Coast Line Names Firm To Handle Advertising

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., with headquarters in Wilmington, N. C., has appointed Tucker Wayne Company of Atlanta to handle its advertising program, it has been announced by Tucker Wayne, president of the agency.

The agency began representing Coast Line officially on Jan. 1. Donald T. Martin, director of public relations and advertising for Coast Line, already has approved basic advertising plans for next year as submitted by Thomas P. Wright, vice president and account executive of Tucker Wayne Company. Separate campaigns have been created for passenger travel, freight traffic, and industrial development.

Coast Line's dynamic young chief executive W. Thomas Rice, president since August, 1957, has introduced revolutionary innovations which have boosted him to national prominence. He has made "salesmen" of the company's 14,000 employees. During a recent six-week sales contest dubbed "Traffic Roundup," Coast Line employees made over 76,000 additional sales contacts. Rice has also initiated a program to unify employees from one end of the line to the other.

The Coast Line is one of the country's largest transportation systems. It represents an investment of more than one-half billion dollars, and operates over 3,292 miles of track in Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Alabama. The bulk of its passenger traffic is made up of vacation trade between New York and Florida.

A modern, 14-floor office building in Jacksonville, Fla., will be occupied upon its completion in 1960 to serve as headquarters for the company.

The present Coast Line system is the result of unification of more than 100 separate small railroads. The first of these was a short line chartered in 1830. The most important link was the Wilmington & Weldon, a 161-mile railroad that began operation in 1840 in North Carolina — the longest railroad in the world at the time.

Gun Used To Rob Women Of $21.40

ATLANTA (UPI)—An Atlanta man and his visitor from Florida have been charged with robbing two women here, under a statute carrying the maximum penalty of death.

Officers said Ralph Dino, 20, and Thomas Whittle, 18, of Miami, confessed late Sunday that they held a gun loaded with blanks on two women outside a local hospital and forced them to empty their pockets.

Dino's 16-year-old wife was with them at the time, the youths said. She was not charged, she is carrying a baby.

Officers quoted Whittle as saying he stopped off to visit Dino while on route from Miami to Birmingham, Ala. All three went shopping before the robbery, he told officers, and then in a motel. Dino suggested the robbery to repay Whittle for money he had spent for entertainment for all three, Whittle was quoted as saying.

The robbery netted $21.40.

Seymour Berkson, Publisher, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Seymour Berkson, 83, publisher of the New York Journal American and former general manager of International News Service, died of a heart attack Sunday in his room at the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

Berkson had remained in San Francisco since suffering a previous heart attack six weeks ago. He had come here to attend a Hearst Corp. board of directors meeting.

A few minutes before the fatal attack, Berkson had conferred by telephone with his assistant in New York and discussed plans for returning east this week.

With him when he died was his wife, the former Eleanor Lambert, a widely-known fashion publicist.

Mrs. Lydia Ward Dies; Rites Today

Mrs. Lydia Ellen Ward, 90, died in a local nursing home Sunday at 2:50 p. m. after a lengthy illness.

She was the wife of the late Harry Ward, and had lived in Sanford for 30 years. Mrs. Ward was born Feb. 14, 1868, in Pennsylvania, Ind.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. R. R. Deas, Sanford, and Mrs. J. W. McGlamery, Coral Gables; one granddaughter, Mrs. Camilla Bruce, Sanford; four grandsons, Richard R. Deas, Sanford; Harry W. Bower, Orlando; Robert S. Bower, Miami Springs; John W. McGlamery, Jr., Hialeah.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today at Britton Funeral Home. The Rev. A. G. McInnis will officiate. Burial will follow in Lake View Cemetery.

2 Bombs Explode; Terror Increases

ALGIERS (UPI)—Two rebel bombs blew up Sunday amid crowds in the western city of Seltif, adding new violence to the Nationalist terror offensive in Algeria.

One bomb exploded inside a packed movie house, killing one person and injuring others. Another exploded in a cafe washroom, smashing through a partition. Several customers at the bar were hurt.

1958 Another Good Year At First Federal Here

The past year was another good one for the $8 million First Federal Savings and Loan Assn., according to the year-end statement which shows an increase in assets since last December of over 13 per cent.

Savings account totals, now showing $7,087,684.69, advanced from December, 1957, sum of $6,514,727.45. These saved dollars, it is felt by Howard Faville, president, are attracted not only by the current three and one-half per cent dividend but by the higher-than-average reserves that supply a primary safety factor for them.

These savings credits increased by the addition of over $1,300,000 in the last six months. This compares with $1,075,000 in the same period of 1957 and with $1,205,000 in the January-to-June half of 1958, a gratifying upward trend.

While withdrawals have continued at a relatively high rate, the trend has been down during the last 12-month stretch, Faville said.

The current statement shows that reserves and surplus now amount to $831,874.87, indicating the substantial addition that brought the figure up from the December, 1957, total of $665,556.07. The ratio of the reserve figure to the savings on the books is one of the best in the state. It was pointed out.

There are over 1,200 savings accounts and during 1958 they earned just short of a quarter of a million dollars, First Federal's figures show.

Loans made during the year topped $2,178,000, Faville said, and this money was poured into the surging local economy, representing for the most part wages and building materials used in home construction in Seminole County and the adjacent DeBary-Volusia county area.

The current year will be one of continued economic progress in the area, Faville feels. While much of the money for housing starts will come from syndicates or broker money, especially in the large projects, savings and loan associations will continue, as they have in the past, to supply over 40 per cent of the residential mortgage money.

Individually-styled and custom-built homes are the main seekers of savings and loan funds in this area, he said.

Faville complimented the staff at First Federal for its fine operation and commended the directors for their high level of interest in sound policy formation.

The staff is made up of George Touhy, Executive Vice President, Mrs. B. E. Chapman, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. J. S. Eker, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. C. E. Powell and Miss Barbara Flynn, tellers.

The directors are S. F. Doudney, E. C. Harper, Sr., H. James Gut, J. H. Van Hoy, A. Edwin Shinholser, Faville and Touhy.

Adenauer Is 83; Celebration Brief

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was 83 today but he cut down on birthday celebrations by order of his doctors.

Adenauer, the oldest chief of government in German history, was led down by a cold last month but apparently has completely recovered.

But his doctors ordered official functions marking the birthday limited to five hours. The festivities on his 83rd birthday lasted a full three days.

Grace Was Matron At U. S. Wedding

NEW YORK (UPI)—Princess Grace of Monaco, one of the brides of the century, played the role of matron of honor during her recent visit to America, it was revealed today.

The former Marie Kelly was the sole bridal attendant for an old friend, Prudence Wike of Jacksonville, Fla., when she married Arthur H. Kuldner Jr., of New York Dec. 13 at the Old Wye Church, Wye Mills, Md.

The marriage announcement was delayed until today because of the New York newspaper strike.

U. S. Judge Hears Records Argument

MONTGOMERY, Ala (UPI)—A federal judge was to hear arguments today on whether Alabama's voter registrars can be forced to give the U. S. Civil Rights Commission information about Negro voting.

No matter which way Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. rules, today's hearing was expected to set the stage for months of legal wrangling. State law defines registrars as judicial officers.

Circuit Judge George Wallace and five registrars refused to testify before the commission's hearing Dec. 8, 9 on grounds the federal agency was an arm of the executive and had no authority to order judicial officers to appear and hand over their records.

Jobless Pay Near $4 Billion In '58

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An estimated four billion dollars in jobless benefits was paid to eight million unemployed workers in recession-scared 1958.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in making these figures public today, said the amount of benefits was almost double any other year.

The average benefit per week was a record $30.37, exceeding the 1957 average by more than $2 weekly. Payments replaced only a little more than one-third of wages lost because of layoffs, Mitchell said.

Unemployment compensation was regarded as one of the most effective built-in stabilizers which kept purchasing power at a high level despite record postwar joblessness last spring.

About 2,600,000 workers exhausted their rights of benefits, Mitchell reported. Temporary extension of benefit periods in 23 states allowed 1,500,000 of them to receive an additional 400 million dollars once the program went into effect in June.

Mitchell said "substantial pools of unemployment" may continue well into this year. But he also predicted non-farm jobs would hit a record peak of about 60 million in 1959 as the economy bounced back from last year's slump.

There were 3,823,000 jobless in November, the last count made by the government, Mitchell said. He expects the figure to rise in January and February as it does every winter.

Odham Will Build In Orange County

Odham & Tudor Inc., Sanford, has purchased 229 acres of land in Orange County for construction of about 600 homes in the $13,000 to $20,000 class. J. Braxley Odham, president of the firm, revealed yesterday.

Construction of the homes is scheduled to start March 1. The first are scheduled for completion in April, Odham said. The firm plans to build about 300 homes a year on the newly-purchased land. The development would be completed in about three years.

Bounded by Lee Road, Lake Weston and Edgewater Drive, the 229 acres of land was purchased at an announced price of $383,344. Located across Edgewater Drive from the Ben White Raceway, the development will be named in a contest sponsored by Odham & Tudor.

The development will have sewers, city water, sidewalks, paved streets, curbs and gutters. Plans call for development of a six-acre recreation area on Lake Weston with a beach, tennis, basketball, shuffleboard and volleyball courts, softball diamonds and boat launching facilities for exclusive use of purchasers of the homes.

Odham said the decision to move into Orange County was prompted by the belief that "the immediate vicinity of Orlando offers the best opportunity to a builder of any area in Florida today."

He added that the "terrific growth of the area presents a challenge to our organization."

Odham & Tudor has constructed some 1,000 homes in Sanford and Titusville in the past four years. About 100 homes here and 50 in Titusville now are under construction.

Squadron Is Coming; Move Is Progressive

The population of Sanford will be swelled next week by the arrival of Heavy Attack Squadron One, which is moving from Jacksonville to the Naval Air Station here.

Some of our new residents already have arrived. "Welcome Aboard" ceremonies are scheduled at the Naval Air Station on Jan. 16.

The Herald would like to underscore a statement by Capt. James D. Ramage, commander of Heavy Attack Wing One. Said Capt. Ramage:

"We want to make the men of Heavy Attack Squadron One feel that Sanford wants them. We will help them in any way we can to get settled as soon as possible; it is a big move with much work involved. In order to get the men back to their normal training cycle it will require the support of everyone here in Sanford."

The decision to move VAH-1 from Jacksonville to Sanford is significant. This will base all of the Atlantic Fleet's Heavy Attack units in Sanford. The move culminates a long, hard fight to base the entire heavy attack family at one location.

Facilities to house the squadron and its equipment have been completed at NAS. These facilities include new hangars and shop space. The facilities for the families also are available in Sanford.

The 350 members of VAH-1 represent a valuable new addition to Sanford. In terms of payrolls, housing, groceries and other products, this will be equal to a major industry for Seminole County and Sanford. In addition to the number of men in VAH-1, many will bring families.

From the economic point of view, this will mean much to our area.

But there is a far greater value to be considered. The new residents will become valuable additions to our local civic and social life. They will become our friends and neighbors.

The Sanford Naval Air Station will be strengthened by the move. As the home base for all the Heavy Attack Squadrons of the Atlantic Fleet, the station will be more important and of national defense.

All of Seminole County joins NAS in saying "Welcome Aboard" to VAH-1.

Service To Sanford

It is refreshing, in this age, when a man steps forward and attempts to do something for his fellow man.

Such action renews one's faith in the goodness of people. It is a reversal of the tradition of "getting all one can" — the all-out commercial approach to business.

Today, we nominate W. K. McRoberts for the high honor of "service to his community." Because he likes baseball, McRoberts volunteered to post $1,000 bond with the Florida State League to give Sanford an opportunity to discuss the possibility of obtaining organized baseball again.

The final decision on sponsorship of a team in the league cannot detract from the importance of McRoberts' action.

At a time when Sanford needed a $1,000 guarantee so that it might fully investigate the proposal, McRoberts came forth to make his pledge.

Without the guarantee, Sanford would have been unable to tell Florida State League directors that it had the money, that it was interested in a franchise and that it wanted all of the facts.

McRoberts recognized the benefits that baseball could bring to Sanford. To him, Sanford is indebted.

ELEPHANT'S GRAVEYARD?

Inez Robb Says

There was a time, within the memory of the majority of Americans living today, when the electorate got fed up with rapacious, undisciplined and bullheaded big business and slapped it down through the medium of its elected servants, the Congress of the United States.

It occurs to me that big labor might, with profit to itself, take a close look at this recent chapter of our national history. The sauce that is served the goose in one instance often becomes forced-feeding for the gander in short order.

Or, to put it in another way, no matter how wide the pendulum swings, on its return journey it sweeps just as far in the opposite direction. And it is one woman's opinion that the electorate is getting fed up with strikes against the public, and that it is particularly angered by strikes against the public at Christmastime.

Christmas strikes, affecting large segments of the public, are obviously a chosen instrument of policy in certain sections of labor. This season the general public has been the chief victim of strikes against the major airlines, at a time when holiday travel is at its height.

This year, the greater New York area, affecting some 15,000,000 persons, has been without metropolitan newspapers. Business has been seriously affected and readers inconvenienced by a strike of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' Union which the Rev. William J. Smith, director of St. Peter's Institute of Labor Relations, describes "unjustified and without reason."

Christmas in New York is the chosen season, too, for the transport unions to threaten to close down the subways and suspend bus service. These are not strikes against the subway and bus systems; these are strikes against a suffering and a no-longer-patient public.

Such a transport strike kept the city on pins and needles during the Christmas season of 1947 and probably will hang over it during the 1952 holidays, when contracts come up for renewal.

Surely, if labor's antenna is tuned in, it will discover that such strikes succeed only in angering the public and harming labor's cause.

It is especially relevant to read in Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's column that she has never heard more criticism of labor than during this present season. Labor does not have a better friend than Mrs. Roosevelt, and it might do itself a service by heeding this gentle warning.

The Christmas strike is a two-edged weapon. As for the newspaper strike, it has deprived the papers of the Yuletide bonus advertising that can mean the difference between red and black ink in a year's operation. Is it the object of irresponsible strikes to hamstring the industries from which strikers earn a living? At times, it surely seems so. It is significant that the other craft unions associated with the newspaper industry refused to support financially or otherwise the Mail Deliverers' strike.

Now big labor is planning to "collect" in the 80th Congress for its support which, to hear labor talk it, is solely responsible for the sweeping Democratic victories in the last election. It is planning a primary task force of 100 lobbyists in Congress, as well as pressure at the grass-roots level.

But maybe both Congress and big labor had better be reminded that Congress is primarily the servant — SERVANT — of the people, and that what happened almost three decades ago to big business at the hands of the electorate can also happen to big labor if the public is pushed too far.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Former President Harry Truman has told a half dozen of his closest confidantes in New York and Washington that he intends early in the new year to come out for Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri as his choice for the Democratic nomination for President in 1960.

In private talks with associates out of his Administration, Truman has expressed the conviction that by coming out early for his fellow Missourian he can determine the course of the convention and perhaps head off a bitter contest for the No. 1 place. In 1956 the former President waited until the Democratic met in Chicago to declare for the then Governor of New York, Averell Harriman.

At mass press conferences in the Blackstone Hotel, in support of his own candidate, Truman said that Adlai Stevenson could not win. He outraged Stevenson's ardent followers, and the convention, ignoring his counsel, chose the former Illinois Governor as the Presidential nominee for a second time.

Among Truman's associates are those who doubt the wisdom of his current decision. They believe it would be wiser for him to continue the line he takes publicly — the Democratic Party has many good candidates and when the convention meets we'll choose one of them. Certain of Symington's backers are known to feel that a Truman declaration might even harm the prospects for the Missouri Senator, who has repeatedly insisted that he is not a candidate for the Presidency.

But Truman, who has never lacked confidence in his own political wisdom, particularly following his extraordinary victory against all odds in his reelection in 1948, seems to feel sure that he can carry the day. He may, of course, be dissuaded, but he has always followed his own convictions with bold forthrightness.

The re-emerging of the old pros in the party around Symington as a compromise candidate is seen in the report that Jacob Arvey, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, is ready to start working for the Missourian.

Ragdale helped to initiate the boom for Stevenson that resulted in his first nomination for President in 1952.

As these experienced Democrats see it, the party dilemma looking to '60 is as follows:

Senator John F. Kennedy will come into the convention with the largest bloc of delegates. He will be opposed by a combination of the Northern liberals, with Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota as their torch bearer. If they choose Kennedy, the bloody battle that could ensue, particularly since Kennedy's Catholicism and the allegiance of Catholic voters in the big cities would be in the background, could destroy what seems today the party's excellent chance to capture the Presidency.

That, at any rate, is the fear of the experienced politicians out of the Truman Administration. It explains what appears to be a growing determination to make Symington the natural and inevitable choice and thereby avoid a bruising showdown.

Symington's voting record in the progressive yardstick laid down by Americans for Democratic Action, almost perfect. But he does not frighten the conservatives, who feel that basically he is one of them.

The Missouri Senator, overwhelmingly elected to a second term last November, has kept friends in every camp. He served as the first Secretary of the Air Force under Truman, and his backers believe that his continuing concern over strengthening America's defenses has helped to keep him in the forefront as a national figure.

Truman's role in the party, as the Democrats face a difficult decision in '60, is interesting. Some critics are beginning to say that his forthright and often violent statements that capture the headlines tend to stamp the image of the turbulent past on the party and identify it with the Truman era.

But the Democratic National Committee is about to ask Truman's permission to make his 53th birthday on May 8 the occasion for a great national rally, with a closed-circuit television show equivalent of "This Is Your Life" celebrating the nation's most famous Democrat.

Whether he launches months in advance of the convention a drive to determine the nominee or whether he holds his fire, Harry S. Truman is bound to have a lot to say about the politics of the coming Presidential year.

Humor Man Brings Life For Couple

MIAMI (UPI) — The Good Humor man brought more than ice cream to one Miami couple Sunday. He literally brought life. Police credited Cecil Ragdale, 34-year-old retired Georgia health official, with saving the life of 18-month-old Michael Gagner after the lot fell into a canal.

Ragdale arrived moments after the boy had been pulled unconscious from the canal. The lad's father, William, was frantically trying to save the lad.

But Ragdale saw he was using improper methods.

"The father was trying to such the water out of the boy's lungs with his mouth, but he was holding the boy's head too high and it wasn't working," said Ragdale. "He was understandably frantic."

Ragdale then asked to take over. Using the old-fashioned artificial respiration methods, he began to push rhythmically on the lad's body. Another man held his hand in young Michael's mouth to prevent him from biting his tongue.

"Pretty soon the baby was biting his fingers," said Ragdale, "and I knew we were going to bring him out of it."

"We kept on working on him and by the time the emergency squad got there with the oxygen, the baby was crying and pulling up quite a fuss."

Ragdale said he formerly worked with both the U.S. and Georgia Public Health Service. He said he started driving a Good Humor ice cream truck "for something to do" after retiring in Georgia.

Last year, he was credited with saving a heart attack victim in Georgia by using artificial respiration after the man's heart stopped.

Writer In Prison, Seeks 'One Story'

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UPI) — TV radio columnist Marie Torre settled down to a 10-day prison term for contempt of court today with three good books, a sharpened pencil and intentions of getting at least one good story out of her confinement.

The New York Herald Tribune columnist was committed to the Hudson County Women's Prison Monday for refusing to tell a federal court the source of a disputed news item about singer Judy Garland. She told newsmen her imprisonment would be a "badge of honor" in the battle for freedom of the press.

The 34-year-old mother of two infants was booked, fingerprinted and clad in a blue- and-white striped dress. She was assigned to a three-bed room with a view on the seventh floor that is used normally for court witnesses or civil prisoners. She is the only occupant.

Warren Henry B. McFarland said she will not come in contact with anyone charged with a crime. She will have nothing to do but read and take notes, according to prison officials. Guest columnists will write her daily column until her release Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Argentines Jail 'Swift Kick' Man

MENDOZA, Argentina (UPI) — Argentine womanhood breathed a sigh of relief today. The swift kick man is in jail.

The swift kick man was Humberto Victor Hidalgo 34, who was identified at the police station by a dozen of the young ladies he had annoyed.

Hidalgo operated by dropping a coin on the sidewalk. If a young lady slipped to pick it up, the questionable Don Juan would dash out of his hiding place, administer a swift kick and flee on his bicycle.

BETSY RAWLS

Rawls Strong Contender In Mayfair Tournament

If Betsy Rawls could start her 1955 tour of the women's golf circuit at anywhere near the pace she set early in 1954, she would be the odds-on favorite to take the Mayfair Inn LPGA title this week.

That South Carolina lass has been one of the leading women professionals since turning to the "play-doggy" rambles eight years ago.

After having one of her finest seasons in 1952, it appeared at the beginning of the 1954 tour that it would be Betsy Rawls against the field. She had just finished a year in which she had won five tournaments, was the sixth leading money winner with $9,785.

She started the past year with a record pace (final at Sea Island, was two of the next four tournaments and carried one of her lowest 72-hole totals since joining the pro ranks.

It was in 1952 that she started one of the LPGA's greatest comebacks. Trailing by seven strokes at the end of the first round at St. Petersburg, she rallied for a 72 and a pair of 73's to finish four strokes ahead of Jackie Pung and Bev Hanson.

Two weeks earlier, she had won the Tampa Open for the fourth time, the third in a row.

From this juncture on in 1954, she failed to crack the winner's circle again. However, she was in the money in all 17 tournaments in which she participated and finished in the top ten money winners for 1954.

With three National Opens already to her credit, her chief ambition in professional golf is to add two more of these titles to her growing list of achievements.

It was also in the National Open that she received her greatest thrill while an amateur. Playing in the tournament for the first time in 1930, she was runner-up to the late Babe Zaharias, which, of course, gave her the low amateur title in the event.

Possessing a solid, all-around game, Betsy feels that the weakest part of her game is the fairway woods. However, she is an excellent long iron player and once scored a hole in one in a match against Patty Berg.

One of the brightest spots of the tour each year for Betsy is a tournament named in her honor at her birthplace, Spartanburg, S. C. And, one of the big thrillers of her career came in 1954 when she shot a 292 to win the Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls Open Invitational.

Winning the National Open and two other championships her first year on the tour, she spurred to the top of the list as the leading money winner in 1952 with seven victories and has consistently been among the leading money winners every year.

Betsy, who didn't start playing golf until she was 17, had a brief but brilliant amateur career which included two Texas State championships, the Trans-Mississippi, the Broadmoor Invitational and the Hollywood Four Ball.

All told, this winsome lass has won 28 championships as a professional and in just eight years on the tour taken down more than $70,000 in prize money.

Newcombe Ready To Stand Trial

COLONIA, N. J. (UPI) — Don Newcombe, who never left home, was "freely and willingly" today to stand trial with his two brothers on charges of assaulting a former policeman.

Newcombe, reported to be harrasing in Venezuela, said Monday night, "I haven't left the city."

His trial, scheduled Monday before Essex County Judge Walter Conklin, was postponed to Jan. 26 because the Cincinnati Redlegs' pitcher was reported in Latin America.

"I don't know how anybody figured I was in Venezuela," Newcombe said at his home here.

When I signed my 1953 contract with Gabe Paul of the Redlegs recently, Gabe left for Venezuela but not me. I haven't left the city."

Newcombe further explained he asked for the postponement because he has acquired a new lawyer, who wanted more time to familiarize himself with the case.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has tentatively picked Henry Cooper of England for his next challenger. If Cooper beats Brian London next week.

That became an open secret to-day during the latest blast from Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, against promoter Jack Solomon of London and Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club.

D'Amato told reporters that Solomon and Gibson have joined forces in trying to entice Cooper away from promoter Harry Levine of London. Levine is a close friend of D'Amato and champion Patterson.

Although angry Gus would make no outright admission, his vehement tirade left no doubt that he and Levine had agreed upon Cooper as the next challenger—either in London or the United States — if Cooper wrests the British Empire title from London next Monday night at London.

Cooper knocked out London in the first round of their previous fight, May 1, 1954, and it is expected that D'Amato believes Cooper has the weapons to beat him again although London is now rated sixth among world contenders by the Ring Magazine, and Cooper seventh.

New York bookies say betting is "seven money" for Monday's fight, which is being promoted by Solomon. The powerful British Boxing Board of Control ordered Cooper to challenge London; and in the British Isles, boxers obey the BBBC — or else. Solomon is the promoter since he has London under contract.

Lakers Play Dead For Celtics Again

The Boston Celtics can thank the Minneapolis Lakers for their success over the last two seasons in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics, who won the Eastern Division title last season and currently are running far in front of the New York Knickerbockers, Philadelphia Warriors and Syracuse Nationals, whipped the Lakers for the 14th straight time 118-106 Monday night.

Bob Cousy, who has regained his shooting eye after a slow start, led the Celtics attack with 30 points, while Bill Russell picked up 23. Eighteen points each by Tom Pettit and Bill Sharman and 12 by Jim Lovett made it a total of 101 by the starting five.

The other 17 points were scored by Frank Ramsey, Lou Taborolo and Sam Jones.

Rookie Elgin Baylor tied Cousy for scoring honors by canning 30 for the Lakers while Larry Faust had 20.

It was only game played Monday night.

Seven-Footer Says He Wasn't 'Lured'

CORAL GABLES (UPI) — Seven-foot basketball star Mike McCoy of Fort Wayne, Ind., denied Monday that the University of Miami lured him away from a scholarship at Northwestern University.

McCoy, considered the prize catch among Indiana's prep basketball players last year, touched off a furor over the weekend when he announced he was quitting Northwestern, St. Louis, Mo., Northwestern's athletic director, charged that Miami "stole" McCoy after he enrolled at the Mid-west school.

But McCoy said he left Northwestern because "I wasn't happy there. . . I just didn't like the atmosphere."

He said he came to Miami with hopes of enrolling because a number of his friends from Fort Wayne are at the Florida school and because "I think I'll like it here."

Miami varsity basketball players Dave Hickox, Bruce Alexander and Dick Berghoff and transfer Chris Shavretti are all from Fort Wayne.

Ewbank Is Chosen Pro Coach Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilbur (Weeb) Ewbank, who climaxed his "five-year plan" by guiding the Baltimore Colts to their first championship, today was named the National Football League's "Coach of the Year" for 1954 in the annual United Press International poll.

Ewbank won the honor the way the Colts captured the 1954 Western Division title—easily. He received 22 of the 29 votes cast by sports writers who covered the 1954 campaign in the 11 league cities.

Buddy Parker, whose Pittsburgh Steelers were unbeaten in their first seven games, was a distant second in the voting with four votes. Only two other coaches were mentioned on the ballots.

Jim Lee Howell, whose New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Browns in a playoff for the Eastern Division crown, received two votes. Paul Brown of the Browns received the other vote.

When Ewbank left Cleveland's staff to become head coach of the Colts in 1954, he planned to produce a champion in five years. He hit it right on the button but his Colts needed the first "sudden death" overtime in NFL history to score a 23-17 victory over the Giants in the championship game Dec. 28.

The "Coach of the Year" poll was conducted before the championship game was played.

Watch Pirates,' Willie Mays Says

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Mays says "Look out for those Pittsburgh Pirates!"

Like a growing legion of others, the slugging San Francisco Giants center-fielder feels the Pirates have a good chance to run off with the National League pennant this year.

"Man, they really played great ball last year and all it takes is a little improvement for them to do it," said Mays, relaxing in front of the television set at his home here.

"I think our ball club still needs more pitching," he added. "We lost a awful lotta games we could've won if we just had a little better pitching."

"We finished third and Pittsburgh second. Those Pirates really came from nowhere and every time we played 'em, they looked like world champions to me."

In $70,000 brackets, Mays, already in the $70,000 salary bracket, will remain here until it is time to sign his 1955 contract and then he will return to San Francisco.

"My first year in San Francisco wasn't too bad," he grinned. "I didn't know too many people out there when I first arrived, but it was the same way when I first came to New York. I was getting used to California when the season ended."

Willie batted .317 last season, losing the batting crown to Richie Ashburn of the Phillies by only three points, but he says he wasn't the least bit disappointed. "How can anybody be disappointed hitting .317?" he asked. "I was mighty happy that I did as well as I did."

But he was hooded on occasion in San Francisco.

Weather Disturbs Him
"Didn't bother me a bit," he said. "They loved me at the Polo Grounds too, once in awhile, but I never pay any attention. The people pay their money and they can do what suits them. It don't disturb me."

The only disturbing element Willie did encounter in San Francisco, he said, was the weather. "If you kind cold there occasionally," he said, "and you know me, I'm a hot weather player."

Greyhounds To Run In Distance Races

Distance races will hold the spotlight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight.

For the first time this season, there will be three of the popular three-eighths mile tests on a single racing program.

Endurance greyhounds are scheduled for action in the first, seventh and 10th events. Usually there is only one distance race, always the final event, each evening.

Occasionally, Racing Secretary R. C. Williamson is able to get together a pair of three-eighths affairs.

Central Florida fans proved long ago that distance races are their favorite, but the Sanford-Orlando track can arrange only a limited number since it takes a special type of greyhound with unusual ability and stamina to go the three-eighths distance.

Top class among the three-eighths races will be found in the 10th tonight where a fast Grade II field is ready to go. Probable favorite is McKell, Rocky Mountain Derby winner, Oklahoma St. and Pacific Jurist are among others to watch.

The regular Grade A feature over the five-sixteenths mile will be run off in the ninth with Cri Tears and Rocky Mac Master among the sleepers to watch.

Back-To-Back Eagles Got Venturi Los Angeles Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Back-to-back eagles, one of the rarest of all golfing feats, put young Ken Venturi of San Francisco off and running in the quest for money winning honors on the 1954 golfing circuit today.

Venturi, a 27-year-old picture swinger who has been on the verge of greatness for his two years as a professional, won the $25,000 Los Angeles Open Monday with one of the great comebacks in golfing history.

Trailing by eight strokes at the start of the final round, Ken shot a 6-under par 30 on the front nine, then was 2 under par on the back nine for a 63 to catch the fading Art Wall and win by two strokes. He finished with a 214 for the 72 holes.

$3200 Victory
The victory was worth $3200 from the Los Angeles sponsor, and Ken picked up another $3000 from the golf ball company which he represents.

The back-to-back eagles that brought him the championship came on the eighth and ninth holes Monday. He was 2 under par coming into the seventh where he got a birdie 3. The eighth hole is 342 yards long and Ken used a driver to get within 18 inches of the pin on his second shot. He calmly tanked the putt and he was on his way.

The ninth is 508 yards long. On this one, he took two shots to barely make the green. This time he left himself a 40-foot putt, but he rammed it home and finished the front nine with the best score of the tournament.

Ken coasted home with a 2-under par 33 to equal the course record of 63 set by Tommy Bolt in 1954.

Costly 15th Hole
Wall was in contention right up to the 15th hole. Until then, he needed to par out the rest of the way to tie Venturi, who had finished his round an hour earlier. But he got a bogey and he followed that with a bogey on the par-three 17th.

"That 15th hole cost me about $2,000," Wall moaned later.

Wall collected $1400 for second place, with a score of 280. Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who was well in the running up to the 16th, when he too ran into a bogey, came in third with a 281 and got $2200 for his efforts.

Doug Samlers, the second day leader from Miami Beach, Fla., finished with a 74 for 282 and got $1900.

At 283, each collecting $533, were Paul Harney, Auburn, Mass.; Mike Souchak, Groesinger, N. Y.; and Bill, Crystal River, Fla. Alton Geilinger, Santa Barbara, finished with the same score to top the amateurs.

U. S. Agents Plan To Seize Big Arms Cache In Georgia

ATLANTA (UPI)—Federal agents planned to seize today a huge cache of anti-aircraft cannon and small arms linked to a Georgia Tech student aviation enthusiast visiting in Cuba.

Sheriff's deputies Monday found the store of 20 millimeter cannons, English automatic rifles and ammunition and explosives hidden in a deserted cabin in Henry County about 20 miles from here.

Supervisor Roy E. Kelly of the U. S. Alcohol and Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Service said the weapons would be confiscated under the Federal Firearms Act.

Kelly said the contraband was mailed from California addressed to Paul Hughes, Francis Hughes of Atlanta acknowledged owning the cabin and said his son Paul stored things there.

The son was identified as a 20-year-old former Air Force aviator, an electrical engineering student at Tech who flew to Havana last Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Hughes said her husband flew from Miami in a B26 which "was one of those people bought for use in the revolution" and her husband was helping his group "in trying to help in the negotiations to organize the new government."

Kelly said the cannon was of a type used to fire at low-flying aircraft and commented, "These weapons must have been intended for a much warmer climate."

Experts say the underlying cause of the trouble is Berber resentment of the growing influence of Morocco's Arabs, who have succeeded in disbanding several Berber political groups as "separatists."

Compromise Ends Vote Record Battle

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Agents worked hard today in preparation for a new Federal Civil Rights Commission hearing into alleged discrimination against Negroes.

The investigators moved quickly after they must complete their commissions of voting records before Friday under terms of a "non-compromise" agreement reached Monday between the commission and the state.

The state withdrew its defiant charges that the commission has no right to examine the records. The federal agency agreed not to force Circuit Judge George Wallace and five rebellious registrars to testify at a Friday meeting of the commission's sub-committee.

Specifically, the agreement said: Commission agents have the right to inspect official voter registration records in Barbour, Bullock and Macon counties to the extent they are relevant to the commission's inquiry and in a manor consistent with proper preservation and use of the records by state authorities. The inspection should be carried out in various counties and places where the records are kept."

The examination "shall not interfere with the proper judicial process of the state of Alabama."

Inspection of the records should be completed before Friday. Jurisdiction of the case remains in the hands of the U. S. district court here.

The surprise agreement was signed by Federal Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The Montgomery chapter of the White Citizens Council Monday said President Eisenhower should apologize to Alabama, now that the state has agreed to let civil rights investigators see voting records.

"An apology is due Alabama from President Eisenhower and everyone who has been crying that Alabama registration officials were in a violation of the law," the council said.

Gov. elect John Patterson, who had denounced the commission's earlier action as a "rank invasion of state rights," along with his legal counsel issued a statement which said:

"We feel that this order adequately protects the interest and dignity of the state of Alabama and its public officials."

"We have nothing to hide and our public officials have performed their duty in a legal and proper manner, treating all citizens equally and impartially."

Justice Department lawyers said:

"The order represents a sincere and cooperative effort on the part of counsel and the parties concerned to reach a solution whereby the rights and obligations of the United States and the state of Alabama are accommodated."

35 Dead, 130 Hurt In Congo Rioting

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—New street fighting erupted today despite concerted efforts by white and Negro troops to end rioting which has killed 35 persons and injured more than 130 this week.

Several leaders of the anti-white rioters have been arrested, and warrants have been issued for the arrest of others.

A white paratrooper battalion, flown in from Kamina, joined Negro troops in breaking down barricades throughout the city by the rioters. The soldiers used gas to disperse mobs at several points, but there was no immediate report of new casualties.

It appeared that in most cases the troops fired into the air over the heads of the rioters.

Mobs surged through the streets of the native quarter, shouting such slogans as "Belgians, go home!"

Gov. Gen. Henri Bosmans said all of those killed and more than 100 of those injured in the rioting were Negroes. Twenty-eight white men were reported injured.

Most of the rioters were Abako (Belgian) from the lower Congo. About 500,000 Abakos now work in the area near Leopoldville, and their votes made Arthur Piri mayor of the city's Kalamu district in the Congo's first municipal elections last year.

Officials Probing Big Fire In Tampa

TAMPA (UPI)—Firemen probed the charred interior of a two-story office building here today, seeking the cause of a $200,000 fire that left a total loss and slightly injured four firefighters.

The Morgan Building, which housed some offices of the General Telephone Co., smoldered for almost four hours Monday when flames were hindered by its hollow, windowless concrete walls that barred them from the source of the fire.

Fire Marshal Joe Gomez said the blaze began on the second floor, but that its cause could not be immediately determined. However, he said there was a possibility it was started by a piece of air conditioning equipment.

Not until a tree hook and ladder rig were used to the scene could firemen get water into the center of the building. Firemen chopped holes in the roof and poured tons of water through them.

Four firemen were overcome by smoke when they tried to reach the flames in the smoke-filled interior during the early stages of the battle.

Backyard Squabble Climaxes In Death

McDAVID, Fla. (UPI)—A backyard squabble between neighbors ended in the savage slaying of a 31-year-old woman Monday, authorities reported today.

Sheriff Emmett Shelby said Mrs. Nuntie Smith died almost instantly after her next-door neighbor allegedly cut her throat with his pocket knife. Her body was found slumped against the wire fence separating their houses.

Held on first degree murder charges was Luther Ray Smith, 32, no relation to the victim.

Investigators said the two apparently had been quarreling for several days. They exchanged heated words last Friday, a Sunday, a load of wood which Mrs. Smith piled against her neighbor's fence in the same backyard where she was killed.

Smith himself notified the sheriff's office of the wife's slaying. Patrolman J. D. Rigby said Smith told officers he became enraged Monday afternoon because the widow cursed Smith's wife, who was bedridden.

"When she said that, I just went blank and really don't know what happened," Smith was quoted as saying. He also told them the woman struck him with a board before he drew his knife.

Jewels In Garbage Rescued At Dump

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Combining haystacks for needles is pleasant and easy compared to what several men went through Monday.

Their was the final act in the saga of the $3,000 pall of garbage.

Mrs. John M. Tiller, who resides on nearby Siesta Key, has a habit of changing the hiding place for her jewelry.

Saturday, she stuffed the valuables into a paper bag and dropped the bag into her kitchen garbage pail, figuring this was the last place a thief might look.

Along came another member of the household and, not being privy to Mrs. Tiller's procedure, set the pail out for the collector.

The collector doesn't normally cover that neighborhood on Saturday. But he did that day.

The job of ferreting the jewels out of the city dump fell to a crew of county prisoners. The search was a success.

Barge Hits Ferry, 18 Persons Hurt

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eighteen persons were injured Monday night when a ferry boat carrying 1,800 commuters from Manhattan to Staten Island was rammed broadside in New York Harbor by a gasoline barge cast adrift by gale-force winds.

Thirteen of the injured were treated at a Staten Island Hospital for cuts and bruises, while the other five declined medical treatment.

Dulles Goes Home; Virus Is Blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles nursed a "virus infection" at his home today but aides said the illness was not a serious one.

The virus sent the secretary home from his office Monday. It was the latest—and apparently the mildest—of a series of ailments which began in November, 1958, with a successful operation on Dulles for intestinal cancer.

Dulles was hospitalized again with an inflamed intestine last month, just before the NATO meetings in Paris. His physicians let him attend the sessions, but ordered him to take a rest thereafter. He spent the holidays in Jamaica.

The cabinet member returned from Jamaica Saturday, reported that he was "feeling fine," and looked it. Then, he contracted the new ailment on his first day back at work.

Beverage Tax Up By Five Per Cent

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—State Beverage Director H. G. Cochran today reported tax receipts for the first six months of the fiscal year increased more than five per cent over the same period last year.

Total collections so far for the period were $36,834,330, compared with the $34,836,088 last year.

December collections were up 15 per cent over the same period last year. Collections for December, 1958, totaled $4,450,414, an increase of $1.13 per cent over the $3,917,378 in December, 1957.

Cochran said the figures were very pleasing to the department and represented an increase in excess of anticipated receipts.

Richard Boone To Shave Mustache, Portray Abe

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Richard Boone—Will Travel! Boone shaves his mustache this week and heads for Broadway where he will star on the stage as—now get this—Abraham Lincoln.

The lanky, pleasantly homely TV star opens Feb. 12 (Lincoln's birthday) in "The Rivalry" at New York's Bijou Theater, co-starring with Martin Gabel in the story of the famed Lincoln-Douglass debates.

"It's a long jump from horse opera cowboy to Broadway Lincoln, but Boone figures he can make it."

"I played Lincoln three years ago in a TV show," he said. "So the role isn't too frightening from that aspect."

"The least of my worries is that audiences will think they're seeing Palatin playing Lincoln. I'll be able to lose my TV identity all right. What troubles me is determining what kind of man Lincoln really was. I must play the man, not the legend."

Preconceived Notions
"Everyone has a preconceived idea about him. After all, he was a man—a human being, not a saint."

Boone has buried himself in Lincoln lore, books and research, but refused to run old movies to observe how other actors portrayed the role.

"The source material I've read tells me what he said and did, but not what caused him to behave and react to situations. I won't see past performances of Lincoln because I'd only be confused attempting to imitate them. I'm not a great scholar, but as an actor I think I've discovered the key to Lincoln's character and personality. It was his aloneness in the world. A lonelier man never lived."

Accepting the brief role—the play will run only through May 30—has cost Boone a fortune. He turned down two lucrative movie roles and four live television appearances for the job. And he'll be paid only a small salary.

Infantry Cuts Off Reb Retreat Route

RABAT, Morocco (UPI)—Motorized infantry sealed off the Rif Mountains today, ready for action against mutinous Berber tribesmen who have been ordered to lay down their arms by 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Several battalions of troops moved into position on the flanks of the snow-capped range straddling the Mediterranean coast 150 miles northeast of here.

The Rif Berbers, traditional rebels, took to the woods last month as a protest against the trial of Berber chieftain Adidi on Bibi as an anti-government plotter and King Mohammed V's order for the arrest of Lahcen Lyoussi, another Berber, on charges of treason.

Lyoussi fled to the Atlas Mountains, where he has been traveling under the protection of a heavily armed escort.

Experts say the underlying cause of the trouble is Berber resentment of the growing influence of Morocco's Arabs, who have succeeded in disbanding several Berber political groups as "separatists."

Wildcats To Visit 'Vanderbilt Tonight'

United Press International
The nation's No. 1 college basketball team visits Vanderbilt tonight for the only Southeastern Conference game scheduled.

The Kentucky Wildcats, who moved into first place in the ratings this week for the first time in nearly two years, bring an unbeaten string of 16 games into the contest.

Although Vanderbilt has lost five while winning five so far this season, Wildcat Coach Adolph Rupp figured tonight's game as no pushover. "Any time we come to Nashville, we can expect a real tough ball game," he said Monday.

There are four intra-conference games Monday night, highlighted by Auburn's 20th straight victory. The Plainsmen trampled Mississippi 69-47 to keep alive the country's longest win streak, and the Florida Gators topped favored Louisiana State 61-63.

Georgia put its second conference win on the books with a 75-63 decision over Tulane, and the Florida Gators topped favored Louisiana State 61-63.

Kentucky Leading College Cage Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Kentucky Wildcats, who emerged from college basketball's holiday action with an 11-0 record, today replaced the Cincinnati Bearcats as the nation's No. 1 team in the United Press International ratings.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats took over first place in the UPI ratings for the first time since Feb. 1, 1953. Cincinnati, which suffered its first two losses of the campaign last week when it bowed to North Carolina State and North Carolina in the Dixie Classic, dropped to sixth.

Cincinnati had topped the ratings during the first four weeks of the campaign. North Carolina State slipped from sixth to seventh in the biggest upheaval of the season among the top 10 teams. St. Johns University of New York was the only newcomer in the top group, taking over 10th place with a Texas Techian slipped from ninth to 13th.

North Carolina State was second, while Kansas State remained third. North Carolina was fourth, Michigan State, Cincinnati, Northwestern, Bradley, Auburn and St. John's rounded out the top ten.

West Virginia headed the second 10 group. Texas A&M, Texas Christian, California, Mississippi State, Purdue, St. Bonaventure and Marquette followed in that order. Utah State and Oklahoma City tied for 19th place.

Wilson Is Chosen As Sanford Mayor

Without the anticipated vote, Al Wilson was elected Mayor of Sanford last night in a surprise decision by City Commissioners.

The nomination was made by P. J. "Doughboy" who elected a delegate. Said Higginbotham: "I think that we appoint Al Wilson temporary chairman of this commission and nominate him for mayor of 1950."

City Attorney W. C. Hutchison Jr. ruled that nominations must be kept open until the temporary chairman is elected Mayor. In accepting the office, Wilson said: "I will do my utmost to be a good mayor and maintain the dignity of this honor."

Wilson moved to the chair vacated by former Mayor Merle Warmer, immediately after Joe Baker took the oath of office as commissioner from Acting City Clerk, Henry Tamm.

David Gatchel, who had served on the board for three years, was given a silver tray as a memento. In his remarks, Gatchel said he had just left a day-long session in his first day on the Board of County Commissioners, jokingly said, "You boys don't know anything about government until you walk across the street to the courthouse."

Brush Fire Burns Seminole Timber

A fast moving forest fire Monday, burned 15 acres of pine timber near Oviedo.

The blaze was traced to a small trash fire that was allowed to escape.

According to Ranger Bob Leverett, the 30 mph wind and gusts hampered efforts of Forest Service rangers to control the blaze. Crawler tractors and fire line pumps were able to suppress the fire just short of two dwellings and several small buildings.

Leverett said the area burned was recently situated, and heavy with rough underbrush. There were few natural barriers to slow its advance.

Citizens of Seminole County were warned by County Engineer Bob Gray to be extremely careful with fire and to report any unusual situation, and heavy fire to the Florida Forest Service. He urged all those who need fire lines to call the service now in order to get adequate protection. The first 15 minutes of the plowing time is complimentary.

Two Men Injured In Auto Accident

William F. Ford, 21, and Jeff Williams, Anderson, 43, were taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital this morning following an automobile accident at 24th St. and French Ave. at 8:23.

Ford suffered severe lacerations of the forehead and eyes. Anderson's knee was jammed into the ignition key on the car he was driving, causing a deep injury.

Officers said Anderson was traveling south on French Ave. when he saw the car ahead attempting to make a left turn into the Amoco Service Station. He applied brakes too late, and skidded 70 feet into the rear of an automobile driven by Mrs. Ernest Hunter Chick, Sanford. Mrs. Chick was uninjured. Ford was a passenger in Anderson's car.

Sgt. Ben Butler charged Anderson with failure to have his vehicle under control. Butler said that Mrs. Chick had observed all safety signals. Damages were estimated at $300 to Anderson's car, $250 to the car driven by Mrs. Chick.

Auto Suicide Try Fails To Succeed; Other Driver Dies

MIAMI (UPI)—A young attorney, despondent over marital problems and acute alcoholism, tried to commit suicide Tuesday by ramming his car into another vehicle, the Highway Patrol said.

Instead, Paul Andre Foisy, 33, succeeded only in killing the driver of the other car. Foisy was critically injured but expected to live.

In his pocket, troopers found an apparent suicide note to his girl friend in which he said this was "the best way out for you and me" because of his alcoholism.

Officers said the driver of the other car, Henry Newton Moore, 30, swerved off the road to try to avoid the collision. But they said Foisy, speeding along at more than 80 miles an hour, literally pursued Moore's car off the road.

Moore, a bridge tender, was father of two children. Besides Moore's body in the twisted wreckage whimpered the victim's frisky Collie dog. The dog died a short time later.

"The worst thing about it," said Trooper H. R. Blair, "is that Foisy could have picked out any one of a long line of pine trees on his side of the road to crash into. They would have done the job just as well."

Friends and relatives said in the past year Foisy had drunk his way out of a happy marriage and promising career. He spent several months in a veterans' hospital for acute alcoholism.

Last month his divorce became final and Foisy quit his law practice. Friends said he spent most of his time drinking and talking of suicide.

J. Edgar Hoover Asks Stiffer Law For Death Driver

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today branded the "death driver" as "Public Enemy No. 1" and called for sterner punishment of traffic law violators.

Obviously disturbed over the high holiday traffic death toll, Hoover said the American public must take "positive action" to avert the "threat of national suicide" on the highway.

Writing in the FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover charged that the "automobile assassin is a vicious criminal and must be treated as a major menace to society."

"Drivers who fail or refuse to abide by the traffic code," Hoover said, "must be dealt with in sterner fashion. In the battle of life and death on the highway, the public interest demands that flagrant and repeating offenders be punished by denial of driver's licenses, maximum fines or long jail terms."

The FBI chief said that where states such as Connecticut and North Carolina have cracked down on reckless drivers, traffic enforcement programs have been successful.

Sanford Rescinds Parking Lot Vote

Sanford City Commissioners last night rescinded their decision to buy a parking lot for the city from Bill Morrison.

After careful study by the board, commissioners decided that the price ($75,000) was too high, and that parking space could be utilized instead around the Civic Center and the Chamber of Commerce.

Work will begin immediately on the parking lot at First St. and Sanford Ave. The off-street parking will serve First St. shopping areas and recreation facilities.

In the annual audit, the City of Sanford came out with a $5,000 surplus. A check was approved in the Orlando Evening Co. for ten per cent for repairs and curbing, due in February.

Dead Wilson's resignation was accepted from the Board of Band Trustees. Wilson asked that the duties of the trustee be clarified. Still serving on the Board are Volpe Williams Jr. and Herman Jacobson.

Commissioner Merle Warner told City Commissioners that the surplus plan for the playground hinged on approval by the Secretary of the Navy and available aircraft.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles told Commissioners how much the resolution gives to Heidi Sayer meant to the dying City Clerk, who had served Sanford for 31 years.

Knowles also commended City Attorney W. C. Hutchison Jr. for the phrasing of the resolution. Sayer died New Year's Eve, only a few days after the resolution was presented to him.
