Strolling In Sanford

The meeting of the Southside P.T.A. has been postponed from Thursday to April 17 at 8 p.m. The Rev. H. L. Zimmerman will be guest speaker who is to use as his subject "The Mental Needs of Children."

While the stroller was meandering down around the clock at noon, a light that comes once in a lifetime came into view. Some tourists, evidently on their way back home, drove a convertible through town with the top down. "So what?" you say, "everybody that owns a convertible does that." "Maybe so, but I'll wager to say they aren't in a bathing suit sitting on the back seat getting the last rays of the good old Florida sunshine."

Damage Is High In Auto Mishap

Two drivers were charged with careless and negligent driving as the result of a three-car accident Saturday at the intersection of Elm Ave and 24th St., City Police reported. Damage to the vehicles totaled $1,470. The curb was also broken loose, and police set this damage at $10.

Charged with careless driving were Vernon G. Haast, 22, of 205 1/2 East 18th St., who was driving a 1947 Ford coupe, and Grover Lee Ward, 35, a resident of Park Ave. trailer court, who was driving a 1950 Buick sedan.

The Rev. Aubrey Fowler, a teacher of the Young Business and Professional Men's Bible Class at the First Baptist Church in Live Oak, will be the guest speaker at the Seminole Baptist Brotherhood Association meeting which is to be held tomorrow with a banquet in the Educational Building at 6:30 p.m. The program will get underway at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Fowler is executive secretary-treasurer of the North Florida Production Credit Assn. and was the featured speaker in 1953 for the annual FFA banquet here.

The largest amount of damage, $800 worth, was sustained by Ward's car.

Patrolman Arnold Williams, investigating officer, said Haast suffered a bruised left arm and Ward received a cut on the right leg, but the men treated the injuries themselves.

The other vehicle involved, a 1954 Ford station wagon, was parked on Elm Ave. Damage estimated at $475 was sustained by the station wagon, owned by Joseph Eugene Dyer Jr., 33, a Navy man, who lives at 2400 Elm.

Patrolman Williams said the cars driven by Haast and Ward were traveling too fast for the area. The front end of Haast's car hit the right rear fender of Ward's vehicle, and the impact pushed Ward's car against the curb. Ward's car then pivoted around and the rear bumper hit the left rear fender of the parked car, the officer said. The station wagon was pushed up over the curb.

The accident occurred at 10:45 p.m.

In a two-car accident at 4:45 p.m. Sunday on Park Ave., 100 feet south of the Third St. intersection, Police reported total damage of $900.

Involved were a 1950 Ford sedan driven by Henry Pen Mitchell, 20, of 319 Sanford Ave., and a 1950 Ford sedan driven by Webb Billy Keith, 28, of 19th Field Maintenance, Pine Castle Air Force Base, Orlando. Damage to each car was estimated at $400.

Mitchell was charged with driving while intoxicated, careless and negligent driving, leaving scene of an accident, and having no driver's license.

Patrolman Joe Hickson, investigating officer, said Mitchell was making an improper left turn and his car hit Keith's vehicle. The owner of the car driven by Mitchell was listed as Denver C. Caldwell, of 419 East 3rd St. Keith's vehicle was owned by Charles McDonald, 19th Field Maintenance, Pine Castle Air Force Base.

Chicago's Voters To Decide Major Political Issue

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's mayoral election tomorrow will bring a momentous verdict for one of the city's most turbulent politicians.

The vote will either lift peppery Robert E. Merriman from a Republican minority desk in the 50-man City Council to Chicago's peak public office, or leave him without a steady job. His Council term expires this month.

For his rival Richard J. Daley, 35, the mayoralty campaign is the latest in a series of political fights over a 22-year period. He seeks his biggest prize to date.

But, if Daley loses, he will merely face a more difficult task as chairman of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee. And he can return to his $15,000-a-year post as county clerk.

Apart from the $25,000 annual mayor's salary, which compares with Merriman's $3,000 a-year alderman's pay, the election is climactic for what it may mean in justification of his eight-year battle with entrenched Democratic organization leaders.

Judge Housholder To Speak Tonight

County Judge Ernest Housholder will be the principal speaker today at the monthly dinner meeting of the Police Benevolent Association. The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Pig N' Whistle Restaurant.

Suggestion Is Offered By Wiley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wi.) suggested today that Congress "tend to its own knitting" and allow President Eisenhower to decide what the United States should do in the Formosa Strait.

Wiley, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he supports Eisenhower's position in declining to say now what action this country will take if the Chinese Communists attack the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Alluding to the defend-Formosa resolution passed earlier this year by Congress, Wiley said in an interview:

"Congress has said that Formosa is significant to our defense and must not fall into unfriendly hands. The President must decide what it is necessary to do to prevent that from happening. We must not limit the President in making that decision.

"It would be well for us to recall that this is a government of divided powers and functions in which each branch should tend to its own knitting."

1955 Legislature Opens Tomorrow; Corridors Filled

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Legislators, attaches and the inevitable lobbyists filled Capitol corridors today, preparing for the formal opening of the 1955 session tomorrow.

Most of the 133 lawmakers arrived yesterday and were at the Capitol early to set up their offices.

Attaches hurriedly were attending to the hundred and one last-minute details of a legislative opening.

The lobbyists were out before breakfast for huddles with lawmakers over coffee on their pet measures.

The 1955 session will open formally at noon when House Speaker Ted David and Senate President W. Turner Davis rap for order in the two houses.

After the formal business of opening—electing officers and hearing reports—the two houses will adjourn for a late lunch, then reconvene in mid-afternoon to hear Gov. Collins deliver his message at joint session.

Members of the octet were Bob Brown, Johnny Higgins, Bob Shookman, Robert Gussak, Jimmy Owen, Charles Wilks, Allan Malfait and Larry Bates, president of the Glee Club, who introduced the numbers offered. Tommy Wyatt did his usual fine job as accompanist. Visitors were introduced by Charlie Morrison who also led the club in a few songs and presented the program arranged by program chairman J. Ed Best.

Officials Honored Today At Mayfair

City and county officials and newspaper and radio representatives were guests at a luncheon given today at the Mayfair Inn by Harry Siebold, owner of the Richmond baseball club.

Among the guests were members of the Sanford Enterprises Inc., baseball committee, City Manager Warren Knowles, and Ferryrest Brockbridge, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of the Sanford Herald were Carl Overstreet.

Siebold has donated $500 to the Sanford Recreation fund to show his appreciation to the people of Sanford for the way they received him and his ball team.

Public Appearances Are Made By Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Looking fit and vigorous after his serious winter illness, Pope Pius XII made two public appearances yesterday at the opening of Holy Week.

It was the first time the 78-year old pontiff had participated in Palm Sunday rites in two years. Last year he was recovering from an illness.

Yesterday he took part in the ceremonies opening the anniversary week of Christ's passion and crucifixion, then met for nearly an hour with 1,000 delegates to the World Congress on Prevention of Work Accidents.

'Courtesy Boxes' Installed By City

Who doesn't grumble about paying parking meter fines? The city has taken action to ease the pain by installing "courtesy boxes."

The boxes—two to a block—are located on the posts of parking meters. When you get a yellow envelope stuck under your windshield wiper, all you have to do is drop the fine in the envelope and the envelope into the box.

Fruit Picker Faces Critical Situation

IT'S EASIER TO PAY parking meter fines now, Naval Airman Thad W. Reece discovers as he inspects one of the city's new "courtesy boxes" at the corner of First St. and Park Ave. Reece was not a delinquent parker. He just consented to pose for the cameraman. (Staff Photo)

State Education Council Is Told Of Need For Additional Funds

The school programs of Seminole County and 21 other counties will start going backward unless property assessments are raised or additional state funds provided, the State Advisory Council on Education was advised Friday.

James L. Graham, director of the division of finances of the State Department of Education, made the announcement at a meeting of the Advisory Council in Tallahassee.

Graham said the 22 counties are now levying the maximum 20 mills ad valorem taxes for school purposes.

The other counties were listed as Alachua, Bradford, Calhoun, DeSoto, Escambia, Franklin, Gadsden, Gilchrist, Glades, Hardee, Jackson, Lake, Manatee, Okaloosa, Okechobee, Orange, Polk, Santa Rosa, Sumter, Walton and Washington.

Allen Grabler of St. Petersburg, a council member, said in his opinion a state tax commission with powers to equalize tax assessments was the only answer for many counties to the problem of raising more money for schools.

The Advisory Council recommended that the 1955 Legislature make an early deficiency appropriation of $3,111,223 for the schools.

This amount would give 44 fast-growing counties funds to which they are entitled under the minimum foundation program.

State Supt. Thomas D. Bailey said the 1953 Legislature failed to appropriate a sufficient sum to take care of those counties greater than 5 per cent over the preceding year are entitled to draw what are called recalculation funds.

Churchill Readies To Entertain Queen

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill made ready to entertain Queen Elizabeth II at dinner tonight. Most Britons believed it was the last time the 69-year-old statesman would be host to his young sovereign as Britain's prime minister.

Observers and members of Parliament generally expected the Labour Conservative chief to drive to Buckingham Palace tomorrow or Wednesday and hand his resignation to the Queen. She is considered certain to summon Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to take over the top post for which he has waited so long.

Tonight the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will dine with Churchill and his wife at the Prime Minister's official residence, No. 10 Downing St. The rarity of the occasion was viewed as still more evidence that the old man finally was stepping down.

There were conflicting reports about Churchill's plans.

McClellan, Stassen Talk Over Discords

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) and Harold E. Stassen met today to talk over differences between the Senate investigations subcommittee and the Foreign Operations Administration.

The conference in McClellan's office was requested by Stassen, the FOA director. Subcommittee members accused him last week of obstructing their efforts dig out the facts about a proposed contract for grain storage elevators in Pakistan.

Stassen denied it and volunteered to appear before the subcommittee.

Nine Cars Plunge Into Death Canyon

COLIMA, MEXICO (AP)—Nine cars of a train packed with holiday crowds plunged over the rim of the 800-foot-deep Canyon of Death last night.

Nine persons were known dead and 78 injured.

The smashed cars were reported piled up just below the canyon's rim. The sides of the chasm were so steep that rescue operations were extremely hazardous.

The train tracks run along a narrow ledge which skirts the Canyon of Death, known by that name because of its dangerous slopes.

Shooting Admitted By Brooks Estranged Wife On Critical List

A Sanford fruit picker today faced a possible first degree murder charge as his estranged wife lay between life and death at Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando.

"If she dies, he'll be charged with first degree murder," Orange County Sheriff Dave Starr said of Badger Hopkins Brooks, 33, who admitted wounding his wife and mother-in-law Saturday as they stepped outside their home on the Old Winter Garden Road.

Mrs. Frances Brooks, 25, is on the critical list at the hospital. Her mother, Mrs. Helen Carter, 45, was reported in "fairly good" condition.

The women were felled by three shots from an automatic shotgun. Mrs. Brooks suffered shotgun pellet wounds of the upper chest, left arm and thigh. Mrs. Carter was struck by shot in the lower back and hips.

The Sanford man is being held in the Orange County Jail on two charges of attempted murder.

Brooks had a 12-gauge shotgun and 27 shells when he was pulled from hiding beneath a loading platform of the Lawrence Boat Co., about 30 yards from the shooting scene, officers reported.

Arresting deputies said Brooks told them he lay in wait from daybreak until 8 a.m. and fired three shots at the women when they came outside.

According to Sheriff Starr, Brooks gave this account of the shooting:

Brooks had come to the Carter home at 4850 W. Washington St. (old Winter Garden Rd.) before daybreak "to talk to" his wife.

He carried the shotgun and 30 shells because he had been "beaten up" by his wife's family in a dispute about a month earlier when the couple separated.

When the women left the house as Mrs. Brooks started for work downtown, Brooks said he stopped from hiding.

Brooks said Mrs. Carter cursed him and he raised the gun. She turned and ran "and I let her have it," the Sheriff quoted him as saying.

A neighbor, Mrs. Betty Montgomery, said she ran from her home after hearing two shots in quick succession and saw Mrs. Brooks whirl to face her husband and slump to the ground as the third shot was fired.

Warren Field, a worker at the boat company, said Brooks then unloaded the gun, walked over to him and said: "Call Dave Starr, I've been in a shooting scrape."

F. A. Barnes, boat company foreman then came into his office and asked that the sheriff be called. As a crowd gathered, Brooks took cover under the loading platform.

Brooks was formerly employed as a fruit picker by Southern Fruit Distributors Inc., Orlando, the sheriff's office said.

The shooting, Brooks told deputies, resulted from family difficulties beginning six months ago when the couple moved in with his wife's parents.

Brooks previously had been arrested Jan. 22 on an assault and battery warrant issued to his sister, officers said. The charge later was dropped.

Sanford Baseball Team Makes Debut In Spring Training

By HARLEY BOWERS
(Special to the Herald)

ALBANY, Ga. — A newly organized Sanford baseball club joined 13 other St. Louis Cardinals' Class B, C and D squads in spring training here yesterday and came very close to making its camp debut a success, losing to the Class C Winnipeg, Canada team in the last of the ninth, 13-12.

The Sanford club was hastily stocked with 22 players who have been in camp for two weeks with other clubs. No manager has been named. Scout Ollie Stank will handle the club until one is chosen.

Twenty of the 22 are rookies, but George Silvey, director of the Class C and D clubs, said that more experienced players would be added later after the first year men had a chance to show what they could do.

"We want to pick the best from these rookies to form the backbone of the Sanford club," Silvey said, "because so many first year men are required in the Florida State League. Then we will place more experienced players where they can be of the greatest benefit."

The only two players with previous professional experience are first baseman Frank DiMichele, who hit .235 with Paduch, Ky., last year, and outfielder Stan Derry who, with Hazlehurst, Ga., part of last season.

Other members of the squad include: catcher Ron Ott; pitchers John Van Uden, Oscar Hoffman, Dean Baxter, Ken Laylavee, John Brown, Ed Epps, Jack Finley, Ken Spencer, John Barteck, and Roland Manfredi; second baseman Don Sampson and Dick Snyder; shortstop, Nat Sharper, Ron Smiley and Frank Yorkack; third baseman Al Seavelli; and outfielders Clayton Reed, Thurmon Terrell, Bill Skemp and Don Brandt.

DiMichele led a 10-hit attack in yesterday's game with a trio of singles, while Skemp came through with a double and single. Baxter, Manfredi, Barteck and Finley divided the mound work.

Sanford was within one strike of winning the ball game after scoring seven runs in the top of the ninth to take a 12-11 lead, but Winnipeg thwarted the Florida nine's victory bid.

Safe Is Cracked At Amoco Station

A burglar or burglars escaped with $120.50 in cash after cracking the safe at Sanford Ave. Amoco Station Friday night or early Saturday City Police reported.

Cash amounting to $109.50 was taken out of the safe while checks were left alone. Another $11 was taken outside the safe.

Police said tools were used to break the lock off the small safe. Entry to the building was gained through the double door of Swain's Lattery Shop, and adjoining business. A door connecting to the service station was forced open.

T. V. Brown, operator of the station, reported the burglary.

Phillips To Build Five New Dwellings

City building permits have been issued to Wellborn C. Phillips Jr. for construction of five homes in the Dreamworld subdivision of Sanford.

All three-bedroom homes, they are listed in permit value at $8,400 to one, $8,500 for two, and $9,500 for two.

Attention Is Centered On Bevan

LONDON (AP)—Attention has centered on Aneurin Bevan in the dispute within the Labor party, but there's more to Bevanism than Bevan.

The Bevanites are few in number but growing in influence among the party's rank and file. They boast of their left-wing socialism and sometimes echo the Communist party line. They often sound anti-American, especially in foreign policy. They picture Britain as the bulwark of a third force in the world—between the United States and Soviet Russia.

"Bevanism is so strong today," one of his followers confided, "that we can even do without Bevan if necessary, and he realizes it."

Who are the "Bevanites" who set the tone for the movement along with Bevan himself? They are smart practical politicians, all members of Parliament, and imbued with evangelical fervor.

One is Bevan's wife Jennie Lee, a lawyer who can swing at times, farther to the left than her husband. She is a buxom 50, daughter of a coal miner.

Bevanism's glamor girl is Barbara Castle, as fiery as her hair. She is an Oxford University product, wife of a newspaperman. In the postwar Attlee government she was parliamentary secretary to Sir Stafford Cripps when he was chancellor of the exchequer.

Farther to the left than Bevan are three others best known in Britain as writers.

First is Michael Foot, 42, who is a former editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard. He now edits Tribune, weekly organ of the Bevanites.

Then Tom Driberg, 40, whose favorite targets for attack have been the "barbaric thugs of Detroit and narrow imperialists of Washington and Wall Street." And Ian Mikardo, 47, listed in the parliamentary register as an industrial consultant and writer. He is a firebrand on the stump, lashing out frequently at those he regards as "Wall Street imperialists."

Letter Carriers Will Save Time

Discontinuance of "junk mail" will result in a 30 to 50 per cent saving in time for letter carriers, Sanford Postmaster Joel Field said today.

City delivery of "junk mail," which has been discontinued to all patrons along carrier routes on an experimental basis since Aug. 1, 1954, came to an end Friday.

From now on, junk mail material need be addressed to individual households only as delivered to the city, Field said.

"Junk mail" delivery, however, will be continued on main routes.

Restless Volcano Dismays Farmers

PAHOA, Hawaii, (U.P.)—The unpredictable Madame Pele-Hawaii's volcano goddess—may earn her keep yet, if only she behaves.

The hot-tempered old gal has been kicking up her fiery heels to the delight of tourists and the dismay of farmers.

In a few weeks she has caused more than $15 million dollars damage to farm and plantation lands and has driven hundreds from their homes on this biggest island in the Hawaiian group.

But she's big business to airlines, hotelkeepers and the Hawaii visitors bureau.

Tourist dollars have been pouring in since she raised the curtain on her latest spectacular fireworks roadshow on east Hawaii's Puna Peninsula. The big question is: will Madame Pele behave?

So long as her earth-shaking lava fountains stay downhill from this small town she's strictly a tourist attraction. But if she moves her activities uphill at least two fair-sized towns could be endangered.

Chances are the show will go on. Volcanologist Gordon A. MacDonald says it can continue "for days, weeks or even months." Some have lasted a year and more.

Hawaiian legend says Pele is quick to reward or revenge and locally they take her very seriously. An old Hawaiian woman entered the eruption area with MacDonald's blessing—and an escort—and made a secret offering to the fiery goddess. You can scoff at Madame Pele if you wish but one hour later that particular eruption had subsided.

In two weeks Pele's molten outpourings had hop-skipped seven miles from coastal Kapaeha up the lower slopes of Kilauea crater.

MacDonald warned that new fissures were possible along Kilauea's northern flanks which would threaten Pahoa, swollen with hundreds of refugees, and Olaa, 11 miles farther north.

He said the pattern of eruptions did not indicate such an outbreak "but you can make no guaranteed prediction about Madame Pele."

"I don't know when it will be safe for evacuees to return to their homes," he added.

Some 600 refugees from the 35-square mile Puna Peninsula are quartered in Red Cross billets at Pahoa and Olaa.

Pele's newest crop of baby volcanoes started bursting out of Puna's canefields, coffee patches and backyards Feb. 28 in an area which had not seen a volcanic eruption in 315 years.

In the first two weeks more than 200 sightseers flew over the scene in special half-hour shuttle flights from Hilo, 20 miles away. Tourists watched the show from planes, cars, boats and on foot.

A submarine popped up offshore to take a look. Forty inmates of Kulanui prison chartered a plane and flew over the scene with special guards.

Soon after the eruption, cars were stacked bumper to bumper along a five-mile stretch of plantation road leading to within 100 feet of the blazing lava fountains.

By the afternoon on the second day a parking lot had been bulldozed a stone's throw away from the eruption and policemen started a traffic pattern around the scene.

Violent subsequent outbreaks forced the evacuation of both tourists and residents from the entire area. Then the lava fountains simmered down, threatening lava rivers slowed and catclysm reverted to spectacle again.

Now there's a new traffic pattern for sightseers within 200 yards of the cooling lava.

Pneumonia May Strike Any Season of The Year

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WITH the arrival of spring and warmer temperatures, many of you might believe you have safely weathered another pneumonia season. You might be inclined to relax your guard, so to speak.

Well, you can catch pneumonia in the summer as well as in the winter. True, the winter death rate from this disease is double that of summer fatalities. But some pneumonia victims still die during the summer.

First, let's understand who is most susceptible.

All Ages Susceptible

This disease, which kills one patient in 25 attacks all ages. However, it is especially dangerous for the very young and the very old.

Men are more likely than women to get pneumonia, and single persons are more often victims than married persons of either sex.

Fatal Attacks

Men between the ages of 40 and 64 are probably more likely to suffer fatal attacks if stricken.

Negroes are more susceptible than white persons.

Persons weakened by malnutrition or some other disease are more likely candidates for pneumonia, and alcoholics are just asking for it.

If you fall into one or more of these categories, you've got to be especially careful.

Follows a Cold

One more thing to remember: Pneumonia almost always follows a cold.

Avoid getting wet or chilled during the approaching rainy weather. Don't work so hard that you become tired. You're more likely to catch cold if your resistance is low.

If you do become chilled, have a fever, a hacking cough, a sharp pain in your chest and breathing is difficult, get right to bed.

One Out of Three

A generation ago, pneumonia killed one out of every three it attacked. Because of antibiotic drugs, the odds are much better now. Your physician will probably be able to save your life if you call him in time.

But if you're careful, you won't have to call him at all!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. W. B.: What might be the cause of frequent attacks of colitis? Can this become serious?

Answer: There are many types of colitis, resulting from various causes. A permanent cure can be brought about in most types of colitis by means of proper treatment. It is advisable to consult a physician regarding this condition.

Can You Imagine Western Series Without Sheriff?

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Can you imagine a TV Western series without a sheriff, desperado, horse chase or gun duel?

That's what the fertile TV mind of Worthington Miner has brought forth. The veteran producer has made a sample film of a series to be called "Frontier." But it won't be in the "he went thataway" tradition.

The first of the series is largely the story of a man and wife who pioneered where the city of Omaha now stands. Only the beginning and end shows prairie wagon trains. The rest is the story of how two people fight the wilderness.

"Each story will be different," Miner explained. "We have a wide field to choose from, since frontier days extend back to 1700."

"It seems to me there is room for an adult Western. I have watched the Western series on TV and I think they are largely aimed at the late-afternoon early-evening time slots. No doubt they do have some adult viewers, but the principal appeal is to children. I think 'Frontier' can stand up against any of the top evening shows."

Miner is no newcomer at the task of creating top attractions. In his earlier days, he helped produce such attractions as Studio One, 'Toots of the Town,' 'The Goldbergs,' 'Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts' and 'Dr. I. Magnation.'

His most recent achievement is 'Medic.'

Canada Compound Of French, English

MONTREAL (U.P.)—Canada is a combination of French and English-speaking peoples. Both languages are official and in many places are used with equal facility.

Figures advanced in Parliament, however, indicate that both the French and the English are going to have to move over and give a bigger share of room to people called New Canadians. These are refugees and other immigrants.

A Winnipeg MP told Parliament that when Canada had its first census 84 years ago, British origin residents numbered 60.5 per cent, French origin 31.1 per cent, others 8.4.

Four years ago the census figures were 47.9 per cent British origin, 30.8 per cent French, 21.3 per cent other groups.

In another 44 years, at the end of the century, trends should project this ratio, the MP said, in 32 per cent British, 30 per cent French, 38 per cent others.

Gold Fever Still Lures Many Persons

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (U.P.)—Gold fever never dies.

A century ago it opened up the West. A generation later it led to the discovery of the Vulture Mine near Wickenburg, a 30-million-dollar bonanza before it flared out.

Even now, a slight case of gold fever attracts about 10,000 visitors to this tourist town for one week-end every year.

The gimmick is simple: Wickenburg's Round-up Club (known in lamer locations as the Chamber of Commerce) dumps $4,000 worth of gold ore in a river bed next to town and invites all comers to pan for gold.

They keep all they get.

Bright and early on the first day housewives and millionaire vacationists, laborers, school children, cowboys and dude ranchers start squabbling by the ditches.

Some stay a few hours. More determined souls keep at it for two days until Sunday.

Last year tourists from 27 states answered the challenge. One of these pie-pan prospectors, a 60-year-old grandmother whose hus-

Presidential Cheer

President Eisenhower was perhaps not well advised when he announced that the stock market was in satisfactory condition. Giving investors advice is hardly one of the presidential functions. At least two of his predecessors burned their fingers when they forgot this.

During the bull market of the late 1920's many observers felt disquieted about the great amount of brokers' loans outstanding. President Coolidge broke his customary silence to reassure the uneasy, saying that the amount was not excessive. Naturally this encouraged further speculation. When the market finally blew up in October, 1929, many met disaster which they might otherwise have avoided, but for the presidential assurance that everything was all right. Coolidge's admiring biographer, Claude Fuess, remarks that this was one time when the President might profitably have kept his mouth shut.

President Hoover's assurance, during the depression, that conditions were fundamentally sound and that prosperity was just around the corner, met such a poor response from market developments that it became a subject of gibes.

The trouble with such assurances, even when well founded, is that they may make people suspect that matters are much worse than they thought, else why did the President find it necessary to speak out?

Sen. George Moves Into Vacuum

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON—Sen. George, 77-year-old Democrat from Georgia, has moved into a vacuum in the Senate and has become in effect the President Eisenhower's swing right arm on foreign policy.

George, in his own right and as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is the most respected and influential Democrat on foreign affairs in the Senate, where the Democrats, who have a majority, could give Eisenhower the minorities.

But George has backed the President repeatedly on foreign policy and has rallied other Democrats to his support. It was no wonder the President this week publicly expressed his respect and admiration for him.

The vacuum has been created by the performance of Sen. Knowland of California, Republican leader in the Senate. Ordinarily a president could expect his party's Senate leader to carry the ball for him on foreign relations. Instead, Knowland has repeatedly differed with Eisenhower. The resulting impasse is that the Republicans are split down the middle on foreign policy.

For example, Eisenhower has been trying to handle the Chinese Communists carefully, with restraint. George goes along with him. Knowland has been calling for a far more aggressive policy, even to the blockade of Red China.

Knowland felt it necessary to take a stand opposite Eisenhower's on the Yalta papers.

For a week the Republicans beat the Democrats over the head with the Yalta papers' account of the wartime Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting. Then Eisenhower stepped in. He said he opposed their use for political partisan advantage.

Promptly Knowland announced: "I don't agree with him. I intend to discuss Yalta whenever I have it pertinent." Then, although he didn't say so, Eisenhower's re-election is at stake, he said he was against drafting him.

The President, who almost never makes a personal rebuke to any of his lieutenants, has been patient with Knowland while at the same time being patient with the United States intended to defend the Nazis and Germany in this way he left the door open to the Red Chinese to talk with the United States.

George said the support Eisenhower gave him was a rebuke. He said he was against drafting him.

Super-Conscience

Uncle Sam, local governments and public utilities sometimes receive "conscience money," sums which the sender believes are owing, often because he gained them originally through sharp practice. Related, but quite different is the donation made to the federal government by a Chicago industrialist.

Robert S. Alexander, president of an electronic firm which has been turning out ammunition parts for the navy, has just sent the government a check for $390,000. This was totally without obligation on his part. He found that he had been able to fulfill his contract at less than the price agreed upon. He had previously cut his price $346,796 during the completion of the contracted task. Thus the government had a windfall of $735,796, thanks to Mr. Alexander's high-mindedness and public spirit.

An incident like this might be used to counter Communist propaganda in other countries.

Quizzing A Judge

"Judge Harlan how would you decide that case if you were on the bench?" This question was asked quite so crudely but in substance, was asked by senators considering Judge John M. Harlan's confirmation for the Supreme Court. The judge properly refused to state. He did say, however, that whatever a judge's personal predilections, he should lay them aside when he went on the bench.

Behind this unskillful questioning lay the appreciation that a judge's fundamental social attitude does affect his decisions, and may well be examined before he receives a lifetime job. If he has violent prejudices, that should disqualify him. It is all very well to say that judges interpret laws without regard for their personal views. If that were true, we would not have dissenting opinions, five judges on one side and four on the other.

Most presidents have a fundamental philosophy, and may legitimately make judicial appointments which uphold this. They should, however, be sure that their appointees are open-minded. There have been times in the history of the Supreme Court when the decision on many cases could be told in advance, so rigid was the thinking of the majority.

If the Senate Inquiry was aimed to eliminate this type of judge, it was legitimate. It was not legitimate if it was meant to establish for all time, as valid law, the inquirer's own personal prejudices.

My New York

NEW YORK—The town is spilling over at the edges with movie people, young and old, and you consider them all carefully and decide that first of all you would like to talk a little with Susan Ball. At 22, the Buffalo-born Miss Ball gets around these days with an artificial leg and you admit freely to yourself that you are curious about what that state of affairs has done to her outlook on life.

So you shoot up to her 24th-floor room at the Savoy Plaza, wave hello to Roddy MacDowell, who's off in a corner talking with Susan's husband, Dick Long, and you pin Miss B. to a sofa and put the question to her bluntly. Miss B., tall and dark and poised, just smiles.

"It hasn't made so much difference at that," she says. "I had a few make movies—I've just done Chief Crazy Horse with Victor Mature—and I can get around easily enough, and Dick and I have put together a night club act that's done very well at two cafes already. . . . and, well, life is fine. Really," she grins.

"I don't think I could swim across the top of Niagara Falls and I might even have a little trouble riding 100 miles on a horse, but outside of that, everything's O.K." Later, when you leave Miss Ball—who had the leg amputated to stop a spread of malignancy—you meditate on this remarkable girl for a while. She's the one who, when asked by a studio to fill out a routine questionnaire, answered one question—as to whether she ever was depressed—by the firm reply: "I have never had a low period."

You come back across town to Danny's Hideaway and sit down at a corner table with Gordon Werschul, who a year ago was a life-guard at the Sahara in Las Vegas but in the meantime has changed his name to Gordon Scott and become the 11th in the series of Tarzans that began nearly 40 years ago with Elmo Lincoln.

He turns out to be an amiable and intelligent young man, about twenty out of a Scottish trend act, who with the Guy Madison act, you hear, may go over there than the amiable Guy.

"I don't know what kind of strain holding Tarzan's Golden Jubilee was, but I liked getting away from the city. I was around when the show was in. I had to go down and do some work, but I was glad to see you."

One thing is favor of the old-fashioned tent underneath is that there's nothing easier to wash. However, you can be put into the washing machine and doesn't need much soap. You're right to come back. The show is coming every day of every year.

Testing Time Here For Business

NEW YORK—Testing time is here for business. Starting today is the three-month period when consumer buying will either confirm the big spurt in industrial output or let it down. And most lines of business enter this testing period apparently in the best of health.

Industrial production has been climbing steadily for several months. But factory shipments

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—There is widespread support on Capitol Hill for a ratifying President Eisenhower standby power to impose price, wage and other controls on the economy but only under very rigid safeguards.

Indications are a standby control bill probably would pass if it only granted the President authority to clamp curbs in case the United States or one of its possessions were attacked. Even then, the power probably would be given for only 90 days—that is, sufficient time to enable Congress to review and amend the act.

Powerful GOP leaders as well as Democrats are reluctant to give the President standby power except in case of an extreme emergency. This rules out any such legislation aimed at dealing with a war emergency from the Formosa crisis.

The plan is to meet any situation resulting from the Formosa question as it comes up. If the administration decides to request standby control power, it will be in connection with the extension of the Defense Production Act, which expires June 30. The President wants the Act renewed.

Will he or won't he—President Eisenhower is proving himself just as adept as Harry Truman or the late F.D.R. in keeping politicians and the public guessing about whether he will seek a second term.

The President recalled that last year the same organization gave him a sun dial for the farm. The President said he assumed the lantern was to light his way to the farm and the sun dial to mark the time until he gets there. He left the audience to guess how long the interval will be.

Unimpressed—Democratic leaders of the Senate apparently are unimpressed by the press corps covering their activities. Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas, showed the first sign of this when he took away from newsmen the privilege of using one of two elevators otherwise reserved exclusively for senators.

Hereafter, said Johnson, both elevators would be used only by the 96 members of the Senate, leaving only one elevator, argued by another in the rear of that wing of the Capitol, for the hundreds of newsmen and private citizens traveling from one floor to another.

He offered to reconsider when a petition was drawn up by a group of reporters, headed by foot-weary journalists who apparently had been driven to use the stairs on particularly busy days.

Then, the congressional committee on printing, headed by Arizona's Senator Carl Hayden, announced that newsmen no longer would be given free copies of the Congressional Directory. He said that if they want that legislative bluebook hereafter they will have to buy it at four dollars for indexed and two dollars for un-indexed copies. The saving to the government: $6,300 a year.

A committee aide said that "no one was pleading on" the Washington press corps. He said this was merely a continuation of a policy to require everyone but members of Congress and their employees to purchase the Directory if they want it.

He said the policy originated two years ago, when other federal agencies were refused free copies and were notified they would have to buy them instead.

have increased too. And new orders are coming in at a steadily increasing pace.

As a result, there has been little, if any, buildup in inventories for most manufacturers. Purchasing agents report they are ordering a little further ahead now because for many items delivery dates are being extended. But they are still ordering with due caution and not trying to pile up materials, in most cases.

This nervousness in the midst of a business boomlet is traceable to a number of things—and many of them may be settled in the spring testing time just ahead.

One thing, of course, is nervousness over the possibility of war.

Labor Legislation—Capitol Hill scores believe this is labor's year to get the legislation it wants. They point to the House labor committee with its pro-labor majority of northern Democrats and to a number of influential union-minded senators eager to give organized labor a lift.

The outlook, then, is for passage of labor sponsored, or labor-backed bills, including hike in the federal minimum wage law.

General Still Answers Bugle Call

NEW YORK—Life holds a busy serenity today for Omar Nelson Bradley, who nearly ten years ago led American ground forces to victory in Europe.

At 62 the graying general of the Army, no longer assigned to active duty but still available to a bugle call, is holding down more jobs than at any time in his career. The erosion of time has touched "Brad" but lightly. He is as erect as ever. He weighs 178 pounds, only five more than when he left West Point in 1915.

"But my wife, Mary, says I can't brag about that—the weight isn't in the same places," he said cheerfully.

The five-star general stepped down as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in August, 1953. He ended then the 12 tensest years of his life—four spent on the battlefield, eight in Washington as veterans administrator, Army chief of staff, and the nation's top military chief.

"I was glad to get out from under the pressure in Washington,"

Bradley recalled. "So war Mary. She shared the pressure. But I was afraid of a letdown."

There wasn't any letdown. After swearing in Adm. Radford as his successor, Brad went out and played the best game of golf in his life. Three days later he reported for duty here as board chairman of the Bulova research and development laboratories.

In Europe Bradley directed the attack of 1,200,000 men, the largest force under a field commander in American history. Now he supervises 43 defense projects, many requiring precision craftsmanship on tiny armings, safety and timing devices on secret guided missiles.

To forge the great battle victories in Europe it fell to Bradley to give orders for missions that inevitably led thousands of men to death or injury. I asked him if he ever received any bitter letters.

"Never," he said quietly. And into his eyes crept a wish—the wish nobody ever would send him a bitter letter. Few men know the price of war better than Omar Nelson Bradley. No man could want another war less than he does today.

more than 30 per cent. Thus, corporations have been compelled to produce and sell about one-third more goods and services with no increase whatever in profits. It is as though an employe had to work harder to keep up with the growth of his company, but never yet saw more money for it.

Since profits play a major role in supplying funds for new plants and equipment. . . . thus helping create jobs as well as providing incentive for production, these stagnation over a 7-year period is genuine cause for concern.

(Incidentally, the $30 reduction would amount to approximately 5% cents a day—just a little more than a pack of chewing gum.)

The demise of the Democratic action of the coalition can be attributed directly to Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has used plain understandable Texas cowboy language to the Democratic membership about the need for party loyalty.

Mr. Rayburn has been helped by having a Republican in the White House. In the latter part of his tenure of office, Mr. Roosevelt lost most of his popularity in the South. . . . and Mr. Truman never did endear himself to the Southern voter, principally because of his advisers. Consequently, many Southern Democrats could vote rather than lose them by opposing New Deal recommendations.

But now, with a Republican President, the Democratic leadership is able to use political phraseology: "To whip the boys in line. . . as they can now be accused of voting to carry out Republican policy in the White House."

This could have serious repercussions in their next Democratic primaries.

Now, the importance of this to business is that only a thin line of Republicans and a thinner line of Southern Democrats can be mustered to oppose programs of Oldtimers who are still about Washington in profuse numbers.

Leon Keyserling, who was Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under President Truman, currently has a new program. It is based on the rather novel theory that the way to balance the budget is for the Federal Government to go further into debt.

He would cut income taxes by $4.5 billion a year and increase federal spending by $3.5 billion annually. The argument for this is that it would provide more jobs. The Keyserling report estimates that by thus tossing money around there would be a $30 billion expansion in production and this would suffice to bring enough revenue into the treasury to balance the budget in a few years.

Now, with this Keyserling report in mind, let's take a look at corporate profits and what spending schemes like this have done to them.

The Economic Report of President Eisenhower indicates that corporate profits after taxes have remained within a narrow range of $1 billion within the last 7 years. . . . while corporate sales increased

Miss Sheila M. Browning Wed Saturday To Robert L. Almassey

Miss Sheila M. Browning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Browning, was married to Robert Louis Almassey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Almassey of Chicago, Ill., Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Congregational Church with the Rev. J. B. Root officiating.

In a simple but lovely double-ring ceremony Miss Helen Witte rendered the nuptial music as the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was beautiful in a pale pink suit with a blue corsage and blue accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fedelt acted as best man and matron of honor.

After the wedding the couple left for New York where they will make their home.

The bride was "Miss Sanford of 1934" and represented many of the local clubs and the City in several beauty contests. She graduated from Seminole High School with the class of '34 and was a majorette in the band, a member of the Glee Club and had a lead part in the senior play. For the past year she has been employed by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Miss Helen Johnson Is Guest Speaker At Saturday Meet

Miss Helen Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., representative of the International office of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, was guest speaker at a meeting held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr. Mrs. Horton was recently chosen "Girl of the Year" for her active interests in all phases of the sorority activities exceeding those required for the office of president which she now holds.

Attending the special meeting were Mrs. Harold Chapman, Mrs. James Castano, Mrs. Vernon Hardin, Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr., Mrs. L. Hawkins Connolly and Mrs. Annabelle Fleming.

Beta Sigma Phi's Silver anniversary year was the topic of discussion and within the next few weeks Gamma Lambda Chapter will announce its decision regarding the "Anniversary Project".

Tentative plans were made in connection with the presentation of a new chapter to be located in a nearby town and when it receives its charter, this new chapter will be known as "The Silver Anniversary Chapter".

Miss Johnson, who plans to visit chapters in Orlando next week, is one of ten representatives who will visit with chapters in every state of the union during the year.

Miss Sandra Monforton Chosen Queen Of Ball

The annual Glee Club formal ball was held Friday evening in the Seminole High School Gym with music by Paul Kummer's orchestra furnished for the dancing pleasure of the guests from 8 o'clock until midnight.

Upon entering the room's pleasant atmosphere was encountered with tables holding flickering tapers in pale green candle holders. Surrounding the candle were arrangements of fern and artificial flowers in pastel shades sprinkled with glistening glitter. Balloons were also used on the larger tables. Individual place cards marked the places for the guests at the reserved tables.

Hanging from walls on each side were large banks of fern entwined with flowers. Delicate shades of pale green, powdered blue, pink, white yellow and lavender streamers were also used.

Imitation moons and stars were placed over the orchestra and on the curtains while blue lights were used to carry out the theme, "Moonlight Ball" and to create an evening atmosphere.

The grand march was led by Ernest Crowley, band leader at Seminole High School, Larry Bates and Iris Causey.

The highlight of the evening was the coronation of the queen. Larry Bates introduced last year's queen, Sandra Dunn. The attendants, Miss Minnie Lee Metts and her escort Robin Brown, and Miss Terrell Jean Nelson and her escort, Harold Pate took their places as Miss Sandra Monforton was announced queen of the ball. She and Terry Smith then took their places on the throne as Miss Dunn crowned her with a silver crown and presented her with a bouquet of roses and baby's breath donated for the occasion by A. K. Rosseter, florist.

Larry Bates acted as master of ceremonies as he announced the floor show given for the entertainment of the queen and her court and the other guests.

The first two numbers on the program were presented by Ann's Dancing School of DeLand. They were "Tuxedo Junction" presented by two students and "Hernando's Hideaway", an improvisation of a recent hit from Pajama Game, by Miss Ann Whitaker.

Next Tommy Wyatt rendered a piano solo entitled "Deep Purple" and Pete Rogers, tenor, sang four popular numbers accompanied on the piano by Miss Jeanne Lane Miller.

A series of fast taps, the first one reminiscent of the old hoedown days "I Got Rhythm" and a modern jazz number was presented by the students and Miss Whitaker and ending with a tap "that has been, is, and probably will be popular for several years to come."

Favors of var-colored serpentine and noise makers were given out which added to the liveliness of the affair.

The judges selecting the queen and her court were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith, Miss Ethel Riser and Mr. and Mrs. Allen.

Guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bates and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Pate.

"Miss Ollie Heese Whittle, glee club director, the glee club officers and the committees helping with the ball deserve much credit for making the annual event a success," it was reported.

Many alumni were present for the occasion and all the girls were lovely in their formal dresses that fitted in with the pastel theme.

The decorating committee was composed of Miss Joan Wilke, Miss Janie Bennett, Miss Jean Kennedy, Miss Nancy White, Miss Dottie Metts, Larry Bates, Harold Pate, Johnny Higgins, Robin Brown, Allen Maffett, Joe Davis, Kenneth Ramsey, Miss Sylvia Price, Miss Janice Kinlaw and Miss Ann Harvey.

Floor hostesses were the Misses Janie Bennett, Juanita Wynn and Pat Nix.

Hessien, Higgins Most Successful Of New Managers

With the start of the major league baseball season just a week away, this is as good a time as any to check up on the six new American League managers in the spring training games.

Chuck Dressen of the Washington Senators and Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox have had the most success. The Senators have won 11 and lost 6 to lead the American League. Boston's 12-8 record is good for third place.

But the four other newcomers—Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox, Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles, Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers and Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City A's—have not been as successful.

The White Sox, Orioles and Tigers each have 6-12 won-lost ratios. The A's, in the basement, are 8-13. All six skippers have reasons to be pleased today, however, after the performances of several of their key players yesterday.

Shortstop, which has been a problem for Washington, may have been clinched by rookie Johnny Kline, who went four-for-four as the Nats edged the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-4. Kline singled in the ninth and rode home on Eddie Yost's game-winning home run.

Norm Zaichin, fighting for the Boston Red Sox first base job, walloped a two-run homer in the sixth inning off the Philadelphia Phillies ace, Robin Roberts, to give the Red Sox a 4-2 victory.

Jackson Slated To Meet McBride In Bout Tonight

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson makes another stop on the comeback road tonight when he fights Archie McBride, of Trenton, N. J., at St. Nicholas Arena in a 10-round bout.

This will be Tommy's first television appearance since his meteoric career was halted so abruptly by Nino Valdes last year. Nino stopped him in two rounds and the Hurricane blew to parts unknown. But he's only 24, and he has plenty of stamina. Since he was dropped three times in the second round by Valdes, Tommy has scored four knockouts in his last four fights.

His manager Lippy Breitbard reports he has shortened and sharpened his punching and improved his boxing style. Du Mont will telecast at 10 p. m. EST.

Gene Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, brings his 28-bout defeatless streak to Eastern Parkway when he faces Gil Turner in a 10-fight bout.

Fullmer is a 13-10 favorite. At his best, he can punch faster, and has quicker reflexes and bouncier legs than Turner. The last time they met in the ring was seven years ago in the National AAU Championships, when Turner won. ABC will telecast at 10 p. m. EST.

Blanks Available For April Cruise

Registration blanks for the Silver Dollar Cruise, which is to be held April 15, 16 and 17 can be obtained from Don Smith at the Goodyear Service Store. It has been announced, and reservations can be made through any Orlando boat dealer or John Sorias, chairman of the cruise.

The cruise, which is sponsored by the Central Florida Cruisers will start at Mount Dora and travel to Silver Springs, Silver Glen Springs, Salt Springs and upon return will take out at Sanford.

RAGER BEAVER
ANDOVER, N. H. (AP)—A Connecticut hunter, tramping the woods in this area recently, spotted a black animal walking alongside a pool.

Taking a bead on what he thought was a black bear cub, the hunter shot and dropped the 45-pound animal. The hunter dragged his game to the home of Deputy Sheriff George Martin, where he was staying.

Martin took one look at the animal, told his friend he had bagged a beaver.

Rizzuto's Glasses Give Him Rosy View

(Phil Rizzuto, often called the greatest shortstop in the American League, tells especially for AP newsmasters how he feels about fighting to retain his position now that he's wearing eye glasses.)

By PHIL RIZZUTO
Yankee Shortstop

This is definitely not my last fling. Although I've been Yankee shortstop since 1941 and have played in eight World Series I still feel young. I'm only 36.

But if I hit as poorly (195) as last year I know it could be my finish.

My confidence was gone. I know that I'm a much better ball player. I didn't think it was my eyes. But I wasn't meeting the ball. I was late on everything. I'm pretty sure I'll find out what's wrong.

In 1950, my good year, I watched Richie Ashburn of the Phillies when we played them in exhibition. I watched how he stood and how he swung. That year I hit .324 and with 200 hits I won the most valuable player award.

Glasses could very well help me this season. I was always squinting without them. Now I get a clearer picture of the ball at bat and in the field.

The Yankees suggested I see an eye doctor. He gave me exercises to strengthen them and I went once a week to see him and went through eye focusing exercises during the winter.

When Ken Royer of the Cardinals lugged into me at second base this spring my shatterproof glasses were smashed. I went without a new pair for a few days and really missed them.

I still want to play because I feel I can do the job. That's why I'm going to wear glasses. Everybody seems to be doing it now.

Del Ennis and Stan Lopata of the Phillies are wearing them this year. Eddie Joost put them on only a few years ago and look what it did for Bill Birden, the Cardinal rookie. He led the International League in hitting. And Dom DiMaggio, as great a center fielder as he was, could never have played so many years in Boston without them.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—We are told by a man who gambles cold bloodedly on almost any sport, both for the pleasure of taking the suckers and as a means of keeping a healthy bankroll, that he is pouring it in on the New York Giants and intends to "go to sleep on it."

By the latter phrase he means, of course, that he thinks Lew DuRoche's world champions are a mortal lock to repeat in the National League.

In reply to a meek protest from this orner that both Brooklyn and Milwaukee look to have as good chances as the Giants, provided a few things go right for them, our gambling friend smiled wickedly.

"Sure," he said. "Brooklyn could be great if Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella make big comebacks and all their other 16-timers have fine years. Milwaukee could take it all if Bobby Thomson quits limping and goes all the way in the outfield and if Uncle Sam doesn't decide to call up its best outfielder, Hank Aaron.

"No, I don't want that many 'ifs' going against my money. When I put it on the Giants I know exactly what I've got going for me. All they're doing is trying to win three or four more, maybe equal Casey Stengel's record with the Yankees.

"They're mostly a young team and they're built around four or five of the finest young players in the game. They've got Willie Mays, who will win 15 or 20 games by himself. All they'll need is maybe two or three good replacements as they go along to match the Yankee record."

Santee Nearing 4-Minute Mile
WAXTON, Tex. (AP)—Cocky Wes Santee, who came nearer the four-minute mile Saturday than he had before, thinks he'll get it in the next two months. His time was 4:00.3.

The angular Kansas with the stridle complained that he was tired and that a brisk north wind might hamper his bid for the glory that has gone to Roger Banner and John Landy. But he showed no signs of weariness as he breezed around Memorial Stadium in the Texas Relays.

His time was a new American record and with a little stronger competition he might have done the four-minute mile. He was half a lap ahead of Henri Geller of Oklahoma A&M at the finish.

Santee said he will rest three weeks before competing in the Kansas Relays and hopes to be in top shape for May and June meets in California, where he believes his chances are best to crack the barrier on a clay track.

The relays were dominated by Oklahoma A&M and Texas, who swept all of the seven relays. Oklahoma A&M might have won a record five but for a dropped bat in the mile relay.

League Directors Ditch 3-Year-Old Split Season Plan

The winner of the Florida State League pennant will be determined on a full season's play, the directors of the Class D circuit decided Friday night in voting to drop the split season plan.

Gainesville and Daytona Beach favored the split season but the rest voted against it. The split season plan has been in effect for the last three seasons.

In other action, the directors voted unanimously to accept West Palm Beach as the eighth member of the league. The South Florida city replaces Tampa, which was admitted two weeks ago but was forced to withdraw.

Pat Reece, president of the West Palm Beach club, presented the city's bid for a franchise.

Reece said Bill Steinecke will manage the Indians. He was at Cocoa last season and at several other league cities before that.

Steinecke has promised to assemble a team for the opener. The team will have no working agreement with any major league club.

According to the terms under which West Palm Beach was admitted to the league, the club agreed to pay half of the hotel bills of clubs staying in West Palm Beach.

Other league members are Sanford, Cocoa, Daytona Beach, Gainesville, Lakeland, Orlando, and St. Petersburg. Sanford, Gainesville, and St. Petersburg were not in the league last year but Gainesville and Sanford have been members in previous seasons.

John Krider, league president, said the league will open April 13

Don's name, or call—Mobley at Winter Park 26-9482 or Lew Arnold, Winter Park 27-2671.

Pro-Communists Serving Peiping Are Lonesome Lot

By FRED HANFSON
HONG KONG (AP)—The handful of Western Communists and pro-Communists who serve Peiping are the loneliest people in China.

Some are worried about passports. None so far has severed all ties with home. The most widely known are two British pro-Communist correspondents, Alan Winnington and Wilfred Burchett.

It was there too that they put their passports in danger. The British government has condoned pro-Communist, even anti-British work, in China proper.

Michael Shapiro, another British correspondent, lost his passport for his efforts in Korea, according to returning visitors.

Winnington and Shapiro represent the London Daily Worker and work for the Communist New China News Agency. They live with like medium-level Communist bureaucrats, with commodious houses, two or more servants, sufficient heat, clothing and good food.

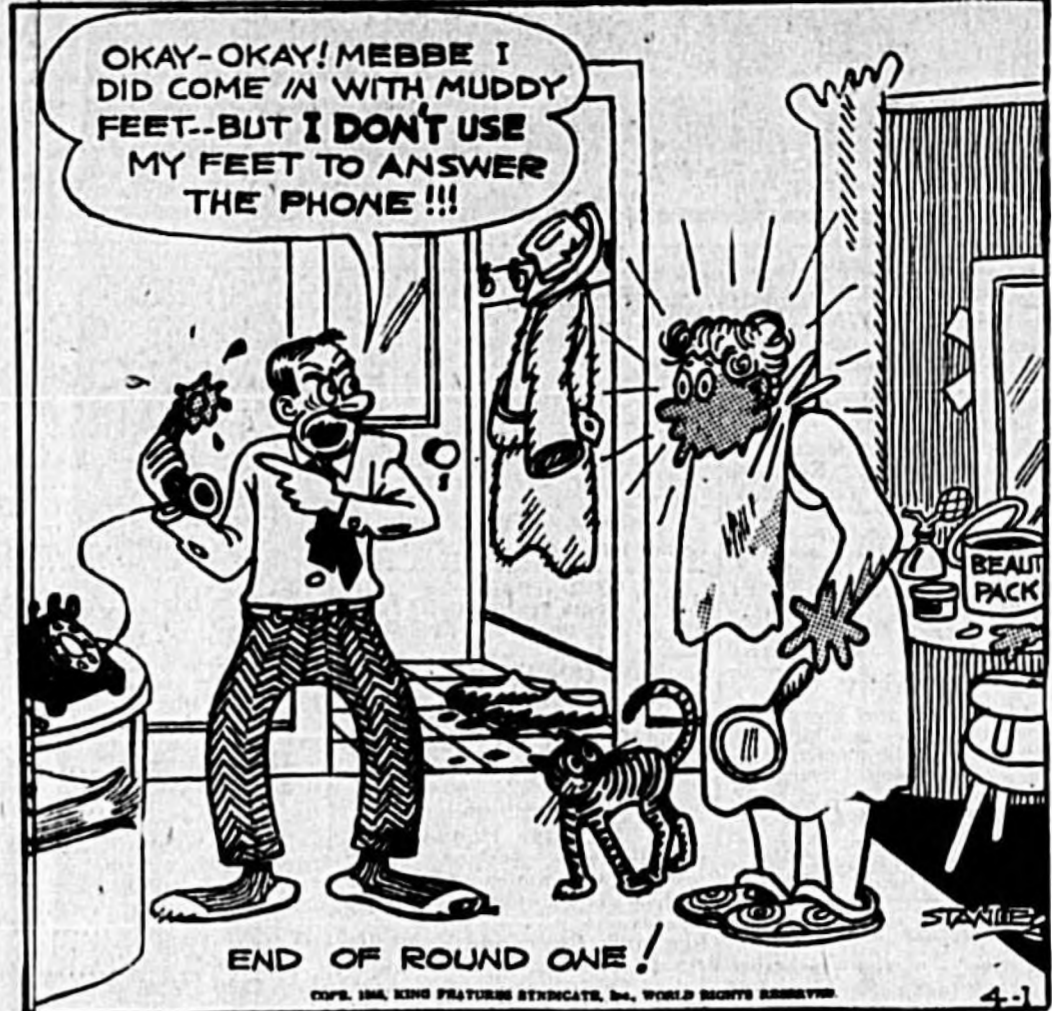

Burchett has never worked officially for the Reds. His overseas corresponding seems to pay him amply. One visitor said he lived better than the others and certainly seemed to have more ready cash.

That was March 17th. On April 2, Stephenson, Klineck and Gentry were arrested on charges of assault and abduction. Klineck Oberholzer died 12 days later and a grand jury returned new charges of first degree murder against the trio.

The trial lasted nearly five weeks. Neither Stephenson nor his aides took the witness stand, so Miss Oberholzer's deathbed statement was the only direct account of what happened. Largely on this evidence, the jury found Stephenson guilty of second degree murder, though it acquitted Gentry and Klineck.

He received a parole in March 1950 but was declared a parole violator and returned to prison in 1951 after he was found working

Billet-Proof Gates May Open Soon

MIGGAN CITY, Ind., (AP)—Bullet-proof, steel gates of Indiana's state prison soon may open. David Curtis Stephenson, murderer and pompous demagogue who boasted "I am the law in Indiana."

When he made that boast 30 years ago, Stephenson was grand dragon of Indiana's Ku Klux Klan, commanding a following of more than 50,000 white supremacists. He is the swaggering kingly in a pail morass that thrived on fanatical racial and religious hatred.

Stephenson today is none of these things. He is a pudgy bald convict—No. 11148 at the Indiana state prison—a has-been of an era who could muster only a handful of followers. He was arrested in December when he was 60 years old since he entered the prison for a life term for murder.

Stephenson migrated to Indiana in 1921 as a kid, or salesman, of 110 Klan memberships. Memberships sold in the early 1920's, and he proved one of the easiest to recruit Klan members. More than 350,000 Hoosiers paid $5 to wear the white sheet and blue anti-Negro, anti-Jew and anti-Semitic.

Every $10 membership a kid sold, four went into his pocket. It wasn't long before Stephenson was living in a mansion in Irvington, an Indianapolis suburb, with a staff of servants and two bodyguards.

Balanoglossus Added To Museum

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON (AP)—A strange new what-is-it has been added to the Smithsonian Institution's vast collection of oddities: just about the biggest balanoglossus in the world.

What's a balanoglossus? It's hard to get a straight answer out of scientists, and no wonder. The balanoglossus is something like a worm, something like a starfish and a little like a vertebrate—that is, a creature with a backbone.

In fact, says the Smithsonian, the balanoglossus—which looks like a giant worm and smells like a freshly opened bottle of iodine—sometimes is considered a sort of link between the worm, echinoderm (starfish) and vertebrate groups.

Summing up the balanoglossus, the government museum says: "It got stuck in the mud two of three hundred million years ago and remained just like a worm."

This particular balanoglossus was dug out of beach sand at Grand Isle, La., by Dr. Harry J. Bennett, of Louisiana State University. It took him and six helpers half a day. They had to work gingerly for balanoglossus is so delicate that it goes all to pieces when disturbed.

When he got through, he had a balanoglossus more than three feet long—"probably one of the largest specimens of its kind ever obtained," says the Smithsonian. People have told of seeing balanoglossus up to six feet long but nobody's got a whole one that big.

You too could probably catch a balanoglossus if you had the patience and happened to visit one of the Smithsonian's field stations.

Manchester England claims it has the longest single railroad station platform in the world—2,105 feet — although many stations have more than that length of platform, broken into several sections.

with aggression in a grenade attack on a wedding party at Fatih March 24 in which a woman was killed and 23 persons injured, a number of mine incidents along the border of the Egyptian-held Gaza strip and the clash yesterday.

HUNTING MUST GO ON
PARK RAPIDS, MINN. (AP)—A gun accident took the left hand of Gordon Dennis, 30 but it failed to dampen his hunting ardor. Less than two months after he lost the hand while hunting ducks, Dennis shot a deer.

Churchill Resigns As Prime Minister

Appointment Of Sir Anthony Eden Is Expected Tonight Or Tomorrow

Strolling In Sanford

Thursday is the deadline for entries in the Teenage Driving Road-race. Applications may be turned in to the entrant's school office or the Jaycee information booth.

Postmaster Joel Field announced this morning that the Post Office will be closed on Wednesday afternoon beginning tomorrow and continuing until next week.

The Sanford Public Library will be closed on Good Friday, it was announced today.

Nelson Interview Heard On Radio

Harry M. Nelson, M. D., was interviewed Friday by Marion Harman in a broadcast over station WTRB. He answered questions on cancer and how funds for the cancer drive are being used.

Dr. Nelson was born March 29, 1906 in Kane, Pa., is married, and has two children. He received his education at the University of Michigan and has a B. S. and M. D. degree. Beginning work with the American Cancer Society, he was ACS president in 1953-54. He was one of the men instrumental in achieving the Detroit Cancer Center and is on the board of the Detroit Institute for Cancer Research.

Dr. Nelson was greeted in Sanford by members of the board of the Seminole County Unit of the American Cancer Society and Forest Buckenridge, representing the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Julius Dingfelder is president of the Seminole County Unit.

Three Employees Fired As Risks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only three of the State Department's 11,500 employees were fired as security risks in 1954. Two of those were accused of Communist party affiliation.

Under questioning by committee members, Flinn said that, in all, 200 State Department employees have been fired for security reasons.

MARTHA RAYE BROWN DAMAGED BY FIRE
WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—Two hot gas tanks exploded last night at the home of actress Martha Raye, setting off a fire that caused an estimated $5,000 damage to the house and kitchen. Mrs. Raye and three children escaped.

Station Wagon Smashes Train

A 45-year-old iron worker was slightly hurt when the station wagon he was driving smashed into an A. C. L. freight train early today at the Park Ave. and 15th St. railroad crossing.

Damage to the 1952 Nash station wagon, which caught fire, was estimated at $1,100.

City Police identified the driver as William Edward McNair, a resident of Sanford Trailer Park on French Ave. He was summoned to appear in Police Court Friday to answer a charge of careless and negligent driving.

McNair received only minor cuts on his face in the accident.

Police said McNair was driving north on Park Ave. when the crash occurred at 1:45 a. m. The station wagon hit the seventh car behind the engine on the east bound train.

Owner of the station wagon was listed as Mrs. Mattie Bell McNair, 10400 Snug Harbor Rd., St. Petersburg.

The conductor on the train was C. W. Branley, Welaka Apts. F. E. Donaldson, Lake Mary, was the engineer.

Investigating officers were Patrolmen R. J. Hickson and W. R. Cochrane.

Judge Discusses Delinquency Cases At Police Meeting

County Judge Ernest Housholder was guest speaker last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Police Benevolent Association held at the Pig 'N' Whistle Restaurant at 6:30 o'clock.

The topic of his speech was "Juvenile Delinquency and The Problems that Arise When a Police Officer Faces Certain Situations."

He reminded the group that a juvenile under the age of 17 is never arrested but "taken into custody." That is "he is turned over to his parents or if that is impossible, the judge is first contacted."

"A judge can issue two orders," he went on, "either a general order in which he tells you to use your own judgment or a special order in which he tells you what to do."

He also said that a person under 17 can have no fingerprints taken, no photographs, no entries made in the jail records and each report on an individual case is absolutely private. The records are at no time disclosed to the public and each case brought to him is held behind closed doors.

He told the officers present that it is "very important that the attitude sustained during the time you take a delinquent into custody is the right attitude because if not, it might lead the individual into believing that no good will come out of the situation even during the court period."

The question arose as to whether or not to mark an individual's name down on a traffic violation if he or she is under age. Judge Housholder suggested that "municipal" be marked off the subpoena and "juvenile" be written in its place at the suggestion of Arnold Williams. These cases are also taken care of by the judge.

He pointed out that there were 350,000 cases of juvenile delinquency brought to courts last year and that now there is a 5-point program for rehabilitating delinquent children; (1) training special police officers to deal with young people wisely, (2) establish suitable detention quarters with constructive programs, (3) provide juvenile courts with trained probation workers and other treatment resources, (4) staff and equip training schools adequately for treating seriously delinquent youth and (5) make a single state agency responsible for co-ordination and developing services.

$1593.67 Collected For Boy Scout Fund

A total of $1,593.67, compared to $800 last year, has been collected in Sanford in the Boy Scout fund drive, it was announced today by Fred C. Murray, campaign chairman for Seminole County.

There have been no reports from the rest of the county, Murray added.

He said persons missed by the volunteer workers may send their contributions to him.

Murray expressed his appreciation to the workers and to the Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary and Elks clubs for their help in the drive.

He said it was planned to set up a tentative goal of $2,000 next year because of the tremendous growth in the Boy Scout and Cub Scout movements.

SNOWBOUND WITHOUT SNOW MARTINDALE, Mont. (AP)—This central Montana community was snowbound without snow today.

Officials reported no snow on the ground within 10 miles of the community.

Osteen Man Killed As Car Hits Truck

Flowers Victim Of Crash Mercury Sedan Is Total Loss

Thomas Hartridge Flowers, 55, of Osteen, was fatally injured today in a car-truck accident on Park Ave., just south of the 13th St. intersection. His 1954 Mercury sedan was a total loss.

Flowers, a merchant, died in Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital shortly after his car smashed into the rear of a Patrick Fruit Co. truck which had stopped for the traffic light.

The truck driver, Raymond King, of Route 1, was uninjured. City Patrolman Ben Butler, investigating officer, said Flowers' car had been weaving along the street and run off the road several times before the accident occurred at 12:01 p. m.

The officer said a half-empty whiskey bottle was found in the car.

Flowers suffered a fractured skull and crushed chest, and his right leg, broken in another car wreck, was rebroken. He carried a wheel chair in his car as a result of the injuries received in the other accident.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $250.

Mental Problems Research Needed, Delegates Are Told

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Mental health problems need scientific research and need it now, delegates to the annual convention of the Florida Medical Society were told at the opening session.

"Hospitals do not cure a patient," Dr. Elmer Hess of Erie, Pa., said. "It takes intensive research and the application of healing techniques to beat down diseases long thought to be incurable."

Dr. Hess, president elect of the American Medical Assn., said mental illness can seem to be the same scientific attack that has conquered such diseases as smallpox, typhoid and malaria.

In reported more than half the nation's hospital beds are occupied by persons who have disturbances of the brain.

"We cannot afford to dilly dally with their rehabilitation," he said. Dr. Peter B. Wright of the Medical College of Georgia urged that medical schools give more thorough training in first aid, noting that accidents rank fourth among causes of death in this country.

Hoover Announces
Police Don't Match
Higher Crime Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the nation's large cities have not increased their police strength to keep pace with a higher crime rate.

Hoover expressed his views in a signed editorial in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, which is circulated to police agencies throughout the country.

"The average citizen runs far greater risk of being victimized by the vicious or stealthy criminal in the heavily populated cities than in the smaller urban communities," he said, asserting that a principal reason is "that the number of police officers in the large cities has not kept pace with the higher crime rate."

Texas Drivers Still Want Guns

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas automobile drivers have told a state representative they don't want to lay that pistol down.

Rep. Charles Sandahl of Austin told reporters yesterday he'd decided not to ask State Legislature action on his bill requiring firearms to be unloaded, wrapped, cased or locked up when carried in trucks or autos.

Texas, he said, don't want to change their gun-totin' habits. He waved a bulky sheaf of telegrams and letters of protest.

Kelth Will Manage Sanford Ball Team

ALBANY, Ga.—Daniel Kelth, a veteran of the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system, yesterday was named manager of the Sanford entry in the Florida State League.

Kelth, a first baseman, played with Norfolk in the Piedmont League last year.

In a free-hitting exhibition game yesterday, Paducah (Ky.) walloped Sanford, 13-7.

The winners came from behind with a five-run rally in the fourth, and were forced to come from behind again in the fifth, as Sanford tallied two in the top deck of the fifth to knot the score at 7-7.

Paducah had a four-run ninth inning to sew up the contest.

Outfielder Ben Baker, assigned to Paducah Sunday, led the stick work for the winners by blasting out two singles in three official trips.

Yesterday's victory was number five against three losses for Paducah in exhibition play.

War Provocation Depends On Reds, Comments Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that if there is war in the Formosa area it will be entirely due to Chinese Communist provocation and initiative.

He said the United States is trying to deal with Communist China on a civilized and peaceful basis.

Dulles discussed what he called the dangerous Far Eastern situation, at a news conference. He said the United States would of course like to have Allied countries brought into a single Far Eastern strategic system—which would mean broader support in the defense of Formosa.

Stewart Questioned In Kidnap-Slaying

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Miami detectives were on their way here today to question a 33-year-old hotel kitchen helper in the brutal kidnap-slaying of Judith Ann Roberts, 7, nine months ago.

Columbus Stewart, a Negro, was arrested on a vagrancy charge yesterday by Jacksonville police. He was held for investigation of murder.

The body of Judith Ann was found in a palm-tree thicket near Biscayne Bay, a few blocks from downtown Miami, last July 7. She had been taken from the home of her grandparents.

Refugee Program Success Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP)—R. W. Scott McLeod has told Congress he thinks President Eisenhower's program to admit 214,000 refugees can be completed successfully by the end of next year.

McLeod, whose administration of the program has been under fire in Congress, gave this estimate to a House Appropriations subcommittee at a closed session Feb. 9. His testimony was made public today.

Jaybees To Elect Officers Tonight In Civic Building

The Jaybees, an organization sponsored by the local Jaycees for young men between the ages of 18 and 20, are having the annual election of officers tonight in the Civic Building in Fort Mellon Park at 7:30 o'clock. Those present at this meeting will be charter members, Tommy Stringer, assistant, announced.

The purpose of the Jaybees is to promote civic interest among teenagers of our community, to train young men for active participation in Junior Chamber of Commerce work; to encourage and promote acquaintanceship, good will and fellowship among young men; to assist in developing community spirit; to encourage and assist young men to obtain better understanding of business principles; to encourage young men to cooperate with civic organizations and with each other at all times and to harmonize and mobilize the young manpower of our community by doing so to assist in the bigger better and greater place in which to live.

If there are any questions or if some don't have a way they are urged to call Joe Hunt at 2407 before tonight.

Vatican Newspaper Replies To Charge

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano says Argentina is a totalitarian state. The Vatican newspaper made the charge in replying to Buenos Aires suggestions for an end to Roman Catholicism's favored position as the state church in Argentina.

"The church today is stricken in Argentina just because it affirms the existence of a moral law engaging all Christians," L'Osservatore declared yesterday.

The editorial was its latest on the five-month fight between the Catholic Church and President Juan Peron's government.

China's Communist Party Heads Crack Down With New Discipline

TOKYO (AP)—China's Communist masters cracked down with harsh new discipline in party ranks today in the wake of their first purge of top men since they took over the country in 1949.

Peiping radio announced the startling story to the world today. It said the Communist party had purged Kao Kang, the "Mao-Chuan Stalin," who bossed Red China's faltering five-year plan, and Jao Shu-shih, a Shanghai stalwart who ruled six big eastern provinces in the early days of the Red regime.

Kao committed suicide, Peiping said. Jao, former party secretary for east China, "has never shown any signs of repentance and now persists in an attitude of attack on the party," Peiping said.

That seemed to indicate that Jao is alive.

Peiping charged the two with conspiring to seize "leadership of the party and the state" with Red army help.

Peiping announced the immediate creation of "party control committees" at all levels to "strengthen discipline and prevent a recurrence of so serious a case as the Kao Kang-Jao Shu-shih anti-party alliance."

"The remnants of counter-revolution and the reactionary bourgeois elements," Peiping said, "are accelerating their conspiracy to restore the counter-revolution."

"The enemy will use a thousand tricks to try to destroy our party," Peiping said in a broadcast of the text of a Communist party resolution. "Its greatest hope is that the Communist party of China might be split and degenerate."
