Why was police officer fired?

Crooms principal wants explanation from chief

By Russ White
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Dr. Bredette Hardy-Blake, the principal at Crooms Academy, went to air a complaint today with Sanford Police Chief Joe Dillard.

Hardy-Blake wants to know how the SPD could fire 35-year-old Arthur Barnes, the Community Resource Officer at the school.

"I'm very distraught - this is a detrimental loss to Crooms Academy," Hardy-Blake said Monday. "Officer Barnes' trust level with the students and their parents is really tremendous. I'm going to ask Chief Dillard if he realizes how all this is going to effect the school."

Sanford City Commissioner Velma Williams said Monday that she had received numerous calls from city residents who were upset at the firing. "Arthur is considered an exceptional role model and a valuable asset," Williams said. "I'm saddened, depressed about how this is happened. It's a sad day for Sanford."

Barnes, a 12-year veteran of the department, said he believes he was the victim of a personal vendetta. "In 12 years, I was not disciplined once. I was never on probation or suspended for even a day. I don't understand why this was done other than it being a personal vendetta."

Williams said she was con-

Firing hotly protested

By Nick Pflaush
 HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - It was standing room only at the Sanford City Commission meeting. For an hour and a half, citizens stepped forward to object to the firing of Sanford Police Officer Arthur Barnes.

Many suggested Police Chief Joe Dillard should be fired rather than Barnes or at least that the city should undertake a thorough investigation of Dillard.

While most agreed that Barnes, for failing to make appropriate phone calls regarding showing up for work late, should be punished in some way, every one vehemently disagreed with the firing.

Many reported listening to an audio tape of the firing, in which they reported hearing possibly two persons in the background laughing during the dismissal.

One of the first speakers was Sanford resident Beverly Pinkney who immediately demanded to know why the commission fired Barnes. Mayor Larry Dale responded that the city does not hire police officers, only the police chief.

Pinkney asked the question again however. This time, City Manager Bill Simmons explained that the matter was still in the process of being handled under due process that the FOP (Fraternal Order of Police) and city personnel were still investigating the incident.

"Somebody is incompetent," she said. "You need to investigate your police department. Please see Firing, Page 4A

SANFORD - Wednesday, May 13 beginning at noon, the public is invited to help celebrate National Historic Preservation Week, by visiting the Student Museum and Center for Social Studies, 301 W. 7th Street in Sanford.

The theme for the week is "Preservation Begins at Home." Serena Fisher at the Student Museum said the museum exemplifies the theme. "By preserving a historic school, Seminole County Public Schools created a school away from school for students," she said.

The Romanesque Revival building is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

It was built in 1902 as Sanford High School, and renamed Sanford Grammar School when a new high school opened in 1911.

Wheelchair athlete rolls through town with a cause

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Rolling on through Sanford, wheelchair athlete Ken Cummings hopes that people are paying attention to what he is doing.

For the fourth time in two years, Cummings is rolling his way into record books for a good cause. He is, again, riding his wheelchair across America to create an awareness about central nervous system paralysis. He wants to make people understand that with help and determination, new drugs and treatments can be developed to allow sufferers more physical freedom. His hopeful, record-setting 33-day trip came through Sanford Thursday afternoon.

Cummings began this quest in 1995 when he was the first quadriplegic to roll a wheelchair across America traveling from San Diego to Washington D.C. in 9 weeks to raise money for spinal cord injury. In 1997, Cummings became the first person to complete a coast-to-coast country trip in a wheelchair.

His goal is to reach the million dollar plateau this time around. This year, several of his stops will be to conduct events to raise more money and awareness. So far, 18 events have been planned by over 500 volunteer committee members.

The San Diego Community Foundation (SDCF) has established "A Path to Your Future" - The Ken Cummings Fund to support his quest. Cummings is running for the Father, daughter have lead 'roles'

Special to the Herald

SANFORD - Sanford Middle School Principal Bill Moore and daughter Laura Moore, now a "principal" dancer with the very prestigious Atlanta Ballet, share a moment to reflect on their titles, but that is only the beginning of their similarities.

As principal, "Mr. Moore" works daily with young students...so does principal "Miss Moore". Laura not only performs regularly as a soloist, (referred to as a Principal Dancer) with the Atlanta Ballet, but teaches young students daily at their associate school, the Atlanta Ballet Center for Dance Education, referred to as A.B.C.D.E.

"Miss Laura", as she's called by her students, has recently shared her teaching talents locally with dancers at Miriam & Valerie's School Of Dance Arts. Having grown up in Sanford, studying dance at Miriam & Valerie's studio and performing with the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, Laura feels like it's her turn to "give something back" in the way of experience and expertise in the field of dance. Laura has proven her skills in the most difficult discipline of dance, classical ballet. Eager students now look to her for advice, correction and encouragement, much the same as local middle schoolers look to their principal Bill Moore.

Audiences applaud Laura Moore nightly as she performs in the spotlight at the Fox Theatre in Atlanta. Parents of local students applaud her dad in a different way. The results are excellence, in each example. Two principals named Moore, dedicated to the education of youngsters, share their ideas and ideals, and take equal pride in each others' achievements, as education and the arts go hand in hand.

Laura returns now to Atlanta to begin rehearsals for their performances in China in May, the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole has also been invited to do four performances in China in the summer of 1989.

What you need to know about the Medfly

On Monday, April 27, a single female Mediterranean fruit fly was detected in the Lake County town of Umatilla. Intensive trapping began immediately in an 81 square-mile area surrounding the find. Two days later, 54 additional Medflies were trapped in two additional locations within a mile of the first find. Of the 54 flies trapped, 45 were found in a single trap. Personnel involved in the operation observed considerable Medfly activity in this area. A warning was issued by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services that no host fruit or vegetable may move out of the area unless authorized by their Department.

To date, the Florida Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture continue ground applications of bait treatments as part of the medfly eradication effort in and around the Umatilla area. Crews are hand spraying citrus and other host trees and plants in areas where medflies have been discovered. The spray is made up of a protein bait which attracts the flies, mixed with a small amount of the pesticide Malathion (9.6 ounces of bait to 2.4 ounces of Malathion applied per acre).

Homeowners and property owners are being notified prior to any treatment. The USDA is requesting permission from the United States Environmental Protection Agency to do a total of four aerial applications of the bait treatment followed by a sterile medfly release program. One aerial treatment was completed over a 23.5 square mile area on Sunday, May 4. Pending approval from the EPA, the three additional aerial treatments will cover 30 square miles due to new medfly discoveries west and northeast of the original find.

Host plants: Mandarin, grapefruit, oranges, hot pepper, bell pepper, strawberry, avocado, mango, fig, guava, plum, papaya, peach, pomegranate, noursop, and many others.

Medfly maggots bore throughout the fruit and render it unfit for human consumption. Adult females lay an average of about 10 eggs into each healthy fruit or vegetable while still on the tree or on the vine. Each egg hatches into a white maggot that grows up to 1/4 inch in length.

Medfly control: Eggs and maggots, once inside the fruit or vegetable, are not killed by insecticides, so they continue to hatch, feed and grow. In areas where Medfly has become established, growers typically resort to weekly insecticide spraying of fruiting trees and garden plots to kill adults. An alternative is to physically bag individual fruits before they ripen to prevent female Medfly from laying eggs.

Environmental factors: Medfly can breed prolifically and persist year-round in most parts of Central and South Florida. Medfly population sizes typically increase 10 to 100 fold every 30 days at temperatures of about 79 degrees F.

Fruit and product costs: Increased costs from crop loss, insecticide treatment, fumigation or other post-harvest treatment against Medfly will be passed on to consumers. An alternative is to neglect local economics and spend our dollars on produce from other states or countries.

Agricultural impact: The Florida citrus industry has a great deal at stake should the Medfly establish here. About 25 percent (nearly $3.4 billion) of total cash receipts for all agricultural commodities (including livestock) in Florida comes from citrus. Note, however, that equally at risk is another 12 percent of the economy contributed by fruits, vegetables, melons and berries such as pepper, tomato, strawberry, mango, and avocado. Those areas greatest affected include Hillsborough County with the greatest number of individual farms (2,700), but and small, of any county in the state followed by Polk County with 2,294 farms. Both counties have huge acreage's devoted to orange, tomato, peppers, strawberry, grapefruit and other crops at high risk of Medfly infestation. Over 90,000 Floridians are directly employed as farm workers. Many thousands of others are employed in other agriculture-related jobs including processing and distribution of fruit and vegetable products.

He has served as state prosecutor for the past 13 years and has prosecuted hundreds of cases including a number of violent and career criminal cases. Prior to joining the State Attorney's office, he was a U.S. Customs Service attorney, a U.S. Coast Guard attorney and a former assistant public defender in Brevard County.

Griesbaum's priorities would be to push for the establishment of a specialized domestic violence court. "We need to do much more to prevent violence in the home," he said.

Another goal would be to stress increasing crime prevention efforts with juveniles.

Griesbaum and his wife, Elisa, an elementary school teacher, have been married for 15 years and presently reside in Titusville with their daughter, Kersten.

cerned that once again there were management problems at the SPD. "From what I'm hearing all this does confirm some things that people were doing previously. I'm getting pessimistic about our police operation."

Disturbing also is a tape Williams said Barnes has of Cmdr. Willie Harden telling him he was being dismissed. Someone - perhaps Chief Dillard - is heard laughing in the background. "It's embarrassing," Williams said.

The 21-page statement from the SPD accuses Barnes of a number of violations - from an accident with an SPD vehicle, being hostile and argumentative with fellow officers, absence from duty and insubordination. Several of his fellow officers testified that Barnes told them or others they should not count on him to be there for them.

A statement made by his superiors said that Barnes was responsible for a traffic accident in an SPD vehicle on April 9 and that on April 30 he confronted two members of the Collision Review Board in a "hostile and argumentative manner" over his displeasure at their findings.

Officer Michael Taylor said that Barnes did not show at the accident review hearing, and because he was absent he was unable to answer questions the board had. The board had to make its decision based on the accident report and what Barnes' supervisor had to say. Taylor said that Barnes was "loud and irate," saying he was not notified of the hearing.

Investigator Mark Raborn said Barnes twice refused to assist him when working on a shooting at Seminole Gardens last month. On the first occasion, he said Barnes acted as if he did not want to assist and walked away," Raborn said. "Later he said, 'I ain't helping nobody' and walked away," Raborn said.

Hardin said Barnes also was reprimanded for an act of insubordination for not reporting to the Seminole County School Board Office to finger print individuals on April 29. Hardin said this was the third time Barnes failed to appear for a scheduled assignment.

"After conducting a supervisory inquiry of the alleged violations, I believe the totality of policy violations and officer misconducts are serious enough to warrant dismissal," Hardin signed his statement.

Barnes was on duty at Crooms from 6:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Monday through Friday but Hardy-Blake said he frequently was also at school functions on weekends. On Friday May 1, Barnes was accused of being absent from his duty by his supervisor although he was told by Hardy-Blake that he was not expected that day.

Hardy-Blake was determined to find out if the Arthur Barnes who served at Crooms Academy could possibly be the same Arthur Barnes fired by the SPD. "We had a couple of other community resource officers here before Arthur Barnes and neither lasted long," she said. "This is a big loss for us."

The Bible says that God is extremely patient, wishing that no one should perish, but that all should come to repentance. Jesus Christ died for YOUR sins. Believe it! Please look up Romans 10:9 and John 8:31

Burning down the house

Things are heating up at this house fire. Not to worry, this "controlled burn" was used by the Seminole County Fire Department as a training exercise this past week. The house was already scheduled for destruction due to the widening of 25th Street to Interstate 4. The house was also used recently for a WKMG Channel 6 news spot showing people how to evacuate a house on fire.

Firing

Go back and review it thoroughly. No one should have been fired. If anyone is to be fired it should be management."

Tom Alexander suggested a petition be circulated to ask the police chief to step down. "Some time back the city spent money on investigating the police department," he commented. "It was just a waste of taxpayers' money. We have waited so many months for a change because of that, but nothing has been done."

Kenneth Bentley pointed out that Barnes had an excellent

12-year career with the department. He said Barnes had been through difficult times and had hard duty. "But he's honest. He'd point out his own brothers if he had to, because he's honest," Bentley said. He concluded his comments by telling the commission, "Goldboro is watching you."

Former Sanford City Commissioner Bob Thomas disagreed to another situation. "I recall, many years ago, when a police officer appeared to be in trouble, and he came to me asking me to help him keep his job," Thomas said he worked very hard to persuade the commission to override the proposed dismissal, and it was finally approved on a 3 to 2 vote. The officer was Joe Dillard. "Now we need to show compassion again," Thomas said. "He's been here 12 years. He must have done something right."

Brenda Hartfield spoke of Barnes' character, explaining his activities with softball teams. "He took drug dealers off the streets and put them into ball teams," she said.

One younger spokesman explained that Barnes had helped him get a job. "I would probably be in jail if Barnes hadn't stepped in," he said. "But he helped me get a job and now I'm a supervisor on that job."

Errors, lack of experience dooms Bears

Special to the Herald

SARASOTA - When the Winter Springs Bears took the field in Sarasota Thursday night it was easy to see confidence, pride and youth. What they lacked was the big "E", experience. Couple that with crucial errors and the result was a 6-5, nine inning victory for Chaminade-Madonna College Prep from Hollywood in the Class 3A-Regional Semifinals at Cardinal Mooney High School. The Bears (13-11) got a single from Becky Mangino and a double from Leslie Helms in the top of the first inning, but could not push a run across the plate. Chaminade got a runner on in the bottom of the first, but third baseman Dixie Reynolds

Fighting male pattern baldness

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Are there any new remedies to promote hair-growth in men?

DEAR READER: There are two that have been recently approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Propecia is the same as Proscar, a drug used to shrink swollen prostate tissue. However, Propecia is available in a weaker dose (1 milligram, as opposed to 5 milligrams for Proscar).

Also, Rogaine is now available in an "extra strength" formulation.

Propecia is administered as a pill. It results in a significant but hardly stunning regrowth of hair. Adverse effects include loss of sexual interest and impotence, according to the Medical Letter, the bible of therapeutics.

How Rogaine works is unknown. Marketed as a cream or pills, the medication promotes hair growth — but only as long as the drug is continued. When it is stopped, nearly all the new-grown hair falls out. Thus, chronic use is mandatory. Adverse effects include rapid pulse, dizziness and skin reactions.

The Medical Letter concludes that these products can produce a modest increase in scalp hair in men, but both must be continued indefinitely and the long-term safety remains to be determined. The cost is substantial (Propecia: wholesale $47 per 30 tablets; Rogaine Extra-Strength: wholesale $29 for one month's supply). Neither drug should be taken by women. The Medical Letter also concludes that Rogaine Extra-Strength is not significantly superior to standard Rogaine.

To give you more information on medicines in general, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a "floater" in my left eye that is driving me crazy. Is there any way to cure this condition?

DEAR READER: Floaters are specks of calcium that are suspended in the jellylike fluid within the eyeball. As the floaters migrate willy-nilly in this fluid, they often cross the line of vision, leading to shadows on the retina that are perceived as dark spots. This situation is harmless and most ophthalmologists advise no treatment. I think that your best bet is to accept and ignore your floater. Therapy is more trouble than it's worth.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been told that caffeine destroys the vitamins and minerals in the body. What is your opinion?

DEAR READER: Recent reports have confirmed the safety of caffeine-containing beverages, provided they are consumed in moderation. Therefore, you can safely enjoy your morning coffee or tea — or a soda later in the day — without fearing that your vitamin and mineral levels will be depleted.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Eating Right for a Healthy Heart." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

By Phillip Alder

Following on from the excellent "Counting at Bridge," Mike Lawrence (aided by the programming skills of Fred Gibbons) has produced a second great product, "Private Bridge Lessons, Volume 1."

The disk contains over 130 deals on seven topics: endplays, squeezes, locating the opponents' high cards, mysterious deals (in which the line of play is unclear), safety plays, percentage plays, and entries. As you progress through each deal, Lawrence asks you the questions you should be asking yourself. (He also makes useful observations about the bidding.)

Here is one deal from the locating section. Hide the East-West cards as best you can. How would you play in three no-trump after West has led the spade two?

Your contract seems to be on the line at trick one. If you misplay the spades, you will surely fall to immediate defeat. Yet it isn't a guess. Answer this question first: What happens if you make the correct spade play?

You still aren't home. You need both red-suit finesses to work. So, you should place East with those kings. And how many spades has East got?

Assuming West's lead is honest, East has five spades. If he had fewer, he would have overcalled one spade. The answer is clear. Call for the spade king.

I agree wholeheartedly with Lawrence when he claims that locating your opponents' high cards is the most important topic in declarer-play.

You must have Windows 3.1 or 95 on your computer. The disk is available for $37.95 postpaid from Mike Lawrence, 131 Alvarado Road, Berkeley, CA 94705.

Star Birthday

Wednesday, May 13, 1998

In the year ahead, your material position can be strengthened through enterprise and effort, but do not become too daring or foolish. Follow your natural inclinations to success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A treasured axiom says, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." Keep this in mind today in all of your commercial affairs, both large and small. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and $ASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Friends who are in a position to assist you might beg off today if they feel you're only copying up to them because they are needed. Be sincere.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you are unduly impressed with your own ideas today, it could cause you to turn a deaf ear to superior suggestions from co-workers.

ASTRO-GRAPH

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Subdue inclinations today to impulsively jump into joint endeavors before testing the waters. Know exactly what you're getting yourself involved in. Be slow, not sorry.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) People who are sincerely concerned about your welfare might want to offer you helpful advice today. Hear them out in detail before making any moves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You're not the type of person who ignores responsibilities. However, today you might step out of character and leave what needs doing up to others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though material conditions are improving, this is not the right time to be wasteful or extravagant. Focus your efforts on thrift and prudence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you might be a shade too opinionated for your own good. You may think you're impressing others — you are, but not necessarily in the right way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Keep a lock on your tongue today, or else there's a possibility you may not be able to keep an important secret.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Do not permit your extravagant whims to gain the upper hand today. If you pal around with big spenders, there's a chance this could happen. Call your shots for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) It will take more than your charismatic personality to get you by today where important goals are concerned. Objectives can be achieved through dedication, not smiles and one-liners.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Usually, you're a logical, methodical individual, but today you might leave important matters up to chance and severely lessen your chances for success.
