

Traffic Ticket In Sanford Leads To $160,000 Lawsuit

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler and City Attorney Vernon Mize Jr. will spend today in a federal courtroom defending a 1974 traffic ticket arrest which has led to a $160,000 lawsuit.

Trial of the suit filed by a North Carolina businessman, charging the arrest of one of his employees six years ago cost him her services and led to a business loss of $10,000 a year, began Wednesday before Federal District Judge John A. Reed Jr. in Orlando's federal courthouse.

Businessman James D. Sullivan, operator of the "Baby History Plan," claims the March 29, 1974, arrest of employee Linda Burnside, now of New York, caused her to quit his business a few months later. He is asking more than $160,000 be awarded him by the City.

Burnside was held overnight in the county jail on that date, when she was stopped by Sanford police officer Richard Bennett, who found she had only a New York driver's license. When she admitted she had been working in Florida for more than 30 days, Bennett arrested Burnside on a charge of having an improper driver's license. Under state law, transient salesmen must obtain a Florida license if they are in the state 30 days or more.

Sullivan, who is representing himself before the court, says the arrest violated Burnside's civil rights. He claims the incident led Burnside to feel insecure about driving through the country alone, causing her to perform badly on the job and eventually leave it a few months later.

He says she would have brought his company $10,000 a year in sales and asks $60,000 for lost sales for the years since the arrest, 6 percent interest on that amount, and $100,000 punitive damages from the Sanford police.

The city's response to Sullivan's charges states the arrest was perfectly proper. Police had probable cause to arrest Burnside for violation of the state law, because she had no Florida license and said she had been in Sanford more than 30 days, it says.

Sullivan claimed federal, not local courts, had jurisdiction in the matter, because it concerns a civil rights issue and he is a resident of North Carolina suing a Florida municipal agency.

Burnside is listed as an "unwilling plaintiff" but would not profit from any of the money her former boss is claiming, court records indicate.

Burnside was employed to travel from state to state, selling the "Baby History Plan," an $89.95 package consisting of a photo album and a certificate good at several local photo studios for 16 portraits of a child taken over an eight-year period.

Several Sanford city officials said they had thought the suit, first filed in 1976, had died long ago. But court records say it simply sat dormant due to delays won by Sullivan.

The trial is expected to conclude Friday, when the jury of six men will decide whether anyone's civil rights were violated, and if so, how much Sullivan should be awarded.

Sealift Slows

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Weary Americans got a breather from the Cuban refugee influx today, giving time for a scheduled takeover of security duty by U.S. Marines, but a Florida National Guard officer said the sealift hull was likely to be only temporary.

"It's slackened off, but we go into periods like this from time to time. Then they'll start coming at you again," said National Guard Maj. Raymond Daniel.

In the first third of the day, only seven boats reached Key West with 304 refugees. That brought the refugees total since April 21 to 24,451 aboard 533 boats.

Radio Havana, in a broadcast monitored in Miami, reported today that as of midnight Wednesday there were 1,381 boats still waiting to load in the harbor at Mariel. It reported 3,068 "antisocials" left Cuba on Wednesday.

U.S. Customs inspectors counted 4,661 Cuban refugees arriving in Key West aboard 80 boats Wednesday.

Two detachments of Marines in camouflage uniforms arrived at Key West late Wednesday. Shortly before their arrival, National Guardsmen had broken up a series of scuffles among refugees at the old seaplane hangar of the Trumbo annex at Key West's Naval Air Station. Refugees were battling for places in the lines to board buses.

"They don't want to lose their places in line. They're not bad people. They just want to get out of here," said Lt. Col. Richard Capps of the National Guard.

The Miami Herald — quoting unnamed sources — reported in its Thursday edition the FBI has identified at least 20 Cuban secret agents among the refugees.

Arthur Neuhaus, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, declined to say how many suspected Castro agents have been found.

Paid Job-Hunting Lessons? County Rejects Program

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has turned down a proposal to sponsor a private firm's application for $105,801 in federal grant money to start a school to look for a job and that would pay them by the hour for attendance.

But Seminole County Personnel Director Lois Martin said there is still a possibility the proposal will pass at a later date, when the commissioners become more familiar with Title VII of CETA, the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

"Title VII, she said, is designed to get private industry involved in helping the economically disadvantaged get jobs. The county, however, must by law act as prime sponsor for CETA programs.

Martin said the commission has agreed to hold a work session to discuss the proposal further, but a date for the session has not been set.

Under the proposal, each student would be paid $3.10 per hour to attend a 30-hour-per-week, three-week course. The balance of the funds would be used for the private firm's administrative costs.

The grant became available due to a change in direction for CETA.

CETA was designed to help economically disadvantaged persons get public-sector jobs, Martin said.

But the proposal for a Self-Directed Job Search Program is designed to teach "CETA eligibles" who cannot be placed in public jobs how to seek jobs in private industry, she said.

Four county commissioners, however, did not see the need for it. Only Commissioner Bob French voted for the proposal.

French said he thought the program would provide a good opportunity for "some of the young people just coming into the labor market to get introduced to the realities of looking for a job."

He said the participants would be taught some of the "more subtle" things they need to know to get a job but don't always hear about.

Commission Chairman Bill Kirchhoff called the grant "candy" for the private firm hoping to obtain it and criticized the opinion he said was held by many that money must be spent just because it's there.

The firm, Southern Human Resources Company, is owned by Don E. Yontz of Altamonte Springs.

Yontz denied allegations that the firm was established just to take advantage of the grant, stating that the company was established in October 1979, before he had heard about the grant.

He said the Southern Human Resources was created primarily for consulting and recruiting professional people for salaried positions in major industries and business. He said he learned about the possibility of the CETA grant "from various people I know in the community" who could not think of anyone better qualified than himself and who I hire" for the grant. He declined to say who those people were.

According to a paper issued by Martin, the firm has not conducted programs for the county, so county staff "could not evaluate the agency's operational performance."

Despite that, county staff recommended approval of the proposal and Martin reported that the Private Industry Council, at its meeting on April 8, also decided to recommend it.

The Self-Directed Job Search Program proposed would assist participants in developing motivation, positive habits and attitudes, and realistic expectations in order to increase their ability to obtain and retain employment, Martin wrote.

It was predicted that "at least 65 percent of the participants would obtain employment after completing the program, Martin's report added.

Yontz explained that the program would be designed to give people the positive attitude that they CAN find a job and at the same time provide them with the tools and techniques they need to obtain gainful employment in today's "complicated job market."

Legislation To Allow Sunday Wagering Passes

A bill to permit the operation of pari-mutuel wagering establishments on Sundays passed the Florida House of Representatives on their reading today and now will go on to the state Senate for further action.

Prior to its passage, State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, was successful in tacking on an amendment to the bill requiring local approval by referendum before the establishments can open on Sundays.

Despite his success in amending the legislation, Brantley voted against the measure.

Mystery 9 Coffins From Raid Arrive

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (UPI) — Military officials estimate it will take several days for pathologists to identify the remains of the eight American servicemen killed in Iran and clear up the mystery of the ninth coffin.

Defense Department and civilian pathologists began the task of trying to identify the remains after the nine coffins were delivered to the base mortuary Tuesday night.

A Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday the pathologists did not know how long the task would take, but estimated identification would be completed in several days.

The bodies were contained in nine coffins, apparently because Iranian officials insisted nine Americans died in the aborted rescue mission. U.S. sources said only four of the bodies were intact.

The Pentagon said eight American soldiers were killed in an aircraft collision and fire on an Iranian desert

April 26 as U.S. forces were ending an attempt to free the American hostages being held by Iranian militants in Tehran.

A base spokesman said the discrepancy between the number of coffins and the number of reported dead "will be reconciled during the identification process."

Armed guards surrounded the base mortuary, continuing the shroud of secrecy that cloaked the return of the charred remains to the United States.

President Carter will deliver the eulogy during a national memorial service at Arlington National Cemetery Friday for the American servicemen who died in the rescue attempt.

Families of the five Air Force men and three Marines killed have been invited to attend along with Defense Department officials, members of Congress, the Supreme Court and the Cabinet.

Flagship Bank Takes Option In Lake Mary

Flagship Bank of Seminole has taken an option to purchase a five-acre parcel on Lake Mary Boulevard at Sun Street in Lake Mary for future development of a permanent banking facility, according to Irene Brown, vice president and marketing officer of the banking institution.

"Mrs. Brown said construction of a permanent bank is not planned at the site this year.

"When we opened the 'storefront bank' in Driftwood Plaza, we anticipated within 18 months or so there would be a need to expand and I found this property and tied it up," she said.

The Flagship Bank at the Driftwood Plaza opened Dec. 25, 1979. Facilities at Driftwood Plaza are leased.

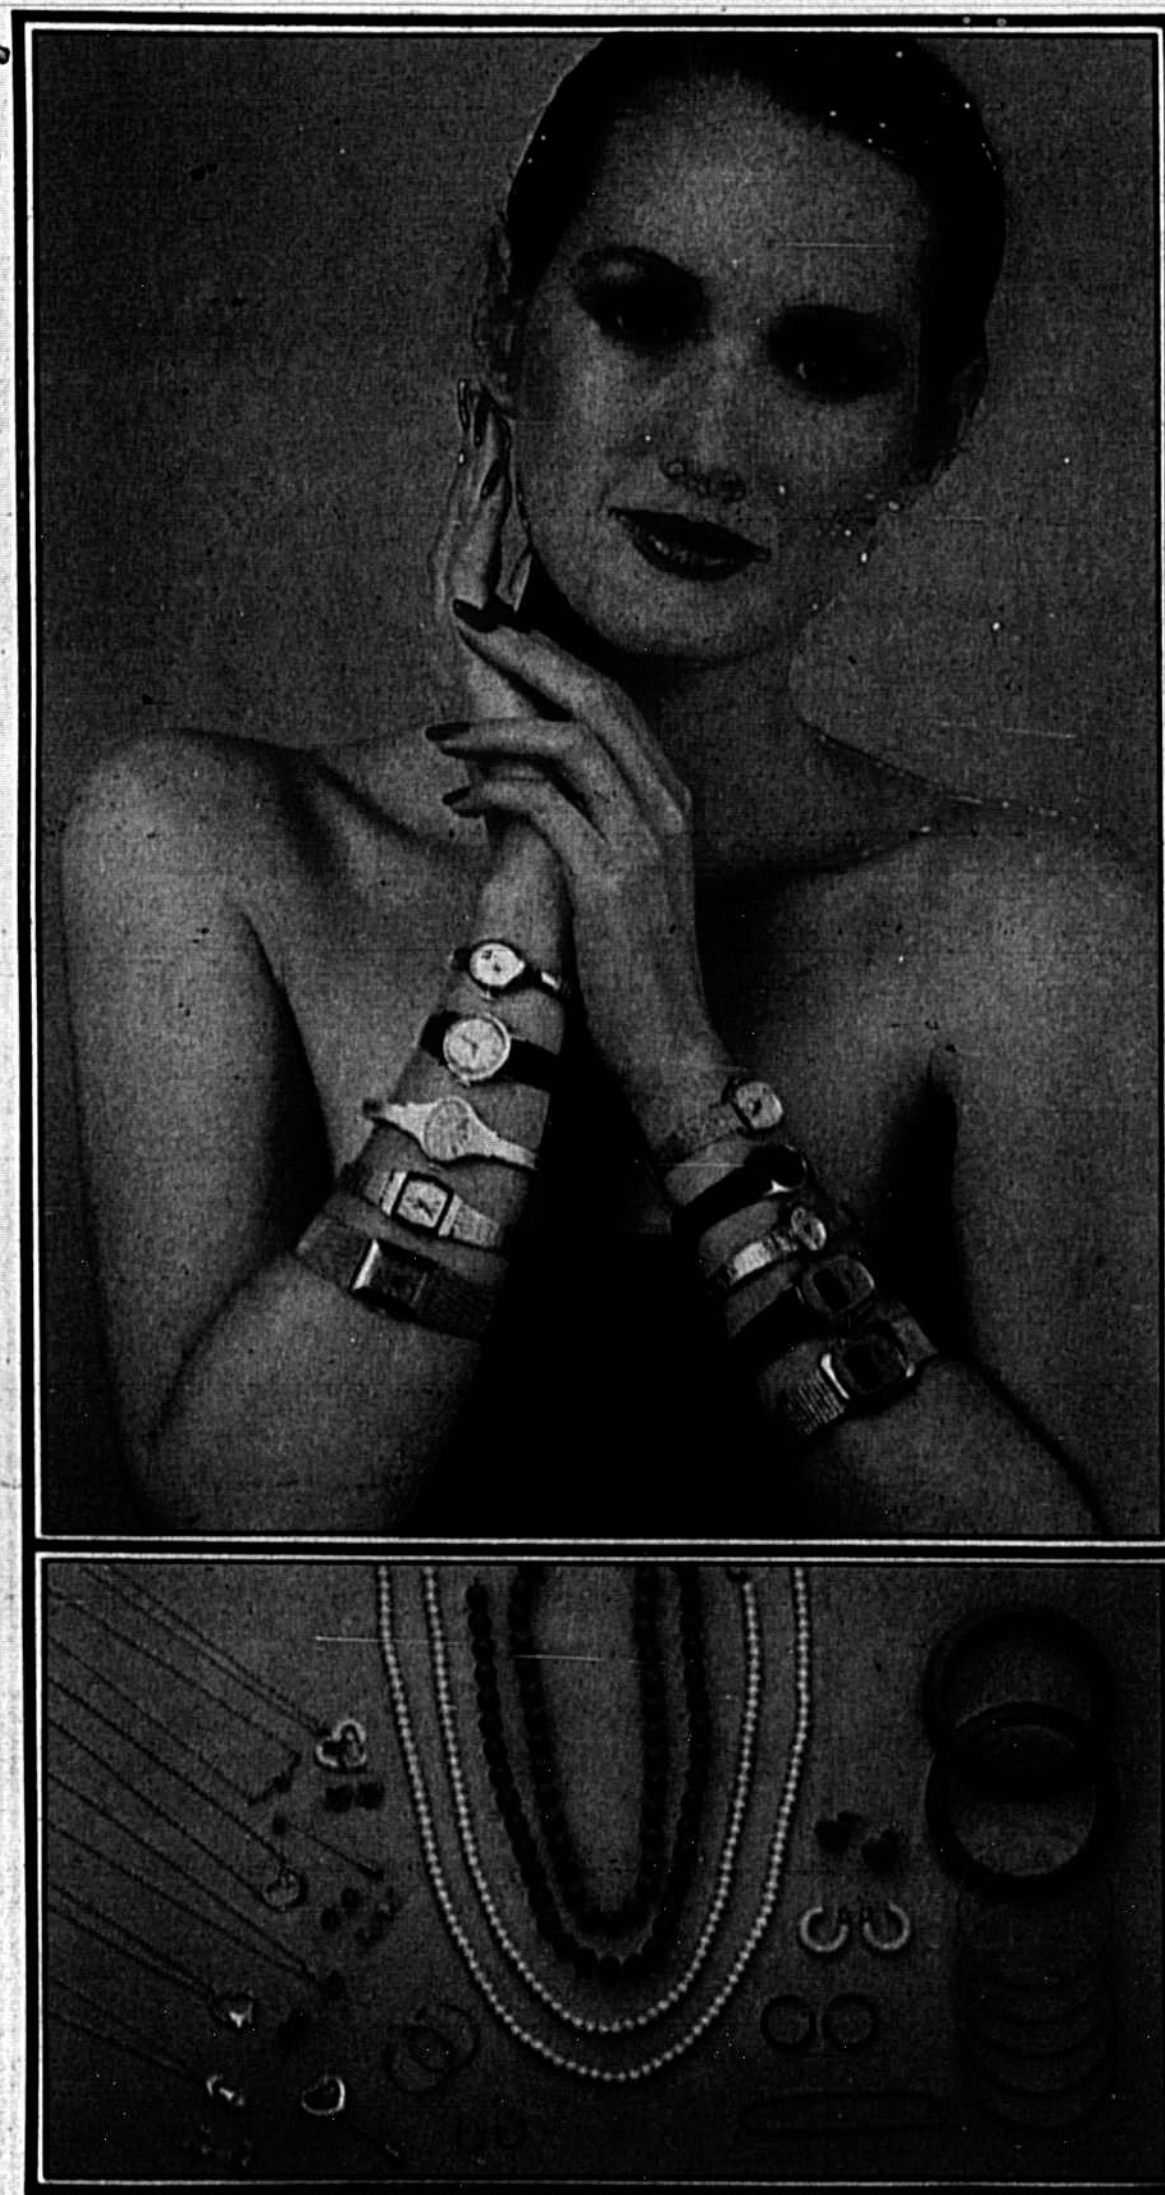

Option to purchase the Lake Mary Boulevard tract must be exercised by February, 1981, according to Mrs. Brown.

The option was taken out with John Squires, president of ComBank-Seminole, and Altamonte Springs attorney, Gary Massey.

Although he's president of ComBank-Seminole, Squires said he did not offer the site to his own firm because he felt it would be unethical.

"First of all, I would be the one to say yes for ComBank to purchase the site, having determined it's what we should be doing, and further I would be in charge of it for ComBank, so I just feel personally it wouldn't be right," said Squires.

Squires said he and Massey bought the five-acre parcel more than a year ago "as an investment."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Yugoslavs Mourn Tito, Pledge To Continue Policy

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Yugoslavia bade a sad farewell to President Josip Broz Tito today but pledged to keep alive the memory, policy and political legacy of the peasant-born statesman who led the nation for more than a generation.

"We are mourning the loss of our leader, but his works and ideas remain as permanent guidelines for our struggle," Communist party chairman Stevan Doronjki declared in a solemn eulogy from the steps of the grandmolded Federal Parliament building.

Criticism Surprises Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter and his aides are surprised and angry at the scathing criticism from European capitals directed at Carter for not attending the funeral of Yugoslav President Josip Broz Tito.

Khomeini Urges Moslem Vote

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini demanded today that Iranians elect "100 percent Moslem" representatives in Friday's voting for the new Parliament which will decide whether to free the American hostages.

Longwood Pay Raise Disturbs Neighbor

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The $2,000-a-year increase in starting wages (from $9,000 to $11,000) for Longwood police officers, approved by the city commission there in recent weeks, has thrown a monkey wrench into a sister community's financial machinery.

never occurred to me we should ask Winter Springs," Longwood is in a sound financial situation, she said.

"For too long, Longwood has not recognized its police and firemen and we've been losing them to Seminole and Orange counties," she said.

"We've got an elephant by the tail and don't know how to let loose," said Altamonte Springs Mayor Norman Floyd of spiraling wages. He said the county started the upward spiral in employee salaries by granting pay raises recently.

Lake Mary To Ponder Cuts In Budget

Lake Mary City Councilmen at a 7:30 p.m. workshop today will go over the city's operating budget with an eye toward cutting expenditures.

raises will be considered then, he said, and perhaps the cities could discuss in advance a uniform increase to bring salaries in all the jurisdictions in line with one another.

"I have never heard a policeman or fireman or sanitation worker who didn't say he could go elsewhere and make more money," Floyd said.

Sanford City Commissioner Eddie Keith said salary increases for Sanford employees are to be considered in his city in the next few months. "Persons working for Sanford have so much less buying power today," he said.

"Lake Mary Mayor" Walter Sorenson said $9,000 a year starting salary for police officers is not a reasonable salary for a man who risks his life. He said the Longwood increase was overdue. "If Lake Mary could afford it, we'd do the same thing. But we can't. I wish we could follow suit."

Councilmen decided they had two courses of action open to them: to cut expenditures or increase revenues, possibly by levying for the first time a utility tax. They agreed to look at cutting expenditures first, if possible, leaving the utility tax as a last resort.

Baseball Team Attempts To Recruit Incoming Cubans

Influx Upsets Alabama Legislator

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Stories unfolding at the Cuban refugee camps in the Florida Panhandle involve baseball players, suspected spies and the reuniting of a family of 13.

A Cincinnati Reds' scout held brief tryouts for a group of Cuban refugees awaiting processing by federal officials at the Fort Walton Beach fairground tent city. He said three of them were worth another look.

He denounced the country's "open-arm policy" in accepting the refugees and called on President Carter to say if any of the 182 Cubans sent to a new federal refuge in Talladega were known criminals.

Miami, which is processing the refugees, said rapists and murderers had been sent to Talladega. "The hardcore criminals are the ones who went to Talladega," she said.

At another undisclosed location, authorities were holding three other men suspected as spies for Fidel Castro's Cuban government.

And Antonio Garcia and his family were enjoying being back together after making the trip from Cuba to Key West separately.

Others Zarau said had potential are Carlos Martinez and Rogelio Meleivela.

While the baseball players fielded grounders and the suspected spies were interrogated, the Garcia family swapped tales about their different journeys from their homeland to Florida.

Wayne Joy, chief of processing for the Immigration and Naturalization Service at the refugee center said processing was stalled because federal offices were closed in Washington during the weekend when the tent city was established.

Each refugee must be fingerprinted and interrogated and the records sent to Washington for clearance before release is permitted. No clearances have been received.

Ter said the camp's population would continue to grow at the rate of 2,000 daily until it reached its estimated capacity of 10,000 probably by Saturday.

"We have three cases where we have information the people were affiliated with Castro," Joy said.

Muskie Begins New Job Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edmund Muskie takes over his new job as secretary of state today, promising continuity and strong support for the current foreign policy of the United States.

Muskie was sworn in as the 58th secretary of state at an evening ceremony at the White House.

The committee hearing lasted 2 hours and 44 minutes — most of it taken up by compliments and praise for Muskie. There was only one "regretful and respectful" no vote, from Sen. Jesse Helms, R-S.C.

Auto Dealers Face Money Crunch

United Press International
The largest U.S. savings and loan firm is slashing its prime mortgage rate to try to spur home buying, and auto dealers predict 25 percent of the dealerships could fold this year because of a lack of sales.

Chrysler has announced its second biggest quarterly loss, and Americans substantially reduced their rate of borrowing in March, putting a severe crimp in the auto and construction industries.

In Washington, the Federal Reserve Board said new consumer installment borrowing stood at $26.6 billion in March, down 1.6 percent from February's $27 billion. Auto loans were down 5.2 percent to $7.2 billion.

Chrysler has announced its second biggest quarterly loss, and Americans substantially reduced their rate of borrowing in March, putting a severe crimp in the auto and construction industries.

In Detroit, George S. Irvin, president of the National Automobile Dealers Association, appealed for government action encouraging banks to make auto loans. He also asked for additional aid from auto firms to help dealers absorb costs of buying cars and keeping them in inventory.

Irvin said 600 U.S. dealerships folded last year — more than in the three previous years — and 300 more have closed their doors so far in 1980. If there is no relief or change in economic conditions, 25 percent of existing car dealers could succumb this year, he said.

Carter, Reagan Look Ahead To Election

United Press International
Ronald Reagan is only 191 votes short of locking up the Republican nomination and is likely to win those later this month. President Carter needs 192 votes, and may hope for a celebration for the big primary night of June 3.

Both candidates are so certain of winning their party nominations they now are concentrating on the fall campaign against each other — although Sen. Edward Kennedy still challenges Carter and George Bush refuses to give Reagan a free ride.

As of Wednesday, Reagan had 807 delegates of the 998 required for the GOP nomination. Carter had 1,474 of the 1,866 Democratic delegates needed.

The Republicans will choose 319 delegates during the rest of May, and on Super Tuesday — June 3 — more than 900 delegates are at stake in nine primaries, including California.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The House takes a final look at its first package of energy bills today and then also looks to see how the proposals fare in the Senate.

And that was a bargain, according to Seminole County Commission Chairman Bill Kirchoff.

Kirchoff contends motor vehicle inspection has removed from the roads unsafe cars with slick tires, leaky mufflers, burned out tail lights and headlights and bad brakes...

Iran's Big Oil Problems

WASHINGTON — The Iranian oil industry is on the verge of collapse, say oil experts here and in London.

Daily production, which totaled almost 4 million barrels in its heyday when American experts and crews filled the Iranian oil fields, has declined ever since the revolution.

Even worse, the National Iranian Oil Company is having devastating problems getting what oil is being produced to market.

This has led to a critical shortage of skilled personnel, especially in the maintenance areas.

Which is the second major problem: President Carter's limitations on trade with Iran have from the beginning forbidden the sale of oil production or pipeline equipment...

In the last several months, NIOC has frantically attempted to secure both parts and personnel.

This photograph alone could have reassured the White House and the Pentagon, had there been any doubts, that Egypt's part in the puzzling rescue equation was a known, certain, and dependable element.

The United States is fortunate to have such a friend these days.

BUSINESS WORLD Corporate Board Change

By JAMES A. WHITE UPI Business Writer NEW YORK (UPI) — Pressure for change in the choice and responsibilities of directors who set policy for America's corporations has shown some impact but not nearly enough to please one veteran board member, Kenneth N. Dayton.

Dayton is chairman of the executive committee of Dayton-Hudson Corp., the Minneapolis-based department store chain.

"I think boards of directors are the Achilles' heel of the American business system," he said in an interview for the May issue of Directorship, a newsletter for directors.

What Dayton has in mind is not prohibiting anyone who works for the company to serve on its board of directors, as has been suggested by Chairman Harold Williams of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He is instead for electing relatively young directors, using their ideas and independence to direct the company and then getting them off the board before they wither.

"After you've been in a board role for so long, I believe you have given most of what you have to give. Therefore, the institution is better off if you move on and someone else comes in," Dayton told Directorship, based in Westport, Conn.

The composition of boards today remains quite the opposite: members most often are connected with the company as current or former executives, serve as its lawyer or banker or fill some perceived need on the board as having minority or female representatives.

So to combat the conservatism he believes is the chief handicap to effective director decisions, Dayton advocates measures adopted on the Dayton-Hudson board aimed at turnover.

"I was appalled by a recent survey that 84 percent of the corporations don't retire directors until age 70 or older," says Dayton.

Retirees, nevertheless, may be one of the few groups that can afford to serve on a board, according to the Philadelphia-based management consulting firm of Warden & Riberger.

And as for Detroit, the Japanese plants will not solve its problems but may well compound them — unless this consolidation of foreign competition on its own turf speeds the U.S. industry's conversion to the smaller, fuel-efficient vehicles that are the reason for the mushrooming Japanese sales.

Conversion is now under way, but it is belated and has been grudging. Detroit long preferred complaining about Japanese trading practices to modifying its own operations in any significant way to meet the challenge.

The Japanese have long disclaimed taking unfair advantage of their major trading partner, rampaging through the American market while closing their own to U.S. and other producers. They claim they have only been doing business where there was business to be done.

But the euphoria may soon subside. At least one White House economist has warned privately that the downturn may be steep.

Some ominous handwriting is also beginning to appear on the White House wall. The AFL-CIO, the labor bastion across Lafayette Park from the White House, is threatening retaliation at the polls if unemployment gets out of hand.

Recession blues: There is quiet jubilation in the back rooms of the White House over signs that the economy at last is slumping.

The helicopters that were to be used to evacuate the hostages and their rescue team were to be given protective cover by F-14 fighter aircraft from the carrier Nimitz.

DON GRAFF

Getting Into The Right Gear

It is got true that Japan exports its entire auto production.

With three million cars on the streets, Tokyo is not only the world's largest city but the perfect locale for some of its more massive traffic jams.

The Japanese, in short, are as auto-obsessed as any people in the industrial world, which gives them a lot in common with Americans.

Too much, in fact, in the opinion of some Americans. For all their frantic mobility at home, the Japanese still do export a very high percentage of a large and growing auto output, predicted to pass the Americans this year to take over world leadership.

Americans who are in the business of producing and selling automobiles are understandably not happy that so many other Americans prefer the Japanese products.

Japan has been under intense pressure from federal Washington and organized labor to cushion the impact of its massive sales in the U.S. market by shifting some production to American facilities.

The new facilities should have some beneficial effect on employment, absorbing some of the 200,000 currently laid-off American auto workers.

Conversation is now under way, but it is belated and has been grudging.

The Japanese have long disclaimed taking unfair advantage of their major trading partner.

To push their case for retention of their "homeland" consulate, the Swedes have enlisted the support of Rep. James Oberstar, a Democrat from Swede-heavy Minnesota.

But the euphoria may soon subside.

Some ominous handwriting is also beginning to appear on the White House wall.

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce staff has mailed out 2,477 schedules for this year's Golden Age Olympics so interested individuals and organizations in 33 states and Canada, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico, GAO Committee Chairman Jim Jerinagan reported this week.

The interest in the annual senior citizens event to be held Nov. 10-15 in Sanford is greater than ever this year because of all the national publicity it has received, Jerinagan said.

Changes in the rules for the bicycle races, which have been controversial in the past, were approved at this week's meeting of the committee.

Executive Manager Jack Horner said he received a call Tuesday from a potential sponsor, which he described as a "biggy," who wants to put money into the Golden Age Olympics.

Looking to the future, Horner predicted: "The day is coming when we will need a year-round paid executive director to run the Golden Age Olympics and go out and promote it."

Golden Age Olympics President Vic Arnett said

the response this year may tax the existing facilities. "In the near future we're going to be needing new facilities," he added.

Jack Weible of the Sanford Kiwanis Club told the group: "We need to get behind the downtown merchants and get a beautification project under way to make the city something we can be proud of when these people come in."

Committee members were encouraged to be present Monday night when the proposed downtown development project is scheduled to come before the Sanford City Commission.

Marion Eggers of the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross said an organization is still needed to sponsor the sailing event.

Horner said the "Real People" program featuring the 1979 Golden Age Olympics is scheduled for a repeat showing on Channel 2 on Aug. 20.

Sap Could Zap Syrup Prices

KEZAR FALLS, Maine (UPI) — Rodney Stacey has a foolproof recipe for maple syrup: Take cold spring water, warm days, add a bit of snow on the ground and mix thoroughly with a steady northwest wind.

Unfortunately, the weather hasn't cooperated this year and the result may be a maple syrup shortage that could drive prices sky high.

Stacey said the days just haven't been warm enough and the nights not cold enough to make maple sap flow as it has in years past.

The shortage could drive syrup prices up to about $24 a gallon, he said.

"I don't know if we didn't tap early enough or what," said Mr. Theodore Russell of Manchester, Maine. "I tap a few trees just for myself and my family. We usually get about 15 pints of syrup. This year we may get about 7 or 8 pints after I boil it down."

In Puteiny, Vt., Madeline Harlow's Sugar House usually yields about 3,500 gallons. "We're going to be lucky if we get half a crop, plus the grade went down early to B," she said.

Maple syrup is graded on the basis of color, consistency and taste. Fancy grade — the top of the line — is light amber, delicate in flavor and somewhat thinner than the "whiter grades."

Grade-A is darker, and grade-B is the darkest and thickest of the three.

The sap is collected at the end of each day, placed in large wooden tubs, and strained into pans where it is boiled down into syrup.

Women USA Hotline

Dial-An-Action Could Be Voice Worth Listening To

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
Special To The Herald

NEW YORK (NEA)—"When I was fired by the president as Co-Chairperson of the National Advisory Committee for Women," bellows Bella Abzug, "the shock hit a nerve in the country. Thousands of women all over wrote to me in great anguish."

They lost their voice when she lost her job, she said. She'd cried out against budget cuts in already meagerly funded programs for women (which is why she got fired, she says); and she'd cried out for more programs for them — job training, child care, etc.

What do we do now, she wrote? We don't have time to join women's organizations; we don't even have time to keep up with events that affect us. We need to know what's happening and what to do about it — quickly. We need, in short, some lungs.

So, says Abzug, "I talked to other women activists and we decided to set up a toll-free phone number women all over the country could call to find out what action they could take on an issue affecting women this week or this month."

They named it the Women USA Hotline and installed it in Abzug's New York office in January. This is how it works: Dial 800-211-8801 (or 212-344-3531 in New York state) and you get a 90-second message recorded by Abzug, Gloria Steinem, former Congresswoman Patsy Mink of Honolulu and other members of Women USA, regarding a bill in Congress that needs immediate support or opposition; budget cuts affecting women and who to complain to about them; health alerts (e.g., if you took DES when you were pregnant and you have a daughter, see that she's examined); upcoming demonstrations of interest to women, etc.

Whatever the message, it has to do with women but not with politics in the party sense of the word.

And so far, so effective, she says. "The phone rings every two minutes. I'd have to look up the phone bills to see exactly how many calls we've had — thousands — but I do know we're spending $1800 for every 80 hours of calls."

And with enough women making themselves heard in Washington, she says, Abzug's dial-an-action could become a voice that bears listening to.

MRS. ANDREW W. GREENBERG
Susan Rusho, Dr. Greenberg Repeat Vows

Susan E. Rusho and Dr. Andrew W. Greenberg were married in a double ring garden ceremony at Maison et Jardin, Altamonte Springs. Judge Jack Block performed the 2 p.m. rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Rusho, 305 Sunset Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Rochelle Shindler, 101 Hattaway Drive, Altamonte Springs.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Sheryl Rusho was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Cindy Rusho and Cathy Rusho.

Brian Greenberg served the bridegroom as best man. Dion Sena was the groomsman.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at Maison et Jardin Restaurant.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the newlyweds are making their home on Banana Lake, Sanford. The bride is an auditor for Atlantic Bancorporation. The bridegroom is a Sanford dentist.

Serviceman's Request Yields 10,000 Letters

DEAR ABBY: According to a recent article in the Pacific Stars and Stripes, an American serviceman stationed in Korea wrote a Dear Abby letter telling you how sad it was to see those guys run to mail call every day hoping to get a letter, and walk away each time empty-handed and downhearted.

You published his letter and asked your readers to write to these lonely servicemen. The response was overwhelming! More than 10,000 letters came pouring in from school classes, church groups and concerned citizens. (One kid sent his entire allowance — $1 — to make sure "his soldier had enough money to return a letter.") Many sent postage stamps and promises of cookies and goodies to come. It was a super show of support for the American serviceman.

What a break for those guys stationed in Korea. How about doing the same for us non-commissioned servicemen stationed in Okinawa? We're also far from home, lonesome, and would love to get mail. I promise you, you'll make a lot of guys happy.

IN THE SERVICE IN OKINAWA
DEAR IN: You're at anyone out there who wants to correspond with a serviceperson on Okinawa — and don't forget women are stationed there, too — address your letters to: CONCERNED NCO; USACC-1, SB (PROV) BOX 244; APO SF 96321.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the widow who says older women are turned off by men who suggest that they'd sure like a good home-cooked meal. I happen to be an older man who has dated a lot of older women, so may I respond?

There are a lot more older women around than older men, so since they're lonely, let them make the overture by saying they were "forced to buy tickets" to something and need an escort, etc.

Most men who live alone are tired of restaurant food, so why not admit they'd appreciate a good home-cooked meal?

Nearly every widow I've dated is loaded from what her husband left her, and if I try to get romantic I find out that she may have contributed to her husband's death by denying him love, so the poor guy killed himself making money to forget his sexual boredom.

Personally, I'd rather eat alone at the Elks Club than take out some over-the-hill broad and plunk down $12 or $18 for her dinner. Plus, most of them can drink me under the table, and at today's prices, I can't afford it.

CALIFORNIA WIDOWER
DEAR WIDOWER: Now let's hear it from the distaff side.

DEAR ABBY: A widow

wrote to say that most widows are turned off by gentlemen who say, "Gee, I'd sure enjoy a good home-cooked meal," and if a man really wants to make a big hit with a lady he should say, "I certainly miss company at mealtime. What time shall I call for you?"

Well, that woman can speak for herself. I'm a widow who loves to cook, and I'd consider it a pleasure to show a man how well I perform in the kitchen. So far the men I've met seem interested only in how well I perform in the bedroom!

LOVES TO COOK IN CONN.
Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went on a two-week trip last year and hired a woman to stay in our home and look after our children.

After we came home, I couldn't find my favorite pair of earrings. They were only costume jewelry, but I like them and wore them with many outfits.

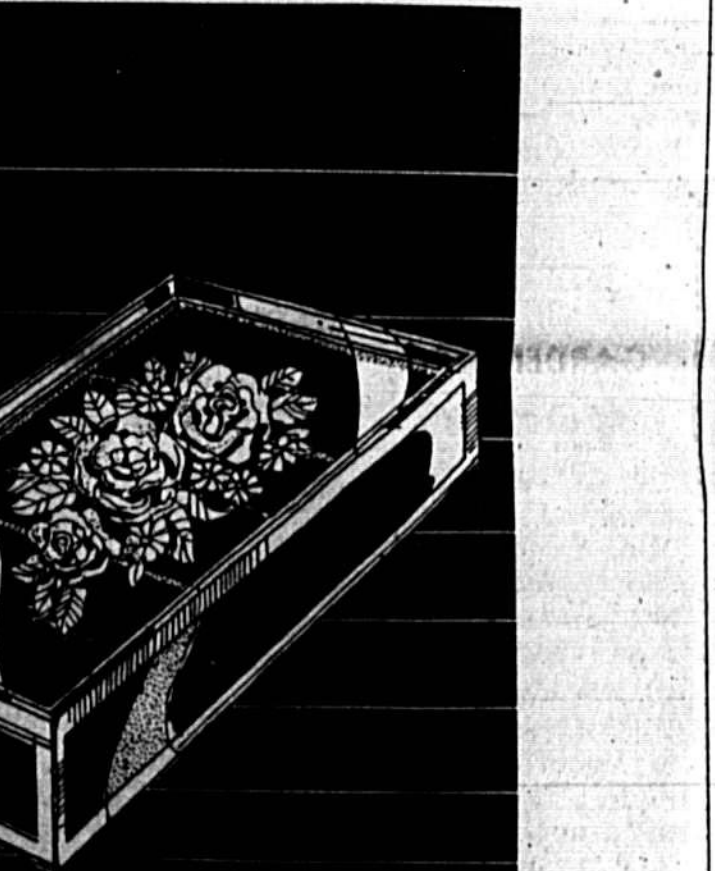

Last evening my husband and I went to a movie, and as we came out, there was this friend who stayed at our home last, wearing my earrings! Up until that time I wanted to believe that I had just misplaced them. Needless to say, I was shocked. Shall I ask her to return my earrings? Or should I just wait and hope she reads your column and brings them back?

MRS. A
DEAR MRS. A: Ask her. But don't expect her to bring them back. Anyone who would steal would probably lie.

Mom's Strength, Inspiration Inspires Marts Of Commerce

Put It All Together, It's Mother's Day

Mother's Day, May 11, is an occasion to honor women of "strength and inspiration." So proclaimed Woodrow Wilson in marking the first such event in 1914.

When President Wilson acknowledged women of "inspiration," he probably never realized the extent to which mothers would inspire those in the marts of commerce.

Herewith, a summary of

Students, Letters Rated Outstanding

Again this year, The Herald conducted a search for an "Outstanding Mom," who will be featured in OURSELVES Sunday.

How is an outstanding Mom selected when there are all outstanding? The selection was most difficult.

Getting away from mothers, let's hand it to the students in Nancee Lowery's fifth grade class at Lake Mary Elementary School. Each student wrote a letter to The Herald telling why his or her Mom was deserving of the "outstanding" title.

And we agree — the letters about the outstanding moms were all outstanding. The class — and each student — deserves outstanding mention for this outstanding project.

Not to be overlooked is the teacher who also rates "outstanding." According to school secretary, Doty Ramsay, Mrs. Lowery "is a bubbly person... her life evolves around the students." —DORIS DIETRICH

Two Theatre Workshops Offered At SCC

The Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College is offering two theatre workshops, "Stage Dance" and "Improvisation and Mime," beginning June 9. The workshops will meet Monday through Thursday, ending on July 2.

"Stage Dance," scheduled from 10 a.m. to noon each day, will involve barre and floor exercises, improvisation in movement, and stage choreography, using music from "A Chorus Line," "The Wiz," "Chicago," and other Broadway musicals.

"Improvisation and Mime," scheduled from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. each day, body control and expression on the stage, and the arts of pantomime and mime.

Cher Stempier, noted professional in Theatre Education throughout Florida, will conduct the workshops. Mrs. Stempier's extensive experience in dance, choreography, acting and directing has been demonstrated on Central Florida stages in productions of "Funny Girl," "Cabaret," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "Chicago."

The $10 fee for each workshop provides for the instructional cost of the course. For more information, call the Leisure Time Program at SCC.

These workshops are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer.

Farmers Cash Receipts Up, But Net Income Plummets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although farmers' cash receipts are running higher than last year, expenses have risen so much that their net income is running at an average annual rate about 27 percent below last year.

In the first quarter of this year, farmers' cash receipts were 2 percent larger than last year, but farm income was down at a rate of 17 percent because of farmers' production costs, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

And in the second quarter, net farm income is running at an annual rate of 37 percent below last year, when income reached $33 billion, the second highest on record, the department said.

Florida To Get New Court?

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which includes Florida unanimously has petitioned Congress to split its territory in half and established a new court composed of the states of Alabama, Florida and Georgia.

A court spokesman said Wednesday all 21 active judges voted in favor of the resolution, which would establish a new 11th Circuit to hear federal appeals.

The judges' proposal would keep Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi in the 5th Circuit, with headquarters in New Orleans. The 11th Circuit would establish new headquarters in Atlanta, said Thomas H. Reese, the court's circuit executive.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State Beach Inspector Suspended After Arrest

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The chief inspector for Florida's beaches and shores program was suspended without pay Wednesday, one day after his arrest on charges of lying to a federal grand jury investigating suspected corruption in connection with Panama City Beach hurricane damage repairs.

"I was quite shocked," Natural Resources Director Elton Gissendanner said, observing that R. J. Strickland's job performance record was satisfactory during more than 10 years with the department.

Strickland earned $17,415 a year as head of a unit of field investigators whose main job was seeing that construction did not extend too far out on Florida beaches.

Huge Plant Planned Here

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Western Electric officials have decided to build a $50 million electronics manufacturing plant in southwest Orange County, it was reported today.

Gov. Bob Graham will hold a news conference next week to announce plans for the facility in an Orlando Central Park. An estimated 4,000-4,500 workers will be hired at the new plant.

The four counties of Orange, Volusia, Brevard and Broward reportedly were under consideration as sites by Western Electric, a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph that is based in New York.

Dade Schools Replace Jones

MIAMI (UPI) — The Dade County School Board voted 6-0 Wednesday to fire former Superintendent Johnny Jones because of his "Gold Plating Capers" conviction and then selected Leonard Britton to replace him.

Jones was suspended after he was indicted in February on second-degree grand theft charges and was replaced on an interim basis by Britton, 49, a veteran administrator in the school system, the nation's fifth largest. Britton was given a four-year contract Wednesday.

Board member Phyllis Miller's motion to dismiss Jones recommended he be fired on broad technical grounds that include misconduct, incompetence, gross insubordination, neglect of duty, conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude and actions in breach of a superintendent's contract.

Florida Rests Police Case

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The state of Florida rested its case this morning at the trial of five former Dade County policemen charged in the beating death of black insurance man Arthur McDuffie.

The only witness called by the state today was Nuvia Del Toro, wife of one of the defendants. The state called her to show there was no relationship by blood or marriage of any of the five defendants, a necessary requirement in order to prove accessory charges in the case.

Dr. Ronald Wright, deputy medical examiner for Dade County, told the jury Wednesday that McDuffie's injuries were similar to the fracture someone might receive falling on concrete from a four-story window. Wright said one blow received just above the bridge of the victim's nose could have been enough to cause the death.

Food Stamps Could Be Late

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Food stamp recipients are going to receive a notice in the mail shortly warning that their coupons for June may be late.

Health and Rehabilitative Services Secretary David Pingree said Wednesday there is "less than a 50-50 chance" that Congress will fund a deficit in the program in time to get the stamps to 900,000 Florida recipients on schedule.

The deadline is May 15, but predictions now are that it will be closer to May 23, when Congress is to recess, before action is taken to lift the ceiling.

One perfect rose!

Erving, Dawkins, Cheeks Spark Offense

Philadelphia Knots L.A. Series 107-104

Doctor J. pictured here in his familiar mid-air pattern to the bucket, shows why the Lakers will have a tough time the remainder of the series with the 76ers.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Following Sunday's opening game of the NBA championship series, Julius Erving made a prediction. "When one team gets real hot," the Philadelphia forward said, "the idea for the other team is to come back. If you don't come back, you get blown out."

In the third quarter Philadelphia opened a 23-point lead and it appeared a blowout was inevitable. But Los Angeles came back faster than a bad check. The Lakers' sizzling rally whittled the 23-point deficit to a single point on two occasions in the final 2½ minutes of the game.

The victory overshadowed another stand-out performance by Lakers' center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who scored 38 points and grabbed 14 rebounds. Dawkins hit 11 of 20 field goals, six coming from 20 feet. He was surprised when a swarm of reporters asked about his outside shooting.

Haywood fell asleep at a practice session last Friday and arrived late for practice Tuesday and was fined. Following Wednesday night's game, in which he played just two minutes, he reportedly had a loud argument with Westhead about his lack of action.

National League Roundup

Parker's Blast Lifts Buc Over L.A.

Charlie Hough, the Los Angeles Dodgers' knuckleball relief specialist, threw Dave Parker too many Wednesday nights. The first two went for strikes on Parker in the seventh inning, but the Pittsburgh slugger lined up the next one and belted it into the park for his fifth home run of the season to give the Pirates a 7-6 victory over the Dodgers.

Parker's blast ended a bizarre game in which the Pirates grabbed a 6-0 lead, only to see the Dodgers come back to tie it. The Pirates built their advantage on home runs by Ed Ott in the second inning, Bill Madlock with a man on in the fourth and Willie Stargell with two on in the fifth.

In the sixth, the Dodgers started to retaliate, as they reached rookie Pascal Perez for an RBI single by Reggie Smith and a sacrifice fly by Steve Garvey. They tied the game, 6-6, in a four-run seventh, when Dave Lopes drew a bases-loaded walk and Madlock's throwing error on Smith's grounder paved the way for three unearned runs.

Warren Cromartie scored a run and had two hits, while Scott Sanderson combined with Woody Fryman for a six-hitter. Jerry Martin hit his sixth home run of the year to start the fourth inning and Bill Buckner added two RBI doubles to lead the Cubs.

Reds 3, Mets 2. Junior Kennedy delivered a run-scoring single with one out in the 12th to give Cincinnati its second straight extra-inning decision over New York, which committed three errors.

Knight Tosses 4-Hitter In Sanford American Game

Horace Knight tamed George's on a four-hit Wednesday as Flagship Bank posted a 7-4 win and maintained its hold on second place in the Sanford Little American League.

First place Atlantic Bank put together a 21-run third inning and blanked Krayola College 3-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Eddie Korgan. In Wednesday's other game, Seminole Petroleum dumped Jack Presser Ford 12-2.

Flagship Bank scored its first run in the top of the first and made it 3-0 with a pair of runs in the top of the fourth. George's scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth, but Flagship Bank bounced back with three runs in the fifth.

Eddie Korgan of Atlantic Bank slides in safe at the plate in Wednesday night's Sanford American League action. Korgan scored one of 21 third-inning runs for Atlantic and turned in a no-hit mound gem as he and his teammates clobbered Krayola College 3-0.

Royals Pound White Sox 12-5

By United Press International. Apparently it takes quite a bit to impress Hal McRae. "I figure you can keep going until the third out," McRae said Wednesday night, after he helped the Kansas City Royals assemble a near-record nine straight hits en route to a 12-5 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. "After all, we get three outs, don't we?"

Added Diet Bulk Stops Constipation

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm wondering if vitamins have any effect on high blood pressure. Does constipation have anything to do with high blood pressure? I have them both. I'm 66 years old and have had bowel trouble or dry stools for some time. Could you give me some advice? As long as my bowels are active, I feel pretty good. Is there something I could eat or take for this problem?

DEAR READER — If left alone there's no real relationship between high blood pressure and constipation. However, there are a number of medicines used in the treatment of high blood pressure that can contribute to constipation or make it worse. These include the diuretic or water pills that are frequently used to help lower blood pressure. In these instances, the loss of water may cause the bowel to extract more water from the undigested food residue which ends up producing hard dry stools.

If that's a particular problem, it's wise to discuss the condition with your doctor and see if there's some way that your medicines can be adjusted to decrease the severity of the problem. Otherwise, many people who have simple constipation are benefited by increasing the bulk in their diet, particularly cereal fiber as found in bran, or they may want to use one of the bulk expanders such as Metamucil. Drinking lots of water also helps and developing a regular bowel habit will help. I am sending you The Health Letter number 21, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation, to give you some more information on what you could do to train your bowel.

Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

HOW TO ERASE A GOOD PART OF YOUR FUTURE...

SHOPLIFT
Here it comes again... another shoplifting pitch. We know you've heard it before, but read on. Shoplifting is stealing. It is punishable by law and it labels you a criminal. It can wipe out your hopes for the future. It gets you a court record that can't be erased. Say goodbye to college plans or landing a job. Employers will think twice before they hire a thief. Is that wallet, necklace or lipsticker you pocket worth the price you must pay in the end?

Traditional Bridal Gown Is Delivered In About 4 Weeks

If you've got the groom, you can sashay down the aisle in a traditional bridal gown in just over four weeks, according to Bernie Schwartz, Bridal Gown Buyer for JCPenney.

This special order innovation is exclusive with the national retailer and has been instituted in response to changing patterns in our society.

There was a time when an engaged girl was able to hand hem-stitch a "dozen sheets and pillow cases between those two moments when she said "I thought you'd never ask" and "I do."

Engagements were long and drawn-out and, while the gross of sheets was being whipped up, there was plenty of time to create that object of every young girl's dreams — a traditional wedding gown.

The entire bridal industry has been geared through the years to this leisurely pace. Churches and ministers are often secured a year in advance. Caterers and halls usually need six months.

And, despite the fact that far less handwork goes into even lavish gowns today than in grandmother's day, the average time needed for delivery of that dream gown has been three to four months. Until now, that is!

Schwartz, noticing the increased pressure from the chain's units for gowns delivered out de suite, has worked out a unique fast-track arrangement with Penney's principle bridal gown supplier.

Between them they selected five of the most popular gowns in the moderate price range (between $160.00 and $270.00). The gowns are available for choice and "try-ons" in JCPenney stores with bridal salons.

Bridal consultants are in attendance in these stores to properly fit and determine the size of the bride-to-be. A final fitting and alterations (for which there is a nominal additional charge depending on the extent of such alterations) are then done right in the store. From receipt of the order to shipping by the supplier takes just four weeks.

"My responsibility is to place beautiful wedding gowns within the reach of the average bride. If that is shortening the engagement period, she still has a right to that traditional gown," Schwartz explained.

This elegant gown can be custom made to order.

Get Most From Honeymoon Attire

Women have long been concerned with the trousseau — clothing bought to mark their entrance into married life. Today, more than likely, the trousseau is simply a honeymoon wardrobe — a selection of slacks, skirts, shirts, dresses and swimsuits to carry the bride elegantly through the post-marital whirl.

Whether you're heading for a local resort or an exotic foreign locale, make sure to put together a wardrobe that is versatile, comfortable and good-looking... and which is capable of withstanding the traumas of being crammed and crushed inside a suitcase with a minimum of wrinkling.

If you're setting out to update your wardrobe in time for your honeymoon, it's wise to choose new clothing that blends with those pieces you already own and enjoy wearing.

You'll make more use of them after the honeymoon is over and, during the honeymoon, you'll be able to make more out of less.

Rings Around The Couple

Know The Four 'C's' Of Diamond Trade

With a young couple, when it comes to love, it usually comes to rings — that all-important engagement ring — and, more and more, young-marrieds are requesting double-ring ceremonies, the Jewelry Industry Council reports.

Choosing the rings is traditionally a shared experience, with the bride-to-be and her intended visiting their favorite jeweler for the selection.

Evaluating a diamond puts many a young couple in a quandary, particularly when it comes to what is known in the trade as the diamond's four "C's" — Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight.

These four elements determine the diamond's worth, and it is quite possible for a smaller diamond to be worth more than one that is larger.

Cut is the way a diamond is shaped, with traditional styles being the brilliant or round, the emerald, the pear, the oval and the boat-shaped marquise cut.

Color refers to the crystal clear purity that is most coveted for engagement diamonds.

Clarity involves the fact that diamonds form naturally with "inclusions" — carbon spots, bubbles and small internal cracks. Such inclusions do not mar the stone's visible beauty if they cannot be seen by the naked eye.

Your jeweler will be glad to show you any such inclusions under magnification, and determine if they affect the diamond's price.

A carat is the standard measure of diamond weight, and each carat is equal to 100 points. For example, a half carat diamond is 50 points.

Often, a bride-to-be will choose an engagement ring — and, more and more, young-marrieds are requesting double-ring ceremonies, the Jewelry Industry Council reports.

Often, a bride-to-be will choose an engagement ring — and, more and more, young-marrieds are requesting double-ring ceremonies, the Jewelry Industry Council reports.

Choosing the rings is traditionally a shared experience, with the bride-to-be and her intended visiting their favorite jeweler for the selection.

Evaluating a diamond puts many a young couple in a quandary, particularly when it comes to what is known in the trade as the diamond's four "C's" — Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight.

These four elements determine the diamond's worth, and it is quite possible for a smaller diamond to be worth more than one that is larger.

Cut is the way a diamond is shaped, with traditional styles being the brilliant or round, the emerald, the pear, the oval and the boat-shaped marquise cut.

Color refers to the crystal clear purity that is most coveted for engagement diamonds.

Clarity involves the fact that diamonds form naturally with "inclusions" — carbon spots, bubbles and small internal cracks. Such inclusions do not mar the stone's visible beauty if they cannot be seen by the naked eye.

In Napoleonic France, every bride was given a fine silver marriage cup by her family or a close friend. At her wedding reception, the newlyweds sealed their troth by drinking a favorite wine from the marriage cup as the guests looked on. Then, on each wedding anniversary, the couple re-enacted this custom, repeating their vows with a marriage cup toast of their special wine.

Advance Planning Key To Perfect Wedding

You're in love and you've promised to marry him. You're feeling as sentimental as old lace and in a bit of a tizzy wondering what to do first. You want your wedding to be a beautiful start to your life together.

"Every wedding is unique because of the bride and groom involved," says Barbara Doebele of Hallmark Cards, a leading manufacturer of Keepsake wedding albums.

The key is organization, she says. A beautiful, formal wedding involves plenty of behind-the-scenes planning. She recommends a headstart of six months to a year.

"Once the date is set, the bride usually sits down with her parents to discuss the size, style and budget allocated, taking their personal wishes into consideration."

"Wedding expenses are traditionally divided between families of the bride and groom, but the bride's family is entirely responsible for the ceremony and reception expenses."

Six months before the wedding is not too early for the groom to choose his ushers and finalize honeymoon plans. The bride will be busy making the appropriate reservations and shopping for wedding attire for herself and her attendants. Three months before, the bride and groom should have completed their guest list, taking care to include important members of both families.

This detailed record will be useful later for writing thank-you notes and inviting friends to visit them in their first home.

At this point, the bride should register with the local stores and select her china, silver and crystal.

This is also the time to order the wedding cake if it's not included in the caterer's package. (You can determine if it's more economical to take the cake offered in the caterer's reception package rather than purchasing it elsewhere.)

Next, the unlikely chore of choosing the bridal bouquet and going-away corsage belongs to the groom. Two months before the wedding, he should visit the florist and arrange for corsages for the mothers and grandmothers, and boutonnières for the attendants, as well.

"There are so many things to remember in planning a perfect wedding," says Doebele, "many couples find it useful to buy a wedding memory album. "It not only serves to record the actual day, but the myriad details leading up to it. Memorabilia such as snapshots, newspaper clippings, even a matchbook from the restaurant they visited, will revive all the joys leading up to the wedding." The "Keepsake" albums are available in stores that carry Hallmark products. The last few weeks should be a time when the bride and groom can enjoy the festivities being planned for them and the excitement of the wedding to come.

Making memories is what a wedding is all about. And preserving those through the years is what a keepsake wedding album is all about.

Wedding Showers A New Twist...

If a special friend is about to be married, you might consider giving a shower with a new twist. Ask guests to write out their favorite recipe and share it with the bride-to-be.

The accompanying gifts can carry out the theme — supplying her with special serving dishes or utensils she'll need to prepare the recipes!

A romantic recipe to share is elegant Framboise Mousse. Since it's perfect fare for a bridal shower, you can provide a sneak preview of the recipe right at the gathering.

Then, wrap up the recipe card along with a dainty crystal bowl and the key ingredient, raspberry liqueur.

She'll treasure the gift package, and both she and the guests will think you're the berries for the elegant gift and dessert idea!

FRAMBOISE MOUSSE
4 containers (8 ozs. each) frozen raspberries in light syrup
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 1/4 cups sugar
3 large eggs, separated
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
6-8 ice cubes

one-third cup raspberry liqueur
1 1/2 cups heavy cream
Reserve 18 raspberries for garnish.
In a five-cup electric blender container, puree one half of remaining raspberries at a time.
Put through a strainer or food mill to remove seeds. There should be 2 and two-thirds cups puree.
Rinse blender.
Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in blender; let stand about three minutes to soften.

Add boiling water; cover and whirl at low speed until gelatin is dissolved.

Add one cup sugar, one cup raspberry puree, egg yolks, lemon juice and vanilla; cover and blend until smooth.

Add ice cubes, one at a time, with liqueur.
Cover and whirl until smooth; pour into remaining raspberry puree; stir until well blended.

Four into large mixing bowl; chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form.
Gradually beat in remaining 1/2 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form.

Fold gently into raspberry mixture.
Beat cream until stiff peaks form. Fold into raspberry mixture.
Spoon into three-quart serving bowl. Chill until firm, about three hours.
To serve, garnish with reserved raspberries and additional whipped cream, as desired.
Makes 12-14 servings.

A Guiding Theme...

Planning a wedding shower? There are plenty of ways to make this event easy and fun — for the bride, the guests and for you!

One way is to give the shower a theme. This will guide guests in a nice way toward gifts the bride and groom will really appreciate.

Carry the theme through... gift bars of soap could be game prizes at a bath shower.

acceptable to mention on the shower invitation stores where the bride is registered.

For a kitchen gadget shower you might headline your invitation, "Cook's Delight," or for a bath theme, "Decorate the Bath!"

According to Bride's magazine, it's perfectly

You could also plan the shower around the decorating tastes of the bride and groom. The invitation could read, "A Country Shower... Janet and Dave are lovers of old-fashioned treasures and homespun natural goods, so think 'country' for this shower!" Cards with a calico print or artwork of pottery and baskets would help convey the idea.

Sign Of The Times...

Outlook On Remarriage

Times are changing and, along with them, the traditions attached to marriage and the wedding ceremony.

For women taking the vows for a second time, the feelings of happiness, joy and excitement, once reserved only for first-time brides, are being shared by all.

"The whole atmosphere surrounding second weddings has changed," observes Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's magazine.

"There is nothing that can be considered taboo anymore. The only question couples need to ask themselves is, 'Will what we're doing make our friends comfortable and happy for us?' If it will, by all means, go ahead!"

In past years, second marriages were handled with care, and little, if nothing, was said about them in public.

Couples were urged to be discreet, despite the fact that the declaration of marriage is a public assertion of love and commitment.

Today, a second marriage is nothing to be embarrassed about. Rather, remarriage has become very much a part of the wedding scene. According to Bride's magazine, 22 percent of all marriages today are remarriages.

Engagements are not usually announced during divorce proceedings from a previous marriage.

The ceremony itself is often kept simple, with traditions such as the giving-away and long procession down the aisle omitted.

"Throwing the bouquet and garter are left out, but otherwise the reception can be as large and lavish a party as desired."

A woman marrying again has her choice of wedding outfits.

"I see no reason not to wear white the second time around," Mrs. Tober says. "Something simple and sophisticated, perhaps a dress with a hat. You don't need a cathedral train or veil, but dress up and be beautiful and happy."

Marriage Customs Passed Down Through Years

In Medieval times, the bride and bridegroom kissed over a pile of small cakes. When an enterprising baker decided to mass all the cakes together and spread frosting over them, the modern tiered wedding cake was born.

The practice of tossing the bouquet originated during the colonial period in American history when the bridal party seized the newlyweds' stockings and tossed them over their shoulders at the bride and groom—the first ones to hit the target, ushers aiming for the groom and bridesmaids aiming for the bride, the next to be married.

And, with the Victorian era was born the white wedding gown, a symbol of purity.

EVERLASTING RITUALS

Marriage has survived through the ages and, along with it, tradition. Although the customs, rituals and beliefs associated with marriage and the wedding ceremony have been altered and updated, they are still a part of the modern-day wedding.

Courtships, engagement rings, flowers, gifts, the act of "giving away the bride," the exchange of vows and wedding bands, and the honeymoon all define this "rite of passage."

BEGINNING IN ROME

From the days of the Romans, traditions have been handed down, changing along the way as they are reinterpreted by people.

The institution of the family was once thought of a liaison formed for political, economic and emotional security. The partnership was often prearranged, with each member taking on clearly defined duties.

MODERN MEANING

Today, couples enter into marriage based on love. The roles of husband and wife are not as cut and dry as they were in the past—partners grow individually as well as together.

Although the original meanings of certain rituals have gone by the wayside, the rites remain.

We no longer believe, as did the citizens during the Middle Ages, that a vein runs from the ring finger to the heart. However, it is on this finger that the wedding band is still placed.

The Romans also believed that the goddess Juno

Making-Up The Bride

- Be as natural as possible. Do not over-do make-up.
- As the gown is selected, think in terms of hair and face as well.
- A harmony of colors is essential to a beautiful wedding. Flowers, maids' dresses, even the colors of the church or hall, should influence your selection of nail color and make-up color highlights.
- Colors should be muted, soft or veiled. Flat tones are best. Frosted shades or whites create glare and should be avoided.
- Eyes should be emphasized with natural tones. No harsh colors, but a touch of blue shadow out of the corner of the eye.
- Curl eyelashes for larger eyes and mascara applied afterwards—tips first, then the entire lash.
- Lip pencils in soft, natural shades fill in lips. Slightly brighter is only appropriate for evening weddings.
- Finishing touch is the lightest brush with powder, very fine, translucent.
- Apply perfume to ankles as well as the pulse points—the swirl of skirt will carry the scent down the aisle.

Tanker Rams Tampa Bay Skyway

Bus, Cars Fall From Bridge; 31 Dead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — A 606-foot phosphate freighter smashed into the Sunshine Skyway Bridge in a thunderstorm over Tampa Bay today. A bus and several cars plunged 150 feet into the water below, killing at least 31 people.

One survivor was pulled from the water by the crew of the freighter.

A Coast Guard spokesman said all 23 people aboard the Greyhound, bound for Miami, were trapped when one span of the bridge collapsed. The ship channel is about 44 feet deep beneath the bridge.

An undetermined number of cars also went into the water, killing seven to eight other people.

There was an air bubble inside the bus, divers reported, but none of the passengers apparently was able to make it to the safe portion of the submerged vehicle.

The bus, which had left the St. Petersburg terminal less than half an hour before the accident, did not overturn but was sticking nose down into the mud at the bottom of the bay.

"It was an unbelievable scene," said Pete Corsi, a motorist who was driving north on the Skyway as the accident occurred. "There was a car dangling off the southbound lane."

By late morning, 17 bodies had been recovered as divers frantically searched for other survivors.

However, a Coast Guard spokesman said there was little chance others had survived.

"I doubt there are any more survivors," said Lt. Phil Biedenbender. "With the impact of the tides, personally I don't think so. If anyone was going to survive, they would have to get out quickly."

The inbound freighter, the "Summit Venture," of Liberian registry, struck the Manatee side of the bridge at 7:38 a.m. EDT. A 1,000-foot section of the west

Boat Sinking With 250 Aboard

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The Coast Guard said a seafarer boat carrying about 250 Cuban refugees to freedom across the Florida Straits ran aground in the Marquesas Keys today and the skipper reported "we are taking on water fast."

The Coast Guard said a helicopter rushed to the aid of the 50-to-60-foot boat "Marisa" and dropped life pumps and life preservers to the vessel, which was aground in the Marquesas Keys area about 20 miles west of Key West.

The Skyway is a four-lane, divided interstate highway at the entrance to Tampa Bay. The roadway is the main route from Tampa and Clearwater to Bradenton and points to the south.

Another 40-foot section of the bridge was severely damaged and appeared ready to plunge into the water below.

Passengers of the car dangling off the bridge were rescued, but the automobile was hampering rescue operations. Divers were not allowed into the water near the bus because the car was dangling overhead.

Biedenbender said a heavy squall was dumping rain over the Tampa area at the time of the collision.

"The weather at the time was extremely severe, with winds up to 80 knots and heavy rains," he said. "That may have been a factor."

The "Summit Venture," which was headed into the harbor to pick up a cargo of phosphate, remained afloat.

Concrete pillars and the massive steel gridwork of the main span lay twisted in the channel, blocking traffic in and out of the nation's seventh busiest seaport.

A spokesman for the National Transportation Board said a five-person investigating team will be dispatched to Tampa. Headed by Safety Board member Patricia A. Goldman, the team will join the Coast Guard in an investigation of the accident.

In Georgia on Nov. 7, 1972, the 11,500-ton freighter African Neptune rammed the Sidney Lanier bridge at Brunswick, sending a string of vehicles and their occupants into the Brunswick River. Ten people died.

CARS MANGLED IN COLLISION

The remains of two Winter Springs residents' cars sit on the shoulder of County Road 427 just southwest of Sanford following collision Thursday afternoon. Highway patrolmen say James Wilson, 45, of 426 S. Hawthorn Ave., Winter Springs, was driving east on 427 shortly after 3:30 p.m., when he stopped to avoid a car stopped to make a left turn. But Wilson's car skidded on the wet pavement, crossing into the westbound lane, and was hit by a car driven by Elta Andrews, 50, of 413 David St., Winter Springs. Wilson was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital, where he is in serious condition. His car (background) was considered a total loss by patrolmen. Andrews' car (foreground) suffered an undetermined amount of damage. She and her passenger were unhurt, patrolmen say.

Bottle Club Sues Altamonte Springs

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

The owner of an Altamonte Springs after-hours club has filed suit against the city, which late last month passed a law he says will put him out of business on July 1, the date it goes into effect.

Ferydoon Khoshnou, owner of The Hot Line, an after-hours club on State Road 436, west of Interstate 4, has filed suit charging Altamonte Springs' new law banning the consumption of alcohol in any business after 2 a.m. was written specifically to close down his two-year-old restaurant-lounge.

But city officials say their law is perfectly proper, will stand up to Khoshnou's court test, and will go into effect as planned on July 1.

Khoshnou's attorney, Jerry Luxenberg of Orlando, says in addition to specifically legislating his client out of business, the new law is too broad and could lead to the arrests of people at parties held in business establishments.

Luxenberg says the Hot Line opens at 2 a.m., the time all Seminole and Orange county bars are required to close and restaurants must stop serving wine or beer.

The club charges a cover plus a cost per "set up," filling a glass filled with ice and mixers into which a patron pours alcohol brought from home.

While the club has no liquor license and sells no alcohol, city police say it is responsible for the third highest number of complaints and disturbances, Luxenberg said, although he is quick to add the Altamonte Crown Lounge and ABC Lounge each require more frequent visits by police, the Crown Lounge the scene of twice as many police incidents last year.

Luxenberg said the law is unconstitutional because it is badly worded and too broad. In addition to being directed specifically at his client's business, Luxenberg said, it could lead to the arrest of any businessman using their facilities for a party running later than 2 a.m.

But city attorney James Fowler said Luxenberg's request for an injunction against enforcement of the law, to be heard Thursday afternoon by Circuit Judge Kenneth Laffer, will not stand up.

The law is not just directed at the Hot Line, Fowler said, but at all businesses who might open or plan to open a bottle club.

The city council felt the Hot Line "was deleterious to the public welfare" and passed the ordinance because "police have problems controlling order after 2 a.m." near the club, he said.

Revitalize Downtown, Group To Urge City

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Greater Sanford Development Corp. Monday night will urge Sanford to proceed "full steam ahead" with the revitalization of the downtown area.

John Mercer, president of GSDC will tell commissioners that more than 90 per cent of the property owners and tenants in the downtown model area are endorsing the project.

The model area extends on First Street from Park Avenue to Palmetto and on Magnolia from First to Second streets.

The city in its current budget has allocated $78,000 for materials to provide "in ground" planters in the model area, shade trees and to convert the section of Magnolia Avenue to a pedestrian mall, in addition to other improvements. Labor for the project is also to be provided by the city.

"We take the position," Mercer said, "that with all the development planned and anticipated projects, the downtown must be made attractive for those people to do their shopping and other business there," Mercer said. "It will become an area of beauty and one that will attract people to the downtown."

Among projects announced in recent weeks are: a high rise apartment complex; a luxury apartment complex; possible conversion of the Seminole Memorial Hospital into a nursing facility; possible construction of a senior citizens center; a multi-purpose building and construction of a new hospital.

Mercer said although some had feared the modifications would cause the loss of parking spaces, this is not the case. He noted the Senkarik family has offered use of property to the city for additional parking. "There will be a net gain of 20 parking places," Mercer said.

Mercer said a good number of persons are expected to turn out at Monday's 7 p.m. city commission meeting to indicate their support of the project. "In that way the city commission will know how the people of Sanford feel," he said.

Mercer said the model area is only a small part of the revitalization planned for Sanford. The entire area in the overall plan, ultimately to be accomplished, includes the part of the city from U.S. Highway 17-92 to Sanford Avenue and from the lakefront to Fifth Street.

He pointed out the GSDC, organized in December, 1975, made a survey of historic buildings and had included in the national register many of those buildings several years ago.

Sara Jacobson, also involved in the GSDC, said the revitalized downtown will appeal to the pedestrian. "It will create a people place," she said. Miss Jacobson said Magnolia Avenue will still have the capability of vehicular ingress and egress, but it will not cater to through traffic. Parking will be shifted to the east side of the street and parking will be converted to "straight in" rather than angular parking, she said. Reviewing recent history of the plan for the downtown revitalization, Miss Jacobson said the city commission approved the concept on July 16, 1979. On July 25, she said City Manager Warren Knowles reported to the city commission he had been able to find the $78,000 needed for materials for the project.

Miss Jacobson said implementation of the project has been held in abeyance since last August when G. Algeron Speer, a downtown property owner and attorney, objected to the project.

Speer, she noted, made the city and the GSDC aware of possible legal precedents set in a St. Petersburg lawsuit against the proposed revitalization. She said he also criticized various aspects of the plan by saying traffic hazards and obstacles would be created.

Miss Jacobson said, however, without exception all of Speer's criticisms have been found to be ill-based.

Experts have confirmed the accuracy and adequacy of the technical aspects of the plan, Miss Jacobson said. She said the GSDC attempted to "placate" Speer by finding a compromise. Miss Jacobson said Bill Colbert of the law firm of Stenzel, McInosh, Julian, Colbert and Whigham found there was no adverse precedent to the plan in a St. Petersburg case. Colbert was able to find, she said, a Miami case which clearly documented the city's ability to move forward with the project.

With the opinion from Colbert, she said, the GSDC "restored its furnace and came back with full steam ahead" for the project. She said a copy of the plan and a petition was presented to downtown property owners and tenants and all but eight signed the petition favoring the plan. In addition, more than 200 signatures were collected from consumers favoring the plan, she said.

In compliance with the city's request for evidence showing private sector involvement, Miss Jacobson said 25-30 downtown buildings have been renovated.

"We feel we will be coming to the city Monday night with legally sound, engineering sound and economically sound plans bearing the support of the people as documented by the petitions. With these recommendations we feel the city has the full power, will exercise wisdom and demonstrate progress to authorize the implementation," Miss Jacobson said.

"We also know that Mr. Speer may continue to threaten a lawsuit and the GSDC is prepared to offer the city as much support as we hope will be necessary to meet that lawsuit," she said.

Contacted at his law office today, Speer said: "They are not going to close Magnolia Avenue. I'm going to stop it. The merchants can go broke or be successful depending on their ability. I have as many people supporting me as they have supporting the project."

Tempers Flare In Budget Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate pushed until 2 a.m. today, with tempers flaring over the hour and the proceedings, but gave up until Monday on the idea of producing a balanced 1981 budget.

In a 15-hour session that dragged into the morning hours, senators rejected almost a dozen challenges to the $112.9 billion plan, and accepted one that would affect spending — a proposal to revive state revenue sharing.

At least a dozen more attempts to change spending priorities are expected when the Senate meets on the budget again Monday.

The goal is to meet a May 15 deadline for completion of the budget.

The Labor Department said the April increase in prices at the wholesale level was the smallest since last May and a major improvement over monthly increases averaging 1.5 percent during the first three months of this year and over 1 percent most of the past year.

Prices of intermediate, or semi-finished goods rose only 0.1 percent, their smallest increase since July 1977. Prices of crude materials declined 0.6 percent, their second drop in a row.

"It looks like the thing has turned," said John Layng, a Labor Department

The Labor Department said the April increase in prices at the wholesale level was the smallest since last May and a major improvement over monthly increases averaging 1.5 percent during the first three months of this year and over 1 percent most of the past year.

Prices of intermediate, or semi-finished goods rose only 0.1 percent, their smallest increase since July 1977. Prices of crude materials declined 0.6 percent, their second drop in a row.

"It looks like the thing has turned," said John Layng, a Labor Department economist, although he cautioned that any major new hike in world oil prices could change that.

Among finished goods, a large 2.5 percent drop in food prices accounted for much of the dramatic improvement.

That was caused by sharply lower prices for beef, veal, pork and poultry.

Energy prices at the final wholesale level — mainly gasoline and home heating oil — rose 3.8 percent, after two months over 7 percent. That was an indication that past increases in crude oil exports by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries already have had their big impact on the economy.

On a compound annual basis, April's 0.5 percent increase was a rate of 6.2 percent — showing the effect if the same pace continued a full year. That compares with a 15.2 percent annual wholesale inflation rate for the previous month.

The producer price index for finished goods stood at 240 in April, meaning that what cost $100 in 1967 now costs $240.

Producer prices are a strong indication of what lies ahead for consumer prices, which also have been rising at an annual rate of 18 percent. The government has been estimating consumer prices will slow their increase to an annual rate of around 10 percent by the end of the year.

There have been other recent signs inflation may begin to abate.

Interest rates in general have tumbled in the past two weeks.

And home mortgage rates, which have played a major role in boosting the Consumer Price Index, have begun to turn down in some parts of the country from 18 and 17 percent to 13 and 14.

President Carter Thursday called attention to falling interest rates and said, "I have no doubt that in the next few weeks, perhaps in the summer, we will have substantial evidence the inflation rate is also dropping quite rapidly."

The change in producer prices had been closely predicted by Donald Ratajczak, director of the Economic Forecasting Unit at Georgia State University, which has tracked these prices and usually comes within a few tenths. The unit had predicted a 0.3 percent rise.

"The inflation rate has definitely peaked out," Ratajczak said.
