

Body Chemistry

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK — A newly learned trick in body chemistry rescues the defenders against disease after they've been laid very low—which is not only a very neat trick but one which has life-saving possibilities for people.

These defenders are our scavenger cells, the phagocytes, which consume and digest foreign substances that could sicken and end up killing us if these phagocytes weren't both energetic and exceedingly devoted to duty.

Ordinarily there is peaceful co-existence if not quiet cooperation between them and the potent chemicals which come out of the adrenal glands — cortisone and its related hormones.

That goes, too, for their relations with hormones of other glands, especially those which, depending upon the abundance of production, are responsible for characteristic contours and features of men and women.

Effect Like Magic

Bodily things that were that way until it was discovered that when the body's normal supply of cortisone was increased from the outside, the effect upon inflammatory processes, like arthritis, was like magic.

Cortisone and its chemical derivatives become "miracle drugs." Chemists learned how to make them, in factories, and so suffering mankind was no longer dependent on animal bodies as sources of supply.

Then it was discovered that some people not in all people, mind heavy doses over a considerable time, laid the phagocytes very low. With the body defenders stymied, infections got going at a galloping pace.

Tuberculosis, for instance, and pneumonia, becoming bacteria which had been held in check by busy little phagocytes, suddenly became like the avalanche and an inflammatory process was reversed but the patient died.

That made cortisone and its derivatives, chemicals worthy of the most profound respect. They remained "miracle drugs" in the full sense of the word—but their use became matters for high skill and keen vigilance.

Biochemists Learn Tricks

Now, comes the trick learned by two biochemists, T. Nicol and D. I. J. Bibby, of King College, London. They took a laboratory-manufactured replica chemically speaking of one of the hormones manufactured in abundance by female bodies, which assist in making women feminine.

With techniques too complicated here, they found out what was the normal phagocytic activity in the bodies of male white mice. The average phagocytic activity index was 24.

Some of the mice were injected daily with heavy doses of cortisone for one week. Their phagocytic activity index sank to 7, which was more than enough to put them in grave peril from any infection which might be around.

Then they were injected daily with the synthetic female hormone, and their phagocytic activity index went up to 48—that is well above what it had been before there was any interference with their body chemistry.

Some mice were not injected with cortisone but were with the female hormone. Their index went up from the normal 24 to 108 which—in the dry words of the scientists—"indicated marked stimulation of phagocytic activity."

The next step is in finding out if what happened in mouse chemistry will happen in human chemistry. The scientists suggested it in their report in the technical journal, "Nature."

Fox maintained that "he be caught in a plan to benefit Orange County alone is a shame. This problem now is a county one—for revenue or the lack of it. If you men go along it will mean a lot."

Eggers told the commissioners and delegation that the proposed route has stalemated the sale of homes and homesites for the present time.

Senator Stenstrom advised that "the point now is procedure. I'd like to see the route moved. The County Commission, now in session, could instruct its engineer to make the survey and recommend to the board a route, the delegation will offer its support."

The Board of Commissioners approved the study by its engineer.

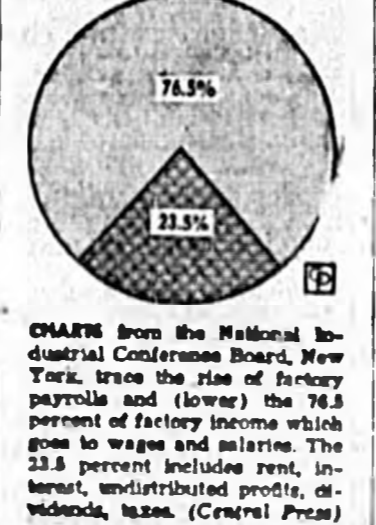

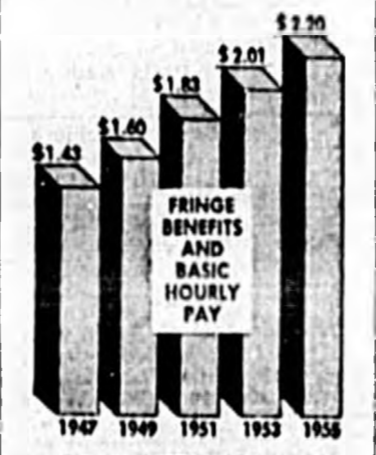

Commissioner Kridy stated that meeting of the Long Range Highway Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will be attempted on June 23. "We will try to get Road Board Members William A. Dial and District Engineer Richie Green to the meeting to talk over the proposal," he said.

Engineer Hagar told the board that sketches of the route would be available for the meeting.

POLICE property clerk Thomas Rossett sorts some of the $174,800 in bills found in the Station Island, N. Jaycees Reveal Plans To Build New Tourist Information Building

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce announced plans today to build a new Tourist Information Building. The announcement was made at the noon luncheon meeting of the Jaycee organization. The proposed new building, according to today's announcement, will be constructed on a site yet to be selected and obtained. Discussions have been conducted on the question for several months, according to M. L. Heborn Jr., president of the Jaycee group. However, the matter was brought before the Board of Directors of the local Jaycee organization at a meeting held Tuesday night. The proposal to change the location and undertake the construction of the project met the unanimous approval of the directors.

Top News In Brief

WASHINGTON — U.S. disarmament policy has undergone a January-to-June modification on suspending nuclear tests and halting nuclear weapons production, officials disclosed today.

Man Slips Into Hospital Room, Kills Ex-Wife

AMERICUS, Ga. — John Ray Tyler, 38, whose wife recently divorced him, slipped into her third story hospital room today, shot her to death and injured a nurse who tried to restrain him. Three shots rang out in the sleep-quiet hospital about 5:30 a. m. Two bullets entered the body of Tyler's wife, who was hospitalized Wednesday after she fainted during a hearing concerning her ex-husband. She died an hour later from wounds in the head and leg.

2 Local Guardsmen To Enter 6 Months Active Duty Sunday

Private Irvin E. Estridge III and Ronald F. Anderson will enter upon six months active duty under the Armed Forces Reserve Program Sunday, June 23. It was announced today. The two men are members of Company "B", 154th Armored Infantry Battalion, the Sanford National Guard unit. After their active duty training they will return to the local unit and attend weekly training periods.

Manager Knows Says City Will Be Proud Of Market

Plans for the new Sanford State Farmers' Market indicate that it will be of good construction, City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the Board of Sanford City Commissioners at its last meeting. Knowles revealed to the board that he has seen the construction plans and has gone over them thoroughly. He said the new building will have a poured gypsum roof, concrete footings, concrete block walls and a cantilever type roof.

Truck Turns Over Yesterday On 46; Loaded With Cattle

A truck loaded with cattle traveling east on State Road 46, 4 miles west of Sanford, turned over on its side just after it rounded an S curve. Ed Cowan, Seminole County Deputy Sheriff, said that the approximately 18 tons of cattle shifted weight as the truck came around a curve causing the huge trailer to turn over carrying the tractor with it.

Commission Again Considers Matter Of Park Supervisor

Possibilities that Seminole County will have a Park Superintendent loomed high Tuesday when the question of supervision for the six parks and areas came before the Board of Commissioners. "Big Tree Park is a disgrace to the County," said Commissioner Lawrence Swofford who has constantly been a foe of the present operation of the lone county attraction.

Stassen Presents New U.S. 'Half-Way' Plan

LONDON — U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen today began presenting to the London disarmament conference a new "half-way" plan for cutting military manpower and mothballing conventional weapons. But puzzled Allied reaction to President Eisenhower's statement on halting nuclear tests indicated the Western powers still have not agreed on their "first step" toward control of atomic arms.

Board Says County Has Money Trouble

Seminole County is in trouble — moneywise — according to members of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners. The fact came out at the last commissioners meeting when Commissioner Lawrence Swofford of Altamonte Springs stated "The county is in trouble."

Commissioner Again Considers Matter Of Park Supervisor

Commissioner B. C. Dodd admitted "I don't see how we can struggle along much longer without more money for roads—we've got to get money from somewhere." Commissioner Swofford complained that the county doesn't have enough equipment to keep up its road work.

Commission Says 'Clean Up Lots'

The City of Sanford is again making war against property owners who allow city lots to grow up in weeds. "There's an ordinance on the books to take care of such conditions," one commissioner stated. "I'd like to go on record right now" favoring the enforcement of the ordinance, City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said.

Commissioner Says 'Clean Up Lots'

Commissioner Merle Warner condemned the unsightly appearance of the properties that were allowed to go unattended. Reports were made on the bills passed by the recently adjourned legislature and the problems confronting the lawmakers in trying to meet the apparently unending demands for money. The Seminole county delegation of Senator Douglas Stenstrom and Representative Mack Cleveland and Representative Gordon Frederick were complimented for the alert and thoughtful diligence that characterized their work in the two legislative houses.

Radio TV

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (AP)—TV actors have checked the Marlon Brando type symptoms: T-shirt, beer, 4-8-8-8—under—the skin for the Ivy League type symptoms: Natural shoulder suit, martini, Jaguar in the garage.

And Marlon Dougherty is glad. Miss Dougherty, 34, is casting director of NBS—TV's "Kraft Theatre," a position she has held for seven years. She's the gal who picks the actors and actresses for each Kraft drama and, as such, she crosses swords with hundreds of aspiring youngsters each year.

"We've entered a new era," proclaimed Miss Dougherty with evident enthusiasm. "The great unraveling seems to be dying. One actor actually apologized the other day when he came in wearing a pair of blue jeans."

Lasted Two Years According to Miss Dougherty, a keen student of the curious ways of actors, the Marlon Brando era lasted about two years.

"The boys came in, wearing T-shirts—preferably open, if they had any hair on neck, chests—feats, rumped hair and sneakers, usually with holes in them.

"They were muscular types and came in looking like Stanley Kowalski even when they were supposed to read for dignified parts. They usually mumbled.

"This was about the time when young actresses were imitating Geraldine Page. They were all hesitant, quiet and tried to copy the inflections of her speech."

For a while, too, said Miss Dougherty, there was a brief vogue for the Jimmy Dean type. But that has just about run its course, too.

"For a while there, everybody seems to be whispering at me. I could barely hear anybody. And all of them were introverted and

Humans Can Help In less than a week five recordings were put out, and a month later real, live, human-being-type artists performed it on the ABC network.

But the Library of Congress declined to issue a copyright on "Push Button Bertha." It had never been confronted before with a piece of music composed by a machine.

In the case of "Push Button Bertha" the tune had the benefit of human performers. But it could be played on electronic sound-making devices. This would remove it wholly from connection with human beings—except, of course, the mathematicians.

It makes its selections from quantities of information which has been stored in its magnetic drum, or core storage unit, the machine's internal memory.

It takes a music orchestration that Klein feels the computer will be in "its true realm." He says "it will be possible to write orchestrations for full orchestra on a computer in less than a minute."

It takes a human expert "about three days to arrange a piece of popular music for an orchestra."

Bill Holden Likes Antique Sculpture

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — William Holden, movietown's No. 1 tourist, is one actor who's made a second profession of buying home "souvenirs" — a valuable collection of antique sculpture. Holden has chalked up seven long trips overseas, and just finished his second to the world. From these journeys he's brought back sculpture, pots, masks and other art objects, and now ranks among the top art collectors of Hollywood.

Holden concentrates on ancient sculpture. And while most other collectors buy their art objects at U. S. art galleries, the actor brings his home from his travels, "and that's part of the excitement."

Concentrates On Figures
"One has to have some degree of funk man in his blood to be willing to litter up his property," Holden confessed, as he led a tour of his possessions. "Billy Wilder influenced me to begin my collection. I decided the coming appreciation of art will be in figures, not paintings because modern homes are good settings for sculpture. You can't hang paintings on glass."

Holden's collection fills both his home and his dressing room office at Paramount Studio. In his home is a 2,500-year-old Egyptian head, a Buddha head from Siam and pottery from ancient Greece. At first he says, his children grinned at his purchases "but now they are starting to collect, too."

Most Recent Purchase
During our tour his secretary unpacked his most recent purchase, 650 bc. Greek wine jugs. They were purchased on his round-the-world trip that began when he went to Ceylon to star in "The Bridge On The River Kwai" for independent producer Sam Spiegel.

In fact, on movie locations Holden is off between scenes shopping. While in China for "Love Is A Many — Splendored Thing" he bought a Chinese horse of the Tang dynasty. He picked up Mayan sculpture while acting in "Boots Malone" in Mexico and the free trip to Japan for "The Bridges Of Toko-ri" gave him a chance to buy old figures of Kabuki dancers.

"I buy to satisfy my heart, not as an investment," Holden said. "These things satisfy an artistic expression for me, and they stir my imagination. I look at them and love over again the beauty of the country they came from."

The Cereus

(Author Unknown)
Night-blooming cereus, when soft mystic
Darkness broods o'er,
When slow white petals part,
And your great golden heart
Opens its door,
Oh, lovely wonder-flower, born
For one perfect hour,
Pray tell me why?
Why do you struggle so, labor
To bud and grow,
Bloom, but to die?
What of long, growing years,
Thriving of stubborn spurs,
Slow, creeping stem,
Does the one night of blue, under
The moonbeam's kiss,
Pay you for them?
Queen of the starlet hours, when
All the drowsy flowers
Secretly adore,
Does this brief paradise, glimpsed
By our mortal eyes,
Settle the score?
Wider your petals spread, high
Lifts your lovely head—
The hour grows late,
Faint perfume, happiness seals
To us who wait
Now, ere the moon is gone,
And the swift tropic dawn
Reddens the sky
We hear you whispering, "I've Done one perfect thing:
Now, let me die."

Over 1,000 Making 'Decisions' Are Roman Catholics

NEW YORK — More than 1,000 of the 20,000 persons who have made "decisions for Christ" after hearing Billy Graham's Madison Square Garden sermons have been Roman Catholics, it was learned today.

A spokesman for the Billy Graham New York Crusade told the United Press that "Speaking very, very conservatively, at least one in every 20 'inquirers' have been Catholics."

More than half the Roman Catholics who have made "decisions" have indicated they wish to affiliate with some Protestant denomination, the spokesman said.

The remainder "for the most part have simply said that making decisions for Christ will help them become better Catholics," according to the spokesman.

Catholics have been warned by some priests that mere attendance at a Graham sermon is forbidden by church doctrine.

State Beef Council OK's Ad Campaign

A state-wide newspaper advertising campaign has been approved by the Florida Beef Council. At a meeting in Clearwater this week, the Beef Council voted unanimously to begin the newspaper ad campaign the first week in July.

The advertisements will urge homemakers to serve beef often and remind them that beef is "nutritious, flavorful and good for eating."

Ads will run in the All-Florida Magazine, a weekend supplement carried by 21 state newspapers, including The Sanford Herald. Ads will also appear on the food pages of the Tampa Tribune, the Jacksonville Times-Union and the Miami Herald.

FATHERS TO GET WELFARE

DES MOINES, Iowa — A new Iowa Board of Social Welfare will send checks to the father instead of the mother in the aid to dependent children program.
Mrs. Mary Hunkle, board member, said many families are on welfare rolls because the women don't know how to manage their household budgets.

CAPT. JOE KITTINGER, 28, checks equipment in the aluminum gondola that carried him to an altitude record of 94,000 feet — 18 miles into the stratosphere over St. Paul, Minn. A giant plastic balloon carried Kittinger aloft; he held him at the peak for two hours and then brought his down 80 miles from the take-off point. The Air Force now plans to make a 100,000-foot ascent.

CHICAGO — Two 17-year-old girls working in a local ice cream parlor think their boss is a good date.

The girls, Rosa Turner and Sharon Anderson, wear roller skates on the job because "it makes it easier to get from the chocolate to the vanilla." The boss never has complained.

SON SAYS FATHER SPEECH TOO MUCH

WASHINGTON — Son, Frank Church, 18, said his son Wednesday if he would come to hear him read a 20-page speech he had prepared on the Hells Canyon Dam.
"It's too much," said 8-year-old Frank Jr. "I'm going swimming."

Child Labor Law Provisions Told

JACKSONVILLE — Firms that hire teen-agers for summer jobs can remain in compliance with the federal child-labor law by applying some simple rules, says Henry W. Ford of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

"Boys and girls of 16 and 17, just like adult workers, can be legally employed in practically all jobs under the Fair Labor Standards Act, while a large number of jobs are open to children of 14 and 15 under certain limitations."

Only jobs not to be held by 14 and 17-year-olds are those which have been found hazardous. Ford explains that these include work as a motor vehicle driver or driver's helper, elevator operator and jobs involving riding on a freight elevator, unless it is run by an assigned operator. Also designated as hazardous—limiting employment to those over 18—are most jobs in logging and sawmilling, and the operation of a variety of power-driven machines. Boys and girls 14 and 15 may be employed in office and sales work, in fruit and vegetable packing sheds, and in some other kinds of jobs—as long as they do not work in rooms where goods are manufactured or processed, or in manufacturing, mining, processing, or similar jobs. These younger children are not permitted to work more than 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week during vacation time, or at night between the hours of 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. at any time.

No restrictions—hours or otherwise—apply to 16 and 17-year-olds except employment in those jobs already found to be hazardous. At these ages they may work in factories, warehouses, and in all types of industry.

Employers who get and keep on file an age certificate which shows that the younger worker is at least the lawful age for the job have proof of age for purposes of the law, Ford said. Age certificates can be obtained from local school authorities.

The federal child labor law—the Fair Labor Standards Act—applies to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce, and in establishments which produce goods for such commerce. There are some exemptions from these provisions, however.

Mr. Ford points out that one of the child labor exemptions permits youngsters of any age to work as newspaper carriers.

More information about the federal law's child labor provisions may be obtained from the Division's regional office at 1601 South 20th Street, Birmingham, or from the field office at 336 U. S. Post Office and Court House in Jacksonville.

Mr. Ford added that where state and federal child labor standards differ, the higher prevail.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Medical Assn. Head Urges Return To American Ideals Of Freedom

Early this month, Dr. David B. Allman was inaugurated as the new president of the American Medical Association. His inaugural address bore an unusual title—"The Personality of Medicine." Its emphasis is on the fact that it is the responsibility of physicians today to minister not only to the human body and its ills—but also to human hearts, minds and emotions.

Sympathy and understanding on the part of the doctor, in Dr. Allman's view, are just as important as scientific knowledge. He must blend science with art, and he must be both scientist and humanitarian—"He knows that all the scientific training in the world cannot dry up the milk of human kindness."

This is not easy, as Dr. Allman makes abundantly clear. The physician is literally fighting against the very secrets of life. He can postpone death but he cannot eliminate it. So he is constantly striving for a balance between personal human values; scientific realities and the inevitability of God's will.

Dr. Allman believes that the doctor has the main responsibility in seeking to establish a warm and friendly relationship between the patient and himself. There must be all possible understanding and cooperation on both sides. Yet the doctor is always confronted with a hard fact—that sometimes he will be helpless, that there is nothing in medicine science to prevent death or disability. Most doctors are dedicated men and when this happens the strain is heavy. But Dr. Allman writes, he cannot brood and . . . beat his head against the wall of what might-have-been." The demands of his profession continue—the obligations of all his other patients are still there and must be kept uppermost in his mind.

This indicates why Dr. Allman has found that the most difficult decisions a doctor makes are not on the scientific side of medicine. His training and experience tell him what to do in an emergency, what medicine to prescribe, whether to operate or not. So, "His most agonizing decisions lie in the field of human relations." Dr. Allman quotes from a journal left to the son of a doctor who himself died very young: "You will be blessed or cursed with an insight which few persons receive—the knowledge of length of life, of when and why . . . and worse, how . . . a peep-son will die: painful or painless, fearless or fearful, weak or strong. Knowing these facts, you will have to decide how to tell a person or his family what is coming. Have you got the guts to do it? If not, get out now." And Dr. Allman adds, "There are no textbooks, no rules of thumb, no easy yardsticks governing such matters of human heartbreak."

In closing his impressive talk, Dr. Allman warns against rigid ideologies or systems which bury individuals in the mass—and against "quack remedies" both in medicine and in public affairs. The need of today, as he sees it, is . . . for a new revolution—a revolution against opportunism, expediency and materialism—a return to the original American ideals of freedom, personal responsibility, individual initiative and, above all, faith in God.

Mr. Motorist, Watch For Children

When school let out a few days ago, children scattered over the community like seeds from a bursting pod. Their exuberance hurled them pell-mell into the wonderful world of vacation. They are inclined to run and gambol without looking, just for the sake of joyous motion.

In this excess of vitality, children often forget the vital distinction between sidewalks and streets. They are as likely as not to dash across a thoroughfare with no more than a casual glance for traffic. That places a special obligation on the motorist. Even in the middle of the school year, when children are far less likely to be darting out into the street, every driver with the slightest bump of social consciousness keeps a sharp lookout for them. That lookout should be redoubled at this time of year. Schools out, children are behaving gaily, erratically, unpredictably—that is, they're acting like children.

Mr. Motorist, keep your eyes peeled.

Try and Stop Me

LIKE ALL SIX-YEAR-OLDS, Peter abhorred washing, and came to the dinner table one evening with elbows black as pitch. Sent back to the bathroom for repairs, he dawdled there so long that his mother called, "How are you coming, Pete? Elbows clean yet?"

"Not clean," he called back triumphantly, "but I got them to match."

The father-to-be had run the entire gamut of emotion in the hospital corridor, and was a veritable wreck when the nurse popped in to tell him happily, "It's a girl!" "Thank heaven!" gasped the father, with tears streaming down his face. "Thank heaven my daughter will never have to undergo the torture I've just experienced!"

Herlong Reports

We spend a lot of money advertising Florida but I wonder if you realize the terrific promotion job done by the school boys and girls who make visits to other parts of the country and particularly to Washington.

There have been many groups here in the last three months, and just recently I welcomed the St. Augustine boys patrol, classes from Umatilla, Kissis and Mount Dora, and the Mainland High School Glee Club of Daytona Beach.

I am quite proud of the way these boys and girls represent our state away from home. The Mainland Glee Club was magnificent in its two performances here. The approximately 90 youngsters gave concerts for patients at Walter Reed Army Hospital and at the Watergate theater, where they occupied the stage with the famous U. S. Army Band of Fort Myer, Va.

These Mainland youngsters covered themselves with glory. I wrote Governor LeRoy Collins that "these never were better ambassadors from Florida than these splendid young people. They were a real credit to Florida, and of course I was doubly proud that they were from my District."

The Glee Club was warmly welcomed at the Watergate. The patients frequently grew restless and left in the middle of concerts and that I could expect such a walkout. But this time no. A one act; these boys, many on crutches, rose from their seats to give these youngsters a stirring ovation when the performance was over. And to top it off, that when the club sang at the Watergate, a group of about 20 of the patients showed up.

A Red Cross official said "if you have any more groups in Florida like this one, please send them to us."

The club's appearance was a wonderful boost to Florida and the State owes a debt of gratitude to G. W. "Biff" Carr of Holly Hill and others who worked hard to make the trip possible.

Recently, I received a letter from a Negro soldier in California who wanted to be assigned to Florida so that he might make plans for his future home in the State.

I thought the letter warranted to the extent that I read the following excerpts from it to the House during the recent debate on civil rights legislation.

"I am a Negro airman stationed here at Mather Air Force Base, Calif. I have but one more enlistment to serve retiring from the Air Force. At the present my plans are to build my retirement home in West Palm Beach or Miami, Fla. with only a few more years before my retirement. I would like to be assigned to West Palm Beach Air Force Base, Fla., not only because of my plans for building a home there, but because I was born in the South and

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Mao Tse-tung, the Red Chinese leader, is establishing himself as the No. 1 spokesman on Communist doctrine.

In doing so, Mao is making himself increasingly popular with those who favor the independent Communism which President Tito has established in Yugoslavia and which Red Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has been able to establish to a lesser extent in Poland. Consequently, Mao is making himself increasingly unpopular in Soviet Russia, which realizes that independent Communism is a threat to its own long-dominant position as the fountain head of Marxian wisdom.

Mao's latest exposition of his views was broadcast Tuesday by the Peiping Radio—17000 words of it.

The exposition was given in a speech which Mao made in Peiping on Feb. 27. Nothing was known about it abroad for two months.

NIU Contradictions
One of Mao's chief points was that after more than seven years of Communist rule in China, there are still contradictions between the people and the government.

Everybody in both the Communist and the free worlds has known this all along, of course, and has known that the contradictions exist not only in China but in all Red-ruled countries.

Avoid High Altitudes With Heart, Lung Ills

By HERMAN H. SUNDLICH, M.D.

PLANNING a vacation in the mountains this year?—Providing you don't have severe heart or lung trouble.

As a general rule, persons with either of these ailments find it difficult to breathe at high altitudes. The reason is simple: the higher you go, the lighter the air becomes and the less oxygen pressure there is.

Irreparable Damage
All of us need oxygen. In fact we can't do without it for much longer than a minute without losing consciousness. If we were to go for five minutes without any oxygen at all, our nervous system and brain would be irreparably damaged.

How much oxygen we need depends, of course, upon our health and our activities.

If we exercise, become excited or have a fever, we'll need much more than when we are resting comfortably.

Only about 21 per cent of the air we breathe is oxygen.

Take More Effort
With less air density, then, there naturally is less oxygen, so you have to put forth more effort to breathe in order to obtain a sufficient amount. If you have a clipped heart or lung, this extra effort eventually might prove a great strain.

Symptoms of oxygen deficiency vary, but they usually include dizziness and nausea. If it develops gradually the victim may lose his appetite, feel tired, become mentally sluggish, have a poor memory and be belligerent and stubborn.

There is another thing to consider, too.

If you have heart or lung trouble, don't plan any long flights unless the plane has a pressurized cabin. Most of the big commercial airliners have such protective cabins.

All in all, I suggest that you heart and lung patients consult your doctor. He might suggest that you may do better to plan a vacation at the seashore or at least in some pleasant spot at sea level. You'll breathe easier if you do.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
P. J. C.: Could exercise be harmful for one suffering from hardening of the arteries?

Answer: Exercise in moderation probably would not be harmful for one suffering from hardening of the arteries. It would depend entirely upon the condition of the heart and the amount of hardening that has occurred.

Your physician, after careful examination, will be able to tell you the exact amount of exercise you ought to take.

But Mao's admission of this obvious fact has caused a big sensation in Communist countries whose governments do not dare admit that anybody but an evil-minded "diversionist" or "counter-revolutionary" ever disagrees with the party line.

Mao made his speech at a secret meeting of a "supreme state conference."

Speech Leaks Out
Parts of it started to leak out in Poland at the end of April after Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz visited Peiping. Polish newspaper correspondents who accompanied Cyrankiewicz published parts of the speech in Warsaw newspapers.

The speech was important to Polish Communists because Mao gave strong encouragement to the desire of people in Red-ruled countries for some measure of independent thought and action. Mao also indirectly repeated his previous criticisms of Russia's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

It has long been known that Mao and his premier, Chu En-lai, openly supported the Polish revolt against Soviet domination and probably were responsible for its success.

Beware of Heart Trouble

By EVANGELIST CEMER, Health Specialist

More deaths occur from heart failure than any other disease daily papers you will see that thousands are cut off in the prime known to man, and if you will watch the obituary columns of their lives, you will see that the heart refuses to take it. The punishment that is meted out to the heart day in and day out would wear out any other piece of machinery in half the time.

The man who has a powerful heart is one who has taken very good care of his body and is able to work at top speed regardless of age, without fatigue. He can walk, run, swim, and play and not wear out. But he has learned how to live and eat and rest and relax.

Without giving it too much thought, most of us are inclined to forget that we have a heart. We are more aware of our kidneys, lungs, bowels, etc., but take the heart more or less for granted until some warning pain causes us to be more careful. We eat carelessly, get insufficient rest, drink a lot of things that are not exactly healthy, never exercise, smoke a lot and generally conduct ourselves with no regard for that little organ that controls all life.

To illustrate what I mean, consider briefly a day in the average man's life. Not much time is lost in taking silly exercises, as he terms them. Breakfast is hurried through or it is a heavy affair with white bread, bacon, eggs, maybe flapjacks, also coffee, cream, sugar. Then off to the office or plant or shop. Dinner is always a heavy meal, with a cocktail (not of vegetables) as part of it. Night brings more inactivity more tobacco, no exercise before retiring; plus sluggish elimination.

This may not sound so terrible, but all the foods have been of the denatured variety with heavy proteins and starches predominating, and the vitally necessary vitamins and minerals conspicuous by their absence.

Overeating puts a great strain on the organs of digestion and elimination. The digestive juices can be produced only when the glands that manufacture them receive an ample supply of blood from the heart. Thus the more there is to digest, the more gastric juices are needed and the more the heart has to work.

If we consider the function of elimination we arrive at the conclusion that the more we eat the more residue remains. The residue must bear the greatest burden in overeating, and they therefore require a good blood supply. This supply can come only from the heart. It is not strange, therefore, that heart affections and kidney troubles head the list of diseases that decimate man.

There is no need for any person to fear heart trouble or even to develop a faulty heart if he will learn the simple art of caring of the body temple. To better understand how to do this attend EVANGELIST CEMER'S FREE HEALTH CLASSES beginning FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 7:30 P. M. at the WOMAN'S CLUB AUDITORIUM. ALL SEATS FREE. The first class deals with HOW TO ADD 10 YEARS TO YOUR LIFE. U. S. Health Department charts and the Home Health Course will be given FREE to those attending this service.

Conning The News

Bill Payne's sister, Shirley, is visiting Sue Payne in her Little Venice home. Bill left last week with the VAH-7 detachment, but Sue hopes he will be down for another week-end since the squadron is still in Norfolk. Shirley is presently working at Sears in Atlanta, Georgia, and plans to go back with a tan that will be the envy of all. New Smyrna Beach, the bass pool, and Rock Springs Park have been well indoctrinated by the Payne family recently. Shirley is leaving Friday, at which time the Little Venice Athletic Society will resume activities on Polly Savage's lawn. Purpose—removal of several inches acquired by too much good living—or incurred by a constant cheap diet of macaroni and spaghetti.

Jane and Cliff McKibbin had a delightful cocktail party Tuesday evening. Jane had cleverly arranged different shades of pentas and crepe myrtle on the dining room table and in the living room. Cliff presented Mike and Bob Stone with a "passport application" from Seminole County. This was a big deal signed by no less than O. P. Herndon, County Clerk, David Gatschel, Mayor of Sanford, and Clifford McKibbin, President of the Chamber of Commerce. The Stones there were cited for High Fever follies. Christmas candles around the house in paper bags, and South-side P-TA work. The whole deal was framed (in a frame). Hope no one takes it the other way.

Louise Parker should have been similarly honored for her work as president of the Lake Mary P-TA, Golf Association, slaver, Girl Scouts, and more drives than one could shake a stick at. Not grammatical, but correct.

Attending the party were Jane and John Miller, John and Jean Dooley, Louise and Jim Parker, Helen and Andy Carraway, July and Jack Smith, Jack and Barbie Morrison, Bob and Mike Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conn and the inevitable—Bob and Ginny. Oh, yes, Wally and Jane Phillips. But Jane came in, as we went out. Tuesday is bridge day.

Alice and Ernie Mills gave a farewell party for Mike and Bob Stone last Saturday night.

Dodie and John King arrived back from Pennsylvania this afternoon. There will be just enough time to cut the lawn and then they are off on a camping trip to Juniper Springs. By the time John goes back to work, he will have forgotten how.

Friday afternoon from one 'til two-thirty, there will be an open-house and flag ceremony at the Silver Lake Camp, where the Brownies have been holding their day camp this week. Under the supervision of Alice Drake, the Day Camp director, and her many able assistants, the girls will put on a display including skits for their parents and friends.

Having a hard time this afternoon putting this together. Naturally, the family is taking a good deal of my time and it is difficult to slip away to get news, much less write it up. Promise lots of little tidbits tomorrow and if I can't find any, they will be of the very best fiction.

How About a 'Soda Break' on a Sizzling Summer Day

It's the latest thing. It's the "soda break," time to cool off with a delicious hot weather drink. When the afternoon is hotter and busier than it has any right to be, treat yourself at home to a superlative soda stirred up in moments. It's a Quick Chocolate Soda, fizzy with refreshment. Made with quick cocoa powder that disperses instantly in milk, this soda has a delicious chocolate flavor you'll love in hot weather. So easy, you make the whole thing right in the glass. Quick Chocolate Soda will be favorites with all the family for a summer "soda break."

Try it, too, with a sandwich for a light lunch. Each serving of quick cocoa powder contains vitamin D3 equal to one-half the minimum daily requirement, so this product is as good for you as it is convenient to use.

Quick Chocolate Soda
3 heaping teaspoons quick cocoa powder
Small amount of milk
1 scoop vanilla ice cream

Chilled sparkling water, or any favorite carbonated beverage, such as cream soda, gingerale, etc.

Combine quick cocoa powder and milk in a tall glass. Add vanilla ice cream. Fill slowly with chilled sparkling water or other carbonated beverage. YUM!

Having recently enjoyed the President's Club Cruise of the Gulf Life Insurance Company, on the S. S. EVANGELINE which sailed from Miami to Nassau, Bahamas, are Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Rudd, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Patton, all of Sanford.

While on their enjoyable cruise there were many things to do, which included viewing the historic sights of the quaint old-world city while riding in a survey through the winding streets, visit popular Paradise Beach, and browse leisurely through the many attractive British shops.

Friday afternoon from one 'til two-thirty, there will be an open-house and flag ceremony at the Silver Lake Camp, where the Brownies have been holding their day camp this week. Under the supervision of Alice Drake, the Day Camp director, and her many able assistants, the girls will put on a display including skits for their parents and friends.

Having a hard time this afternoon putting this together. Naturally, the family is taking a good deal of my time and it is difficult to slip away to get news, much less write it up. Promise lots of little tidbits tomorrow and if I can't find any, they will be of the very best fiction.

CFW Met Monday Eve In Sanctuary

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met in the sanctuary Monday evening with O. T. Pearson presiding. Mrs. V. H. Grantham opened the meeting with a prayer.

After a short business meeting, during which time Mrs. Pearson urged as many adults as possible to attend the Adult Conference at Silver Springs in the near future, Mrs. Bruce Burkholt from the East Orlando Church had charge of installation of new officers. The service was impressive with old officers handing lighted candles to the new officers as they took their pledge of loyalty to their new offices.

New officers elected were: Mrs. O. T. Pearson, serving as president a second year; Mrs. Chandler Vail, vice-president; Mrs. Lester Sharp, secretary; Miss Pla Bishop, treasurer; Mrs. Alex Stroup, worship director; and three group leaders, Mrs. W. L. Rowland, Mrs. J. W. Knight, and Mrs. W. H. Young.

Members attending the meeting were: Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. J. L. Knight, Mrs. Chandler Vail, Mrs. Charles Brandis, Mrs. V. H. Grantham, and niece, Miss Jean Butler, Mrs. E. L. Huntley and guest, Mrs. Mary Young, Mrs. A. R. Stroup, Mrs. J. L. Horton, Mrs. G. W. Holland, Mrs. O. D. Dandress, Mrs. W. P. Yesley, Mrs. Lester Thorp, Mrs. O. T. Pearson, Mrs. Earl Evans, Mrs. G. Walter Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Burkholt and children, Mr. and Mrs. Perry L. Stone.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Harold Ring and Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr.

June Is Milk Month
Milk production is supposed to reach a new high record in 1957 with June as the peak month of supply. So the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests that during June, milk and all dairy products deserve special attention on family menus. Many dairy companies offer specialties in June—special ice creams or sherbets, and specials in cottage cheese for salads. If you plan your menu around for example, the main dish, here are three popular protein foods due in still a lot of choice grade cuts; great plenty this month; beef—generous supplies of large size grade A's; sukkas—especially big birds over 20 pounds and small birds under 12 rounds.

Potatoes will continue in plenty during June with the big crop of California Long Whites coming on markets the country over.

In fruits, strawberries will be headliners, both the fresh and the frozen. In fact, markets will have an abundance of the makings for strawberry shortcake—the berries, the cream, for whipping, even vegetable shortening if you like it for making your own biscuits.

In June before supplies of most fresh summer fruits hit markets there are still the canned choices on grocery shelves—freestone peaches and purple plums, both priced to suit the thrifty.

Added to these, there will be continuing heavy supplies of peanuts and peanut butter; vegetable fat and salad oils. Fish of the month? Halibut, fresh and frozen, is in heaviest supply.

A LATE DAY DRESS in black silk serge is from the Brannell summer collection. The full skirt is softly pleated below a draped cummerbund belt.

Fidelis Class Meet Tuesday Evening

The home of Mrs. Allon Gunter on Palmietto Avenue was the scene for the regular monthly meeting of the Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening. Members of Mrs. Gunter's group were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Arnold Williams presided over the business session and reports of the group captains were given. Mrs. H. E. Little presented the devotional, based on the book, "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Norman Vincent Peale.

Following the business session an amusing game was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. M. D. Hunsinger. Mrs. Williams was awarded a prize for winning the game. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and punch were served by the hostesses.

Those present were Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Little, Mrs. V. C. Messinger, Mrs. S. P. Griffin, Mrs. Virgie Pratt, Mrs. E. E. Cooper Jr., Mrs. Bumgarner, Mrs. W. R. Willis, Mrs. Vernon Davis, Mrs. Gunter, Mrs. O. P. Wade, Mrs. Annie Mae Bowen, Mrs. H. E. Turner, and Miss Lorene Franklin.

Tried to get this in at the tail-end of yesterday's column, but couldn't reach anyone in time to add it on. Hope it isn't too late to remind all the members of the Chief's Wives Club that there's a meeting tonight at 8:00 P.M. And though its rather short notice, they want to remind all the wives of the brand new chiefs that they are now eligible to become members and are cordially invited to attend. Talked with Marie Sundvall, the new president of the club, and she said she had so far been unable to obtain a complete list of the new chiefs in order to contact these girls personally, but would like to add her invitation also.

And remember that next Tuesday, June 25, is the day that Augie, the hairstylist, will put on a demonstration at the Chief's Club, and all members of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club, the Officer's Wives Club, and of course the Chief's Wives Club are invited. Mrs. Mary Muntz will represent the O.W.C.; Mrs. Rita DeJong, the C.W.C.; Mrs. Betty Place, the E.M.W.C.; Kathie Horn was the girl who appeared on television a couple of weeks ago as the E.M.W.C. representative, but if you read my column a few days ago, you'll recall that Kathie and her husband Bud have gone home on leave. Betty was nice enough to step in on such short notice and act as our representative.

Margaret Johnson and her four children, Jerry, Billy, Kathy, and Ricky, have returned home from Tullahoma, Tennessee where they have been for the past six weeks. It was a sad event that took them home at this time, the death of her father, Mr. John H. Isabell. But it did give them a chance to visit friends and relatives, and to bring her mother, Mrs. Isabel, back to Sanford for a visit at their home on Sarita Ave. Chief Johnson spent two weeks there, but wasn't able to stay the whole time. Lloyd and Chris Ricker, and conscious trying to ignore the fact that I had consumed so many calories that made me forget!!!

Guess I'll end this on a sad note. Read in the Navy Times that just about all enlisted men's clothing will go up as of July 1. Actually that isn't as bad as it sounds since all the price "hikes" are under one dollar on most large items, with the exception of pea-coats, which jump from $24.00 to $31.00. Only nice part about that bit is that they're practically unnecessary in Florida! But if you're expecting a transfer to a colder climate, better "get on the ball" and get yourself one before July 1!!!!

Well, I'm scraping the bottom of the barrel" again, and my four men, (counting the dog,) are yelling for their dinner! Made another discovery about Maxey He's afraid of the vacuum, so my husband has to distract him while I do same. If that fails, he has to take him for a ride in the car! But I wouldn't want to give you the impression that we're spoiling him!!!!!!

More Meals From Meat:

BEEF ARM POT-ROAST

Two Meals for a Family of Four

- Cut through natural dividing seam a to b then through meat from b to c to separate meaty piece (d) from arm pot roast.
- Either leave (e) in one piece or split it into two thinner steaks by cutting from d to e.
- Cut from f to g to remove rib section (h) from arm pot roast. Then remove arm bone (i) The bones may be used for soup.
- Fashion piece (d) into a bonafide roll and fasten with a shower of the with string.

For a family of four you will want one arm pot roast that weighs from 4 to 5 pounds.

SWISS STEAKS
As indicated in step number 2, this section may be used as one thick Swiss steak or two thinner ones.

BONELESS POT-ROAST
Will make four easily carved servings.

Boat, Ski Club Will Be Host To Winter Haven This Weekend

ANOTHER CHANCE . . . By Alan Maver

Semi-Pro League May Have Four-Way Tie For 1st Place

The possibility of a four way tie for the first place in the Central Florida Semi-Pro Baseball League loomed last night when league managers and officials voted to disallow a forfeit committed by Longwood last Sunday afternoon in a scheduled game with Oviedo.

MOVE HELPED HIM . . . By Alan Maver

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club will be host to The Winter Haven Boat Club this weekend.

A representative group from the Winter Haven Boat Club will depart from Winter Haven at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 22. They will trailer their boats to Sanford and launch at the Monroe Bridge and camp in this area Saturday night.

The rest of the Club will be on hand to join them at 9:00 a.m. Sunday morning. They will then cruise to the vicinity of Lake Haasay where they will enjoy boating, skiing, and swimming for the rest of the day.

The members of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club are urged to be on hand to assist the guest club in any way possible.

The guest Club has extended a cordial invitation to the membership of the host Club to join with them for a day of fun and pleasure on our beautiful St. John River.

Dazy Vance To Be Special Guest At All-Star Game

ORLANDO—Dazy Vance, grand old man of baseball, will be a special guest of the Florida State League when it stages its 15th annual All-Star game in Palatka next Friday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced at league headquarters here today.

3 Tigers Piling Up Early Leads In All-Star Votes

NEW YORK—Three members of the Detroit Tigers are piling up early leads in the balloting for berths on the American League all-star team that will meet the National League's tip stars at St. Louis, July 9.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK—The band will play on, but this could be the year when Casey goes out with the strawberry blonde.

The New York Yankees deny that there is a feud between George Weiss and Casey Stengel. But the once-congenial atmosphere is tense and electric and Old Case is a proud man.

And Edna, Casey's strawberry blonde, has seen after him to step down as manager for several years now.

Casey is a man who loves baseball. Wealthy in his own right, Stengel doesn't need the game financially. He stays in it because he thrives on the daily excitement and the success which finally came to him as skipper of the Yankees after years of being regarded as a diamond "clown" who couldn't manage an automatic dishwasher.

No More Joy-Ride
But it has become all too obvious that Weiss, the portly general manager, is the master of the marionettes.

There may have been some question, until recently, as to whether Casey helped pick his ball players. The general impression was that he did. The illusion, plus his managerial success afield, was enough to inflate and feed the long-hungry Stengel ego.

But when the Yankees swapped off Billy Martin to Kansas City in a four-for-three deal the window dressing was ripped aside.

Martin was Casey's "boy." Stengel had him at Oakland and brought him up to the Yankees. He had a vast, unceasing admiration for the scrappy infielder and, having been a gay blade himself in the old days, could chuckle behind a garbled band at Broadway Billy's antics.

The Final Payment
The recent fluff show at the Copacabana would have been shrugged off by Stengel. But it was the final payment on a ticket west for Martin as far as Weiss was concerned.

"Uncle George" long has considered Martin a bad influence on Mickey Mantle, once ordering them to steer clear of the downtown lights.

So when Martin was labeled as one of the instigators in the Copacabana, Weiss took matters into his own hands as usual.

Stengel didn't have much to say about the trade, but he indicated it wasn't his handwork, nor that it had his approval.

Texas produced 960 million pounds of carbon black, valued at 68 million dollars in 1956.

MAYER WINS NATIONAL OPEN GOLF

DICK MAYER, 34, is joined by his wife in admiring his National Open golf championship trophy after he beat defending champion Cary Middlecoff at the Inverness Club, Toledo, Ohio. Mayer won by the surprising margin of seven strokes in the 18-hole playoff match. Middlecoff had played brilliantly to win a tie, but seemed to have little left for the grueling playoff. 7 Newcomers To Play In Minneapolis Match

NEW YORK—Seven newcomers to Walker Cup play were among the 10 men named by the U.S. Golf Team to represent the United States against Great Britain in the amateur matches to be played at Minneapolis Aug. 30-31.

William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., playing captain in 1955 and a member of the 1951 and 1953 teams; Charles Kocisz of Royal Oak, Mich.; a player in 1955 and 1952, and Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., a player in 1955, are the only cup veterans, along with non-playing captain Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Newcomers to the team are Rex Baxter Jr., Amarillo, Tex.; Arnold Blum, Marion, Ga.; Joe E. Campbell, Knoxville, Tenn.; William Hyndman III, Philadelphia; William Robbins Jr., Memphis, Tenn.; E. Mason Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn.; and Dr. Frank M. Taylor Jr., Pomona, Calif.

Coe is the first player alternate should an original nominee be unable to accept; Richard L. Vost of Portland, Ore., is second alternate, and Dale Morey of Indianapolis third alternate.

The United States beat Britain in their last previous match, 10 to 2.

The British have not named their team, except for Gerald Micklem as captain, but it seemed certain it would include Head Jack of Scotland, who won the British Amateur title a few weeks ago by beating Harold Ridgley of Havertown, Pa., in the championship match.

Selection of the U.S. team is based upon three considerations, the USGA said: Merit as a competitive golfer, as shown in records in important tournaments in recent years; sportsmanship and general ability to represent the U. S. in international relations; and unquestioned amateur status.

Baxter, 21, is the youngest member of the team, Joe Campbell also is 21, but 3½ months older than Baxter. Campbell, also a baseball star at Purdue University, was the 1955 national college champ. Kocisz, 44, is the oldest player.

Patton was last amateur in the U.S. Open last week, tying for eighth place with a card of 200. Hyndman was second amateur, tying for 13th with 291.

SNAS Team Loses Last Nite's Game To Wilson-Maier

After pitching the perfect ball game to open the season Tuesday night, A. D. Hall pitched a three hitter that was almost equally thrilling but lost for SNAS to Wilson-Maier last night in Sanford City Softball League action.

Hall allowed only one hit in the first and two hits in the seventh inning, but for the second consecutive night had trouble with control and out-pitched himself.

Wilson-Maier pitched two men for their first appearance of the season, and both of them turned in creditable performances. D. Meritt went the first half of the route and allowed only two hits one in the second and one in the third. He was relieved by G. Price who went the rest of the way and surrendered only one tap.

THE SOUTHEAST'S FIRST trailer-truck piggy-back train combination rolled into Miami from Jacksonville this week, the event inaugurating a regular service by Great Southern Trucking Company between the two cities. The flat cars provided by the Florida East Coast Railway to accommodate the huge trailers are fifty-five feet long and were specially designed as were the ramps and trackage at each terminal to insure the speedy loading and unloading of the trailers. Great Southern, a division of Ryder System, Inc.—the country's largest exclusive truck rental concern—is the largest common carrier in the Southeast. As the trailers move off the train they are sped immediately to their final destination.

Dangerous Health Situation

NEW YORK — Medical science is becoming uncomfortably aware of an ominous and possibly dangerous situation. Few physicians practicing today have even seen a case of smallpox, and even that small number is constantly diminishing.

That is reassuring proof of one of the great triumphs of medical science, of course. Smallpox, the virulent, highly contagious killer, has all but disappeared from the United States. But it hasn't entirely disappeared and that is what makes an ominous situation.

Would the average physician recognize a case of smallpox should he encounter one? Would the possibility that it was a case of smallpox leap instantly into his mind? There have been a few scattered instances over recent years when the diagnosis was fumbled and delayed.

May Miss Diagnosis
This indicates that the average physician might well miss the diagnosis long enough for a community to be endangered. Once present, smallpox can spread rapidly; and there are thousands who think they are immune because they were vaccinated as children, but who are not immune. Their vaccinations have worn off.

Mrs. Kenneth D. Rogers and Arthur M. Harmuth of the School of Public Health, University of Pittsburgh, are alerting the average practicing physician to this situation through the technical journal of the American Academy of General Practice. They cited the following example:

A 14-year-old girl came down with pox. Two days later a physician was called in and said it was chickenpox. The child's condition grew progressively worse, and five days later she was taken to a communicable disease hospital. The diagnosis still was chickenpox.

But it wasn't chickenpox which either looked or behaved in the usual way of chickenpox. A number of doctors were called in. They all thought it was chickenpox. Yet not one of them could say positively that it wasn't smallpox.

Child Dies
The child died during her second day of illness. Tests proved that she was a victim of an unusual and complicated case of chickenpox. If it had been smallpox, she would have been a

Watch Your Summer Health

In summer we make many adjustments in our living habits for the sake of comfort. We use our wits to "beat the heat". It is natural and fitting to do this. But our search for comfort should not be the end of our efforts. Often times health is injured by things people do in order to be comfortable. Comfort and health should go together. But since our "chats" deal with health we shall confine our discussion to it.

From a health viewpoint summertime has its hazards as well as its benefits. To enjoy the benefits and to avoid the hazards we should profit by scientific knowledge, which comes from others, and by intelligence and self-control, which we must exercise for ourselves.

First, let us consider the very important matter of food. On account of the heat the body's food requirements are different in summer. When the heat is excessive the amount of food consumed should be considerably reduced. Also, a kind of food eaten in summer should be somewhat different from that consumed in the cooler months. Starchy foods and sugars are heat producing foods and should, therefore, be eaten more sparingly in hot weather. Meats, fruits, fresh vegetables and milk may well be chosen as the principal hot weather foods.

For those who are easily overcome by heat and those who cannot well endure heat, an increased intake of sodium chloride—table salt—and water will prove source of readily transmittable germs for nine days.

But that is not all of the story. The instant smallpox was suspected all employees and patients in the hospital were vaccinated—40 in all. Four young children among them had never been vaccinated before. The remaining 36 had been, and supposedly were immune. But vaccination reactions showed that actually only two were.

The doctor urged their colleagues everyday to keep textbooks available which describe minutely the appearance of smallpox to impose strict quarantine on any suspected case; to get a precise diagnosis with all possible speed; and to notify public health authorities instantly so they can organize to vaccinate all persons with whom the suspected case had been in contact.

beneficial. Blast furnace workers who formerly were subject to heat stroke now are free from the malady through the increased consumption of salt. Salt tablets are now used extensively and are a convenience for those who suffer from heat.

Ice water and other ice-cold drinks should be taken temperately, if at all, in hot weather. Severe illness has often been caused by taking a large quantity of iced drinks into the stomach. Such drinks should be taken slowly, and in moderate quantity, even when one is very thirsty. From a health standpoint, cool drinks are preferable to extremely cold ones.

There are more perils in summertime besides than overloading the stomach with an indigestible combination of foods. To be avoided if possible are such noxious plants as poison ivy and such possibly dangerous insects as wood ticks. If a tick is identified on the skin, it should not be touched with bare hands but should be removed by use of gloves or tweezers.

Swimming is healthful exercise but it should not be done soon after a heavy meal, as paralyzing cramps may strike suddenly and result in drowning. And newspapers still carry stories of broken necks and fractured skulls from diving in shallow water.

Fishing is one of the most healthful of sports. For those who enjoy it, fishing relaxes mind, muscle and nerves as few other pastimes do. Summer-time health ailments are a matter of individual choice. What appeals to one person will not appeal to another. But everyone should have some kind of recreation, preferably in the open air and in the sun.

If everyone will eat intelligently, avoid the hazards mentioned above, and follow some interesting outdoor pastime, summer will prove to be a season of good health.

School Board Reveals Teacher Pay Schedule; Studies New Budget

Top News In Brief

WASHINGTON — The United States has agreed to a cautious relaxation of the trade restrictions between Japan and Red China, informed sources said today. The trade question was one of the most delicate issues taken up during talks here between Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and top American officials headed by strengthening U. S.—Japanese postwar ties.

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins was due to depart today for the National Governors' Conference in Virginia, but he leaves behind him an almost cleared desk which had been piled high with legislative bills. The governor worked late into the night Thursday putting his signature on hundreds of bills from the 1957 Legislature and making scores of appointments.

WASHINGTON — The South has lost a major battle in the Senate for the first time over civil rights legislation but has not yet lost the war. The biggest battles are still to come and probably will tie up the Senate during most of July in a filibuster. But even then, the chances that southern Democrats can defeat the bill will be much less bright than in past years.

NEWPORT, R. I. — The Navy today reported a "mild outbreak" of Oriental influenza at the Newport naval base. The Navy said the flu which has swept the Far East has been detected on eight of 110 Newport-based ships since June 1. An estimated 500 personnel have been stricken.

Frank Akers, 73, Dies At Bay Pines

Mr. Frank P. Akers, 73, died at the Veterans Hospital, Bay Pines, Wednesday morning at 5:15. Mr. Akers had been ill for about 10 months. He formerly lived in Sanford for 30 years but for the past six years had made his home in Clearwater. Mr. Akers was a member of the B.P.O.E. Sanford Lodge 1941. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Nina Akers, Clearwater; one son, Frank P. Akers Jr., Sanford; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Ted Smith, Clayton, Ga.; one stepson, Hugh B. Conley, Chicago, Ill.; two brothers, William Akers and Dillon Akers, both of Atlanta, Ga. and one sister, Mrs. Ethel Perry, Atlanta, Ga. Remains arrived in Sanford from Bay Pines this morning. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Brison Funeral Home with Rev. B. E. Hutland, pastor of the First Methodist Church officiating. Pallbearers will be members of the Sanford Elks Lodge. Those who will serve as pallbearers are: John Leonard, Herman Guntter, Denver Cordell, Clyde Easterbrook, T. B. Smith, Ralph Wight. The Elks will conduct graveside services at Evergreen Cemetery.

Mechanical Brain Loses At Checkers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — A million dollar mechanical brain that can make 40,000 calculations a second lost a game of checkers today. The $2,742,000 computer, built by the International Business Machines corporation for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, can figure out in a minute a mathematical problem that would take a scientist more than a year to solve. But the mechanical wizard lost a game of checkers Thursday to Paul Westlow, former New England and Canadian champion, in less than half an hour. The defeat didn't alarm the scientists, who said the new machine has not had enough time to "build up memories" yet.

Senior Life Saving Course Is Offered

A senior life saving course will be offered for those over 16 years of age at the Municipal Swimming Pool in Fort Mellon Park beginning Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. The course will last for about two weeks and is a part of the Citywide Recreation Program. Robert Samuel will be the instructor.

United Press Marks 50th Anniversary

NEW YORK — The United Press marked its 50th anniversary today with a tribute from President Eisenhower on the part it has played in strengthening the free world by straight reporting of the news. On its birthday today, the 10,000 men and women who make up this unique news-gathering organization were, as every weekday, sending almost 4 million words of news literally around the world. Their stories and pictures went in 1,500 newspapers in this country, were translated into 45 languages for clients in 71 foreign nations. They were heard on radio, seen on television, beamed to ships at sea. United Press today looks back on covering a turbulent half century that started with the cry, "get a horse," and looks forward to a tomorrow where the world seeks a way to chain the hydrogen bomb.

County Road Projects To Get Underway Soon

The State Road Department today announced beginning dates for two road projects in Seminole County totaling nearly a million dollars. Both projects are on main arteries into Sanford. The SRD's Information and Research section stated that work is scheduled to begin by June 26 on the $508,319 construction project on State Roads 15 and 60 (U.S. 17-92) in Seminole County. A contract for this work was executed with Hubbard Construction Company of Orlando, who was the apparent low bidder when the project was let on May 16 in Jacksonville. Work on this project is scheduled to take 253 working days for completion, and consists of grading and paving from French Ave

Beginning teachers in Seminole County, with an AB degree, will have a starting salary of $3,500, the Board of Public Instruction was told at its meeting yesterday. Top salary in Rank III, Superintendent of Public Instruction, R. T. Milwee told the board, would be $10,000 after 10 years of continuing service. Rank II teachers, those with a masters degree, will have a beginning salary of $3,750, Milwee said, with a top salary of $5,050 after 10 years of service. However, the salary of teachers beginning with the 11th year of teaching in this bracket would be $5,350. The top salary after 14 years of continuous service would be $5,550. All teachers now within the brackets, the Superintendent of Public Instruction said, will automatically be placed on the new salary schedule. Seminole County schools will need approximately 18 new teachers at the beginning of the new school year, said Milwee, as a result of 581 more children in average daily attendance during the past school year. There were 7,100 children in Seminole County schools during the 1956-57 school year, he said. A new building program was discussed by members of the Board of Education. The federal government, said Milwee, has approved $155,205 for new construction under Public Law #13 with 10 new school rooms for PineCrest School and five additional rooms at the Goldsboro School. The addition of 10 rooms at PineCrest School will mean two additional wings with a capacity in the entire school of approximately 1,000 children. The School Board requested the State Department of Education survey team to return to Sanford to inspect new sites for proposed new schools in Seminole County. School sites, explained Milwee, cannot be purchased by the School Board without prior approval of the State Department of Education. A survey made in November of last year was on growth of the county and pinpointed areas in which growth was found. The survey team's return is to survey sites within the growth areas. The Seminole County School Board will meet with school board representatives and the Superintendent of Public Instruction of Orange County in an attempt to work out plans for a new school in the southeast section of the county in which subdivisions have been constructed in both Seminole and Orange Counties. The meeting, said Milwee, will be held during the week of July 1. The Seminole County School Board began its study of the budget yesterday. The proposed budget must be in Tallahassee and the State Department of Education by August 1. The Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction estimated that the county will receive $1,126,813 from the State for the 1957-58 school year. An additional $309,314 will be received from the 28 mill tax on unimproved property valued at $21,842,829. Other tentative amounts discussed by the board which will be added to the overall budget of the school system were the $155,205 from the federal government for new construction; plus the amount carried over from the 1956-57 school year; an anticipated $50,000 from the federal government under Public Law #13; an anticipated share of $116,200 from the state's $121 million; and an additional sum from a State fund of $124 million.

6 Children In One Family Are Wiped Out By Tornado

FARGO, N. D. — A tornado wiped out six children in one family to boost the death toll in Thursday night's devastating twister to at least nine. Another 108 persons were injured. Authorities desperately sought to contact the dead children's father, Gerald Munson, who was out of town and apparently unaware of the tragedy. Only the mother and one child of the family of nine survived the disaster. Both the mother and her young son, Rickey, were hospitalized. The latest reported victim was Don Tigen, about 27. Also killed were an unidentified man in his 30s and a woman about 60 years old. The twister, described by witnesses as like a "huge black arm," smashed about 100 square blocks of Fargo, a city of 45,000 population. About 250 buildings were destroyed or damaged and total damage was estimated at more than one million dollars. Searchers, hampered during the night by power failure, said they expected to find more victims to lay in a thorough probe of the grotesque debris.

Reck Will Take Over As Rotary President Monday

Sanford Rotarians, at their regular weekly meeting Monday night at the Yacht Club, will witness the transfer of the reins of authority from the hand of outgoing president Dr. Charles L. Persons to the hand of incoming president Myron A. (Mike) Reck, who will guide the destinies of the local business and professional men's club for the year 1957-58. Mike Reck will then take over the handling of the program, announce his committees and introduce Rotarian Henry A. Simpson who was the club's delegate to Rotary's International Convention held early this month in Lucerne, Switzerland, to give a report on the visit which he and his wife made to Europe.

United Press Marks 50th Anniversary

NEW YORK — The United Press marked its 50th anniversary today with a tribute from President Eisenhower on the part it has played in strengthening the free world by straight reporting of the news. On its birthday today, the 10,000 men and women who make up this unique news-gathering organization were, as every weekday, sending almost 4 million words of news literally around the world. Their stories and pictures went in 1,500 newspapers in this country, were translated into 45 languages for clients in 71 foreign nations. They were heard on radio, seen on television, beamed to ships at sea. United Press today looks back on covering a turbulent half century that started with the cry, "get a horse," and looks forward to a tomorrow where the world seeks a way to chain the hydrogen bomb.

County Road Projects To Get Underway Soon

The State Road Department today announced beginning dates for two road projects in Seminole County totaling nearly a million dollars. Both projects are on main arteries into Sanford. The SRD's Information and Research section stated that work is scheduled to begin by June 26 on the $508,319 construction project on State Roads 15 and 60 (U.S. 17-92) in Seminole County. A contract for this work was executed with Hubbard Construction Company of Orlando, who was the apparent low bidder when the project was let on May 16 in Jacksonville. Work on this project is scheduled to take 253 working days for completion, and consists of grading and paving from French Ave

6 Children In One Family Are Wiped Out By Tornado

FARGO, N. D. — A tornado wiped out six children in one family to boost the death toll in Thursday night's devastating twister to at least nine. Another 108 persons were injured. Authorities desperately sought to contact the dead children's father, Gerald Munson, who was out of town and apparently unaware of the tragedy. Only the mother and one child of the family of nine survived the disaster. Both the mother and her young son, Rickey, were hospitalized. The latest reported victim was Don Tigen, about 27. Also killed were an unidentified man in his 30s and a woman about 60 years old. The twister, described by witnesses as like a "huge black arm," smashed about 100 square blocks of Fargo, a city of 45,000 population. About 250 buildings were destroyed or damaged and total damage was estimated at more than one million dollars. Searchers, hampered during the night by power failure, said they expected to find more victims to lay in a thorough probe of the grotesque debris.

Jaycees Hear Top Legislature Events

The Seminole County delegation reported to the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce on the "1957 session of the Legislature" at its noon luncheon meeting yesterday held at the Yacht Club. Before a record attendance of Jaycees Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and Representative Gordon V. Frederick told of the important events occurring with the 68 days of the session. Senator Stenstrom said "Everybody agrees it was one of the most difficult sessions we've ever had in Florida. It is almost impossible to tell you what happened in those 68 days," said Senator Stenstrom, and he added "the people of our State will find some things which will benefit our state—it was not all good or all bad." Speaking on the appropriation, Senator Stenstrom commented that Florida's growth has been fabulous—but when the appropriation committee came in with an increase from 412 to 604 million, I believe that it was far more than the taxpayers could handle. "I still feel that the appropriation bill was too high and I am glad that it could have been cut," he said. On the teacher pay raise bill Senator Stenstrom told the Jaycees that "We can provide keepers for our classrooms, but to provide teachers is another problem. When you compare our teacher pay raise bill with the $200 Georgia gave their teachers and $300 Texas gave theirs—Florida took a great step forward." Senator Stenstrom praised Representative Gordon Frederick when he said "in his first session
