Bible Verse For Today: THEY SHALL NOT BE WEARY:—They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint.—Isaiah 40:31.

Isn't it just like some folks to blame every unfortunate thing that happens on God?

Don't trouble about freedom of speech getting someone to listen to you.

Now we know the depression is over. J. P. Morgan has just organized a firm for the purpose of selling bonds.

Now that the canal is going to be dug, we hope that the Great Day will recover its former good humor.

Most of our exchanges during these days from the West must have a peculiar feeling of sympathy about them.

We dare say that that Oklahoma man who had his pants knocked off of him in an electrical storm can sympathize with those of us who have had our shirts.

The veterans who died in the hurricane last week did not die in vain. That tragedy will result in the payment of the bonus as soon as Congress meets.

The Sarasota Tribune suggests that the government ought to pay the meat producers not to raise prices instead of paying them to do it.

Wall Street stocks jumped a billion dollars in value at the mere suggestion from President Roosevelt of a "breathing spell." How what would it have done if he had meant it?

It seems particularly appropriate, in view of the large number of northern shipping interests who may benefit from this cross state canal, that the town on its western extremity should be known as Yankee town.

The cross state canal has produced its first casualties. Before a crowd of several hundred persons last Sunday the roof of a carpenter's warehouse collapsed while about 20 workmen were busy repairing it. Six carpenters were injured.

The degree of co-operation between various branches of the state government is nothing short of amazing. It may explain to some extent at least why this state gets so much done at so little expense to the people. With all the various cabinet members cutting each other's throat, what else could you expect?

The news of bond-dogging "white collar" projects has been reached with the approval in New York of an allotment of $25,000 for "Vocational Guidance for Junior and Senior High Schools" to provide high school students with counselors from among unemployed skilled workers who are to assist them in the selection of careers and in the determination of their life's work.

It's discouraging how little consideration some people seem to give for their fellowmen. The other day a woman arrived in Chicago from Seattle, Wash., she had been feeling badly, diagnosed in Chicago that she had cancer, did not, however, go to the hospital, but continued her journey in a crowded passenger train spreading the germs of a possible epidemic among several hundred people and through four states.

Misguided Patriotism

It is not difficult to understand the utter desperation to which the hypocritical, demagogic, and chivalric antics of Huey Long have driven his opponents in Louisiana during these recent years in which he has set himself up as the absolute dictator of a sovereign American state, but no clear-thinking, fair-minded man can avoid the conclusion that any attempt to escape such a regime of intolerable despotism by means of violent acts is not only likely to prove futile but also more often than not simply intensifies the political condition from which this tyranny springs. A dictator may be killed, but there is no guarantee that the man who will eventually take his place is any less a tyrant. A political assassination may be completely successful in the manner in which it is carried out, but there is no way by which the conditions which make a dictatorship possible can be removed by an assassin's bullet. Huey Long was simply the answer to an unfortunate state of affairs which have existed in Louisiana. Killing him will not alter in the slightest degree the social and economic arrangements which provided the political foundation for his ascent into hitherto undreamed of heights in American governmental history.

There is something about violence which begets violence. A volley of firing is usually preceded by a pistol shot. One assassination simply leads to another. Often the slaying of a tyrant merely results in greater tyranny. To murder the leader of the opposition is the simple way of cutting the Gordian knot. It is also the simple-minded way. Great problems are not solved that way. It is so easy to stop the litch without curing the sore that many people have gone to their death without knowing that they were sick, or why. In this hour of crisis in Louisiana politics, one question is paramount, "After Huey, then what?"

Nearly two thousand years ago a man of military genius returned to Rome from brilliant foreign conquests which had made the name of his legions known and feared throughout the civilized world. His friends could offer him no rewards grand enough and rich enough to express in adequate terms their esteem and admiration. But his enemies feared that he was planning to make himself emperor. So liberty-loving Romans assassinated Julius Caesar, only to get in his place many years of chaos under the second triumvirate, followed by the tyrannical rule of the Emperor Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, whose outstanding contribution to the social order was the persecution of the Christians.

Because of a desire for the liberty and freedom which they had seen developing in other countries, the French people revolted against the monarchy of Louis XVI and sent him to the guillotine. They put in his place Danton who immediately set himself up as dictator. For this he was overthrown and his place was taken by Marat who ruled tyrannically. A French peasant girl named Charlotte Corday believing that she was divinely inspired to restore her country to the orderly processes of a veritable republic, ventured into Marat's home and stabbed him to death. Marat was followed by Robespierre, a half mad creature who was the very inspiration of the Reign of Terror and who sent thousands of innocent citizens from the ordinary walks of life to the guillotine.

The sword of the law was drawn against the pomptox, when, about 1870, a man named William Ford's Theater in New York City was fired. This act was a way to tyrants. But Lincoln was followed by Andrew Johnson, a third man who ruled tyrannically. Neither the confidence nor the support of Lincoln, who in the end was assassinated, was followed by Grant. Grant followed by Hayes, Hayes followed by Cleveland, Cleveland followed by McKinley, McKinley followed by Roosevelt, Roosevelt followed by Taft, Taft followed by Wilson, Wilson followed by Woodrow Wilson, Woodrow Wilson followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

And so the wisdom of the cross state canal, which was adopted by the legislature in 1928, was a question. That I might say, I am sure, was an American, can there be any doubt that the canal was a way to tyrants? It was a way to tyrants.

Highway Traffic

Highway accidents last year in this state where they are costing the United States more than $2,000,000,000 a year, Professor S. B. Steinberg, of the University of Maryland, president of the educational division of the American Road Builders' Association, declared the other day in a speech delivered over the nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Mr. Steinberg said that in highway accidents last year 100 persons were killed every twenty-four hours, with one person in every 100 of population was injured. He appealed for better roads, trunk highways, bypasses, alternate routes and railroad grade crossing elimination as a solution for the problem.

Highways last year carried more than 80 percent of all the passenger transport in the United States. The closed steam and electric railroad carried 12 percent and airplanes less than 1 percent. The 100,000 buses in America can highways carry annually 2,000,000,000 passengers, which is equal to one bus ride for every person in the world.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

KIRKINREE, Sept. 8.—A negro section band of the Sugar Belt railroad, thought to be named George Thompson, was supposedly lynched at Pughara Junction, near here, Tuesday night, as the result of his insulting a white lady at her home near there, according to numerous reports. Another bond election carried on Tuesday after a very successful election on Monday, Tuesday's election was for school bonds in the Special School District No. 1 in the sum of $75,000. There were many predictions made in advance about the school bonds not carrying but it seems that the people of Sanford want the district to pay for the school property as should have been done years ago and not shift the entire burden upon the shoulders of the taxpayers. And the need of more school houses and equipment is apparent to everyone.

Name It "Roosevelt"

As a compliment to one of the greatest presidents who has ever occupied the White House the Star would suggest that the Florida cross-state canal be named the "Roosevelt" canal.

One great president, Andrew Jackson, envisioned a canal across the State of Florida connecting the waters of the Gulf of Mexico with the waters of the Atlantic, and a communication was sent to the Congress recommending construction of such a waterway. A century has passed since President Jackson first suggested the possibility of a waterway across Florida, and another great president, who can visualize the economic value of such a short cut from the Gulf to the Atlantic, occupies the White House.

During the Administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, we hope the work that has just been started on what will be the largest single waterway project ever undertaken in this country, will be brought to completion, and ships will pass from coast to coast.

What more fitting honor, who creates a monument could more can people pay the man in the White House than to give his name to the waterway the project is to be such a contribution to the economic welfare of this state and nation.

The name of Franklin D. Roosevelt will be inseparably connected with the Florida canal only he had the courage to initiate its construction. Only he had the vision to see into the future and plan for the safety of the people of this state.

What more fitting honor, who creates a monument could more can people pay the man in the White House than to give his name to the waterway the project is to be such a contribution to the economic welfare of this state and nation.

What Will You Do Without Water?

Central And South Florida Are Put Face To Face With That Vital Question By Construction Of Proposed Cross - State Canal

The people of Florida have been officially advised by the State Geologist that if a sea-level canal is constructed along the proposed route, it will cause irreparable damage to the underground water on which farmers depend for irrigation. This is confirmed by portions of report of Federal Geologists as this is public. Even if, as is reported, ten millions of dollars is to be available to compensate municipalities for water supplies, there is no reported provision to compensate private owners for wells or irrigation systems, needless.

EXTRACTS FROM STATE GEOLOGIST'S STATEMENT. "That there is rather a delicate balance between the fresh and salt water horizons in this area known, and that there has been an encroachment of salt water during the past several years is definite. From the data that have been procured this area of mineralized artesian water has been generally outlined and it is significant that its apex points westwardly toward the Ocala region. These dangers but have not been permanently and indefinitely usable. The lowering of the artesian head in areas where there already such a delicate balance existing can have but a disastrous effect. Once the fresh water is replaced by the heavier salt water there will be no chance to rectify or alter conditions. No one having the permanent future welfare of the State at heart will want a cross State canal started without first knowing that all possible data have been procured which will positively assure against disastrous effects therefrom. A complete copy of the above statement may be obtained from the committee.

Now Is The Time To Act!

It is unthinkable that the fresh water supplies of Central and South Florida should be allowed to be destroyed without the strongest of opposition from citizens. The Seminole County Agricultural Association which from the first has the opposition has now created a separate committee to carry on the contest. This is not the fight of Seminole County alone, but of Central and South Florida.

Legal counsel has been retained. Action looking to halting construction by injunction and other legal means is to be taken promptly. Other action which may assure safe guarding our water supply will be prosecuted vigorously. Protests must be made in such manner that they are bound to be heeded. We want you with us. This is not a matter of concern to just a few men, but to every man, woman, and child in Central and South Florida. We want the weight of YOUR influence. Further need your contribution toward the necessary cost of carrying out this fight. Large or small, this contribution will be appreciated, and every safe word thrown about the spending of the funds.

30 Canal Workers Injured As Roof Of Warehouse Falls

At least 30 canal workers were injured today as a roof of a warehouse collapsed on them in a small town in the northern part of the state. The collapse occurred in the early afternoon when the workers were engaged in the construction of a canal. The roof, which was made of heavy timber, fell in a section that was about 50 feet wide and 100 feet long. The workers were caught under the debris, and many were seriously injured. The cause of the collapse is believed to be the weight of the roof, which had not been properly supported. The incident has caused a halt to work in the area and a search for the injured men is now under way.

30 Canal Workers Injured As Roof Of Warehouse Falls

(Continued from page 1) The collapse of the roof was a tragic accident that resulted in the deaths of several workers and the permanent disability of many others. The workers were engaged in the construction of a canal, and the warehouse was used for storing supplies. The roof, which was made of heavy timber, fell in a section that was about 50 feet wide and 100 feet long. The workers were caught under the debris, and many were seriously injured. (Continued from page 1) The hurricane, which was named "Florida," was the most powerful to hit the state since 1926. It caused widespread destruction and loss of life. The wind reached a maximum velocity of 110 miles per hour, and the storm surge was several feet high. The damage was extensive, particularly in the coastal areas. The hurricane was a major event of the week, overshadowing other news items.

Electric Consumers Were Saved Over 60 Millions In 1934-35

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—An annual saving of $60,000,000, or 22 percent of the total, in the cost of electric utility in 1934-35 over 1933-34, was reported today by the Federal power commission. The saving was achieved through the use of more efficient equipment and the installation of load-reducing devices. The commission also reported that the total cost of electric utility in 1934-35 was $268,000,000, compared with $328,000,000 in 1933-34.

Liquor Ordinance Finally Adopted By Commissioners

The costs of erecting a first class building were referred back to Myrtle Avenue was referred back to Inspector G. P. Patton with authority for him to act if the building is erected in accordance with the city zoning ordinance.

The Commissioners were advised by officials of the Sanford Gas Co. that they are ready to make suitable repairs to their mains under First Street and Park Avenue if projects calling for the streets are approved and work is ordered begun.

The Commissioners also were advised that the Southern Bell Telephone Co. is not now in a position to pay for the cost of placing its wires in cables under First Street. The Commissioners instructed Clerk Lamson again to call the Florida Power and Light Co.'s attention to these needed repairs.

Attorney F. R. Wilson presented to the city with a master's deed to the Florida MacCarben Concrete Pipe Co. plant property, now being located to the city. At the suggestion of Commissioner Spear, the building and grounds were ordered set aside for use as storage property for city use.

Clerk Lamson also was instructed to purchase insurance covering the personal property in the old concrete plant building up to $2000 in value.

Adjournment followed after the commissioners had approved the expenditure of about $200 to send the chief Mar Cleveland to the International Fire Chiefs Convention in Knoxville and had approved the use of the City Hall as the site of a benefit wrestling match this week or next week.

Ocala, Sept. 10.—As Ocala went into a dizzy whirl, bedded by diverse high-speed activities and a flood of rumors and reports, steps were taken Sunday to crack down on possible "cheating" and "profiteering" that may come as the Roosevelt canal boom grows here.

Jack Tucker, president of the merchant's association, announced that a mass meeting of businessmen will be held Monday night to consider the profiteering possibilities and means to head them off. Reports are already filtering around about excessive price hikes following announcement of the $5,000,000 canal fund.

What we have asked for and what that far we have been unable to obtain is, in assurance from the United States Geological Survey that our water supply will not be encroached.

Not only have we been unable to obtain such assurance, but the information thus far coming to us from that source is alarming confirmation of our worst fears.

Falling to obtain readily elsewhere, we are turning to the law, because we do not believe the law of the land will permit the devastation of large and important areas in order to permit improvements of doubtful value in other localities.

We are glad to find that we do not stand alone. Other areas south of the proposed canal also will be affected to greater or less extent. We expect plenty of assistance because this is a matter of moment to practically every man, woman, and child in central and south Florida, if they would but realize it.

Because we have long had an agricultural organization in our community, of which I happen to be president, it seems to me to be the spear head of opposition to a too hasty construction of the canal. We are willing but we expect and are assured of plenty of support from other areas.

The new organization provided by the Association which until now has led in opposing the hasty construction of the proposed canal.

The organization provided for an enlarged representation to include other areas of the state where alarm is also reported as having been felt as to the undesirable outcome of the canal's construction.

Will committees already functioning to obtain needed funds, and meeting with a ready response. Employment today of legal counsel, Mr. Dorris stated, is a first step in the new fight against the project.

City Briefs

The city council has passed a resolution to purchase insurance covering the personal property in the old concrete plant building up to $2000 in value.

Adjournment followed after the commissioners had approved the expenditure of about $200 to send the chief Mar Cleveland to the International Fire Chiefs Convention in Knoxville and had approved the use of the City Hall as the site of a benefit wrestling match this week or next week.

How the commissioners referred his request for permission to build a garage south of the garage in the old White House Co. building on Palmetto Avenue to Inspector G. P. Patton.

Filed for record on Sept. 10, 1935, Tolari's report as to the investigation for August. The report revealed that he treated 24 patients in the office, made 24 visits to the county jail, and 11 to the hospital.

Approval was given to an application by the W. L. East and Coal Co. for permission to erect a loading platform just south of the Standard Oil plant on the waterfront.

Clerk Lamson advised the Commissioners that they should declare the registration books for the November primary election open on next Monday. The books were ordered opened on that date.

J. H. C. through local insurance agent, was given the renewal of about $100 worth of liability and property damage insurance on city motor vehicles. Present policies expire Oct. 1.

The Commissioners approved the action of their group as a Tax Equalization Board last week the removal of several trees from the Mrs. Margaret Holbert home property on Laurel Avenue and the payment of $100 to J. J. Moughton, local architect, who is drawing plans for several projects which, it is hoped, will be approved by the city.

The Commissioners decided to head the 1934 shipment personal property tax list to a collector on Oct. 1, and ordered notices sent to all delinquents again advising that after that date they must pay a 10 percent collection penalty.

An application by these and

A declaration of exercise of the state's police power to protect the public health and welfare and to stabilize and protect the citrus industry" was made in the preamble of the citrus commission bill.

The commission was given authority to establish standards for grades of fruit, to establish standards and containers, and identifying tags or marks to be attached to each box.

"All citrus fruits sold or offered for sale or offered for shipment within or without the State of Florida shall be graded and marked as required by this act and the regulations, rules and orders adopted and made under authority of this act, which regulations, rules and orders, when not inconsistent with state or federal law, shall have the force and effect of law," the act read.

The duty of enforcing the rules of the citrus commission was placed upon the commissioner of agriculture and the general inspection service. Expenses are to be paid out of the inspection fund, which is supported by a fee charged against each box of citrus.

Members of the commission serve without pay, but they are allowed $10 a day and reasonable expenses when actually attending the commission's business. A secretary is authorized as salary not exceeding $5,000 annually and a manager at salary not exceeding $5,000 annually also is authorized.

Headquarters expenses of the commission is limited to $30,000 annually, but the limitation does not apply to the number of field employees or agents of the commission. The commission may establish its headquarters at any point in the state which it selects.

The act creating the commission will repeal itself automatically on June 1, 1937 unless it is re-enacted by the 1937 Legislature.

The citrus marketing act approved by the Legislature on August 7, 1935, which set a limit of 7 1/2 cents on the box of citrus fruit, is still in effect.

A fruit market law which provides for the regulation of citrus fruit markets and the establishment of a citrus market board, was approved by the Legislature on August 7, 1935.

The act provides for (1) creation of a state citrus commission, (2) three laws for box taxes on oranges, grapefruit and tangerines to advertise Florida fruits, (3) maturity tests, (4) handling and shipping of handlers of fruit, (5) guarantee of grower's cost of

Veterans' Camp Locale Called Forgotten Land

Man Who Got Out Just Ahead Of Hurricane Says Plight Terrible

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 15.—Joseph G. Barish, of the Hotel Thirty-sixth Street and Seventh Avenue, who departed from the Veterans' Camp No. 5 at Matecumbe, Fla., just before the hurricane on Sunday, Sept. 15, arrived here Wednesday, described the locale of the three camps as a veritable "forgotten land." The camps were situated about four miles apart at the tip of Florida, midway in the fifty-mile stretch between Miami and Key West. At the Matecumbe camp, he said the land was not more than fifty yards wide, with the Atlantic Ocean on one side and the Gulf of Mexico on the other.

HIGHLIGHTS in the LIFE of HUEY LONG

Long Reached Highest Peak Of State Control Ever Known

To His Followers He Was A Genius, Friend But To His Enemies He Was A Demagogue

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 13.—(By wire from Baton Rouge.)—Long's political career, from his early prominence as a Louisiana legislator to his death as a national figure, was a study in the rise and fall of a demagogue. He reached the highest peak of state control ever known in Louisiana, and in the process, he became a legend to his followers and a warning to his enemies.

His political career began in 1912 when he was elected to the Louisiana House of Representatives. He was re-elected in 1914, 1916, and 1918. In 1920, he was elected to the Louisiana Senate. In 1924, he was elected Governor of Louisiana. In 1928, he was elected to the United States Senate.

Long's political career was marked by a series of bold moves. He was the first Louisiana Governor to hold a public hearing. He was the first Louisiana Governor to hold a public hearing. He was the first Louisiana Governor to hold a public hearing.

Kingfish Heard In Senate

Senate Custom That New Members Listen to Speeches

The Senate custom that new members listen to speeches of their colleagues was observed today when Senator Huey P. Long, D-La., was sworn in. Long's speech, in which he outlined his program for Louisiana, was one of the most powerful ever heard in the Senate.

Long's speech was a masterpiece of demagogic oratory. He spoke of the "Kingfish" and the "Bully" and of the "people's party." He spoke of the "Kingfish" and the "Bully" and of the "people's party." He spoke of the "Kingfish" and the "Bully" and of the "people's party."
