe in "Bus Stop," his film debut. He also has starred in "The Bachelor Party" and "A Hatful of Rain," before adding "From Hell to Texas." As his attractive, sympathetic vis-a-vis, Diane Varsi makes her second film appearance fresh from an overwhelming triumph in her screen debut in Jerry Wald's "Feynman Place," a current box office champion. Miss Varsi plays a rancher's daughter whom Murray meets in his hasty travels and with whom he almost immediately falls in love.

Henry Hathaway, who has directed some of the most successful pictures for Twentieth Century-Fox, guided the CinemaScope, Deluxe Color production which was filmed on location at Lone Pine California and in the High Sierras.
 Written for the screen by Producer Buckner and Wendell Mayes, "From Hell to Texas" co-stars with Don Murray in "Feynman Place," "The Millionaire" and NBC-TV's "Milton Berle Show."

Drive-In Schedules 'Fire Down Below'

Against the exotic background of tropical cypress-land, bounded by heat, hurricanes and the blue Caribbean Sea, an exciting off-beat love triangle flames in "Fire Down Below," the compelling romantic drama that will screen the opening of the Movieland Drive-In starting Sunday. Starring Rita Hayworth, Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon, three of Hollywood's biggest, this new Columbia picture smolders as one of film's best.
 Miss Hayworth is seen to perfection as a beautiful femme fatale, a rootless wanderer on an endless odyssey because of the catalytic upheavals in Europe. Stateless, without a passport and life-weary, she resignedly seeks a haven from authorities of many lands. As it is, she might run out of roubles but never out of Mitchum is seen in "Fire Down Below," as a small-time smuggler, a complete cynic who will run guns, women, anything for a price, while Lemmon plays an adventurer or living on borrowed time" who

JACK PALANCE, in charge of a company of infantry assigned to take a house supposedly infested with Germans, halts just before the attack. It is an assault he makes reluctantly at the command of his captain, a coward. "Attack!" a United Artists release, opens Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In.

Actor Portrays Own Philosophy In Motion Picture

It isn't often that an actor portrays the role of a man whose basic philosophy closely parallels his own in real life, but when it does happen it is interesting to note. Such is currently the case with Don Murray and his starring role with Diane Varsi in Twentieth Century-Fox's "From Hell to Texas" at the Ritz Theatre.

As "Ted Lohman" in the CinemaScope-De Luxe Color production, Murray plays a man who does everything he can to avoid violence of any kind. Yet, he is constantly hounded by a revenge-crazed cattle baron intent on eliminating the gun-shy Murray because he wrongly believes him to have killed one of his sons.

In private life Murray believes in the philosophy of non-violence and practices it in his day-to-day life. He actively supports other objectives and plans to make a film on the subject.

Chuckles In The News

ATLANTA (UPI) — Officials of Atlanta's see found out that Lloyd's of London won't insure everything, after all. Lloyd's declined to issue a $20,000 policy on a wall of the jungle set building, the base of which workers plan to blast out a moat. The premises was too small for the risk involved, insurance officials said.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — City Commissioner J. T. Waggoner had been given a rough going over by reporters at his news conference. But he took the news calmly, telling his secretary as he left: "I'm on my way to prepare a table in the presence of mine enemies."

10-Year-Old 'Grandma'

The nation's youngest Grandmother is celebrating her 10th birthday anniversary this week. Known only as "Grandma," this septuagenarian Rock Film is a regular feature on the comic pages of The Sanford Herald. She joined King Features Syndicate June 23, 1942 and in the last decade her popularity has grown until she now delights readers of 300 daily and Sunday newspapers in North and South America, Asia and Europe.

Like many gay Grandmothers, considerable discrepancy is found between her actual age and her publicly revealed age. Long before she came to newspapers, she lurked in the mind and flourished in the imagination of her creator, Chas. H. "Doc" Kuhn.

"Grandma" was a hovering around during many of the 20 years Kuhn spent as an editorial assistant for the Indianapolis News. He recalls that she came to dwell in his imagination in 1930, but the first attempt to put her down on paper were not made until 1944.

Between stints of interpreting the news of the day with brush and pen, Kuhn would draw an occasional strip of "Grandma."

Fourteen years later when he met C. E. "Duke" Richardson, a syndicate feature salesman, he had a drawer stuffed full of "Grandma" cartoon strips.

Impressed by "Grandma," Richardson teamed with Kuhn to form the only artist-salesman combination in the syndicate field and the playful old lady soared to immediate popularity.

As a 10th birthday present, a new five year contract has just been signed with King Features to assure her continued appearance in newspapers around the globe.

CHAS. H. "DOC" KUHN bleeds his brain for new ideas while his benevolent old slave driver, "Grandma," awaits for a germ of inspiration to mature. Now completing his 10th year with "Grandma," Doc finds his daily stint still keeps him in his studio between 10 and 12 hours daily.

Magistrate Rules 46 Dogs In House Are 44 Too Many. NEW YORK (UPI) — A magistrate ruled that Mrs. Martha Hirschman has exactly 44 dogs too many living in her house. One, or even two, are all right. But 46-well, that's just 44 too derly people who have found a new incentive too go out and enjoy life after following Kuhn's fun-loving character. Contestants dressed like "Grandma" have won prizes in costume parades, and in Holland Mich., employees of a factory petitioned the local newspaper asking that one of their co-workers be picked as that city's "Grandma."

To add emphasis to their appeal they enclosed photographs of the Michigan woman flying kites, fishing and playing marbles with the boys in her neighborhood.

Many who write Kuhn begin their letters with the sentence, "You must have known my Grandmother because your 'Grandma' is so much like her."

After reading hundreds of letters containing that sentence, Kuhn believes the world must be filled with Grandmothers who are much like his own Mother, because she is the lady in the back of his mind when Kuhn bends over the drawing board to create another rollicking strip starring "Grandma."

LONDON (UPI) — Radio Moscow reports that the Russians have a "confused" citrus tree. The tree is said to bear 30 types of citrus fruits — seven varieties of tangerines, three kinds of lemons, four types each of oranges and grapefruit and 12 other varieties.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have been kind tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and assistance of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as politely as any. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in some newspaper classified column. They find a real solace therein. Preservation of selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune
On the heart."
Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of The Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

THIS IS THE PLUMBING which serves the cells on two floors of the Seminole County Jail. Rusted, leaking, entirely inadequate, this maze of pipe is located behind the second floor "bullpen". Facilities such as this are wasting county money and fail to serve the entire need of the community. (Photo by Bergstrom)

Seminole County Jail Facilities Inadequate

Much has been said about the lack of juvenile detention facilities in Seminole County. Equally as much has been said about the inadequacy of facilities for detaining the mentally incompetent.

The Seminole County Jail is so outmoded that the Supervisor of State Penal Institutions has declared that the structure must be replaced.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby and his staff of deputies have done much to keep the present jail property clean and habitable insofar as expense will allow him. The facilities are being used to their fullest capacity—even to housing juveniles and women.

The time has come for planning — for making known what Seminole County intends to do to bring its facilities up to par of being called decent and adequate.

Juveniles brought to the Seminole County Jail must brush shoulders with the hardened criminal and through those same narrow corridors women must be brought in.

Plumbing fixtures in the jail—those in the cells and in other places throughout the building are leaking, rusted, old-fashioned—a maze of pipe that takes up room as well as serving facilities too old even for use by prisoners.

Mental patients are being housed in cells that were meant to be used for criminals that could not be placed in bullpens. And all of these detention cells are on upper floors of the building out of sight of the jailer who should keep a constant eye on everything that is happening.

Offices for the Sheriff, his records department, the jailor, the radio room are but cubbyholes.

This is one of the sad cases in Seminole County. It is sad because our county government has failed to have before it the planning necessary to keep up with the needs of the people. Certainly there should have been adequate funds set aside to replace these facilities when the time came to rebuild or replace.

Now, in one great big swoop, many are saying "We can't afford it." Don't spend any money now, they say.

What will be the least expensive—providing the proper facilities or having the state force our county to pay for housing prisoners elsewhere? If such an instance comes to pass the faces of many county people will be red! It can happen though—and it can happen soon.

People who are interested in their county and the facilities provided for keeping the county going, should take a hand look at the Seminole County Jail. Sheriff Hobby will be glad to let the citizens of the county see what they have and how poor it is.

Again—the time has come for Seminole County to lay out the sketches and blueprints out on the drawing board and start some real honest-to-goodness planning. It's going to take time to provide the details, plans, specifications and all the necessary data leading up to the construction of new facilities needed immediately.

That time is right now!

Chase Attacks Collins' Proposal To Up Gas Tax

A blistering attack was leveled today at Governor LeRoy Collins' recent proposal to increase gasoline taxes in Florida for the eleventh time.

Sydney O. Chase Jr. of Sanford, chairman of the Florida Highway Users Conference, charged that the Governor's suggested tax increase of 1 cent per gallon for road construction was a totally unjustified new burden on the Florida motorists "whose hard earned money is already channeled away from highway use at the staggering rate of over $40,000,000 per year."

"Not one cent of the proceeds from the State license tag tax goes for highways," he said, "even though the levy is imposed only upon highway users. And Florida is the only State that does not use any tag revenue for highways."

"Instead, over $26,000,000 annually is diverted into the General Revenue Fund for general expenses while about $14,000,000 in highway tax receipts now go to schools."

"This particular form of 'highway robbery' has cost Floridians well over $400,000,000 in highway user taxes over the past 25 years—enough money to have built more than 11,000 miles of good primary roads," he declared.

"This practice of road fund diversion not only threatens the future of Florida's vast highway building program," he said, "but amounts to a betrayal of a motorist's willingness to pay his own way."

He added that gasoline is already taxed at a rate equivalent to a 40 per cent sales tax, and any other highway users taxes "would be a needless gouge of the pocket book of every driver in the State."

"If Florida gave its motoring taxpayers a dollars' worth of road for every tax dollar they paid," he concluded, "We would not need additional tax money to build roads and we would not be subject to any more hollow pleas for heavier and heavier driver taxation."

Administration Seeks Ways To Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration has begun an intensive search for ways to sharply cut government spending in fiscal 1960. If at all possible, it wants a budget surplus before the next presidential election.

The political aspects of the spending picture were emphasized today, as the nation wound up the 1958 fiscal year with an expected federal deficit of $2,780,000,000.

The real shocker, politically speaking, is the prospect of a possible $12-billion-dollar deficit in the fiscal year starting Tuesday.

If the trend toward deeper red-ink spending continues, neither Republican nor Democratic politicians will sound sincere if they hold out tax-cut promises in the expected bitter 1960 campaign.

With an eye on this November's elections, as well as 1960, spokesmen for the two parties were likely to begin trading charges on who should bear responsibility for the deficit.

Chairman Styles Bridges (NH) of the Senate GOP policy committee said Sunday the in-the-red forecast for this year should "shock the country" into track-

Special School Bond Election Set Sept. 9

A resolution spelling out the details of a special school and bond election and calling for the Sept. 9 date was unanimously approved by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction this morning.

The final resolution calls for a bond election on $3,200,000 for new school construction and renovation throughout the county.

It also named clerks, inspectors, voting places and all details concerning what the board's attorney termed "a completely separate" election.

Two new locations for voting precincts were named in the resolution. The Lake Mary precinct will vote at the Presbyterian Church educational building while Precinct 1, Sanford, will vote at 116 S. French Ave. where the Dan Batten Electric Co. is located.

School Board Attorney Douglas Stenstrom told the board "This election will be entirely separate from start to finish. There will be separate ballots, separate clerks, inspectors and returns."

However, it was pointed out that paper ballots will also be used in the election. The law calls for the "completely separate" election.

"We are going into this election with a far more accurate list of freeholders than we have ever had," it was pointed out by a spokesman at this morning's meeting.

One report said that more than 900 voters in re-registering this year had failed to check their registration card whether or not they were freeholders.

Another card was sent last week. It was pointed out, to all those who failed to make this indication,

Lions To Install Officers At Banquet Tomorrow Night

The Sanford Lions Club will hold its annual installation and banquet tomorrow night at the Lake Monroe Inn.

W. Hugh Duncan, outgoing president, said today that new officers for the coming year will be installed in ceremonies expected to get underway at 7:30 p. m.

Governor Jim Boyce of Leesburg, top Lions Club officer in the 250 District of Florida, will be the installing officer.

New officers for the local Lions Club 1958-59 year include Buddy Rawls, president; J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, first vice president; Bruce Padlock, second vice president; DeWitt Whitmore, third vice president; Frank Jones, Lion Lawer; M. A. "Foot" Yelvington, tail twister; W. Hugh Duncan, secretary; and Jack Morrison, treasurer.

In addition to installing officers for the coming year, reports for the past year will be made.

Jr. High Condemned; Children To Attend Double Sessions

Sanford Junior High School was condemned this morning at a special meeting of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction.

The condemning of the building means that students will not use the building in the 1958-59 school session and that at least 900 Sanford school children will be attending double sessions beginning with the fall term.

The board unanimously approved the condemning of the building following an engineers report analyzing the structure and giving its conclusions.

Reports have been considered on various occasions relative to the safety of the school building, but in each instance, in prior years, adequate repairs were made to qualify the building's use.

Clinton, leading to the report and investigation made by the Law Engineering Testing Company of Atlanta, Ga. came when local engineers attempted to secure fire escapes to the building.

The local firm, John Burton IV, architect for the school board, found that the necessary fire escapes could not be adequately

Sanford Teachers Get Scholarships To Workshop

TALLAHASSEE — Thirty-six teachers have been awarded scholarships by the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs to attend a two-week workshop in conservation at Florida State University July 7-23.

Seminole County teachers who received the scholarship awards are: Robert G. May, grade 6, Sanford Grammar School and Mrs. Eula M. Grantham, grade 5, Sanford Grammar School.

Dr. John O. Hoynton, associate professor of geography and workshop director, said the workshop is the third annual session of the kind to receive the backing of the Federation in the form of $50 scholarships for the participants.

Elementary, junior high and high school teachers, he said, will be here from 28 counties.

The workshop will be a question-and-answer program in which reports from several agencies dealing with conservation will discuss resource-use as a governmental concern. Two field trips will be taken, one conducted by the Florida Forest Service and the other to the North Florida Experiment Station.

Speakers and panelists will include Edwin Moore, education and information chief for the Florida Forest Service; Turner Wallis of the Trustees of the International Improvement Fund; Charles Hendry, Florida Geological Survey; W. C. Rhoades, director of the North Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, Quincy; Robert Aldrich, director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, and staff members.

Woman Pinned In As Car Crashes Headon Into Tree

A 49-year-old woman was critically injured early Sunday morning when her car went out of control, apparently at a high rate of speed, near SanLando Springs.

Mary Jo Ellis, whose address is listed as 4804 West Princeton Ave., Orlando, was reported as being in "critical condition" at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital this morning.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack said yesterday that the accident occurred about 1:30 a. m. Sunday morning when the car was traveling west on State Road 434-A.

The woman was pinned in her car when it smashed headon into a pine tree.

Trooper Mack said the automobile left 50 feet of skid marks on the pavement and nearly 250 feet of skid marks off the pavement before crashing in to the tree and demolishing the car.

The Trooper reported that the 49-year-old woman received multiple lacerations of the face, arms, and legs; multiple fractures of the arms and legs; and internal injuries.

He said that she was in surgery for five hours Sunday morning.

The Orlando woman was alone in the car at the time of the accident and apparently at a high rate of speed failed to make a heavy curve when the car went out of control. The automobile was a 1958 Edsel and was a total loss.

Trooper Mack described the crash as one which "made a V in the front of the car when it hit headon."

Dalrymple said that "part of the plaster in several rooms was removed to observe the conditions of the exterior bearing walls."

Advisory Commission To Study Six-Point Recommendation

The Advisory Commission to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners will meet tonight at 8 o'clock to discuss the possibilities of recommendations of the group.

The special group, appointed by the Board of Commissioners, two members from each district, met with Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee, his Administrative Assistant Walter Tague, and the School Board's Finance Officer Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert Friday night to discuss the school situation relative to taxes.

Milwee pointed out to the group of county citizens looking into the problems of the community that "it is our responsibility to present the needs for schools to the best of our ability."

Asking the Superintendent of Public Instruction for suggestions which he might have to offer, the County Attorney, also serving on the Advisory Commission, said

"This committee has the responsibility of recommending to the County Commission a plan to solve the problems of the county."

The members of the commission questioned the Board of Education officials on the proposed bond issue and looked closely into the income of the school system from local, state and federal sources.

Milwee told the group of citizens, headed by Frank Wheeler Jr. as chairman, that "The equitable assessment of property is essential to long-range planning for financing public schools. Equitable assessment of property involves the assessment of all parcels of property at full value or at some uniform proportion of true value. Because of the constitutional limitations on school taxes, it is necessary to assess property at a reasonably high proportion of true value and make
