School board fires teacher who offered grades for donations

A Seminole High School math teacher was fired Tuesday following an investigation that found she offered students better grades in exchange for donations to her holiday charity drive.

The Seminole County School Board voted unanimously to fire Debbie Dominguez, who was suspended without pay last month for misconduct in office. Board members did not discuss her case before terminating her.

Dominguez declined a optional hearing where she could have fought for her job, and she did not appear before the board Tuesday.

Her students told school district officials that Dominguez promised to boost the grades of those who donated to the charity drive. A school investigator concluded Dominguez collected about $129 and 100 cans of food.

She said the collection was for an Orlando church. However, school investigators found no evidence Dominguez donated the money or food.

Dominguez was in her first year teaching at Seminole High School, but had more than 10 years of experience at other schools.

Feds seize SunJet records

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Federal agents arrived unannounced Tuesday morning at SunJet Aviation, Inc. and seized maintenance and other records as part of an investigation of the crash that killed professional golfer Payne Stewart.

SunJet, a charter aviation company based at the Orlando-Sanford Airport, operated the Lear 35 twin-engine jet that crashed, and an agent with the FBI said investigators are looking into "possible violations of federal law pertaining to maintenance and record-keeping and making false statements."

Supervisory Special Agent Philip J. Baiers would not say specifically what investigators were looking for or if the FBI expected to file criminal charges against the anyone associated with the company.

"In a case of this manner, with an ongoing federal investigation, this is a routine procedure," Baiers said. "The utilization of search warrants is a tool for furthering the investigation."

Some 50 agents from the FBI, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), and the Department of Transportation's Office of the Inspector General searched

SunJet's hangars, offices and four of the company's planes. During the day-long search, agents removed several boxes of records, which will be turned over to the U.S. Attorney's office for review.

The FAA requires airline companies and their mechanics to keep documentation on all repairs and maintenance performed on aircraft. Failure to do so, or falsifying those reports is a crime under federal law.

Despite the investigation into SunJet's records, federal officials have made no arrests, and furthermore have taken no

Color guard sets out for Ohio hoping to win international championship

By Michelle Jerla

LAKE MARY — Several Lake Mary High School students are leaving for Dayton, Ohio, today, and they are taking their rifles, sabers and flags with them.

The school's Color Guard is heading for the University of Dayton, where they will compete with 120 teams at the Winter Guard International championships. The group of 19 students is entering the competition with one big advantage — a national No. 1 ranking.

"We have been to three regional competitions, and we've won all three," Color Guard Director Michele Dershimier said. "However, once you enter the competition, the slate is wiped clean and anything can happen."

But the color guard from Lake Mary isn't intimidated. Every year since 1996, the group has made it to the national finals.

"The girls are very driven," Dershimier said. "It has taken years to build the tradition, and through discipline and strong ability, the girls push each other.

"Central Florida also has a strong color guard circuit, and the area teams also push each other."

Winter Guard is a combination of dance and drill team maneuvers which uses flags, rifles and sabers for equipment. The girls practice together for more than six hours each week and also attend a dance repertoire class each day.

Although there are more than 400 Winter Guard teams throughout the world, Dershimier believes many peo-

Miller continues along road to recovery by steering clear of drugs and crime

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — After 16 years of being in-and-out of jail, Wanita Miller is turning her life around.

In 1984, Miller was a gospel singer, going to church every Sunday, and living with her mother in Sanford. However, some of her friends and 11 brothers and sisters were using drugs.

So she tried crack cocaine. Soon she was committing prostitution and burglary to feed her drug addiction. Now 38-years old, Miller was released Tuesday from seven months on house arrest for petty theft and burglary.

"I was pampered and babied growing up," Miller said. "I can't blame it on my parents, or on anyone else. It was just something I did."

She admits that staying clean and sober will be a daily struggle. June 10, 1999 marks an important landmark — it is the day she quit using drugs and alcohol.

She will celebrate the anniversary by quitting smoking. She attends Brothers Keepers meetings in the Goldsboro community, a support group from those recovering from drug and alcohol addiction.

Miller holds down two jobs as a waitress at local restaurants. In December 1999, when she was hired as a waitress, it was the first "real job" she had ever held. She credits her community control officer, Daniel Sanchez, for encouraging her to have confidence and gain independence.

"I didn't think I could get a job because of my record," Miller said. "But, Mr. Sanchez said to be honest from the start and to go for it. He helped me to believe in myself."

Miller's two children are back in her life. She is raising her 16-year-old son Tommie Lee Tulliver, Jr. by herself in the two-bedroom apartment that she rents on 12th Street. Tommie

90-day injunction may halt soup kitchen's operation

City plans to enforce order; Metts doesn't rule out serving meals by next week

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A downtown soup kitchen in Sanford could remain closed for at least the next three months, following a court hearing Tuesday.

Circuit Court Judge Thomas Freeman took only several minutes to order Clifford Gorentlo, attorney for seven historic district residents who filed suit in January against the city, to prepare a 90-day injunction that would temporarily nullify the city of Sanford's development order allowing the soup kitchen to operate.

The injunction will not become official until signed by Freeman next week at the earliest. Jean Metts, director of Seminole Volunteer Enterprises which operates the soup kitchen at 407 W. 4th Street, said meals will not be served this week. However, she did not rule out the possibility of reopening the meal site next week.

Freeman also ruled that Seminole Volunteer Enterprises is not a party to the suit of DeSantis et al. vs. the city of Sanford. He ruled that it is up to the city to enforce injunctions regarding the soup kitchen.

As a result, the city is enforcing a March 19 stay order against the soup kitchen operating. City Manager Tony VanDerworp drafted a letter to Metts following the hearing, and the letter contains sanctions if the site reopens.

If the non-profit agency serves meals it would face a code enforcement action with fines up to $250 per day, a possible lien on the property and a ple do not know very much about the activity.

"The activity is not like cheerleading and dance," she said. "People don't grow up knowing it."

"And, the color guard is not part of ROTC like many people think."

Dershimer's love for the activity comes from her school days when she participated in the sport. She has been directing the color guard at Lake Mary High School for 10 years.

This weekend, Dershimer's hoping her dedication and the students' determination will lead to success.

The two-day elimination tournament will start with 120 teams and end with the top 15 groups competing in the finals.

"It's kind of like a basketball tournament," Dershimer said. "The teams with the highest scores will continue to move on until there is a winner."

No matter how the group fairs, Dershimer said she will be proud of her team.

"It isn't about the winning," she said. "This just has been a successful year for us. It's about learning discipline and determination and how far it will take them in life.

"And, it's about having fun." For students who would like to become part of the Lake Mary High School Color Guard tradition, tryouts begin next week.

A parent/student information meeting will be held Tuesday, April 18 and Thursday, April 27, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Lake Mary High School Media Center. A tryout clinic will be held from May 8 to May 11 from 4 to 7 p.m. each day. Tryouts are May 15 from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Transportation projects abound in Seminole County

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD— From highways and trails to commuter rail, many new ways to travel through Seminole County are being planned.

Key to plans for future transportation projects, according to city and county leaders, is the renewal of the One Cent Local Option Sales Tax program. The initial program passed voter approval in 1991 and has resulted in the construction of numerous county and city road projects.

trail system will link with Lake County at SR 46. A series of connected bike lanes will be built into the trail system.

Cities throughout the county are also planning projects that would be funded through sales tax revenue. Casselberry is planning $33 million in projects, including intersection and interchange area improvements and collector improvements. Oviedo is planning $28.4 million in collector improvements.

Sanford

"We've been very fortunate in this part of the county," said Sanford City Commissioner Brady Lessard. "This kind of growth is really amazing."

The Amtrak-Auto Train Intermodal Terminal is relocating from Persimmon Avenue to Rand Yard, located just north of SR 46 near Lake Monroe. Subject to Congressional funding, a $30 million bus and rail facility is proposed.

court finding of contempt with court determined fines, according to the letter.

However, Howard Marks, a Winter Park attorney representing Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, said that the March 19 injunction is directed at the city, not Seminole Volunteer Enterprises. Because the injunction is not directed at the agency, he contends that the meal site currently would have a legal right to operate.

"Any agreement between the plaintiffs and the city without my client's consent would be invalid against my client," Marks said. "I think they have a legal right to serve meals."

Marks said that the "real issue" at stake is not whether the meal site is open this week or next week, but whether it is open over the long term.

Meanwhile, Sanford City Commissioner Velma Williams said that during the coming

April 24 commission meeting, she plans to propose that the city accept the mediation settlement agreed to on March 30 by the historic district residents and Seminole Volunteer Enterprises.

Metts said that she would still accept the settlement.

"We certainly have agreed to it," Metts said. "I'm very disappointed that this has to drag on. It is hurting the people who eat there."

However, DeSantis, the lead plaintiff, said that while the plaintiffs would still consider the settlement, they have concerns about enforcement.

"We thought we had a reasonable settlement," DeSantis said. "I don't know where it goes from here. I'm encouraged to see that the city has taken some forceful action."

The City Commission granted Seminole Volunteer Enterprises a parking waiver in November which enables the soup kitchen to serve up to 100 people at a time, three nights per week, despite a lack of on-site parking. DeSantis and six other plaintiffs claim the waiver represents a dangerous precedent, opening the door for other waivers of the city's Land Development Regulations.

The historic district residents filed suit in January, seeking an injunction of the parking waiver in order to stop the meals from being served.

The mediation settlement called for no more than 50 people per night on Monday, Tuesday and Friday between 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

"It's bizarre that the city got itself into this mess, and now you have a divided commission that can't decide how to resolve it, and we've got people in limbo," DeSantis said. "The taxpayers in Sanford are on the hook for possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars, and so are (the plaintiffs)."

attends Seminole High School, sings in a church choir, and plays four musical instruments.

Previously, Tommie was raised by her friend Mabel Wesley, who Miller considers a "second mother" to her. Miller has been living on her own for six months.

"This woman is incredible," Miller said. "I call her and talk to her. She's there for the good and the bad. If I had to go out and pick a mom, I couldn't have chosen better."

She is also rebuilding a relationship with her daughter, 22-year-old Tanita Toliver, who lives in Orlando.

"When she told me that she's proud of me it made me so happy," Miller said. "She used to have nothing to do with me. In my children, I now have so much to live for. I never had anything to lose before. Now, I really have something to lose."

Miller is working with school officials to schedule times for talking with single mothers who are at risk of falling into the same traps that once snared her 16 years ago.

"People are more apt to listen when they know what I've done," Miller said. "They say, 'Wow, she's got something to tell me.' Believe it or not, the young people who used to sell me drugs now respect me for going clean. Drug addicts tell me I'm a source of hope."

She said that the most important message she gives to young people is to listen to their elders.

"If I had listened to my elders, I wouldn't have made the mistakes I made," Miller said.

Today, she vows to never take drugs or return to committing crimes again.

steps to force the company to cease operations.

"SunJet has been cooperative with our agents, and we're very sensitive to the issue of commerce," Baiers said. "The company has not been shut down and continues to conduct business."

The cause of the October crash which killed Stewart and five others remains a mystery.

The jet was scheduled to fly from Orlando to Dallas. However, shortly after taking off from Orlando, ground control crews lost contact with the jet's pilots. When the jet failed to follow its charted course, U.S. Air Force jets were sent to follow the jet to determine what problems had arisen. Those pilots reported seeing no movement within the Lear Jet's cabin and indicated the windows were frosted over.

Though the National Transportation Safety Board has yet to release its findings regarding the crash, preliminary indications point to a sudden loss of cabin pressure that would have killed the pilots and passengers within seconds. Investigators say, however, the reasons for the loss of pressure may not ever be conclusively determined.

At 102, Ruth Hamilton seizes the moment

"It's such a beautiful thing to live this long," Ruth Hamilton said on the eve of her 102nd birthday.

Mrs. Hamilton was born in Alta, Iowa on April 12, 1898. Her parents were Scandinavian immigrants. Momma was Swedish, Pappa was Danish.

"Neither of them knew anything about birthday celebrations," Mrs. Hamilton said, laughing. "I'd tell Momma that a friend was having a birthday, and I should give them a present. Momma would give me some money."

"But I had no parties or presents until I was 10. That's when I brought 15 friends home from country school. Momma was in the kitchen with her apron on. And she had a big wooden spoon in her hand."

"What are you doing?" she said to me. "My dear child, what are you doing?"

"I told Momma that it was my birthday and I'd never had a party, and I wished I could have one now."

"Birthday ... we don't do birthdays," she said. Then, Momma smiled and she sat all my friends out on the grass and went off to get us ice cream. That was my first birthday. And it was very special — just as this one 92 years later."

At 10 or 102, Ruth Hamilton is much the same — an optimistic, loving, child of God.

"I don't have any idea why I've been here so long," she said, "but I love it. I sat outside Friday, looking into the clear blue sky and marveling at how lucky I am."

Hamilton had lived at Bram Towers in Sanford but has spent the last two years at The Commons of Lutheran Towers in Orlando. Her son, Peter, has helped mount her many birthday cards in her room. "They're coming from all over the world," she said.

Her fondest wish for the world at the start of the new millennium is that there be a greater focus on education. Ruth Hamilton (nee Jensen) was 18 when she began teaching grade school in Alta, Iowa. One of her prize pupils became a newspaper editor and another became a professional football player for the original Green Bay Packers.

"I love it when young people are optimistic, when they decide they want to be someone special," she said. "It's our responsibility to teach them and to encourage them whatever it is they want to be. What a pleasure it is to have that responsibility."

While at Bram Towers, Ruth Hamilton enjoyed looking from her seventh story apartment to greet the sunrise on Lake Monroe. She would say a silent prayer and ask that she live better that day than the previous day, that she be more tolerant, more forgiving, more optimistic.

She is more focused than those who have lived half the years she has lived. Her mind seldom wanders. She remembers being so close to Adolph Hitler in the mid 1930s that she could have spit in his face.

"I wish I had," she said Tuesday. "I wish I had."

Carter Hamilton, the only man of Ruth Hamilton's life, was a baseball pitcher who had a fling with the Cleveland Indians.

"My poor Carter didn't have a curve," she said. "So he became a doctor. A wonderful doctor."

Today, for Carter's sake and for hers, Ruth Hamilton hopes to watch a baseball game on television.

"It's a new season," she said. "I like the Indians, of course. I also like the Boston Red Sox. They haven't won a World Series since ... well, I was very young (1918)."

We should all be so young, so wise and so optimistic as Ruth Hamilton.

Ruth White's column appears daily in the Seminole Herald.

Where's Mac?

District 3 needs representation not an absent commissioner

When is it time to hang up the cleats? That question has nagged the greatest of ballplayers. Some retire gracefully. Others hang-on too long, leaving fans and teammates alike to wince embarrassingly and look away whenever the player stumbles.

The Sanford City Commission faces a similar delicate situation with commissioner A.A. "Mac" McClanahan. Failing health has forced McClanahan to miss two months of meetings. Each time the commission has granted an excused absence, as should be expected for someone with the history of service that McClanahan has. But soon, commissioners — and McClanahan, himself — need to ask how many absences is too many.

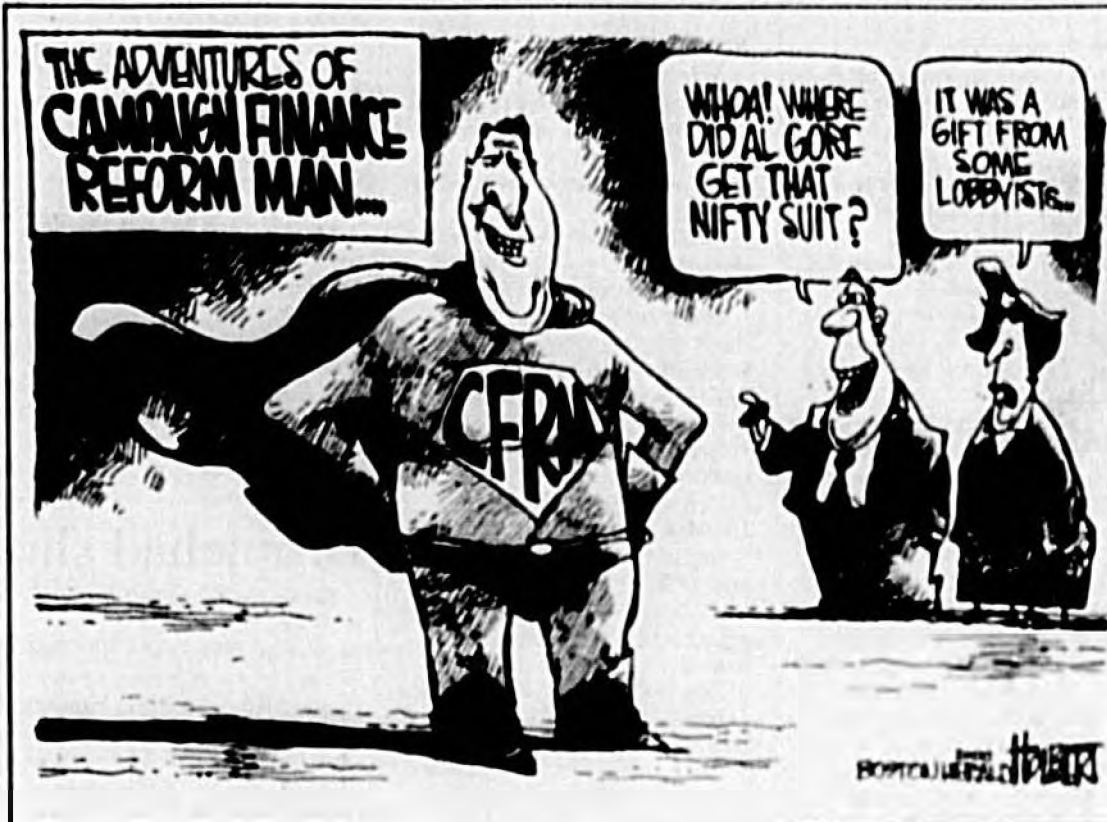

It's crucial that every resident in the city be fairly represented. At this point, that's not happening in District 3. And it's not just the meetings where these residents are missing representation. As any public servant will tell you, much of the service is spent outside of meetings. Whether it's dinners interrupted at home by calls from constituents, or follow-ups with city staff to ensure a resident's problem was solved, commissioners do more than sit at the front of the room during commission meetings.

Then there are the dynamics of commission meetings. With five commissioners present and accounted for, items rarely end in a tie vote (unless a commissioner recuses himself or herself). However, when one is consistently absent, matters that need to be dealt with have a greater chance of ending in a tie vote. Or worse, the commission takes no action at all. A case in point is Monday night's debacle over the soup kitchen settlement.

With McClanahan absent and Commissioner Brady Lessard stating he would vote against the settlement, Commissioner Velma Williams may have out-smarted herself. She and Commissioner Whitey Eckstein were in favor of the settlement, with Mayor Larry Dale being the swing vote. Williams, knowing Dale had already voted against the soup kitchen once, played politics and failed to second Eckstein's motion in hopes of bringing the matter up at a later date. Problem is, all parties in the lawsuit had to be in court the next morning, so a decision on the settlement had to be made Monday night. Now the residents appear ready to withdraw their support of the settlement and the entire matter is more convoluted than ever.

How does McClanahan's absence relate to all of this? Well, McClanahan has been a long-time supporter of the soup kitchen, and said over the weekend he would vote in favor of the settlement if he were able to attend the meeting. That's not to put the blame on McClanahan. Williams should have voted her convictions rather than playing games. But McClanahan's continued absences increases the chance of these incidents occurring in future meetings.

We wish the commissioner a quick and full recovery and hope he is back in service very soon; after all, we endorsed him during last year's election and would like for him to serve his full term. However, if continued absences are going to be the norm during the coming months, McClanahan and his fellow commissioners will have to face a tough decision about whether he should continue to serve as a commissioner. We hope it doesn't come to that.

Your View

Barley explains reason behind regional group

To the editor:
Your March 29 editorial regarding the recent Transportation Forum, "Shaping the Vision," states that more action is needed to solve Central Florida's transportation woes. I wholeheartedly agree with that statement. However, your contention with regard to one of the Forum's conclusions — that there is a traffic problem — deserves comment. Because the voters in Seminole County agreed in 1991 that a critical traffic problem existed, a penny was added to the sales tax and was dedicated solely to transportation. This funded an ambitious county road improvement program that would not otherwise have happened. A similar, regional consensus is sorely needed among all community interests that the traffic "pain index" is intolerable enough to stop discussing and start funding transportation solutions. In order to realize our regional vision, we must first have one. The Transportation Forum was definitely a "call to action," in particular through the overwhelming support for a Regional Development Agency, the commitment to regionalism, the expressed desire to move forward and "stay the course," and the assertion that a combination of groups should "lead the charge." A long range transportation plan to help solve our region's traffic issues does exist, but adequate resources to see the plan through to completion do not. For our metropolitan region to survive in the global marketplace, we must be creative in developing a world-class transportation network. Now that the various constituencies have agreed on a vision, Metropolitan Orlando will be calling upon them to help make it happen. I trust the Seminole Herald will also help us in the effort.

Sincerely,
Harold W. Barley,
executive director
Metropolitan Orlando

Religion and politics: A double standard

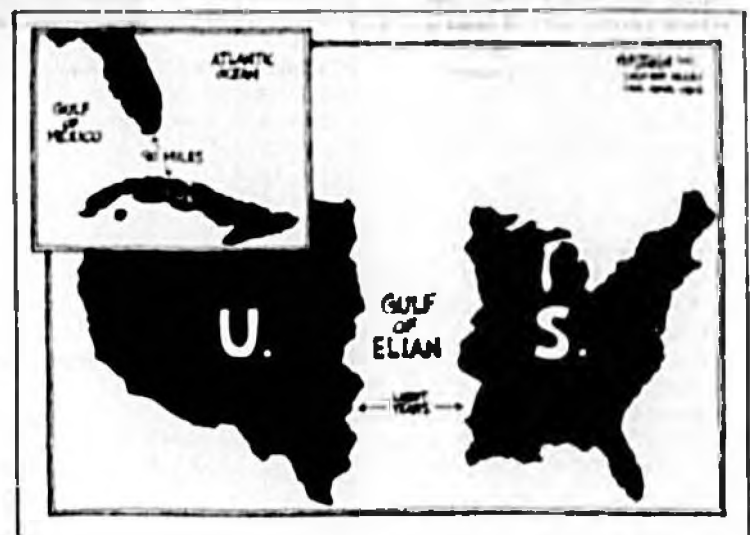

A double standard has existed for some time over the participation of religious people in politics. Religious lefties who favor policies promoted by the pagan left are applauded by secular society. But religious righties are judged guilty of trespassing on private property when they engage the world in efforts to achieve objectives they consider just as worthy as the lefties consider theirs.

Cal Thomas

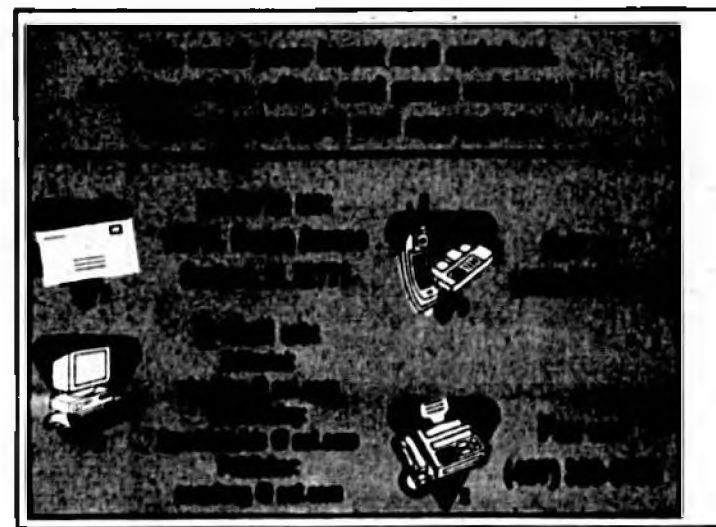

In the morality play surrounding little Elian Gonzalez, the tensions between right and left (to say nothing of right and wrong) and between religions and states have become focused. The National Council of Churches (NCC), which consistently runs a financial and theological deficit, and its former general secretary and Fidel Castro apologist, the Rev. Dr. Joan Brown Campbell, have for years pushed a flawed hermeneutics that goes something like this: You shall never know the truth, so you can't be set free. It was Campbell who traveled to Cuba aboard a private jet to bring Elian's father, Juan Miguel Gonzalez, dressed in new clothes, to Washington. It seems Campbell and the NCC have never met a Communist dictator they did not view in messianic terms. When she became head of the organization, she gave indications she might take it in a different direction. In 1993, Campbell confessed: "We did not understand the depth of the suffering of Christians under communism. And we failed to really cry out against the Communist oppression." Now, given an opportunity to cry out against the Communist oppression of Christians in Cuba and Castro's numerous other violations of human rights, Campbell has aligned herself with the oppressors and directed her invective toward her own country. Writing in the publication Heterodoxy, Mark Tooley of the Institute on Religion and Democracy says that Campbell has earned the role Castro allowed her to play in the Elian Gonzalez matter. He says she has "praised Cuba for having made a 'priority of caring for the poor.'" Never mind that Castro is the cause of much of their poverty. Last year in Havana, with Castro looking on, Campbell apologized for American policies toward Cuba before a crowd of 100,000: "We ask you to forgive the suffering that has come to you by the actions of the United States," the reverend implored. "It's on behalf of Jesus the liberator that we work against this embargo." Campbell and her fellow travelers refuse to see a liberating Jesus when it comes to Cuba's anti-religion policies. According to Open Doors International, an advocacy group for persecuted Christians, the Cuban government routinely denies permits for new church construction, mostly denies permission to repair existing churches, church property remains vulnerable to government seizure, public evangelism is prohibited, church leaders are monitored, interrogated and threatened with arrest, house churches and parochial schools are forbidden (little Elian, if he follows the path of his peers, will board five days a week in a state school and be taught anti-Americanism, how to use violence in the cause of the Cuban state and other things no child should learn). Did I mention that Bible distribution is forbidden in Cuba? Not that the NCC should be shocked because it long ago stopped believing what that book says and simply reinterprets it to conform to NCC political objectives. In Cuba, Campbell is free to speak against her own country. She can speak against it in America where she could, if she wished, criticize Cuba. But she could never speak against Cuba in Cuba, and neither can any Cuban. So which is the oppressive state? The behavior of the NCC ought to be a warning to religious righties. An anemic and powerless faith is what you might end up with if you increasingly align yourself with secular politics. Faith always loses in such an alliance. The goals of the world become the goals of the church. The church's primary message of redemption from God, not the Democratic or Republican parties, is inevitably subordinated to an ideology and a lesser kingdom that, Scripture assures us, and history proves, is passing away. One need look no further for an example than the National Council of Churches.

Seminole Community College

The Fine Arts Gallery of Seminole Community College will hold its last exhibit of this season, the 31st Annual Juried Student Art Exhibition, through June 15.

The juror for the student competition is Kevin Haran, Instructor of Art and Gallery Director at the University of Central Florida.

Award categories for the event include Best of Show, Best of Painting, Drawing, Printmaking, Alternative Media, Two Dimensional Design, Photography and Ceramics. The Judge's Awards of Excellence, the Lee G. Henderson Excellence in Art Award, the Peer Award and Merit Awards are to be given.

Fine Arts Gallery hours are Mondays through Thursday at 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. plus evenings of lectures, music and theatre performances. Special gallery hours for groups may be arranged by phoning 407-328-2139.

Rollins College

The Rollins College Upward Bound program is now accepting applications for participation from students in the eighth and ninth grade. Applicants will be considered for enrollment immediately upon receipt of the completed application. There is no cost for participation, and participants are involved with the program from the time of initial selection until they enroll in a post-secondary education program.

Upward Bound is for students in Orange and Seminole counties whose family income is limited and whose parents do not hold a bachelor's degree. It is a federally funded college prep program, providing assistance in career and college exploration, financial aid and scholarship information, academic monitoring and course advisement, information about college entrance exams, goal setting and decision making, study skills development and college visits.

Participants attend 25 Saturday tutorial sessions between September and May and will take part in a six-week summer residential component on the Rollins Campus in June.

For a program application or additional information, phone 407-646-2282.

Menus

Elementary school lunches in Seminole County cost $1.60. Students in the reduced price lunch program pay 40 cents. Three entree choices are available: the daily entree, listed below, a chef's salad or a bag lunch that includes a sandwich. Lunches at Seminole's middle schools are similar to those at elementary schools and cost $1.75.

For the week beginning April 17:

Monday: Cheese or pepperoni pizza, citrus section, frosted brownie, choice of milk.

Tuesday: Roast turkey with whipped potatoes and roll, gravy, carrot rounds, baked dessert, choice of milk.

Wednesday: Chicken parmesan with Marinara sauce or chicken salad on a roll with lettuce and tomato, later tots, frozen dessert, choice of milk.

Thursday: Hot dog on a bun with hash brown patty, seasonal fruit tray, fun size surprise, choice of milk.

Friday: No school.

High school students pay $2 for their choice of five "Meal Meal" lunches each day: hamburger and french fries; pasta with marinara sauce and garlic bread; soup or salad and garlic bread sticks; chicken nuggets, roll and mashed potatoes; or pizza with french fries. Choices come with fresh fruit, milk, iced tea or lemonade.

'DARE'ing to graduate

Science project will take Lake Brantley students to Ukraine

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley High School is sending eight students to Ukraine to develop a collaborative science and technology research exchange program.

The 10-day program, from May 28 through June 8, will focus on environmental issues in water quality and microbial studies of the Dnieper River. The student delegation will also participate in a scientific symposium on Chernobyl and meet with teachers and students from across the Ukraine to facilitate an ongoing collaborative science research program between Ukrainian and Lake Brantley High School classes.

The visit is an outgrowth of a joint United States and Ukraine science shuttle mission which investigated the effects of space on plant guidance systems. Lake Brantley was the only high school in the nation directly involved with all aspects of the shuttle mission, including those specific to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Collaborative Ukrainian Experiment.

Lake Brantley hosted 12 Ukrainian students from the Palace of Youth — Ukraine's Junior Academy of Science — the director of the Academy of Science, and two teachers from the Palace of Youth in a cultural exchange for a five-day period following the launch.

The Collaborative Ukrainian Experiment Science and Technology Exchange Program for Students will consist of a delegation of a NASA representative, a NASA interpreter, eight science students, an Advanced Placement Environmental Science teacher, and a parent chaperone.

Sponsors are being sought to cover expenses. The student delegation was selected on the basis of performance in science classes, familiarity with the computer, and potential for contributing to the growth of the program.

Keely makes University's dean's list

Elizabeth M. Keely of Longwood has been named to Georgia Southern University's dean's list for the fall term 1999.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must have a 3.50 grade point average and must carry a minimum of 12 hours for the quarter.

Keely's major is Pre-Ed Early Childhood Education.

Herald Teacher of the Week

Cathleen Kononchuk teaches Early Childhood I for college credit at Lyman High School in Longwood. This is her third year at Lyman. Previously, she taught math at Tuskawilla Middle School in Oviedo for 17 years.

Cathleen Kononchuk

Born and raised in Dearborn, Mich., Kononchuk holds a bachelor's degree in education from Central Michigan University. Although she misses ice skating, she enjoys living in Central Florida and teaching at Lyman.

She said she entered teaching because, from the time she was a child, she always enjoyed helping people.

Kononchuk recently shared her views on various topics with Herald Staff Writer Bill Kerns.

Favorite part of teaching:

"Helping the children learn and seeing the end result."

Most memorable experience as a teacher: "When students come back and say you did an outstanding job and seeing the type of careers they have. I used to teach math, and now many of my former students are studying to be engineers."

Biggest challenge for teachers: "Keeping every child on task. They are all individuals with different ability levels. Some have the attention span of a baby, and others have their attention span where it should be."

Advice for parents: "Keep on communicating with your children and be there for them."

Advice for students: "Communication is a big thing with parents, teachers, and others."

Advice for new or prospective teachers: "Hang in there. You'll have your good days and bad days. The end result is the reward."

Best advice you have ever received: "It will be easier. You'll make it through."

Person(s) who have inspired you: "My parents and my family."

Favorite book or inspirational message: "Jonathan Livingston Seagull. You can get so much information out of that little book, and it is very motivational."

Hobbies: "I enjoy reading, cooking and spending time with family members, mainly nieces and nephews."

If you would like to nominate a teacher for the Herald's Teacher of the Week, contact Herald Editor Dan Ping or Staff Writer Bill Kerns by fax, 407-323-9108 or E-mail, sheditor@aol.com.

Seaside Music Theater opens summer season

DAYTONA BEACH — From a romp with the Romans to a turn in the better's box, Seaside Music Theater's 24th season has something for everyone.

The summer season opens with the madcap murderous classic, "Arsenic & Old Lace." Sit down for a cup of tea with the enchanting, but homicidal Brewster sisters, and whatever you do, don't accept a glass of elderberry wine.

Beloved in the community for tireless good deeds, these charm-ers have a dark side. Assisting with the sisters' well-intentioned efforts is nephew Teddy, who believes he's Theodore Roosevelt. Performances are June 1 through 11 for "Arsenic & Old Lace," one of the all-time great black comedies.

An outstanding Broadway success and winner of the Pulitzer Prize, "Street Scene" examines the comedy and tragedy of a slice of New York life played in the accompaniment of rumbling elevated trains and the hustling of factory whistles.

Based on Elmer Rice's play, the fateful story of Anna Maurrant and her family is brought to life through the music of brilliant composer Kurt Weill and lyrics of famed African-American poet Langston Hughes. A key element in this year's Kurt Weill Foundation Centenary Celebration, Street Scene commemorates the first time blues, jazz and swing were brought together in such a unique way.

Performances are June 15 through 23. Don't miss "Street Scene," a dramatic look at the inhabitants of a New York City tenement during an oppressively hot summer day.

It's "tragedy tomorrow, comedy tonight" as Seaside Music Theater's third summer offering brings Broadway's greatest musical face to the stage in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," a vaudevil-ian romp through ancient Rome.

The summer season continues with "Cyrano," a musical ver-sion of the Edmond Rostand classic love story that has capti-vated the romantic in all of us for more than a century. A phe-nomenal swordsman, a born leader and an artist, intelligent poet with the ability to enchant the hardest of souls, Cyrano de Bergerac is plagued with one tragic flaw - a nose bigger than can be imagined.

Cyrano secretly loves the beautiful Roxana, but fears she is repulsed by his looks. Instead, he acts as muse for the hand-some, yet inarticulate soldier Christian, penning the eloquent love letters that win her over.

Performances are July 20 through 30.

Seaside's summer season con-cludes with a grand slam finale, "Damn Yankees." America's great national pastime is glor-ified in one of the most successful musicals ever based on a sports story.

Step up to the plate with mid-dle-aged baseball fanatic Joe Boyd as he trades his soul to the Devil and his seductive sidekick Lola for a chance to lead his beloved team to victory in the perennial race against the hated New York Yankees.

This rollicking musical come-dy features the hit songs, "You Gotta Have Heart," "Whatever Lola Wants" and "These Were the Good Old Days."

Performances are August 3 through 20.

Order your summer season subscription now for only $110 and enjoy Seaside's extraordi-nary talent, spectacular sets and dazzling costumes right here in Daytona Beach.

Performances will be held at Seaside Music Theater's summer home the DMCC Theater Center, 1200 W. International Speedway Blvd., Building B, Daytona Beach.

Subscriptions are available at the SMT Box Office in the Pennysaver Building, 434 S. Young St., Suite B, Ormond Beach or by calling (904) 252-6200.

Single tickets will go on sale May 15 with prices ranging from $23 to $35. Youth, full-time col-lege and group discounts are available.

Lake Mary Elementary School begins book fair tonight

Just in time to stock up on books for those long summer days ahead, Lake Mary Elementary will host its Spring Book Fair in the school's media center, 132 S. Country Club Road in Lake Mary. The community is invited to attend and share the love of reading with the whole family. A vast selection of the best books for children, computer software, art and science kits, parent resource books, and much, much more will be offered. In addition to school hours, the fair will be open Wednesday, April 12 in the evening. Clifford the Big Red Dog and Curious George will be our special guests. All proceeds from the fair are used to purchase more books for the Media Center. For more information call the school at 320-5650.

O-Bears in hunt for East top seed

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - With a first round bye and home-ice advantage for the second round of the upcoming Turner Cup playoffs already in hand, the Orlando Solar Bears head into the final week of the 1999-2000 International Hockey League (IHL) regular season in search of the top seed in the Eastern Conference.

The Solar Bears (79 games played) trail the Grand Rapids Griffins (78 games played) by two points for first place in the Eastern Conference with contests this week against the defending Turner Cup champion Houston Aeros and the Michigan K-Wings.

Orlando enters this week's action with a four-game winning streak and a record of 47-23-9 (103 points).

The Solar Bears claimed a 5-1 road victory over the Cincinnati Cyclones on Tuesday, April 4, at Pricer Center.

Orlando scoring leader Mark Beaufait got the O-Bears off to a quick start with his 27th goal of the season at 4:44 of the first period. Defenseman Curtis Murphy and right wing Herbert Vasiljevs pitched up the assists on Beaufait's power play strike. Solar Bears defenseman Brett Clark made it 2-0 at 6:23 with his ninth goal of the season, assisted by right wing Jason MacDonald and rookie center Dan Snyder.

Orlando continued its attack in the second period as Vasiljevs knocked home his 23rd of the season at 3:17. Murphy and Clark were credited with the helpers on Vasiljevs' shorthanded tally.

Rookie left wing Bryan Adams made it 4-0 at 14:25, scoring his 14th of the season with assists from defenseman Barry Dreger and Vasiljevs.

Beaufait put the Solar Bears up by a 5-0 score at 18:45, recording his 28th of 1999-2000 from Vasiljevs.

Cyclones forward Erik Cole tallied the lone goal of the third period, a power play tally at 7:21 from defenseman Nikos Tselios and goaltender Marc Magliarditi.

For the game, Orlando out-shot Cincinnati by a 29-23 count and has held 13 consecutive opponents under the 30-shot barrier.

Solar Bears netminder Richard Shulmeister stopped 22 shots to pick up the win, while Cyclones goaltender Randy Petruk made 14 saves in the losing effort. Magliarditi stopped all 10 shots that he faced after relieving Petruk at the start of the third period. Both squads went 1 for 5 on the power play.

The O-Bears captured their third straight victory on Thursday with a 4-0 shutout of the visiting Detroit Vipers before a crowd of 7,848 at TD Waterhouse Centre (formerly Orlando Arena).

Center Mark Beaufait tallied three assists and goaltender Scott Langkow made 19 saves to lead Orlando. Solar Bears right wing Herbert Vasiljevs opened the scoring with his 24th goal of the season at 5:45 of the first period, assisted by Beaufait and defenseman Barry Dreger.

Blueliner Curtis Murphy made it 2-0 at 16:05 with his seventh of the season from right wing Bob Lachance and Beaufait.

Powerful performance

Fairway Jeep leaves little doubt who is Lake Mary's best

By Dean Smith

LAKE MARY - There is an old saying that goes, "the cream always rises to the top."

Such was the case at the Lake Mary Sports Complex last Friday evening.

Except for a stumble against Nice 'N Easy (21-2) in its last game of the regular season, Fairway Jeep had barely been pressured during the regular season, with an 18-11 victory over M.T. Muggs being the closest that anyone else had come to knocking off the champs.

In fact, that was one of only three games that Fairway Jeep had been held under 20 runs in a game, with, except for the loss, 17 runs being the fewest it had scored.

Fairway Jeep proved again. See Friday, Page 28

Winning pitcher Tom Gracey had a pretty good night at the plate also, going 8-for-11, including a pair of doubles, scored four runs and drove in two as Fairway Jeep coasted to a pair of games and the

Sanabria leads Lake Mary into postseason

By David Galbreath
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - Adam Sanabria is the epitome of what hard work and a lot of effort brings.

Sanabria is Lake Mary's ace pitcher and is having an outstanding 7-3 season, while maintaining a 1.65 ERA and having 53 strikeouts.

"Adam has worked very hard to improve this year and he is very coachable. He's maybe the best junior pitcher in this district," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle.

Sanabria started playing baseball when he was five years old while living in New York and has been playing ever since. Sanabria quickly fell in love with the game and has been practicing hard to get to where he is today.

"I always try to do my best whenever I'm out on the field," said Sanabria. "Whether it's in practice or in a game. It's important for me to always give a 100% effort at all times. I can only benefit from it. Even on my days off I try to run to keep loose, as well as do several pitching drills."

This hard work attitude has taken Sanabria far on the field and in the classroom. With Adam's busy schedule he still finds time to maintain a 3.0 GPA while taking honors classes.

Sanabria also has very interesting pre-game rituals to go along with his hard work mentality.

"Before every game I pitch, I always eat pasta or chicken, and when I'm at the ball field, I run to the same spot during warm-ups, and while I warm up I always talk to myself about the game," said Sanabria.

This, according to Adam helps him focus on the task at hand.

"During the game I try to keep myself mentally clear. I can't really think about too much when I'm out there or else I'll start to lose focus."

Sanabria is well respected on the team by both his teammates and his coaches.

"Adam is one of the hardest working players on the team as far as pitchers go," said Lake Mary centerfielder Chad Legate. "He is dedicated to the team and is a team player. When he is focused he is one of the best pitchers out there."

When asked about his future goals Adam just simply responded. "My main goal is to work hard enough to get into a Division I college but for right now I just want to play well and have fun. It's important to me to have fun, but to always play hard."

Tonight the No. 6 state-ranked Rams (19-5) will host an important Seminole Athletic Conference contest against a very good Winter Springs club as they look to bounce back from last Friday's tough loss to Oviedo.

The game will start at 7 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

Cleland-McGregor helps Team USA secure Summer Olympic Games bid

Special to the Herald

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA - The United States earned an invitation to the 2000 Olympic Games by placing fourth in team on Wednesday at the 2000 Olympic Qualifying Open in Sydney, Australia.

Team USA's Eye of the Storm routine featuring five towering lifts - including four double lifts - earned a final mark of 96.463. Though unmatched in energy, difficulty and strength, the U.S. could not eclipse Canada for the bronze medal.

"I think we made a really strong showing for the future," team member Carrie Barton said. "There's still six months to go before the Games, and a lot can happen during that time. We came here to make a great impression, and leave people talking about how bright the future is for the Americans."

Russia's "Cirque du Soleil" led the team event throughout, scoring a 99.260 for the gold medal. Japan's "Bird of Wonder" excelled in artistic impression, finishing second at 98.174. Canada's "Sport" routine to Vangelis' Chariots of Fire slipped into the bronze slot with a mark of 96.733.

"We swam as a unit, as one team. That was the most important aspect of our performance," team member Kim Wurzel said. "We feel great about our swim. We saw some positive signs from several of the top judges. With six months to train, we have no worries about moving up."

Team USA equaled Canada in artistic impression with a score of 38.533. However, judges from Italy, Sweden and Cuba rated Canada one-tenth higher in technical merit, giving the northern neighbors the edge, 58.200 to 58.000. The United States needed to make up a 0.216 deficit in the raw routine score to move up a notch in the final rankings.

Swimming for the United States are: Carrie Barton (Irving, Texas), Tammy Cleland-McGregor (Sanford), Bridget Finn (Buffalo, N.Y.), Anna Kozlova (St. Petersburg, Russia), Kristina Lum (Fremont, Calif.), Elleta Marshall (San Jose, Calif.), Heather Pease-Olson (Carmel Valley, Calif.), and Kim Wurzel See Olympics, Page 28

Friday night in the Playoffs for the City of Lake Mary Department of Parks and Recreation Men's Friday Night Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball League that the regular season stats were not a fluke, rolling to pair of victories and the Championship.

Blue Haven Pools, who came into the tournament as the No. 4 seed, did give Fairway Jeep a tough battle in the opening game, however, scoring five runs in the top of the first inning and not giving up the lead until Fairway Jeep scored three runs in the bottom of the third inning to take an 8-7 advantage.

Blue Haven Pools was not ready to give in though, scoring two runs in the top of the fifth inning to regain the lead, 9-8.

But Fairway Jeep finally said enough is enough in the bottom of the fifth inning and scored three runs, with a two-run double by Rich Hanratty being the big blow, to take the lead for good before tacking on three insurance runs in the sixth inning, with Kevin Julian ripping a two-run triple, to close out a 14-9 victory.

The other semifinal proved to be barn-burner and also produced an upset as No. 3 seeded Hill's Gang, which did not wrap up a spot in the four-team playoff until the final week of the regular season, scored two runs in the top of the seventh inning to oust No. 2 seed-Nice 'N Easy, which actually came into the tournament as the hottest team in the league.

Nice 'N Easy took a 5-0 lead after two innings, but Hill's Gang tied the game with five runs in the top of the third inning and took an 8-5 lead by scoring three more runs in the top of the fourth inning.

A run-scoring double by Mike McClelland and a run-scoring triple by Mark Clatterback were the big hits in a three-run sixth inning as Nice 'N Easy reclaimed the lead 9-8. Hill's Gang though was primed for the upset.

Chris Taylor and Dan Peters led off the top of the seventh inning with back-to-back singles before Peters was erased on a grounder by Scott Perri. Rick Brown and David Sternberg then ripped back-to-back run-scoring singles to give Hill's Gang the lead 10-9.

Randy Brecht then got a pinch-hit single to load the bases, but Nice 'N Easy avoided further damage when Harold Bailey's bid for a sacrifice fly, turned into a double play on a good throw from the centerfielder to the catcher to end the inning.

Skip Bowen gave Nice 'N Easy new hope of a rally of its own in the bottom of the seventh inning with a lead-off single, but the next batter bounced into a 1-6-3 double play.

Mickey Cogburn followed with a walk and advanced to third on a single by McClelland, but a fly out ended the game, sending Hill's Gang into 'the Championship Game.

Hill's Gang spotted Fairway Jeep a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but used the momentum for the first game to take a 4-3 lead in the bottom of the first inning.

Fairway Jeep tied the game in the top of the second inning, then grabbed the lead by plating two runs in the top of the third inning.

Hill's Gang gave it one more college try, coming up with two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning to tie the game again at 6-6, but Fairway Jeep then went on the offensive, scoring five runs in the fifth inning and a run in the sixth inning before exploding for 15 runs in the top of the seventh inning to post a 27-7 victory.

The game ended in dramatic fashion as Ed Mangani capped off a 5-for-6 night with a grand slam.

Fairway Jeep ends the season with an 11-1 record and was followed by Nice 'N Easy (8-3), Hill's Gang (5-7), Blue Haven Pools (5-6), Lunch Box Pegs (4-6), Mace Aluminum (3-7) and M.T. Muggs (2-8).

Kryger at 12:36. Beaufait and Vasiljevs were credited with the helpers on Carter's 19th of 1999-2000, and Lachance and center Gary Shuchuk picked up the assists on Kryger's seventh of the current campaign.

For the game, the Solar Bears out-shot the Vipers by a 32-19 count. Detroit netminder Trevor Koenig stopped 28 shots in the losing effort. The O-Bears were a perfect 2 for 2 on the power play while holding the Vipers to 0 for 5 with the man advantage.

The Solar Bears shut out Detroit for a second consecutive meeting with a 1-0 win on Saturday at TD Waterhouse Centre.

Before a crowd of 10,882, netminder Richard Shulmistra made 20 saves to help the O-Bears win their fourth straight game.

The lone goal of the contest came in the first period, a power-play tally from Orlando defenseman Curtis Murphy at 17:50. Fellow blueliner Brett Clark and right wing Bob Lachance picked up the assists on Murphy's eighth goal of the season.

For the game, the Solar Bears out-shot the Vipers by a 31-20 count. Detroit goaltender Trevor Koenig stopped 30 shots in the losing effort. The O-Bears were 1 for 6 on the power play while holding the Vipers to 0 for 1 with the man advantage.

This week, the Solar Bears visit Houston for contests on Friday and Saturday at Compaq Center.

Faceoff for both contests is set for 8:30 p.m.

Saturday's game can be seen live on Sunshine Network with Andrew Monaco handling the play-by-play duties and former Orlando netminder David Littman providing color commentary. Both games can be heard live on WNNZ-AM 740 with "The Voice of the Solar Bears" John Dyer calling the action.

The O-Bears conclude the 1999-2000 regular season on Sunday with a 6 p.m. matchup with the Michigan K-Wings at TD Waterhouse Centre.

John Dyer will call all of the action live on WNNZ-AM 740. On Sunday, the first 10,000 fans in attendance will receive a Solar Bears team poster, and the first 2,500 attendees will be given a SPURIT "Soft Puck."

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

ORLANDO - The Orlando Solar Bears Player of the Week for April 3-9 is goaltender Richard Shulmistra.

In two starts last week, Shulmistra stopped 42 of 43 shots on goal in posting a 2-0-0 mark.

The native of Sudbury, Ontario, posted a 1-0 shutout victory over the visiting Detroit Vipers on Saturday, March 8, becoming the fifth Solar Bears netminder to blank an opponent this season.

In seven games played in 1999-

2000, Shulmistra has a 5-1-1 mark.

VASILJEVS GETS DEL/CCM NOD

MADISON HEIGHTS, MI - Herbert Vasiljevs has been named the CCM Player of the Week.

It is his first award this season and joins teammate Mark Beaufait as members of the Solar Bears to have won the award this season. This is Orlando's second award in two weeks.

The Solar Bears started the week on Tuesday with a 5-1 victory over Cincinnati. Vasiljevs was a +3, contributing one goal and three assists, his goal coming while the Solar Bears were short-handed. He was also named the first star of the game.

On Thursday, in Orlando's 4-0 shutout of Detroit, Vasiljevs scored the game-winning goal and added another assist, bringing his scoring total to two goals and four assists in two games. He was held pointless on Saturday when the Solar Bears shutout the Vipers 1-0 for the second time in a row.

Martin tests at Daytona

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH - After capturing a big win in Martinville, you might think Mark Martin would take a day to rest and enjoy the victory. But Martin was hard at work Monday at Daytona International Speedway.

Martin and his crew were joined by the No. 61 Joe Bessey Team Power Sports Monte Carlo, the No. 77 Robert Pressley Jasper Motorsports Ford Taurus, and the NASCAR Busch series No. 52 Brad Teague Team Lear Racing Ford in the first of a two-day test at the "World Center of Racing."

Martin was turning laps in the Ford Taurus that earned him a fifth place finish in the 2000 Daytona 500 while also testing out a new car.

"The new car is slow," reported Martin. "We won't be taking it out anytime soon as slow as it is. The other car is respectable. It ran good in the 500 because, the way the rules were, handling was important and the cars that handled the best were able to do the best. With the restrictor plate change coming up that's going to take handling back a degree or two. So it will be more about who's got the slickest, fastest car instead of who's got the best handling car. That hurts us going into Talladega because we don't have the fastest car. We just hope we don't tear anything up at Talladega."

Driver Joe Bessey brought a new team car to the test.

"The No. 61 is the second team car we're putting together," said Bessey. "We hope to get the effort together for the Pepsi 400 in July. Until we get sponsorship on the 61 car it's going to be a very limited schedule. But two cars is definitely the way to go. Two is a little more magic a number."

Bessey says that testing at Daytona is important for their two-car team.

"Daytona is one of the tracks where we want to qualify and we're working on all of our restrictor plate stuff for Talladega."

Robert Pressley, driver of the No. 77 Jasper Engines Ford Taurus, was working on the new shock package.

"There's a new shock deal for the front end so we want to shake the car down, then some new things and see if we can get just a little bit of an advantage for Talladega," said Pressley. "We've got a different restrictor plate and a new shock rule, so I think we're going to learn what we need to know today."

NASCAR competition returns to Daytona International Speedway June 29 for Bud Pole Qualifying for the Pepsi 400. Tickets for the July 1 nighttime running of the Pepsi 400 are still available. Purchase your tickets online at www.daytonainternational.com or by calling the Speedway Ticket Office at (904) 253-7223.

RICHARD PETTY DRIVING EXPERIENCE RETURNS TO DAYTONA

Martin tests at Daytona

Special to the Herald

DAYTONA BEACH - Get ready to ride! It's time to feel the power of a 358 cubic inch V-8 NASCAR Winston Cup stock car roaring with 600 horsepower. It's time to encounter the 2000 Richard Petty Driving Experience (RPDE). This heart-pounding, thrill-a-second racing experience at the "World Center of Racing" starts Thursday, April 13, at Daytona International Speedway.

The 899 Richard Petty Driving Experience, which includes admission to DAYTONA USA, the "Official Attraction of NASCAR," features three laps around Daytona's 2.5-mile trioval, challenging the daunting 31-degree high banks. Ride along participating atop on a helmet for a front-seat ride in one of Petty's stock cars with a professional RPDE instructor at the wheel.

The 2000 RPDE program will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Daytona International Speedway on the following dates: April 13-17; April 20-22; April 24; April 27 & 28; April 30 & May 1; May 11-15; May 18-22; May 25-29; June 1-5; June 8-12; June 15-19; July 8-10; July 13-17; July 20-24; July 27-31; August 10-13; August 20 & 21; August 24-28; August 31-September 4; September 7-10; September 14-18; September 21-25; and September 28-October 1. Schedule is subject to change without notice.

DAYTONA USA, which features a variety of high-energy thrills and live shows for audiences of all ages, is open daily from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., with extended hours during race periods. The Speedway Tour, a 30-minute open-air tram excursion throughout the Speedway's 480 acres, is also available, weather and track schedule permitting.

Gift certificates for the Richard Petty Driving Experience at DAYTONA USA make a great Father's Day gift. For more information, call (800) BE-PETTY. For ticket information on upcoming races at the Speedway, call (904) 253-7223 or go to www.daytonainternational.com. Getting The Facts About OTC Pain Relievers (NAPRA)-When it comes to getting relief from pain or reducing a fever, all over-the-counter (OTC) analgesics are considered safe and effective. However, there are unique properties and differences in over-the-counter analgesics, which allow certain products to work better on specific ailments or individual conditions.

To help consumers make educated decisions, the American Council on Science and Health has published "Making Sense of Over-the-Counter Pain Relievers," a report highlighting the efficacy and safety of these medications. The report was created to help dispel the myths and confusion of all over-the-counter pain relievers on the market.

Before choosing an OTC pain reliever, the report recommends the following:

- Identify your pain;
- Find what works for you—certain OTC pain relievers work better than others. Some last up to 12 hours with a single dose, and others are better at relieving specific kinds of pain. The timing and duration of relief vary from product to product.
- Read and follow the label carefully; and
- If you have any questions, consult a doctor or pharmacist before taking any pain reliever.

"This report dispels many of the myths that people associate with pain relievers," said Dr. Steven Weisman, an expert in the field of analgesics. "The report will also help consumers differentiate among the various products that are available as they can select the appropriate over-the-counter pain reliever for them with confidence. For example, consumers who want their pain reliever to last all day may want to choose a product such as Aleve which can last up to 12 hours with a single dose."

As with all medications, unwanted effects are possible with over-the-counter pain relievers. This report tells consumers when to be concerned.

Motivate Kids To Read!

(NAPRA)-Adventure in reading are only a mouse-click away for parents and teachers looking for a free and easy program that provides motivation for kids to read.

Book Adventure™, a free online reading incentive program, turns a computer into an educational and motivational tool. Unlike computer games that often go nowhere, Book Adventure uses interactive technology to lead students back to the library.

At www.bookadventure.org, students (K-8) create personalized book lists from 6,000 recommended titles, read the books at home or school, then return to Book Adventure to take quizzes and earn prizes for reading success. Book Adventure is a powerful resource for parents and teachers to encourage strong reading habits and track children's progress. In less than a year, almost 100,000 people have registered on Book Adventure and more than 600,000 quizzes have been taken!

Book Adventure is kicking off its second National Book Bazaar Contest. Top grand-prize readers will win a trip to the Nation's Capitol! Students must register with a parent, guardian or teacher and start reading to win this and other Book Bazaar prizes. The contest ends May 12, 2000.

Book Adventure was created and initially funded by the Sylvan Learning Foundation. Please visit www.bookadventure.org for more information.

Pain-free Martin relishes latest win

Eight Winston Cup races, eight winners. Not bad. So whose turn will it be next Sunday when NASCAR goes to Talladega, where anything goes and usually does?

"Eight different winners? That's cool," Mark Martin said after becoming No. 1 with his where-did-he-come-from victory in the Goody's 500. "Somebody will get on a hot streak, and that will change."

Just after his 1999 post-season back surgery, Martin vowed that this season would be different, that, now out of pain, he would be a happier, freer Mark Martin, enjoying this life he has made for himself on the Winston Cup tour.

During the past few years, Martin, a weight-pumping, intensely focused racer, has suffered physically through raging back pain, never complaining, although the mental effects were obvious in his frequently brusque manner, even when he had won.

In the first few days of this season, Martin instead appeared happy, only to lapse into somnolence as the weeks dragged on.

So it was delightful to see the new "old" Mark Martin bounding out of his car after Sunday's victory here, throwing out quips like he used to. And it's not only Martin who has a happier face, it's also Jack Roush, his boss.

"Mark has had a great attitude all year," Roush said. "He's been fun to be with in the truck. He's joking with the guys. He's had more patience." As has Roush.

Sunday's race was Rusty Wallace's, almost all the way. He had the best car, although on a more uneventful afternoon he might have had some closer challengers — Dale Earnhardt, Ricky Rudd and Tony Stewart among them.

But it wasn't an uneventful day. Earnhardt pounded his way home to ninth, just ahead of the stunned Wallace, and then pronounced his fellow drivers "jerks" for the 17 cautions, which could have been 19 or 20 if NASCAR officials hadn't been so merciful at the end.

With all those yellow flags, it was impossible for any crew chief to make all the right calls. The leaders were most vulnerable, because their rivals had plenty to gain and nothing to lose by gambling. So Wallace and Robin Pemberton could only bite their tongues when their by-the-book calls left them stuck way back in traffic down the stretch, while the more opportunistic, such as Martin and teammate Jeff Burton and hot-driving Michael Waltrip, wound up in front. "I thought Rusty was the man all day, and that there at the end he'd just bounce back up there," Martin said. "So we stole it. I'll take it."

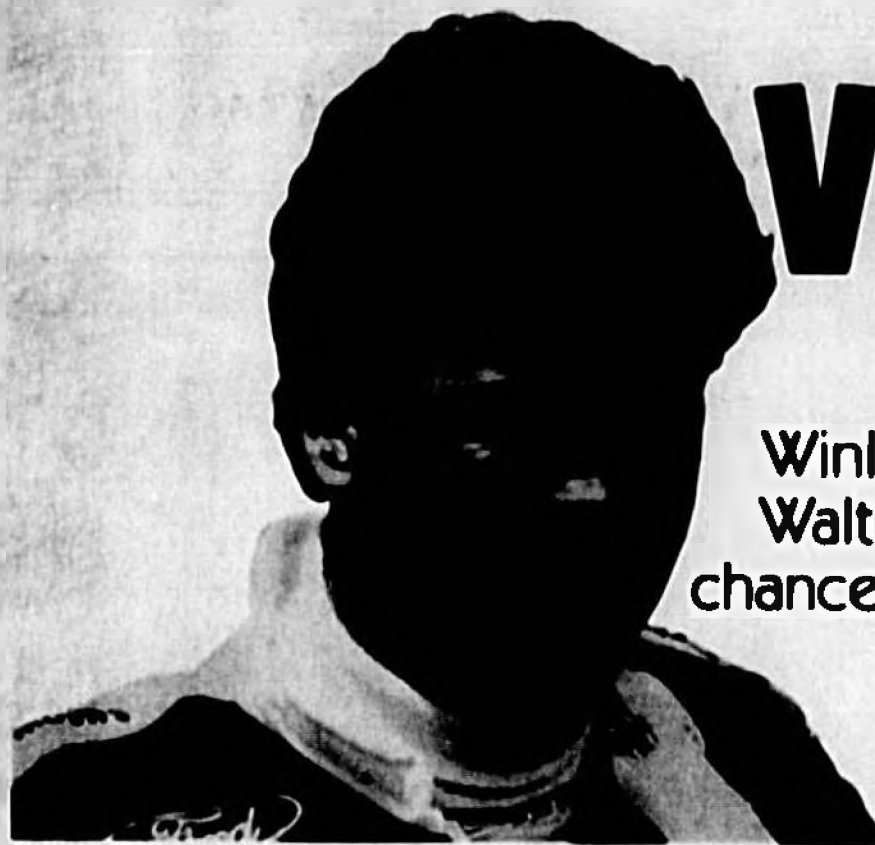

"This is a little like blackjack," Roush said of the crew chiefs' game on pit road here. "If you've got 14 and see the dealer with 16 and you know he's going to take a hit, you sit on 14."

Martin said: "When you're not running that great, and you don't really have a chance, it's a lot similar to take chances and gambles. When you're a contender, man, you've got to hedge your bet. You've really got to make sure you do the right thing."

"We had 16 or 17 cars on the lead lap, and I was about halfway to the back of that line, and I wasn't going forward. So why not? I had to believe they were all going to stop before the end of the race, so we just stopped and got our stop done first. It was just a matter of chance ... and brilliance on Jim Pennig's part."

Lucky? Or smart?
"The luck we had wasn't bad. But we didn't need good luck to win," Roush said. "Either with cautions or without cautions [over the final 100 laps], we were going to be fine, as long as we didn't get caught up in somebody else's wreck. It all played as we hoped it would. If they [Wallace and company] had closed up on us, either we would have better tires or we would have better track position, and either one would have given us a good shot to win the race."

Winless Michael Waltrip likes his chances at Talladega

By Rea McLeroy
LAPBYLAP

Michael Waltrip slumped in his chair in the media center, looking at his hands while he talked about his latest race. Still in his driver's uniform, and still sweating, he pensively looked around.

He'd just finished third, his best showing since 1995. But he wasn't celebrating.

Unlike winner Mark Martin and second-place finisher Jeff Burton, he found no humor in his sudden appearance at the front after pit sequences and crashes caused the leaders to start in the middle of the pack.

Waltrip just hung his head, apologizing. On the final restart of the Goody's 500 at Martinsville Speedway on Sunday, Waltrip tagged John Andretti, then running third, spun him out of position. It took all the fun out of what had been a stellar day for a struggling team.

"I wish I could be smiling and laughing about committing a felony like Jeff Burton did," said Waltrip, referring to Burton's comment that his second-place finish was "a borderline felony."

"Obviously, we didn't have a third-place car. We were good all day, but we got more than we deserved. I just wish I could have finished fourth and John could have finished third. I hadn't touched anybody all day long."

Waltrip understood what Andretti had been through in the 500-lap slugfest.

"A guy that had done the same thing I'd done, fought and battled all day long, to get bumped at the end and I took it away from him," Waltrip said.

"That hurt my heart, and I hate that. I'd rather never win a race than to do that because I know what it's like to lose and have somebody take it away from you. I feel like I took something away from John. It was certainly unintentional."

Waltrip lost all the joy his performance could have created. For him, it was just the latest in a series of disappointments.

Personable and talented, Waltrip remains one of those mysteries in Winston Cup racing, someone who has run well but hasn't won a points race.

Waltrip has the skill and ability and is respected by his competitors, so his lack of a victory mystifies his team. Now, in his second year with owner Jim Mattei, Waltrip finds himself wondering about his future.

He's one of the favorites heading into this weekend's race at Talladega, but Mattei has been difficult to find at the track, and even Waltrip is wondering whether the team is, indeed, for sale. And then there's that lack of a win hanging over his head.

It's been a long wait. Waltrip has run 436 Winston Cup points races. He has finished second, led laps, been on the verge of winning when his engine failed. Victory lane is unknown territory.

This was supposed to be the year all of that changed.

"We've had eight races now, and something has gone wrong in six of them," Waltrip said. "We finished 11th at Bristol and third today. We feel like we're a better team than where we are right now. They say you've got to run in the top five before you can win one. I'll go to Talladega and be a factor in who wins that race. I can tell you that."

Waltrip is smooth on the track, understands racing and can see problems unfolding and avoid the crashes. Maybe it sounds like an excuse to say he hasn't run with the right equipment, hasn't found that magical combination of team and car and driver needed to turn those top-five finishes into wins.

He doesn't resort to excuses or explanations. But others do.

"The only reason Michael Waltrip hasn't won a race before in Winston Cup is because he hasn't sat in something that could win, or when he did, something happened," Burton said. "It doesn't surprise me [that he finished third] at all. You've just gotta sit in good stuff and everything's gotta work your way."

This weekend gives the team one of its best shots. Waltrip is outstanding at Talladega. He showcases his skills on restrictor-plate tracks, where the engine power is harnessed by a plate that limits air flow.

In the past five restrictor-plate races, Waltrip either has led laps and then been sidelined with problems or has finished in the top five.

This weekend, he has a chance. And he knows it. "My confidence level was already high going into Talladega," he said.

"If you can remember going back to last fall, with 30 laps to go, I was leading the race when my engine broke. We tested over there the other day and we had a fast car. We've proved over and over again we know how to get to the front in these restrictor-plate races. ... I'm excited about the car we're taking down there."

He's enthusiastic and optimistic — but unwilling to continue down his current path. He entered this season intent on improving. He won't settle for less.

"I really like my team," Waltrip said. "We're going to stay together for the rest of this year, and I have no intentions of driving that car in 2001 if we don't perform to the level that I expect us to."

"Last year, quite frankly, was a disaster and disappointment. I started this year looking like I had one year to get back up to where I'd been my whole career, into the top 20, and hopefully to the top 10 and contend for wins."

Who's Hot: Jeff Burton. He raced to his fifth top-five and third second-place finish of the season at Martinsville and is fourth in points.

Who's Not: Robby Gordon. He struggled all weekend in Martinsville and left the race early after an altercation on the track. He dropped to 38th in points.

On the Record

"I think me finishing second is a borderline felony."

— Jeff Burton
