HIVE LIFE WITHIN A BEE

Three Classes of Individuals in Each Colony, Each Having Its Special Dutles to Perform.

In the honey bee we find so many and such remarkable instincts that it seems to me impossible that they could have been acquired by the process of evolution.

Three kinds of individuals exist in a colony of bees—the queen, whose sole work is to lay eggs; the drones, or males, whose only function is to fertilize the queen, and the workers, which are females undeveloped sex-

Only one queen is permitted to live in the colony at the same time, there being a mortal antipathy between the queens. The queen is continually guarded by a number of workers and her wants are carefully supplied. If two queens are in the same colony they enter combat, being urged by the workers, and fight till one stings the other to death.

When a young queen is ready to leave the cell in which she has been reared, she is not permitted to do so, but she is guarded by the workers until the old queen has abandoned the. hive with a swarm, and then she is permitted to leave the cell. When the queen has fully matured in her cell the workers cut away the wax from the end of the cell till it is an exceedingly thin film.

If the colony is deprived of its queen, the workers, after searching in vain for her, set to work to rear a new queen. For this purpose they select a larva that would develop into worker, remove some of the neighboring cells and construct for it a large vertical cell. By feeding this larva on royal jelly it becomes a

If two queens during combat acquire a position in which they might destroy each other, thus leaving the hive without a queen, they refrain from giving each other the mortal stroke.

When the swarming season is over the old queen is permitted by the workers to sting to death all the queens that are in the cells.

If the queen loses both her antennae she is unable properly to deposit her eggs, and the workers permit her to perish.

At the close of the swarming season all of the drones are killed by the workers. They are no longer needed, for the old queen has already been fertilized, and new drones can be reared in the following spring. Thus food is saved for the use of those bees alone that will be of future use to the

If they lose the queen when swarming they return to the hive they have left-seeming to realize that their efforts would be fruitless without a queen. If the hive has no queen the drones are permitted to live through the winter.

When the drones are destroyed the larvae and pupa which would produce drones are also destroyed. If pressed for food, a colony will attack a weaker colony or a hive without a queen, and, if the attack is successful, the vanquished colony joins the conquerors, thus strengthening the hive .- Alfred Fairhurst, A.M., in "Organic Evolution Considered."

■ 1 see my old friend Judge Stringfellow is again a candidate for Judge of the Sanford Court and I would like to inform him that being Leap Year he might profit by the example of the County Judge of St. Johns County Judge M. R. Cooper offers to provide a license free and to perform the ceremony free, providing the young lady in each case makes affidavit that she popped the question. Marriages haven't been so very many lately and Judge Cooper isn't going to let it be his fault if Leap Year goes by unheeded. And worst of all for the marriageable youths who are holding off, Judge Cooper says, if a young lady will make affidavit that she asked and was refused, he will give the hard-hearted suitor thirty days at hard labor on the roads, because he considers it a misdemeanor to thus violate the unwritten laws of tradition and custom.

And so it is entirely up to the girls, and the boys had best be careful. Judge Cooper's is good.

Sometimes in my wanderings around the city I happen to get in a crowd of young men congregated at one place or another and sometimes I hear talk that does not sound well. The young men are hardly aware of how it should appear to them if carried to their own homes and idle chatter can make a lot of mischief.

Remember this, young man. Be careful of how you speak of a woman's character. Think of how many years she has been building it, of the toil and privations endured, of the wounds received and let no suspicion follow her actions.

Her purity is the salvation of the race, the hope of future greatness and redemption of man. Wipe ont her purity and man sinks below the wave of dispair, with not a star to guide his life into the channels of safety.

Think then before you speak. Remember that any hog can root up the fairest can ruin the purest woman's reputation.

Sitting in Wise's Restaurant the other day I caught the following:

Two persons, a man and a woman-both evidently strangers, however-sat near me. She was a vegetarion, and glancing stomach.

 ■ Several times have I spoken about reckless driving of automobiles at night Tampa. and the utter disregard of the auto drivers for the horse and buggy. The other night Kissimmee. Dr. Robson had his horse injured and his buggy torn up by one of them. The Doctor was attending a patient and had his horse hitched on the street when a young driver dashes around the corner and rams into the rig smashing up everything and putting the horse out of commission for several weeks.

Since the first crude *sub-irrigation, installed in the fall of 1897, it has been evident to all thoughtful persons that in this favored locality the possibilities of great profits were practically certain, with anything like intelligent and economical management, and the extent to which development might reach almost limit-

The proof of this surrounds us on every hand; where scores of men have accumulated an independence, and some grown wealthy, less than ten years ago were working for wages or small salaries. It is the boast of many of these men that they started with nothing and had to learn the business besides. Yet, because of a shortsighted policy, the newcomer is warned not to undertake the same thing through which they have grown rich. The would-be purchaser is warned that the past two years were poor years, meaning poor prices, but one of them boasts of making five thousand dollars upon four and one-half acres in a single winter season, besides growing feed enough for his stock in the summer. The general incomes during these years would stagger the farmers in the states to the north of us, while the incomes this year almost exceed belief, even when the proof is submitted. However, "Florida Gardens" do not base their estimates upon these figures, easy of proof as they are. We only claim that, as a basis of safe investment, our improved farms must pay a dividend on $500 per acre net, and taxes. The average Delta farmer would not plant a crop unless he expected to make ten times as much. The average corn crop would pay the dividend at present prices, and leave the land from October to April for vegetables. Present prices are higher than ever before and many acres of celery have flower that ever grew. So, the vilest man paid 300 per cent on $500 instead of 7 per

About Corn Planting

BY A. P. SPENCER Many farmers plant more seed per acre than they expect will grow, because they know part of it will not germinate, and look forward to thinning out and replanting if necessary.

Seed corn of low germination will not give an even stand. Hence the vacant hills in many fields. It is best to avoid planting moldy or weevil eaten seed. One can select for seed heavy, well ripened cars of the type that-has best suited the locality. Then the butts and tips are shelled off and only the grain from the middle of the ears planted.

Ten per cent. of vacant hills will lower the yield from two to five bushels per acre. This applied to the corn crop of the entire state may be estimated at more than one million bushels loss on the 1912 crop of corn.

The seed should not be planted until the soil is well prepared. The whole field should be broken deeply and well worked. Much of the hoeing and weeding can be avoided by thorough cultivation before the seed is planted. Some moisture will be lost when it is most needed, and there will be an uneven distribution of the appled fertilizer if the soil is not thoroughly Scatter the fertilizer broadcast. The corn grows roots ten or more feet, and spread across from row to row. Cover the seed about four inches.

One cannot get the maximum yield of corn from well prepared soil that has been properly fertilized, if the rows are too far apart. The rows should be set four feet | Philadelphia, and was followed, sha apart with one stall every twelve inches declares, by a visitation from her in the row. This will give 10,890 plants dead uncle, John Scott, who urged per acre. Planting five feet apart and 15 | her to act upon the hint inches or more in the row, a common practice, gives 7,200 or fewer plants per acre. If the crop is frequently cultivated during its growth, and the soil well prepared as suggested above, there will not be much likelihood of "firing With more than 50 per cent, more plants we may usually expect a nearly corresponding increase in bushels of corn per sere-

Many bushels of corn are lost each year by too deep cultivation during the growing season. Every root cut off by a deep cultivator or plow injures the plant. The less of multitudes of fibrous roots at each of three or four deep plowings is very injurious to the crop, and results in a lower yield.

The weeder should start just as the corn is first coming through the ground loose will help the seeding plants to man pattern. A move for lightening of some tons of moisture from the soil Its use of the weeder should be contraged once a week or oftener, and espec tally after each rain until the crop is too high for its use. This not only saves the contained only thirteen surgeons and moisture for the crop's need, but destroys. the weeds immediately they appear above. the ground. One mun with a mule and computer, doing better and at less exprior than would be done by men with his to good policy to "by by" the constraint. It is better to keep the weeder. going as long as possible, and then cuitivate between the rows with a shallow working cultivator until the crop is about

When the crop of corn is about matured Districts or beggarweed may be planted between the rows. These are soil improving crops. They prevent the soil lessing, and add fertility and humus to benefit the succeeding crops, besides furnishing good forage for live stock.

There is usually a shortage of seed corn and consequently a demand for it just at planting time. This often necessitutes planting the best which happens to be on hand, good or bad.

Every farmer should prepare now to grow his seed for next year's crop. For this, one-balf an acre or more of the most fertile soil should be selected, some distance from the main grop. If the seed plot is too close to the main crop, crosspollination will occur, and the seed may be no better than good average seed from the main crop, as pollen is often carried twenty rods or more by the wind. Secure the best available seed for this plot from a reliable farmer or seedsman; or if none suitable can be purchased, select the best ears on hand (one gallon of shelled corn will be sufficient for half an acre) to secure a uniform type suitable to the soil and locality.

A pipe with a history is to be offered for sale in London. It was once the property of Sir Walter Raleigh and is not unlike the letter "Y" in shape and for centuries now has had its home in an ancient inlaid box dated Anno 1527 It is constructed in four pieces of wood, rudely carved with dogs heads and with the faces of red Indians

On the bowl there is a cap about as large as the bowl itself, and at tached to the stem is a string of beads made of the same wood as the pipe. In this stem a powerful whise tle has been cut, and the suggestion is that Sir Walter Raleigh med it to summon his servants.

The Archaeological Society exhibits ed it at the Guildhall in the '50s of the last century, the inscription accompanying it bearing these words; The original pipe of the above celebrated Historian of the World, and who first introduced 'tobacco and potatoes' into England Tradition (corroborated by a parchment in the possession of the owner) states that this pipo was used by Sir Walter Raleigh on the scaffold just previous to his execution and handed to one of him relatives as a memento of him."--London Telegraph.

Resolutions of Democratic Executive Committee of Orange County

- Whereas, on January 20, 1912, the Democratic Executive Committee of Osceola County, by resolution, called to the attention of the good Democrats of Orange County an alleged agreement or custom of dividing the Schatorship of the 19th District equally between the two counties, and expressed the belief that the patriots of Orange county democracy would not suffer this cause to be broken at the present time and then proceeded to endorse a candidate for Senator Therefore, be it

Resouved, by the Democratic Executive Committee of Orange County, assembled February 17, 1912

- 1. That this committee knows of no agreement or custom by any competent authority by which the terms of the senators from this district must be equally divided between Orange and Osceola counties. The equal term given to the last senator from Osceola county was because of the services and record of Senator C. A. Carson, and, being personal to him, is not to be construed as an admission by the Orange County democracy that the senatorial terms are to alternate equally without regard to the merits of the
- 2. That in the *opinion of this committee, the democratic voters of the 19th district should elect their senator according to their estimate of the fitness of the respective candidates.
- 3. That the democratic voters of the district will nominate a candidate for Senator in a primary held in this county regardless of place of residence under the auspices of this committee, which is the judge of the returns in this county. It would therefore, be improper for this committee, under such circumstances to endorse any candidate.

STAND BY THE EXCHANGE

Manager Temple of the Citrus Exchange has retired to his Orange county home after his strengous duties, and announces that he is tired and disgusted at the lack of appreciation evinced by the majority of the growers who, while they recognize the value of the Exchange, and expect to realize a benefit from it indirectly would stand on the outside and want the Exchange to hold the umbrella over them.

We can sympathize with Mr. Temple. His lot has been cast, like the newspaper man's, in queer places and where no symnathy or credit is ever given.

Our own exchange, the Florida Vegetable Association is going through the same trying ordeal-that of attempting to convince the grower that he ought to be saved when the grower has known the truth of the situation, for the past five years. Working with a ceaseless energy and activity, without compensation, the heads of the Association have labored long and earnestly with the people of this section to convince them that in unity was their only salvation.

The truth has been driven bome to them time and again. They realize it and know it but persist in standing in the rain and wanting the Exchange umbrellaheld over them and refuse to pay rent for the umbrella. Keep at it, gentlement

Nothing was ever accomplished in the world that was won without trials and tribulations, and The Herald will be your ally at the dawn of your prosperity, and success, just as it was in your first days of struggle; and the day of your success is not far distant, for, the most virile scoffer will admit that the Florida Vegetable Growers' Association has already saved the day for the growers in many ways, too humerous to mention.

The Exchange has come to stay, and the season of 1912 will witness a stronger following than ever arrayed on their side. They are too strong now to even hint at failure, and though wearied by their labors, the leaders will not desert in the hour of triumph, when greater things are expected of them.

NOW FOR THE EVERGLADES

All this Everglades talk has been

Frank Clark for two weeks has been assailed and smote hip and thigh by the opposition papers because he would not leave the investigation at Washington and come down here to bicker -ith Hilburn and Burr. They said he was afraid to meet these gentlemen and face the 1032 charges that they had made against him. He finally left Washington came to Florida and has opened his campaign and now these same papers cry that he is neglecting his duties by coming to Florida and explaining his position regarding the Everglades.

This question will certainly be well threshed out before the campaign is ended and the point made by Clark in the beginning will be made apparent.

That the Everglades dramage is feasible and is a good project if fostered and protected by the state of Plorida.

If however it is allowed to fall into the bands of the land fakirs and false claims made to sell the land, these claims should be investigated and made public, which ts now being done.

Bothrick of Ohio was forced to start an investigation because hundreds of his constituents had been bamboozled by fake land sales in the Everglades.

The Everglades when drained will be all right. The same can be said of the greater part of Florida. The Everglades are no gold mine just turned over for the inspection of the public. The drainage idea for Florida lands dates back hundreds of years and there is no reason why the Everglades and the whole state of Florida should not be investigated if a single man has been awindled. Let the investigation proceed and let Frank Clark tell about it and let his opponents tell their side of the story.

The tale will be a rare one and all of will feel better when the matter has been sifted to the bottom and Frank Clark will not be defeated simply because he wants the public to know the truth about the operation of land sharks in the Everglades lands.

The new melting house will be the most complete in the world. It is much larger than the existing one, and is to contain, ten furnaces, all heated by gas. The present melting winter, and, incidentally, to buy property house has only four such furnaces. Gas furnaces alone are now used at the royal mint for the melting down of precious metal, coke furnaces having been finally banished in March last. No less an amount than £80,-000,000 worth of gold has been melted down by gas since the special furnaces were introduced.

Many experiments were carried out before gas was accepted as the best medium for the melting. in connection with the tests Mr. Rigg, the superintendent of the operative department, paid a number of visits to factories in London and the country and made a tour in Canada and the United States with the object of obtaining evidence as to the value of gas as a fuel. At length a special type of furnace was designed by officials at the mint, and a gas burner made by Mr. 8. N. Brayshow, of Manchester, was adopted.

BYRON HAD LITERARY AGENT

Author's Representative Not New Invention for the Torment of Publishers.

Much has been written lately about literary agents, as if they were a new invention of the Evil One for the torment of publishers. But in looking over Byron's letters the following one shows clearly enough that the first John Murray, who published for Bryon, had to cope with nuthors' representatives just as the third and fourth John Murrays do today-and, by the way, John Murray IV, who is an active and pleasing young man is taking more and more of the burden of his father's business. Here is Byron's letter to John 1:

"Can't accept your courteous offer. These matters must be arranged with Mr. Douglas Kinnaird. He is my truscan state all your mercantile reasons. which you might not like to state to me personally, such as 'beavy season.' 'flat public,' 'don't go off,' 'lordship writes too much,' 'won't take advice,' 'declining popularity,' 'deduction for the trade,' 'make very little,' 'generally lose by him.' 'pirated edition,' 'foreign edition,' 'severe criticisms,' etc., with other hints and howls for an oration. which I leave Douglas, who is an orator, to answer.

Smith's Sacrifice in Fond Hope of Keeping Wife From Knowledge of His Misdeeds.

Miss Mary Scott Lawson of the National Woman Suffrage association denied at a luncheon in New York that the suffrage in the west was tending to destroy the home.

"No, no," she said. "Look at the suffrage states-how close together they lie. Well, do you think the men of Colorado would have given their women the vote if the vote's effect in Wyoming had been rulnous?

"Wrong will out, you know. Wyoming, if she had trouble, couldn't conceal it. If we do wrong, we are sure, despite our efforts, to be discovered and punished. It is like the case of Smith.

"Smith one New Year's day spent the time from luncheon to dinner in thinking up and entering in his diary a set of resolutions. He made something like fifty resolutions. What a rosy year lay before him if he only observed them all-and he knew he

"But Brown called, after dinner, to take Smith to the club, and from the club poor, weak, unstable Smith didn't return till-think of it!-till six in the morning.

"Jaded and stale, he took off his boots on the icy marble doorstep, he let himself in softly and he stole in silence upstairs to bed.

"His wife slept. He began to undress; but in unbottoning his collar he made a crackling sound, and she stirred, and, looking at him in the dim light, she said:

"Why, what are you George?"

"He remembered the pride she had shown in his fifty resolutions; he hadn't the heart to reveal the truth to her; so he said: "I'm getting up."

"But what are you getting up so early for?

"Tired as he was, he assumed tone of cheery energy.

"'Don't you remember my resolu; tions? he cried. One of them is to get up early every morning and earn 5 before breakfast.

"And he buttoned his collar again, drew on his coat and waistcoat and boots and went-forth with reluctant steps into the gray light of the cold. and dreary winter morning.

"But his wife, nestled in her warm bed, laughed a little cruelly before she went off to sleep again."-New York

Light Househospers, Take Notice

The Ladies of the Missionary Society of the Congregational church will have a sale of jellies, cooked food, vegetables, etc., at Crippen's Music Store, next Saturday, March 23rd., to which the attention of Sanford's house housekeepers is directed. Visitors in the city who are doing light bousekeeping, will find at this sale just the articles that they want.

Missionary Society

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held their regular meeting, at the residence of Mrs. Henry McLaulin; Friday evening. The topic considered was Mexico. The members of the society are perfecting their arrangements to entertain the delegates from the various societies, composing the Presbyterian Missionary Union, of the St. John's Presbytery, which will meet with the Sanford society March 28th, and will continue in session three days. About forty delegates are expected. After the business of the meeting had been concluded, the election of officers tolk place. Birthday Dinner

Another milestone, on the journey of life, was most charmingly noted, for W. J. Hill by a delightful birthday dinner, with which Mrs. Hill surprised him Friday evening; on the occasion of his seventiath birthday.

The pleasant home party, and invited guests, who enjoyed the delicious fourcourse dinner served as only Mrs. Hill can serve a dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Hill, their daughter and her hosband, Mr. and Mrs, Robert Newman, Billie Hill and little Olive Newman; Mr. E. W. Styles, Mrs. Hill's brother, and his wife; Mrs. W. W. Long: Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Puleston.

After the dinner had been enjoyed, the party spent a pleasant evening together; delightfully entertained by the instrumental music and songs, charmingly rendered by Misa Stumon and Clarence Mahoney.

Every Week Bridge Club

Mrs. W. D. Holden was the charming hostess of the Every Week Bridge Club Friday afternoon. The decorations were green and white, suggestive of St. Patrick's Day. The tally cards were green, decorated with tiny green flags. Three tables of bridge were played. The first prize, a silver spoon, was won by Mrs. Lawrence, who made the highest score, Mrs. Cruse Barnes received the booby prize, a hand embroidered linen towel.

After the conclusion of the games of cards delicious (ce cream and cake were served, with bonbons in little opers hats, decorated with green ribbon bands with bows and miniature pipes on the crowns.

Mrs. Holden's guests were Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. O. W. Brody, Mrs. R. L. Hughes, Mrs. H.P. Driver, Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. C. E. Bell, Mrs. Cruse Barnes, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Miss. Wilson, Miss Fuddy, Miss Mell Whitner.

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurrled Readers

All the mines in the bituminous fields Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, will shut down on April 1 and 200,000 miners will quit at least for two weeks, according to the operators and miners' union officials who conferred at Cleveland this week. It will not be a strike they say, but merely a suspension of operations pending negotiations for a two-year wage scale to follow the present one, which expires March 31. As the alleged discovery by the government of Nicaragua of a plot to assassinate Secretary of State Knox on the occasion of his recent visit to the capital of that country, it is not improbable that a numprominent "Liberala" be put to death, according to mail advices received from Bluefields.

Immediate indictment of Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace was asked of the Atlanta public prosecutor by attorneys for Eugene H. Grace, her husband of the husband of the woman accused of shooting him. She is on her way to her former home in Philadelphia, having been released on bond yesterday. The prosecutor refused to make any move in the case, explaining that it was a matter for the judge who admitted her to bail. The request was made, it is understood, to affect the arrest of Mrs. Grace on her arrival in Philadelphia, and head off any possible tangles should Grace die while she is out of the State.

Dinner Club

A very delightful and unique dinner club has been organized by a number of young ladies living in the same neighborhood. The hostess for the occasion makes out the menu, and each dish that is to be prepared is written out with the recipe with which to prepare it, and the members of the club each draw one of the papers. The name of the article drawn is to be prepared by the accompanying recipe, and taken to the home of the hostess the evening of the dinner party. It is the idea to use as nearly as possible all new and untried recipes.

Monday evening last a delicious three course dinner was enjoyed by the club, prepared in this way, at the home of the Chas. I. Mordock, of the Chicago offices Misses Ward. The club dinner will be given next Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. B. Lawson.
