All seven were called forward by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica. Then the clerk of the court said, "As I call your name please state to the court how you plead to the charges."

The names were a roll call of most of President Nixon's onetime closest advisers. First, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell responded "not guilty to all counts."

Chatting with a small group of reporters aboard Air Force One as it flew Nixon here Friday, Ziegler said: "As he holds them on a more frequent basis, as I think he will, the area of questioning will shift ... to the things he's doing in foreign and domestic policy." By Ziegler's count, 15 out of 19 questions at Wednesday's television-radio news conference dealt with Watergate and related matters. The President and Mrs. Nixon flew here for a weekend of sunshine before she leaves Monday to attend the inaugurals of new presidents of Venezuela and Brazil. San Francisco Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - With the city crippled by the strike of 10,000 municipal employes and raw sewage flowing into its famous bay, Mayor Joseph Alioto has declared a state of emergency to prompt weekend negotiations. Alioto made his declaration after union leaders rejected his proposed settlement of the two-day walkout, which has paralyzed municipal transportation, hospitals and other services. The mayor's rejected proposal included a five per cent increase for 11,900 city workers at an estimated cost of $7.4 million and a dental plan to be phased in over three years. U.S. Subsidies May Be The Answer

By BENJAMIN SHORE Copley News Service

WASHINGTON- As gasoline prices go up and shortages increase, more and more commuters are considering leaving their cars at home and taking buses and trains to work.

The only problem is that most local mass transit systems are financially unable to expand their services tomeet rising demand. The major obstacle is operating costs.

The quick solution seems to be federal sunsidies for those systems in which the farebox does not produce enough money to improve and expand service.

In his fiscal 1975 budget President Nixon formally asked Congress to approve such

The administration's proposal, outlined briefly in the President's State of the Union message, is a major retreat from its firm opposition last year to operating subsidies.

In what one Department of Transportation official called a "face-saving measure," the White House still is threatening to veto a bill already approved by the House and Senate to allocate $800 million over two years for operating subsidies.

The administration is proposing another way to reach the same goal-the infusion of federal dollars to allow local systems to meet the energy crisis by getting cars off the road.

Mass transit systems already can get federal help in buying buses and trains, but the steadily rising costs of operating them-mostly in payrolls-have kept most systems from ex-

Despite the Nixon administration's long-standing opposition to federal operating subsidies, the demands of the energy crisis have proved overwhelming and led to the President's reversal, according to a high-ranking Department of Transportation official.

The key man reportedly was Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar, who drafted a legislative proposal last year, circulated it quietly among congressional officials over the Christmas recess, and then convinced Roy Ash, tough-minded director of the Officie of Management and Budget, that the energy crisis made White House support of operating sunsidies essential this year.

"Ash bought it and took it to the White House," the official said.

Jack Anderson Secret Documents

WASHINGTON-Secret corporate documents indicate that Standard Oil of California (Socal) schemed illegally to tap into the government's Elk Hills petroleum reserve. The language of a June 26, 1973, Socal memo, for example suggests that the company was well aware its drilling could drain government oil from the reserve. Sinking wells around the northern border of the reserve states the memo, "could allow considerable production before government reacts."

The company sought, according to the memo, to "minimize immediate threat to reserve and resulting Navy action." But the documents recognize the strong possibility that the Socal wells might draw Navy oil from the 1.3 billion-barrel Elk Hills field.

A June 29 memo recommended "a two-well drilling program." Early in July, a Socal position paper called for a review "to determine how far away from the boundary of the By CARL P. getting to the Navy from Jack Anderson." Socal started drilling on July 17, 1973. The Navy, fearful its oil would seep into the Socal wells, was forced to drill four offset wells at the taxpayers' expense.

Now the courts have issued a preliminary injunction to stop Socal from continuing its drilling operations so close to the Elk Hills reserve.

We have obtained Socal documents going back to 1970 about the possibility of siphoning oil from Elk Hills. One memo, marked "personal and confidential" and dated October 14, 1970, noted that "commercial exploitation of reservoirs discovered in these The memo warned, however, that "the probability of the memo warned, however, the probability of the memo warned areas could be arranged."

opinion that such a move would leave Socal in a dominant market This has left the Navy on a tightrope. Assistant Secretary Jack Bowers obediently has come out for opening Elk Hills while his office is hard at work trying to stop Socal drainage. The House Armed Services Committee is holding up the legislation to open the reserve, largely because of the efforts of DEATH THREAT: For almost a month before his January 28; grudge fight with Muhammad Ali, former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier was haunted by a death threat from black militants. His bodyguard was bolstered and special precautions were taken at ringside, all unknown to the sell-out Madison Square

The threat was made after New Year's Day while Frazier was training in a Philadelphia gym. The pay phone rang and trainer William Neil answered. What followed, as Frazier's lawyer Bruce Wright recounted it to us, was a vicious diatribe

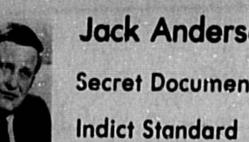

The caller, who said he represented an organization of ghetto blacks, castigated Frazier in gutter terms. "We're going to kill

Neil immediately informed the ex-champion who shrugged and said with a sigh: "Here we go again." He was referring to similar calls, which preceded his 1971 triumph over Ali. At that time, a tight security cordon was thrown around both Frazier and Although Frazier affected a stoic shrug, he took the new threat seriously. Attorney Wright said the threat had not caused Frazier to lose the 12-round fight. But he suggested that the steady drumfire of unfair "Uncle Tom" charges had a negative psychological effect on Frazier.

Wright discounted rumors that the Black Muslims, of which Ali is a member, have been behind the "Uncle Tom" talk. As for the death threat, Wright figured it came from "some lunatic fringe group" of blacks.

ployes from strike-connected violence in 1971. Connecticut, which does provide state police protection, was selected in-stead for the new production facilities. According to Rep. Charles E. Fry, the sponsor of the Ohio legislation, the denial of equal protection from violence in a strike is not only unfair and discriminatory but also an obstacle to economic growth and expansion of job oppor-tunities in the states. Most of the state's large employers, he says, believe that the restriction on the highway patrol has, to some extent at least, been a factor contributing to outbreaks of violence during strikes in Ohio. Jail Segregation Ends

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - A federal court here has enjoined Polk County's sheriff and board of commissioners from allowing racial segregation of prisoners at the county jail.

The injunction Friday was included in a consent decree signed by Sheriff Monroe Brannen. It stems from a complaint filed last May by Richard Kleindienst, then U.S. Attorney General. Brannen has said blacks are separated from whites at the jail for their own safety.

Turbulence Hurts Womer

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) - Two women were being treated at a hospital here today after being knocked down by turbulence from a taxiing National Airlines jetliner at Sarasota Bradenton Airport. Merle Sears, 73, of Bradenton was admitted to the nospital Friday with broken ribs and Ann Schnirel, 72, of East Aurora, N.Y., with a broken hip. Perl Govan, 74, of Washington, D.C., was released after treatment. A National official said the women were standing behind a fence when the Boeing 727 jet turned around to take off for Tampa and Washington.

Cocaine Grabbed, Man Nabbed MIAMI (AP) — U.S. Customs agents have confiscated 24 counds of cocaine with an estimated street value of $1.5 million while arresting a Colombian man for possession of the drug, officials say.

Agents said Antonio Amaya, 33, was arrested Friday carrying a briefcase holding 18½ pounds of cocaine. They said he was stopped after "searching for something" aboard a New York to Miami plane. Agents said they had already staked out a 51/2 pound parkage of cocaine they had found on the plane Thursday.

NAACP Feud

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Florida NAACP official Sam Jones says the civil rights group's state president doesn't have the power to remove him from office. State NAACP field director R.N. Gooden had said Friday that president Eddie Mae Steward of Jacksonville was suspending Jones from the chairmanship of the legal redress committee for making unauthorized news

"I plead guilty to making unauthorized news releases," Jones replied early today. "I'm a firm believer in the first amendment to the United States constitution granting all citizens the right to a free press and free speech." Jones said chairmen cannot be removed without being given formal charges of cause and that no such statement

Jones, also of Jacksonville, had said Thursday that white political bosses, whom he did not identify, had misled some NAACP people into undeserved attacks on Gov. Reubin Askew.

Gooden and Mrs. Steward had criticized Askew for not populating black judges. Jones pointed out that Askew ited four black judges before a new constitutional amendment required him to name judges only from lists submitted by nominating commissions.

Donna's Deliberations

By DONNA ESTES

It was no secret in local government in 1970 that unconstitutional means were being used to annex highways as the cities of Casselberry, Altamonte Springs and Longwood raced to The city attorneys, Joe Davis in Longwood and Altamonte and Ken McIntosh in Casselberry, made the fact very clear to

The only law on the state books which permitted highway annexations was declared unconstitutional by the Fiorida Supreme Court in 1965, five years before the annexations took place. The law was not repealed and remains on the books to this elected efficials.

Davis and Mack Cleveland, both of Sanford, had special experience with the Supreme Court decision as members of the 1965 Legislature. They heeded the plea of then - Mayor A. R. Lormann of Longwood, pushing through special legislation to legalize Longwood's annexation of U.S. 17-92 frontage and the Winn-Dixie complex at the intersection of SR 434, accomplished before the Supreme Court decision was announced. In the late 1960's when Longwood attempted to annex the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, Clevelard representing the dog track warned city councilmen very emphatically that the law they were trying to use unconstitutional. The city backed off. But in 1970, the elected city leaders were not interested in legal aspects. Prime consideration was extending territorial limits, ensnaring highways to make other choice properties contiguous (adjacent) to city bounds by virtue of the highways.

'Leapfrogging' Challenged

Civic leaders throughout Seminole County, notably the late former county commissioner Vernon (Curley) Dunn wrote letters to the editor, traveled to Tallahassee seeking help to stop the moves, challenging the "leapfrogging" annexations at public forums. But the annexation processes under the unconstitutional law grinded on.

Longwood took SR 434 from its west limits to beyond I-4. SR 427 south to the railroad tracks beyond Milwee School, Seminole Boulevard from SR 427 to U.S. 17-92 and 17-92 from Orange Avenue to General Hutchison Parkway. To annex U.S. 17-92 from SR 434 to Seminola Boulevard, however, Longwood used the legal petition method. City officials directed owners of property bounding city lands to the west to petition for annexation of their parcels and the highway. Casselberry, meanwhile, snatched U.S. 17-92 south from Seminola to its city limits, picking up 17-52 again at its intersection with SR 436 south past K-Mart. Also seized was SR 436 east to Howell Branch Road and west two blocks.

Altamonte Springs claimed SR 436 in portions east to Casselberry and west to I-4, latching onto SR 427 (Maitland Avenue) south to the Orange County line and north (Longwood Avenue) to the Milwee railroad tracks. Altamonte later deannexed part of SR 427 north when they were pressured by abutting black section property owners for annexation and services. Cities' Territories Multiplies ising the highways for contiguity, have tripled Altamonte's size, nearly doubled Longwood's size and come close to tripling Casselberry's territorial limits.

The time now has come to pay the reaper. Earlier this week the Seminole County circuit court ruling on only one aspect of the highway annexations ousted Longwood from the section of SR 434 and five lots in Rolling Hills to which the highway provided contiguity.

The ruling by Circuit Judge Tom Waddell also said that a citizen has standing in the court to prosecute on behalf of the state of Florida in annexations of this sort. The landmark decision poses more questions than it answers. Must another citizen go to court to oust the cities from illegally annexed territroy? Will the cities act by requesting cour judgments ousting the properties? The answer to the second question is "not very likely." Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs would have a tough time surviving if the revenues - ad valorem taxes, court fines, utility taxes - from the annexed territories were lost in light of beefed up city services.

What about the arrests made on the illegally annexed highways by municipal policemen? Will the cities go to the legislative delegation, asking that four years annexation be legalized after the fact?

Delegation Heard Protests

Last year after unincorporated area residents banded together protesting the cities' annexation and rezoning policies, the legislators pushed through a local law slowing down the annexation and rezoning process, requiring that the cities to hear city and county residents effected.

City officials screamed "foul," insisting the delegation was nindering their efforts to provide services to the annexed "We just want to give them city services," the officials said, enting their wrath on Seminole legislator, Rep. Eugene Mooney, have been on petition from land developers and in many cases the developers were not seeking services primarily, but less stringent building requirements than the county government imposed. Permitted development on flood prone lands is a glaring

The annexation story would not be complete without noting the courage of Mrs. June Lormann, widow of the former mayor, filing the 1972 lawsuit against Longwood. Believing she was fighting a cause that had to be fought, she was the butt of verbal abuse from Longwood officials and threats were made against her life by vested interests. In December she was elected to the Longwood city council by a near 3-1 margin. A major plank in her election platform was her lawsuit "to require city officials to abide by the law." Coincidently, former State Sen. Cleveland was Mrs.

Pizarro's Greed Led To New World Trips

Copley News Service

Although Francisco Pizarro never entered that part of the new world now known as the United States, his influence did. For sheer cruelty and duplicity he has probably never been surpassed, but black as most of his deeds were, they did lead to exploration of a great part of the new world. Pizarro was born in Spain about 1471 and little is known of his early life, but he apparently led a life of neglect with little or no It was about 1510 that he came to the Americas where he settled in Panama and it was from there that his more famous

He and another army officer, Diego de Almagro and a priest. Fernando de Luque became partners and eventually they heard tales of the powerful Inca empire to the south in what is now Peru. All of the stories stressed the riches of the Incas and Pizarro and his allies determined to secure this vast treasure. They interested the Panama government in their plans and obtained permission to conquer the Inca empire. Between the years 1524 and 1528 Pizarro's expedition made two voyages to the south, but only as far as the coast of Ecuador. But although they had not reached the Inca empire itself, they had gathered enough information so that they were more than ever determined to conquer it. However, by this time, with two failures to Pizarro's credit the Panama government lost interest and declined to finance any further expeditions. But Pizarro, whatever his other faults, was not the man to give up any project which he had started and he promptly sailed for Spain to obtain permission from Charles V for further exploration. Charles generously granted the permission and made Pizarro governor of Peru, but there is generosity stopped. He was not at all interested in supplying any financial aid. Again Pizarro returned to Panama and after a great deal of difficulty finally obtained enough men and equipment so that late in 1530 he set sail for Peru with about 180 men and 27 horses. This third expedition also landed on the coast of Ecuador, but pushed into the jungle toward the Inca settlements. After capturing one Inca fort they were joined by reinforcements led by Hernando de Soto, who later discovered the Mississippi River.

BICYCLIST CHARLES MURPHY . World record rider

A few months ago when bicyclist Charles M. Murphy declared that "there was not a locomotive built which could get away from "me", everybody scoffed with the exception of Hal Fullerton, a special agent for the Long Island Railroad. He took Murphy up on his challenge and today, June 30, 1899, Murphy, who works in a Brooklyn bicycle shop, will try to keep pace for a mile with a train traveling at a speed of 60 miles per He is attempting this fete on a specially built wooden track constructed inside the rails owned by the railroad. Ten inch planks have been meticulously planed and laid into place to give Murphy a smooth ride and the best possible chance of making good on his wildly extravagant claim. A wind-breaker type platform has been installed at the rear of the car loaded with officials and the press. Engineer Sam Booth brings the locomotive up to the prescribed speed and passes the starting line for the measured mile. Astonishingly, Murphy is right with him. After a quarter of a mile, Mucphy is still keeping pace. Now, slowly, daylight begins to appear between Murphy and the platform. Charles is one of the best racers in the country, but now there is 50 feet separating him from the car. He's probably bitten off more than be, or anyone for that matter, can chew. Or has he? Maybe not. Agonizingly Murphy moves closer and closer to the car and at the finish he's riding within the shadow of the platform. He's done it. He's traveled the mile on a bicycle in the time of 57 and 4-5 seconds-a world record. Soon the whole country will hear about the young man from Brooklyn and his achievement. As popular as bicycling is as a sport, "Mile-a-Minute" Murphy has certainly given the people something to talk about.

'Fabulous', Fantastic' Fishing

Superlatives Describe Shad

paragraph for this week's column, the only thing I could think of was the time last year I took an advertising executive out on the river for a little plug casting trip. The gentleman, being in the line of business that he was, could talk only superlatives. With every strike, the words "fabulous," or "fantastic," or "terrific" came pouring out. And that exactly describes the fishing in Seminole County this past week. The biggest trouble has been trying to decide just what kind of fish the angler wanted to catch. The best shad run of the year is in progress right now according to word from Bob King at Marina Isle Camp with about 50 per cent of them roe. Thursday two men fishing out of this camp landed 19 and only trolled from four p.m. until dark, just one example of many of the fine incoming catches. King reported several bass over the seven-pound mark brought in from this area and mentioned that top water action by schooling bass in beginning to pick up. Dick Moyer landed several Thursday. John Salmon and Vic Keith brought in two in the seven pound range Thursday. These visitors hail from North Carolina, their town - Sanford, the same as ours. The shad run was corroborated by a list of catches made at Lemon Bluff Camp. Nell Bridges reported 12 taken by H.C. John and Ed Hyde, seven of them containing roe. A party of three, A. Hertzberry and Hugh Robinson, Racine, Wis. and J. K. Jacobs of Altamonte Springs had 20-ten of them roe. Stanley Linten and Paul Litherman, Sanford, landed 14. This is only a sampling of the many reports received.

Some bass schooling has been noted in the early mornings with one party landing six, the top one hitting eight-

ROY DUNSMORE AND BOB ORRELL ...13 bass caught in St. Johns

At Osteen Bridge Camp, speckled perch anglers are finding the big ones in the bonnet beds with live minnows and jigs doing equally well. The "Pot-Gut" lure jigged in the bonnets accounted for 13 of those big black for the writer Monday in only an hour.

To get a line on the bass fishing, we did a little searching for schooling activity on Wednesday and, locating a few minnows hopping across the water, we anchored and put seven on the stringer in two hours.

A Wednesday trip by Roy Dunsmore and myself produced 13 with most of them hitting underwater lures such as the "Mirrolure" and "Big George." Another bassing expedition by Dunsmore and Boone Caudell resulted in a balky motor and a return to the boat ramp without wetting a line. (Promised Dunsmore I wouldn't mention this but I think they deserve the T. S. HARDLUCK TROPHY OF THE WEEK for the mental anguish caused by knowing the bass were striking and couldn't get to them.)

Lake Jessup speckled perch started off with a bang early this week but tapered off from the fast pace by Thursday. On Monday Mr. Hale and Mr. York (who is only 84 years young) landed 30 and Benjamin Raines, Christmas, Fla. also took a string of 30 on Tuesday. Raines only fished until 11 a.m.

TRIO OF LARGEMOUTH BASS ... Caught by Mathew Carver

Two Orlando police officers, Jeff Gauntlet and Tom Reynolds had a total of 21. Canon Ezell, his wife and his sister-in-law had to resort to drift fishing to find the specks as they seemed to be moving back to deep water. Hiley continues his predictions (which are usually on target) by stating that he looks for the shellcrackers to start bedding any time now. Wekiya River bass have also busted loose on a feeding spree. At Camp Seminole Tony Johnson, a youngster of about eight years, did himself proud by hooking and landing a four pounder. Other visitors to the camp report that small shiners are taking bass like mad, and the plug casters are getting action on the "Rapala." Donald Faulk, substituting for his father, Ottis who is away for a few days, told of a string of 20 panfish landed in an hour right near the dock and mentioned that a few specks are Matthew Carver who lives on the river near Wekiya River Haven Camp, came in with a seven pound bass Monday morning. The same afternoon he repeated with another one exactly the same size. And that ain't all! Wednesday he got a ten pounder, an eight pounder and another seven pounder. And just to show what a gentleman he is, he told George Cheney, camp owner, he would be glad to show anyone exactly where he caught them!

Rodman Dam and Reservoir, which has been named by many writers and fishermen as the place most likely to yield the next world record largemouth, showed its potential this week. Four Daytona men, Don Pursley, Gene Mills, Charles Rankin, and Dave Killiam came up with a (give me a new superlative, Jay) fantastic catch this week.

The foursome, using large shiners for bait, landed 24 bass totaling 175 pounds! Some of the individual weights were 13-2, 12-12, 9-5, and 9-1. The four men fished for two days landing a few on plastic worms but most of the big ones went for the live bait according to Barry Schreiber at the "Fishin" hole Bait and Tackle Shop" in Daytona.

Barry tried his luckin the same spot twice recently, the first trip yield six bass up to nine pounds five ounces. However another trip on Tuesday have him nothing but trouble as big jack-pike tore up everything he threw in the tinued with word of outstanding catches in the local area. Dan Pelham used the silver "Rapala" plug to land a limit string of ten bass in Puzzle Lake and John Sargent had his hands full when a five-and-one-half pound striped bass grabbed the silver "Revel" plug he was working in the mouth of the Wekiva River.

early morning and late evening. Keller took a "bus man's holiday" this week and went deep sea fishing. Accompanied by Bob Wheeler, head of the life guard corp and son Randy Wheeler and John Hasok. Keller's party slayed the grouper. Largest one landed was 43 pounds along with many more of 25 to 30 pounds each.

The party fished the deep water at the "Steeples," some 300 feet deep. They reported they lost a few that were too big In Inlet Harbor, Redwood Wharton, owner, stated the

Sunland Estates

The smallest area in the league in which to draw boys from. Sunland is out to shake the reputation of being the weak-sister of the league. Managed for the first time by Wayne Crumpton and coached by Dave Sankulla last year's 1-19-1 team will be lead by Richie Sankulla, Bobbie Ackinney, Carl Imich, Ricky Atlaway, and Dennis Rupert Claude Runion and newcomer Tim Wilkes are also counted on heavily by Crumpton. Last year Wayne sufered through the season as a coach, a position he held for two seasons. Previous to that he was a manager for a the new season will bring teams on the field that are more even in their size and ability, and no one will have to be humiliated as was the case in the past. The splitting of some of the larger towns into two teams can go a long way to achieve coach Crumpton's dream.

Altamonte Springs Manager Gene Hall and his two coaches, Jim Ellis and Paul Adenaur expect another title contendor again this year. Hall will be at the reigns for the third straight season and has Danny Stealey, Lance Hall Audie Cleveland and Voeks brothers-Steve and David back from his third place team of last year. Newcomers include Bill Peirce, Ronnie Coleman, Gene Hitchcock, Ethon Elliot, Chris Tighe, Benton Wood, Ronald Davis and Colin Burke The only two teams that were able to finish ahead of Altamonte Springs last year were Casselberry and Lake Mary. Since these two cities have been forced into coming up with two teams each season, the role of favorite would appear to rest with Gene Hall's group. Longwood Falcons

The Falcons could be the sleeper in the league this year as they will field a team that is lead by Chipper Hil and Andrew Sandstedt, two boys that manager John Hill calls among the best in South Seminole. Hill will be making his debut as a manager in this league, but several years ago he held the position of both manager and coach in the Pinecastle area. That South Orlando group has the reputation of only having the finest in coaches and managers in their organization. Coach Hill hopes to go with a team that has an accent on the younger boys as he will be using his 11-year-olds quite a bit. His seven 12-year-olds are Gerald Fleming. Chipper Hill, Bruce King, Richard Murdock, Andrew Sandstedt, Gerald Schnelker, and Glen Stambough. The 11's are David Chapman, Bill Daugherty, David Howell, Frank McDermott, Brian Stanley, Douglas Lilly, Darryl

Darling, and Antione Atkins. Casselberry-Orange Paving

Jim Brewer on of the youngest managers in the league will be at the helm of this "new Casselberry team. A student at F.T.U., Brewer comes to the South Seminole League after a year as a manager with the Oviedo seniors. He will be aided by John Cherwa a student at Lyman High School who will help out with the coaching chores. Andy DiCarlo, Daryl Johnson, and Gene Embree are the only boys that were with the majors last year, they will be aided by a host of newcomers; Jeff Turner, David Long, Mike Long, Brandon Burns, Mike Martin, Scott Johnson, Ron Clayton, Chris Shelton, Mike Andriano, and

Lake Mary-Jack Prosser Ford

Mac Blythe takes over a team that is steeped in winning tradition as he moves up after handling the chores of manager in both the Pee Wees and Farm. Last year Jack Prosser was second in the first half last year and then came in first after the second portion. Despite losing the best of five play-offs to the Navy Chiefs, Jack Prosser proved themselves a worthy contendor.

The previous season "Jack Who?" not only took the league but they also won the tournament that decided who was the best in both Orange and Seminole Counties. Helping Blythe will be John Beasley at coach. Back from last season are Ronnie Mosser, Dale Spain, Tommy Yates and Perry Jacobs. Up from the minors are Mike Gaudreau, Frank Mann, and Steve Yeary. While making the long jump from the farm team to the majors are Marty Wilber, James Truxall, Dave Jenkins, Mike Blythe, Tommy Winale, Scott Stevenson, David Boyd,

Winter Springs Back for his second year at the helm, Ralph Johnson has high hopes that this will be the most productive year in the history of the town that use to be known as North Orlando. One of the reasons for Johnson's optimistic viewpoint is the fact that his team improved greatly last year during the season. Three other reasons are newcomers W.O. Near, Beanie Brower and Carl Geiger. These boys coupled with Michael Cotton, James Johnson, Frank Joyce, Danny Bartle, Gil McDanial, Charles Turner and Roy Jacobs are all new to the Winter Springs major league. Together with returnee's from last years squad, Jeff Johnson, Billy Piland, Dennis Whitacre, and James Juddah.

Longwood Braves For Harold Weaver last year was a better than .500 season, and a fourth place finish, but this could be his year to howl. Eight years of experience has taught Weaver what to look for and he thinks this time he sees it. Along with his coach, Jack Carter, Weaver has been able to bring back many of his best boys from last year. This was done despite the fact that Longwood will have two teams representing them, instead of one. The rivalry between the two looks like the hottest in the league. The boys that Weaver and Carter look to for this all out effort are Joe Bartlinski, Todd Weaver, Tim Downey, Brian McKeever, Jack Carter, Scott Farmer, Bill Lally Craig Cable, Scott Smith, Charles Rice, Scott Sullivan, Russ Mulligan, Carl McKnight, Scott Kelley, and Neil

Dear Abby

Evidence Backs Up His Hairy Experience By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

picago Tribuso-M. Y. Hoys Syel., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if your husband came home with lipstick on his shirt, trousers, underwear and some on his neck, too? Also, Norbert has hairs on his coat, and they were a color like nobody in our family has.

I questioned him, and he swore up and down he didn't know how any of this stuff got there. Norbert works in an office with just one woman. I've never met her, but he says she's as homely as a mud fence. I want to trust him, but with all this evidence, how UPSET IN PHILADELPHIA DEAR UPSET: First I'd find out if this "mud fence" has red hair. If she has, I'd suspect that she was close enough to Norbert to transfer the above-mentioned evidence. [P.S. Any man who comes home in that shape can plead "insanity" and get away with it.]

DEAR ABBY: I am in prison serving a 10-year sentence for the death of my wife. I did a terrible thing which will follow me for the rest of my life. I have two children, 6 and 4. I love them very much. In fact, that is what led to my killing my wife. I thought she was neglecting them, so I put a gun to her head-only meaning to scare her, but I killed her. God help me, Abby. I never My problem concerns my children. They are living in a foster home now, but before then, my wife's parents kept them, and naturally they told the kids what happened to their mother but I don't think the kids fully understood it. The foster parents were advised by a priest to tell the children something about death, so they were told their mother got sick and the angels came and took her away. They seem to accept her death, but they have been asking to visit me. They know I am "locked up." If they come here what shall I tell them? A NUMBER IN MARYLAND

DEAR NUMBER: Don't lie. Tell them you are being punished because while you meant only to "scare" their mother, you accidentally killed her. [It's true.] With proper counseling, your children will grow to understand your part in this tragedy, and hopefully, they will harbor no bitterness or hate in their hearts for you. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is primarily one of vanity. For years I have been conscious of the fact that all the women in my family have faces that start to sag early. By the time they are 40, they look like buildogs. I am in my early 30s, and already I can see the same thing happening to me. Is there anything I can do about it?

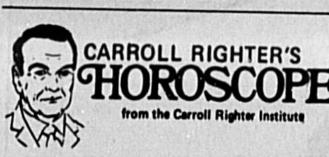

DEAR WORRIED: See a dermatologist for advice on how to slow up the aging process. And see a plastic sur-

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a hair stylist, and he works long hours six days a week. He is 26, born and raised in Oklahoma. There is no water shortage here so there's no reason for him to go 3, 4 and 5 days without a bath, but he does. I

DEAR TURNED: Tell him that if he doesn't want to hange his body chemistry he will have to change his ddress. [Or you'll change your name.]

Progress is a dog

By Joanne and Lew Koch (Note: Today's column is written by Joanne)

"Chauvinist!", "M.C.P.", "malechauvinistpig" - what do these epithets mean? Readers who entered our reformed male chauvinist of the year contest have a variety of defini-

To Kathleen Wilson of Sparks, Nevada, chauvinism was her husband's belief that "women belong to their husbands. They are not smart enough to do anything except housework and child care." (Now Don Wilson is convinced that his manhood is not in danger by helping with home and children.)

To Kathy Howell of Littleton, Colo., chauvinism meant insisting that housework is the wife's duty, even though the wife is working full-time. It meant a husband who left "a trail of clothes beginning at the front door and ending at the bathtub" and who vowed "never to change and diaper, baby sit, wash or fold clothes when your wife is pregnant." (The lowells now share these chores.)

Michael Phillips Jr. of Kingston, Ontario, Canada, defines true male chauvinist as "one who says that the female of the species is definitely inferior, mentally and physically." r. Phillips reminds us that "in past history the birth of a daughter to a King of the house meant banishment to the wilderness, instant divorce, or, as in the case of Henry VIII, the loss of the wife's head."

Subjected to a long tradition of this kind of chauvinism hillips was less than pleased when he heard his wife had given birth to a daughter. Phillips' first reaction to that news was "Oh "& * & *!" (Now, reports Phillips, "the male chauvinist part of me is dead, and that the little girl is the apple of her daddy's eye.")

But the most vivid example of chauvinism was offered by Shirley Heatwole of Weed Heights, Nevada, in her description of her last goose hunt. "While David tried to clear his jammed gun, the wounded goose tried to escape, so my husband acted as only a chauvinist could act, and commanded 'Fetch!' I began to retrieve, but it wasn't that simple. We were next to a halffrozen salt lake, with a 20-foot span of icy, knee-deep water

"I pulled off my boots (they weren't water-proof) then my socks and pants, rolled up my long johns and waded the icy depths. I then began to run, barefoot, after the goose who was making pretty good time . . . I almost had him when I realized the ice couldn't hold me; it began to crack. Luckily it was only knee-deep ... Just as the goose reached the water, I reached him - grabbed him around the neck and then had to retrace my exact steps through the broken ice.

"As I slowly, triumphantly made my way back, large goose clutched in my hand — I yelled back to my husband, 'Look! I caught him!'. His only reply was 'Lay down and keep quiet — more geese are coming in!.' Needless to say, that was my last

("David has now reformed," his wife reports, bringing home a hunting dog which "obeys, fetches, points and retrieves almost as good as I used to!")

Seminole . Progress Outlined

Remember that old tune entitled "What A Difference A Day Makes?" Perhaps that wasn't exactly the title but it was the first line of lyrics, anyway. But, it makes a perfect lead into this week's discourse. And, if you think a day makes a difference-and, it doesboy! What a difference 10 years make! It was a delightful Spring evening that Vernon Mize, at that time County Judge and now City Attorney for Sanford, as president of the then Seminole County Chamber of Commerce banged the gavel to open a planning session of the trade body at the old Lookout Restaurant in Fern Park. During the dinner we sat across from Sanford attorneys Mack Cleveland and Doug Stenstrom. We heard them predict such things that U.S. 17-92 and SR 436 would become the crossroads of

"Nuthin' to makin' a prediction like that," you say? Well, Ten years ago there was one—repeat, one—lonely traffic light at this particular intersection. Virtually no traffic went east from this intersection even though it was a beautiful four-laned, divided highway. But it ran less than a mile and stopped. SR 436 westward was a two-laned springbuster of a road that led to One could have walked down the middle of 436 in either direction from 17-92 in perfect safety. But not today! Cleveland and Stenstrom agreed the County's population would soar over 100,000 in 10 years. Well, they got that one partially right. It did go over 100,000 but quite a ways beyond.

Growth In Education

At that same meeting the education committee of the Chamber said it had some ideas in the chiege and chamber members would see if it could be done. "Seminole County have its own junior college?" someone Homeowners Warned Titles

Before the year was out Mize and Chamber Manager John Krider laid their plans before the Seminole County School Board, reported they'd been to Tallahassee and presented fact and figures, and asked for permission of the Board to continue-with the Board's blessings-their efforts for the school. When the Chamber delegation got the green light and left the

Could Receive Challenges room, snickers turned into guffaws from those present. But the Board didn't have the last laugh. The Chamber did. Now we read where Seminole Junior College is now serving some 14,000 students and when its present $3.6 million expansion program is completed it will be able to handle 19,000 students. It wasn't long after the completion of the road program projected by the Chamber that Seminole Plaza announced an expansion program. Montgomery Ward came to Casselberry. Right behind them came Zayre. Not long after K-Mart broke

Restaurant Boom

Ten years ago there was only one eatery within a half mile of SR 436 and U.S. 17-92-a drive-in at Casselberry. Within a mile today of that intersection-in any direction-there are some 60 restaurants of every size, shape, description and specialty. Ten years ago if you drove south from Sanford the last traffic lights you saw were on Geneva Avenue at Park, Sanford and Banks of lights now regulate traffic at Florida Avenue, Airport Boulevard and Lake Mary Boulevard. Ten years ago Sanford Middle School took care of the north half of Seminole County and South Seminole Middle School handled the youngsters in the south end. The south end now has Teague and Milwee middle schools and Tuskawilla is under construction. In Sanford Lakeview Middle School is here and serving the area well.

Ten years ago Oviedo's school handled grades one through 12 and has now evolved into a complex of schools to serve that area. Lyman High has occupied a beautiful new plant and Lake Brantley High has become a reality. Seminole High in Sanford went from a four-year school to a three-year institution and Crooms High became a ninth grade facility for the northern half

Sanford Changes

In Sanford, Holiday Isle came to fruition within the past years. The marina has been an asset as well as a beautiful, effective addition to Sanford's lakefront development. The Central Florida Zoological Society will soon relocate the Sanford Zoo on a 100-acre site near I-4 and Seminole Boulevard. The Sanford Naval Academy became a reality, opening at the old barracks of the Sanford Francisco Giants' Farm System at Celery and Mellonville. While the same plant is now being used by the Academy's junior school, the Academy purchased the old Mayfair Inn and began operating its senior school there. In addition, the McFadden Gymnasium has been erected across E.

Auto-Train came to Sanford three years ago and is still growing and expanding operations here. The Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club renovated its Longwood facility, replaced the old grandstand with a new and modern structure and is now breaking Friends of mine recently purchased a home. They were showing us some of their closing papers and we came across an item charged to the buyers called "MIP." This item was explained to them but they could not recall what it meant. Could you explain it for us? Dear Mrs. FLJ: Yes. We can explain it. Apparently your friends purchased a home and financed it with a new mortgage. In order to purchase the home with a down payment smaller than that required on a conventional mortgage, your friends agreed to allow their mortgage company to have the loan to them insured by a private mortgage insurance company. Consequently, the MIP means mortgage insurance premium. The initial year's premium is payable at closing. Subsequently MIP payments are paid into the buyer's escrow account each month when the monthly payment is made. Usually, when the mortgage balance is reduced to an amount equivilent to a conventional mortgage the MIP is dropped. This procedure is true with conventional financing. It is not true with FHA insured mortgages. The MIP is payable

You should be able to notice figures indicating tages from various corners of the house to nearest lot lines. Now, the chances are that if you will measure from corners of your house to certain positions you should be able to locate where the corners of your lot should be. A little probing with a spade or a rod, or perhaps sliding a shovel into the ground at an angle will help you locate stakes which were installed to mark the corners when the house was constructed. If all of this fails chances are you'll have to have a surveyor come out and find your corners. If you do this, be sure you have him put in markers which can easily be found later oc.

Yes. The mortgage money market has loosened quite a bit and mortgage money is available. Interest rates have decreased slightly and the indication is that they will decrease a bit more. Just how much is anybody's guess right now. Remember one thing, however. Interest rates fluctuate in accordance with the supply and demand of available mortgage money. If there is an abundance of mortgage money and the demand decreases interest rates will drop. However, if there is a heavy demand for mortgage money and the supply decreases interest rates will go up. It's as simple as that.

DEAR POLLY — I hung an expanding hat rack (10 knobs) high on the back shower wall for bathing suits and shower caps. It's now a handy catch-all for wet raincoats. washcloths, baby's bath toys (in a bucket) and shampoo brush. How did I ever get along without it?

—FRAN

DEAR POLLY — Having sloping shoulders, I was plagued with falling shoulder straps for years. I now sew a narrow piece of elastic from one strap to the other about four inches up from where the straps are sewed to the slip. My one regret: I didn't discover this till I was 78!
-OTELLA.

DEAR POLLY - My employer put a new rug down in the reception room the day after the floors were cleaned and waxed. It was very slippery. Not having rubber ja rings to sew on the back as I do at home, I sprinkled loose rubber bands all over the floor under the rug. This proved to be a good emergency aid. -FLORIEE.

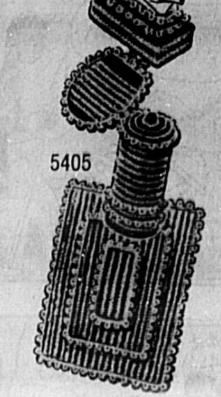

DEAR POLLY — Teen-agers who like to have lots of posters on their walls will find that a staple gun is great for fastening them, as only slight marks are left on the wall. —MARCI.

This twelve-hundred million dollar marvel, the Superdome, reminds us that variety can be helpful, fun and in this case, expensive!

So perfect are the reating arrangements in each of the attractions, that the individual gets a breathtaking panorama of the scene viewed.

After all that, the only thing you would want to do is rest and listen to some music or buy some souveniers.

You guessed it! The Superdome has these too! Music everywhere, scattered fountains statues, and gardens, sit or lie on a bench or a steamroom, work out in a gym, play shuffleboard, hang around in a billiard room – anything!

And of course we haven't forgotten God in this wonderful space-age creation. So whether you're Catholic, Methodist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Baptist, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist, or somewhere in between you can worship between games.

If you're a tourist, you may be homesick for the Kentucky Derby or the Indy 500. Well, don't sweat, because we have them both! Topping the rest, except the Triplefield, are a three mile horsetrack and a 5 mile automobile racetrack circling the whole 14,300 square feet of Super-dome!

Just completed, here in Sanorlando, is a most spectacular, fantastic, colossal $1.2 billion wonder called the Superdome.
Variety is an understatement for this versatile golden gargantua of a sports arena, which has over 14,300 square feet in its structural composition, and floats on Lake Monroe — three times larger than it was in 1977.

The top of this billion dollar Superdome is unbreakable synthetic quartz glass for natural light during the day. As for the night, the illumination is contained in the golden walls themselves.

Completely temperature controlled, this partially oval shaped futuristic wonder of always wanted! women and children—nearly half the population of Sanorlando!

You may be asking how all those guests are going to get to the attraction. This problem is solved for any tourist by an ultramodern, complex monorail system.

Right in the center of the Superdome is the versatile "Triplefield" that is used for playing football, baseball, or soccer.

If you want to go swimming, there are three large temperature controlled public pools on the south side, and an Olympic style pool on the north.

There are three basketball courts and three tennis courts between the Triplefield and the four pools, north and south, for those fans.

For a change of heart—and temperature—there are two hockey fields, which can cleverly be changed and used for figure skating, too. These are on either side of the Olympic pool.

Thred of sports? Okay, let's go to the movies!
Two spectacular 3D movie-televisions cover this for you, each viewer having his own speaker. These two audio-visual beauties are on either Triplefield for added exciting enwe've something

"She was a spunky little piece," Maggie says, chuckling as she fondles the beads of her double strand necklace. "Grandmother Kuhn was a little bit of a person with a lot of drive."

Yet, until Maggie exhibits her energy, it seems a contrast, her militant image and this wisp of a woman with the warm smile punctuating her grandmother voice.

But when the smile fades and her eyes flash, Maggie lives up to her image. Without raising her voice she assails the Establishment in the jargon of a revolutionary:

"We're going to radicalize old people against a paternalistic society. We're putting our bodies on the line—we've got nothing to lose."

became more radical. In Cleveland she helped unionize women from the sweatshops of the garment industry.

Maggie left the YWCA in 1946, after 20 years. She subsequently worked for the United Presbyterian Church. She was on the staff of the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education in Philadelphia when she retired in 1970 at age 65.

As her retirement approached she became concerned about the problems of the aged. So she assembled a group, all facing retirement, to see what they should do.

The Gray Panthers "began with six of us sitting around a luncheon table. We said we are going to build a new community of support for ourselves and we're going to realize the responsible use of our new freedom."

The idea of an organization for social change grew from their discussion.

"The main purpose of the Panthers is to empower the powerless, the elderly and other minorities neglected in our society."

Maggie paused.

Pondering her turquoise beads she said, "I don't know why, but I've always been a part of bringing about social change."

Maggie is still working for social change, but now she's willing to go outside the system. "We'll do whatever is necessary to get social change."

She is the driving force in a militant organization.
The Gray Panthers, meeting at Ghost Ranch near Abuquerque, New Mexico, in October 1572, distributed an ode to Maggie:
And God raised up Maggie Kuhn and one fine day, after Maggie Had grown gray, He said to her:
"Maggie-Give them hell! you be my servant through the evening time of life, and spare not the powerful or the prideful."
And Maggie did as the Lord commanded. She took some thunderbolts from God's own store and flung them out across the land so that those who were asleep awakened and eaid:

Maggie said this realization was a turning point in her career. Her efforts in the YWCA

President Anwar Sadat failed to get all the Arab oil ministers to a meeting in Cairo to consider his proposal to end their oil embargo against the United States.

Instead, Algeria and Libya, who want to continue the embargo, forced a delay in the meeting until Wednesday and insisted it be held in the Libyan capital of Tripoli.

Sadat's failure Sunday was considered a blow to his chances of getting the embargo lifted. The Cario newspaper Al Akhbar said the holdouts had agreed to discuss Sadat's proposal in Tripoli. But some observers doubted the oil ministers would raise the issue unless it had been resolved at a higher level.
