

All A-OK For Future U. S. Manned Space Flights

Two Robots Open Door

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A U. S. Gemini capsule carrying two "astro-robots" successfully leaped halfway across the Atlantic Ocean today and signaled a go-ahead for an attempt to hurl two astronauts into orbit around April or May.

A powerful Titan-2 rocket blasted off at 9:03 a.m. EST and hurled the bell-shaped payload more than 100 miles into space. About 20 minutes later, the capsule blazed back through the atmosphere and rode a giant red and white parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean about 2,150 miles east-southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The apparently flawless flight opened the door at last to long-delayed plans to launch Astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young on Gemini's inaugural three-orbit manned flight.

The spectacular flight also preserved, for the time being at least, hopes that the $1.3 billion Gemini program will be permitted to launch its 10 two-man flights by early 1967.

The project, already 1 1/2 years behind schedule, faces the threat of cutbacks due to delays.

Today's flight, witnessed by Grissom and Young and 10 fellow astronauts, apparently performed in perfection from the fiery liftoff at Cape Kennedy to the capsule's safe landing in the Atlantic about 10 to 20 miles from the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain.

Inside the capsule, where the astronauts would normally sit, were lodged the two "astro-robots" — so-called crewman simulators — with batteries for hearts, cameras for eyes, sensors for fingers and sequencers and timers for brains and nerves.

The robots carried orders to control the altitude of the 600-pound capsule, to turn it around so its protected blunt end would absorb the brunt of 1,200-degree temperatures on the 16,000-mile per hour dive and to keep crewman notes on everything that happened.

The space capsule was plotted from the ocean and placed on the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain about one hour and 40 minutes after its thunderous take-off from Cape Kennedy.

The capsule will be returned to Cape Kennedy to be inspected, stored and dismantled in preparation for the manned flight.

Meanwhile, California's basked in temperatures that reached 85 at Point Mugu and 81 at Santa Ana and Long Beach.

Recognition Bid For Trail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) asked Congress today to recognize and protect the Appalachian Trail, a 2,000-mile wilderness track which winds from Maine to Georgia.

The trail, established in 1921, has been maintained by volunteers and never officially recognized by the federal government.

The bill which Nelson proposed was similar to a measure for proposed last year, but that one died when Congress adjourned without acting upon it.

Churchill Continues At Point Of Death

Sir Winston Has Dogged Resistance

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill hovered near death today.

The 90-year-old wartime prime minister spent a restless night and was believed at the point of death in early morning from the ravages of a stroke.

But at 11:46 a.m. (6:46 a.m. EST) today, Churchill's weary physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran, told newsman Churchill's condition had not deteriorated further during the morning.

Approaches Death The archbishop of Canterbury called upon all Britons to pray for Sir Winston "as he approaches death."

Lord Moran spent most of the night at Churchill's bedside, watching his life ebb and apparently helpless to save it.

Moran, himself 62, was called to Churchill's bedside at his home in Hyde Park Gate at 2:10 a.m. (9:10 p.m. EST Monday) for the first surprise examination since the wartime prime minister was announced as suffering from a cerebral thrombosis last Friday.

Steady Decline Successive medical bulletins since then have indicated a slow but steady decline in Churchill's valiant fight for life.

A faltering heart and a failing circulatory system drained Churchill's last reservoirs of strength but surviving millions around the world found consolation and pride in his dogged resistance.

A police officer standing guard outside the Churchill home sounded a common sentiment.

"A bloke like that could just wake up in the morning and say what's this about? The bolshie said."

LBJ OKs New Super Missile

Demos Propose Broad Election Law Reforms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey called today for broad election law reforms to remove "unnecessary restrictions and extend the franchise to more American voters."

Included in Bailey's proposals were abolition of literacy tests, permanent registration, longer hours for polling places and a redrawing of precinct and ward boundaries.

Those and other recommendations were outlined by Bailey in a report on last year's election at a meeting today of the Democratic National Committee.

Bailey presented a report on why he thought the Democrats won a landslide election victory last November.

"I think we all agree," Bailey said in prepared remarks, "that the best assets we had in 1964 were President Johnson and Senator Humphrey and a great Democratic program."

The Democratic chairman said some aspects of the Republican campaign "were rather negative."

"In our campaign we stuck basically to a positive note," he said.

Bailey said the Democrats had to do "a little educational work to counteract some of the character assassination" carried out by some Republican supporters.

He also praised Democratic "counteraction" in exposing an alleged Republican bribe of a committee employee, discrediting a GOP citizens' group film "choice," discouraging a write-in campaign for Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr. and opposition to "Operation Eagle Eye," a Republican ballot box watching drive.

President Looks To Better World 'For All People'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today urged a sense of confidence and well-being about himself, the nation and the world.

He said the nation's mission was to "make it possible to put defense spending by 50 percent."

Johnson announced plans for Posidon development in a special message to Congress on the whole realm of national defense.

Administration officials said the new missile, with twice the destructive force of Polaris, or about two megatons, would cost an estimated $600 million to develop and a further $12 billion for production quantities.

Johnson also said a new cent surcharge on tickets.

Flying Safety Idea Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Aviation Club, which is an organization representing airline passengers, suggests that the flying public pay for the installation of runway arresting gear at major airports.

The club's safety foundation sent the cost of such gear could be paid by a 20-cent surcharge on tickets.

The President used the occasion to remind his financial supporters that "our generation enjoys a very rich and beautiful life, the richest and most beautiful our people have ever known."

But he said that to make this "a wonderful generation" Americans must meet tasks before them "in the schoolroom, in the slums, in the countryside, in the world."

"In the days to come, we will try to bring employer and employee, farmer and rancher and banker together, all in an attempt to make this a better world for all people," he declared.

Hearing Slated On Seminole Jr. College Request

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Junior College Board will meet Wednesday in Tallahassee to act on requests for new institutions to serve Alachua, Bradford and Seminole counties.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey said surveys of potential student enrollment in the two areas were complete and a final recommendation for creation of the new two-year schools was expected at the meeting.

Approval of the new schools would push to four the number of junior colleges planned for the coming biennium. Others approved at recent meetings to serve Leon, Wakulla and Highlands — Hardee counties.

The proposals will go to the 1965 legislature.

Currently there are 30 junior colleges in Florida with an enrollment of 60,000 students.

Bribery Trial Opens Tuesday

A jury was being selected this morning in Circuit Court to hear a bribery trial. Presiding is Judge Volie A. Williams Jr.

Charged is a man identified as John H. Hickman. It is alleged that on April 16 he tried to bribe a driving license examiner so he could get a permit.

The defendant is represented by Public Defender David Flaaxer; the state by Prosecutor A. E. Hoseman.

the brand of Lyndon Johnson

WHEN his eyes narrow and the lines of time and wisdom crack his leathery face, Lyndon Baines Johnson is the shrewd rancher about to appraise a Hereford bull. He is also the 36th President of the United States. Raised on the dusty plains of Southwest Texas and in the halls of Congress, he came to the presidency with a rich and varied experience and total mastery of the intricacies of power and influence. His brand is stamped on the fabric of America. His vision of the Great Society will be the nation's beacon in the future. He has stated his faith: "Let us from this moment begin our work so that in the future men will look back and say: It was then, after a long and weary way, that man turned the exploits of his genius to the full enrichment of life."

Restaurateurs See Good Year With Expenses

By Jesse Rogue
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most of the men who feed you a way from home expect this to be a good year, all things considered. But they have expense problems, they admit.

This was the gist of recent answers from food service industry executives to questions asked by National Restaurant Association officials, with headquarters in Chicago.

Paul V. Shank, president of the NRA, and Donald Greenaway, executive vice president, expressed belief that the industry — including restaurants, lunch rooms, supply operations in schools and institutions, vending machine food — will gross $27 billion this calendar year, compared with $26 billion in 1964.

The past year, Greenaway said, the industry showed a true net gain in sales volume, and a small increase in profit. Restaurant menu prices have averaged a 2.6 per cent increase in 10 years, Greenaway said, but the cost of labor, food, general overhead all has risen to offset the increases.

A number of the executives polled by the NRA emphasized the importance of personnel to any projects of growth in the industry, and to the individual success of separate units.

The restaurant operators "must look to our personnel," said Lester Johnson, NRA director and operator of Wheeler's Foods, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind.

"A restaurant's success depends on its people and only by constant training and inspiration can we keep them motivated."

Another NRA director, Anthony Smith, Chicago, thought that the year would see industry development of long term employe and recruiting programs.

Others joined in the belief that keener merchandising would be called for in the industry. Martin L. Horn Sr., West Orange, N. J., looked for keener competition, and said that operators "will have to resort to better and more efficient merchandising."

Humphrey, 47 Governors In Spotlight Before LBJ's Big Day On Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey and 47 governors shared the spotlight today at inaugural festivities which will reach a climax Wednesday with the swearing-in of President Johnson.

Today's semiformal events included a reception for governors, a huge party for Humphrey, a dance for Young Democrats, and an inaugural breakfast for Democratic governors, a meeting of the Democratic National Committee, and dozens of state society dinners and cocktail parties.

Although Republicans generally had that left-out feeling, GOP governors were included among the 47 state chief executives who were honored at the reception.

The governors of Wisconsin, New Mexico and South Dakota couldn't make it, but sent representatives.

Humphrey and his wife, Muriel, were taking their bows at an afternoon party in the Shoreham Hotel ballroom, attended by everybody who is anybody in Democratic politics.

Founded by visitors from every part of the nation, Washington had the alighty, frenzied atmosphere of a city which suddenly discovers that it has looked a political convention during the same week as the Mardi Gras. Hotels were filled to the broom closets, taxis were hard to find, and it was easier to get a cabinet appointment than a table in a good restaurant.

The three-day blowout began Monday with a reception for 7,000 "distinguished ladies" amid the marble fountains of the National Gallery of Art, a handsome building donated to the nation by Republican Treasury Secretary Andrew Mellon, who had no idea of the use to which it would someday be put.

Lady Bird Johnson was the big attraction at the reception. She wore what female reporters described as a "holly red textured silk afternoon dress."

Some of the 7,000 ladies who took part in the genteel, shoving-match were distinguished for their contributions to the arts and public life.

Others were distinguished for their husbands' contributions to the Democratic party.

President Johnson got into the inaugural swing Monday night. His first scheduled appearance was at the gala, sort of super-party show, at the National Guard Armory.

But Johnson first paid brief visits to a $1,000-a-plate President's dinner at the Shoreham Hotel and then went to the Sheraton Park Hotel where Texas members of the President's Club were celebrating.

The President showed up 34 minutes late at the gala, but the 11,000 cheering Democrats on hand couldn't have cared less.

They refused repeated appeals to be seated and clear the aisles until the public address announcer warned that Johnson would not enter unless everyone was seated.

That worked. And to the booming strains of "Hail To The Chief," the President and Mrs. Johnson made their entrance followed by Vice President-elect and Mrs. Humphrey.

Wednesday is the big day. The official inaugural ceremony at which the President and vice president take the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution will be held outdoors at the Capitol, beginning at 11:30 a. m. (EST).

After Johnson delivers his inaugural address, he will ride down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House at the head of a parade which is scheduled to last 2½ hours, but probably will run overtime as inaugural parades always do.

Insurance Hike Bid Rejected By Larson

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson said insurance companies seeking a rate increase based their claims of higher costs on statistics from only 13,800 of the 2,300,000 passenger cars in Florida.

Larson rejected the proposed increased liability rates sought by some 200 companies doing business in Florida, and also their proposed new system of classifying drivers which would have set up about 700 categories.

Larson said a survey used by the insurance companies to back the proposal of new rates included some figures for New York state.

Larson also objected, without going into detail, to factors used by the companies in trying to demonstrate losses.

"It is the commissioner's opinion that differential changes as sweeping as those proposed should not be based upon so small a sample of risks insured in this state or nation," Larson's order denying the increases said.

The increases in liability rates would have cost Florida drivers an estimated total of $6 million a year.

The companies asked for the new rates on grounds of skyrocketing losses due to increased accident rates.

Chasing Rabbits Lands Two In County Jail

By Mrs. Clarence Snyder

Two Winter Park men were apprehended early Saturday morning in Osteen after alarming residents of the Lake Butler area with a crossfire of rifle and shotgun shots fired as they drove, with a companion car, in and out of driveways to the homes.

At arrival of Constable Irving Vaino, Jr. and Deputy Ronald Vaino, both of Osteen, one car had fled the scene and the men arrested were found sleeping in the other car parked blocking the roadway.

Charges of obstructing traffic and vagrancy were placed against Stephen Scott Lind, 20, of 2532 Fifeshire Drive and Carl H. Dorigan, also 20, of 1860 ViaGrona Drive, who said they had been chasing rabbits. Both were placed in Volusia County jail in DeLand in lieu of bond.

Confiscated were one double barrel shotgun, two .22 automatic rifles and one .22 pistol.

Hearing was scheduled for this afternoon before Judge J. F. Peterson of Osteen.

Horseshoeing Pays Student's Tuition

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Devoe L. Moore works at a trade that began in the horse and buggy days to prepare himself for a future in the space age.

Moore, 25, shoes horses in his spare time to pay his way through Florida State University, where he is a junior majoring in criminology and corrections.

He found blacksmithing pays about $7.50 an hour, compared to the $1.25 an hour most other students made at part-time jobs.

Last April Moore found he couldn't make ends meet with his $1.25 an hour job, so he dropped out of school and returned to Greenville, Tenn., where he had grown up. There he spent three months learning to shoe Tennessee walking horses.

Moore, who calls Tampa his home now, returned to school last fall and discovered there was only one other farrier in Leon County and plenty of horses.

He carries his own equipment around in the back of a truck he has converted into a rolling blacksmith shop, complete with smelter and a huge anvil.

Moore earns about $40 per horse and regularly shoes 10 Tennessee walkers, and 50 other horses.

He works on the horses once every six weeks, taking about two hours per job.

Geneva PTO Hears Program On Delinquents

By JoAnn Hays

A program on juvenile delinquency was presented to members of the Geneva PTO by Mrs. Florence Glazier, program chairman, at the January meeting held in the school auditorium.

Entitled "The Most Important People," the presentation dealt with causes of juvenile delinquency and what parents say and do. On the national scale Mrs. Glazier used materials from the "Life Line" radio program and Reader's Digest and on the local level facts were cited from the sheriff's department, the county judge and the juvenile court records for 1964. It was pointed out that a common factor found in most juveniles is that they have little or no church background.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Dora Lee Russell, president, Mrs. Glazier, Mrs. Bobbie Brady and Mrs. Ed Yarborough were named to serve as a nominating committee.

Election Slated By Credit Union

The NAS Sanford Federal Credit Union will hold its sixth annual membership meeting in the NAS Ballroom at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

"The purpose of the meeting is to elect new officers and to inform the membership of the progress made since the union was organized," President J. J. Hay announced.

There will be a free buffet dinner and door prizes. Dress is informal and members are asked to call the Credit Union office at NAS Sanford and make their reservations.

Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) was born in Florida, Missouri.

OFFICERS of the Weathersfield Teenage Club are Dudley Meadows, president and Debbie Sigmon, treasurer; Pam Garrett, secretary, and Gail Tinsley, vice president. The group meets on alternate Monday evenings at the clubhouse, "The Shack," which is equipped with ping pong table, cold drink machine and a juke box.

COMFORT ARTICLES made by members of American Legion Auxiliary Unit 53 of Sanford for patients in veterans hospitals are shown here by Mrs. Flo King, chairman of the project, who later packed the items with assistance of Mrs. Minnie Pezold and Mrs. Emily Thurston for shipment to Bay Pines, Coral Gables and Lake City.

A CHECK making up a major portion of the $618 to be paid in March by the Weathersfield Civic Association for street lights in the area is presented to Mrs. Glenn Hartwell, secretary-treasurer, by Cecil R. Cummings, Winter Park builder who is helping develop the community.

Babysitter Tells Of Burning Baby

PINELLAS PARK (UPI) — Mrs. Gloria Dripps told police Sunday how pep pills she took while babysitting dulled her senses so much she burned and crushed six-month-old Stephen Money, nearly killing him.

Police on Jan. 2 charged the boy's father, 24-year-old George R. Money, with aggravated assault with intent to commit second degree murder five days after the child was hospitalized in critical condition.

Pinellas Park Police Chief Howard Williams said the charges against Money would be dropped.

Williams said Mrs. Dripps told him, her attorney and two detectives she had been taking pep pills while sitting with the Money boy, who lived next door.

By Jane Casselberry

The king and queen of the hoboes will be crowned Friday at the Hobo Hop being sponsored by the Future Homemakers Club at South Seminole Junior High School at Casselberry, 7:30-10:30 p. m., in the cafeteria.

They will be chosen for having the best hobo costumes.

Music for dancing will be provided by "The Esquire Five" and refreshments of punch and cookies will be served.

Disabled Vets Entitled To Waiver Grant

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI) — M. T. Dixon, of the Florida department of Veterans Affairs, announced today that veterans with a disability of 60 per cent or more, who have authorized deductions from disability benefits for application to their insurance accounts, are now being informed of their possible entitlement to a waiver of premiums.

There are approximately 36,000 insured in this category and Dixon states that it is anticipated that approximately 15,200 per cent of them will be granted a waiver of premiums.

Dixon further advised that any veteran drawing sixty per cent or more, not having deductions made from his disability benefits for application to his insurance account, should see his local Veteran County Service Officer or write him at P. O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg so that a determination can be made as to whether they will fall into this eligible class.

Services will be held Wednesday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Stamford.

Cut Your Own Taxes - 12

By Ray De Crane

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At the bottom of Page 2 of your 1040 return you will find the heading "Other Deductions" under the Itemized Deductions section. Here you will put all those deductions you could find no proper place for in the other sections.

Most commonly listed here are union dues or dues paid to professional societies; any non-reimbursed business entertainment expense; the cost of safety equipment such as safety shoes, protective goggles and protective aprons; fees paid to an employment agency.

Internal Revenue regulations also provide that you may deduct here all ordinary and necessary business expense for which you have not been reimbursed by your employer, together with all such expenses connected with the production or collection of income, or for the management and protection of property held for the production of income.

This means that if in the performance of your work you subscribe to trade papers, technical journals or professional publications you may deduct such costs.

Investors who rent a safety deposit box for the protection of their securities may deduct the rental as well as the cost of subscriptions to any financial publications they may consult in handling their investments.

Certain occupations require special clothing such as is worn by men working around acids, blast furnaces and cold storage rooms. So long as these items of clothing are not readily adaptable to ordinary use their cost and maintenance are deductible. For this reason the cost of blue work shirts worn by men in a factory are not deductible. Neither is the cost of special uniforms which are readily convertible to ordinary use.

Small work tools having a life expectancy of less than a year, such as those used by carpenters, electricians or other tradesmen, are also deductible.

You may also deduct in this section gambling losses, but only to the extent of your winnings. If you won $300 at the race track but had $400 or other gambling losses you could reduce your gains to the $100 net figure. But if your losses exceeded your gains you could not show a net loss.

A divorced or legally separated man who makes periodic payments of alimony or separate maintenance in accordance with a court decree may deduct such payments. However, you may not deduct such payments if made voluntarily or in the absence of a written separation agreement. Under no circumstances may payments made for the support of minor children be deducted.

Also in this section may be deducted educational expenses if the courses are primarily to improve or maintain skills in your employment or if they are required by your employer or regulations as a condition of employment. However, if the education is designed initially to qualify a person for a position, to help him obtain a new position or to advance substantially in his field or for personal reasons they are not deductible.

Geneva Firemen Elect Officers

By JoAnn Hays

Geneva Volunteer Fire Department elected a new chief and two assistant chiefs at the January meeting held in the Community Hall. Named were Denton Prevatt, chief, O. T. Kinnard, first assistant, and Tommy Summersill, second assistant.

Gordon Gibson was re-elected to another term as president and Mrs. Charles Lamb as secretary-treasurer.

Appreciation for a "job well done" was expressed to the outgoing officers for their work over the past year by those attending which made up a good representation of the membership.

Sanfordites' Kin Dies Sunday

Mrs. Amy J. Wright died Sunday night in Jacksonville. She was the aunt of four Sanfordites, Douglas, Frank Herbert and Julian Stenstrom.

Other survivors include a brother, Otis Stenstrom, of Detroit; sisters, Mrs. Ada Rocky, of Sanford, and Mrs. Avis Stenstrom, of Winter Haven; daughters, Mrs. Adelaide Smith and Mrs. Rosemary Reynolds; several nieces and nephews.

The body will be brought to First Methodist Church here for funeral services Wednesday at 2 p. m. asked to watch for an announcement in the near future giving a new telephone number to call in case of fire.

A divorced or legally separated man who makes periodic payments of alimony or separate maintenance in accordance with a court decree may deduct such payments. However, you may not deduct such payments if made voluntarily or in the absence of a written separation agreement. Under no circumstances may payments made for the support of minor children be deducted.

If the support payments constitute the chief support of the child, the child may be listed as a dependent on his father's return, entitling the father to a 50% dependency credit.

In all cases where the alimony or separate maintenance payments are deductible by the man, they are reportable as income by his wife on her separate return.

It's This Way

The Post Office Department has discovered that up to now the U.S. mailman has been going one way and his horse the other.

If you are under the impression that relatively few carriers deliver mail on horseback these days, it should perhaps be explained that the horse in this instance is the one on the insignia on the shoulder patch every mailman wears on his uniform.

The Post Office Department has issued this statement:

"The insignia shows a post rider, symbol of the postal service for generations. When sewed on the left shoulder of the uniform, the horse on the old insignia is riding in the opposite direction from the postal employee.

"With the new insignia, both the wearer and the horse will be going the same way."

To achieve this more logical arrangement, the postal service has ordered more than 200,000 new, horse-in-the-right-direction shoulder patches for its uniformed personnel.

Couldn't the present shoulder patch merely be moved from the left shoulder to the right shoulder?

Well, yes. But this would have shattered two fine, old government traditions.

One is that the shoulder patch has always been worn on the mailman's left shoulder.

The other is that if there is a simple, inexpensive way to do anything, the government will think of something better.

Just What I Wanted!

Memo to the ladies:

Are you looking for a Christmas gift for The Man in Your Life? Something just a bit more exciting than a gift certificate or a special gift decanter of his favorite after-shave lotion?

Girls, your search is ended. A personal yuletide goodies offered in some of the more than 3,000 different mail order catalogues now being distributed throughout the country turns up a number of items almost any man would be surprised to get but just might not buy for himself. Such as:

An initial branding iron (for branding initials) $4.
Scented candle (for burning mailcloth) $1.50.

Whole tooth with kit for do-it-yourself scrimshaw, $7.40. (Even if your man has a scrimshaw, chances are it isn't a do-it-yourself scrimshaw, and he'll appreciate this refinement.)
Thorny oyster shell, $25. (Unthorny shells a bit higher due to cost of unthorning.)

Bocce balls, $10 the set.
Down-filled sleeping booties for climbers. (Even a nonclimber would be grateful for these if he likes to sleep.)

The catalogues contain many other suggestions, any one of which would make your man think old Santa had been mighty good to him this Christmas. But those listed here seem to fit in most easily with everyday living.

Some of the items may seem a trifle expensive. But the look on his face will make it all worth-while.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the main purposes of a congressional recess is to permit senators and representatives to get in tune with the thinking of the folks back home.

Then they return to the capital and undertake to carry out the desires and wishes of their constituents.

Apparently, the people of America had quite a lot on their minds during the recent adjournment period. The new session of congress is only in its second week and already our lawmakers have introduced more than 3,000 bills and resolutions.

I thought it might be illuminating to examine a few of these measures to see what sort of problems the various parts of the country are concerned about.

We may assume for example, that the citizens of Oregon been concerned over the fixing of traffic tickets in the District of Columbia. At any rate, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has introduced a bill to prohibit ticket fixing here.

The Second District of Maryland appears to have a very active lacrosse lobby. Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., has introduced a bill to repeal the excise tax on lacrosse balls and sticks.

At first glance, I was puzzled by a bill introduced by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. It would amend the "Indian Long-Term Leasing Act," and I was not aware that New Mexico had a rent-an-Indian service.

Closer examination, however, revealed that the bill pertains to the jessing of Indian lands.

Many of the new bills are, of course, controversial. One such is a proposal by Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., to make the Virgin Islands a part of Florida.

I imagine a lot of other states would like to have the Virgin Islands, too. Particularly in wintertime.

Less controversial is a bill by Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., to designate each second Sunday in October as "National Grandmother's Day." It should find favor with everyone, give or take a few grandfathers.

I think I might support a bill by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., to initiate a program for the "conservation, development and enhancement" of an-adromous fish. But first I want to know what Dingell means by "enhancement."

In my opinion, nothing enhances fish as much as a side

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Charles Halleck really lost his job as House Republican leader on Dec. 18, when he proved unresponsive to new ideas being tossed out by some of his fretting colleagues in a full GOP conference.

That party had not been summoned to consider a change in leadership, but instead to talk over new techniques of leadership, and other means of lifting the Republican party ultimately to majority status in both Congress and the country.

Says one "activist" who was pushing for change: "We were watching Halleck that day to see if he would generate any new approaches. He did not."

The seven-hour conference left many Republicans convinced that a new outlook would come only with a new face. That very night, Dec.

16, several of the self-styled activists met in the office of Rep. Charles Goodell, New York, to plan for Halleck's ouster.

Among those present, besides Goodell, were Reps. Robert Griffin of Michigan, Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois, Albert Quie of Minnesota. By the next day, the leadership candidacy of Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan was in the making. Ford announced for the post Dec. 19.

The activists' Dec. 16 night meeting in Goodell's office was not their first. Augmented by one or two others, including Rep. Thomas Curtis of Missouri they had met in Griffin's office about two weeks after the election.

That earlier session was started by a series of round-robin telephone calls, the least being one from Rumsfeld in a Florida vacation spot to Curtis in Washington.

The bonds among some of these men are sturdy. Goodell and Griffin are good friends. Rumsfeld used to work for Griffin. They found it easy to talk.

At that time, in mid-November, the talk centered not on ousting Halleck but on what Curtis calls "restructuring the party." Curtis, in fact, let it be known he would not then join any effort aimed at Halleck's removal.

The whole effort of the group, then, was to get a party conference under Ford's chairmanship scheduled, and see to it that major matters of party rebuilding dominated the agenda.

As the activists see it, the need in the House is for good professional staffing for Republicans on key committees, better means of drawing together the reduced GOP House membership (down 38 to 140 after the election), more participation in floor debate and party councils by all the Republican members.

The Goodell-Griffin-Rumsfeld-Quie group rated the big Dec. 16 party parley a failure—and blamed it heavily on Halleck.

In the limited time after Ford's Dec. 19 announcement, these four, a backup squad of about equal size, and occasionally some two dozen more Republican lawmakers worked like beavers to round up the votes for victory. They insist no new count was taken before Ford jumped in.

The fight was a thing of long hours and shifting numbers. As late as the morning of the final vote on Capitol Hill, two of Ford's supposedly solid 47 votes were known to be lost. One or two others later slipped away. But a good harvest from the "leaners" and a slight pickup from Halleck's "solid" total put Ford over.

Ford gives House Republicans the new face. What they now expect from him is strong initiatives toward a new party posture that can help win national support for the GOP in 1966 and beyond.

Worry Clinic

Tom Hederman is a dynamic newspaper publisher who asked me to address his state press association. Be sure to scribble this case on you and your children will be more appreciative of our debt to journalism. Discuss this case in high school classes, too, for many Americans fail to realize how newspapers protect us as well as inform.

CASE U-486: Tom Hederman Jr., was the suave Emcee at the last Mississippi Press Association convention. He had telephoned me an invitation to be the banquet speaker.

So I spoke on "A Psychoanalysis of Journalism."

And I pointed out that I personally transferred from the campus type of college to join the vast "University in Print" which is what modern newspapers really are.

A newspaper editor is comparable to a college president, except the editor actually wields vast influence.

To prove that statement, just consider the fact that a newspaper of only 10,000 circulation has 25,000 daily readers.

And 25,000 far exceeds the enrollment in most of the large state universities.

Moreover, the campus type of college student stays for an average of only two years. But newspaper students stick by the daily paper for the 52 adult years after they finish high school.

Indeed, most people don't go farther than high school, so the newspaper is the main educational agency in America.

It has its "students" every day, summer and winter.

Campus colleges have their students only 9 months and for but 15 hours per week. So please begin to realize the tremendous debt we owe to newspapers.

They are more significant than the entire public school system!

For people would get a fair amount of reading skill even without free public schools.

Our Founding Fathers thus had no opportunity to attend free public schools!

Yet they gave us the Declaration of Independence and our unique American Constitution, which couldn't have been surpassed by modern college professors even today.

But without a newspaper in the community, dictatorship could soon take over.

For your newspaper is the vigilant guardian of all of our liberties.

Maybe you sometimes grow tired at the idea that reporters snoop into private family affairs!

But they also snoop into the mayor's office and the State Legislature, too, thereby revealing any Milt fingling with taxpayers' money. They expose corruption and embezzlement.

They highlight gangster tie-ups with elected officials.

Meanwhile, they give us the latest scientific facts, plus current history, medical and psychological information, plus sports and print entertainment.

Never gripe about the price of your newspaper. It is the most productive "tax" you will ever pay!

For it offers you far more than merely auto freeways and other obvious evidences of your real estate or income taxes.

It gives you assurance that eternal vigilance is guarding our basic freedoms, as expressed in the Constitution.

"When the press is free," said Thomas Jefferson, "and every man able to read, all is safe."

We have radio, TV and magazines, too, to help enlighten our people but the newspaper is our greatest single protector and best educator!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Unexpected Progress

By K. C. Thaler

LONDON (UPI)—Red China, which last fall achieved her first nuclear explosion, is believed to have made unexpected progress in other fields of modern weaponry.

Latest indications to reach the West suggest that Peking is building modern type fighter planes and, even more surprising, surface-to-air rockets.

Some of these rockets are believed to have brought down two unmanned reconnaissance planes flying over southern China. Peking claimed that two remote-controlled American made reconnaissance planes were downed recently.

Red Chinese Deputy Premier Marshal Ho Lung boasted in Peking that Red China has "greatly strengthened" her army. He claimed that Peking alone all has "a comparatively powerful air force."

Speculation about Red China's rocket development has been set off by a number of rockets displayed by Albania. Peking's closest Communist ally in Europe, during a military parade in the Albanian capital of Tirana last month.

These rockets apparently have been supplied by China, since Russia stopped supplying Albania years ago because of the sharp attacks on former Premier Nikita Khrushchev's policies.

Red China is believed to have copied the rockets from samples she received from Russia at a time when the two Communist giants were still on close terms of friendship.

Some experts believed Red China is in fact now producing these short range and relatively sophisticated surface-to-air rockets in quantity.

It has furthermore been reported that Red China has started producing a delta-wing supersonic fighter plane, resembling the supersonic Soviet MiG-21 jets.

Peking also appears to have overcome, at least partly, the acute high-grade fuel shortage which at one time virtually grounded Peking's air force after Russia halted supplies in the wake of the intensified Sino-Soviet ideological conflict.

Much of these claims remain in doubt so long as verification is impossible because of the secrecy which surrounds China's military and technological developments.

But, say the experts, some reason is afoot and there is reason to believe that Red China is making noteworthy strides.

Nominations Due For Jaycees' Annual Awards

Time is short for nominations for the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award, Good Government Award, Outstanding Young Farmer, Outstanding Sailor and Outstanding Teacher Awards for 1965. Deadline for nominations is noon Thursday and blanks may be obtained at the Florida State Bank, Sanford Atlantic National Bank and the Jaycee office on the corner of Fourth Street and French Avenue.

The awards banquet has been set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Police Benevolent Building. Qualifications for the Distinguished Service Award are based on outstanding contributions of the nominee in the community, state or nation. He must be between the age of 21 and 35 years, reside in Seminole County. He need not be a member of the Jaycees.

The nominee for Good Government Award also must be a resident of Seminole County and must have made an outstanding contribution in the field of government in the city or county. There is no limitation of age or sex on this nomination.

The Young Farmer of the Year also must be between 21 and 35 and have made a noticeable contribution in the field of agriculture. He must be a farm operator whose income is derived from this source.

The nominees for the Young Teacher and Young Sailor will be made by persons in their respective fields of work. Clyde Long, president of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, urged the public to take an active part in nominating persons for these awards.

"We realize time is short and urge that nominations be mailed to the Jaycees, Box 1541, or taken to the Jaycee office by noon Thursday," he said.

Chairman of the DSA award is Wendell Springfield, Charles Fox is in charge of the banquet.

The annual Past President's luncheon is slated for noon Thursday at the Civic Center with 40 past presidents invited to attend.

Lake Mary Club Hears Talk On Art For Home

A discussion on selecting and framing pictures for the home was presented by Mrs. Mildred Badcock, former county art supervisor, for members of the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers Club at their January meeting held in the Fire Hall.

The meeting opened with devotions given by Mrs. William Heimbuch and was conducted by the president, Mrs. Helen Powell. Monthly reports were presented by various officers and chairmen.

It was announced that the club still has available a number of copies of the cookbook, "Favorite Recipes of Florida," and those wishing to purchase a copy were asked to contact Mrs. Edwin Kennedy.

Following the morning business session, luncheon was served under the direction of the hostesses, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Sassman after which the first of a planned series of lessons on medical self help was taught by Mrs. Sassman.

Tax Changes Outlined For Retirees

By Jane Casselberry
Changes in Federal Income Tax regulations were outlined by E. G. Bradley of the Internal Revenue Service in Orlando at the regular luncheon meeting of the Winter Park Chapter 386, National Association of Retired Civil Employees, held at the S & S Cafeteria in Winter Park Wednesday, Jan. 13.

Both the talk and the question and answer period which followed proved of great interest to NARCE members. The speaker was introduced by Carl Setje of Casselberry, president. The secretary, Frank Lucy, also of Casselberry, read replies to letters which had been sent by the chapter to Congressmen A. S. Herlong and Edward Gurney and Senator Spessard Holland and George Smathers requesting increased annuities for retired Civil Service employees. President Johnson has said in effect that a person with an income of less than $3,000 per year is in the "poverty class" and many of the retired government employees are receiving much less.

The chapter is soliciting new members and Civil Service employees residing in Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Fern Park, Longwood and other towns in the area are eligible to join the Winter Park Chapter.

Those wishing to join may contact Setje at 541 Hibiscus Road, or Mrs. Paul D. Knight, publicity chairman, at 540 Queen's Mirror Circle, Casselberry.

Bear Lake Club To See Plans For Building

By Maryann Miles
Preliminary plans for the proposed clubhouse to be built by the Bear Lake Community Club on Big Bear Lake will be presented at Thursday's 8 p.m. meeting by the president, Dick Ostrander.

The meeting will take place in the Florida Power Corporation Employee's Club on Holiday Avenue, Bear Lake.

In other business the group will make plans for a square dance to be sponsored in February.

C. D. Pence program chairman for the month, has announced that S. O. Donnelly of the county tax assessor's office will be guest speaker for the evening. Donnelly will explain how properties are assessed and taxes collected and also will conduct a question and answer period.

Hostesses for the event will be Mrs. James Bratt and Mrs. Helen Buckley.

Ostrander has issued invitation to attend the meeting to all interested persons in the community.

Mrs. Dora Starr Succumbs At 84

Mrs. Dora Jackson Starr, 84, of 2004 Jefferson, died Monday afternoon.

She came to Sanford 46 years ago with her husband, the late D. S. E. Starr. She was a member of Eastern Star, Rebekah Lodge 43 and of First Baptist Church, where she was a member of the TEL Bible Class.

Survivors are a son, W. L. Starr, of New Holland, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Phil Hair and Mrs. H. R. Derrick, both of Sanford, nine grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Lake Monroe Club Hears Talk On Pictures

Mrs. Beth Gregory, member of the Sanford Art Association, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Lake Monroe Extension Homemakers Club.

She spoke on "Art of Selecting Pictures For The Home" and told members that pictures in the rooms make them more attractive, express personality, serve as accents of color and provide conversation pieces. She gave illustrations on the correct colors of frames and pictures for individual rooms.

Mrs. Olga Hunter, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Alice Nordgren, Mrs. Kathryn Malloy, Mrs. JoAnna DeBois, Mrs. Ethel Corbett and Mrs. H. L. Johnson will be hostesses at the Seminole County Booth at the Central Florida Fair next month.

Important meetings coming up in January and February were discussed. A tour of the Experiment Station will be made with a covered dish luncheon there at noon. A one day short course to be held in April at Camp McQuarrie was discussed with final plans to be made later. Members will attend the cooking school coming in March.

At the close of the meeting, the hostesses, Mrs. Marion Lee and Mrs. Margaret Pearson, served cake and coffee.

Bridegroom, 22, Dies At Altar

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Authorities today sought to learn what caused a young bridegroom to collapse at the altar and die a few hours later.

Ramsey County Coroner Thomas Votel said tests to solve the mysterious death of Bruce Stanton, 22, may take about two days.

The bridegroom, a Wisconsin State University sophomore, and his bride, Sharon Cosgrove, 22, were standing before the altar in St. Michael's on the Hill Roman Catholic Church.

Stanton suddenly keeled over and struck his head on the floor. He was taken to River View Memorial Hospital where he died.

Stanton's parents were unable to explain their son's death. The elder Stanton said his son had suffered lead aches but "nothing unusual".

The bride was reported to be in shock. Relatives and friends who went to church for the wedding will gather again in another church Wednesday morning for Stanton's funeral mass.

Between you'n me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — In this never-never land, it's getting so that unless you have a golf tournament, you're never going to make the scene. How far did Skinny Ennis ever get without one?

Der Bingle has his, at Pebble Beach. Frank Sinatra had his, but briefly, until it interfered with his social life. And now there's the forthcoming Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Springs, scheduled for early February.

Why Bob Hope wants to have a golf tournament of his very own would seem to be obscure, since in order to play in his plaything, Bob has to ever a $850 entry fee, just like fork over a $850 entry fee, just like the other sunstroke yokels. And how to let him down for 90 holes of play over four courses in the blooming desert promises to be the greatest trapping story since Nanook of the North.

Just to get the connection required four days of pursuit before he was cornered in the middle of 125,000 feet of film on Moorpark Drive high up in the Hollywood hills. In a business clear, Hope has this thing about Bing Crosby, the golfer.

Bob is using this space to challenge Crosby officially to a home-and-home match series in connection with their two tournaments, each man to replace his own divots.

"I think for practical purposes we should sharpen our weapons for next year as the target date," said Hope. "We both have burials. Crosby's is in his shoulder. Mine is in my wing."

If Bing snaps up the vendetta, how does Hope visualize it being played?

"I visualize," said Hope, "taking my attorney along and also an IBM machine to count the strokes. Bing can't count until he gets to the income tax man."

Magnanimously, Bob conceded that Crosby has always been a fine golfer, and "we've had some very fine games."

"As a whole," he added, "Bing is more consistent. My game is flamboyant. I'm an exhibitionist who leans on the comedy. He plays charming golf. I play loose and spectacular."

"And what does Bob consider his forte on the course?"

"The way I keep score. My forte is really chipping. I'm long with my chips and short with my woods."

If he plays in his tournament, Hope has to be long with his legs, too. The 90-hole event represents the longest stretch on the pro - golf circuit. Tommy Jacobs, the momentary wonder of last year's U.S. Open, is the defending champion, and you can tell he has already started reeling up for it. Tommy slept through post time at the Los Angeles Open, first event on the winter circuit, and was disqualified.

All the big names make the Desert Classic because, in addition to unscuffed air, there is also the clean fragrance of $100,000 in prize money. There is also the refreshing presence of Hope. Hope-fully, Crosby can make it, too.

Ed Crowley, the Los Angeles hotelier, is president of La Quinta, where one of the rounds is played. But first Crowley and all the other golf buffs in California play the "Cross"—that's the "in" phrase for the Pebble Beach event.

"By the time," said Crowley, "we get through playing up there and in the Lucky International in San Francisco, the boys are looking to come down to the desert to dry out."

He was, you should know, talking about the weather.

Pentecost Holds Singles Lead

This past week found the battle for first place in the Singles Classic League still going on between Harry Pentecost and John Bridges. Harry had three points to take the top spot from John as a real tight match was waged between John and Pete Peterson with a stalemate resulting. Harry shot games of 200, 216, 218 and 170 while winning three points from George Paulk who could only muster a 715 set. John Bridges rolled 711 to Pete Peterson's 709. The third place man ran into a little trouble in the form of Paul Marcotte and came away with an even split. Marcotte rolled a 768 to Kanner's 708.

John Spolski hung onto his fourth place perch with an even split with Rich (Sling Shot) Murphy as he pounded out a 706 to Rich's even 706 series. Phil Roche remained in fifth place with a three point decision over Gerald Behrens as he notched a 731 total to Gerald's 687. George Swann had a hard fought battle with Bob Guthrie and emerged with an even split and held onto his sixth place position. Guthrie shot games of 202, 233, 213 and 180 for a 828 set and George had 208, 189, 203 and 199 for a 799 total.

In other league action, the high flying rural carrier, Robert Steele was the only man to take all four points from his opponent as he rolled a 243-748 while his opponent Joe Kern had 244-748 and came through with a 564 set. Charles Rose grabbed three points from W. A. Ward with a fine 248-818 series as Ward tallied a 694. Hubert Ray tore 'em up with a 730 series against his "friend" Johnny Jones and won three points while Johnny was hitting for 669.

Kentucky Drops Auburn Out Of SEC Lead 73-67

Yellow Jackets Win Over VMI

ATLANTA (UPI) — The long and the short of Georgia Tech—in the persons of Jim Caldwell and R. D. Craddock—led the Yellow Jackets to a 82-71 victory over Virginia Military Institute Monday night.

Caldwell, a 6-foot-10 senior, and Craddock, a 5-foot-11 senior, combined for 51 points in the victory.

Caldwell needed only 19 points to go over the 1,000-point mark for his three-year collegiate career. He scored 30 and grabbed 18 rebounds to boot.

Craddock added 21 points. Charlie Schmaus ended up with 16 points for VMI despite being blanked in the first half. Jeff Gausepohl and John Prosser scored 15 points each for the Keydets before fouling out in the final minutes of the game.

Tech led the shorter visitors throughout the contest but was unable to improve on a 12-point halftime lead.

The victory was the eighth for Tech against seven losses. VMI has now lost nine while winning four.

United Press International
The Kentucky Wildcats, behind the deft shooting of Hoosier hot shot Louis Dampier, knocked Auburn out of the lead in the Southeastern Conference basketball race Monday night, 73-67.

It was the first conference loss of the season for Auburn and returned idle Vanderbilt to the conference lead by default. Vandy has a 4-0 league record.

In the only other action in the SEC, the Tennessee Volunteers took advantage of a second half slump by Georgia to win 76-67.

No other conference action was scheduled until this week-end.

Dampier hit 10 of his 14 field goal attempts to steer the defending conference champions to their third victory in five starts. He netted 22 points for the night to top all scorers.

Big gun for Auburn, which had boasted a 6-0 standing before the game, was sophomore Bob Hussion who entered the game as a first-half substitute and ended up with 18 points.

Kentucky guard Terry Mobley, who has played a reserve role most of the season, got a starter's berth from Coach Adolph Rupp and rewarded him with 18 points.

The victory preserved Kentucky's mastery over Auburn in Lexington where an Auburn basketball team has never won and left the Wildcats with a 8-14 mark so far in the season.

In the game at Athens, the Volunteers were paced by A. W. Davis who racked up 32 points, 24 of them from the floor. The figure represented a record for the new Georgia Coliseum.

Georgia was down only 36-33 early in the second half when Davis whipped in 12 of Tennessee's next 16 points.

The victory gave Tennessee a 4-1 mark in conference play, 11-2 so far in the season.

High-point man for Georgia was sophomore Dwayne Powell who scored 18. Jerry Waller had 16 and Jimmy Pitts 11.

Snow Cuts Race To Monte Carlo

(UPI) — A racing snowstorm tore through the Alps today and cut the number of cars in the 1965 Monte Carlo rally down from 201 to a penalty-ridden 101.

The storm hit the cars between the check points of Chambray and Uriage and played havoc with driving conditions.

Snow drifts several feet high blocked the roads and a strong wind blew snow onto the windshields of oncoming cars.

As the starters from Minsk, Warsaw and Stockholm passed Chambray first they benefited from the best conditions, and the best-placed cars at Uriage were the Stockholm trio of last year's winner Paddy Hopkirk and Henry Liddon in a BMC Cooper, Timo Makinen and Paul Easter of Finland in a BMC Cooper and Pat Moss-Carlson and Swede Elizabeth Nyström in a Saab No. 49.

One of these cars looked likely to win the rally if it managed to reach Monte Carlo intact.

Among the stars to fall out in the mountains was Swede Bo Lundfeldt, who placed second last year, and Britain's Anne Hall, a past winner of the ladies' cup.

A rally official said he did not expect more than 60 to 80 cars to reach Monte Carlo.

Tribe Travels To Mainland

By David Higginbotham
Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High School cagers will travel to Mainland High School at Daytona Beach tonight to face the Buccaneers in their second meeting of the season.

Mainland was the first team the Tribe played this season with Mainland winning both the varsity and Jayvee contests.

According to Coach Mack Blythe, "Mainland is rated in the top 10 ball clubs in the state so we can expect a tough ball game."

Starters for the Tribe will be Gary Loyd, Frank Murray, Buddy Stumpf, Steve Groover and Ron Hinson.

Mark Raborn, Frank Whigham, Wally Jernigan, Wayne Burnstead and Paul LeRoy will be the starters when Coach Ralph Stumpf's Jayvees face the Baby Bucs at 8:30 with the varsity game to follow at 8.

Blythe, recalling last week's game, said "I think that in both ball games we played well enough to win. Colonial had good size and beat us in the boards. They also made 54 per cent of their shots."

"Titusville made a fantastic showing in the boards by making 14 out of 20 shots in the first half and eight for nine in the second quarter. But," he continued, "we were only behind by six points at the half."

Following tonight's contest, the Seminole will play Winter Park Friday night and Saturday night they play New Smyrna Beach at home. The Winter Park cagers will host the locals Friday night.

Hall Of Fame Names 7 Football Greats

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — The National Board of Selectors today announced the unanimous selection of seven former National Football League greats to the pro Hall of Fame.

The seven players who carried a niche for themselves in the million-dollar shrine included Guy Chamberlin, Paddy Driscoll, Dr. Daniel F. Fortmann, Otto Graham, Sid Luckman, Steve Van Buren and Bob Waterfield.

Luckman, Graham and Waterfield were all quarterbacks who led their teams to world championships.

Luckman was one of four former Chicago Bears selected to the Hall of Fame. He was one of the innovators of the T-formation and was an all-league choice from 1939-45.

Luckman's teams won four Western titles and three world championships.

Graham, who guided the Cleveland Browns to six consecutive Eastern titles and three world championships during the 1950's, still plays the NFL by coaching the College All-Stars in their annual game with the champion team.

Waterfield led the Cleveland Rams to their first winning season and a world championship in 1945, his rookie year. He was the only unanimous most valuable player in 1945 and a league-leader in passing, punting and place-kicking.

Van Buren, who was the leading rusher four out of five years, ran the Philadelphia Eagles to three consecutive Eastern crowns and two world titles in the late '40s.

The other Bears who made the team in addition to Luckman were Fortmann, who could diagnose an opposition play from his guard position as readily as a patient's ailment;

Chamberlin, an oldtimer 1919-28 who bounced around on five teams as an end; and Driscoll, a triple-threat and drop-kicker for the Chicago Cardinals and Bears.

The seven are scheduled tentatively to be inducted here on Aug. 7.

Coach Dick Copeland says he regards this game as "the crucial one of the year for us."

Lyman will use the same lineup as in past games with Joe Asher and Mike Sterling at guard; Eddie Long and Gene Winkleman, forwards; and Dave Matis, center.

A Jayvee contest will open festivities at 6:30. Coach Tom Barnes says he sees a run-away for the Longwood site as South Seminole Jayvees beat the Kissimmee team 73-33. However, the Longwood Jayvees lost their last outing 49-47 the last time out.

The Howard Johnson Co. plans to open 25 new restaurant-motels in Florida in the next two to three years, expecting a heavy increase in tourist traffic.

Lyman To Host Kissimmee Five

By Jim Bacchus
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman lays its Orange Belt Conference lead on the line again tonight when the Greyhounds play host to the Kissimmee Kowboys.

The host team will be in its 10th fray of the season with tonight's event closing out the first half of the year. Longwood has a 4-5 record for the year with a 4-1 mark in the OBC.

The Kowboys, a dark horse in the conference, beat Bishop Moore and DeLand who whipped Lyman. DeLand now is in second place, a half game behind Longwood.

Coach Dick Copeland says he regards this game as "the crucial one of the year for us."

Lyman will use the same lineup as in past games with Joe Asher and Mike Sterling at guard; Eddie Long and Gene Winkleman, forwards; and Dave Matis, center.

Indiana Sings 'Swan Song'

By Fred McMane
UPI Sports Writer

The Indiana basketball team would hate to admit it, but it looks as if that old song, "Back Home Again in Indiana," has become the team's swan song.

The 19th-ranked Hoosiers, who returned to their home court Monday night after two successful road victories, found that their home surroundings weren't so sweet after all as they lost to the Iowa Hawkeyes 74-68 in a crucial Big Ten Conference clash.

The loss was a rough one for Indiana to absorb since it dropped the Hoosiers into fourth place in the Conference with a 9-3 mark. Oddly enough, Indiana defeated Iowa on the Hawkeyes' home court a week ago.

Vindicated

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Gino Marchetti, the Baltimore Colt defensive end who announced his retirement after the season, has been vindicated of the charge that he deliberately hurt Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan in the National Football League All-Star game.

THEY SHOW THEIR MEDALS — One pretty palomino and a 17-year-old rider from Fillmore, Calif., have collected 2,000 ribbons, cups and plaques in five years and hundreds of horse shows. The rider is James Frazier. His horse is Rock-a-Way. From the looks of it, it would seem the team spends its life in competition.

Twin Double Pays $45,539

HIALEAH (UPI) — The twin-double paid $45,539 to holders of two tickets here Monday when a long shot came through to win the seventh race.

Ketch Berg was a surprise winner in the seventh and paid $87.40 for a $2 bet to win.

Three unidentified bettors held the two winning tickets on the highest payoff of the South Florida horse season this winter.

Hialeah installed the betting gimmick for the first time this season.

HALL OF FAME BOWLING TIPS

By Joe Norris
Written for NEA

I would forego a perfect game to have been in the Luckport, N.Y., audience Oct. 25, 1939, to watch little Alie Brandt set a yet unbroken league record of 800 on games of 297, 289 and 300.

It must have been an overwhelming thrill for Alie, perhaps unequalled even by his election to the Hall of Fame in 1960. To all people of small physique, Alie is a prime example.

He has bowled for 40 years at a top weight of 180 pounds, even less than his Hall of Fame contemporary, Buzz Fazio. He gets all the ball power and speed required in bowling by simply following good form—short, smooth steps to the foul line co-ordinated with unburied arm swing and rolling, rather than throwing the ball.

His one special hint to fellow lightweighters is to use a ball of comfortable weight. There is no rule which says you must use a maximum weight 16-pound ball. A ball in the 12 to 15-pound range can be just as effective.

NEXT: Think and concentrate.

Pro Football Hurts Baseball, Says Greenberg

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hank Greenberg, one of the greatest sluggers in baseball history, said today that huge bonuses being paid by pro football teams are depriving baseball of some of its best young hitters.

"Baseball is turning into a pitchers' game," said the black-haired, 6-foot, 4-inch former Detroit Tiger great.

"Among the reasons are that pitching has become more scientific, the hitters have to contend with day and night ball and difficult travel conditions and managers employ two and three relief pitchers in a game without a second thought."

"But another reason is that baseball is losing too many big, strong athletes to football," added Greenberg, a two-time winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award.

"Most of the big, strong athletes—the fellows who would be the Lou Gehrigs or Joe Medvedicks of today—are going in for football."

Big Hank said baseball's self-imposed rule against talking to young high school players is another factor in the loss of talent to football.

"Baseball can't talk to the high school players but the colleges can," he explained. "The boy goes to college; and the result is that now you see dozens of football players who would have been the big sluggers of today had they gone into baseball."

Noting the current "home run craze," among young sluggers, Greenberg recalled with a laugh, "I hit 58 home runs in 1938 and the next year was offered the same salary because my runs batted in fell off from 183 to only 116, my doubles from 49 to 23 and my average from .337 to .315."

"Nowadays," he continued, "a guy who hits 250 with 25 homers thinks nothing of asking for a $10,000 raise."

"Today's player figures he has the edge in that he can't be cut more than 25 per cent no matter what kind of a year he has and can ask for a raise of any size if he has a good season."

"In practical terms, you have to figure a player won't be cut more than 10 per cent if he has a poor year and can get a $10,000 to $20,000 raise if he ranks among the top home-hitters."

"In my day, .300 was the goal of every hitter," he added. "If you didn't hit .300, you weren't a hitter. My personal goal was to hit .300 and to drive in a run a game."

"Modern averages could be improved if more emphasis were placed on them," Hank conceded.

"Mental attitude has a lot to do with it. But, generally, the loss of too many big young fellows to football and the emphasis on homers are making the art of hitting go down."

"That," concluded Greenberg, "is why 70 per cent of today's bonus players are pitchers and why baseball definitely is becoming a pitcher's game."

Elias Moves Into Coaching Job At Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—A day of conferences is set for Bill Elias today as he moved in to take over as head coach of the U.S. Naval Academy football team.

Elias, whose firm guidance of the University of Virginia Cavaliers ended the longest losing streak in their history at 28 games, was appointed to succeed Wayne Hardin at Navy Monday.

Hardin resigned under pressure last month, ending what probably was the most successful coaching career in Navy history.

A former Maryland quarterback, Elias, 41, signed a one-year contract at a salary reported to be in the neighborhood of $18,000, the same salary Hardin was paid.

Elias was scheduled to begin talking to his assistants, who are carryover's from Hardin's tenure. They all have been rehired for the 1965 season. He'll interview them "to make sure they want to stay," and he wants them to stay," Capt. William Busk, Navy's athletic director said.

Busk made the announcement of Elias' appointment at a conference at the academy.

"We are pleased to have a man of Bill Elias' caliber," Busk said. "He comes to us well recommended and we are confident he will do an outstanding job as Navy football coach."

In a statement after the announcement, Elias said, "I feel the position at Navy is at the very top of the coaching profession and I am very delighted to accept this offer."

Elias brings a top performance as a major college coach into the Naval Academy.

During his four years at Virginia, he racked up a record of 16-23-1 completing last year's season with a 3-3 record.

He was named Atlantic Conference coach of the year in 1961, his first year at Virginia.

Or Fame-Offering Combo Pays $1,180

Second largest Perfecta price ever paid at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club was recorded in the eighth race last night as the 6-3 combination returned $1,180.20.

The record for the Perfecta, introduced to greyhound racing by the SOKC this season, was $1,772 on Jan. 9.

Last night's big payoff was unusual in that the favorite, Offering, ran second. The huge Perfecta was set up by 30-to-1 shot Or Fame who romped home a winner.

It was the second logboat victory in the last few days for Or Fame who won as a 12-to-1 shot for owner Ben Lemaster on Jan. 9. The big bundle dog, who ran in grade A last summer at Black Hills, broke fast and shot into a long lead on the backstretch. His margin of victory was a length over Offering.

Henry Caswell's Summeretta won the feature race for her second grade A victory in five starts.

Cecil Austin's Rimp will be making a run at the 31 second barrier tonight in the featured 10 race.

76ers Wallop Pistons 109-95

United Press International — Pro basketball players sink shots from all over the court but it's those "easy" 15-foot foul shots that often make the difference between victory and defeat.

Hal Greer led the 76ers with 28 points and it was his basket with 1:05 remaining in the third period that put Philadelphia ahead for good after Detroit had rallied from a 50-44 halftime deficit to take the lead late in the third quarter.

Player-coach Dave DeBusschere of the Pistons had 20 rebounds and 23 points while Chet Walker contributed 19 to the 76er attack.

32 from the charity stripe for a .331 mark, even lower than the .686 clip they have been shooting which is ninth in the league.

Scouting Co-op To Seek Talent

ATLANTA (UPI)—John Mellale, president and general manager of the Milwaukee Braves, Monday disclosed a four-team scouting co-op in a search for talent under baseball's new free agent draft plan.

Mellale said the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates will join the Braves in pooling their coast-to-coast scouting resources.

Mellale said that under baseball's new draft system "it is necessary for a club to have detailed scouting information on all prospects in the country."

The four-club cooperative scouting system will enable us to increase our scouting coverage four fold."

Peace Formula Parley Slated

NEW YORK (UPI)— Amateur track's peace formula may turn out to be ECAC plus NCAA equals AAU.

Translated, that means the Eastern College Athletic Conference has successfully probed the National Collegiate Athletic Association to negotiate its dispute with the Amateur Athletic Union.

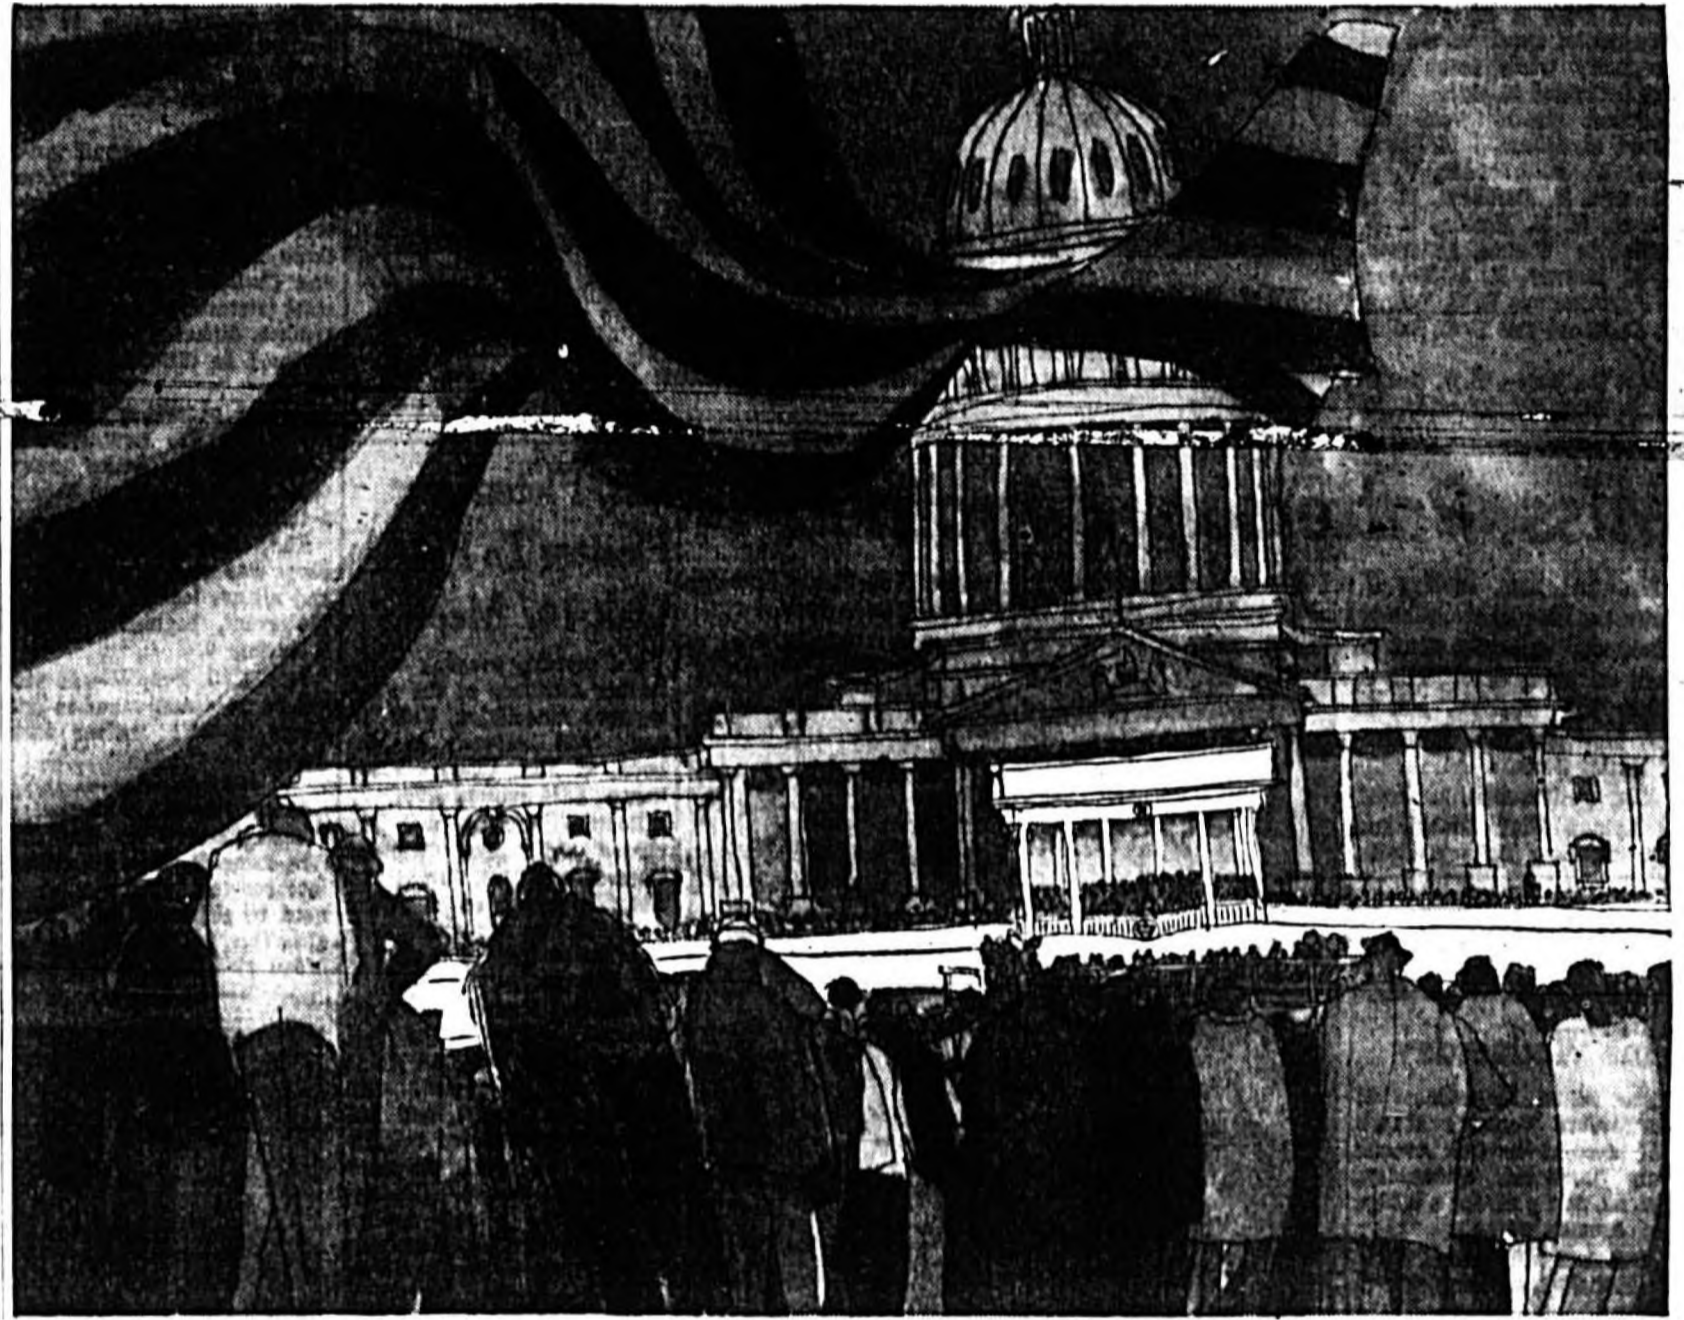

AAU President Clifford Burk said Monday that his organization is willing to discuss its track meet sanction dispute with the NCAA although he added that dual sanctions have been ruled out by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

Oviedo Slates Three This Week

Coach Paul Mikler's Oviedo High School charges travel to the coast tonight to take on the Satellite Beach five.

Game time is 7 p.m. for the Jayvees with the varsity engagement scheduled to follow.

Friday the Lions take on Lyman on the Oviedo court. Saturday night the Lions play host to Eau Gallie.

Miss Carolyn Rice Honored Guest Of Bridal Party At Rabun Home

Mrs. Carl Rabun Jr. and her daughter, Miss Pat Rabun, were hostesses recently at their lovely Paloma Avenue home to a bridal shower complimenting Miss Carolyn Rice, bride-elect.

The guests participated in games and contests with the opening of the beautiful gifts highlighting the evening.

Centering the serving table which was overlaid in an exquisite imported South American white silk organza covering featuring delicate hand-work detail over blue linen, was an arrangement of baby's breath and white daisies in a footed crystal container accented on either side by crystal candelabra holding tall white tapers.

Sparkling fruit punch was poured from a crystal bowl with crystal appointments and the fluffy white sheet cake was decorated in blue.

Invited guests were the Meses. M. Millam, J. E. Blackman, W. E. Allender, V. J. Marzita, B. Burnham, E. L. Dowell, R. N. Henkle, C. L. Robinson, Thelma Emerson, R. N. Murray, R. L. Holger, J. P. Hoescher, R. C. Peters, W. D. Moore, Mrs. W. C. Boller, Mrs. L. T. Doss, W. Edwards, R.

Miss Diana Clause, Donald L. Harvey Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clause of British Columbia, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Diana Merrilyn Clause of Sanford, to Donald Lawrence Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRue Harvey of Osteen.

The wedding was an event of January 9, 1965 at Kingland, Ga. with Miss Lanet Henning and Robert Johnson attending the bridal couple.

Following a wedding trip to the Florida East Coast, the newlyweds are residing at 204 E. 16th Street.

Garden Circles

Central Circle The Central Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met at the lovely home of Mrs. E. R. Wood for their January meeting.

Mrs. W. E. Kirchhoff gave a wonderful program on Legendary Symbolism of Flowers. She demonstrated with three beautiful arrangements and Christmas cards. It was most interesting to learn what different flowers represented in different countries.

Several members donated chairs for the new Garden Center and the entire group voted to donate money to buy a table for the Club.

The forthcoming Flower Show was discussed at length and all are looking forward to the event, beginning March 4 through 6.

Mrs. E. J. Peeples was welcomed as a new member and Lottie Wood's mother as a guest.

The coat is needlepoint wool with a black seal-skin bow. The hat is bright American Beauty also and has a band of black velvet.

Miss Dolores Kirsch And K. L. Dyer United In Impressive Church Rites

By Frances Wester A double ring candlelight ceremony was the setting of the wedding of Miss Dolores Ruth Kirsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Goble of Lake Mary, and Kenneth Lee Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee Dyer of Hastings, Michigan.

The wedding was held at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford, January 16th, with the Rev. Grover Sewell officiating, and Mrs. George Touhy, organist and Charles Williams, the soloist. The bride selected for her music "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's dress of tissue silk peau de soie and hand clipped Chantilly lace was styled with a fitted bodice traced with seed pearls and featured a chapel train with appliques of Chantilly lace. Her head piece was of lace and seed pearls and a crown of orange blossoms and French crystals, from which flowed an abundance of lovely silk illusion. She carried a cascading tier-drop style hand bouquet of button mums, white roses and stephanotis topped with a removable white orchid.

Attendants of the bride were Miss Myrna Williams, maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Joy Wester, Miss Susan Brooklyn, Mrs. Gordon Forbes, and Miss Debra Goble as Junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were made of antique satin in primitive green with frost mint trim featuring a lovely floating train. They carried a cascading tier-drop style hand bouquet of gold pom pom mums and yellow pom poms with variegated ivy.

The flower girl was Pamela Brooklyn and the ring bearer was Christopher Williams. Marion Gilliam was Mr. Dyer's best man and the usher was Richard Harris, John V. Whiting and Donald Weickenand.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Goble wore an ice blue brocade dress with matching coat and a white pink throat orchid.

The mother of the bride-groom, Mrs. Dyer, chose a beige silk linen two-piece dress with matching coat and a gold brown throat orchid.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Sanford Woman's Club. Assisting were Mrs. Edward Zimmerman, who kept the bride's book, and Mrs. Lu-Vera Harrison, Mrs. Ella Ellis, Mrs. Jess Goodwin, and Mrs. Arolyn True. Floating hostesses were Mrs. H. M. Cochran and Mrs. P. D. Anderson.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will be at home at 700 Melrose Avenue, Winter Park. For her going away outfit the bride wore a forest green wool suit with a fox collar and brown accessories.

Mrs. Dyer is employed as secretary to the executive director of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Dyer is the district office manager of the Florida Power Corporation of Winter Park.

MRS. KENNETH LEE DYER

Famous Designer, Author To Visit Central Florida

One of America's best-known fashion designers will visit the Orlando area at Winter Park, Florida on January 22, 1965 at the Lake Island Recreation Center. Mini Rhea, who authored the best-selling "I was Jacqueline Kennedy's Dressmaker," will be here in her official position as a fashion consultant for one of the world's largest merchandisers of women's apparel by home style shows.

As the owner of custom studios in Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia, Pa. Mini Rhea designed fashions for many of the capital city's best dressed women. In the years immediately preceding her marriage, Jacqueline Kennedy was a steady patron of the fashion expert, who modestly describes herself as a "little dressmaker."

Mini Rhea describes the First Lady's type as "Elegant simplicity." According to the fashion expert, Mrs. Kennedy likes simple lines and beautiful fabrics; but, "She wears her clothes—the clothes don't wear her."

Both the daughter of a Methodist minister on the Gulf coast of Mississippi, Mini Rhea did not seriously pursue fashion as a career until she had married and had two daughters.

Upon her husband's death, she found it necessary to support herself, and she soon found her natural talent in fashion design was profitable to her. Her fashion studios were immensely popular, because her customers found that she had a knack for anticipating fashion developments.

About a year ago, Mini Rhea found herself in the midst of a far greater challenge. Instead of choosing fashions for individuals, she has the responsibility of determining fashion trends for literally millions of women. A champion of American fashion designers, Mini Rhea often has remarked that, "Instead of our designers looking to Europe, Parisian designers might do well to visit the fashion houses of this country."

By Dottie Austin
NEW PRESIDENT of the Naval Officers Wives Club is pert blonde Mary Durant of VAH-3 with dark-haired Kitty O'Gara, also of Three, elected to serve as vice president for the next six months.

Marcia Foy and Arlys Chapdelaine of Seven gave them a very, very close race, but Mary and Kitty squeaked by to win the election.

We'll be expecting to hear some interesting and exciting plans from this group for the next six months.

IT FINALLY HAPPENED. Word was received here Saturday of the change of command ceremonies in RVAH-5.

Cdr. Wallace L. Russell took over as skipper of the Savage Sons relieving Cdr. Paul Werner, who has been, or will be transferred to the staff of the USS Ranger, some place in the South China Sea.

KATHY RUSSELL, RVAH-5

PAT HANEY, RVAH-5

Members will see a film presented by the local unit of the American Cancer Society, with discussion by a local physician.

SUZY REÑO, who bridge who took first place at the bridge party held at the home of Kathy Russell, Friday for officers' wives of RVAH-5, Dossie deGanahl was second high.

Kathy, who has a new daughter, Christina, was presented with a silver picture frame by the club, in which she will place her baby's first picture. Thursday noon Nine Wives are planning to have their monthly luncheon at the home of Arvie Atkinson.

NEW OFFICERS of RVAH-5 will be installed in ceremonies at the NAS Ballroom on Thursday.

Maria Harvey will take over the duties of president for the next six months with a fine board to back up her efforts. Mrs. C. V. Nolte is expected to coordinate at the installation services. Also present will be Mrs. Mary Lois Webster, wife of the new skipper of Thirteen.

TIGERettes are slated to meet with their new officers at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Ballroom. New President Elaine Orzoff will preside and all enlisted wives of RVAH-5 are invited to attend.

OFFICERS and wives of RVAH-12 had a pleasant visit last week with an old friend, Capt. W. F. Laws, Air Group Commander from the USS Kitty Hawk.

The San Diego visitor was entertained at dinner at the Capt's last Wednesday by officers of Thirteen and their wives.

Thursday wives of Thirteen will hold their squadron coffee at the home of Carole Renner, 110 W. Coleman Circle. Irene Dagle will be co-hostess for the occasion. Meeting time is 10 a. m.

CPO WIVES are busily planning for election of their new officers Wednesday night. They will be meeting in the new Navy Wives Meeting Room in old 15—the same building as the NAS Ballroom—the entrance is just south of the ballroom entrance. Time is 7:30 p. m.

Election Wednesday will be followed by plans for an installation dinner and also for another teen dance.

Recently many of the Chief's wives attended the luncheon and style show at the Langford Hotel, in which several of their members participated.

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: I work for a fairly large company. Every year each employee is supposed to get an eight-pound ham. Last year my ham looked kind of small for eight pounds, but I didn't say anything about it. This year my ham also looked small, so I took it home and weighed it and it was only six pounds, four ounces. I took it back to the department head and told him if the company bragged that they gave their employees eight-pound hams, the hams should weigh eight pounds. He became very angry with me and told me I ought to be ashamed of myself, and I should have taken the ham and kept quiet. Do you think I did the wrong thing? Or was the department head in the wrong? What do I do now?

DEAR GYPPEE: If the ham had been labeled "EIGHT POUNDS" by the supplier, then the company was gyped and the department head should have used his head and thanked you for revealing it. But if the company "bragged" that they gave eight-pound hams, and didn't, then the deal was something less than kosher. If I were you, I'd forget it.

ment head should have used his head and thanked you for revealing it. But if the company "bragged" that they gave eight-pound hams, and didn't, then the deal was something less than kosher. If I were you, I'd forget it.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a man who has a fantastic imagination? We are in our seventies and have known him all our lives. He will sit and tell folks all about his "experiences" in the war, and he has never been in the service. He also tells people that he helped bring elk to our state, and the elk were here before us.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: If he is only imagining these things, pity him. It is a sickness of the mind. If he is lying, pity him. That is a sickness of the soul.

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter signed "TROUBLE AT HOME" from the 19-year-old girl who was dating a 27-year-old man who said he was separated from his wife. That letter really hit home here. When I was 19 I met a man of 25. We dated a year before I found out he was married and had two children. He said he was trying to get a divorce because he and his wife couldn't get along. I continued dating him against my own conscience and my parent's wishes. I spent many sleepless nights wondering how much longer I would have to wait. He kept telling me it wouldn't be much longer. Well, I am 23 years old and six months pregnant, and still no divorce. I haven't even seen him in three months. Oh, he calls me once a month to see how I am. Before this happened he couldn't get through a day without calling me. Also, he now has three children instead of two.

Home, take it from someone who is in real trouble—Listen to Abby, and wait until AFTER the divorce to see him again. And then, don't rush into anything. It could save you a lot of heartache.

SHATTERED DREAMS
DEAR ABBY: Tell "HATES BASEMENTS" that I, for one, prefer to entertain my guests in my "basement" we call it our "free" room because I am tired of having guests who, after a couple of drinks, will thoughtlessly set a highball glass down on my baby grand piano or place a lit cigarette on the edge of a table (or ashtray) and go off and forget about it while the cigarette rolls off onto the rug (or table) leaving a nice rectangular burn mark. At least one drink was either spilled or accidentally kicked over. And if it happens in the rec room, it's easier on my nerves.

Jacoby On Bridge

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The American Contract Bridge League conducts three nationwide charity games each year. The games are made up of a computer and played simultaneously all over this continent. Each game is scored locally by match-point scoring.

The computer dealt out some very interesting hands for the event with hand four being a real humdinger.

Even though both sides were vulnerable, both sides were usually way up in the bidding. Most North-South pairs managed to buy the hand, six or seven hearts. Those who bid seven took the heart finesse and made the grand slam, quite a few of those who stopped at six refused the finesse and just made their contract.

Table with bridge scores for North, West, East, and South (D) with various card counts and opening leads.

cate anything about distribution. West overcalled with two spades and East jumped to four. Since South's two club bid had been artificial, he had no way of showing both his suits and just jumped to six clubs. West had the good sense to pass and South had to lose two clubs and a heart for two down.

The saddest story of the tournament was that of the West player whose opponent opened the bidding with one heart. Apparently that particular South had some prejudice against the club suit and against opening two bids. The bidding proceeded as shown in the box until eventually West doubled seven hearts. Needless to say South finessed against East's king and made his grand slam doubled.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. If you let these women take up any of your time, you could be in for a lot of trouble.

The woman who thinks men have all the beat of it and that women never get a square deal. Conversation with such a woman can make a fairly contented woman unhappy and resentful of her husband.

The gossip. Nothing you hear from her will make you feel happy. After you have left her, you will wonder unhappily if you said anything.

you don't want repeated. The woman who puts a monetary value on everything. Let such a woman come into your home and suddenly things look shabby—because you are seeing them through her appraising eyes.

The wet blanket. This type of woman can find a flaw in anything you are happy with. Never make the mistake of telling her your plans or showing her anything you are proud of.

The bossy manager. Unless you are a very strong character, you will get help and advice you never asked for and will have plans made for you that you never wanted made.

The complainer. The complainer scatters gloom wherever she goes—and the only way to dodge the gloom is to dodge her.

These women are unhappy and they would like to have everyone else share their lot. Be forewarned. Stay away from them. You will be a good deal happier if you do.

Its low price goes hard on your resistance.

We put 6 big reasons to buy a Buick Special under the hood. And another small one on the price tag. The six are a set of the liveliest, thirstiest cylinders that ever zipped you merrily on your way. They're all arranged in neat, smooth V-formation. They add up to 225 cubic inches and 155 horsepower, and make other arrangements of 6 cylinders seem primitive. That's not all. Special sports Buick comfort, Buick style and traditional Buick quality. The price tag? We saved the best for last.

The most exciting news in my notebook for today is the news about hats. At a most exciting millinery brunch in New York we saw the hats for spring, and they are young, charming and will be most becoming. The new look is total. The hats harmonize with the newest clothes and the "slim, skinny" coats for spring have hats which will really top them perfectly.

Rose Patrick Rolls 172-484

President Johnson Appeals To Few Americans To Fulfill Heritage Of 'Justice, Liberty, Union'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in today as president in his own right with an appeal to his fellow Americans to fulfill their heritage of "justice . . . liberty . . . union."

In his inaugural address, Johnson forecast that "before this generation of Americans is finished" it will conquer waste of its human resources.

Johnson said that Americans "must work now to provide the knowledge and the surrounding which can enlarge the possibilities of every citizen."

"Let us reject any amount of who seek to keep open old wounds and rekindle old hatreds," Johnson declared. "They stand in the way of a soaking nation."

The 56-year old Chief Executive summoned his countrymen to "join reason to faith and action to experience to transform our unity of interest into a new unity of purpose."

"For the time has come when we must choose between a narrow, selfish, and shortsighted nationalism and a broader, more inclusive, and more just nationalism," Johnson said.

"Under this covenant of justice, liberty, and union — we have become a nation, prosperous, great and mighty. And we have kept our freedom — that we have no previous experience to transform our unity of interest into a new unity of purpose."

"We have been allowed by Him to seek greatness with the sweat of our hands and the strength of our spirit — that we do not believe the great Society is the ordered, changed, and sterile battalions of the gods."

"It is the excitement of becoming — always becoming — young, pushing, finding, growing, and trying again — but always gaining."

Johnson delivered his inaugural address from a wind swept platform on the steps of the Capitol immediately after Chief Justice Earl Warren had administered the 35th oath prescribed by Article II of the constitution.

With his right hand resting on a Bible his mother gave him, Johnson uttered the oath.

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States," he said.

A reception scheduled to follow an example set by George Washington, he still this country's goal.

"Thus, if as a nation there is much outside our control, as a people, no stranger is outside our hope."

"Change has brought new gray hairs and instead of seeking to that old mission, the traditional mission of God, we can never again stand apart and isolate them."

Earlier, in his inaugural address, Johnson said that he would "take the oath as a man, not as a politician."
