Democrats Charge McCollum Violated Campaign Laws

BILL MCCOLLUM
... probe requested

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (DCCC) has filed charges against U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, and 47 other freshman GOP congressmen, charging the group violated federal campaign laws and breached House rules by using official congressional stationery to raise campaign funds.

Evan Zeppos, communications director for the DCCC, said the basis for the complaint filed with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) is a letter signed by McCollum and 47 other congressmen to "numerous special interest groups' political action committees (PACs) urging support of 'pro-free enterprise Republican challengers and incumbents.'"

The complaint to the FEC requests an investigation into whether the letter violates federal law because it does not identify who paid for and authorized the mailing and because the group of GOP legislators has not filed with the FEC as a political committee.

In the complaint, Zeppos asks the FEC to conduct a full and complete investigation into why the McCollum letter did not include the necessary "disclaimer" information required by federal law.

U.S. Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., chairman of the DCCC, in a letter to the ranking Republican and Democrat on the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, Rep. Floyd Spence of South Carolina and Rep. Louis Stokes of Ohio, respectively asks for an inquiry into the use of the official congressional letterhead in a partisan fund-raising appeal.

McCollum, from his Washington office, said the letter in question was not a solicitation, simply a communication

"The charges are groundless, without legal foundation," he said, adding that according to the House manual it is permissible to use the letterhead

McCollum said he agrees with statements made by U.S. Rep. Thomas Hartnett, R-S.C., president of the GOP freshman congressional caucus, that the move by the DCCC is a harassment technique. He noted that U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, has called the Democratic complaints "without merit and a hollow gesture, utterly groundless"

Coelho said the return address on the envelope of McCollum's letter is on First Street S.E. in Washington—"not the location of a House office, but the location of the Republican National Committee and the National Republican Congressional Committee."

Coelho said the House Ethics Committee already has ruled that such a use of an official letterhead facsimile "is a deliberate misrepresentation that reflects discredit upon the House of Representatives."

Double Tax Sanford Will Join Cities In Lawsuit...

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The optimistic attitude of both City Attorney Bill Colbert and City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles was all the Sanford City Commission needed Monday night to authorize spending $6,100 to join with five other cities in the county to begin the move toward suing Seminole County on the issue of double taxation.

The money, with sums pooled among the cities of Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Winter Springs and Lake Mary, totaling nearly $20,000, is to be used to pay for a study to determine the issues upon which to base the lawsuit.

Casselberry is leading the movement by hiring a firm of consultants to conduct the study, expected to take several months.

Colbert, with a broad grin, said he is optimistic the cities banded together can beat the county in the lawsuit, and Knowles said he feels better than he has in years about the prospects of winning.

He explained that while the city, if the suit is won in the courts, will not receive any money directly from the county, the probability is that county property taxes to city residents will be reduced.

Knowles said the law doesn't permit compensation for past violations by the county.

Double taxation has been a burning issue between the cities of Seminole and the county government for at least the past two decades. The cities have said for years that the county levies taxes on city residents for services already provided by the city governments or for services city residents do not receive in equal measure to residents in the unincorporated areas.

Florida's 1968 Constitution forbids double taxation.

Although Sanford filed a suit of its own against the county several years ago charging double taxation, it dropped it a year ago when other cities in the county refused to join with Sanford on the issue.

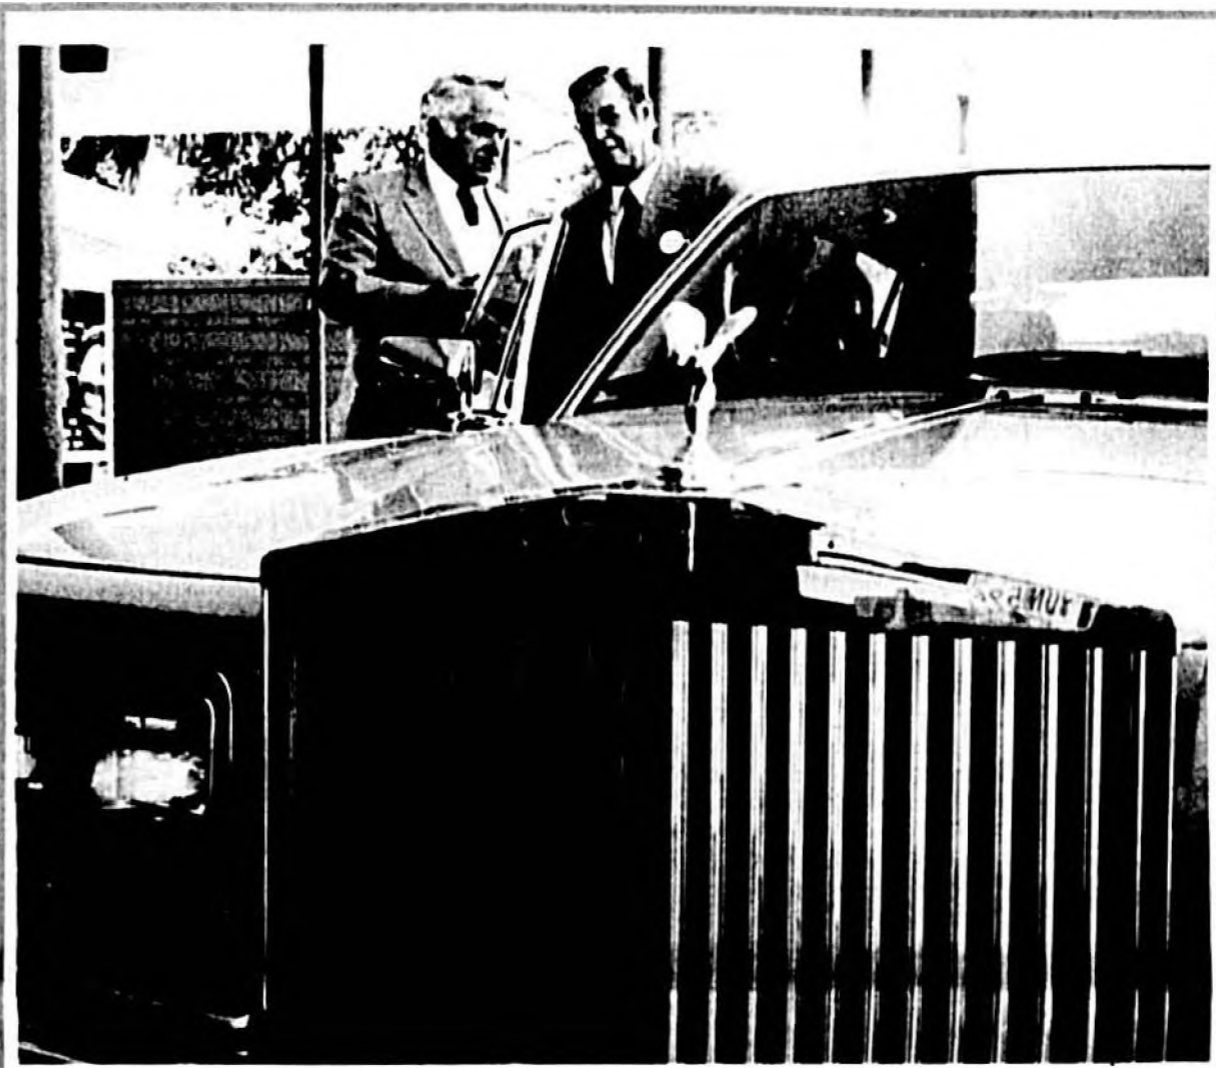

When Casselberry began discussing the issue several months ago, looking at the possibility of suing the county, the Sanford commission voted unanimously to join with Casselberry in whatever it ultimately decided to do.

During county budget hearings, an Altamonte Springs representative urged the County Commission to levy a separate property tax on unincorporated areas for additional Sheriff's Department patrolmen, saying the patrolmen would benefit only the unincorporated areas. Sanford Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett appeared at the same public hearing, endorsing the Altamonte request.

The County Commission said additional sheriff's deputies, benefited the incorporated and unincorporated areas alike and insisted double taxation does not exist in Seminole County.

In other business Monday night, the City Commission on a 3-1 vote endorsed

Brantley: Odds Good For Lab In Lake Mary

If Seminole County can stay out of a political battle with Orange County, the chances are good that a new state crime laboratory for Central Florida will be built in Lake Mary.

That is the assessment of State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, after a meeting of a Seminole County delegation of officials with State Rep. Jon Mills, D-Gainesville, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in Tallahassee on Monday.

"Right now the choice of preferred sites boils down to Orlando and Lake Mary," said Brantley. "I hope the Appropriations Committee will be able to look at the issue using common sense and a dollars-and-cents approach, considering the facts that the Lake Mary site is more accessible and provides the state with the best deal."

He said that if a fight develops over whether a $4 million crime lab should be built in Lake Mary vs. whether a multi-million-dollar state office building, including space for a crime lab, should be built in Orlando, the area may end up with no new crime lab at all.

Brantley noted that the budget for 1982 proposed by Gov. Bob Graham on Monday includes no money at all for a crime lab for Central Florida. "That news is not real good," he said, adding, however, that he can't help but feel the Graham proposal is politically motivated.

The Longwood legislator said Mills was impressed with the Seminole County delegation, which traveled to Tallahassee on Monday to lobby for the location of the proposed new facility in Lake Mary.

"Mills was impressed with the unity on the issue displayed by the Seminole County group. That definitely had an impact on him," Brantley said.

He said the Seminole delegation included himself and State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs; Chief Assistant State Attorney Chris Ray, Sheriff John Polk, County Commissioner Sandra Glenn, Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson and City Manager Phil Kulbes, and Tom Stevenson, representing Paulucci Enterprises.

Polk gave a rundown on how the current Sanford Crime Lab was founded in 1970 under his leadership and with the cooperation of law-enforcement agencies in Central Florida, and Mrs. Glenn showed Mills detailed maps of the current and proposed locations, Brantley said. Currently, the lab is at Sanford Airport.

Brantley said four options were discussed concerning the crime lab. He said, "The options are: Lake Mary, the University of Central Florida Research Park, a state-owned site next to an existing state building in downtown Orlando, and no site at all, which the governor is recommending."

Jim York, former Orlando police chief and currently head of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, under whose department the crime labs of the state operate, preferred the Orlando site as his first choice, Brantley said.

"It was my impression that York didn't even want to consider UCF because it is not very accessible," he said.

Brantley said a compromise may be worked out where legislative approval could be given to locating the new crime lab in Lake Mary and moving for a new high-rise state building in Orlando at a later time.

"The Number One priority should be to get the crime lab in Lake Mary by proving it is the least expensive and the best location," he said.

"Our chances are good," he added.

...And Casselberry Digs Into Records

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

In a unanimous decision Monday night, the Casselberry City Council gave the go-ahead to Kellon & Associates Inc., a Deland-based consulting firm, to study Seminole County's financial records in an effort to determine whether city residents can claim double taxation.

Double taxation, according to Mayor Owen Sheppard, is a situation that exists wherever city residents are forced to pay taxes for county services they are not receiving while at the same time paying city taxes.

Sheppard told the council and Richard Kellon, of Kellon & Associates, Monday night that six cities have indicated their desire to participate in such a study. Among those cities cited by Sheppard are Casselberry, Altamonte Springs, Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood and Winter Springs.

The cost of the study for the six cities totals $24,500, with Lake Mary, Longwood and Winter Springs paying $2,000 each and the remaining cities equally dividing the remaining base fee of $18,500.

"The main thing we are concerned with here is the base fee," Kellon said. "Should one of the larger cities drop out of the agreement, Casselberry would then be expected to pay no more than half of the base. If two cities drop out, we will be back to renegotiate."

The council expressed its concern to Kellon that the study be completed no later than six months from its onset, because of the county's fall budget meetings.

Councilman Tom Embree said it is imperative the information be obtained as soon as possible so city officials can sit down and talk with county officials prior to their budget talks. Embree said earlier it is hoped differences can be worked out without litigation.

"The county has 90 days to respond to a resolution," Kellon said. "This will be proposed in resolution form, and we will certainly get it to the county before it has to address its budget."

Minimum Social Security Benefit Rescued?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With weeks of deadlock ended, the House and Senate are within striking distance of approving a bill to save the $122 a month Social Security minimum benefit for all 3 million who now receive it.

The minimum benefit bill, agreed to by House and Senate negotiators Monday, also includes temporary accounting changes to shore up the retirement fund through the end of 1982.

Final congressional approval is expected within a few days.

Social Security Commissioner John Svahn said last week that unless Congress acted on the benefit before recessing for the year, he would be forced to send notices to recipients telling them their payments would end in March.

The conferees' accord, breaking weeks of disagreement, allows no new recipients to join the rolls after Jan. 1 except nuns and priests, who take oaths of poverty.

That exemption could trigger a floor fight in the House, which has voted to save the minimum benefit forever for future recipients.

The minimum benefit goes to those who did not pay enough into Social Security to qualify for regular benefits. Last summer, Congress voted to end the benefit at the administration's request. But lawmakers and President Reagan changed their minds after sick pay to make up all but $1.7 billion of the $6.1 billion lost during the next five years by restoring the minimum benefit.

Negotiators agreed to let Social Security's three trust funds borrow from each other until the end of next year. Otherwise, experts agree the retirement trust fund will run in the red in 1982 because payments are outpacing revenues.

The decision to allow interfund borrowing to keep the funds financially healthy only through the end of 1982 was a compromise from earlier proposals to allow it for five years.

Conferees agreed it could force a lame duck session after next November's congressional elections to adopt longer-range reforms — including politically sensitive benefit cuts no one wants to tackle before the elections.

"It shows determination to tackle the overall problem in the earliest possible time," said Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, chairman of the House Social Security subcommittee, after the hour-long meeting.

Svahn said the conferees' action was the "first very solid support from the leadership" for long-range reforms.

Pickle called the bill the "best compromise we could reach."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Be Warned, It's Going To Be A Cold, Wet Winter

ORLANDO (UPI) — If you thought it was cold over the weekend, brace yourself. The National Weather Service says it's going to be a long, hard winter. It won't be as bad as the winter of 1975-76, the year it snowed in Miami, but long-range forecasters say the next few months will probably rival the winter of 1969-70, when it was cold and damp in Florida, with temperatures below normal and nearly seven inches of rainfall in the usually dry months of December, January and February.

Auto Clubs Deregulated

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Over the protests of its chairman, the House Insurance Committee has voted to end state regulation of automobile clubs. The deregulation was approved in the form of an amendment by Rep. George Sheldon, D-Tampa, to the panel's rewrite of the state Insurance Code under a Sunset review.

Man Jailed After Shootout

MIAMI (UPI) — A joint federal-state-county drug task force shot it out Monday night with two suspected drug traffickers at the edge of suburban Coral Gables' "Miracle Mile" business district, but no one was seriously hurt. Police spokesman John Jones said members of the task force had been maintaining a surveillance of the two suspects. As officers approached a car containing the men, the two opened fire, the officers returned fire, the two men attempted to flee, one was struck by a passing car, officers seized him, and the other man commandeered a car, drove off and was not found.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Polish Workers Strike In Defiance Of Warsaw

United Press International
Strikes by defiant Solidarity workers engulfed Poland today from the Gdansk shipyard in the north to the vital coal mines of Silesia in the south in mounting resistance to the nation's martial-law regime. Army troops moved in and surrounded the occupied industrial sites. Polish army tanks were sighted on the main highway between Gdansk and Warsaw, but there were no further details in the reports from the Polish capital, where communications with the outside world have been cut.

Strikers To Be Crushed

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet political analyst blamed Solidarity's "common criminals" today for bringing martial law down on themselves and predicted "merciless action" by the new Polish regime to restore Communist law and order. Vladimir Nakaryakov, a correspondent of the Novosti news agency, repeated the official Kremlin line that the Soviet Union will not interfere in Poland's affairs.

Israeli Move Shocks World

United Press International
Syria has charged that Israel's "annexation" of the Golan Heights was a declaration of war and demanded the U.N. Security Council meet and revoke the action. The United States, apparently taken by surprise, expressed its "deep concern" over the Israeli move Monday. Egypt called it a "blow" to the peace process and a "challenge to world opinion." The PLO condemned it.

Casselberry Hikes Garbage Pickup Fees By 10 Percent

By TENEY ARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry residents will be paying 70 cents more per month for garbage collection services beginning next month following the City Council's 4-2 approval of the rate hike Monday night. Councilmen Jim Lavigne and John Leighty cast the dissenting votes.

The council also voted to extend the garbage pickup contract with Danjohn Services of Longwood until Dec. 31, 1986. The current contract will expire in December, 1982.

The agreement between the city and Danjohn Services does not, however, allow for increasing the new $7.70 pickup rates for at least two years, according to City Attorney Ken McIntosh.

Danjohn Services previously had requested an 80-cent increase, citing rising fuel costs and the Seminole County Commission's recent move to increase county landfill dumping fees as the reason for the request.

"I don't like to see an increase no more than anyone else does," Councilman Frank Schutte said. "If we're going to put the finger on anyone for the increase it would be the Board of County Commissioners."

Schutte added he feels the contract, "is the best we can do for our city residents. We've also got them (Danjohn) locked in for two years with no chance of an increase in rates."

Explaining his "no" vote, Lavigne said he doesn't "feel we should preclude ourselves the benefit of other bidders at the end of the contract. I'm sure there are at least five or six other firms who could come in now and give a better bid."

McIntosh said he feels Danjohn Services was justified in its request for a rate hike because of the county's recent increase of dumping fees to $9.75 per ton.

"I've lived in the city for 10 years and I've seen some really poor garbage collection companies," Schutte said. "I think we have a good deal with this one and I feel we should try our best to keep them."

Leighty said his dissenting vote was based on "numerous phone calls from constituents opposing any type of rate increase."

... Cities Suing County Over Taxes

The Florida League of Cities proposed that the Legislature increase sales taxes by one cent and return the resulting revenue to the cities of the state for property tax relief. Mayor Lee P. Moore was absent from the meeting.

Knowles said the legislation supported by the Florida League mandated that 70 percent of the resulting revenue be used for property tax relief. Commissioner Sid Yanney was the only commissioner to oppose the measure, saying he disagrees with any increases in taxes at this time.

The commission also granted licenses to the Rib Ranch, 2545 S. French Ave., and Georgia's, 27th Street and Sanford Avenue, to serve alcoholic beverages on the premises.

After granting the licenses, the commission called a moratorium on issuing further licenses for 60 days while a new city ordinance is being prepared.

The commission last month turned down the requests for the licenses on the basis of the regulation in city law that establishments selling alcoholic beverages must not be located nearer than 500 feet from one another. The city staff later found that of 44 licensed establishments in the city, the commission over the years had granted 33 of them in violation of the 500-foot rule.

After the research, the commission decided to settle a suit filed by Dale Gustafson, who had been denied a license for his planned restaurant at 13th Street and French Avenue. City Attorney Colbert said he expects the suit to be settled out of court today and the city to issue Gustafson the license immediately after the settlement.

Critics Present Top Film Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Atlantic City edged out Warren Beatty's "Reds" for top honors in this year's awards presentations by the Los Angeles Film Critics Association.

"Atlantic City" was named Best Picture of 1981 and also picked up a best actor award for Burt Lancaster, who played an aging gangster, and best screenplay award for John Guare.

Beatty won three awards — for Beatty as best director, Maureen Stapleton as best supporting actress and for best cinematography.

Other awards went to Meryl Streep as best actress in "The French Lieutenant's Woman," to Sir John Gielgud as best supporting actor for his portrayal of a butler in "Arthur," to Randy Newman for the score of "Ragtime" and to the Brazilian "Pixote" as the year's best foreign film.

"Reds" finished second in the voting for best movie and its performances by Diane Keaton and Jack Nicholson were runners-up in voting for best actress and supporting actor.

Henry Fonda was runner-up for best actor for his work in "On Golden Pond." Melinda Dillon finished second for best supporting actress for "Absence of Malice," and the British movie "Chariots of Fire" was second in voting for best foreign film.

Sanford Christmas Parade Winners

Pinecrest Elementary School was the Grand Marshal Theme Award winner in Saturday's Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade and took first place for its float in the public schools category with the theme "Granny's Country Kitchen."

The school's entry consisted of a banner, flags, drum, 20 marching, third-graders dressed up as gingerbread men, 40 first-grader elves, and a boat carrying 23 second-graders.

The float, which followed the overall parade theme of "Christmas in the Country," featured a nine-foot-tall grandmother baking gingerbread men in an oversized stove assisted by elves played by Pinecrest teachers.

The Seminole High School Future Farmers float took second place in the public school category.

Krayola College and The Gingerbread House took first and second place respectively in the private schools category.

The Sanford-Seminole Jaycees' float won first-place honors in the civic organization category, with Boy Scout Troop 529 taking second.

Florida United Methodist Children's Home, Enterprise, was first-place winner in the religious category. Redeemer Lutheran Kindergarten, Sanford, came in second.

In the commercial category, Buckles & Bows took first place, and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole took second.

First place for the best-decorated car went to the Chief of the Chippewa Tribe of the YMCA, and second to the Goldsboro

Elementary School PTA.

The Galiceno Horse Breeders Association took top honors in the equestrian division. Elena Doster of Apopka was named best-dressed rider, and Lorraine Bates of the Seminole County 4-H had the best groomed horse.

First prize for the best marching unit went to Boy Scout Troop 832 second place to Cub Pack 832.

Bans On Signs, Nude Dancing Extended

By TENEY ARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 120-day ban on the use of off-site signs for advertising in Casselberry was extended another four months following a 4-1 vote by the City Council Monday night. Councilman Jim Lavigne was the lone dissenter.

The council also voted unanimously to extend another city-imposed moratorium for an additional 90 days which prohibits the granting of conditional-use permits or the issuance of occupational licenses to establishments selling intoxicating beverages or pornographic materials, or featuring topless dancing.

The "topless" moratorium was scheduled to expire Dec. 17, according to Linda Thomas, acting city clerk.

"I oppose the off-site sign moratorium for reasons I've stated in previous council meetings," Lavigne said, again saying he "doesn't want to buy a lawsuit." Imposing such a moratorium is "sure to bring lawsuits."

Casselberry is currently involved in litigation with The Peterson Outdoor Advertising Corp., over the 120-day moratorium passed Aug. 31. The advertising company claims that the city's refusal to issue permits for signs is in "violation of applicable state statutes and regulations."

City Attorney Ken McIntosh warned council when they enacted the moratorium that the city probably would be sued. McIntosh told the council last night that an extension of the moratorium probably would not result in further litigation or influence the Peterson lawsuit.

Council members voting for the moratorium said they did so in order to gain more control over signs being erected within the city limits.

MX Must Be Mobile

The one great flaw in the Reagan administration's strategic weapons program was the inexplicable decision to deploy new MX missiles in existing Titan and Minuteman silos already vulnerable to destruction in a surprise Soviet attack.

Thus, the Senate's 90-4 vote last week re-directing $334 million in MX development funds from the administration's planned basing mode to some form of "deceptive" basing sends an unmistakable message to the White House.

Simply put, the Senate has rejected Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger's contention that existing missile silos could be sufficiently "hardened" with more steel and concrete to give the MX a degree of survivability against the larger and more accurate missiles and warheads the Soviets are now producing.

The known facts certainly seem to favor the Senate's position rather than that of Mr. Weinberger.

Virtually every Pentagon advisory panel that has studied the vulnerability of land-based U.S. missiles during the last decade has recommended a basing mode that would keep the Soviets guessing about the actual location of individual missiles.

That would either preclude the possibility of a Soviet first strike effectively destroying the U.S. nuclear deterrent, or compel the Soviets to employ so many of their own missiles in the initial attack that their poststrike margin of nuclear superiority would vanish.

Sinking the prescribed new missile — the MX — into holes dug during the 1960s for less powerful Titan and Minuteman missiles would simply provide the Soviets more tempting targets. In theory, that might even strengthen the military rationale for a Soviet first strike.

This was the reasoning espoused by Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and by Gen. Lew Allen, Air Force chief of staff, in opposing the Weinberger plan.

The final coffin nail in Mr. Weinberger's proposal for stationary basing may have been evidence cited by, among others, former Strategic Air Command boss Gen. Richard Ellis that even the experts did not know how to harden existing silos sufficiently to withstand attack by the Soviet Union's new SS-18 intercontinental ballistic missiles.

In fairness to the administration and to Secretary Weinberger, it should be said that stationary basing for the MX was officially proposed as only an interim measure while additional study was given to various deceptive basing systems.

Even so, the suspicion lingered in the Senate and at the Pentagon that Casper Weinberger would ultimately reject any form of deceptive basing — including modified versions of the so-called "shell game" system proposed by the Carter administration — as either ineffective or too expensive.

This suspicion was hardly groundless. Secretary Weinberger had already overruled the Pentagon consensus for a mobile MX shuttle among large numbers of launching silos or vertical shelters.

The Senate was persuaded by the compelling weight of expert military opinion. We think Secretary Weinberger and the White House should be too. For without a mobile MX, there can be little hope of closing the now yawning "window of vulnerability" to a Soviet first strike anytime during the 1980s.

Seminole County's top nine taxpayers will pay nearly or have already paid $9.5 million in the 1981-82 fiscal year.

And four of those top nine taxpayers are public utilities companies.

Biggest taxpayer in the county, according to Seminole Property Appraiser Bill Suber is Southern Bell Telephone Co. The company which serves more than half the county will pay $512,204.99 in property taxes and $513,078.20 in personal property taxes for a total of $1,025,283.19.

Personal property taxes are sums levied on equipment and similar items.

Second highest taxpayer is Winter Park Telephone Co. with a total of $978,915.32, including $128,077.66 in property taxes and $850,837.67 in personal property taxes.

Coming in third is Florida Power & Light with $635,433.50, including $36,060.80 in property taxes and $599,372.70 in personal property taxes.

Others paying combined real estate and personal property taxes in order are: Interstate Mall $378,886.51, Stromberg-Carlson $357,351.74.

Altamonte Mall, $264,704.58, Florida Power Corp. $257,395.97, NCR Corp. $132,590.61 and HI Acres $54,284.86.

Paying the second highest real estate taxes in the county is the Altamonte Mall at $263,428.61.

While the Mall's personal property taxes total only $1,275.97, tenant stores in the Altamonte Mall also pay personal property taxes, said Sally Lipsey, deputy tax collector.

U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, is supporting an amendment to the farm bill to prevent the importation of meat which has been produced by using chemicals or drugs that have been prohibited from use in the United States. Also included in the ban are the use of substances neither approved or prohibited, but determined by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to adulterate the meat.

Foreign producers may now export the meat they have produced using these chemicals and drugs and Americans will consume them unless residues of these substances are detected by U.S.

meat inspectors at ports of entry, McCollum noted.

Only a small random sampling of the meat that enters the country is analyzed for drugs or chemicals, meaning that most of the meat products enter American markets unchecked. "The amendment I am supporting would prohibit foreign producers from using these drugs and chemicals at all if they want to sell their meat products in the United States," McCollum said.

McCollum said the amendment was significantly weakened during the House-Senate conference. The bill now puts into law formally the current residue testing and specifies verification procedures which were strengthened following the Australian meat incident.

A few weeks ago horse and kangaroo meat was discovered in a shipment of Australian beef sent to the United States for use by a fast-food chain.

McCollum said he hopes when the conference report reaches the House for a vote that the House members will insist on the bill's original language and force the Senate to accept the ban.

Shipped here by truck and train are fuses from a Motorola Inc. plant in Scottsdale, Ariz.; neutron generators from a General Electric Co. facility in Pinellas, Fla.; and electronic components from a Bendix Corp. plant in Kansas City, Mo.

Weapons-grade plutonium and enriched uranium from facilities in Alken, S.C.; Richland, Wash.; Piketon, Ohio; Oak Ridge, Tenn.; and Paducah, Ky.

Workers at the Pantex Plant in the barren countryside 17 miles northeast of downtown Amarillo transform those components into nuclear warheads for both tactical weapons and strategic intercontinental weapons.

Constructed as an Army ordnance facility during World War II, the Pantex Plant was temporarily abandoned by the federal government in 1945, then reopened in 1961 to perform its current mission.

Throughout most of the ensuing 30 years, the facility operated in relative anonymity. Even residents of nearby communities in the Texas Panhandle were unaware of precisely what was being produced at the Pantex Plant.

Today, however, the facility is the object of a fierce controversy, touched off last summer by Bishop Leroy T. Matthiesen, leader of the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo.

After President Reagan announced his decision to proceed with the production of neutron bombs, the bishop composed a statement, which appeared in the diocesan newspaper, criticizing that decision as "tragic."

Other Catholic bishops throughout the country have decried the escalation of the arms race, but Matthiesen's statement was distinguished.

"The matter is of immediate concern to us who live next door to Pantex, the nation's final assembly point for nuclear weapons, including the neutron bomb. . . . We urge individuals involved in the production and stockpiling of nuclear bombs to consider what they are doing, to resign from such activities."

Student-Aid Agency Raises Suspensions

WASHINGTON — The Libyan diplomats were kicked out of their embassy last May for harassing students who were considered less than loyal to Libya's dictator, Muammar Qaddafi. Now some mysterious Libyans have turned up across the Potomac, and the State Department suspects they're up to the same old tricks.

The expulsion of Qaddafi's diplomats left the 4,000 Libyan students in the United States without supervision — and without a means of collecting the scholarship money on which most of them exist.

To remedy this situation, the Libyans' American attorney, Richard Shadyac, set up a non-profit corporation across the Potomac in fashionable McLean, Va. The outfit is called the People's Committee for Students of Libyan-Arab Jamahiriya — a name straight out of Qaddafi's dogma.

Its ostensible function is to process payments to the Libyan students scattered across the country and handle the other details of their scholarships.

Shadyac checked with the State Department and got permission for the arrangement. The new corporation hired several non-Libyan employees who used to work for the embassy — to provide continuity, it was explained.

But government sources are concerned about the Libyan nationals who are also present in the corporation's suburban office building. They are described as student volunteers — and the fear is that they may be providing an undesirable continuity to the old Libyan embassy and its history of harassment.

"Extremely close watch is being kept on that office," a State Department source told my associate Lucette Lagnado. "Information is being gathered. The whole question of what that office is doing is being examined."

The investigation has turned up nothing concrete yet, but U.S. officials have been informed that harassment of Libyan students has continued since the Washington embassy was closed.

Furthermore, investigators have concluded that the Libyan "volunteers" are in fact running the corporation. Shadyac conceded that the students are helping to "manage" the office.

The pressure on Libyan students in the United States varies in degree. Outspoken opponents of Qaddafi are threatened with loss of their scholarships and retaliation against their families in Libya. Those who are not politically active are urged to be openly supportive of the Qaddafi regime.

"Most of them are apolitical," a reliable source said. "There is pressure on them to get interested and involved."

Shadyac acknowledged that he has been asked about allegations that the operation has been involved in harassment of Libyan students in this country. He denied emphatically that it was engaged in any such activity. When pressed on the point, however, he said it was possible that harassment might be going on without his knowledge.

Shadyac said he has asked the U.S. government to provide him with any evidence of the committee's wrongdoing. "They have never proffered any proof," he said. "Not one

DON GRAFF

Monster Of Our Making

In most respects, the county makes an unlikely mover and shaker in world affairs. It is huge, but most of its almost 700,000 square miles is barren desert. Most of the population of less than 3 million, until recently poor and backward even by the depressed standards of the region, is spread out along a Mediterranean coastal strip a few miles deep and a thousand miles long.

For most of the last thousand years, it has not been its own master. Long a backwater province of the Ottoman Empire, it was picked up by Italy on the eve of World War I and lost in the aftermath of World War II.

Set up by the victors as an independent limited monarchy, it was an artificial nation whose diverse tribes had little sense of nationhood and less of constitutional government. It continued to be dominated by outsiders, compliantly providing base sites for Western forces through two postwar decades.

Yet here in Libya is, at center stage in a face-off with a nuclear superpower that is part farce and part deadly threat to both and, potentially, much more.

If Libya's rise to its present ominous prominence can be said to have begun at any time recently, Sept. 1, 1969, is the date. That was when a cabal of young army officers, in a delayed reaction to the revolution in neighboring Egypt, ousted the corrupt royal regime.

Out also went the Western military presence, but not Western oilmen. Drilling that began in the late '50s had within a decade transformed a subsistence agricultural economy into a major oil exporter.

The revolution's leader, Col. Muammar Khadafi, proclaimed Libya the beneficiaries of something called "Arab socialism." Whatever it was supposed to be in theory, in practice it has been indistinguishable from the strongman rule that prevails in most of the Third World. There is no question as to who is in charge: Khadafi.

In one respect, however, he does differ — at least in degree — from the run-of-the-mill strongman: He is more volatile, unpredictable and reckless and has more resources at his disposal than any other.

In little more than a decade of power, he has alternately embraced union with Egypt and Tunisia, then turned against and attacked both. He has aided ousted Ugandan dictator Idi Amin, invaded and sought to annex neighboring Chad and is pursuing a destabilization campaign against Sudan.

He has been the willing if erratic tool of Soviet policy in the Mideast, a fierce opponent of an Arab-Israeli accommodation, a supporter of the more extreme elements of the Palestine Liberation Organization and of non-Arab terrorist groups in Europe and elsewhere, and is bankrolling Pakistan's efforts to acquire nuclear weapons capability.

If there's any wonder to his performance, it is that he manages to find time for his current confrontations with the U.S. Sixth Fleet and government.

place trophies. To further complicate matters, his best wrestler — Todd Andrew — is still sidelined with a broken hand. Andrew hurt the hand during football season and decided against an operation at that time, delaying his recovery period.

"We probably won't see Todd until the Five Star Conference (Jan. 15)," said Pletzer about his fine 147 pounder who finished second in the state last year as a junior. "He's been using an electrical stimulator to stimulate the growth of the bone. That should help."

Pletzer sees Andrew's absence as being the difference in the 'Hounds 3-2 start. Lyman has beaten Colonial, Seabreeze and Mainland. It lost to Edgewater (36-26) and Palm Beach Gardens (36-33).

Another tough senior — middle weight man Curt Schuster — will not wrestle in the Christmas Invitational because of disciplinary reasons.

The Greyhounds still return five letterman. Sophomore Juwan Lee (115) is one of the best. A part-time starter last year, Lee has a 3-0 record and one pin. Jay Huntiker, a district champ at 109 last year, is caught between Lee and Joey Lockwood at 121 and hasn't earned a starting spot yet.

Up a weight at 121 is junior Lockwood. He is 3-2. Veteran Cory Stanley is off to a flying start. The 140-pound senior is 5-0. Unlimited Jeff Brannen is the fourth letter winner. The big man is 4-1 with three pins and a superior decision.

A strong junior varsity squad has kept Lyman among the best in Central Florida. Willie Perkins (187) is 4-1 with two pins. He is a senior. Another senior, Rhett Harwell, is 3-0 and undersized junior Mike Hill has been awesome at 220 ... when he can gain enough weight.

"Mike has three pins and a superior decision," boasts Pletzer. "His only loss was to a regional place winner from last year." Hill, however, will wrestle off with Dirk Smith (3-2) for the 169-pound division today.

Ninth grader Pat Bell (2-1), 11th grade transfer Robert Wraggs (0-0) hold down spots at 100 and 108 pounds respectively. Wraggs has made weight for the first time and moved from Jacksonville.

Senior Jeff Acker (0-0) debuts at 128, while senior Steve Sears (2-0) with two pins is at 134. Another senior, Jack Baby (0-1) will handle the 147 slot in place of injured senior Tim Perry (2-0). "We're really light in the heavies," assessed Pletzer. "I don't know where I'm going to get a 220 pounder if Hill beats Smith in the wrestle off."

Despite the mediocre start, Pletzer is about where he feels he would be. "I knew we would get off to a rocky start," said the Skipper. "But we've come along way since the beginning of the season."

"I feel we'll have a real solid team by the end of the season. We can win the district and the conference," he added.

And, if the Greyhounds come up short in their district and conference bid, Carpenker and his Lake Brantley Patriots may be a good bet to succeed them.

"Lake Brantley has a couple of guys that nobody around here should beat," admitted Pletzer. "It should be us or Brantley for the district."

Two of those guys Pletzer was alluding to are seasoned veterans Jeff Horn (121) and Rich Farmer (134). Both are seniors who gained valuable tournament experience last year.

Horn, especially, has been overwhelming this year. The smooth blond has two pins, one 25-0 decision and one 19-1 victory in four matches.

Farmer has been no slouch either. He is also 4-0 with two pins. "They both should have outstanding years," said Carpenker about his two veterans.

The Patriots have rolled to a 3-1 mark thus far this year. The only blemish is a 35-29 licking at the hands of powerful Winter Park.

"I'm really happy with this year's group," points out Carpenker who has 40-45 grapplers at practice every day. "It should be our best team ever and we hope to do a little better in tournaments."

Joining Carpenker's seniors are two battle-tested sophomores. Jack Lakens, a tough 100 pounder last year, returns at that weight. He has three pins in three outings this year.

Another soph, Jamie Offenberger, is 3-1. Carpenker looks for seniors Robert Kalich and Billy Hartman to add more depth. Kalich is 3-1. The only loss was when he jumped to the 220 pound class against Jones.

Hartman, a 240-pound unlimited wrestler, is 3-0. He had to come out of retirement when two of the Patriots sophomore matmen both broke their legs.

"If we keep everybody happy and we don't have any more broken legs we'll be all right," laughed Carpenker.

Hurricanes Sign Schnellenberger To Extension

MIAMI (UPI) — It's been no secret that a lot of schools were interested in hiring Miami football coach Howard Schnellenberger, with Kentucky leading the pack.

But the interest stopped Monday when the University of Miami

President Edward T. Foote signed Schnellenberger to a five-year extension of his three-year old contract.

The contract is believed to contain a slight increase of salary, which was $57,500, plus a lot amount of outside considerations which brought it to $150,000.

Meik Comes To Bayhead

Bayhead Racquet Club has a new pro. Colvin Meik comes to the Lake Mary Club with lots of talent, a great background and plenty of enthusiasm.

Colvin is from England, is in his mid-sixties and likes to work with beginners and intermediates — especially kids. His tennis background is very good and his experiences in all phases of the game are outstanding.

As a player, Colvin was one of the very top circuit players in Europe from the mid thirties until the mid forties. Playing all over Europe, he earned many tournament titles in both singles and doubles. A player who possesses the classic strokes Colvin won many admirers for his beautiful style of play. "The Old Pro" as he likes to be called, now confines his playing to mostly doubles action — but still has the control of an expert.

Teaching tennis is now his real love. And working with kids is his joy. From this writers point of view this could be a major step forward in area tennis. The youngsters in the area sorely need an organized program — Colvin Meik aims to have such a program at Bayhead.

Colvin has taught tennis all over the world — starting with the English Army Team in 1946 — he has taught everywhere. His experiences have led him to Africa, Canada, most European countries as well as all over the U.S.

A longtime member of the USPTA, Colvin was for five years Chairman of Testing and Certification Committee of the USTA. He also gives tests for aspiring USPTA coaches.

I for one am glad that Bayhead landed a pro with Mr. Meik's outstanding qualifications and his excellent personality. His vision of what he wants to do at the club is innovative and dedicated to improving the overall tennis picture, and as Colvin said at the end of my interview with him — "I'm looking forward to a long and pleasant association with area tennis players."

Crooms Captures 6th; JV Loses; 'Hounds-Seminole Battle Tonight

If you're going to beat the Crooms Panthers freshman basketball team, you better do it before the third quarter. At least that's been the case so far this season.

"It seems like our third quarter is the big one this year," admits coach Chris Marlette whose Panthers routed Lake Brantley, 14-2, in the third period en route to a 55-30 victory over the Patriots in Altamonte Springs Monday.

The victory upped the Crooms record to 6-0. On Wednesday the Panthers travel to Bishop Moore and on Thursday they go to Oviedo.

James House paced the Panthers' effort with 19 points, including 11 in the first half when Crooms mounted a 27-18 lead.

"Our press hurt them a little bit in the first half," said Marlette. "But I was a little disappointed that they were able to run with us. We got tired too easily."

Forward Donald Grayson was next in the scoring parade with 12 points. Grayson also nabbed five boards and blocked four shots.

Kenny Gordon was the top man on the backboards for the second game in a row with 13. Sam Redding handed out four assists and made six steals.

Sanford's other boys team in action Monday night wasn't as fortunate as Crooms. Tom Smith's Seminole High junior varsity dropped a 64-63 squeaker in overtime at Lyman. Richard Williams free throw with three seconds to play provided the margin of difference. It came after a jump ball with eight seconds to play.

Prep Basketball

"The game went back and forth the whole night," said Smith whose team is now 1-3. "They just got the break at the end."

Seminole's blond gunner Steve Alexander had another great night for Sanford with 29 points on 11 field goals and 7-for-9 free throws. Forward William Wynn had 10 points and seven rebounds.

Greg Walker led Lyman with 13 points, while Greg Pilot and Rod Hillman each chipped in 10.

Tonight at 6:15, action resumes at Lyman when Hon Merthie's powerful Lady Seminoles take on Bobby Locke's Lady Greyhounds.

The Lady Tribe is fresh from big victories over Daytona Beach Mainland and Seabreeze. Seniors Tony Hardy, Robin Higgins, Johnnie Bennett and 5-10 Cathy Jones pace the attack. Sophomore Maxine Campbell, senior Sebrina Melton or freshman Mona Benton complete the starting five.

In the evening's second game, Bill Payne tried to get his Seminoles back on the track after three straight losses. The latest, a 79-69 setback to Mainland, came last Friday.

Payne wasn't too happy with the performances of some of his starters and he is looking for things to shape up tonight against the Greyhounds, one of Seminole's fiercest rivals.

Life hasn't exactly been a piece of cake for Tom Lawrence's 'Hounds either. Picked as the preseason choice to win the Five Star Conference, Lyman is struggling along at 2-2.

Neither setback, however, has hampered the conference race since losses have come to Oviedo and West Orange. The latter a 64-60 defeat Saturday night. In other county action, Greg Robinson's Lake Howell Silver Hawks are still in search of win number one. They host DeLand.

At Altamonte Springs, coach Bob Peterson readies his Lake Brantley squad for another east coast onslaught as Mainland's high-powered Buccaneers come to town. The Pats lost to Seabreeze last Friday.

Senior Tim Heath is a solid scoring threat and an excellent free throw shooter for the Pats. Guard Billy Powers can put it up from the outside as can Bob Lynch.

Oviedo's "Ronnie Murphy Show" travels to Eatonville to take on Wymore Tech. The 2-1 Lions disposed of Lake Howell Friday night easily.

Shockers Move To Fourth Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's not really that shocking to see Wichita State moving up on the nation's elite. Wichita State, led by forwards Cliff Levingston and Antoine Carr, climbed two spots into the No. 4 position in the weekly United Press International Board of Coaches college basketball ratings.

The Shockers, 4-0, battling it out with Tulsa for supremacy in the Missouri Valley Conference, won both their games last week, including a 94-71 rout of Alabama-Birmingham to unseat Virginia as the fourth-rated team in the nation.

The top three spots remained unchanged from a week ago with No. 1 North Carolina, 4-0, No. 2 Kentucky, 3-0, and No. 3 Louisville, 4-0, holding onto their spots. North Carolina received 33 of the 39 first-place votes cast by the coaches in this week's ratings.

Kentucky received four first-place votes and Louisville and Virginia one first-place mention each.

Virginia, 3-0, No. 4 in last week's ratings, fell two places to No. 6 despite thrashing Duke in its only outing. Iowa, 5-0, remained in the No. 5 spot after winning both of its contests. DePaul, 4-0, held onto the No. 7 spot but Arkansas, 5-0, moved up two places to No. 8 after scoring a pair of victories during the week. Minnesota, 3-0, remained in the No. 9 position with Missouri, 4-0, advancing one place to No. 10.

Indiana, 4-1, which was soundly beaten by Kentucky for its first loss of the season early in the week, dropped three places to No. 11 and San Francisco, 5-0, moved up two places to No. 12.

Rams Erase Atlanta, 21-16

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The once-feared defense of the Los Angeles Rams had turned to pudding. Opposing ballcarriers that once feared broken bones against the Rams' defensive line were now concerned with developing stomach cramps from running long distances.

Receivers that used to stay awake at night fretting over crushing blind-side hits from the Rams' All-Pro secondary now worried about developing blisters on their hands from having a football slapping into their palms so often.

And quarterbacks that used to ask if they could carry guns to protect themselves from the Rams' vicious pass rush now took up hobbies to pass all that free time while waiting for their receivers to get open.

From the 1979 Super Bowl to the 1981 Stupor Bowl. That was the two-year story of the Los Angeles Rams.

So Monday night against the Atlanta Falcons, the 5-9 Rams — out of the playoff picture for the first time in nine years, mired in their worst season since 1965, embroiled in controversy with the team management, dragging a five-game losing skid behind them and just playing out the final two dreary weeks of the miserable season — were expected to go belly-up before a national television audience.

Instead, they summoned spirit and emotion that didn't seem to exist anymore, throttling a powerful Atlanta offense en route to a 21-16 victory.

"These guys played their hearts out tonight," said Los Angeles coach Ray Malavasi. "It's been a frustrating year but I'm proud of my football players. This team will never quit. "Some say it's difficult to get the team up when you're in a situation like this, but these people want to play football. It isn't hard to get them going."

Linebacker Jim Youngblood, who made four tackles and knocked down four passes, said the Rams had taken enough abuse from the fans and the media this season and decided to win a game for themselves.

"All of us have a lot of pride," he said. "We all wanted this one just for us. This meant a lot."

Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski said he and his teammates took a beating and hinted that the Falcons may have overlooked the Rams.

"We simply were outplayed," Bartkowski said. "This is the first time this year that I felt we were physically dominated. "I hate all that crap about the Rams' front office causing difficulties on the field. Every time we play them it seems they are the most well-coached group of defenders that we face all year."

Wendell Tyler rushed for two touchdowns and went over the 1,000-yard mark to pace the Ram attack while Dan Pastorini, playing in place of the injured Pat Haden, completed 11-of-22 passes for 111 yards and was intercepted twice and the Rams' Billy Waddy had five receptions for 94 yards to lead all receivers.

Bartkowski hit 14-of-36 passes for 160 yards and was intercepted twice while William Andrews rushed for 115 yards in 23 carries to become Atlanta's all-time leading career rusher.

Atlanta took a 7-0 lead late in the first period on Lynn Cain's 2-yard TD burst but the Rams tied the score in the second period on Tyler's 8-yard touchdown run that followed a 48-yard pass from Dan Pastorini to Billy Waddy.

Mick Luckhurst gave Atlanta a 10-7 lead with 7:53 left in the half on a 45-yard field goal that came after a Tyler fumble. The Rams fumbled again on their next possession with Don Smith recovering at the Los Angeles 33.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Patriots Name

Davis, Baber

Most Valuable

KYLE DAVIS
...defensive MVP

Seniors Fred Baber and Kyle Davis picked up the most valuable awards last week as coach Dave Tullis honored his Lake Brantley football teams.

Baber, who is being chased by several major colleges, most notably the University of Miami, nabbed the most valuable offensive player award. Baber was used at quarterback, halfback and wide receiver as well as his best position—safety.

Davis, a standout linebacker, earned the most valuable defensive award.

Others honored included Mac Lantrip (most valuable line man), Junior John Desmet (most valuable defensive lineman), Davis (most valuable linebacker), Otis Clatt (most valuable defensive back) along with Kevin Besaw and Rob Brown who shared the most valuable offensive back award.

The coach's award went to running back Mike Freeman, while Dean Sheryl was the most valuable freshman and Chuck Stalling the most valuable junior varsity player.

Gamer Leads Rams' Victory

Lake Mary freshman Duane Garner dropped in a career-high 20 points Monday as the Rams stomped Oviedo, 89-41, at Lake Mary in freshman basketball action.

The Rams of Don Smith cruised to a 22-6 first-quarter lead and were never headed. George Williams and Bobby Counts fired in 14 points each and Ken Alloway added 10.

The Rams, 5-2, are off until Jan. 8 when they play at Lake Howell at 4:30 p.m.

Brantley Splits; Tribe Wins

Daytona Beach Mainland's Lori Lewis and Jackie Gaddy combined for 50 points Monday as the Lady Bucs hung a 74-48 setback on Lake Brantley at Altamonte Springs.

"Lewis just didn't miss," said Patriot assistant coach Debbie Dempsey. "She hit everything she shot from the corner."

Lewis hit 28 to lead the Bucs, while Gaddy added 24. Lady Pats Linda Trimble and Rhonda Vasquez each netted 12 as LB fell to 5-2 overall and 3-1 in the Five Star.

In junior varsity action, the Brantley JV stayed unbeaten with a 44-22 conquest of Mainland. Michelle Brown tossed in 24 points and freshman Kim Lubenow notched 20 for the 3-0 Pats.

In the county's other junior varsity game, Seminole ripped Lyman, 53-27 behind 12 points from Arlene Jones and 11 by Gene Stallworth.

Coach Beth Corso's squad is 2-2 and hosts Lake Howell on Thursday at 6:15 p.m. The girls varsity match will follow at 8 p.m.

Top Atheist's Son Campaigns For Christ

PUEBLO, Colo. (NEA) — Bill Murray, the son of America's leading atheist, Madalyn Murray O'Hair, has tears in his eyes as he speaks of his mother.

He says that she is miserable and that he prays for her every day. But they never speak, and she will not read his letters.

Murray, 35, whose mother was responsible for the banning of prayers in public schools 18 years ago, spends 10 days a month away from his Houston home, speaking to churches about how he came to Christ and denouncing his mother's activist atheism.

He was 14 years old in 1960 when he and his family attempted to defect to the Soviet Union but were denied entry.

When they returned to the United States, his mother took him to school to enroll him in the ninth grade even though the term had started. She became furious, he says, when she heard pupils saying the Pledge of Allegiance and praying the Lord's Prayer.

She argued with a school counselor, calling prayer in schools "un-American," and soon thereafter filed the lawsuit that made waves throughout the country. Bill was named as one of the plaintiffs in the suit.

In 1963, she won the case. But later, God won her son, Murray, who at one time was executive director of the American Atheist Association started by his mother. In 1980, he took a "Saul on the road to Damascus" turn to Jesus Christ.

Ever since, he's been traveling the country, trying to undo the harm he says his mother has wreaked on the nation.

Murray contends that the atheist association was financially faltering when he took it over in 1973 but that he built it from an income of $2,000 a month to $40,000 a month.

Murray later owned a printing company and a taxi cab company. He also worked in the aviation industry and today is an aviation consultant.

He firmly believes that prayer ought to be allowed in public buildings, and suggests that children be allowed to gather voluntarily in small groups after school to pray.

"We have taken separation of church and state to the extent that we suppress freedom of speech and assembly," he says.

"America would not be America were it not for religion," says former atheist Bill Murray. The man who was one of the plaintiffs in the suit that led to the banning of prayers in public schools now is being thrown off campuses for handing out religious folders.

"They have caused atheistic humanism to be the state church. That's what the Constitution tried to prevent. America would not be America were it not for religion."

Murray and his Faith Foundation Inc. have been thrown off a few school campuses for handing out notebook folders that contain the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments. The folders have been distributed in more than 35 states thus far.

"The kids bring them to school every day," said Murray. "I think they will be the subject of conversation in schools. I think it will give Christian kids the opportunity to invite others to go to church with them. Once we give them to the kids, they become their possessions and cannot be taken away by school officials."

Murray said his mother was always devoted to overturning the established order and became more radical by the year.

She has campaigned to remove "In God We Trust" from federal currency, prayer from the legislatures and "so help me God" from the presidential oath of office. She has sued to prevent clergymen from visiting patients in hospitals that receive federal funds and to take religious names off hospital buildings.

She even advocates preventing astronauts from praying in outer space, since federal monies are used to send them there.

Murray, who says he formerly smoked and drank heavily, accepted Christ as his savior when, in his despair over the financial ruin of his aviation business, he turned to the Bible for comfort. He says that he was also driven to Christianity by the hatred and resentment that he believes are part and parcel of the atheism.

When he came to God, his relationship with his mother evaporated. "She doesn't speak to me at all," he says. "She thinks I have some contagious disease and doesn't want to catch it."

He said she hangs up on him when he phones and tears up his letters and returns them.

One of his life's goals is to convert his younger brother, who is Mrs. O'Hair's heir, to the Christian life.

"I don't like what she stands for, and I disagree with her," Murray says, "but I still love her. Without God, you are so involved in intense self-centeredness that you completely forget about others."

"I hope God touches her. But she's going to struggle against it to the end."

TODAY, START PLANNING FOR SOMEDAY.

On January 1, Southeast Bank introduces a whole new series of retirement funds. We call them our Super Someday Retirement Funds.

Now money that you'd ordinarily be paying income taxes on can go toward insuring a secure, worry free retirement, instead. Both your money and the interest you earn are tax sheltered.

Any working person is eligible, whether you're salaried or self-employed.

What's more, Southeast will give you a number of different funds to choose from, so you're sure to find one that's made to order. And, of course, each of them is backed by the FDIC, and the strength of Florida's largest bank, 80 years old and growing.

So come January 1, come on in to any Southeast banking center all across Florida. You'll find a Southeast banker ready and able to help you get started toward that Super Someday.

Deposits are insured up to $100,000 for each depositor by FDIC. Early withdrawals require substantial penalties.

In And Around Longwood

Santa House Aids Cancer Society

Sunday through Tuesday, Dec. 20-22, is "Santa House" time!

Each year the Paparella family of Knollwood invite the parents of the community to bring their little ones to visit with Santa and to enjoy their delightfully decorated Christmas yard for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

Children will receive balloons and coloring books and can tell Santa of their Christmas wishes in a setting of Christmas wonder.

SR 434.

All Longwood children are invited to the annual Christmas Party on Dec. 19th from 1 to 4 p.m. at the community building, across from City Hall.

Also, on Dec. 19, the Youth Company Dancers of the Southern Ballet Theatre will form a "Christmas Ballet for Children" at Robinson's in the Altamonte Mall. Performance begins at 11:30 a.m. in the children's department.

Don't forget the Christmas covered dish dinner sponsored by the Longwood Women's Club on Dec. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the club building. Members and their families are invited.

Altamonte Elementary School's "Winter Program" will be held Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the school media center.

'Tis the season jolly ole Santa is in need of help from all you good people of Seminole County.

"Operation Santa," sponsored by the Seminole Jaycees is in need of any gift you can donate to help the needy people this holiday season.

Donations can be dropped off at the Brantley Square Shopping Center, intersection of SR 436 and "Santa House" is located just three houses from Palm Springs Drive and one block south of SR 434 at 1206 Waverly Way.

"Santa House" will be open from 6 until 9 p.m. on all three days.

Donations will be accepted for the American Cancer society.

SURE, HE'S A GOOD BOY

Derek Louche, 8, of Orlando, chats with Santa and his elf, Lauren Garrett, last weekend during visit to Beta Sigma Phi's Santa House held Saturday and Sunday at the Small Fry nursery in Casselberry to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Association.

Woman Has 'Superstars' In Her Eyes

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a Barry Manilow concert, and I haven't been able to get him out of my mind since. Abby, I am perfectly in tune with all the feelings Barry expresses! All my life I've had the feeling that God put me on earth to love and fulfill the needs of someone like Barry Manilow, someone who has everything in the world but happens to be very lonely. Please don't get me wrong. It's not the money, fame or glamour I'm looking for. I just want to devote my life to someone who wants more than anything in the world to be loved for himself, but has never found that person.

Dear Abby

I am not a fat, ugly old woman who has never had a date. I am 22, attractive and have no trouble getting dates. I just need help to do what the Lord wants me to do.

wants you to meet either one of these gentlemen, trust him to provide the introduction. DEAR ABBY: I am particularly upset when I arrive early at a movie to select a seat where I want it, and then have two or three people come in and sit near me and start talking or giggling or commenting on the movie. Even "stage whispers" can spoil the show for me.

it, but it wasn't the end of our marriage and it didn't diminish our love for each other.

Over the years we have experienced an intimacy that would not be believed by this present generation, which thinks all there is to marriage is sex. When we cuddle up in each other's arms on a cold winter night, we achieve a more lasting closeness than those couples who make love for three minutes, then leave each other to go to sleep in separate beds.

school He needed another two years of undergrad work, then med school and internship, a total of seven years.

"My God, Abby," he wrote, "in seven years I'll be 42!"

Your reply was simply, "And how old will you be in seven years if you don't go to med school?"

How do you ask people to be quiet? And what do you say if they say, "If I want to talk, I'll talk"? Or worse yet, "If you don't like it — move!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO DOUGH FOR COLLEGE": No one said it better than Ben Franklin: "The only thing more expensive than education is ignorance."

DEAR LOVER: Politely ask your noisy neighbors to please be quiet. And if you encounter a rude response, complain to the manager.

DEAR TIM: You already have. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I have no sympathy for the 32-year-old woman who married a 60-year-old man (second time around) and found that he was impotent.

Then you printed a letter from a man who was 36 (the age I'll be when I finish) and wanted to go to medical

Mrs. Ruth Hamilton, world traveler, historian and artist has visited the USSR three times via bus with Scandinavians from Stockholm. Some of the art objects and items that will be displayed are an antique brass samovar with czar markings of approval, a large troika wood carving, interesting icons that the peasants worshipped, an oil painting of a peasant by Mrs. Hamilton

Also, pictures of Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, first man in space, his peasant background and rise to fame, will be reviewed. One highlight is her visit to the Yusopov Palace in Leningrad where Rasputin was murdered. It is now a rest home and library for teachers. Interested visitors are welcome to attend the 7:15 lecture.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, December 16, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY December 16, 1981
Your desire to raise your status in life will grow very strong this coming year. Because you will aim higher than you ever have in the past, you'll move up the ladder of success several rungs at a time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your possibilities for success today are exceptionally good. You should be able to see opportunities which others may overlook or ignore. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Adhere to your compassionate instincts today and put the concerns of friends above your own. Being unselfish may hold a pleasant reward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You are what you think you are today. If you feel you're going to be lucky, you probably will be. If you want to move mountains, give it a try.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Try to spend time today with persons who are optimistic and interested in bettering their positions in life. You'll pick up valuable ideas which you can use successfully.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It will be difficult to think of anything in other than large terms today, and this is good.

Dare to reach high. The chances are excellent for attaining your goals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something fortunate materially could happen for you today through a social contact or a good friend. It may be the fulfillment of a dream.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Because someone important is quite fond of you, there is a good chance you'll get a lucky break at work today. It may be a promotion, or possibly a bonus.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your insight regarding matters affecting your career or work today is on-target. Even if it involves the solicitation of a pal, follow through.

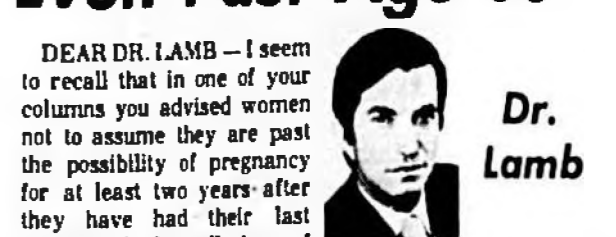

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your earning potential is extremely high today, due to your ability to turn everyone you meet into a friend. People will do things for you they may not do for others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have the marvelous faculty today of being able to build upon good ideas conceived by others. It'll be your touch that puts them over the top.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have both intuition and luck going for you today, especially in areas which could contribute to your material security. Use each.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An optimistic attitude is important today in your business and financial affairs. Don't just think "win." Dare also to think "big."

Pregnancy Possible Even Past Age 50

DEAR DR. LAMB—I seem to recall that in one of your columns you advised women not to assume they are past the possibility of pregnancy for at least two years after they have had their last period and after all signs of the menopause are over.

I am 53 years-old, still having regular periods and have never had any menopausal signs. My doctor said when I asked him about the possibility of pregnancy that it would be a "miracle." On my medical chart I am listed as a "post-menopausal" patient. May I have your thoughts on this matter? I stopped using any method of birth control about six months ago when my doctor said it wasn't necessary.

DEAR READER—The two-year guideline is intended for women making decisions on their own. If your doctor is satisfied after examining you that you cannot get pregnant you should rely on his judgment.

Women can and do get pregnant after your age. It all depends upon whether or not there are any more ova being formed and if an occasional ovum is released. Women can get pregnant, and there are substantiated reliable records for this, even at age 56, some claim even older.

You may not be able to judge what has happened in relation to your menopause if you are taking birth control pills. You will have artificial menstruation when the pills are stopped once a month that may have nothing at all to do with ovulation. Such periods do not mean you have not already gone through the menopause. The hormones in the pills also may prevent hot flashes and other symptoms of the menopause.

You can use the temperature guide and other signs, such as changes in mucus, as well as presence or absence of menstruation to help you judge if you are still Letter number 17-2, Female

WIN AT BRIDGE

October 8th, just before his 72nd birthday.

John celebrating his 70th birthday by winning a Swiss team in Palo Alto with a team consisting of his old friend Oswald Jacoby, Mike Gottlieb, one of the original four aces who died last year, and bridge teacher Sallie Johnson of New York, whose 50 years brought the total age of the team down to a mere 275.

Here is a hand from the Barrett-Rau partnership of 1930. Billy opened one spade. Johnny bid two notrump. Billy five spades and Johnny closed at six notrump since the game was board-a-match and notrump counted 10 points more than spades.

John won the first trick with the king of hearts, led a spade to dummy, and played the jack of diamonds. East ducked and it was Katie bar the door.

John simply cashed dummy's ace of hearts and claimed seven on a squeeze when East showed out. East had to hang on to the ace of diamonds and West to a high heart. When John ran dummy's spades no one could keep three clubs and John made the grand slam with A-K-8 of clubs.

Not that it mattered. The other pair played six spades and just made it.
