Bombs Continuing to Explode in Congressional Investigation of Teapot Dome Oil Reserve Leases

Oil Committee Learns Doheny Tried to Interest Senator Wash in Oil Ventures but is Told that Enterprises Where Officials Appear to Use Office in Own Interest is 'Decidedly Discreditable'

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—There is another series of bomb explosions Tuesday in the oil scandal. Here are some of the things the oil committee was told when it resumed hearings: That E. L. Doheny tried unsuccessfully last December to interest Senator Wash, chief prosecutor in the inquiry, in an oil venture in Montana. That the senator replied he would have nothing to do with the enterprise where he might appear to be using his official position for his own profit. That Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and a central figure in the scandal has been carried on the government rolls as a secret agent of the department of justice. That McLean had a copy of the department's secret code and that he had furnished it to his employees in Florida, where he had been once used by the department.

Testimony regarding McLean was given by William J. Burns, chief of department's secret agents and Mrs. Mary Duckstein, former Mrs. secretary. Both contended that the published had been rolled on the force of the investigation. He was placed on the roll as a special agent, Burns testified, because the department obtained information through him and his newspaper. His salary was $1 a year.

Official translation of the code messages found in the McLean telegram will be presented to the committee on Tuesday by J. P. Friedman, cipher expert of the army signal corps. Mr. Friedman, who assisted in the decoding of a number of enemy messages during the war, has been working on the telegrams for several days. Since he began his study of the code, he has been a leading figure in pressing the oil inquiry, has obtained and turned over to him an old code of the department of justice which was used at least some of the messages. After Mr. Friedman has presented his translations, the committee will call Mrs. Mary Duckstein, an operative of the justice department, for questioning concerning the cipher message which she is reported to have given to her husband, W. O. Duckstein, one of McLean's confidential agents at Palm Beach.

This message, said William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, had sent for Mrs. Duckstein to tell her to say that the McLean investigation was being run by agents of the bureau and that he regarded the information important.

Burns will be placed on the stand after the questioning of Mrs. Duckstein is concluded. He will be asked not only about the "Mary" message but also as to reports that the publisher of the Washington Post is on the roll of special agents of his bureau and salary of $1 a month, and how employees of McLean came into possession of a copy of a code used by the bureau of investigation.

It was learned Monday that in a batch of telegrams furnished the committee last Saturday by the United States Telegraph company is one sent to E. L. Doheny in Washington from Los Angeles. This message is in code and was received here on Jan. 30, the day the California oil magnate returned to Washington to deliver to the committee a multipigraphed copy of a note which he claimed was written to Albert B. Fall.

After Burns has been examined the committee will continue the questioning of McLean's employees to the telegrams and the efforts made to keep the publisher of the witness stand after he had told the committee he loaned Fall $100,000.

After his employees have been examined, McLean himself, will be called to the stand, probably by the end of the week. From the committee will seek further details of his previous statement that he gave Fall checks aggregating $100,000 at a time it has been established, when his check books were drawn did not aggregate anything like that amount.

NO STATEMENT IS ISSUED YET BY DAUGHERTY

Attorney General Spending Most of His Time Lounging on the Beach at Miami Talking of Anything but the Investigation into His Department at Washington.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—Tentative plans for beginning the investigation of Attorney General Daugherty and the department of justice were made by the special senate committee Monday but Chairman Brookhart said the actual hearing of witnesses probably would be delayed until next week. The committee appointed Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, author of first investigation resolution a sub committee of one to determine the first subject of inquiry and when the hearings should open.

The committee meeting was Monday's only development. There was no discussion of the attorney general in the senate. At the White House it was said no communication had been received from Mr. Daugherty although news dispatches from Miami had quoted him as expecting to send some message to the president during the day.

The extent of participation by the attorney general in the inquiry was determined at Monday's meeting of the committee and will be communicated Tuesday in a letter from Chairman Brookhart to Mr. Daugherty's counsel, Paul Howard and former Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. Some of their requests as to procedure will be denied and others granted.

Chairman Brookhart said there was no question of Mr. Daugherty's right to be represented by counsel, but the committee had decided not to give unlimited privilege of cross examination or calling independent witnesses. The committee decided that these questions should be kept under its control," said Senator Brookhart. "This is not a technical trial, but an investigation, a summary investigation to get at the facts."

The attorney general's counsel will be permitted, however, he added, to cross examine witnesses within limits fixed by the committee and to have the committee issue subpoenas for witnesses or documents which are necessary may determine are necessary. Emphasizing that there was entire harmony at the first committee meeting, (Senator) Brookhart said:

"We were all agreed that this should be a real investigation." The delay in hearing witnesses (Continued on page 8)

Osceola Road Work Begins In Few Days Contractors State

Mayor Forrest Lake told the county commissioners in session Tuesday that the bond of the Hutton Engineering and Contracting Company had been approved and that all arrangements had been made for starting the work on the Osceola Road within a few days. J. O. McNamara, local manager of the company, declared that the contract had been forwarded to Mr. Hutton for his signature and just as soon as it is returned, work will begin. Some of the material has already been ordered and is expected within ten days.

Mr. McNamara asked the board to write the auditor of the Florida East Coast Line Railroad Company to extend its company a 30-day credit in order to permit shipments of materials to come into Osceola and Geneva for this road work.

A committee was appointed by the commissioners composed of E. A. Douglass, B. F. Whitner, and C. W. Entzinger to attend the state road department meeting at Tallahassee on Mar. 14.

A contract for some plumbing work in the court house was awarded to Hollahan-Coleman. Notary public bonds of the following people were approved: Adie H. Gillon, James P. Schnal, Howard P. Lawrence, J. U. Seary, C. L. West, and H. B. Lewis. The fire arm bond of J. R. Long was approved.

The clerk was requested to write to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and ask that it build a crossing 2,098 feet north of mile post "P 118."

A motion was passed asking the clerk to write the Finley Method Company and notify it that unless work is begun on its contracts with the county for road work, within the next 10 days, the matter would be taken with the bond holders.

In 3-Day Session of Public Hearing Before Ways and Means Committee Speakers Limited to Payment Form

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—The form of payment of a soldier bonus occupied the attention of speakers before the ways and means committee Monday at the opening of a three-day session of public hearings. Several propositions, including a plan to limit the bonus entirely to paid up insurance policies for all veterans who served more than 90 days were presented to the committee by members of the House who have introduced bills. The American Legion, through John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of its national legislative committee, declared a willingness to accept "whatever bonus legislation this congress enacts."

Some opposition was voiced to the insurance proposition, advanced by Representative Fish of New York, and Andrew of Massachusetts, who proposed that the revenue from the bonus be used to pay the interest on the national debt. The committee also considered a plan to limit the bonus to the amount of the national debt. The committee also considered a plan to limit the bonus to the amount of the national debt.

Not a word of opposition either by committee members or those appearing before it was expressed against bonus legislation, most of the speakers devoting their time to outlining various proposed methods of bonus payments.

College Seismologist Records Severe Quake

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—"A very severe" earthquake about 2,100 miles from Washington, in a southerly direction, was recorded Tuesday on the seismograph at Georgetown University. Father Tomdorff, seismologist, said the shocks began at 5:15 o'clock and reached its maximum intensity between 5:23 and 5:28 and were still in progress at 7 o'clock.

Dispatches from San Jose, Costa Rica, say a series of earthquakes, the strongest fell there in 25 years, damaged fully half the buildings of San Jose and caused a number of casualties. Part of the American legation building collapsed, but the American minister and consul and their families escaped unhurt. No American residents are reported injured. Communication with neighboring cities is entirely cut off.

New Insurance Office Opened For Business

Frank R. MacNeill of Atlanta, insurance specialist of long experience, has become associated with George W. Knight of this city in the real estate and insurance business, the new firm to be known as Knight and MacNeill, according to an announcement made Tuesday morning by Mr. Knight.

Water Works Project Arouses Great Deal of Interest Among Contractors

That much interest is being manifested by contractors and manufacturers in the erection of the proposed water works for Sanford is shown by a letter just received from Joseph E. Craig, consulting engineer at Jacksonville in which the latter states that 80 sets of plans and specifications have already been given out and applications are in for at least 20 more.

Mr. Craig declared in his letter that contractors from all over the country have inquired about the work and have made requests for more details. He has letters from firms as far north as New Jersey and Saskatchewan and as far west as South Dakota.

Mayor Forrest Lake announced that unusual interest is being shown by bond buyers in the sale of the $375,000 issue which will be disposed of on next Monday, the same day on which the contract will be awarded for the erection of the plant and the water works system.

OPPONENTS TO UNITE AGAINST MCKENZIE BILL

Confidence is Expressed that Enough Votes can be Mustered by Opposition to Defeat Bill Authorizing Acceptance of Ford's Offer for Muscle Shoals Nitrate Plant

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—On the eve of consideration by the house of the McKenzie bill authorizing acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, confidence was expressed Monday night by opponents of the measure that they would muster enough votes for the adoption of drastic amendments.

Representative Hull, of Iowa, a Republican member of the military committee, who will lead the fight against the bill, as reported, declared that the votes were in sight to materialize ychange the terms of the proposed contract.

When the house meets at noon Tuesday, two resolutions calling for the creation of special committees to conduct investigations—one of the shipping board, the other of the aircraft industry—will come up before a rule for reconsideration of the McKenzie bill as brought up.

Leaders generally predicted Monday night that not much time would be needed for disposition of the two investigation proposals and that by mid-afternoon the bill would be cleared for the Muscle Shoals question, which has been hanging fire in congress for several years.

Some discussion of the resolution giving the McKenzie bill right of way is expected particularly as to the division of time during general debate, which the rules committee believes should be limited to ten hours. If debate gets under way Tuesday, business usually in order on Wednesday will be put over and the day given over entirely to consideration of the McKenzie proposal.

However, if it is not Tuesday before an agreement as to debate on Muscle Shoals is reached, Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, said Thursday, will be put over until Thursday. Once it is begun, he said, no other legislation will be permitted to sidetrack it.

Seminole Athletic Club Will Organize Baseball Team Here

Sanford and Seminole county is to have a baseball team. That fact was decided at a meeting Monday night when the Seminole Athletic Club decided to organize a team and to begin practice on Wednesday of this week.

With this announcement, it was stated the letters have been written asking for permission to enter the Orange-Lake Baseball League. This league is composed of several small towns in those two counties and numbers among its members some fast semi-pro teams.

The team, it was pointed out, will not be strictly a Sanford organization but will be composed of players residing in different parts of the county. The membership of the club is composed of people from all over the county.

Last year the club put out an excellent team and did it without any financial aid from the merchants or business men, it is said. Year games will be played perhaps once or twice a week. It is planned to have a many games as possible on Thursday afternoons when the stores of most of the towns close for half holidays.

The hearty support of the citizens of the county in behalf of the team is urged by the club.

COOLIDGE FIRM IN STAND.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Adherence to principles and provisions of the Mellon tax plan were reaffirmed Tuesday by Coolidge. The President's position regarding tax remains exactly as outlined in his message to Congress declaring for the Mellon plan. This was made clear at the White House in response to inquiries about compromise bill passed by House.

Suit Begun Against Asa Candler's Son

(By The Associated Press)
DECATUR, Ga., Mar. 4.—Because of the illness of a member of the defense council, the suit of Mrs. Sara Byfield for $100,000 against Walter T. Candler, son of Asa G. Candler, Sr., soft drink magnate, was postponed until Wednesday, when the case was called in DeKalb county superior court here Tuesday. Mrs. Byfield, wife of Clyde K. Byfield, local automobile dealer, alleges that Candler attacked her while she and her husband, Candler and his two young daughters, were en route to Europe on the liner Berongra during the summer of 1922.

SHERIFF HAND IS TO ENFORCE AUTO LICENSE TAG LAW

Sheriff Declares That in Compliance With Request of Governor Hardee, Law May Be Enforced Fully

Attention of the sheriff's office to the enforcement of the law requiring all motor vehicles to carry 1924 license tags, is called by Governor Cary A. Hardee in a letter to Sheriff C. M. Hand, which was received recently.

In compliance with the governor's request the sheriff stated that he and his deputies are going to enforce the law to its fullest extent. He added that for the most part, automobile owners in this county have responded to the recent warnings and have secured the tags but there are still some who have not made application.

Governor Hardee's letter to the sheriff was as follows: "Dear Mr. Sheriff: I am just in receipt of letter from Hon. Ernest Amos, Comptroller, as follows: "Of recent date I have been receiving a number of complaints from various sections of the state about the number of motor vehicles being operated under 1923 tags. If compatible with your wishes in the premises I would appreciate a letter to the sheriffs of the counties reminding them that the enforcement of the statute is largely in their hands and that the time for such is at hand."

"I am taking the liberty of calling this matter to the attention of sheriffs of the various counties of Florida. It is very important that this law be enforced and I hope that you are giving the same prompt and vigorous attention in your county. With personal regards, "Very truly yours, "CARY A. HARDEE, Governor." Monthly Report Filed

Development State Waterways Urged By Rotary Vistor

Declaring that the development of Florida's waterways would bring untold wealth and prosperity to the state, P. A. Vans Agnew of Kissimmee, made an able appeal at the noon luncheon of the Sanford Rotary Club Tuesday, when he urged a greater interest in this work.

Mr. Vans Agnew told the Rotarians of the efforts made 20 years ago in the state for a good roads system. He said that he could see no good reason why Florida should not build water roads as well as land roads as they not only would drain and open a vast territory of the world's richest farming lands but would also provide a method of transportation of freight boats and pleasure yachts.

A. P. Connelley told of the resolutions recently passed by the Chambers of Commerce of Jacksonville, Palatka and Sanford, asking for federal aid in a movement to build a waterway by digging a canal from the St. Johns to the Indian river, a distance of only 11 miles. This, he said, would provide a most beautiful and safe trip for yachts going from Jacksonville to Miami and would provide a great drainage system as well.

W. A. Tilden, president of the Orlando Rotary Club, urged each and every member to do his best to put over the work of the organization in the best possible manner.

The following committee has been appointed to handle entertainment features during the month of March: Harry Bodwell, Reese Combs, Milton Haddock and Billy Hill.

ANGORA PASSES BILL DEPOSING ROYAL CALIPH

British Worried as to Effect on Indian and Mohammedan Countries of the Abolition of Caliphate, Suppression of Religious Instruction and Deposition of the Caliph.

(By The Associated Press)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Mar. 4.—The National Assembly at Angora Monday passed a bill calling for the deposition of the caliph and the abolition of the caliphate.

What Effect in India? LONDON, Mar. 4.—The sponsoring by the Turkish government of the bills calling for the abolition of the caliphate and the suppression of religious instruction in Turkey has been the cause of much speculation on the part of British officials regarding what will be the effect of these drastic measures in Indian and other Mohammedan countries.

The British have been unalterably opposed to doing away with the caliphate, because the spiritual jurisdiction of the caliph extended nominally at least, over Great Britain's 70,000,000 Moslem subjects in India. With a view to maintaining quietude among this vast multitude the British government, it became known Monday, will let Turkey severally alone during the radical transitions which that country is experiencing.

Judging from the past, however, observers here expressed the belief Monday that it would be too much to expect that Great Britain will escape severe criticism for whatever happens to Allah's earthly representative in Turkey.

Indian agitation aggressive. The Indian agitators, among whom the Moslems, under the leadership of the All brothers, are most aggressively radical, will, it is thought by the observers, seize upon every development in Turkey as an additional grievance against British rule in India.

With former Sultan Mohammed VI in exile and Abdul Medjid Effendi, the caliph, deposed, a new religious head for the Moslem world will, it is thought, be sought ultimately outside Turkey. (The British government is said to be aware that King Hussein of the Hedjaz, who controls the sacred city of Mecca, desires to set himself up as caliph of all the Moslems; but in complete quarters it was said Monday it is unlikely, for political and other reasons, that Hussein will be selected.

Some persons favor the reinstatement of former Sultan Mohammed in power; but it is said to be generally felt that his age and his physical condition disqualify him.

Mohammed in Retirement. Mohammed is living in retirement in Switzerland with a young son and a small remnant of his old harem. The Ameer of Afghanistan also has offered himself as a candidate for caliph, but, like Hussein, he is held, for political reasons, to be ineligible.

Every Moslem country feels it has a claim to the Ottoman throne, established more than 600 years ago by the house of Osman. But until something approaching unanimity on the question can be obtained from the various Mohammedan countries, it is believed the British government will take no steps toward advising the nomination of a successor to the deposed caliph.

In the meantime, some concern is being manifested in authoritative quarters here regarding the outcome of the abolition of the caliphate and of religious instruction in general on the peasants of Turkey, in whose lives religions always has played a very large part. Another interesting question concerns the ultimate disposition of thousands of mosques scattered throughout Turkey. It is presumed some of them, at least, will be converted into schools, but since the Angora government has not nearly the sufficient number of teachers to equip them, it is thought likely that most of the mosques, like the church in Russia, will become so much dead property.

Mr. DuBose Visits High School

Mr. DuBose visited the high school last Friday morning. He gave a most interesting and encouraging talk to the pupils. He especially urged every pupil to have faith in God and to seek the higher levels and ideals of life. There only can be found happiness, for where is a happiness without God and faith? He gave an illustration the recent selection in the American Magazine by Irving McNeil on "The Happiest Person I Know." Mr. DuBose has the best interests of the school at heart and we are always glad to have him visit us. May his visit be repeated again soon.

Girls Play DeLand

The Sanford girls played DeLand Friday afternoon on the local court. Although the crowd was small, due to the time of the game, the game was very interesting. Both teams played well, but while DeLand had Sanford outclassed as usual, the Sanford girls seemed quicker and some goals were scored. Sanford won with a score of 21-10.

The last game of the season will be played in St. Cloud Saturday, Mar. 1. This will be a doubleheader and both anticipate a great victory.

MIAMI

By Lorraine Phillips
Shortly after his long search for the Fountain of Youth on the island of Bimini, Ponce de Leon turned southward along the coast. It was early in the morning when they approached an Indian village. Just as they proceeded to land, a pretty Indian girl came toward them with her pearl. She stooped to get her water from the stream not far away and gazing at the newcomers at the same time. Suddenly her foot slipped and she fell into the water. Ponce de Leon had landed by this time and with one leap, out of the water she was pulling the dripping maiden from the water of the sea. As she looked at him gratefully from under her dark, dusky eyelashes, the sailor lost his heart to the Indian maid.

Grammar School Notes

Lives of great men all remind us we can make our lives sublime. And departing leave behind us footprints on the sand of time. The subject on which the Grammar grades wrote this week was especially adapted to the month of February. Indeed February is a calendar within itself of delightfully pleasing characters. Men who lived and thought as we do with mighty problems before them. How we love to read about worth-while men who have struggled to conquer obstacles and because they were willing to struggle have won in life's great battles! They seem to strike the keynote of happiness by leading us to enjoy the arts, and to enjoy the arts, would not our world be an empty place if the beautiful song of the bird were not with us. If the poet's ear had not been tuned to another nature in all her glory and could not have pictured her in all her wondrous beauty? Some one has said that the eye has a more beautiful expression when the mind is feasting upon beautiful poetry than at any other time. Study people you see—note the difference of the poet's and the real musician's eye. The general expression upon that face shows the beautiful world within. There is a shining out of the soul, reflecting itself in the light of the eye.

SOPHOMORE NOTES

Mr. DuBose spoke to us in chapel Friday morning. His talk was based on an article in the American Magazine, entitled "The Happiest Person I Ever Knew," by Irving McNeil. We were all interested in the talk very much and wish that he would pay us a visit more often. Our basketball team go to St. Cloud Saturday night for a doubleheader game. This will end the basketball season and it has been a very successful year.

LEGEND OF LAKE ONORO

By Emma Spencer
Long years ago when the Indians inhabited the lands of Florida, there lived two tribes on opposite sides of a lake. These tribes were hostile to each other. It happened that a young warrior, named Roe, of one tribe, and a young maiden of the other had fallen in love. They had enjoyed many delightful trips on the lake and in the forest. Their love had grown stronger and stronger each day. One day they heard that their tribes had made war on each other. Both were filled with great sorrow, and the maiden, since she would not help fight her lover's people, decided to drown herself. Roe, when he saw what she was about, swam out to save her and when he reached her, she cried, "O No, No, No," and to this day the lake has been called Lake Onoro.

THE DEVIL'S CAVE

By Sarah Malpas
About two miles west of the town of Williston, Fla., is situated a cave which is called Devil's Cave. The entrance of the cave is very wide and dark. About 10 or 12 feet from the entrance is a large fireplace which has a high chimney built up through the roof of the cave. The fireplace and chimney are supposed to be a natural formation, which makes the cave a very remarkable place.

The old legend which is told of this cave explains itself from the name. Many years ago a large band of Indians from the Seminole Tribe were hunting in that section of Florida. An Indian boy by the name of Kill-Deer, discovered the cave and calling some of his companions to join him in exploring the cave started off on the exploration. The great cavity or hole which I have spoken of is situated around an abrupt curve, and the Indian, Kill-Deer, twined the curve he lost his balance and over into the cavity he dropped.

The cavity was at that time filled with alligators of enormous size and the moment the Indian's body struck the water he was seized and carried underneath the water to be devoured by the alligator.

Meanwhile Kill-Deer's companions had arrived and walked through the entrance of the cave, noting the fireplace and chimney with awe, thinking that it belonged to the great spirit, perhaps.

They walked onward and as they neared the great cavity they heard one scream and then silence. They walked more slowly now, holding high the torches of burard wood, and soon came to the abrupt curve which lead to the cavity.

In silence they looked, all thinking the same thought. At last one spoke, "This is the great cave of the Evil Spirit, Kill-Deer has been carried away by him." The company of Indians quickly retraced their steps and hurried back to camp where they told the story to their fathers, telling of the great fireplace and of the great evil spirit which had taken Kill-Deer away.

This story was told again and again, and handed down from generation to generation. No Indian cared to visit this cave.

This is how the cave came to be called Devil's Cave.

We bring greetings to all our many friends. We found out this week that we had a good many friends. We think we put ourselves on the map of Sanford surely.

Our three primary buildings were each presented with a flag. You see people are noticing us. We see now that we must work harder than ever because when we display our flags on our buildings that means we are real citizens, even more so than the grown ups. We must all come and see us so you can see how we are trying to keep our grounds. We think that is one way of showing our love for our flag. A flag is displayed in each of our rooms and we have talked so much about it that the flag seems to talk back to us and all kinds of nice things. It was decided among us that we write letters through the Junior Herald column and show our appreciation to you. We found the First Graders from all the schools write much prettier than we do. Any way we thank you just as much as they do.

More Things About Longfellow

Roy Britt, Fifth Grade.
A boy was born in Portland, Me., on Feb. 27, 1807. His name was Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

When Longfellow was 10 years old he wrote the "Wreck of the Hesperous," and dropped it in the printer's box when no one was looking. The next day he looked in the paper for it and it was there.

Even when Longfellow was a boy he wanted to be a poet, but his father said, "You have to be rich to be a poet." So he went to work in his father's office. He began to study law. He was offered a place as teacher of English in Bowdoin college, so he went to Europe to study and see things. When he came back from Europe he taught in Bowdoin College for five years. Then he was given a position as professor in Harvard University and went to Europe again and took his wife with him. When they were in Holland the wife died. Longfellow then returned home alone and began teaching in Harvard.

Longfellow married a second time and had five children. His wife was making a wax doll for the children and it caught fire. She was burned to death.

Longfellow spent his old age writing poems. He died when he was 75 years old.

Longfellow's Family

Lela Jones, Fifth Grade.
The family from which Longfellow sprang was one of distinction. His grandfather, William Longfellow, came from England. He was 25 years old. Longfellow's uncle was a blacksmith.

Henry Longfellow graduated from college at the early age of 18. He was especially good in language and literature.

After being in his father's law office a year he went to Europe to prepare himself for teaching modern languages.

His second wife was a very beautiful woman and was the daughter of John Alden.

It is supposed that Longfellow's grandfather told him a lot of poetry and showed him the beautiful surroundings of Maine.

When Longfellow lived in the "Cragie House" he wrote many famous poems. He loved all children, especially his three daughters.

Primary School Notes

We bring greetings to all our many friends. We found out this week that we had a good many friends. We think we put ourselves on the map of Sanford surely.

Our three primary buildings were each presented with a flag. You see people are noticing us. We see now that we must work harder than ever because when we display our flags on our buildings that means we are real citizens, even more so than the grown ups. We must all come and see us so you can see how we are trying to keep our grounds. We think that is one way of showing our love for our flag. A flag is displayed in each of our rooms and we have talked so much about it that the flag seems to talk back to us and all kinds of nice things. It was decided among us that we write letters through the Junior Herald column and show our appreciation to you. We found the First Graders from all the schools write much prettier than we do. Any way we thank you just as much as they do.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

I like our flag very much. On George Washington's birthday we gave a pledge for it. I pledge allegiance to my flag, and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation—indivisible, with liberty and justice for all. Gratefully, MARY ELIZABETH TOLAR.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

That was a pretty flag that you sent us. We are going to buy us a slide. The room that gets the most money are going to go on a picnic. You are the best superintendent. Gratefully, GEORGE SANDERS.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

The West Shlora are we Each as busy as a bee. Poinsettias are we trying to grow, Poinsettias are they in many a row.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

We had our big time over a week ago and this week we have been thinking up everything we could on citizenship. We have had citizenship a good bit in our minds these rainy days, especially when we planted our slips. We know they need the rain first and we trusted the sun would come out after a while. We want to see the yard a blaze of glowing red next year. We have been busy writing letters, too.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

The flag you gave me will help me to be a better little American. I love it. I shall try to serve it. LULU MAY GROOMS.

Dear Mr. Lawton:

We thank you for the beautiful flag. It was of beautiful silk, and it is the prettiest flag. Yes it is the prettiest flag I have ever seen. Dear Parent-Teachers, I love you. EVELYN SMITH.

We thank you for the beautiful flag which you gave us. We appreciate it. We love our country's flag. BILLY FAVILLE.

Dear Parent-Teachers:

We thank you for buying this beautiful flag. I love my flag with all my heart. GLENN GOVOCEK.

Dear Parent-Teachers:

I think you are paying the rest of the money to get our case. It has 13 stripes and 48 stars. More states were added, that is what made the 48. We put 13 stripes for the first 13 states. P. M. VICKERY.

A CORRECTION.

The Herald regrets that a misconstruction was placed by some parties on the news article appearing Saturday with reference to certain improvements on the lake-front property. J. D. Hood stated Monday that his company is putting in all the streets and other improvements at their own expense and that while he asked the city to cooperate with him in the work, his concern is paying for all the improvements and is putting them in of their own accord.

Prominent Longwood Man Dies On Saturday

J. H. Allen, age 63, a prominent resident of Longwood, died at his home Saturday afternoon and was buried in the Longwood cemetery Sunday afternoon. Rev. F. D. King, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, was in charge of the funeral services.

Mr. Allen had made Longwood his home for the past 10 years. He formerly lived at Winter Garden where he had lived for many years having been one of the oldest settlers of that community. For the past few years Mr. Allen had practically been an invalid and was unable to take active part in his business. He contracted a cold at Longwood, which, since he became ill, has been in charge of his wife. He is survived by a widow and several children.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. For He is our God; and we are the people of His pasture.—Psalm 95:6, 7.

NEARING THE SNOW-LINE

Slew toiling upward from the misty vale, I leave the bright enamelled zones below; No more for me their beauties bloom shall glow, Their lingering sweetness load the morning gale; Few are the slender flowerets, scentless, pale, That on their ice-clad stems all trembling blow Along the margin of unmelting snow; Yet with unsounded voice they verge I hail, White realm of peace above the flowering line; Welcome thy frozen domes, thy rocky spires! O'er their undimmed the moon-girt planets shine, On thy majestic altars fade the fires That filled the air with smoke of vain desires, And all the unclouded blue of heaven is thine! —Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Be an optimist!

You may think for the best but if you don't live for it, it won't do you much good.

There are times when honesty seems to be doubly an exceptional quality.

In the language of the plebs that British premier rather told Poincare where to get off.

A "common sense God" is the only kind of God that can show man the pathway to paradise.

The courts didn't waste much time with Mrs. Candler. She is of too prominent a family.

It is better to be a Democrat with a few scattered oil spots on your nice white linen, than a Republican nearly drowned in it.

Occasionally we run across editorials like the one from the Clearwater Sun reprinted on this page, which are really refreshing.

The trouble about a dark horse getting the nomination is that it's the same political situation which produces the black sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. Nachman Firestone of Brooklyn have lived together for sixty-four years without quarreling. Truly "Them days is gone forever."

Over a million dollars worth of property has changed hands in Ft. Myers during the last thirty days. "The City of Palms" has a bright future.

Interviewing a tongue-tied Chinaman the other day on the rapidity of the disappearance of the Shintait, he reminded us of the imperturbability of some of the McLean telegrams.

The bitterness with which the Republican press is attacking Mr. McAdoo indicates that as his party's nominee for president they would fear him more than any other Democrat.

Hiram Johnson denies that he has abandoned his campaign for New York delegates. He probably will not abandon the idea of securing the Republican nomination until after the convention.

The St. Augustine Record advertises the fact that that city has the best golf climate in the world. What's the matter with the golf climate which Sanford has to offer.

According to Col. Bob Davis of the Gainesville Sun a modern Utopia is a place inhabited for the most part by fat people. He evidently believes that the old adage "nobody loves a fat man" is all bosh.

Banana growers are beginning to develop a great industry for Florida. W. E. Bolles, secretary of the Banana Growers Association at Ocala will gladly furnish information to those interested. Florida grown bananas are of the finest quality.

The only trouble most people seem to be able to find with Bryan's candidacy for the Democratic nomination is that he has bound himself to present the name of Dr. Murphree instead of the choice of Floridians as expressed in the primary. If all people ever elected to office had no greater fault than this of Mr. Bryan, politics would not be in such a corrupted condition that men of Dr. Murphree's caliber hesitate to run for any office.

Simpler Tax System Needed.

Probably the greatest question before Congress today is the question of taxation, how to reduce taxes and to distribute the burden properly on the people of the country. It is safe to say that ninety-nine out of every hundred persons are in a muddle over the question of taxes. There is little wonder that the army of tax-dodgers has grown to an appalling figure during the past few years.

There has been a number of plans suggested to simplify the method of taxation as it is apparent that the people are demanding not only lower taxes but also a plan for collection that will be easily understood.

Advocates of the single tax point out that it is by far the ideal system. It would collect taxes at the point of production but it has been declared impracticable by many experts on finance and taxation. However there is the sales tax system which has many points of merit as follows:

The sales tax would levy the entire amount of tax upon the ultimate consumer. For instance, a man buys an overcoat for $50 and would pay $50.50 for it with tax added. This would be simple, easy, and would be collected at practically no cost to the government. Under the present system of taxation the government puts a penalty on thrift. When a man works to develop a business he finds that he is being watched and spied upon by a horde of paid officials whose sole business it is to watch him, examine his every transaction as if he were a full-fledged crook.

Dr. Frank Crane, in a copyrighted article in the Asheville Citizen says:

Our present Income Tax and other pestiferous forms of taxation penalize success. They have their origin in the Bolshevistic notion that whoever achieves riches is some kind of a criminal. But every healthy American, with a few exceptions, is endeavoring to achieve riches. Hence the implication is that every American is a criminal, that business is necessarily wicked, and that no one can get on in the world without becoming an enemy of the people.

An army of some 5,400 government employes is constantly occupied in going over the tax returns of the business men of the country to see if they can not find something crooked in them.

This is 1924. I have just received a letter from some tax expert in the government wanting to know about a certain item in my return of 1922. This detective wants me to give him an itemized account of all the items that go to make up that return. The inquiry is contentious. The matter is of such a nature that no moral man could remember back two years and answer it properly.

My financial affairs do not amount to much, but I can easily see from this what must be the troubles of any business man whose affairs are large and complicated. He would have to keep a staff of lawyers and experts constantly employed.

As a matter of fact, most business men, besides being at great pains to make out their Income Tax statement in the first place, are at great expense employing tax experts in the second place to argue the case out with government officials anywhere from one to five years after they have sent in their returns.

The whole business is contrary to the genius of the American people.

It is inimical to prosperity. It drives capital out of business.

It hogs the progress of the country.

It is essentially unsound and immoral.

The simple expedient of the Sales Tax would wipe out the whole army of mischief makers, would unleash the energies of business and would raise more money for the government.

Taxpayers should concern themselves with this vital question. It means much to the future welfare of the nation. Everyone who pays taxes should write his or her congressman and demand support of legislation which will not only bring a substantial reduction in taxes but a simpler method of collecting the same.

Safeguarding the Child.

Florida's Children Code Commission, appointed by Governor Hardee, held its first meeting a few weeks ago. Florida is following the example of twenty other states in creating an official commission for the study and revision of child welfare legislation.

Sanford residents are especially interested in the work of this committee due to the fact that Mrs. E. M. Galloway of this city is a member, recently appointed by the governor. In order to acquaint the public more fully with the work ahead of just such commissions, the Department of Labor sets forth the following information in a recent bulletin:

Laws concerning children have developed unevenly and spasmodically in the various states, it is pointed out, resulting in legal systems which include antiquated statutes in another, and, in many cases, gaps in the laws at important points. The object of the child welfare commission movement has been to study all laws concerning children, to revise and coordinate them so that each state may afford the best possible protection to its children, and through publicity and education to secure the co-operation of the public in the effort to carry into effect the changes recommended by the commission.

Floridians are proud of the fact that the state has just such a commission at work. Aside from the accomplishments such a body will no doubt make in the form of legislation recommended, a great service lies in the interest it will stimulate in child welfare work throughout Florida.

SEND W. J. BRYAN FT. MYERS PRESS

In their enthusiasm the Underwood boosters in Florida seem to lose sight of everything but the fact that they desire a delegation to meet Underwood. Now this is a commendable ambition, but devoting a great deal of space to the name of William Jennings Bryan will never get the support of the writer to such a course. Many people think Bryan is a much safer leader than Underwood, and his attitude on many measures meets the approval of many more people than the attitude of Underwood in the same subject. The Fort Myers Press thinks it would be a mistake from every point of view to not elect Mr. Bryan as a delegate to the National Convention. With many other people who are not saying much about it we believe that Bryan is certainly Florida's most distinguished citizen, and should be elected. Irrespective of likes or dislikes we should send men to New York who will make an impression that is favorable for Florida, and certainly there can be no man or woman in the state that can make a stronger and better impression upon the nation than William Jennings Bryan.

MY FAVORITE STORIES By IRVIN S. COBB

There is a convivial individual of my acquaintance who lives in Westchester county, New York. In addition to his social habits he is renowned for being the possessor of a quick mind and a gifted tongue. One summer afternoon late, he alighted from the train at his station in a fairly illuminated condition. As his car bore him homeward, he observed a gang of artesian-well diggers drilling in the rocky soil on a home site which a city man recently had purchased. He bade the chauffeur halt. "What are you fellows doing?" he asked. "Boring for water," answered the foreman. "Water's a bore at any time," stated the wag, and resumed his homeward journey.

As Brisbane Sees It

When Teapots Boil. Easy to Get, Hard to Keep. Ford, Not Interesting. If Daugherty Talked. Copyright, 1924

HOW MANY one little oil teapot can scald! Republicans agree that Speaker Machold, of the New York Assembly, will be their next candidate for Governor.

A few weeks ago Theodore Roosevelt, the second, had this stepping stone nomination in the hollow of his hand and no one dreamed it could be taken away from him.

But the teapot bubbled over. Young Mr. Roosevelt is not even mentioned as a candidate.

ALMOST ANYBODY can make money; few can keep it.

Mr. "Bill" Bradley, New York contractor dies, leaving only five hundred dollars. That is five hundred dollars more than he had originally. He drove a horse for another man, then bought one horse and drove for himself. Then he bought many horses, all gray Percherons. Next—and that was the bad idea—he bought horses of a different race, not gray Percherons, to use on race track and for fast driving.

He built a great part of New York's subways, dealt in millions; he died poor. While you are making it, learn to save it.

THE HOUSE at last will take up Henry Ford's Motor Shares offer. It seems hard to get anything moving when no gentleman "on the inside" is to get any money in a satchel or any "loan" from a friend.

Ford offers millions to the government, cheap fertilizer to the farmer, and most important, demonstration of the use that can be made of water power. But that isn't enough to interest gentlemen accustomed to "private talks," "private codes" and "private financial arrangements."

ATTORNEY General Daugherty declares that "if some senators do not resign, he (Daugherty) will cause some splash." Mr. Daugherty knows the difference between "a splash" and a little ripple. The public will watch for the splash with interest. The Attorney General could reveal more about the real character of certain officials than half a dozen oil investigations. He knows what senators and others are trying to do, whom they are trying to shield and whom they seek to prosecute. Publication of Mr. Daugherty's private information would cause a "splash" indeed.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL, of Boston, praises Italy's prosperity, energy, order, industry and cleanliness under Mussolini. There is no doubt that Italy's "Man with Iron Jaw and Will" has worked wonders.

On the other hand, Mussolini has out Italy in a sort of mental strait-jacket of which he is the master. A child in a strait-jacket will do just as you say but it will not develop as well.

IT IS better for a nation to stumble, fall, struggle and slowly rise through its own efforts, or to find for the time being improvement, peace and prosperity under the will of one man?

Russia and Italy are both trying the same experiment, at opposite ends of the social theory. Men still do not know whether they are better off under self-government or one-man government. Even here, our grafting, tax-evading corporations and Teapot Donates cause some uncertainty.

FORTY MEMBERS of the House of Representatives sign a demand for modification of the Volstead act. They would allow "beer and wine with 2.75 per cent alcohol." As regards the wine that, of course, will not preserve wine. Natural wine, white or red, with 8 per cent of alcohol would be about the minimum.

As regards beer, 2.75 per cent alcohol might do away with seventy-five per cent of the bootlegging and ninety per cent of the dissatisfaction among the working men who don't like the idea of taking their choice between a soda pop and the vilest of bootleg liquor, while the prosperous class have cellars filled with everything they choose to buy.

SENATOR HEFLIN (Democrat) wants Colonel William Byrd to tell the oil inquiry about the money that Thompson raised for the Republican party in the Harding campaign.

Thompson won't object but might say, as the cowboy did when offered oxtail soup, "That's going a long way back for soup."

Thompson did find money for the Harding campaign—sat in his office all through the summer, working for Harding, and that was all he got out of it. Others were the "fair-haired boys" when it came to showing gratitude.

AL SMITH, Governor of New York, will withdraw from the presidential primaries in Illinois. This doesn't mean that he has withdrawn from the race. Mr. Smith's supporters, men that see far ahead and are patient, evidently believe it is best to bring Mr. Smith before the convention without running the risk of preliminary setback or unpleasant discussion.

The Tragedy of The Home-Made Outfit

Comic strip titled 'The Tragedy of The Home-Made Outfit' featuring a character named 'POP' who is making a 'DADDY' outfit. The dialogue includes: 'POP - JAMES DADDY BOUGHT HIM A DADDY RADIO FOR $75 AND I WANT ONE JUST LIKE IT - KIN I DADDY - HUH?'; 'OH DADDY - I GOTTA HAVE 2 MORE BUCKS TO GET A WHATCHACALLIT'; 'HEY POP - GIMME 7 BUCKS FOR A HICKEY TO GO ON THE WHATCHACALLIT AND 13 MORE FOR A DINGBAT'; 'HEY DAD - I GOTTA HAVE 17 DOLLARS FOR A PART FOR THE DINGBAT'; 'OH POP - GIMME 34 BUCKS FOR A DODDAD AND 19 MORE FOR A PART TO GO ON THE HICKEY AND IT'LL BE ALL DONE'; 'NOW WE GOTTA HIRE A EXPERT TO MAKE THE THING WORK - DAD'; 'I'M A CRACKER CLEARWATER SUN'; 'Chatter heard everywhere you go during the summer months when the tourists are sojourning in mountain coast resorts: I'm a cracker. In the first place I'm darned glad of it, and, contrary to most of the winter visitors, I positively do not use the term "you-all." If I do I use it correctly, and only when speaking or to more than one person. I'm a "cracker" and I hear so many tourists rave about this and that, and that and this, that I have grown used to it, and never notice it any more, until I hear one of them say "New Jolay," "Tholy," "thoid" Street or something like that, and then I know my English is not so rotten after all. I'm a "cracker," and I want to say right here that, regardless of how much fault-finding, how much complaining, etc., is done, I, for one, am glad that the best people of these United States have found Clearwater and hope that more and more people will continue to find it during the years to come. It wouldn't have amounted to much had she been just an ordinary dog which was no good. Before the police shot her if they had just said, "Spot, come here," she would have minded them, and then I could have gotten her back and put her in her pen where she has been for over a week. She had her tag—it was only bought a month ago and only a month ago I refused fifty dollars cash for her. I wanted her for breeding purposes and her company and having her around always learning new tricks and things was worth more than fifty dollars to me, but they have killed her and here is no bringing her back. I wonder how many bullets she would have had in her body if she had belonged to one of them. When it is another person's dog, it doesn't matter much. The dog has been tied in back of the police station and they knew it belonged to me because I work at Smith's Book Furniture Store and it is not fifty yards from the Police Station. Why couldn't they have tied her back there and then said something to me about it? There is no reason except that five or six big policemen had to take their five or six big pistols and kill a harmless and smart little dog. But I am sorry I can't have "Spot" there for you. I don't know if it was five or six of you "Great Big Policemen" who shot that one little dog of mine, but I ask you, if it takes that many to kill one little dog, how many will it take to enforce two or three real laws of Sanford? MR. BRYAN SHOULD BE DELEGATE BRADENTOWN HERALD

William Jennings Bryan wants to be one of Florida's delegates to the Democratic National Convention. Mr. Bryan should be given this honor. It is a little going indeed that this man, for a score of years one of the leaders of the party, asks. It is astonishing to The Herald that any Florida editor should oppose his wish to become a delegate, still more surprising that some of them deride his request. William Jennings Bryan was three times his party's nominee for president. That he failed to become president does not detract from the fact that he is a leader in the party, a leader in national thought, a clean man and a Christian gentleman. Bryan performed a great service for his party, for his country and for the world when, in 1912 he fought a singlehanded battle with the Tammany delegation, whipped it and won for Woodrow Wilson the presidential nomination. That service to his party and to his country would alone give to Bryan the right of demand of strength in the convention as a delegate from his adopted state—Florida. But there are many other reasons why he should go. One of them is that this same Tammany, "wet" as the Atlantic ocean, will have the convention in its home city and place of strength this time, and will whipsaw, pull and press for the nomination for its favorite candidate, "Wet Al" Smith, governor of New York. The nation does not want a "wet" candidate for the presidency; the Democratic party does not want one; the state of Florida would abhor such a situation. And it may take a Bryan to prevent it.

Insane asylums are getting in for the annual spring poet. Being too serious is a very common mistake. Closed autos are becoming popular as closed mouths. The National Shoe Buyers are speakerless banquet, and this I plan that should become popular. Detroit's champion rifle shot a man of 63, so never read a print in a bad light. A London boy of 18, as two who no should be appointed an honor movie star. Eating sugar soaked in perf is a fad with Middletown (N. Y.) girls, the sweet things. The height of optimism in Ohio is saying the crown prince will inherit the throne. Don't blame a man for talking to himself. Maybe he wants hear someone he can believe. Only a great state would be up to its faults. Texas and she leads in producing spinach. "I am through with men," a Kansas City woman as she gets a divorce. It sounds like 16, she is 66. What could make a French fan madder than getting a German station broadcasting "Deutschland Ueber Alles"? Mexico will send an Olympic team to France. If the team's all soldiers they should be runners. Radio is becoming very popular in South America and almost a night the fans can hear a revolution in the air.

THRIFT'S GREATEST EXAMPLE

BEN FRANKLIN is America's greatest example of thrift. He began practicing it when 12 years old and continued the habit through life. As a result, he became the richest American of his day, not only in money, but in health, good cheer and happiness. You, too, can get added satisfaction out of life as you increase your personal resources and place yourself in a position to enjoy the fruits of your labors. Follow the thrift example of Benjamin Franklin. The best way is to deposit a definite sum each week or each month in a savings account.

THE MISER

Once I knew the face of Love,
Long and long ago;
Strange how many folk forget
Love they used to know.

Then my lonely room was gay,
Touched with wayward charm,
Bright the flame upon the hearth,
Flickering, yet warm.

Then the China Shepherdess,
High upon the shelf,
Watched the Shepherd, near the clock,
Smiling to herself.

Long and long ago that was,
Broken, swept away
Both those tiny figurines;
Love, too, might not stay.

Love, too, broke, a brittle thing,
But none dream, today,
How I picked up every piece,
Locked them safe away.

So, now winter days are here,
Cold and gray with gloom,
All those pieces I bring out,
Spread them round the room.

Gay they glitter, like the bright beads
For some royal dress,
Till my sober, lonely room
Burns with loveliness.

GIRLS FRIENDLY SOCIETY GIVES TEA

Delightfully in every way was the tea given Monday afternoon by the Senior Girls Friendly Society, at the home of Mrs. J. N. Robson on Park Avenue.

The lower floor was opened en suite and beautifully decorated with a profusion of sweet peas and other cut flowers in the tones of pink. Centering the prettily appointed tea table was a silver basket of sweet peas and asparagus.

At either side were silver candelabra holding pink tapers. Crystal compotes and nappies filled with salted nuts, candies and mints were placed at intervals.

The elegantly appointed luncheon table was placed in the Palm Room, and was centered with a Dutch silver vase filled with pink radiance roses and ferns, the handles tied with butterfly bow of tulle in green and pink. At either end were smaller baskets filled with these same lovely flowers.

LOVELY BRIDGE PARTY

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Walter S. Coleman, and Mrs. Mary Hommel were the gracious hostesses, when they entertained at bridge at their home on Oak Avenue.

The rooms were suggestive of spring with their decorations of lovely jonquils effectively arranged in baskets and bowls. Scores were kept on tallies hand-painted in jonquils, and on the tables were miniature baskets in the form of jonquils, filled with salted nuts and candies which were enjoyed during the game.

The afternoon passed quickly with the spirited game of bridge, when scores were counted, the prize for high score, was awarded Mrs. D. L. Thrasher. Low score prize went to Mrs. F. J. Gonzalez, while the cut prize fell to the lot of Mrs. James G. Sharon.

Following the awarding of the prizes the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. W. T. Wheeler and Mrs. H. R. Stevens, served a delicious course with mousse and coffee. On each plate was a jonquil to be used as favors.

Luis Firpo Prefers Barnstorming Over Country To Boxing

NEW YORK, Mar. 4.—According to Broadway gossip, Luis Angel Firpo, having had a great entry on the memorable night of Sept. 14, will never again mingle with Jack Dempsey within the confines of an 18-foot ring. The noble sinner, it is said, is arranging a list of exhibition dates and will trade on his last showing with the champion in an effort to clean up while the cleaning is all to the vacuum.

He will do business with Jack Renault and other heavy-weights during the coming summer months but will avoid Dempsey, according to local gossip. Meantime, it is said that the trick will be to squawk loud and plaintively for a return engagement with the champion.

After having finished with Renault, Firpo's idea is said to be to invade St. Paul and meet Fulton. After attending to this trifling matter for which they have selected Memorial Day, Luis will step over to Cleveland with the laudible idea of knocking over Floyd Johnson.

The next stop, according to the ambitious schedule, is St. Louis, where Tom Cowler will be resurrected long enough for Luis to collect from the box office. After that, Kalamazoo, Mich., the home of office furniture and Homer Smith. Homer will be accommodated on July 21. The last and best attraction will be staged in Philadelphia with George Godfrey, a negro heavyweight with the co-attraction.

Florida Students To Take Up Horse Shoe Pitching Pastime

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Mar. 4.—Horse shoe pitching, chess and checkers, sports of olden times, are rapidly coming in vogue at the University of Florida. The metallic clang of horse shoes, the tap-tap of moving checkers, echo daily on the campus and in Y. M. C. A. halls, with more and more volume. Tournaments to decide the champions of these three sports are now being contemplated and soon will be in progress though no definite date has yet been decided.

Dr. R. G. Manchester, director of minor sports, has appointed a manager for the matches, and compensations for the winners have been ordered. The three winners of each tournament will receive medals—first, gold; second, bronze; third, silver. A call for entrants is now in effect.

Mah-jong even has gone into discard before the checker onslaught. Daily on the porches of the houses off the campus students engage in checker bouts while in front of the commons is a horse shoe pitching course always in use.

In the Y. M. C. A. building chess and checkers prevail.

The tournaments will witness experienced artists in all three lines in all probability.

University Protected From All Fire Hazards

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, Mar. 3.—With the installation of additional water mains and an advantageous location of fire plugs in extension of the original system completed, the University now has adequate protection from fire for all buildings on the campus and for those soon to be erected. This improvement has been needed for some time, and adds greatly to the security of the University. The system now places a fire-plug within easy reach of every building. Additional mains laid total approximately 900 feet, and it is anticipated the present system will suffice for many years.

ATHLETIC RELATIONS BETWEEN TECH AND GEORGIA HAVE BEEN RESUMED

Authorities From Both Schools Sign Agreement Which Acknowledges All Differences Have Been Settled

ATLANTA, Mar. 4.—Athletic relations between Georgia and the University of Georgia have been resumed.

In an official announcement Saturday by the faculty chairman of athletics of the two institutions, it was made plain that Georgia's two greatest rivals would resume actual playing in athletics where they left off in the spring of 1919.

The heads of the two schools have removed the last barrier to a resumption of games of all kinds between Tech and Georgia and it is only a matter of schedules now until the great classics which once rocked the foundation of the state will again become the feature of every sporting season.

Official Statement
The announcement, signed by Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, faculty director of athletics at Tech, and Dr. S. V. Sanford, holding a similar position at Georgia, follows:

Mar. 1, 1924.
The University of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology today agreed, with the approval of the chancellor of the University of Georgia and the president of Georgia Tech, and the faculty chairman of athletics of the two institutions, and the presidents of the student councils of the two institutions, to resume athletic relations.

(Signed)
DR. J. B. CRENSHAW,
DR. S. V. SANFORD.

Both Dr. Crenshaw and Dr. Sanford refused to comment upon the exact date of the first game of sport between Tech and Georgia. At the suggestion they merely laughed and went on their way to the City Auditorium to watch the basketball tourney there.

Negotiations Secret
This agreement between Tech and Georgia is the consummation of plans which have been kept remarkably secret, and which were begun only a few days ago.

Several meetings have been held between Tech and Georgia authorities, and all the differences be-

Sons Former Big Leaguers Are In College To Play

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Mar. 4.—When Ed Walsh, Jr., now in St. Johns Preparatory School in Danvers, Mass., goes to Notre Dame College next fall as pitcher, football and basketball star, he will meet a youngster from Portland, Ore., named Sullivan, Jr., who is a catcher. It is possible that they will be the Notre Dame battery for three or four years.

Walsh's father was pitcher and Sullivan's was catcher for the White Sox and they were the biggest factor in bringing the American League pennant and the world series championship to Chicago in 1906.

Ever since the break in 1919 there have been efforts to bring the two together, and while several times meetings were held, nothing definite was ever accomplished.

The resumption of athletic relations is one of the most important sporting announcements ever made in the South. Both Tech and Georgia are leaders in every branch of sport, and were active in the formation of the Southern Conference. There has been a constantly growing demand for the two to play again.

Officials of both schools have agreed that it is practically impossible for them to meet in football next year because of schedules which are now arranged. Tech is tied up with contracts which may prevent the scheduling of a game in football for two years.

However, there is strong possibility of games in other sports at a very early date.

Billy Sunday Likes Champ Jack Dempsey

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Mar. 4.—Rev. William A. ("Billy") Sunday, the noted evangelist, admits he's an admirer of Jack Dempsey.

The ball player-preacher is conducting a revival here and the coming of the world's heavyweight champion cut severely into his attraction for one night. Asked for his opinion of Dempsey, Billy said: "I find no fault with Jack Dempsey. In fact, I kinda like Jack and I have enough sporting blood in my veins not to want to see anybody lick him, especially some foreign mutt."
