The Reliable Mail

When it comes to dependability, nothing exceeds the postal service. Once a letter is mailed, it will be delivered—years or generations later in rare cases, but certainly it will arrive at its destination.

An example of the dependability of the postal service comes from France. Letters written 85 years ago, during the Prussian siege of Paris, have just been recovered from the River Seine.

These letters, enclosed in a metal sphere, written to a group of Parisians by friends in the French provinces. The sphere was dropped into the river in the hope that it would float downstream through the enemy lines into the beleaguered capital. It seems to have been kept buoyant all these years by a wooden float.

Such a case undoubtedly must be embarrassing to the postal authorities, for now the recovered mail must be delivered. Almost certainly the senders and the people to whom they were addressed are dead. The question now is where to deliver the mail. In some cases it will go, after extensive research, to descendants of those who sent it, or of those to whom it was addressed. The rest probably will be placed in a museum of postal oddities.

Whatever its destination, it's comforting

Democrats Keeping Pretty Quiet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats are mousy quiet for a political party only 17 months away from the 1956 presidential election. If they have found one stirring issue to use against the Republicans next year, they haven't disclosed it. Yet at this same time in 1951 the Democrats were clouting the Republicans with two issues which remained major through the next 17 months up to election day in 1952: the Korean War and alleged Communism in government.

The one thing they have harped on, in one way or another, is that they have saved Eisenhower from his own Republicans. These factors, more than any others, are probably responsible for the Democrats' strange quietness so late in the political season: 1. Eisenhower's personal popularity. They know that if they find something to hit him with, it had better be big, real and earnest. Feltly attacks on him will look petty and may have a reverse effect. 2. The two parties' programs are not basically far apart anyway. And, since this is a time of great prosperity, the Democrats will have a time pointing up any great differences unless they can find issues of deep and stirring interest. Those issues have not appeared.

City Hall On Wheels

As all readers of the Arabian Nights know, the caliph, Harun al-Rashid, who ruled the Mohammedan state with an autocratic hand, liked to put on a disguise and wander through the streets of Baghdad. He thus learned what was going on in the capital and what his people thought.

Richard J. Daley, new mayor of Chicago, is taking a leaf from Harun's book. He has introduced a "city hall on wheels", a station wagon which will cruise the streets daily except Saturday and Sunday. Either the mayor or a top aide will ride in it and receive complaints or suggestions. The station wagon has a two-way telephone, so a citizen with a grievance can tell his story and talk directly to the department head involved.

Harun would have liked this idea, except that it would have deprived him of the fun of going about in disguise. In a city as large as Chicago, the mass of citizens may easily get out of touch with their government. To some extent the ward and precinct politicians remedy this situation, but they generally have an axe to grind. The new idea, citizens will hope, may be free from this fault.

Presidents' Assassins

The lives of presidents have been written, and those of presidents' wives, but it remains for Robert J. Donovan's "The Assassins" to record the stories of the men who either murdered presidents or tried to do so.

There have been more of them than most people realize. Three presidents were killed: Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley. As these three murders came astonishingly close together, all within 36 years, it could be said that, out of the seven presidents elected, three were killed in office. Since that time, the record has been better.

An attempt was made to kill FDR not long before his first inauguration. The Puerto Rican attack on President Truman is still well remembered. In addition, an assassin shot at Andrew Jackson, and another wounded Theodore Roosevelt after he had left office but was running for a third term.

The record would be much worse except for the vigilance of the secret service, and the restrictions they place on the President's movements. Gone are the days when Gen. Grant could, while president, stroll unattended along the Washington streets, window-shopping.

There Are Many Odd Jobs In TV

NEW YORK (AP)—In the antic, frantic world of television there are many odd jobs.

Pretty Mary A. Kelly, who is regularly kissed by a chimpanzee and recently rubbed noses with a $750,000 horse, has one of the oddest. She is a "guest finder."

Miss Kelly, a rugged, bountifully built young lady with Irish red hair and hazel-green eyes, is a feature editor and writer on Dave Garroway's "Today," an NBC network morning program. But one of her chief chores is to route famous guests from their beds in time to appear on the show.

"If I come into the room and don't go over and let him kiss me, he throws a fit," said Mary. On a recent trip to Dublin to get film material for the show she also was busted on the nose by Tulvar, the $750,000 Irish National stallion. On still another assignment she donned a steelworker's helmet and climbed the rigging of a midtown building under construction.

Only once has Mary let a guest get away. One morning she went to pick up Ava Gardner and found the film star had moved out the night before without leaving word of her new address.

This seemed to confirm the detective's worst suspicions. "It took a phone call to the network to straighten that out," said Mary, laughing.

Miss Kelly, who started as a typist for a Hartford, Conn., insurance firm, came here at 19 and landed a job as a newspaper copy girl. Later she worked for a feature syndicate before going into television.

She has been adopted as a foster mother by J. Fred Muggs, TV's pioneer chimpanzee star. She chaperoned J. Fred Muggs on a world tour last summer.

"I've come into the room and don't go over and let him kiss me, he throws a fit," said Mary. My New York

By MEL HEINER

NEW YORK — Things one New Yorker thinks about: The truth is, no matter how drunk the maitre 'd may be, drunks find their way into the swankiest of saloons. Or sometimes they're fairly sober to begin with, but the familiar bottle on the table does them in. I was talking yesterday with Marion Marlowe, the talented young singer of the Godfrey TV show who's just finished an engagement (her cafe debut) at the very plush Cotillion Room of the Pierre Hotel.

She said one night there was a whole nest of drunks at a table but somehow they didn't bother anyone — until just at her last song, a dramatic, touching ballad which she sang at the door with a baby spot on her face. Halfway through, she felt a hand plucking at her arm. "Shay," came the happy, loud request, "which way to go to wash my hair, girl?" Miss Marlowe, who in her act resembles a younger Jane Farrow—whom she admires—wore black lounging pajamas as she played hostess to me in her fourth-floor suite at the Pierre.

Talking of life in the hotels, the management of the Great Northern—that's the one Jack Dempsey once owned, partly — had a rough time recently until it met fire with fire. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Practical Jokers held a three-day convention there and had bellboys lugging luggage loaded with bricks, cashiers coping with stage money, etc. One member even tried to bring a horse into his room.

The hotel at last struck back—with chalked napkins, dribb' cups and collapsible spoons at dinner, rubber mice planted in members' beds and so on. The conventioners called the war a draw but promised to be back next year with "new and terrible weapons."

Not since my childhood, when a boy named Jack McNeill told me his father kept a full-sized airplane in the attic, have I been so intrigued by anyone as Bobby Ray Cox, a young reporter who met his incoming train at Penn Station, N. J., Children's Home after a month's stay there—during which authorities went crazy trying to decide if he was 14 or 17, whether he came from an island off Africa or a Texas ranch, whether he was a cannibal's adopted son or a Cuban orphan, or whether he really practiced "Bor-skin"—the cannibals' native religion, you know — as he said. His parent's the most fascinating story-teller in the world today—and anywhere in the world is where you might find him, right now.

Passing 1010 Fifth Avenue the other day, I was reminded of Wendell Wilkie, who lived there — and the other time I met him, I was in a herd of reporters who met his incoming train at Penn campaign . . . and watched, almost unbelieving, while he held up picture-taking until he could muss his hair, country style, and twist his collar and tie. Since I wasn't a Roosevelt supporter, that left me exactly nowhere.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mona Starnes, Miss Norway of 1954, is back in the United States to stay, she hopes.

The 28-year-old beauty returned Sunday with her husband, television producer Sandy Young, on a permanent visa. In five years she will be eligible for U. S. citizenship.

Miss Starnes left for Norway six weeks ago, just before she was to appear for deportation hearing. Her husband followed her to Oslo 10 days later. She came here to participate in last year's Miss Universe contest and stayed on, too long, on a temporary visa.

Steve Sebe, football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, was a star baseball at Michigan State. He won the team batting championship twice.

Seven Are Rescued By Calm Stranger

HAMPTON COURT, ENGLAND (AP) — Neil Dromfield, aged 8, fell off a bridge into the Thames River Sunday.

Frank Willingale dived in to save the child, then began to flounder himself. Mrs. Willingale went in to save her husband. In the excitement the four Willingale children, ranging in age from 7 to 2, fell in after their parents.

Along came a calm stranger who pulled all seven out of the water and left without disclosing his name.

DECISIVE VICTORY EAGLE ROCK, VA. (AP) — There wasn't much doubt who had the better team.

Eagle Rock defeated Fincastle in a baseball game, 32-0. Calvin Huffman, an 18-year-old senior, pitched a no-hitter for Eagle Rock.

Go Ahead and Chew Gum; It Prevents Tooth Decay

By EDWARD S. BRONK, D.D.S.

LIKE to chew gum? Well, go ahead. A recent experiment made by the Dental Research Institute at the University of Chicago showed that gum-chewing slowed down acid formation in the mouth cavity to prevent serious tooth decay.

Dr. A. A. Turbin and William Sherman, both of Tufts College Dental School, reported their findings to a recent meeting of the Dental Research Institute at the University of Chicago. Volunteers in the experiment, they explained, rinsed their mouths with a sugary solution which simulated the effects of eating a sweet candy. Their teeth, they showed, then showed a stick of gum; the rest did not.

The results proved that the gum chewers had the advantage. In comparing them with the non-chewers, Dr. Turbin and Sherman say, the acid formation in the cavities over their teeth, and showed that 50 per cent of the concentration reached the "critical level of demineralization 20 times among non-chewers and only 14 times among the gum chewers." According to the doctor's report:

The reason for this is fairly simple. Gum-chewing stimulates the flow of saliva. This helps clean the mouth of sugar which produces acid.

There is overwhelming evidence that sugar helps to cause tooth decay, the researchers say, and that all foods with a sugar content must be necessarily dangerous to the teeth.

Low Sugar Content In other words, it's the sugar that sticks to your teeth that hurts you, not the sugar you swallow.

All chewing gum, of course, is not alike in exactly the same way. Some have lower sugar content themselves and others stimulate saliva more rapidly. Of the three gums tested, the doctors said, one was 80 to 75 per cent more effective in slowing acid formation than the other two.

QUESTION AND ANSWER Q. E. W.: What is the cause of a nervous stomach and what can be done for it? X-rays show no organic trouble.

ANSWER: Nervous indigestion is due to the incorrect action of the stomach. The treatment for nervous indigestion may include changing certain habits. Worry and over-eating are to be discarded; the diet must be changed to easy meals, prepared not in hot way but moderate.

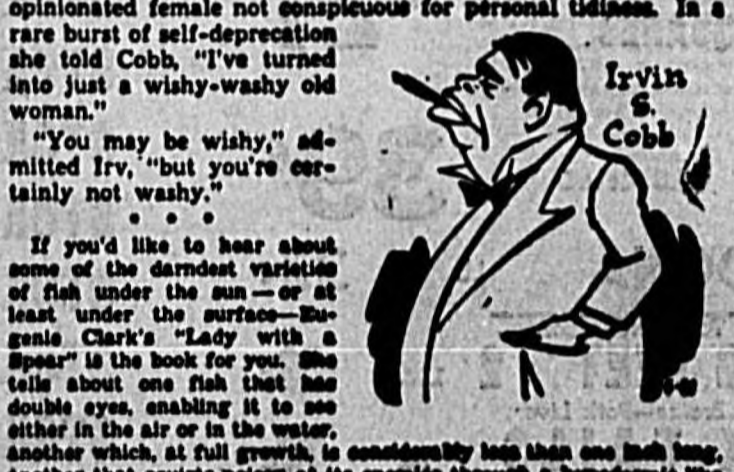

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

SENATOR ALBEN W. BARKLEY quotes with relish Irvin Cobb's story of an old newspaper colleague, a garrulous, opinionated female not conspicuous for personal tidiness. In a rare burst of self-deprecation she told Cobb, "I've turned into just a wishy-washy old woman."

"You may be wishy," admitted Irvin, "but you're certainly not washy."

If you'd like to hear about some of the darndest varieties of fish under the sun—or at least under the surface—Burgess Clark's "Lady with a Spear" is the book for you. She tells about one fish that has double eyes, enabling it to see either in the air or in the water, another which, at full growth, is considerably less than one inch long. Another that squirts poison at its enemies through a hypodermic-like sprayer. There's the marlin, which swims standing on its head, and a variety of all the peacocks, which the male, before it is bred, has the babies!

Geoffrey Shurlock Making Attempt To Cut Violence

HOLLYWOOD UP—The man who is trying to put a restraining hand on movie violence is square-built, English-born Geoffrey Shurlock. Last year, the 60-year-old Shurlock succeeded Joseph Breen as Hollywood's production code administrator. He and his staff survey most scripts and all finished pictures and advise studios on censorship matters.

If films conform to the production code, they get a seal certifying them to be shown in American theaters. Rarely do producers try to sell movies without a seal. "The Moon Is Blue" was one of the few exceptions.

As Hollywood top censor, Shurlock tries to avoid the limelight. But because movie violence has become such a big issue, he granted an interview on the subject.

"We saw this coming last November," he said. "There was a notable increase in the amount of violence in scripts being presented. Those are the pictures that are in release now."

"We cautioned the producers that too much violence would bring a reaction from the public. I think we are making some headway in convincing them that violence should be toned down. But the results will not be evident in the theaters for another six months."

"One of the reasons I foresee this trend toward violence was the Academy Awards. The top winners two years in a row were two extremely violent films — 'From Here to Eternity' and 'On the Waterfront.' It was inevitable that others would follow."

How does the code authority gauge the public's reaction to film content?

"The audience is our partner in this business," said Shurlock, veteran of 23 years with the code. "We watch the reaction carefully, through the Legion of Decency, the 13 women's groups that review pictures, the Protestant Film Council, plus the important trade and newspaper reviewers."

"We know the code governs violence?"

"We have no hard and fast rules. Rules would kill this industry. We can only do what Joe Breen suggested: 'Let's make pictures that are reasonably acceptable morally to reasonable people.'"

"One thing the code does prohibit: youngsters with guns. Shurlock said he will not admit the claims of some critics that crime pictures contribute to delinquency."

"Perhaps two or three kids are induced to try crime out in the world that see movies," he said.

Shurlock said he and his staff are looking more closely at scenes of violence in current scripts. One of the suggestions he has made to producers is to have actual beatings "off frame." In other words, lead up to the violence and show the result, but leave the blows to the audience's imagination.

"Another thing we have noticed: there are not enough 'nice people' in films," he remarked. "Audiences do not complain as much about violence if decent people are also pictured in films."

2,000 Children Looked After By Busy Wife

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Ismele M. Kalaris, a dark-eyed young wife and attorney, has 2,000 children.

Sometimes she has to travel by jeep, muleback and on foot, climbing mountains and fording rivers, to get around to them all—but she does it.

The children are Greek war orphans, and Mrs. Kalaris is director in Greece for the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. She has held the job two years, living in Athens with her husband George, who is a lawyer with the American mission to Greece.

En route to Greece after a recent trip to the United States, Mrs. Kalaris told of some of the trials of caring for 2,000 children in remote mountain areas.

"I travel all over Greece visiting the children," she says. "Sometimes the trip is 15 or 16 hours by car and another 6 to 8 hours by mule-riding side saddle. But it's worth it to see the happiness of the children when they receive mail or gifts from their foster parents in America."

Though Mrs. Kalaris has no children of her own, she feels that all 2,000 of the small Greek orphans belong to her. Under the plan the foster parent contributes $15 a month for the care of a child in Greece—or in other parts of the world—and this makes all the difference between want and plenty.

"The children keep in direct contact with their foster parents," says Mrs. Kalaris. "They exchange letters, which we translate in the Athens office, and they send snapshots. Sometimes they even go to visit their foster parents in America."

"The idea is to take care of the children until they are rehabilitated—usually until they are old enough to become self-supporting. And it's amazing to see what a little help and encouragement does for these young people."

As We Were Saying

People sometimes spend three days trying to live down something they did while they were living it up.

Walter E. Frank, an Oregon driver, filling in an accident report blank, wrote: "I was backing out of Frederick's Motor Company Body Shop and by the time I backed out far enough to see what was coming, it already had."

Filmed Television Seems To Maintain Edge In Question

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD UP—How will you have your TV—live or on film?

The battle still rages in Hollywood over the question. At present it appears that film has the edge, at least on this coast. New York is still the citadel of live shows.

An interesting sidelight was offered this week by a famous emcee of one of the dramatic shows. He didn't wish his name used because his program offers both filmed and live shows. But he made no secret of his preference for film.

"Not only can we tell a better story on film," he remarked. "We can tell more story."

"The advantages of film are obvious. We can use more sets, more actors and more costumes. We can cover a longer space of time in the story. We can take the scene outdoors and stage action that would be impossible if done live."

"And we can actually cover 10 more pages of script on a filmed show. When you cut 10 pages out of a half-hour show, you lose a lot of story."

From the stars' viewpoints, there are other important advantages to film. They are protected from memory lapses and poor photography. They are allowed to get their performances closer to perfection because of retakes.

West Palm Beach Slams Sanford, 6-2

West Palm Beach padded out six hits with a dozen walks last night and took a 6-2 Florida State League victory over the Sanford Cardinals at Memorial Stadium.

Red Roberts got three of the Indians' six hits and drove in three runs.

The only bright spot for Sanford fans was in the fourth inning when Manager Dan

Keith was safe on an error. Dwight Cook doubled and Charlie May singled home both runners.

It was the ninth defeat for the Cardinals in their last 11 games.

West Palm Beach plays here again tonight. Game time is 8 o'clock.

If the Daytona Beach Islanders expect to challenge Orlando for first place in the Florida State League they had better learn how to handle Ino Rodriguez.

The Cocoa outfielder doubled with bases loaded in the eighth inning last night, giving Cocoa's Indians the three runs they needed to beat Daytona Beach 6-4.

That interrupted an Islander winning streak of five games while the Orlando CB's swept to their eighth straight 3-0 over last-place St. Petersburg and extended their league lead to five games.

Lakeland broke a four-game game losing streak with a 6-4 decision over Gainesville.

A crowd of 682 at Daytona Beach saw their Islanders take a 3-0 lead over Cocoa in the fourth on a home run by Jerry Micham only to lose on Rodriguez' three-run double.

Orlando got shutout pitching from Andy Schriever, who scattered nine hits and gave no walks. Only one of the CB's three runs was earned but that was enough.

A barrage of singles and a double by Randy Randall for four runs in the eighth inning propelled Lakeland to victory over Gainesville. The other Lakeland runs came on a homer by Joe Fassino.

Three fires were handed out by league President John Krider yesterday. He charged Joe Valmas, Orlando pitcher, and Stewart Cloos, West Palm Beach infielder-pitcher, $10 each for fighting in a game May 27. Art Rebel, St. Petersburg manager, was fined $10 for a May 29 incident in which he argued vigorously over a ball and strike decision and was ejected by the umpire.

In the Orlando-St. Petersburg game, Jim Shirley, former Sanford Cardinal utility man, knocked in all three Orlando runs. He smashed a ringing single to right in the second with two mates aboard via walks, the only pain issued by the Saints' Hooks lott.

In the sixth, Shirley was responsible for two more runs. These were technically unearned, but there was nothing unearned about the triple the big first baseman used to drive them home. It was a sailing liner to the left-center field fence 450 feet from the plate.

Leo Far From Happy About Facing Western Clubs

Team Can't Win Many Games On 4 Hits, Durocher Knows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of the facts of life in the major leagues is that a team can't win many ball games on four hits.

No one knows it better than Manager Leo Durocher of the

New York Giants and he's far from happy at the prospect of facing the Western clubs in 18 games starting tonight with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Giants shed out a 3-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies last night on four paltry hits. Davey Williams broke it up in the ninth with a single, scoring Don Mueller, who had walked and moved to second on a sacrifice.

"The pitching hasn't been too bad, everything considered," said Durocher. "There were plenty of situations in some of our losing games when a hit in the right place would have made the difference."

But we just aren't hitting—at least we aren't hitting in the right places."

Even the Giants' first run against the Phils was tainted. Pitcher Herman Wehmer tried to pick Ed Maglie off first base and threw wildly. That sent Maglie to second and Walter Lockman promptly followed with a double, tying the run the Phillies scored in the first.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a 6-3 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates. In the only other game on the schedule, the Cleveland Indians pulled to within 2½ games of the New York Yankees by edging the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 in 13 innings.

Olson Seeking Title Robinson Nearly Claimed

Ray Robinson, once regarded as the best boxer-puncher in fighting, should be an interested spectator when Bobo Olson attempts to relieve Archie Moore of his world's light heavyweight title.

Robinson was the last man who, having won the crown in a lighter division, tried to rule a heavier division.

Robinson tried it on June 20, 1952 and the ex-welterweight and middleweight king had the light heavyweight crown within his grasp in a bout against Joey Maxim.

Robinson gave Maxim a boxing lesson for 10 rounds and almost flattened his heavier foe in the seventh round, after which Maxim's handlers used smelling salts.

Western League Proving Minors Can Make Money

DENVER (AP)—The Class A Western Baseball League is acting like it won't miss Denver and Omaha—the loop's longtime financial pillars.

The two big towns draw a total of $82,656 fans last year. Since then they've pulled out of the Western for the American Assn. That blew at the box office didn't fold the Western, as many predicted.

The departure of Omaha and Denver will slash attendance figures but the league president, Gov. Ed C. Johnson of Colorado, still expects the Western to draw 750,000.

That was only a minor gain but Bob Doty, Wichita business manager, predicts that attendance "should be way up" for Indian home games in 1955. Wichita drew 87,864 last year. "Our advance ticket sale already nearly equals our total sales of last year," Doty says.

Lincoln General Manager Dick Wagner is "very happy over the turnout for our early games. We feel sure that given a hustling contender, Lincoln fans will support Western ball."

St. Louis Cards To Hold Tryouts Here June 17-18

A St. Louis Cardinal baseball tryout camp will be held at Municipal Stadium on Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18, it was announced today.

Prominent Cardinal scouts will be on hand to conduct the workouts which may result in a baseball career for some of the youthful hopefuls on hand. Workouts, open to all players between 17 and 23, start each morning at 10 o'clock.

Players attending the trial sessions need bring only a glove, baseball shoes and a uniform, if he has one. All other equipment will be furnished by the St. Louis National League team.

Tryout camps have long been a source of a great amount of the players' talent that is contained in the Cardinals' farm system.

Mrs. Babe Ruth To Open League At DeLand Today

The widow of Babe Ruth is scheduled to appear in DeLand today for the opening of a league bearing the name of the great king.

Mrs. George Herman Ruth will be the guest of honor at the event through the sponsorship of the DeLand Chamber of Commerce and DeLand Babe Ruth League Inc. The opening will be at Central Park.

While in DeLand, Mrs. Ruth will be entertained by several groups including the Babe Ruth League members, the Chamber of Commerce and Babe Ruth League sponsors.

A bright outlook at Wichita, where attendance lagged last season, has given the other league managers a lift. Wichita's sold attendance for its first four home games was 4,181 compared with 3,978 last year.

All have good working agreements. We are all set for a mighty close and interesting race. The teams are evenly matched and the spirit is good on all the clubs."

Batting Average Makes Dusty Say: 'I'm Just Lousy'

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm just lousy. What else is there to say?"

That was Dusty Rhodes, the toast of New York last year, speaking today as he reflected on his paltry .130 batting average.

Pinch hitter extraordinary, clutch hitter superb, the terror of enemy pitchers. That was the role that New York Giants outfielder played last year as he cut a swath through the National League.

Williams Sets Pace For Navy

EUSTIS — Cliff Williams continued to pace the Sanford Navy Lake-Orange Baseball League entry's hitter in games played through May 28.

Williams, a Montgomery, Alabama, led slumped a bit during the past two weeks to drop out of the League's top ten hitters, but still showed the way for his teammates.

Individual Sanford Navy averages (listed alphabetically, are as follows:

Power	1.100
Curry	.900
Duke	.850
Cherrier	.800
McKerley	.750
Hines	.700
Finley	.650
Wright	.600
Johnson	.550
Wicks	.500

Wright	.400
Smith	.350
Wright	.300
Wright	.250
Wright	.200
Wright	.150
Wright	.100
Wright	.050

Joe Fry, with three wins tonight, leads the league's pitching department. Jim Hobbs has won one and lost three.

Ray Mitty, team leader for Winger, leads the league in home runs. The game will be a home game for the Navy team which was permitted to enter the Lake-Orange League as a "traveling team" because of lack of facilities for their baseball.

"I have no excuses," he said gloomily. "I'm terrible."

But he said there is a slight ray of hope. He's had one comparable batting slump in his career. That was in 1948 with Springfield of the Three-I League. He was spattering along at a .230 clip in July but finally finished up operations with a .304 mark.

"Down there I played every day and that helped me work it out," he said. "But then I played every day because they didn't have any one else."

"I'm trying to do everything the same way I did last year. Johnny Mize (batting coach) said he thought he spotted something the other day. He said I'm striding wrong, picking up the right foot instead of sliding it along the ground into the pitch."

"If I'm doing 900 things wrong now, I was doing 900 things wrong a year ago and I had a pretty good season then."

That he did.

He closed: .500 as a pinch hitter 16 for 68 and climaxed it with a .597 mark, including two home runs—in the four-straight World Series sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

"It's too late to change my swing now," continued Rhodes. "So I'm going to stick with it. Everyone is trying to snail me out of it. Even our battery has a few theories of his own."

Cardinal Manager Harry "The Hat" Walker, pointing out the opportunities for young players in tryout camps, said: "Don't be discouraged if you're not as good as the major league players right now. Come out to the tryout camp anyway. Remember, the great stars like Mize, Robinson, Schindler, and the likes of them were once raw and green."

Meouchi Chosen For Patriarch By Pope Pius XII

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Pope Pius XII has nominated Msgr. Paul Meouchi to become patriarch of the nearly one million Maronite Catholics in Lebanon.

The new Patriarch of Antioch and All the East has been bishop of Tyre. He succeeds the late Antoun Arida.

The delay in nomination of a new patriarch had aroused newspaper speculation in Lebanon, but Vatican sources said earlier this was the result of a misunderstanding.

Arida died May 19 at the age of 92 after a long illness. For the past five years the patriarchate has been run by an apostolic committee of three bishops named by Pope Pius XII.

Arida's logical successor would be Bishop Bostani of Sidon, dean of the Maronite bishops. But Vatican informants say he also is old and ailing.

The Maronites are the largest single religious community in Lebanon. A Christian people of the old Ottoman Empire, they pay allegiance to the Pope but retain their own ancient Syriac tongue, ritual and administrative autonomy.

Violence In Movies Becoming Highly Controversial Matter

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here are some catch lines of the movie ads of a recent newspaper: "A terrifying spectacle of violence! Mayhem and murder—from siren scream to a cell in solitary!" "The complete unbelievable record of a savage, senseless career of crime!" "Mickey Spillane's latest 'H-bomb'!" "The day all hell broke loose!" "A shock story... of juvenile high school hoodlums!" "The terrific impact of its kill-to-stay-alive story explodes across the motion picture screen!" "Judging from this display, you can see why violence in movies has become a hot problem."

Hollywood has been hit from all sides on this matter. Women's groups have complained about the overuse of film brutality. Movie reviewers and highly influential religious groups have lodged similar protests.

Excessive violence has caused the film industry to be hit where it hurts—in the moneybags. This is because foreign countries, which are more sensitive about violence in films than the United States, have been banning some rough Hollywood movies.

British film censor Arthur T. L. Watkins warned American producers: "Anyone who prolongs scenes of violence is only doing so to titillate a small unhealthy section of the audience."

England has banned six American films in the past 18 months on the grounds of brutality. Marlon Brando's "The Wild One" drew strong criticism there. Similarly, movies have been refused showings in the important markets of Australia, Indonesia, India and Scandinavia.

Eric Johnston, head of the producers' association, has recognized the problem. He has said: "We're having to re-examine the (self-censorship) code because there is nothing in it which prohibits violence or excessive brutality. Since England has banned so many of these elements and since 45 per cent of our revenue comes from foreign countries, we've got to be careful."

It seems incredible that violence should have been overlooked in the code, which prohibits such diverse items as white slavery, cries of "Fire!" and traveling salesman jokes. Yet the only caution is that brutality "must be treated within the careful limits of good taste."

There is a historical reason for the oversight. Producers adopted the code because of the clamor of religious groups and to prevent the censorship by political groups in every city and state.

The religious groups were primarily interested in curbing matters of immorality and indecency in films. So the code was largely devoted to those matters. Violence was not considered a major problem.

Why is it so important now? Why have producer turned out so many brutal pictures?

Said one movie maker: "Because the public just won't buy family entertainment in the movies any more. They get too much of that on TV. To get them out of the house, you've got to give them shock and excitement."

Geoffrey Shurlock, who administers the code, offers another reason: "Part of it is because of the decline of the program Western and costume adventure films. Hopalong Cassidy and so dozens of people and you thought nothing of it. Now you see up in the back because pictures returned the head lady. Or when Fu Manchu menaced the star. Or when Pearl White escaped sudden death at the hands of the villains."

"But now new independent producers have turned from Westerns and adventures to modern stories. People feel an identification with a heroine who is threatened by modern gangster, where they wouldn't if she were menaced by Fu Manchu. Because they see brutality in a present-day setting, it hits them harder—and they complain."

Gentle Produces Storybook Finish

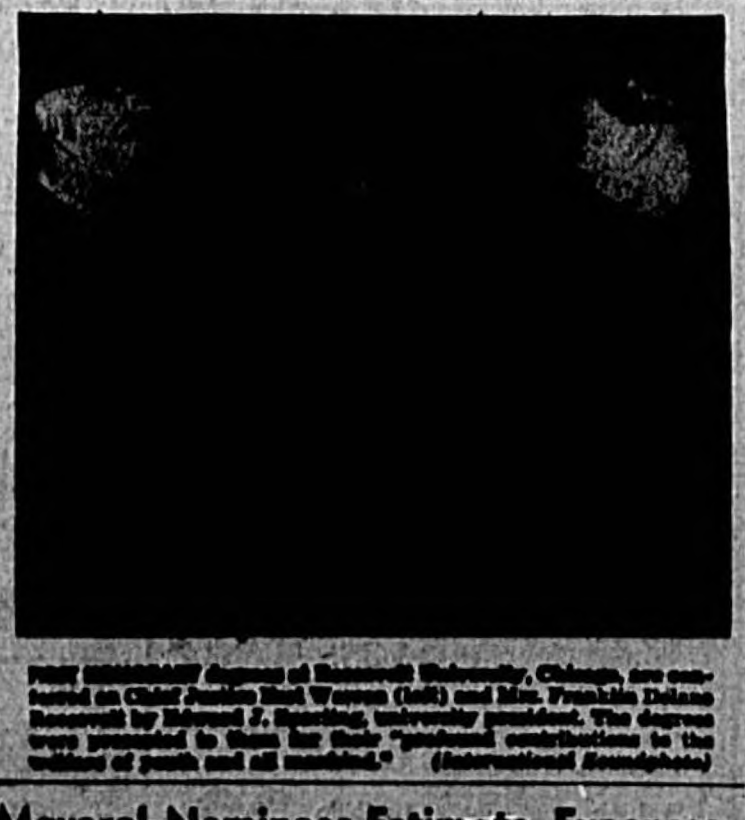

And just who, asked Mobile's big Jim Gentle, was this fellow Frank Merriwell?

The fiction's athlete never came up with a greater "storybook" finish than the Bears' first baseman produced last night to beat Little Rock 8-7 and give Mobile its fifth victory in its last six completed games.

The Bears were trailing the last-place St. Louis 7-4 with the bases loaded and two away in the bottom of the ninth. The wonder crowd of 178 began heading for the exits when Gentle strode to the plate.

He missed the first pitch but connected with the second and sent the ball sailing on a line toward the right field fence. For a moment it appeared the ball would bounce near the wall, but it did, and then runners came storming home.

Strophila moved into the Southern League's first division by beating New Orleans 4-1 while Birmingham was being to Nashville by the same score. The Bears' record is 15th. Chattanooga ranked 14th, St. Louis 13th, and Little Rock 12th.

Mayoral Nominees Estimate Expenses

CHICAGO (AP)—The two main candidates for the Chicago mayoralty in April have estimated their campaign expenses and the total was more than $200,000.

Nominees Mayor Richard J. Daley and challenger Edward J. Kelly said yesterday their campaign expenses were between $100,000 and $200,000 for the primary and secondary elections. He said a third candidate, Mayor Daley's opponent, would spend more than $200,000.

The statement was made by Robert E. Morrison, defeated Republican candidate, who said $200,000 was spent by his campaign group.

TAKEN OVERS WORDS

Arraignment Set For Ocala Couple

OCALA (AP)—Edward S. Lindley and his wife were scheduled for arraignment today while the town paid final tribute to two of three police officers slain in a gun battle at the elderly couple's home.

Sheriff Don McLeod said he would formally charge the two with murder when he takes them before Marion County Judge D. R. Smith this afternoon.

The arraignment, originally set for this morning, was postponed to avoid conflict with the funeral for one of the slain men.

Funeral services for Deputy Sheriff Bob Wooten, 56, were held this morning and services were scheduled this afternoon for Asst. Chief H. O. Tuck, 34, of the Ocala police department.

250 Stop Eating To Protest Action

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—More than 250 Ceylonese members of the Royal Navy police force at the Trincomalee British naval base stopped eating today to protest dismissal of officers of their own trade union.

A union spokesman said the Admiralty had insisted that N. L. Laxman, president, and A. P. Christian, secretary, of the Naval Police Union be dismissed. They were sent to the main port. When they refused, they were fired.

The union spokesman said he had written and attended to several duties, but declined to say what his next step would be.

Commencement Address Given Lyman Graduates By Judge E. Housholder

"Life does not owe you a thing, but you owe life everything," County Judge Ernest Housholder reminded the 22 graduates at commencement exercises last night at Lyman School.

"I recently read a booklet entitled, 'It's Hard to Be a Teenager,'" Judge Housholder continued. "I could not understand the title and did not agree with the book.

"I think that it is a wonderful age. It is not hard. It represents a period of a number of happy years. I wish I were one—yes, a teenager—like you, and I keep young by loving your way of life. I believe in it."

Judge Housholder pointed out that the graduates were "entering into an age of wonderful opportunity" and told them: "Just believing you can do things is not enough. Studying and working for them will do it."

Recalling that 44 years ago "about this same time" he received his diploma from Sanford High School, Judge Housholder said he had found "that education then was the same as education now."

"The ways, means and advantages have been greatly enhanced through experience which has given you much better advantages and opportunities," he said. "Yet we might say the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic education—will always be the same."

He said life has "to a certain degree" been divided into a series of milestones. The first milestone, he said, is the creative age, "the time of our birth and the few years thereafter, known as the pre-school years."

From this pre-school age, Judge Housholder said, "we pass to another period, 'which we might liken unto the experimental age or the age of exploration. During this age the parent and school work hand-in-hand in creating the future viewpoint of the child."

The third milestone, he said, is that of the high school years, "which may well be likened unto the age of understanding, the age of responsibility."

Judge Housholder added: "The ballad of Davy Crockett is popular today, but in the months to come it will be out by (Continued On Page Three)

L. D. Plante, Inc. Destroyed By Fire
The L. D. Plante Inc., a rendering company 12 and one-half miles southeast of Sanford on the Oviedo road, was totally destroyed by a fire undetermined origin early today. Damage was estimated at a quarter million dollars.

The Sanford Fire Department was at the scene for more than five hours. The fire broke out about 8:45 a. m. Yesterday evening, flames swept a frame house at 908 Bay Ave. No estimate of damage was available. The owner of the house was Clarence Darby and it was occupied by Theodora Hardy.

The fire, which started at 8:30 p. m., was attributed to a defective wood stove.

Two Extremes Seen In Bitter Dispute
ATLANTA (AP)—Two extremes in Southern opinion have come to light in a bitter dispute over the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling against racial segregation in public schools.

At Fayetteville, N. C., where Negro and white pupils have already been integrated, the superintendent of city schools said "We feel we have done the right thing."

At Summerton, S. C., the Board of Education has decided to close all schools, if necessary, rather than mix the races.

Summerton is in Clarendon County, one of the five cases which resulted in the court's decision against segregation.

Officials of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People planned to meet in Atlanta Saturday to decide what action to take under the Supreme Court's plan for implementing its ruling.

PARTIAL COLORED STREETS LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal that Los Angeles paint its streets partial colors such as pink and mauve was made in the City Council by Miss Elizabeth Black, retired general manager of the Municipal Arts Department.

She said this would beautify the city, cut down the glare from blacked streets and save money on accidents.

The City Council yesterday took a short look at the $2,000,000 expense involved and rejected the proposal.

Downtown Building Collapses

DALLAS (AP)—At least three persons were killed and eight injured when a downtown building collapsed on top of another structure last night. Rescue workers dug through the rubble today searching for others who might have been trapped inside in the wreckage.

Early estimates said as many as 15 might have been trapped in a music store and a combination cafe and beer tavern which were smashed by the falling building. The two businesses were in a story-and-a-half building. The edifice that first fell was a vacant, three-story structure being razed.

Besides the victims in the building, Charles Morris, 35, an employee of the music store, tripped and broke his collar bone while trying to help with rescue work. Fireman C. E. Hunt, 22, was overcome by gas and exhaustion and had to be carried out.

Killed were Luther Gonzalez, 32, Alvis B. Simmons, 40, and William E. Kirby, 42, all of Dallas.

One of the injured was a woman, Miss Mary Henjy, 36, of Dallas.

Swimming Classes Started For Troops

Swimming classes which began two weeks ago are being conducted at the Sanford pool for G.I. Scouts and Brownies in Sanford. Directing the course is Miss Frances Cobb.

Approximately 80 girls are taking part with Miss Jean Wilson, Mrs. Deba Clark, and Mrs. I. J. Butler offering their experience and time to help teach them to become better swimmers.

Troops Eight, Three, Nine, and Five are swimming on Wednesday and Troops One, Two and Four on Friday. Present plans have classes scheduled to run through June 13.

Day Camp is slated to begin soon and all girls are urged to return their registration forms as soon as possible if they plan to attend. New forms may be obtained by contacting the leader or calling Miss Cobb at 614.

Commission Alters Familiar Theme; Urges Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover commission, altering its familiar economy theme, today urged more federal spending, bigger staffs and better pay in research programs, both military and civilian.

The commission in-effect scolded Secretary of Welfare Hobby and the Budget Bureau, an arm of the White House, for not seeking funds to carry out 22 approved research projects at the National Institutes of Health in the coming year.

And the 12-member commission headed by former President Hoover offered proposals for military reorganization which it said might increase the effectiveness of weapons research by 25 percent in five years.

Even so, it said, "may be too slow" to maintain our leadership in weaponry.

Bill Is Introduced Into Legislature

Assistant State Attorney's Post Still Undecided

TALLAHASSEE—Brevard and Seminole counties probably will be without an assistant state attorney until July 31, it developed yesterday.

Apparently Gov. Collins has decided to do nothing about filling the post until suspended Asst. State Atty. Hubert Griggs' term expires in July although at one point it had been decided to appoint W. C. (Bill) Hutchison, Sanford, to the post.

There is a conflict of stories among legislators and the governor's office in what has happened lately in the search for a man to appoint to the job, all which adds up to utter confusion.

Reps. Volie Williams and Mark N. Cleveland, Seminole, say the governor told them neither Williams nor Algie Spoor, Sanford, both of whom wanted the job, would be named and that Hutchison would be.

W. Robert Fokes, the governor's administrative assistant, said yesterday "Hutchison is not a candidate." He refused to clarify for the record why Hutchison was not a candidate or if he ever had been.

Fokes said no names will be sent to the senate, "that means neither suspension of Griggs' appointment of his successor will be sent up for confirmation."

It further means Griggs will be automatically reinstated when the senate adjourns and it then will be up to Collins to reappoint him or up to Griggs, who was indicted on income tax evasion charges, to take leave of absence or resign.

Collins held a conference Monday with Reps. Williams and Cleveland, and Reps. O. L. Burton and Max Brewer, Brevard, Hutchison and Griggs.

Go-Between Group Shapes Feelers

LONDON (AP)—A trade union go-between committee shaped new peace feelers today in Britain's nationwide railroad strike, now in its fifth day.

Prime Minister Eden also called his Cabinet into session to weigh possible government moves in the rail walkout and a second deadlock strike involving some 20,000 dock workers in seven seaports.

The government faced further possible trouble from a Scottish coal miners' demand for more pay.

Eden appeared to be relying chiefly on the peacekeeping effort by the powerful British Trades Union Congress, British labor's central body. Although a state of national emergency was declared Tuesday night, government efforts so far were directed toward maintaining public utilities and other essential services.

Senator Stenstrom Presents Proposal To State Lawmakers

A Sanford annexation bill introduced in the State Legislature yesterday by Sen. Douglas Stenstrom, was expected to clear the House and reach the Senate today.

The bill, however, isn't like the one the City Commission wanted. It eliminates a referendum of residents now in the city and allows only those in areas to be annexed to vote.

The bill doesn't have the approval of the Commission, which informed the Seminole County legislative delegation that the city "could not and would not accept a substitute bill."

Under the city's proposal, both residents of the city and of the annexed areas would vote in a referendum. The legislators agreed to this at a Tallahassee hearing provided the city would exempt the annexed areas from present city bonded indebtedness.

The City Commission rejected the legislators' proposal at a special meeting Monday night, pointing out that exempting the areas "would create a tax belt around the city in which property owners would enjoy a favored position."

Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. said yesterday the bill now in the Legislature would pass the House. City Manager Warren Knowles, who talked with Senator Stenstrom by telephone today, said the present bill does not make it compulsory for the city to hold the annexation referendum in November. The word, "permissive," is used instead, Knowles said.

Military Decision Told By Officer

MONTREAL (AP)—The chief of Canada's air force strongly implied here yesterday that there has been a military decision—but no political action—to guard North America with a unified U. S.-Canadian air defense command.

The Canadian commander, Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon, told visiting U. S. and Canadian aviation writers that Canada's Air Defense Command and that of the United States already are moving in the direction of a single, over-all unit. Headquarters for Canada's air defense is at St. Hubert, near here. The U. S. Command operates at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Jaycees Are Out To Seek Revenge

The Jaycees and Jaybees will meet in the second game of a softball series at 7:30 tonight at Ft. Mellon Park softball diamond. Carl Overstreet is manager of the Jaycee nine and Larry Bates is chief of the Jaybees.

The Jaycees took the first game in the series last Thursday night, and Overstreet said the Jaycees will be out for revenge tonight.

Henry Morgenthau Tells Investigators Of No Suspicions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Morgenthau Jr. has told senate investigators that during his long tenure as secretary of the Treasury he had no reason to suspect that Harry Dexter White was a Soviet spy.

Morgenthau was a witness yesterday before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. For about a year, with his cooperation, it has been examining the detailed diary he kept while a Cabinet member from 1934 until mid-1945.

The portion of the testimony made public after the closed-door hearing dealt with White, a former assistant secretary of the Treasury, now dead.

Attorney Gen. Brownell asserted in a speech Nov. 6, 1953, that former President Truman promoted White early in 1945 after the FBI notified the White House that White was a Soviet spy.

Truman accused Brownell of "cheap political trickery." He said he had permitted the promotion of White to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund so that White and others accused as spies could be kept under surveillance.

Twelve Majorettes To Lead SHS Band

The Seminole High School Band will march 12 majorettes in front of its ranks next year with Sgt. Carol Nutt as head majorette. SHS band director Ernest Cowley announced today.

For the first time the majorettes will not be required to play a musical instrument in the organization.

Merle Smith, a former national twirling champion, will instruct the group twice a week. They will be taught dancing and flag twirling.

Included in the group besides Miss Nutt are Delores Jones, Nancy Richards, Mary Rose Speer, Gerri Spivey, June Jennings, Bobbie Crutchfield, Dotie Williams, Sandra Peterson, Mary Tanner, Harriett Hedding, Mary Cameron, Joyce Rock, and Pat Harrington.

Senate Is Called Early Into Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate was called into session two hours early to start voting on President Eisenhower's $4-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

Prospects appeared bright for passage by nightfall, sending the bill to the House.

A half dozen or more amendments, most of them seeking sizable reductions in the big authorization measure, seemingly forced an uphill battle. The senate had already agreed to limit discussion to a maximum of two hours on each.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) sought to reduce the over-all total upwards of 800 million dollars and require that any military aid program for free Asian nations some funds be provided by Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

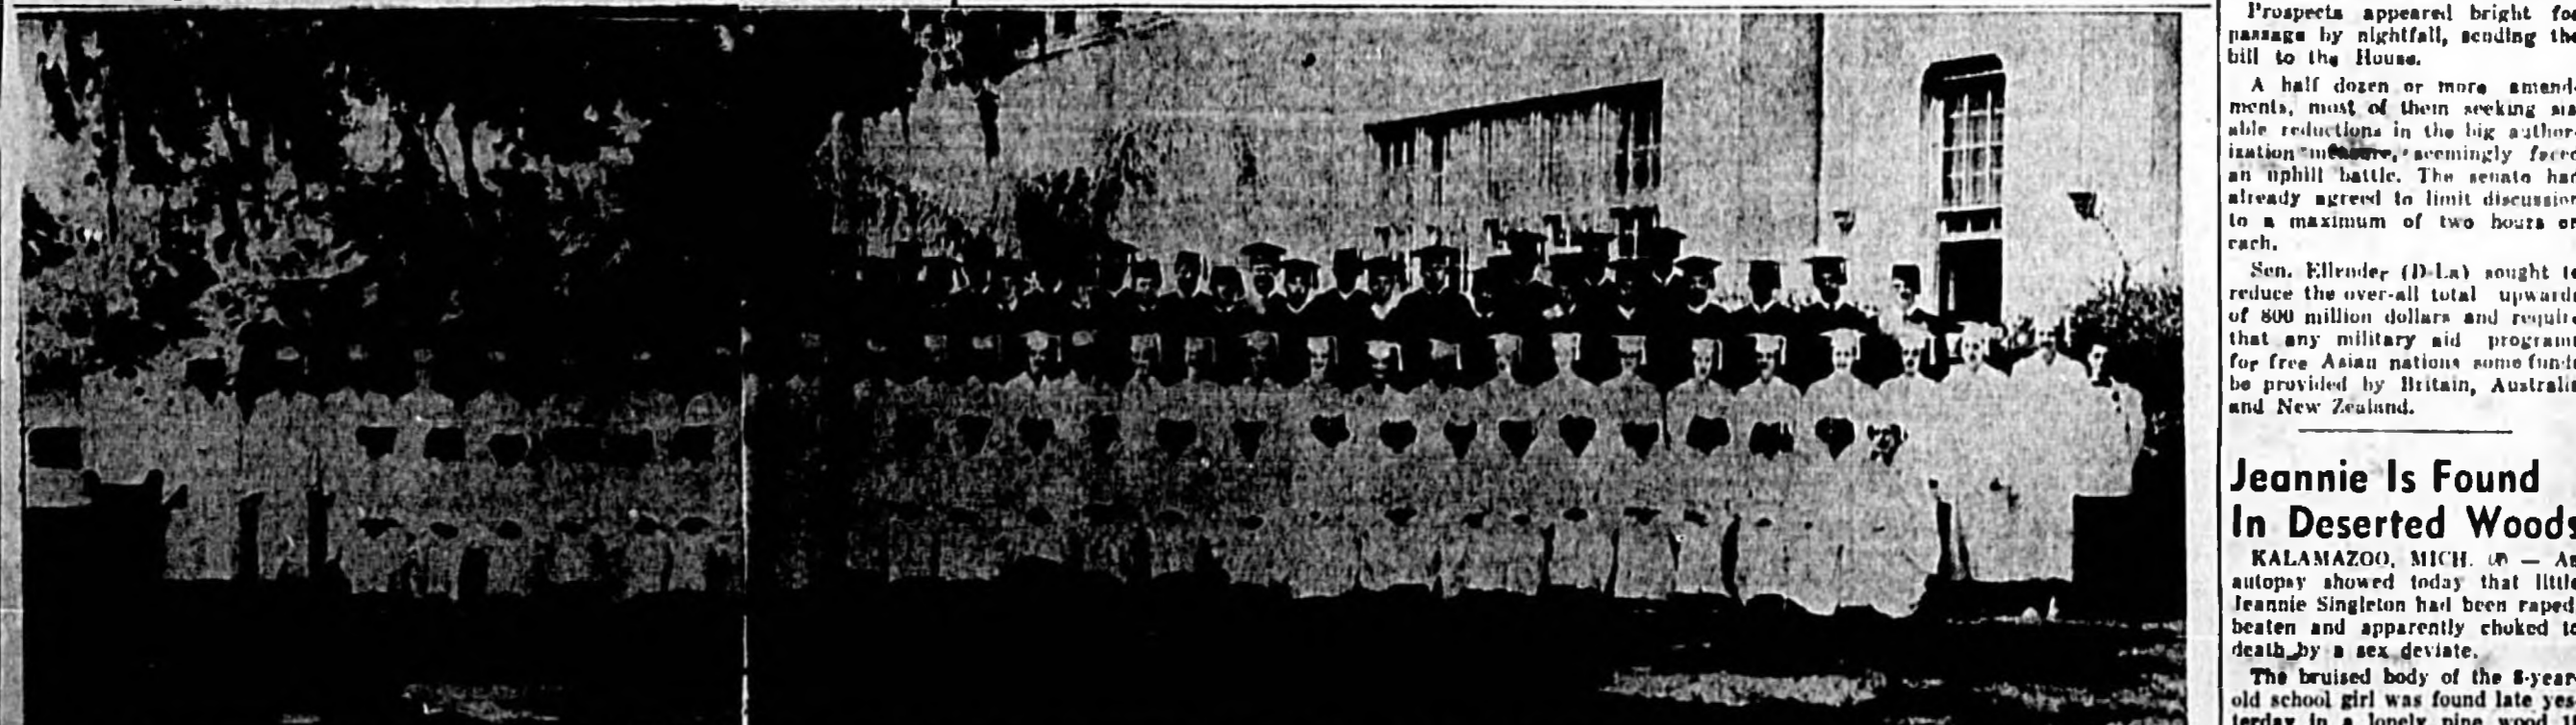

Jeannie Is Found In Deserted Woods

KALAMAZOO, MICH. (AP)—An autopsy showed today that little Jeannie Singleton had been raped, beaten and apparently choked to death by a sex deviate.

The bruised body of the 8-year-old school girl was found late yesterday in a lonely pine wood 15 miles north of Kalamazoo.

Jeannie, left lame by an attack of rheumatic fever four years ago, was last seen 10 days ago resting on a curb a half block from her home here. She was returning from school. Relatives said Jeannie had a sunny disposition and "a smile for everybody."

She was the third little girl to die at the hands of a brutal killer in Michigan in the past four months.
