Auditors Suggest Fee For Late Utility Payments

Residents Study Possible Routes For Expressway

By Kathy Tyrity Herald Staff Writer

Hundreds of Seminole County residents huddled around maps posted at the Winter Springs Municipal Building Tuesday where consultants working on possible routes for the Seminole County Expressway answered questions and passed out information.

It was the first of three informal public information sessions this week showing several proposed routes for the expressway. The sessions continue today from 3-9 p.m. at Sanford City Hall, and Thursday from 3-9 p.m. at Sanford Civic Center.

Tuesday, these were some of the most common questions asked and the answers which is purchased for the expressway. This value will be determined through appraisals which will consider the value of the property needed, as well as impact of a purchase on parcels which are split, or reduced in size. The authority will make every effort to reach an agreement with each property owner on a price for a fee simple purchase. If an agreement cannot be reached, the authority can acquire property through its power of eminent domain, which allows the final value of the property to be determined through the judicial system.

· How much property will be purchased for the expressway?

The Expressway Authority will purchase all property needed to construct a safe and efficient highway. This land will generally be 300 feet wide except at interchanges which will require additional property for ramps. Parcels of property which are not needed for construction of the expressway generally cannot be purchased by the authority even if they are adjacent to the expressway right-of-way.

What information will be used to evaluate the alternative routes and recommend a final location for the expressway?

Possible routes are to be evaluated on how well each will meet the travel needs of the area, how they will affect environmental quality, including impacts on the natural environment as well as the people who live and work nearby, and financial feasibility.

Environmental issues to be evaluated include wetlands, habitat, neighborhoods, community services, cultural features, and individual homes. Financial discussion will include a comparison of project costs for right-of-way and construction and estimated toll revenues.

. Will other groups assist the authority in reviewing the possible routes and in making the environmental study?

Yes. The Expressway Authority wants to have as much information as possible available. They have appointed a Technical Review Committee which will be assisted by two sub-committees: the Citizens Advisory Committee and the Environmental Advisory Group. These three committees will review information, analysis and recommendations ignoring the recommendation of their city administrator. Longwood City Commissioners have unanimously approved revisions in the city's sewer agreement with Seminole County without increasing sewer rates or development assistance fees. The action was taken subject to the approval of Sun Bank, which holds the revenue bonds.

No Rate Hike As Longwood OKs Sewer Pact

City Administrator Ron Waller had recommended the revised agreement be approved subject to increasing monthly rates and development fees to levels needed to repay the Sun Bank loan and in line with the Feb. 16 feasibility report prepared by Kane and Shuck auditing firm.

The original agreement was approved by the city commission on Dec. 15, 1986.

Waller had recommended a 50 percent increase in rates to sewer customers, which are now at $24 a month because he said Kane and Shuck's report clearly shows it is needed. Commissioner Harvey Smerlison, who made the motion at Monday night's meeting with the

about the rates at this time, said he did not see any justification at the present time for a 50 percent

Smerilson's the report's conclusion that the increases would be needed was before the commission came up with viable options at a Feb. 18 workshop. These included renegotiating with the county to extend the terms of the agreement from 10 years to Sept. 1, 1998, to coincide with the deadline for paying off the loan: revising the payment schedule to parallel construction

Ordinance To Get Tough On False Alarms

The Longwood City Commission has given preliminary approval to a proposed ordinance that will permit police and fire departments to stop responding to alarms that fall to comply with the ordinance and public hearing on the proposal has been set for 7:30 p.m. April 6.

Under the proposed ordinance voted on unanimously by the commission Monday night, upon reception of a false alarm, or a system test with no notification, the police or fire department will issue a warning notice to the owner, lessee or manager of the premises. The owner will have five working days to file a written report stating the alarm system has been examined by an authorized repair service or certified in good working order.

The proposed service fee to be charged for false alarms is as follows: first reponse in the last six months with report filed - no fee; first response within six months with no report filed, $35; second response within six months, $50; subsequent response within six months, $150.

Upon failure of the owner to pay the fee within 10 days, response to that alarm system will be discon-

City Administrator Ron Waller said in a memo to the commission that present procedures are inadequate because the city has no legal method of requiring payments for security alarm violations. The city was informed by its attorney that the past procedure of putting a lien on the property of those who had repeated faise alarms and failed to pay the fine is unconstitutional.

Waller said the proposed change is used effectively by numerous cities and will accomplish the primary goal of reducing the number of responses to false alarms.

In other business, Fire Department Battalion Chief Alan Brown asked the commission to approve a renewal of the agreement between the city and Dr. Benjamin G. Newman.

the Medical Services Medical Director for Seminole County. He said the city's paramedics practice under Newman's license and are certified in the county through him. He advises them and supervises their Advanced Life Care Service.

The commission voted 4-1 to authorize Mayor Ed Myers to sign the agreement on behalf of the city. Commission June Lormann made the motion. Commissioner Harvey Smerilson said he voted against it because of "privileged information I won't give out, but I can't in my own conscience support It."

A 24-year-old Altamonte Springs woman who allegedly threatened to shoot and shoved an employee of McDonalds in the parking lot of that restaurant on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, has been charged with aggravated assault and battery.

The suspect reportedly got out of the passenger's seat of a car in the drive-up window lane at the restaurant at about 8:30 p.m. Monday and began to argue with a woman who works at the restaurant who had walked outside. Research Lab Site Plan Under Review

Martinez, Cabinet Split Over. Lottery Proceeds Distribution

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - The six Democrats on Florida's Cabinet have overruled Republican Gov. Bob Martinez by endorsing a non-binding plan to earmark proceeds from a state lottery solely for education.

Martinez, who has proposed siphoning some of the lottery money for other state needs, such as indigent health care, abstained from the vote during Tuesday's Cabinet

The measure was directed at the Florida Legislature. which has the final word on creating the lottery and deciding where to spend the proceeds. The public overwhelmingly approved a state lottery last Nov. 4. The proposal by Commisioner of Education Betty Castorwould pledge the proceeds for teacher salary increases and programs for dropouts.

Oil-Soaked Sand Heads North

NEPTUNE BEACH (UPI) - Up to 1,000 cubic yards of oil-laden sand is on it way to a hazardous waste dump in South Carolina and officials have declared the cleanup of a 30-mile-long oil spill a "resounding success." "All that's left now is to clean up a few tar balls and dig in the sand to look for hidden pockets of oil," said Chief Warrant Officer Rick Meidt of the U.S. Coast Guard.

Between 100,000 and 200,000 of heavy black Type 6 Bunker C fuel oil leaked into the Atlantic Ocean from the freighter Fernpassat after it ran aground and ruptured two of its six fuel tanks last Thursday on a rock and concrete jetty at the mouth of the St. Johns River.

Medfly Fight Begins

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - State officials planned to import sterile Mediterranean fruit flies from Hawaii to help control an infestation by the pest discovered this week in the north Miami area.

Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner said Tuesday that the sterile flies proved highly effective in interfering with the pests' reproduction during a 1985 Medfly infestation in Miami, when used with pesticides.

Conner confirmed that five male Mediterranean fruit flies were found Monday during a routine inspection in the Hialeah area. Officials had aleady begun collecting and examining host fruit.

Teacher 'Elated' Over Court Ruling

upholding the rights of employees with contagious diseases is a victory over "inedieval ideas," the former teacher whose firing prompted the ruling said Tuesday.

Gene Arline lost her job as a third-grade teacher in 1978, when a remissive case of tuberculosis cropped up again. She sued the Nassau County school board, saying that since her ailment was a handicap, she deserved protection under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

The Supreme Court ruled in her favor Tuesday, and the school board must now schedule a hearing to determine if she should return to work.

The justices said people with contagious diseases may be handleapped and therefore protected by anti-discrimination

Arline, 44, who taught for 13 years in the Nassau County school system, said she had not been able to get a teaching job since her firing eight years ago.

"I'm very clated about the decision and very grateful it was in my tavor." Arline said. "I'm just trying to get over the shock of it. I feel very strongly I was the

More Roads, More Traffic

The long awaited opening of laitland Boulevard from Lake Destiny Drive to Forest City Road (Stale Road 434) occurred Monday afternoon marking the end of fifteen months of construction but no end to traffic congestion on State Road 436.

The $4,392,185 project by Hubbard Construction provides 1.75 miles of four laned highway and completes the link-up from 1-4 to SR 434.

No traffic count has been made since the highway opening, and none planned, according to Department of Transportation officials. The roadway is also not expected to reduce traffic along SR 436 but rather accommodate motorists who have been using other alternate routes.

"Maitland Boulevard pro-vides an alternative to SE 436 for people who live west of Altamonte Springs, said Ben Watts, deputy assistant secre-tary for DOT's Fifth District.

Construction on Forest City Road, a $3,383,275 contract by Hubbard Construction, from Maitiand Boulevard to SR 436, is also substantially complete with only minor work still being completed, according to

No Quick-Fix For Trade Imbalances

The word on Capitol Hill is that the Democrats have finally sworn off the demon rum of protectionism in order to achieve a comprehensive trade bill this year that is acceptable to President Reagan. This would be good news were it actually the case, inasmuch as the current U.S. trade deficit of $170 billion shows no sign of receding any time soon. Unfortunately, a measure being considered by the House subcommittee on trade is identical to the bill that was vetoed last year by the president.

The punitive House proposal would target those nations that have excessive trade balances with the United States. Unless they agreed to trim their surpluses by 10 percent annually for four years, the president would be compelled to retaliate with higher tariffs and lower import quotas. Such simplistic reasoning assumes that U.S. trading partners would be pressured into buying American goods. To the contrary, this heavy-handed approach would not only reduce the flow of foreign products to the United States, it would constrict American exports as well.

That disastrous strategy was tried more than five decades ago when President Herbert Hoover, ignoring protests from the nation's and bernie stalmonges until take highest tariff wall in U.S. history. This, in turn, set off a global trade war that exacerbated the Great Depression.

Mindful of that haunting precedent, the Senate is proceeding somewhat more cautiously with a measure designed to reduce the trade deficit without disrupting international trade. A bill introduced by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D.Tex., would pressure the president to retaliate against recalcitrant trade partners. But it does not contain the mandatory tariff provision of the House measure. Nor does the Bentsen bill seek protection for specific industries, which seem likely in the House's final version. Rather the Senate proposal would require industries uesting protection to demonstrate their productivity and ability to compete.

The Senate bill's major flaw is its goal of micro-managing U.S. trade policy. For example, the measure would limit the president's discretion in implementing relief for American industries by requiring him to follow unanimous recommendations of the U.S. International Trade Commission. It would also fund a worker retraining program through a customs duty of up to 1 percent of the value of commercial imports.

The president isn't about to approve any legislation that curbs his discretionary powers on trade. Moreover, he correctly opposes a customs fee because it would prompt other nations to set similar charges.

Mr. Reagan should also guard against any congressional attempts to undermine the successful maquiladora concept that has enabled numerous American manufacturers to remain competitive at home and abroad by encouraging them to subcontract some assembly operations to Mexico. Organized labor contends that this process is depriving American workers of jobs. In truth, the maquiladora system has prevented many U.S. industries from moving their operations to another nation.

If U.S. lawmakers are truly serious about reducing the trade deficit, they must begin by conceding that this goal cannot be achieved by a congressional quick-fix. The president is ultimately responsible for protecting American producers against unfair trading practices. As such, he must do what is best for this nation's long-term economic interests. Mr. Reagan is obliged, therefore, to veto any legislation that does not give him sufficient latitude to fulfill that responsibility. BERRY'S WORLD SHREDDER "We DID learn from the mistakes of

Deaver's Collection Of Reagan Vignettes Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Former White House the shoe is on the other foot and she is sounding deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver is writing a book about President and Mrs. Reagan, vignettes about the first couple that have never been revealed before Deaver's publisher, the William Morrow company, expects to have the opus on the stands in September.

Deaver, who is being investigated for conflict of interest in lobbying activities after he left the White House, has been the Reagans' closest confidant. Nancy Reagan is on the telephone with him daily, and he remains her adviser. He has been of particular comfort to her as the Iran arms scandal unfolds.

Deaver has been through tough times since the investigation began, losing clients in the process. But he is keeping his chin up and being consoled by others who have gone through it.

Nancy Reagan has been having regular scances with conservative columnist George Will at restaurants around town and at out-of-way places. At times, there were reports that he was seeking her advice. Now it appears him out on how to handle the repercussions from the arms scandal.

Her aides say that the first lady is in touch with many friends who give her advice and does not limit her contacts to Will alone. She iteeps in close telephone touch with friends in Washington and California.

Many of her friends took up the cudgels for her in her feud with former White House chief of staff Donald Regan and Regan did not fare well in the Monday morning quarterbacking.

Now that members of Congress got their pay increases through the back door, the men and women in uniform who put their lives on the line for the president are also seeking a salary

The White House police union has decided to picket the president's house for a couple of hours on March 10 to make its grievances known. The police and their families will hit the pavement on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Their pay runs about $20,000 a year, which many are finding too little money to support their families. About five policemen a month are leaving the White House force.

The Treasury Department does plan to propose a pay increase for the policemen to the tune of 12 percent in the higher brackets and edging downward, but this has not yet been done, and when it is it will not be enough.

The government spends $35,000 on each recruit and the training is said to be among the best in police work. But the police say that they are losing ground and when once allowed to retire at half pay after 20 years, they must now work 25 years and get only 37.5 percent of the

A smile can make a difference in the White House and it does. How a president treats the help can mean a lot. From that aspect, President Reagan is popular with policemen and aides because he takes time out to say "good morning" and to smile as he strolls down the colonnade to the Oval Office.

The most unpopular Cabinet official is Secretary of State George Shultz who, one aide said, looks down on staffers.

Enemies Threaten Security

WASHINGTON - In the mail the other day came a computergenerated letter signed by Dr. Benjamin Spock on behalf of the Nicaraguan Network, an organization that serves the cause of the Sandinista fegime and its masters. The letter asked for a contribution of $200 or more and declared that "the Nicaraguan people are not my enemy. And they're not yours, either."

Of course now. But Dr. Spock or whoever drafted the letter knows that the U.S. government doesn't regard the Nicaraguan people as enemies of the American people. The U.S. government is concerned about the communist government in Nicaragua and its masters in Havana and Moscow.

In March 1980, with only ten minutes of debate, Congress passed a measure to send $75 million in aid to the Sandinistas, as requested by President Jimmy Carter. President Carter was able to transfer supplemental funds and increase the congressional aid to $15 million. Five years later, when President Reagan sought funding for the anti-communist freedom fighters in Nicaragua, the request for money was denied. Today, there is again an effort to kill aid to another Cuba in this hemisphere.

The Sandinistas have influential friends in Congress determined to deny aid to Nicaraguans fighting their communist government. What Congress needs to counter this is a refresher course on what has happened in Nicaragua and Contra aid is vital. A good place to begin is with "La Prensa of Managua -Chronicler of its Country," a booklet written by Dr. Marvin Alisky of Arizona State University (Bevin Corp. Press, Box 26362, Tempe. Ariz. 85282). This is the story of the Nicaraguan newspaper that opposed the Somoza regime.

Dr. Alisky has visited and taught in Nicaragua since 1960. He is immensely informed about freedom of press issues in Latin America. He describes how the Sandinistas "confiscated tons of newsprint, letting them rot in government warehouses." He tells how the Marxist junta in Mnagua "closed independent radio stations such as the Catholic Churh's AM and shortwave and FM outlets." The booklet gives a factual history of Nicaragua's communist takeover sothat "the early 1980s would find thousands of Cubans indoctrinating Nicaraguans in Marxist theory."

Fading Into Sunset

No doubt there were many But his "tale of two cities" theme. reasons, including personal ones, about a nation divided between the for Mario Cuomo's withdrawal from the presidential race. Anyone can understand a man's not wanting to spend the next 500 nights in Holiday Inns in Iowa. New Hampshire and other points down the road, all the while dining on rubber chicken. Cuomo does have a full-time job in New York state. His wife did not want him to run. His most recent speech, full of generalities, bombed in Los Angeles. Most presidents get shot at, and sometimes hit. Cuomo probably does not like homosexuals or military women. He has no ideas about foreign affairs, and when asked in an interview about Nicaragua preferred to "pase" on that one. The Queens County Democratic Party. which is Cuomo's background, has turned out to be a can of worms. and who knows what more is buried out there?

But in the larger picture, Cuomo is an unreconstructed liberal New Dealer, a true believer like Teddy Kennedy, and time has passed all of that by.

Cuomo enjoys orating about "the poor" in the old stem-winding manner. But we have spent billions on food stamps, rent supplements, welfare and all the rest of it, and what more do you want from us? The suspicion has become widespread that if indeed there are "poor" among us their problem is beyond the reach of federal programs. No conceivable New Deal can-reach them.

Mario Cuomo's famous speech in the 1984 San Francisco convention wowed the Democratic delegates.

haves and the have-nots, left all credibility in the lurch. The speech would have been appropriate in 1934, not 1984. It was 50 years out of date. Franklin Roosevelt and Huey Long could successfully play the politics of resentment and class warfare, the poor against the rich. but that is not workable today. It's as out of date as "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion," or "Tippecanoe and Tyler too."

Of course everyone knows that catastrophic problems exist in the black ghettos, but everyone knows too that they are beyond any New Deal sort of solution. They have been analyzed by Daniel Patrick Moynthan, by Charles Murray, George Gilder and countless others. They are problems of family structure, work ethic, illegitimacy, community and maybe religion. Maybe black Americans will solve these problems. - and maybe they will not. But Cuomo-style liberalism offers no answer at all.

And so, along with his Boston political soul-mate Ted Kennedy, Mario Cuomo fades into the sunset as a national figure.

His departure opens up the Liberal Posssibility for someone else, probably Senator Joseph Biden, to beat the big drum of liberal oratory - not really to win the presidency, let alone address today's issues, but to please the San Francisco Democratic constituency. After all, you can get cheers and headlines by sounding like Hubert Humphrey, "we shall overcome," and all the rest of it.

Artificial Blood And Tumors

By Elizabeth Drake

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) -Researchers are testing a Japanese-made blood substitute as a means to increase amounts of oxygen to malignant brain tumors. a technique, which if proven, could add to the benefits of radiation therapy.

The theory that increasing oxygen to tumors makes them less resistant to radiation has been around for several years, but this study focuses on the use of Fluosol for that purpose.

Fluosol is a milk-like emulsion that was developed during the 1970s by Green Cross of Japan and is distributed in the United States by Alpha Corp. of Los Angeles. It has been used as a temporary emergency substitute when whole blood was unavailable or for people whose religious beliefs prohibit transfusions.

The research team is headed by Dr. Richard G. Evans, chairman of the Department of Radiation Oncology at the University of Kansas Medical Center, and Dr. Robert A. Morantz, director of the Brain Tumor Institute at Research Medical Center in Kansas City, Mo.

Hospitals in London, Australia and at Yale University have tried to increase oxygen available to the body by placing people in chambers containing pure oxygen.

"It's a very time-consuming process, getting people into these tanks. Evans said. It's also expensive and uncomfortable for the patient, he said.

"But because of the (small) size of the Fluosol particles and because oxygen is much more soluable in Fluosol than it is even in blood or plasma, we are hoping that we can get a lot more oxygen into the tumor than we can normally." Evans said.

"The patients on this study are those who have been proven at surgery to have the most malignant type of brain tumor," said Morantz.

The study focuses on patients with high-grade tumors, which are considered the most malignant.

"The theory is based on the fact that cells that are poorly oxygenated are about three times more resistant to radiation than cells in tumors that are well oxygenated," Evans said. So if we could get more oxygen into these tumors and make them more radiation-sensitive, then we'd get a better response rate and a better cure rate for those tumors."

Navy's Deals With Iran Are Thwarted

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta WASHINGTON - A crucial question in the Iran/contra arms scandal is whether the two active-duty military officers running the caper out of the National Security Council - Adm. John Poindexter and Lt. Col. Oliver North — were acting on their own initiative, outside any "chain of command." Skeptics maintain this was an unlikely way for career military men to behave.

As luck would have it, simultaneous secret negotiations with Iran over U.S. military hardware offer a clear illustration of the military's traditional by the numbers approach. The Navy's covert contacts with the Ayatoliah Khomeini's representatives were significantly different in style from the huggermugger NSC operation.

Poindexter and North went to extravagant lengths to keep Secretary of State George Shultz and other high officials in the dark about their effort to swap arms for hostagcs. The Navy, on the other hand, informed not only North, but the State Department and Attorney General Edwin Meese, that it was secretly dickering with Khomeini to buy back some expensive aircraft equipment delivered years earlier to the shah of Iran.

Neither Meese, who had some knowledge of the White House arms shipments to Iran, nor North, who knew everything, saw fit to share confidences with the Navy negotia-

The most important difference between the two parallel negotiations with Iran, as we reported, is that the Navy flatly refused to consider swapping TOW anti-tank missiles or other weapons for the Iranians' U.S. equipment, and broke off the talks when the Iranians persisted in their demands for arms. Poindexter and North, of course, didn't boggle at the idea of shipping U.S. arms to Iran - to President Reagan's subsequent embarrass-

Here's the chronology of the Navy's secret dealings with Iran:
— Summer 1985: As a costcutting possibility, the Navy decided to try purchasing six mint-condition F-14 "test benches" — electronic diagnostic machines that detect malfunctions in F-14 fighter planes - from Iran, instead of paying top dollar for new ones to equip three new aircraft carriers.

- Fall 1985: Navy officials contacted a businessman with Iranian connections in London, where two-thirds of Iran's arms purchases were handled by Khomeini's military officials. The businessman enlisted the aid of an Iranian engineer living in London, who had been friendly with Khomeini during the ayatoliah's years of exile in

- November 1985: The first of several substantive meetings between Navy officials and Iranian intermediaries was held. The Navy offered up to $1.5 million apiece for Iran's F-14 test benches - which would have saved the taxpayers about $6.5 million per copy.

It was agreed that the Iranians would produce an inventory, and once a price was agreed on the Navy would deposit the amount in a Swiss bank account. (Sound familiar?) The Iranians would then fly the test benches to the U.S. Air Force base at Frankfurt, where the machines would be checked by U.S. and Iranian inspectors. If the equipment was satisfactory, the Navy would transfer the purchase price to an Iranian account.

Early 1986: The Iranians began to balk at a straight cash deal. They suggested cash plus medical equipment, which was fine with the Navy. But then the Iranians pushed for a straight swap: TOW missiles for the test benches.

The Navy, which had informed North about its negotiations and cleared the legalities with Meese and State Department legal adviser Abraham Sofaer, didn't know the Iranians had already received TOW missiles under the secret White House deal for hostages.

— March 1986: The Navy broke off negotiations when the Iranians insisted on trading the F-14 test benches for weapons: anti-aircraft Hawk missiles and air-to-air

Phoenixes as well as the anti-tank TOW missiles.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Webster, the former prosecutor and federal judge named by President Carter to restore credibility and integrity to the FBI, now faces a similar job for President Reagan at the CIA.

Praised by congressional leaders of both parties for his nine-year record at the FBI, Webster was tapped by Reagan Tuesday to succeed the ailing William Casey as head of an

Students Rampage On Grades

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UPI) - What began as a protest against a tough grading policy by about 800 high school students turned into a rampage by youths who ran through downtown streets, threw rocks and bottles at cars and "trashed" City Hall.

"They were generally running amok," said Dena Lengsam, a parking control officer. "It was like the 1960s." Three students were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace or resisting arrest during Tuesday's demonstra-tion. They were released to their parents. About 800 students streamed out of San Benito High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, blaming "yupples who order Becks instead of Budweiser" for some of the nation's trade problems, warns a strong bill may not be enough to curb the $170 billion U.S. trade deficit.

But the trade legislation, expected to be drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee this year, can help by calling for more concentrated power for the U.S. Trade Representative, encouraging other countries to drop barriers to free trade, and helping make American firms more competitive on the world market, said Rostenkowski, the committee chairman.

In a speech Tuesday at the National Press Club, Rostenkowski said legislation alone will not solve the problem because it cannot change American buying

Curtain Falls On Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - Police scattered crowds lingering on French Quarter streets early today and crews moved in to clean up tons of glittery trash strewn by a million revelers at Mardi Gras, the hedonistic climax to Carnival. "The City That Care Forgot" lived up to its nickname Tuesday with a bash that drew crowds to see gaudy parades, show off bawdy costumes and drink and dance until they dropped. Sunshine and 70-degree weather brought out crowds that choked intersections. particularly in the French Quarter where revelers celebrate the more ribald aspects of the pagan ritual with roots in the Roman Feast of Saturnalia.

"These people are weird," shouted a young man with a Michigan State sweatshirt.

Korean Police Hold 439 For Questioning On Demonstrations

SEOUL. South Korea - Police held and questioned 439 people today for involvement in sporadic demonstrations in Seoul and other cities that were put down by a massive deployment of security forces.

Those held included 293 students who scuffled with police Tuesday while trying to stage "peace marches" in memory of Park Chong-chul, a Seoul National University student who died while being interrogated by police.

"A total of 439 were taken into custody and are under questoning for taking part in illegal street demonstrations in Seoul and other cities," a police spokesman said. "Most will be freed soon with admonition. However, those who played leading roles and those who resorted to vehement violence will face formal charges."

Italian Leaders Start Talks

ROME (UPI) - Political leaders in caretaker Prime Minister Bettino Craxi's five-party coalition government arranged a round of consultations today aimed at settling the nation's latest political crisis.

Political observers on all sides saw no easy way out of the crisis and predicted the likelihood of early elections unless the squabbling coalition members can compromise.

.Audit

ministrative staff. 'Seldom have I been hit with such a comprehensive audit and enjoyed it so much," said City Manager Frank Faison, who's been in the municipal and county management field for more than 20 years.

in addition to the audit itself, which considers state and federal requirements, the firm presented a "management letter," which suggests potential ways for the city to further improve operations. Many of these proposals are already in place or on their way towards implementation, Faison said. Some of these proposals had been made to Falson before Monday's presentation, during the four months the firm's representatives spent on the audit this winter. The audit period covers Sanford's fiscal year, Sept. 31, 1985 through Sept. 30, 1986. Some new measures resulting from the firm's suggestions will enable closer monitoring of inventories, invoices and checks, avoiding late payments on purchases to eliminate deliquent fees, and consideration of pooling certain funds to enable larger investments and commensurate interest returns, Faison said.

Coopers and Lybrand is recognized as one of the country's "Big 8" accounting firms. Commissioners retained the firm's Orlando office last August for three years at $27,000 per year.

Mercer's complaint with the Sanford firm was its failure to include a management letter in its audit. While the audit found Sanford financially solvent. Mercer, a banker, said any operation, whether public or private, can stand proposals for improved fiscal operation.

On Monday Mercer termed the Coopers and Lybrand audit "excellent."

"It's what we were looking for. I'm real pleased," he said.

The management letter from Coopers and Lybrand runs several pages, and its recommendations "are just that," Mrs. Hill said, and not required by state or federal statute.

The suggestions should be judged by the city in terms of implementation costs versus potential financial risks faced by continuing the cited practices, she said.

The proposal for Sanford to look at workman's compensation insurance was well received by city representatives. Because the city doesn't carry such coverage, it could conceivably found negligent for an on the Job accident, said City Attorney William Colbert.

Sanford "has been lucky," in avoiding such actions so far. "but they are not unique and all it takes is one to throw you completely out of whack." Col-bert said. "You'd be responsible for medical and living expenses for the rest of that person's life." The cost for a policy to limit the city's liability on such claims will be included in the 1987-88 budget proposal, Falson said.

Staff will also be looking this spring into instituting late charges for delinquent utility bills. The fees would be presented to commissioners for review and approval before implementation.

Steps to avoid unauthorized acces to the city's computer system are also being taken in accordance with audit proposals. Sanford is moving toward a self-sufficent computer operation at city hall, to rid its reliance on the city of Lakeland's system. material to the authority. Will the Seminole County Expressway be similar to the East-West Expressway?

Yes. The proposed toll road will be a four lane divided expressway with interchanges at major cross roads. The right-of-way for the expressway will be approximately 300 feet wide, which is similar to Interstate 4 and the East-West Expressway.

• When will right-of-way be purchased and construction begin?

As soon as possible. The exact timing of right-of-way purchases and construction will depend on the availability of funds from tolls and other sources. The financial feasibility study is to identify a time schedule for right-of-way acquisition and construction. The authority hopes to begin purchasing right-of-way for at least part of the expressway by 1989.

Comment forms being distrib-uted at public information sessions will be summarized and forwarded to the authority members. In addition, you may want to write or call the authority members. The members are the five Seminole County Commissioners, Fred Streetman, Barbara Christensen, Bill Kirchhoff, Sandra Glenn and Robert Sturm, and Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and Lake Mary City Cimmissioner Paul Tremel.

The public is encouraged to attend the authority's monthly meetings. The dates, times, and locations of these meetings are announced in monthly newsletters and by the general media. Additional public meetings to present and discuss the alternative routes for the expressway are scheduled for

May and July.

What is the Seminole County Expressway Authority?

The authority is an agency of the state, created by the legislature in 1974. It is responsible for planning, financing and constructing expressways within Seminole County.

• Is the authority responsible for all roads in Seminole County?

No. The authority is only responsible for expressways in Seminole County. The Florida Department of Transportation is responsible for state roads, such as Aloma Avenue, State Road 434, State Road 419, U.S. Highway 17-92, State Road 46, and Interstate 4. Seminole County is responsible for many of the heavily- traveled local roads including Tuskawilla Road, Red Bug Lake Road, Lake Mary Boulevard, and Paola

Supreme Court Rules

Contagious Disease Victims Protected By Anti-Bias Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court ruled today a person with a contagious disease may be handicapped and therefore protected by antidiscrimination laws in a case that could extend such protection to AIDS sufferers.

The court, on a 7-2 vote, held a Nassau County, Fla., teacher who was fired because she around," he said. "That is cersuffered tuberculosis could be handicapped under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and protected from discrimination.

"We conclude that the fact that a person with a record of physical impairment is also contagious does not suffice to remove that person from coverage" under the act, Justice William Brennan said for the

In a footnote to the decision, the court said the ruling did not reach the question of whether AIDS would be covered by the Rehabilitation Act. However. groups fighting for the rights of tuberculosis, like AIDS, is infectious. They also said a Supreme Court victory for the teacher could eventually extend the Rehabilitation Act to AIDS victims. "The fact that some persons who have contagious diseases may pose a serious health threat to others under certain circumstances does not justify excluding from the coverage of the Act all persons with actual or perceived contagious diseases.' the court said.

"Such exclusion would mean that those accused of being contagious would never have the opportunity to have their condi-tion evaluated in light of medical evidence and a determination made as to whether they were 'otherwise qualified.' Rather, they would be vulnerable to discriminaon on the basis of mythology — precisely the type of injury Congress sought to prevent."

In Florida, Craig Morris, the superintendent of the Nassau County schools, said, "I'm disappointed in losing the case. I'm disappointed for the children in Nassau County."

"It was the board's concern for the safety of the children which led to the dismissal," Morris

Brennan, joined by Justice Byron White, Thurgood Marshall, Harry Blackmun. Lewis Powell, John Paul Stevens and Sandra Day O'Connor. wrote before a person with a contagious disease is dismissed, a job hearing must be held to determine if the person is a danger, and if so, could another position be found for that Such hearings would take into account the nature of the risk, the severity of the risk, and the probabilities the disease will be transmitted and will cause varying degrees of harm.

But Chief Justice William Rehnquist, joined by Justice Antonin Scalia, said the court's ruling goes beyond the intent of Congress in passing the Rehabilitation Act.

James Kellogg, staff attorney for the Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, a group fighting for homosexual rights, said AIDS discrimination cases have been on hold throughout the country pending today's court ruling and now appear likely to be resolved in favor of AIDS victims.

"I think this will clear the bottleneck," Kellogg said. "Everybody has been more or less holding their breath on both

Elementary Pupils Compete In District Curriculum Fair

By Genie Lindberg Herald Staff Writer

Students from Seminole County's 25 elementary schools who won their school's top awards for math, science and social studies projects and competed at the district's first elementary Curriculum Fair at Seminole Community College.

Kindergarten through 5th grade students brought their winning projects in to SCC Friday evening for judging. Fourth and 5th graders were asked to stay with their displays as judges passed through and asked them questions about their projects. Professors, business people and district school administrators were judges who placed award ribbons on selected projects Friday after students went home.

Projects were on display to the public Saturday morning and students began arriving around noon to discover if their project had a ribbon on it. All students received participation ribbons.

Sabal Point Elementary students, Ryan Dulski, 5th-grade, and Chad Rome, 4th-grade, found they had first-place blue ribbons on their projects. Dulski's science project about lubricants asked the question "Which lubricant will make wood blocks go down the slope faster?" and was made up of wooden slopes lubricated with such things as wax, graphite, vegetable oil and others but showed the graphite worked best as a lubricant. Rome's project had colorful letters printed on its background which stated the rights and responsibilities of eskimos and had a model igloo in front. Other projects on display ranged from topics such as the Cuban missile crisis, tracing family trees that originated in Europe and what effects colored light had on plants.

Also on Saturday, students selected to represent their schools registered for competitions in mathematics, science and social studies which took place between 9 a.m. and noon. Some of the events included were basic math-solving problems for different grade-levels in the math competition, student-produced media presentations such as video recordings, slides and filmstrips in the social studies competition and building and experimenting in the science competition.

Tears Said The Rest

The Turner Entourage numbered 20 people as it prepared to depart for Saturday night's Class 4A State Wrestling Tournament at Lyman High School.

There was father Carl, mother Ellene, brothers Tracy and Tony along with numerous relatives and friends. There was just one problem. The young man most important to the entourage on this particular evening was missing.

Where is Troy Turner? Where is that young man who possessed a 31-0 record at 171 pounds and a 114-5 mark for his career? Where is that Seminole High senior who on this evening is on the verge of Seminole County wrestling history. Where is that gladiator who has been to the final war twice already and was without a victory?

You can imagine the thoughts that went through the minds of the family.

Here it is: Troy's last chance for a state championship, and he is nowhere to be found. Could Clearwater Countryside, whose wrestler (Dennis Nelson) Troy was opposing, have kidnapped him? Could that devilish Solomon Fleckman, Troy's trimmed-down (159 pounds) arch enemy from Merritt Island. have conked him over the head with one of his Mustang horseshoes? Or could Troy have gotten cold feet on the night of his biggest wrestling match?

Sam Cook BANFORD HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

"Where is Troy?" the family wondered aloud.

Ellene went back into the house. After checking about, she found him in his room. Happily, she reported there were no Clearwater residents, horseshoes nor cold feet.

There was, however, a familiar face, standing intently in the middle of the room.

"He was just standing there," Eilene said, "Just standing there, looking around at all of his trophies and medals and rib-

It was as if Eilene had walked into her son's consciousness. "Honey, what is it?". Eilene asked. "Is there something wrong?"

"No mom," Troy answered. "I just have to do it tonight. This is my last chance.'

A chance he had two times previously but failed.

The first time, as an unbeaten sophomore, was easier to except. The opponent was the better man. He proved it on the scoreboard. Painfully, convinc-ingly, 19-8. Mark Surrette, a senior from St. Petersburg Seminole and bound for the highly regarded University of Oklahoma, relegated Troy to second best. The loss was a tough one, but understandable. The foe was two years his senior. two years more experienced.

Last year was not so easy to accept. Once again, the junior Turner was unbeaten. Then, came the bad break came, in the form of a broken thumb during the semfinal round. Somehow, discarding the pain, he pulled out the semifinal victory. It would be no go in the finale. however.

The aforementioned Fleckman, who would pick up his second state championship (and third this year) via injury default, said he felt "empty" with his 159-pound title. Fleckman had lost to Turner in a dual meet earlier in the year. He wanted so much to avenge the loss. Maybe as much as Troy wanted to shut him up once and for all.

Both were helpless to do any-thing about it. The dream match never materialized. Troy Turner was 0 for 2 under the year's final spotlight and looking at his last time at bat Saturday night. One more time to grasp the thing he wanted most in life. One more

NCAA Slaps Gamecocks, Texas Tech

Reverberations from the latest college sports scandals have stretched from the statehouse in Texas to the basketball program at South Carolina, and have involved illegally bestowed gifts that include thousands of dollars and ostrich-skin

The NCAA Tuesday placed the Tekas Tech football in Bouth Carolina basketball programs on probation for recruiting violations. Meanwhile, Texas Gov. Bill Clements became linked to the widening problems at Southern Methodist when he admitted he was part of a group aware of illegal payments to players. Also, former University of Houston players said they were paid in the thousands by former coach Bill

Texas Tech was placed on a year's probation and stripped of three scholarships. South Carolina was sentenced to two years' probation for illegalities committed under the tenure of former coach Bill Foster.

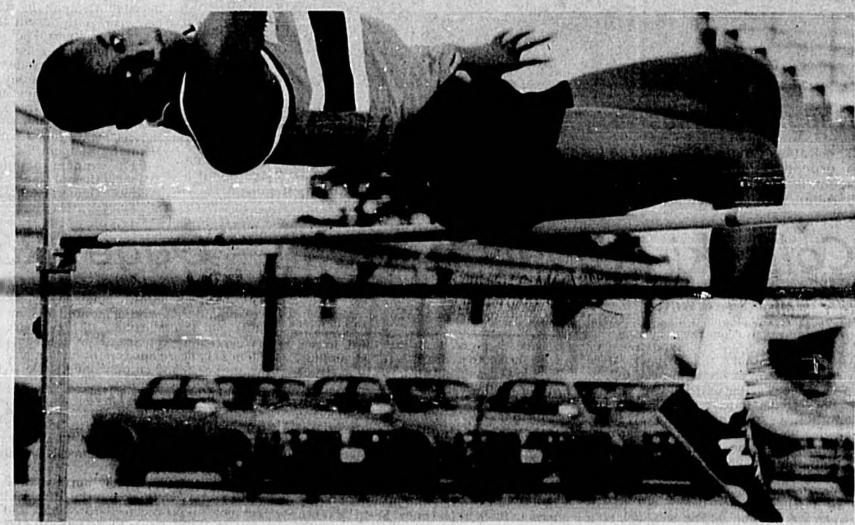

The Red Raiders' scholarships were cut from 25 to 22 for the 1988-89 academic year, but there were no sanctions involving television appearances or postseason play.

The NCAA cited 15 infractions, including charges that an assistant football coach provided a recruit's mother with "at least $200 in cash and groceries" and gave a recruit ostrich-skin boots, a trip to I-as Vegas, Nev., and a Texas Tech swcatsuit.

"We apologize for the infractions," said Lauro Cavazos, Texas Tech's president. "Today is a very black day in athletics at Texas Tech, and we will make sure that it will never happen again."

The infractions, which included a series of "violations of the NCAA ethical conduct legislation," occurred while Jerry Moore was coach at Texas Tech. Moore was fired after the 1985 season.

A report by the NCAA Committee on infractions said its investigation at South Carolina found violations were committed during Foster's tenure. Those violations included the sale of players' complimentary tickets, the loan of automobiles to prospective and enrolled student athletes, and the provision of free meals to several players at area restaurants.

Herald Sports Writer Despite some tremendous performances, Seminole High was out-"distanced" by Oak Ridge's Pioneers Tuesday, 83-76, in a triangular track meet that also included Edgewater at Seminole High.

Oak Ridge won the meet on the strength of the mile and two mile, where it swept the first three places in each. Edgewater finished a distant third with 10 points.

"We had a really good meet with some outstanding performances," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "And we actually could have won it had we split up Oak Ridge in the distance events."

Seminole High will host its own relay meet Friday night with field events starting at 4 and running events at 6. Highlighting the meet for the 'Noles on Tuesday was junior high jumper Walter "Jumpman" Hopson who tied the school record by clearing 6-6. It was Hopson's first meet for the Tribe since the end of basketball season.

Seminole also got an outstanding meet from senior sprinter Earle Martin who won the 100 meters with a personal record of 10.9 as he outleaned Oak Ridge's Richard Glover. Martin also won the 220 dash at 22.9 with teammate

Steve Warren second at 23.2. Other personal records for the Tribe were turned in by Jerod Jones in the discus and Arthur Hersey and Alan Seward in the 120 high hurdles. Jones unleashed a throw of 139-1 for first place while Hersey won the hurdles in 14.8 and Seward was second at 15.0. Hersey (41.4) and Seward (41.7) also went 1-2 in the 330 intermediate hurdles.

In one of the closest individual events of the day, Seminole's Rufaro Matipano outlasted Oak Ridge's Mike Grothe in the 880 run. Matipano finished in 2:06.9 with Grothe coming in at 2:07.

Seminole also took first in both the 440 and mile relays. The 440 relay team of Warren, Martin, Dwayne Willis and Jerry "Stick" Parker smoked the Pio-neers as the Tribe finished in 43.8 compared to 45.9 for Oak Ridge.

The mile relay went right down to the wire. Willis led off and gave Seminole the early lead but Oak Ridge made up the difference on the second leg while Seward ran step for step with Oak Ridge's runner on the third leg. Maurice Roberts then took over for the anchor leg and he put on a strong kick in the last 110 to give Seminole the victory. Seminole finished in 3:30 compared to 3:33 for Oak Ridge.

Second place finishers for the Tribe included Mike Mingo in the long jump (19-71/2), Lewis Butler in the triple jump (40-10) and Sonny Osborn in the pole

Mainland Marches By Evans

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH -Mainland's Bucs know they can go uptown to all-state center Mike Polite and forward Kenny Mackeroy when the situation calls for it. Tuesday night, however, junior guard Veryl McIntyre showed them they can go downtown, too.

McIntyre threw in five 20footers in the first half while Polite and Mackeroy tormented Orlando Evans inside for 59 points as Daytona Teach Mainland captured the Region 4A-5 championship with an 87-78 victory over the Trojans before 1,901 fans at Mainland High School.

Mainland, which beat Lake Mary for the District 4A-9 title Saturday, advances to the Section 4A-3 Tournament against Palm Beach Gardens, an easy 68-49 winner over Merritt Island.

Mainland, 24-5, will play at Palm Beach Gardens. Evans, ranked No. 8 in the final Florida Sports Writers Association Poll. finished 27-5.

In other sections this Satur-day, top-ranked Hialeah Miami Lakes hosts arch-rival Miami High: Jacksonville Wolfson entertains Pensacola Washington; and Clearwater Countryside travels to Lakeland Kathleen.

"Veryl in a great shooter and we needed him tonight," Mainland guard Derrick Henry

McIntyre, a thin sharpshooter, took advantage of the collapsing defenses on 6-7 Polite and 6-4 Mackeroy to finish with 15 points. After he loosened up the inside with his long-range gunnery, Polite and Mackeroy operated powerfully inside. Polite finished with a game-high 30 points while Mackeroy added

"They were just better than us," Evans coach Rudy Tapla combined for 26 points as Mainland took a 37-31 first-half lead. Reggie Shields, a 6-0 senior guard, threw in 11 of his teamhigh 26 points in the first 16 minutes for the Trojans.

'Meintyre didn't miss in the first half," Mainland coach Dick Toth said. "He really came through for us."

Early in the second half, Polite went down with an injured ankle with the Bucs holding a 39-33 lead. While in the lockerroom being taped up, Maurice Grey sandwiched two strong inside moves around a jumper by Henry.

At that juncture, Toth sent a player after Polite and he returned one minute later. Shields pulled Evans within 41.39 midway through the quarter but Mackeroy hit a dazzling scoop layup to start a 12-6 spurt as Mainland took a 53-45 lead with 1:43 to play. Polite, usually great balance to control a lob pass, converted a three-point play to push the lead to 61-53 with two seconds left in the quarter.

Mainland steadily built its lead to 12 points midway through the fourth quarter and when Mackeroy converted two free throws the Bucs lead, 79-66, but Evans crawled back into the game behind strong inside play from 6-4 Earl Barnett and the outside shooting of Shields.

Shield dropped two free throws with 44 seconds left and added a steal and layup five seconds later to shave Mainland's lead to 83.78.

When the Trojans tightened the pressure, however, steady Brian Morris effectively handled the heat and found Mackeroy down low. Mackeroy was fouled with 24 seconds left and his two charity tosses put the Bucs out of reach, 85-78.

Mainland was not the only Daytona Beach school to find region success Tuesday. Seabreeze used three free throws by Gerald Smith in overtime to nip Jacksonville Bishop Kenny, 56-55, for the Region 3A-2 title. Scabreeze, 20-9, will play at Quincy Shanks in Saturday's section.

Orlando Jones also won its Region 3A-3 with a 72-66 victory over Ocala Forest. Jones, 23-8, will host Bartow Saturday in the section.

Lady Seminoles Surprise Boone, 2-0

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High turned a few heads with a late-season charge a year ago. In 1987, however, the Lady Seminoles have arrived after only two games.

The Lady 'Noles picked up one of their biggest victories ever Tuesday as they blanked the defending district and regional champion Lady Braves of Boone High, 2-0, at Rayford Field in Orlando.

"The girls were fired up all the way up there and I think they felt they could hang with Boone and give them a good game." Seminole coach Lance Abney said. "When they scored and held Boone scoreless through their entire lineup, they knew they had it won. After beating a powerful team like Boone, the girls believe they can play with anyone now."

Seminole, 2-0, has its home and Seminole Athletic Conference opener Thursday afternoon at 4:15 against Lake Howell at Fort Mellon Field. Boone now stands at 5-1.

Seminole broke up the scoreless tie with two runs in the top of the third inning. With two outs, Kim Walsh drew a walk and Sheri Peterson followed with a base hit to right. When the ball got by the right fielder, both Walsh and Peterson scored.

For the game, the Lady 'Noles had 12 hits compared to seven for the Lady Braves. Peterson, Tammy Bailey and Bobbie Osborne had two his each for Defensively, Abney said the Lady Tribe turned in a solid effort in shutting out a strong offensive team.

Lake Brantley trims evans

Lake Brantley pushed across two runs in the top of the sixth Tuesday as the Lady Patriots avenged an earlier loss with a 3-1 victory over Orlando Evans at Lake Fairview.

Fehr Warns Of Possible Player Strike

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Donald Fehr, executive director of the Players Association, warned Tuesday that unless major-league owners return the free enterprise system to baseball another players' strike could result.

Fehr, visiting the New York Yankees' spring training camp on the first stop of his annual tour through the Florida training sites, said it was clear to him that the owners were acting in collusion by not making whole-hearted efforts to sign free agents.

"The owners have decided to reassert control of the industry," said Fehr, after addressing the Yankee players for an hour and 15 minutes. "My prediction is things are going to get nastier before they get better. The owners' intent is to punish players who exercise their

Fehr said he had no immediate solution to the problem, but that a strike was an alternative that could be implemented in the future. The 1985 baseball season was interrrupted by a two-day player walkout, and the 1981 season was crippled by a 50-day

"I tell the players there are no magic solutions. There are a number of grievances that have been filed and will be filed," said Febr. "If all of that fails and (the owners) still don't compete, the time will come to strike again. If (the owners) are going to behave like monopolists, they leave the players no alternative. Right now there is no competition for players at any price."

Fehr mentioned Yankee lefthander Ron Guidry as a prime example of the owners' refusal to go after prime free agents.

"Not one team has made an offer to Guidry," said Fehr. "We will see if Tim Raines is good enough to play for someone."

There are six premier free agents on the open market and none of them appear to be close to signing with new clubs. They cannot return to their old clubs until May 1. The six include Raines, Guidry, Lance Parriah, Bob Horner, Andre Dawson and Rich Gedman, Chicago Cubs General Manager Dallas Green accused Andre Dawson's agent of staging "a dog-and-pony show" in attempts to get the free-agent outfielder signed with the National League team.

Unique Men's Tournament Comes To Grand Cypress

The Central Florida area is fortunate indeed to be playing host to a major men's tennis tournament. The Paine Webber Classic, a unique 32-player event, will be held at the Grand Cypress Resort. March 16-22.

This event will be sponsored by Paine Webber and Volvo and is part of the Nabisco Grand Prix Super Series. This very exciting and prestigious event will be coming to the Central Florida area for the first time.

Of course, some of the top players in the world will be coming to this $350,000 event. Ivan Lendl, the No. 1 men's player in the world, will be the top seed and will be the odds-on favorite. Five time U.S. Open champ, Jimmy Connors, will also be part of the field. Lendl defeated Connors in the finals last year at the event that was held in Fort Myers, Fla.

Although this event has enjoyed a lot of success in the past, the promoters frankly expect this year's tournament to be the best one yet. The Grand Cypress Resort is a fantastic site and a perfect facility for a world-class tennis tournament.

Past winners of the Paine Webber Classic have included Andres Gomez, Conners and Lendl, the two-time defending champion. Lendl and Gomez also teamed for the doubles crown last year.

ABC Sports will telecast the semifinal and final matches as they have done in the past, proving once again that this tournament is a very important event.

The Grand Cypress Resort is located near Walt Disney World and EPCOT Center and is fully equipped with 11 tennis courts and a 6,000-seat tennis stadium. Indeed it is an excellent place to have a major event and if the beautiful Central Florida spring weather lives up to expectations it should be a fantastic week of tennis.

Nordiques Lose Offense, Pride As Penguins Prolong Skid, 8-1

Two trademarks of the Quebec Nordiques - pride and offense - have vanished from the provincial team with showy goal-scorers.

The Nordiques, clinging to a four-point lead over Buffalo for the Adams Division's fourth and final playoff spot, Tuesday night lost 8-1 to the Pittsburgh Penguins to drop to 1-6-1 in their last eight games.

"This loss is the biggest disappointment I have had since coaching the Nordiques," said Michel Bergeron, whose team has never missed the playoffs in his six seasons.

"This game was so important to us and to play this way... We have a serious problem on this team, no pride, no desire to wear the Nordique jersey. I don't want to blame specific players but I don't feel the spirit that was present on other Nordiques teams."

Saturday night, Troy was the most important one to pull through. Junior Tracy, a super wrestler in his own right, would have to wait for his championship. A severely injured wrist had knocked him for the state tournament in the second round.

It was Troy Turner and Dennis Nelson for the 171-pound championship. This is it. The last time around. Troy picked up two points, then three more for a 5-0 lead. Nelson came back with one but Troy added four more. It was over. Troy Turner was the best 171-pound wrestler in Florida.

As the official raised Troy's hand, Troy turned toward the bleachers, looked to the very top row, found the loved ones and waved a triumphant No. 1.

Tears said the rest.

Hill Berates NY After Win

New York Knicks Coach Bob Hill, who has exercised positive reinforcement, sounded very negative in victory Tuesday

Hill blasted his team after it snapped a five-game losing streak with a 99-86 triumph over the Utah Jazz.

"I thought we played better in our last two games." Hill said. "It was very frustrating. I felt like a dentist pulling teeth. Our fastbreak was sickening."

As the interim replacement for the acerbic Hubie Brown, Hill has been more supportive of the players since taking over earlier this season. Though New York is 13-29 in his tenure, Hill says he wants the job permanently. Gulf & Western, the owners of the Knicks, says a decision on next year's coach will be made after the season. Among the names reportedly being considered are Larry Brown of Kansas and John MacLeod, formerly of the Phoenix Suns. Hill has been unable to get New York to play consistently. Utah was treated to 21 turn-

Elsewhere, Atlanta defeated Indiana 109-108, Chicago topped the LA Clippers 114-80, the LA Lakers dumped Golden State 114-109 and Portland beat Cleveland 127-122.

"This market is like a child that's tired but doesn't want to go to bed," said Harry Villec of Sutro & Co. He said the Dow could move as high as 2400 before it retreats. But he said any signfleant setback will attract renewed buying.

Ernie Rudnet, manager of block trading at Mabon Nugent & Co. cited "some slight nervousness about what Reagan will say Wednesday." But he said overall, the market gave a "pretty good" performance.

Traders said government reports showing the index of leading economic indicators fell 1 percent in January while single-family home sales dropped 6.8 percent had little impact. Traders said investors are waiting for February unemployment data, due Friday.

The farmers market and produce stands locally have a good supply of fresh greens and some other winter vegetables especially those of the cabbage family. This past weekend I stocked my refrigerator with cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, and kohlrabi. (We'll certainly get our Vitamin C and fiber this weck).

Kohlrabi is often overlooked because many people are not familiar with it. It has a bulbous stem and leaves which resemble a turnip's. The stock has a crisp texture and a mild flavor. When choosing kohlrabi look for firm, small bulbs.

To prepare: trim root ends and stems from 6 small kohlrabi. Scrub and peel. Cut into ¼ inch slices. Combine in a 2-quart casserole with 4 cup water. Cover. Microwave on 100% power 10-15 minutes or until fork tender, stirring every 4

Cook Of The Week

Retired Police Sergeant Spices His New World With Old World Tradition

By Dorothy Greene

Herald Correspondent Mama Mia! Only those two words can describe what's in store when our Cook of the Week stations himself in the kitchen. John Vanore, a brand new Sanford resident, but far from a newcomer to this area, has the experience that only an Italian background and a love for good

A product of Jersey City, N.J., our cook, his brother, Ralph, and sister, Frances "Chickie" Bernard, were raised during the historical Great Depression era when families worked together, played together, and stuck together. "My mother was out working all the time," says Vanore. "She owned a bridal shop in West New York, N.J., the very first one in Hudson County, so my grandmother actually took care of me and helped raise

Just watching his grandmother cook, Vanore recalls, gave him his basic knowledge of traditional family recipes. "You know the old timers," he says, "they never told you anything. Just a handful of this and a handful of that. My grandmother, she could cook she never wasted food. She could empty out an ice box and make you a gourmet meal that would be out of this world."

Recounting some of the Old World fare that "Ninon," which is the Italian word for Grandma. used to serve, Vanore emphasizes that pasta was the mainstay in those Depression days, but varied greatly with sauces and meats. From pastafagioli, to macaroni, to spaghetti, to lentils, peas and beans, and fish on Fridays, the week was filled with hearty stick-to-the-ribs type meals. Pasta was filling, potatoes were filling, and that's what I remember,"he says. "To get a steak was a treat. A roast beef? It mean an occasion — a party or a birthday or an anniversary!" Times have changed, and John Vanore is now a retired police sergeant who served on rhe Palisades Park, N.J. force for 25 years, mainly in the traffic division. He and his wife, Elaine, chose to build their beautiful retirement home right down the block from his boyhood friend.

John Vanore is a natural in the kitchen.

Sal Manfre, in a lovely section of Sanford outside the city proper, For many years, Vanore spent vactions in Sanford, so it was a natural choice to make. Learning to cook, and cook well, became a necessity when Vanore became a widower in 1973 and found himself with three sons to raise. Married to his high school sweetheart in 1954, their boys, James, Brian and Michael were quite young, "and," he says, "I had to learn how to cook, clean, and be a mother and a father. The boys certainly helped out. They all took care of their own rooms. and my little guy, who was only five at the time, would make his own breakfast. They can all cook. In fact, my oldest boy is quite a gourmet cook now."

Vanore continues to tell how good planning and cooperation helped a great deal during those years when a split shift on the police force left little time for food a week ahead of time," he says. "I'd have all the meals precooked, take it out of the freezer in the morning or when I went to work that evening, and I'd leave notes on what to do and the boys did it. One boy would put the oven on at five o'clock, the other boy would set the table, and then my other boy would clean up and do the dishes. And that's the way we learned. We all helped each other. That was the name of the

Brian and his wife, Wendy, are the parents of Elaine, almost 2, and baby Jacqueline born last November. "Michael is 20 now, and is on his own." Vanore adds. Sharing his life now is John's in 1976 when she was a bank teller in Palisades Park. During their dating days, Elaine grew to know John's sons well, and by the time they were married in 1978, the family ties were strong. Mrs. Vanore is also a grandmother thanks to her son, John, who has a little girl, Jamie, 7.

For the past ten years or so, the Vanores have been spending many pleasant vacations in Sanford at the home of their friends, Sal and Terry Manfre, while planning their own little piece of heaven complete with pool, garden and patio. "It was five years in the planning," says Vanore, "and we are still working on little details."

Our cook is a handy fellow to have around when things need fixing or rejuvenating. "That's my hobby." he says. "I can handle all kinds of tools - I can do everything except plumbing and electrical. I love building things." Stripping and re-finishing furniture is an art in itself, "if the wood is good," and Vanore's home is dotted with fine examples of his handlwork. "I did house painting, inside and out, for 32 years." he comments. "as a second job for pin money." Noting that a policeman's salary is often insufficient when raising a family. Vanore found a way to increase his income, "and I enjoy it," he says. "I enjoy handling tools and working around the house." A home workshop is being set up for all this handyman's specialties.

One of Vanore's talents is the servings. ability to make attractive conversation pieces from what most people would consider "trash." Together, the Vanores like to browse the garage sales and flea markets. "I'm a scavenger," he laughs. "an if there's anything worthwhile, I'll buy it." A perfect example of decorative scavenging is hanging on the wall of his comfortable living room — a glass encloed case of keys. The keys, of all shapes and sizes, were rusted and destined for the trash can when Vanore retrieved them, removed and the rust and gave each one a shiny new look. They are now an attractive addition to the decor.

As an amusing anecdote to the key saga, Vanore relates that he and his wife had purchased a beautiful curlo cabinet in San-ford, back in 1981, but it was locked and had so key. As luck would have it, one of the keys in his collection opened the cabinet! So now the two are mated and waiting for Vanore's talented hands to refinish the woodwork. The Vanore's home is very tastefully furnished with a hint of the Oriental.

Entertaining is almost second nature to the Vanores and an impromptu gathering of friends is not unusual at all. "I love company," says Vanore. "We just had a birthday party for a friend last Saturday night and we had chicken, rice, spareribe, sausages and peppers, cheese, wines, liqueurs - everything." Depending on the occasion, the Vanores often work together in the kitchen. Elaine's Czechoslovakian background adds interest to the menu when she makes some of her own specialties.

There is still much to be done while the Vanores continue to settle into their new community. but their plans for the future include traveling and just enjoying retirement with their precious pup, a Shepherd-Collie mix, named Keo. "I love this area," says Vanore, "because all my life I've been confined to a house with neighbors close by, congestion - and we agreed that whenever we built a home we would have space. That's what I like, space. I'm dying to start my vegetable garden. The weather is ideal. I had over 55 years of snow and I don't want any more. Just to enjoy what we worked all our lives for, that's what I want."

And while Sanford shares all its many attributes with new neighbors, Vanore also shares a little bit of his kitchen magic

Teen-Ager's Original Poem Has A Much-Recorded Past

DEAR ABBY: In reference to that charming poem you published titled "A Kiss Goodnight": As a dedicated record collector from way back, may I set the record straight? That poem supposedly authored by a 16-year-old girl is not original. It's an obvious steal from the song titled, "I Said My Pajamas and Put on My Pray'rs," written by Eddie Pola and George Wyle. It was popular in the late '40s and early '50s, and was recorded by Margaret Whiting and Frank De Vol. I have it on a 78 rpm Capitol record.

Since record companies stopped making 78s long before that 16-year-old girl was born, it's safe to assume that this ditty predates the young poet by several years.

I trust that this will be the vinvl word on the subject. GLEN BANKS, LONG BEACH

DEAR GLEN: Not quite. Other old-timers wrote to tell me that the hit song "I Said My Pray'rs was recorded 40 years ago by the following vocalists: Tony Martin, Fran Warren, Ethel Merman, Ray Bolger, Doris Day and Buddy Clark. And the mail is still coming in.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received a Christmas card on which the sender wrote a full page of past incidents, as we had not heard from her for more than 20 years. "George" and I have been married for 37 years, and he was engaged to this party before he met me.

Well, George wrote about the same amount on our Christmas card and sent it to her. I didn't see what he wrote because he didn't invite me to, which would have been OK had it ended right there. It didn't. The next week a letter from this woman came addressed to both of us, but it was never shown to me, so I didn't know what was in it. As a rule, George and I share all the mail, and when one of us writes, the other adds a few lines, so all of this sudden secrecy on George's part is very disturbing.

HEAVYHEARTED

DEAR HEAVYHEARTED: Since George refuses to discuss this problem with you, discuss it with your clergyperson, if you have one, or talk it over with a marriage counselor. (It would be better if George and you had counseling together, but a person who denies there's a problem is not about to spend time and money to solve a problem that doesn't exist.)

ago my husband had a stroke during carotid artery surgery. He was left without the use of his right arm and has damage to his right leg and ability to speak. We've heard of a spray that is applied to the affected limb, which is then manipulated to improve the range of motion. My husband's doctor and physical therapist have never heard of it. Have you?

DEAR READER - No. I haven't. Once a stroke has occurred, parts of the brain die and cannot be revived. Treatment is directed toward two goals: (1) training other nerves and muscles to take over the work of the damaged tissue, and (2) rehabilitation through range-of-motion exercises and physical therapy. Unfortunately, strokes can occur during (and after) surgery on either carotid artery, each of which supplies a primary source of circulation to the brain. Although strokes are a catastrophe for people who have them. patients can be helped by a well-planned program of physical/speech/occupational therapy.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three years ago (I'm 30) my doctor told me I had a heart murmur and mitral valve prolapse. Why would these show up all of a sudden? Are they progressive?

DEAR READER - Mitral prolapse is common in postadolescence, particularly among women. When prolapse occurs, one of the two portions of the mitral valve becomes loose and allows a jet of blood to be squirted backwards through the valve. Ordinarily, this is not dangerous. It can occur suddenly and cause a heart murmur or click (an extra sound between the two heart tones).

People with mitral valve prolapse can lead ordinary lives; the condition does not lead to heart disease. Nevertheless, such patients should be checked periodically by a doctor and should be given antibiotic coverage for dental work or other tests, like colonoscopy, that can release bacteria into the bloodstream.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Two years when I've sneezed, I've leaked a little urine. I'm a young woman and this condition is very em- women. barrassing. Is there anything I can do? DEAR READER - Sneezing raises the pressure in the abdomen. As a result of this sudden increase in pressure, gas can be expelled from the rectum or urine from the bladder. This reaction is common in healthy

In women who have had bables, occasional urine leakage is more pronounced because pregnancy and age tend to weaken bladder control. Check with a gynecologist. He or she will be able to instruct you in exercises that will improve your control over urine flow.

(c) 1987 by NEA, Inc. WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

What do you do when you have 10 cards in the trump suit between your hand and the dummy, and you are missing the king? The answer depends upon where you are playing - if you are in a vacuum, the right percentage play is to take the finesse; if you are at the bridge table, you may have very good reasons for knowing the finesse is not going to work.

West takes the king and ace of spades and switches to the king of diamonds. After you win the ace, what next? West likely has either the heart king or the club king. If he has both, you can win the heart finesse. If East has both kings, you can win the club finesse. But there is an obvious danger when these kings are divided - West may have the club and East the heart. In any event, you are going to have to take the club finesse, so do it right away. West wins the club king and tries to cash the diamond queen, but you trump. Now where is the king of hearts?

When you bid three hearts, would West have bid only three spades holding A-K of spades. K-Q of diamonds, the club king and also the heart king? Not likely. Turn to the other opponent. After his partner's opening bid, did East raise to two spades with the spade jack and nothing more? Once again, not likely. Maybe both adversaries violated sound bidding principles, but probably not. At this bridge table you should drop the singleton king of hearts in East's hand.

Coconut Flavors Variety Of Enticing Dishes

From the myriad lands of the Indian and South Pacific Oceans clear across the world to the Atlantic and the Caribbean, the noble coconut palm is the universal and graceful symbol of the beauty of the tropics.

But the coconut palm is more than just another pretty tree. It not only provides shelter and shade, it's a bountiful source of food and drink everywhere in the tropics. Especially in its fresh state.

When the coconut is very young, its flesh is very tender. like jelly, and its taste has an unusual fruitiness. You can eat it with a spoon. As it matures the flesh becomes firm but still moist. In addition to cutting it into chunks for eating out-ofhand, it's shredded for use in an endless variety of entleing dis-

Freshness Secret Of Original Fettucine Alfredo

By John DeMers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Everywhere Guido Bellanca goes, people ask him to taste their Fettucine Alfredo, perhaps even mixing in extra-generous portions of enriching cream and

The only trouble, according to Bellanca, is that neither ingredient is supposed to be there at all. And he can back up his argument with all the authority of Alfredo himself - three generations of Alfredos, in fact.

As founding president of a U.S. company called "Alfredo the Original of Rome," Bellanca spends much of his travel time dodging bad versions of the dish that made its creator famous beginning in 1914.

And while he is the first to admit that any restaurant - and indeed any fettucine - can legally call itself Alfredo, he hopes that diners will know enough about the real thing to know when it's set before them.

'Alfredo, after all, is just a name — just like Joe or Sam in America," said Bellanca, who continually commutes between his pair of official Alfredo's, one in the Citicorp complex in New York and the other at EPCOT Center in Orlando.

"But there can be only one original, and people will believe that when they taste our fettucine." Part of the difference, Bellanca says, is none too mysterious. The original Alfredo's (including the one still operated by the De Lelio family in Rome) uses the freshest and most expensive versions of each essential ingredient.

This applies to the wonderful homemade fettucine, cooked in the traditional (firm, not mushy) manner known as "al dente." It also applies to the Parmesan cheese, of which only the finest from Reggio Emilio will do.

Beyond fine ingredients and careful preparation, the rest is simplicity itself, though Bellanca does work a bit of magic with the pasta water that supplies the creaminess most often gotten from heavy cream and eggs.

As for those two ingredients, which seem mandatory in Fettucine Alfredo's around the world, Bellanca insists the additional fat is unnecessary - and they, simply but finally, were not part of Alfredo's recipe.

Accepting only authenticity is part of what Bellanca does as an enthusiastic diner - and a large part of what he does as a restaurant executive.

"Once in while, one of my sous chefs will say, 'Come on, this is America. What do Americans know about Italian food?," said Bellanca. "But you have to insist on the real thing, not just some combination of garlic and oregano.

With executive chef Angelo Ceranini (whose career included stints aboard the transatlantic liners Leonardo da Vinci and Michaelangelo).

Bellanca has built his two Alfredo's into a $12 million-per-year-enterprise.

The Citicorp restaurant opened its doors in May 1978, with the Orlando outlet following in 1982. According to Walt Disney executives, Alfredo's is by far the most popular restaurant in EPCOT's

Drop the fettucine in boiling salted water and cook until it rises to the surface, about 2 minutes. Quickly drain, place in a warm bowl in which half the softened butter has already been placed. Top with remaining butter and the measured Parmesan cheese.

Toss lightly using a fork and a spoon, about 2 minutes, until the fettucine is well coated and a creamy sauce has formed. A small amount of the hot salted water from the pasta can be added to the mixture to help achieve the desired con-

HOMEMADE FETTUCINE

1 cup semolina flour

1 cup all-purpose unbleached flour 2 cggs

1 Thap olive oil Pinch of salt

Combine the flours in a large ceramic bowl and mix well. Make a well in the center of the flour and put in the eggs, oil and sait. Using a fork, beat the whites of the eggs, then the yolks and other ingredients, into the flour. Work up to the rim and thoroughly incorporate the wet ingredients with the dry.

If the mixture is too dry, add a few drops of water. When combined, moisten hands with additional olive oil and work the dough, kneading and folding about 10 minutes, until almost smooth and pliable.

Keep on kneading 5 minutes longer, until dough is as smooth as you can make it. Because of the toughness of the semolina, kneading will be difficult, but keep going. Keep hands moistened with oil during the kneading process to help stretch the dough and make it pliable. Form into a ball, cover and let stand for 10 minutes to rest. Process through a pasta machine according to the manufacturer's directions, using the widest setting for the first rolling, the middle setting for the second rolling and the next-to-smallest setting for the final rolling.

Process through a fettucine cutter. Cover with a cloth away from any draft until ready to use.
