It was insured for $2,500 when Mr. Zerrenner was commander, but that was not enough, he said. Strengthening Of All Fortifications On Border Ordered By French Government

By The Associated Press—France issued unexpected orders for military maneuvers and strengthened her defense all along the German border today as the date drew near for Germany's official retirement from the League of Nations. At the same time the French were reported anxious for British aviation support against any threat from Germany in return for French reinforcement of the British fleet in the Mediterranean in case of trouble with Italy. These negotiations, involving in diplomatic and military channels around the Italo-Ethiopian crisis in east Africa, appeared to be solidified by actions in the two most interested countries, Italy and Ethiopia. Emperor Haile Selassie informed the League of Nations his fighting men, and there were indications this mobilization would be undertaken this week. Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, Italian minister in Addis Ababa, ordered the five Italian consulates in Aduwa and Harar provinces to evacuate as quickly as possible. Italian consular agents were traveling as they could through muddy roads to the capital, to Sudan and to Eritrea, and this order was regarded as an indication Italy is withdrawing its officials in advance of hostilities. Italian press resumed its critical, and at times hostile, attitude toward Great Britain.

Ethiopia Ready For Troop Mobilization

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie awaits only a signal from his League of Nations envoys to start the drumbeats that will carry approximately 2,000,000 eager warriors to arms.

Bible Verse For Today

OUR DAILY NEED:— Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Jehovah my rock, and my redeemer.—Psalm 19:14.

In spite of the work which has already been done on the cross-state canal, Florida had another hurricane.

During the last war the Germans developed a gun with which they could shell Paris from the banks of the Rhine. Perhaps Mussolini now has a gun which he thinks he can fire upon London from Rome.

Lake county stood sixth in rail shipments for last season, being beaten by Polk, Seminole, Palm Beach, Orange, and Dade in the order named. We shipped 3,995 carloads of fruit and vegetables.

A pair of ducks were attempting to carry a piano up stairs and getting nowhere fast. "Hey," yelled the one in front, "Quit that quacking!" "Duck!" replied the one in back, "It's a stopping job, station!"

Worm. DeKalb county is to be the one that can handle, removed from office by Governor Sholtz in 1933, will again be a candidate for sheriff. He is expected to oppose the present sheriff, D. C. Freeman, and Leroy Weston, both of whom he defeated in 1932.

Local farmers who had planned to plant a few of their acres in potatoes this year, and are again and again being warned by County Agent Dawson that they must have a government permit, and so forth, are beginning to learn for the first time just what government control under the AAA really means. Consumers will learn when they go to buy.

Virtually all of his ambitions for Sanford and Seminole County have been realized in a scant number of years. His energy has placed our Northern neighbor in a commanding position. In wishing Secretary Lehmann good luck in Lake county, it is merely expressing continued good fortune for Orlando and Old Orange.—Orlando Sentinel.

R. F. Paty, West Palm Beach lawyer and former member of the state racing commission, is among those being mentioned as a possible candidate for governor. It will be recalled that Mr. Paty was one of Governor Sholtz's most ardent supporters during the 1932 campaign, is now on of his bitter enemies.

Commenting on the fact petitions are being circulated in New Jersey asking repeal of that state's new two percent sales tax on food and clothing, Sanford Herald remarks that people are beginning to discover such taxes contributing to their incomes. The Herald might have added the taxpayers are beginning to learn such taxes are also promoting governmental extravaganzas.—Miami Daily News.

Arthur Dunn, who writes for this paper, paints a very glowing picture of the federal government's fiscal position showing that after all we really do not owe, as much as we thought we did. The same might be said for Sanford. Although we actually owe six million dollars, we are really paying only one percent interest. And one percent interest on six million dollars requires no more payment than six percent interest on one million dollars. Therefore, we owe just as well off as we really are.—Sanford Herald.

News While It Is Hot

News in order to be real news must not only be unusual (as in the case of the man biting the dog), but it must also be new. That is to say that if a man bit a dog a week ago, that would not be news, but if he bit him an hour ago, and no yellow journal had anticipated the event with a scare headline, that would be news.

Every newspaper tries to give the public the story of what is happening while it is hot. Sometimes considerable ingenuity develops in the attempt of newspapermen to speed news to the public. This spirit permeates the entire newspaper organization, and very often one finds even the news boys doing unusual stunts to be the first to get their news before the public.

A carrier boy in an east Texas town had just picked up his papers for delivery, according to Editor and Publisher, when he heard the radio flash that Senator Long had succumbed to the assassin's bullet. So that his subscribers might get the very latest news, he wrote in pencil over the logotype of each of his 50 copies: "Huey Long Died This Morning."

"Here is a true disciple of James Gordon Bennett, who maintained that nothing happened until the Herald had printed the story," Editor and Publisher concludes.

Are You This Old?

If you can remember— When you washed your feet every night with lye soap; When you "blacked" your own shoes on Sunday morning with Mason's shoe blacking;

When people "sat up" at night knitting socks and making shoe-pegs out of maple that split nicely;

When "Hoyt's German Cologne" was the best deodorant known;

When castor oil, turpentine and "blue mas" was all the medicine that anybody knew anything about;

When every girl knew how to "keep house" by the time she was 15 years of age and every old man carried a goose-quill toothpick in his pocket;

When women carried turkey-wing fans to church; Then you are so dogged old that flappers not only smile at you, but occasionally laugh outright and your wife is wasting her valuable time if she worries about you when you are away from home.—DeFuniak Springs Herald.

THOSE PEOPLE who write as if it were a crime to listen to good music without giving it one's whole attention have not yet grasped the value of music as a background. When our energy is balked by a monotonous job, we feel its protest in the form of ennui. No better stimulus than music could be imagined. Perhaps at no distant date we shall go about all our daily activities with a soft, unobtrusive background provided by the radio. For in music the element of rhythm is marked—and rhythm is the principle of hypnosis. It isolates any habitual activity and keeps it functioning, just as an engine, once started, will go on running though the driver has fallen asleep. We know the dreamy ecstasy that sometimes accompanies dancing. Try the same thing without music, and the couples will soon be ready to drop. The more, therefore, of the dance spirit we can introduce into our daily lives, the further we shall go towards eliminating the weariness of the grind. Esme Wingfield-Stratford, New Minds for Old.

ANOTHER DEPARTURE from the old order in the capital is signified by the arrival on the scene of an official "ambassador" to the New Deal from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, who has established himself in an "embassy" or office in the Mayflower Hotel for the purpose of looking out for the Bay State in the distribution of federal funds and favors. The practice is growing apace, and several other states and counties have appointed and set up in Washington regular agents to be as close as possible to the counter where the big fund will be passed out.—The Literary Digest.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Five persons are known to be dead, many people injured, and property loss reaching into millions, has been caused tonight by the most severe Gulf storm in the history of the city. A howling gale with a velocity of eighty-six miles an hour swept the city at six o'clock tonight, demolishing scores of buildings, stripping the roofs from hundreds of other structures, and stranding the streets with broken glass and debris.

At 7:30 tonight a rising barometer gave evidence that the storm was subsiding, the center storm of the northwest of New Orleans. The barometer at its lowest registered 28.11 and the wind velocity of eighty-six miles was the highest ever recorded here.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 30.—Little but the Mendelhan case was discussed in St. Petersburg today, and on Central Avenue the jurors who sat through the trial were surrounded whenever they appeared and were eagerly listened to whenever they mentioned the famous trial. Several of the jurors were on Central Avenue this morning, occupying a bench, and a crowd gathered trying to pick up information that would show how the jury had reached its decision and who were the men who prevented a verdict of death.

That William Jennings Bryan and Mrs. Bryan will spend the winter in Miami was the announcement of Mr. Bryan last night. Mr. Bryan spent yesterday in Miami, visited his winter home at Villa Serena and called on many friends during his short stay. Mrs. Bryan and little grandson had preceded Mr. Bryan here two days. They are residing for the present at the home of Charles Antwerp on 18th Street.

Mrs. R. J. Holly delightfully entertained the Sea-Sea Club and a few others Tuesday afternoon in honor of her niece, Miss Ethel Thomas, of Jacksonville. The Savage, Deane Turner, Beattie Hill, Harry Ward, W. M. Haynes, B. A. Howard, C. E. Henry, R. L. Peck, O. L. Henry, Wm. McKinnon and J. S. Wilson.

FLORIDA'S POLITICAL CANAL

NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

In the excitement attending the wreck of the Dixie and the heavy loss of life in the Florida hurricane scarcely any one noticed that President Roosevelt had once more acted on one of his impulses, without due consideration and, apparently, even without sanction of law. This occurred when, the day after the Dixie was stranded, he authorized the allotment of $5,000,000 to begin work on a canal across Florida for sea-going vessels.

"The Engineering News-Record" picked up the item and has made public some details as to the problem involved, the cost and the possible effects. The bare facts are that the canal will be 196 miles long, of which 95 miles will be artificial waterway. The cost is estimated at about $146,000,000—somehow less than half the cost of Panama.

So far, so good. But three major points appear to have been completely overlooked by the President. The first is that the canal has never been approved by Congress, nor has the requisite report by the chief of engineers been submitted. The second is that the canal will lower the water level in the adjacent parts of Florida. Should this happen, the effect on agriculture—and even on the tourist industry—might well be disastrous. The third is that there is nothing to show that such a canal is justified either by the present or by potential traffic which could profitably use it.

The first of these considerations, unfortunately, troubles the President least. He has grown accustomed to acting outside the law if it suits his political purposes—as, obviously was the case in a $5,000,000 gesture to Florida in a time of distress. As for the second—he was equally hasty in the case of the Quoddy project. Work was started there before even the engineers were agreed that the submarine terrain could sustain the proposed dam structures. Why, then, bother about such a detail as the drainage of the subsoil waters of Florida? That is for others to consider—for those who, coming after the New Dealers, have to find ways to pay for the New Deal's extravagances and mistakes.

As for the third consideration—a so-called "estimate" of the Department of Commerce holds out the hope that "10,000 ships" will use it yearly. This is about twice the traffic of the Panama Canal. With all due respect to the Commerce Department's estimators, there is no reason to believe that more than a fraction of his number of ships would, in actual practice, use it. To travelers anxious to see Florida by water it might be, as we suggested two weeks ago, "estimate." But there is nothing to show that President Roosevelt has not, as usual, flown off the handle and, as a short-sighted political objective, embarked on a program which in the long run is sure to prove costly, may well prove useless and may even seriously damage local interests.

Sanford's Legion Post Leads State In Membership

(Continued On Page Three) up another proposition, discussed among the members of the Post during the convenience of World War veterans; operation in the hut by an experienced restaurant man of a cafe where the veterans could get their lunches or dinners; beer, sandwiches and play by play report of the games during the World Series; planting of grass and shrub around the hut and general improvement of the grounds, as well as painting to building and providing new screens at the windows.

Various committees are to be appointed by the commander to consider more carefully some of the projects and report back to the post at its next meeting. Much of the meeting was taken up considering the future of the old 40-and-a locomotive which, it was reported, is about ready to fall to pieces. It was reported that, despite the dilapidated condition of the relic, a price of $100 could be obtained for it. But the Post voted 44 to 1 to keep the old home-made engine, not only for sentimental reasons but because it attracts a great deal of attention whenever it is possible to install into it enough life to get it to a neighboring town.

Last night's meeting was so enthusiastic that the Legion boys voted unanimously to meet twice a month (the first and third Monday nights) in the future. The next meeting will be next Monday night.

Some See Hope Of High Court For 'New Deal'

By BYRON PRICE Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

An interesting new theory about the constitutional basis for taking root among some administration followers, it springs from a hope that partial Supreme Court approval for "New Deal" policies still may be attainable before next year's election.

Those who entertain such a hope argue that the highest court really could not have intended its NRA decision to have the sweeping application commonly ascribed to it at the time.

The argument, in further, that the court had held on many previous occasions that there were circumstances under which the federal government could properly go into local communities and regulate industry; that the Schechter poultry case which served as a test for NRA was a particularly weak case from the government viewpoint; and that if the plea of national necessity were strongly presented under some other statute, the court might respond more favorably.

Such a development unquestionably would be most alluring to the Democratic strategists. They say it would remove Mr. Roosevelt's anxiety about having to go back to the "horns and hoofs" days and enable his supporters to see in their own advantage all that the opposition has been saying since the "New Deal" was introduced in the open without fear of

Coal Worth Many Millions Stolen In Pennsylvania

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 1.—An army of 15,000 to 20,000 men in eastern Pennsylvania is stealing $20,000,000 worth of anthracite coal a year, and recently the companies attempting to develop their properties. This was the charge made by Walter Gordon Merritt, counsel for the Anthracite Institute.

No effort is made to keep these coal thefts secret. Mr. Merritt pointed out, adding that in one area of twenty square miles gangs of men are operating along the public highways and selling the coal in the public market. He characterized the condition as one of "frontier lawlessness."

City Commission Grants License To Liquor Store

City Attorney Fred B. Wilson and his opinions were the center of the debate which took so much time that the Commissioners were unable to dispose of other routine matters, including adoption of the 1935-36 budget which now has been postponed until tomorrow night.

Attorney Wilson frankly stated that the state has taken complete control of the liquor sales situation, and that since the Board of County Commissioners and the State Liquor Control Board has issued a permit to Mr. Bradham, "the state permit will prevail."

Earlier in the meeting, after E. F. Housholder, attorney representing Mr. Bradham, had made an hour long statement of the facts and the law as he pictured it, Commissioner Leffler had asked whether or not Mr. Bradham was willing to accept a permit to operate a package store. The answer was in the negative.

The Commissioners also approved permits for the sale of beer and wine by the following merchants or organizations: E. H. Bennett at Monk's Place, Nick Constantine, Will Alexander, M. F. Ceresoli, Robert Burns, Angelo's Eat Shack, the Elks Club, J. D. Dossay, Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. store at First Street and Sanford Avenue, Steve's Place, Sam Kena, The Smokehouse, George W. Calhoun, E. Z. Irvin, James A. Walden, and Klen Area. All had been selling beer and wine since their sale became legal.

A permit was issued to G. B. "Friday" Ross for the opening and operation of a package liquor store in the room adjoining the Smokehouse on First Street.

Last night's meeting opened with the appearance of George A. DeCottis, who, representing his former associate in a city litigation case, L. H. Boggs of Jacksonville, prepared to show cause why the City Commission could not "honorably" include as a debt service budget item, the sum remaining due him and Mr. Boggs for legal services.

Mayor Dumas told Mr. DeCottis that the matter would be discussed during an executive session which would follow the regular meeting, and that his interests would be protected.

Before going into executive session, he said:

Many people have helped Hunt to add to his collection. An American woman visiting Britain was molestation," said Mr. Merritt.

"One company tried to begin a certain stripping operation on some of its own property, but so-called independent producers routed the crew, according to Mr. Merritt, because the operations interfered with those who were stealing coal from that vein.

"The Pennsylvania state police were called after threats had been made to blow up the shovel and troopers were hurried to the scene."

Even in cases where men have been tried for stealing coal, the speaker said, the jury has found the men not guilty, despite the fact that judges have sometimes given directed verdicts of guilty. He also said that about ten days ago some sixty men undertook to mine coal at new openings within 200 feet of an established breaker of one of the large companies where more than 1,000 men were employed. "The boldness and effrontery of this enterprise," in Mr. Merritt's opinion, "illustrates the growing attitude of mind and the growing collapse of law in this area."

There was no definite confirmation of the report Great Britain has asked for an expression of France's attitude in the event Italy should without provocation attack the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

In any event, official and France would automatically be obliged under the League covenant to take sanctions against Italy if Italy has made an "unprovoked" attack on Great Britain while the latter was carrying out League orders.

Uncle Sam A "Sissy" Tax Collector, John Bull Knows How To Get Mazama

Few Escape Income Levy In Tight Little Islands, While Three Times As Many Here Pay Only Half As Much

By FRED PABLEY
LONDON, Oct. 1.—Just a year ago Uncle Sam was a tax collector compared with John Bull. The old beef-tender to the government would make anyone who gets $48,000 in Great Britain it would be better than getting $336,000 in the United States. In Great Britain, including surtax, in 1934, the average man paid $1,400,000 in income tax, whereas the best Uncle Sam could do was to wrest $17,000,000 from nearly three times that many people. The figures include both individuals and corporations. Great Britain, by the way, has 4,000,000 taxpayers to our 1,970,000.

St. Louis Plans Costly Memorial To Mr. Jefferson

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—On the muddied banks of the Mississippi River here a 25-year-old dream to construct a $300,000 memorial to Thomas Jefferson is being revived.

Working of the buildings along the river will remove one of the city's chief eyesores. Dirty, dilapidated, many of them unoccupied, the buildings are the remnants of a dead and bygone era. In the 75-acre site are several buildings of historic interest.

Great Britain. There is a success duty of from 1 to 10 percent, payable on the value of property at the time of the testator's death. The President's proposal is that it be graduated, not according to the size of the bequest, but to the degree of kinship of the recipient.

The little fellow under the 1070 level rate of 7 1/2 percent is paid. For example: The $30,000 estate is divided into $20,000 and $10,000. The $20,000 is taxed at 7 1/2 percent, the $10,000 at 10 percent. The total tax is $1,500.

The estate of a man who dies in 1935 is taxed at 10 percent. The estate of a man who dies in 1936 is taxed at 12 percent. The estate of a man who dies in 1937 is taxed at 15 percent.

Various surtaxes are levied in the United States. The highest is the gift tax, which is levied on the value of property given during the lifetime of the donor.
