

Bay State Prison Riot, Led By Two Killers, Is Ended

BOSTON (AP)—Forty-three prisoners, led by two life-term killers, released two hostages unharmed and surrendered early today about 15 hours after rioting at Massachusetts State Prison in Charlestown and barricading themselves in the auto plate shop.

Correction Commissioner Maxwell B. Grossman said no promises were given to the prisoners and added, "They'll get the maximum (penalty)."

The two hostages, Cornelius Horgan, 41, and John Kerrivan, prison employee, said they were swept into the 3-story building to the top floor where the prisoners set up a barricade.

They said they were not harmed, bound or gagged by the prisoners. The hostages added that although they were allowed to move around rather freely in the room they spent a weary night and always felt in danger.

The riot broke out about 1 p. m. Tuesday and ended about 4:15 a. m. today.

Thirty other prisoners surrendered earlier after a tear and vomit gas barrage sent them streaming back to their Cherry Hill Section cells weeping like cry babies. The Cherry Hill Section, which usually quarters condemned men, housed only quarrelsome prisoners.

The barricaded prisoners submitted their grievances to Grossman and Officer DeLoach, who would not surrender or release the hostages until they saw their demands in newspapers. They also demanded no reprisals.

Grossman delivered the early morning edition to the prisoners so they could see their grievances in print. But, a state police spokesman said, the prisoners continued to haggle with the commissioner and presented more demands.

Among their demands were better food, pay for work as prescribed by a 1946 legislative act, less confinement for minor infractions, more time for showers, lowered, once a week, more free time, especially for lifers.

over a Girls State. She was found guilty and sentenced to two more days at Girls State. She told of the fun of swimming in the college pool and of the tours of the Capitol building, the Governor's mansion and the Supreme Court building. During one of the legislative sessions a bill was passed to hold a reunion of the group. She also told of the measure passed by the House of Representatives providing for life imprisonment without possibility of pardon for dope-peddlers.

Mrs. Beverly Gray, sent by the Pilot Club, and Miss Joan Wright, by the American Education Association, were unable to attend the picnic. The girls were introduced by Mrs. E. H. Laney, program chairman.

Mrs. Nancy Brook, who served as a delegate to the Pilot International convention held at Macine Island, Mich., described the convention site as "being out of this world." Steeped in history where many battles were fought, the old fort still stands at one end of the island which can be reached only by ferry. No cars are allowed on the island so transportation is by bicycle or surrey.

She described the visit to the Governor's summer home where the guests were served tea and of the red velvet carpet which adorned the many steps leading up to the Grand Hotel, convention headquarters.

There were 647 delegates and guests in attendance with seven countries represented including the United States, Canada, England, France, Tokyo, Mexico and Bermuda. Tulsa, Okla., was selected as the 1953 convention site.

Florida was given six top awards and two Florida women had the distinction of being elected to International offices. The Jacksonville club won the "Club of the Year" award and Mrs. Edith McBride Cameron of Gainesville was elected second vice president of Pilot International. Mrs. Genie Dodd, past district governor, was elected a director.

An international project was suggested which would provide a scientific scholarship to a girl or boy to attend the Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbor, Me. The funds to be allotted from the "Ruby Newhall Scholarship Fund" set up in memory of Miss Newhall of Gainesville. She who died shortly after her election as president of Pilot International.

Another international project, optional with the individual clubs, will be the formation of "Anchor Clubs." A proposed national project, "Girls Town" was recommended for further study.

The convention was presided over by retiring president, Miss Helen Hoffman of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Mildred Boyer of Oklahoma was elected 1953-54 president and installed with the other international officers to climax the event.

Following the reports a short business meeting was held last night with Mrs. Brook presiding. A report of the "Miss Bank" chairman, Mrs. W. M. Hollyhead, revealed a total of 179 quarts of fresh milk furnished to underprivileged families during June. The Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital Association thanked the club for the Vesuvius tinned which were recently installed in the "Pilot Room." The club was also thanked for its efforts in collecting $250.00 in the "Ocean Crusade" sponsored by Miss Gene Phil...

HIGHER PAY for teachers was urged by President Eisenhower, speaking informally in front of the Alma Mater statue at Columbia University. He raised the question why the "man or woman teacher does not get the recompense to which he or she is so justly entitled."

closed-door sessions by politicians. "It is a much stronger plank than 1948."

Lehman said he still might seek some amendments in the full committee or possibly on the convention floor.

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, chief spokesman for Southern Democrats at the sessions, chimed in that he too was "not completely satisfied."

Those who helped frame the "civil rights" plank said it is a revision of a 1948 section that plunged the National Convention into a bitter floor battle.

Many Southern Democrats bolted that convention and four states remained outside the Democratic column in the election.

The new plank was said to promise Negro and other minority groups equal opportunities for education and work, security of person and an end to discrimination based on race, color, religion or origin.

It avoids specific proposals that have proved offensive to Southern states who believe that racial problems are best handled at state level.

Also softened were demands of Lehman and other Northerners for a tough "anti-filibuster plank" calling for revision of Senate rules.

Instead, under a section on "government reorganization" the plank in general terms proposes improved congressional lawmaking machinery without specific mention of "filibuster" or Senate rules.

Both the foreign policy and labor planks, outlined to newsmen, pointed with pride at 20 years of Democratic accomplishments and viewed with alarm the new Republican platform.

Both aimed at appealing to a majority of the voters, especially those in labor unions or organized minority or nationality groups.

The labor plank once more urged a "but-did-not promise" repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act. It described the act as "inadequate, unfair and unworkable" because it favors management against labor.

Without mentioning President Truman's seizure of the steel mills, which later was voided by the Supreme Court, the plank cites a need of new legislation to deal with such situations.

In the foreign policy plank, the Democrats, as did the Republicans, put world peace as the top goal.

"We will not be deflected from our course by any attempts to distort the history of the past years," the plank said.

This was a brush-off of bitter

The Korea War issue was handled thus, Korea has proved, once and for all, that the United Nations will resist aggression.

"We urge continued effort, by every honorable means to bring about a fair and effective peace settlement in Korea in accordance with the principles of the United Nations Charter."

In another slam at Republicans, the foreign policy plank said: "We reject the defeatist view of those who say we cannot afford the expense and effort necessary to defend ourselves. We express our full confidence in the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

watched anxiously by Western observers, not only because of Egypt's potential key position in Middle East defense, but also in light of Britain's bitter feud with the Egyptians over control of the Suez Canal and the Sudan.

In Iran, the picture looked even more grim. Diplomats feel the riots have spelled out a warning that judicious use of mob rule may cause the West to lose the strategic land irrevocably.

Shirley Strickland of Australia broke the Olympic mark and led the world record for the women's 80-meter hurdles by winning her heat in 11 seconds. Yvette Williams of Australia broke the women's broad jump record in the qualifying round with a leap of 20 feet 2.52 inches.

elected 19 of 24 delegates pledged to the Georgian.

The one-sided split in the Florida delegation has occasioned no disharmony, Russell backers, including the two Florida senators, told a reporter they are convinced that Kefauver will drop out of the balloting and that the state's entire 24 votes then will go to Russell, if he remains in the running.

"We are not having anything but unanimity in the delegation," said Smathers.

In the event both Kefauver and Russell drop out, the Floridians plan to caucus on the convention floor to determine where they'll throw their support.

"The question of second choice has not even come up," said Holland. "We have been going on the assumption that Russell will win."

The Georgians, 24 votes strong for Russell, are expected to go down the line with their senator, never switching their vote to anyone else.

The Florida senators had a word of praise for the Sunshine State's young chairman, Farria Bryant, Ocala, a Russell campaign leader who is speaker-designate of the Florida House of Representatives.

Coast Guard Searches For Distressed Ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four Coast Guard cutters and three PBY patrol planes are searching an area in the Gulf of Mexico 100 miles southwest of New Orleans for an unidentified ship which was reported in distress at 6:25 a. m. today, Coast Guard officials said.

The Coast Guard reported receiving a call which said only "Radio receiver out. Abandoning ship in small boat."

An Air Force C-47 reported seeing an oil slick in the area of the distress call shortly after it was received, officials said.

The four cutters in the search are the Carligan, the Triton, the Salvia and the Tampa.

The Coast Guard said the first PBY took off from Biloxi at 7:25 a. m. and other planes took off at 8 a. m. from Corpus Christi, Tex., and Pensacola, Fla.

his opinion at that time. The accident occurred around 10:30.

Witnesses for the prosecution were State Highway Patrolman Bob Harrison, Lillian Quitt Bratcher, and William Wright. They testified to the intoxication of the defendant at the time of the accident.

All the prosecution witnesses said that they smelled alcohol on the defendant's breath and Patrolman Harrison noted that the defendant had been prepping freely that his face had been flushed, his eyes bloodshot and that he was unsteady on his feet.

Mrs. Bratcher, a passenger in the car struck by Mr. Plympton, testified that Mr. Plympton's car had moved to the wrong side of the road, that the car in which she was in moved over to Mr. Plympton's rightful side to avoid him, that he had then swerved back to his side, that they had returned to their side, and that he then

In his plea to the jury Mr. Spencer laid the blame for the accident on "young people out for a good time" and declared that every time such a case was brought before the jury police officers would testify that the defendant was so drunk he couldn't stand.

He also noted the "belligerent" attitude of Patrolman Harrison and commented on the fact that while the patrolman had been solicitous about the welfare of two women involved in the accident, he had not secured medical attention for Mr. Plympton, who had previously testified that he had taken him to jail.

Geo. A. Spear Jr., prosecuting attorney, asked that the jurors remember in their decision the gravity of the offense. He noted the terror of facing a drunken driver on the highway when a motorist has to make a split second decision as to the method of avoiding an oncoming car, knowing that the drunken driver may change his direction at any time.

He added that he felt the prosecution had established "beyond the doubt of a reasonable man" that Mr. Plympton was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Jurors in the case were Mrs. Mattie M. Starke, George Jakubec, Edward Toffley, Homer Little, Hubert R. Overall, and Blanton D. Owen.

"Be it further resolved, that this convention does hereby censure and condemn the brazen action of the temporary chairman."

Dever told a reporter he had not heard previously about the proposed resolution. He added with a smile: "I suppose it will go to the Resolutions Committee."

Plan Suggested To Lure Capital For Investment

Florida Banker Cites Possibilities For Attracting Wealth

By BENNETT DELOACH

SAFAROW (AP)—A banker said today there is a need in this state for bringing investors and seekers of money together.

Benton W. Powell, president of the Palmer First National Bank and Trust Co. of Sarasota, said opportunities for capital investment in Florida are not being fully exploited.

At a state-wide industrial conference, Powell said in many cases neither the investor nor the man who wants money knows of the other's need.

He suggested, among other things, a clearing house for getting these two groups together.

Powell also said the State Advertising Commission might have more money to spend in publicizing Florida's opportunities.

Following Powell's suggestions, Beverly Grizzard, acting director of the Advertising Commission, said his agency is in contact with some 20,000 prospects who want to bring an estimated 600 million dollars to this state for investment purposes.

Grizzard said this capital report only those persons who had been contacted through the commission's industrial program. He said this money did not represent persons interested in just visiting Florida.

The conference, held in the center of Florida's rich phosphate area, is sponsored by the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

Purpose of the conference is to tie together all efforts being made by all organizations to bring more industry to Florida.

HIGHLIGHTS

By VOLIE WILLIAMS, JR.

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—A contagious excitement is in the air today as the delegates enter the international amphitheatre because this is the day of nomination. There is still considerable speculation among many delegates as to who the nominee will be.

In a conversation with Congressman Hiram Boren yesterday at Convention Hall, and before the vote on the acceptance of the credentials committee report, he stated that in his opinion if the delegates accepted the committee report and sent V. Williams Jr. as the "regular" delegates, Dick Russell would profit more than any other candidate.

Florida Russell supporters are considerably more vocal over the chances of their candidate than they were yesterday. The fact that Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana have refused to sign the water-tight "assurance oath" has cost Russell considerable support however. It is difficult to understand the position of these three states. If they are interested in the Russell candidacy as they espouse.

It is the opinion of a ranking southern congressman who cannot be quoted that the important thing is to be certain that the party machinery is kept "in the right hands and out of the control of the A.D.A."

The co-chairman of the Alabama delegation, Wilbur Nolen Jr. of Montgomery in an interview with the Sanford Herald late last night said that Alabama would yield its nominating position to "either George or Kennedy." He stated that it was quite likely that a Russell delegate would nominate Dick Russell. Of course, that would help Russell immeasurably. When the Florida delegation was informed of this possibility, they were quite jubilant. And the water-tight cause either, because last night was Alben Barkley's night.

To the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," "Happy Days Are Here Again," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" the vice-president was accorded an ovation both before and after he spoke which was so effusive and spontaneous that it must have thrilled his heart. He is the grand old man of the Democratic Party said some; "Mr. Democrat," said others; and it was evident that every person in attendance was proud to be joined with the party of Alben Barkley.

He had the complete attention of the mammoth audience and was interrupted time after time in his delivery on an entirely extemporaneous address. As he spoke from the heart and not from a piece of paper.

As he was introduced by former Senator Lucas, blue college banners were broken out all over the auditorium on which was printed "Marxism For President," and dodgers were thrown from the balconies shouting, "Barkley Quits Here," "The Dog in Barkley," and "The Dog in Barkley." At the conclusion of his address, nearly every Democratic senator went to the platform and shook hands with him. Barkley and Hottel were among the first. Douglas hugged him around the neck. Jimmy Roosevelt, Lehman, Magnuson, and Humphrey were others. However, although several attempts were made by friends of both of them, Governor Byrnes of South Carolina refused to go to the platform. The same was true of Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia.

While Kefauver stopped the convention yesterday with his appearance, last night a man and a lady who appeared to be Chinese, came in the box next to ours and sat down, and after about 30 minutes (Continued on Page Three)

He said he was then informed by the Youngs, who had also followed him, that Mr. Schoonard was calling a State Highway Patrolman. He entered his sister-in-law's house nearby where he had five or six drinks waiting for the arrival of the highway patrolman. He declared that he had taken no alcohol prior to the time of the alleged accident.

Mr. Hickey's testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Henrietta Briggs his sister-in-law. Another defense witness, A. J. Clem, testified that Mr. Hickey's car had been damaged several days before the accident at his service station on the left front fender, where damage in the alleged accident was said to have occurred.

In his plea to the jury George A. Spencer, Jr., said he doubted the reasonableness of Mr. Hickey's story that he had taken "four or five quickies" while awaiting the highway patrolman.

He also asked the jury if it was reasonable to assume that Mr. and Mrs. Young and Mr. Schoonard would have turned their cars around and followed Mr. Hickey and stopped him if no accident had occurred.

Mr. Spencer further said that an intoxicated man in an automobile is more dangerous than "a man who takes a rifle and shoots it down the highway. A rifle has to be aimed, but an automobile doesn't. The people of this state are entitled to protection from drunken drivers."

"If we are going to stop people from driving while they are intoxicated, those who are apprehended have got to be punished, if they are guilty."

Mr. Spencer in his plea for the defense, said that it has got to the point where "these prosecuting attorneys" come in and file an information saying a man is guilty and expect a jury of that man's peers to agree without any question.

"These prosecutors," he said further, "have tried to make every man an expert on whether a man has lost his faculties due to intoxication. I know people that can take a dozen drinks and it won't impair their faculties. I know others that can't take two."

Mr. Spencer argued that evidence his client was intoxicated ought to have been presented by a qualified person such as a doctor. He also argued that Mr. Hickey had a perfect right to take a drink

Walker, George of Georgia, Russell's colleague.

Barkley had been asked by friends of Russell to make the speech but no word had been received from him and it was believed that he had decided to remain neutral in this respect.

The second speeches will be made by Sen. McCarran (D., Nev.), Mrs. Margaret Peyton Thompson, national committeewoman of Boulder, Colo., and John Rice of Salt Lake City, Utah, a staunch Russell supporter.

Mrs. Thompson seconded the nomination of President Truman in 1948.

than 20 years of his public service there has never been a finger of suspicion pointed at him. There has never been the whisper of gossip, much less scandal, connecting his name.

"No man nor woman among the hundreds of his appointees to public office has ever been so much as investigated; and no one recommended by him for appointment has failed to measure up completely to the standards laid down. It is an enviable record. Whatever record leaps to light he never will be shamed."

"In all of his service in the Senate my colleague has devoted his full time and his full energy to help all of the people of our nation. He has been a senator of all of the United States. He will be President of all of the United States."

George traced Russell's background beginning from his birth 55 years ago in Windsor, Ga. He recounted Russell's record as the "Depression governor" of Georgia, when he cut the state government's 300 boards and bureaus to 17, reduced state expenses, balanced the budget and even cut his own salary.

George also went into Russell's 20 years in the U. S. Senate. There, he said, "seniority counts a great deal." But he added "ability counts even more."

"And while my colleague ranks 37th in seniority, he yields to no member in ability," said George. "You delegates who have not previously known him must realize that fact for on all sides it is conceded he is the ablest man in the race. Even his staunchest opponents in the minority party testify to his ability as well as to his honesty and integrity."

when he knew the highway patrolman was coming, although the prosecuting attorney waves his arms and says, "Isn't it unreasonable?"

"The jury consisted of Columbus T. Kent, Cecil Flowers, E. Hillie Grant, William L. Harvey, Jr., Robert S. Dilfinger, and Dick Aiken, foreman.

Russell, Johnson said. The Georgia senator received 923 votes as the South's favorite son in 1948. Afterward, he supported the Democratic ticket, refusing to go along with the Southern split which set up the States Rights Party.

Russell watched Wednesday night's convention proceedings by television. He was

30 Years As Court Reporter Finished By Mrs. Kleinman

TITUSVILLE (Special)—With nearly thirty years of experience as an official Florida court reporter, Mrs. D. Kleinman has today finished her career.

Mrs. Kleinman has been a court reporter in the judicial district of which Titusville is a part since September 1923, having been appointed to that position when Judge J. J. Dickinson served in Brevard, Seminole and Volusia counties. She served under Judge Wallace W. Wright and is now serving under Circuit Judge Mildred R. Smith.

She is a native of Marianna, and obtained her business training at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. From early childhood she planned to be a court reporter, the decision resulting from her acquaintance with Miss Minnie Kibbe of Marianna, whose work she observed and admired as a child of twelve.

Mrs. Kleinman served as stenographer in the office of her brother-in-law, Milton Pledger, Kissimmee attorney and also in the law offices of Lewis O'Brien and Kibbe and Steel of Kissimmee. It was through Mr. O'Brien's recommendation and the appointment of the Governor that she started her work in her chosen career in 1923.

The salary is $150 per month, but Mrs. Kleinman expects it to be raised by the next legislature. For that salary she serves as reporter in all criminal trials. The salary is supplemented by special work at all preliminary hearings, at coroner's inquests, by court during civil cases, and in all appeal cases. She is frequently called on to serve in other counties and whenever her work takes her out of Titusville she receives travel expenses and per diem pay.

As the hour approached, Stevenson still wasn't saying whether he would accept. But nobody doubted that he would. The 52-year-old Illinois governor may be fabled on a short court ballot with three Southern states, South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana—sitting it out. This Dixie division, prompted by a feud over a party loyalty pledge, seemed likely to impel the selection of a Southerner for second place on the ticket. This would be a direct attempt to offset the reputed popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, below the Mason and Dixon Line. For this role, delegates were pointing toward Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia—if he would

(Continued from Page One) was still plugging hard for the convention's grand prize. Refaiver, in a news conference declared: "I'm quite confident I'll be nominated." He said he had picked up "more than 60" delegates.

As the convention began its electric day, there was still a big question mark over the status of the delegates from Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina who have balked at signing any sort of "loyalty" pledge to the nominees.

Leaders of the three states held a strategy conference reportedly aimed at forcing a decision on whether they will be allowed to cast their 64 votes. Gov. John S. Battle and Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia met with Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Robert Kemm of Louisiana in a private session.

They were understood to be working on the draft of a letter to Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn. The letter would seek clarification of their status. If the votes of these three states should be ruled out, the total of possible delegate votes out of the 1,166 would be 583 and a fraction—needed to nominate.

The convention was organized originally on the basis of 1,200 delegate votes, meaning a majority would be 615, plus a fraction. The day meeting was set aside for the preliminaries of nominating speeches, demonstrations and the hoopla that sets the stage.

As the hour approached, Stevenson still wasn't saying whether he would accept. But nobody doubted that he would. This would be a direct attempt to offset the reputed popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, below the Mason and Dixon Line. For this role, delegates were pointing toward Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia—if he would take it. Russell told his campaign strategists he couldn't conceive of any circumstances in which he would trade a powerful place in the Senate for the standby job of vice president.

It was unavailable. Sens. John Sparkman of Alabama and William Knowland of California, both with fair social leanings, were handy. Russell's campaign manager, Sen. Edward Johnson of Colorado, predicted the Georgia senator would win the presidential nomination on the 10th ballot.

The camps of other avowed candidates also existed public opinion. Sen. Estes Refaiver of Tennessee, leading the field in public opinion polls, plugged away at getting secondary choice ballots after the first count. Credited with 263 sure votes, he expected many more on that initial test.

Supporters of W. Averell Harriman of New York, the mutual security administrator, clutched the hope that the Stevenson draft movement would flop and the party would turn to its only all-Fair Deal candidate, namely Harriman.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma began to pick up the pieces if the besting candidates should fight themselves to an exhausted standstill.

As the hour of decision approached, the Associated Press tabulation of known first ballot votes showed this lineup: Refaiver 263 Stevenson 166 Harriman 107 Lever 45 Others 257½ Uncommitted 218 Needed to nominate 615½

By the time some contrary indications were being kept hands off the ticket selection. Three lieutenants in direct touch with him said Mr. Truman wasn't talking yet on that point.

The President was represented as being pleased with the party platform unveiled through the convention early today by veteran House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. It was built on the premise of "peace, prosperity and progress," which the President laid down as his goal in a Midwestern Democratic conference. It wrapped up the controversial end issue in language just as strong as that which exploded a 1948 battle costing Mr. Truman 39 electoral votes in the South. It added a flip calling for improvement of congressional procedure. In each filibuster which have blocked civil rights bills in the past. Although the plank won the convention approval on a voice vote, it still carried the threat of a new Southern revolt. Mississippi and Georgia were receding against it and Gov. James F. Byrnes, South Carolina, a leader in the Southern fight against signing the loyalty pledge, told a reporter the issue is stronger than the platform of four years ago. He was alluding to the civil rights section, which said "we will continue our efforts to eradicate discrimination based on race, religion or national origin."

It also promised a federal Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation. Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People greeted the plank as "a signal victory for the forces of liberalism in the party."

His approval waved a fresh red flag at delegations from South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana which refused to subscribe to a watered-down loyalty pledge under which members would have been required to do what they could to get this convention's nominees on the November ballots in their states.

Northern sponsors of the role evidently feared of alienating the Dixie contingents into the arms of Eisenhower and the Republican camp, found it down to provide an escape clause where such a pledge would not contravene state laws or state party organization rules.

Nevertheless, Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana refused to sign. Said spokesman Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia: "We won't give a damn inch—we won't sign anything."

National Chairman Frank McKinney, at rope's end in his efforts to keep the Southerners in line, told reporters that if they don't sign the loyalty pledge the three states can't vote. Although Rayburn hinted of conciliation by a statement from the platform that he believes all of the delegates are legally seated and are entitled to every courtesy, he told a reporter this had no reference to the 3-state battle.

Rayburn wouldn't forecast his ruling, but there seemed little doubt but under the three states passed when the roll is called on presidential balloting. This would take 64 votes out of the 1,166 necessary for the nomination to 583½, unless it was held that the 615½ original majority must stand.

The 64 votes would come out of Russell's strength, possibly shoving him from third down to fourth place in the first ballot tally. Byrd, Byrnes and others announced they are sitting tight and not walking out. As Sen. Burnet B. Maybank of South Carolina put it: "They'll have to throw me out." Byrd said he will leave if denied a vote, but added he wasn't forecasting the action of his colleagues. Jonathan Daniels of North Carolina, who tried unsuccessfully to patch up the North-South fight, told a reporter he thinks the final choice of a nominee may have a great deal to do with whether there is an open revolt. Having stopped threats elsewhere by admitting anti-Truman delegations from Texas and Mississippi, some party leaders, were

Rattler Is Killed At Bodardorf Home

A five to six foot rattlesnake was destroyed by O. C. Bodardorf at his home at 2525 Palmetto Avenue last night. Mr. Bodardorf, who he believed to be a rattler on the ground in his front yard of the dark, and when he reached down to pick it up it moved.

Turning the light on, he discovered it to be a rattler and sent Mrs. Bodardorf across the street for an instrument with a long handle while he remained on the lawn to keep the rattler in hand.

The snake began to move toward Mr. Bodardorf, proceeding slowly on the ground, but with a small loop. He held it steadily by this means until he was informed and was able to cut off its head.

The state said the jury charged the defendant with the murder of Wayne, a 16-year-old boy, who was shot and killed while he was at work. He said he helped his wife Wayne up at work.

Cliffe declared his wife told her son because he was a general favorite while she performed an older child. The witness said he liked child Cliffe and it made no difference to him that Mr. Cliffe's children born before he met her, were it by intimate of several other after witnesses for Cliffe said he had sat with her children. He denied having anyone whose body was described by the autopsy physician as a solid mass of brains.

Cliffe is holding for the state both defendants' parents admitted responsibility for pushing the child. No testimony has been provided yet for Mrs. Cliffe.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Do not follow a bad custom.
Establish a new and a good one.
Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil.—Ex. 23:2.

It's too bad about Governor
Dever of Massachusetts who lost his voice delivering the keynote address. He should have lost it sooner.

Congratulations to Mrs. Jessie Kleinman, formerly of Sanford, now of Titusville, who has just completed 30 years of service as a court reporter.

The Titusville Rotary Club under President J. J. Parrish, Jr., is studying the possibility of building a swimming pool as their No. 1 project for this year.

Five hundred and eight persons have been killed on Florida highways so far this year, and 9,641 injured. If you are a young man of draft age, do not worry about the prospects of war. Your chances of being killed in a highway accident are much greater than the possibility of dying on any battlefield.

Jim Powell, writing in the Tampa Tribune, points out that the lid is easing off table gambling and the numbers racket is expanding once again. He reports the situation from Key West to Pensacola and everywhere the racketeers are coming out of their holes into which they were driven by the Senate Crime Committee investigations and are setting up business again. Recent police raids hereabout indicate an upsurge of the racket locally and emphasize the importance of keeping the lid on. This is no time for leniency toward gangsters and hoodlums.

Walter Lippmann produced an interesting column Wednesday on the sectional issue at the Democratic Convention. The fight over civil rights, he says, is artificial.
It is a convention maneuver and not a public event. The real question of whether, when, and how a law-like the Humphrey-Ives bill—can be enacted will continue to depend, as it always has, as under our system of government is always must, not on a mere majority but on a majority which has the concurrence of the big minorities—in this case of the Southern States. Civil rights, the FEPC and the whole racial question is purely a political football.

We are not too optimistic about the nomination of Governor Stevenson. He is of course the best available man, the logical nominee, but things are seldom logical in politics.
He is not enough of a Fair Dealer or a Trumanite, to please the President and the political machines which control this convention. They want someone like Harriman and Kaufman who will offer no apologies for anything that has been done and who will promise to keep in office all the party hacks with which the government has become infested. Such a team might not be popular with the delegates, might not get to first base with the electorate, but make no mistake about this. Mr. Truman will control the convention.

The people of the South are not saying much these days but they are watching with keen interest how their delegates are being treated at the Democratic National Convention which is apparently controlled by a few labor bosses and such left-wing organizations as the Committee for Democratic Action.
I never more than like the so-called "loyalty oath" which was passed by the House last night.
It is a disgraceful and unwarranted violation of the Bill of Rights.

Danger In The Sun

Summer is the season when people like to get out in the sun and get a tan. A healthy coat of tan is considered a social asset as well as a health advantage. Yet a person who over-exposes himself to the sun may suffer serious and painful consequences.

Dr. Edwin H. Cressman, Philadelphia dermatologist, told the annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association that overexposure to the sun is a definite factor in the development of skin cancer. The person who doesn't tan easily must be especially careful since overexposure can lead to very painful burns.

Sun bathing is a beneficial and relaxing pastime. But those who seek the sun's rays should do so with caution. A gradual approach is best. The first time out a few minutes are long enough. The periods in the sun may be increased as the body becomes more accustomed to it.

Staying for long periods of time does not prove that an individual is particularly hardy. The person who stays in the sun too long may be much more foolish than the one who doesn't know enough to come in out of the rain.

Greedy And Miserly

A reader complained the other day that she was completely fed up with two kinds of news stories. One was that of the miserly old man or woman who lived in a state of apparent penury and died in rags in a horrible old house which, when searched, proved to hold a hoard valued high into thousands.

The other is that of the man or woman who has fallen for one of the swindles almost as old as the sun. There's the Spanish princess, for example, who knows where the money is. If money is advanced to get her out of prison she will lead her rescuers to affluence. There must have been a million of these in the last century, none of whom existed. Then there's the person who meets a lonely soul in a restaurant or department store and tells of finding a hoard of money. If the woman will advance a certain sum they will pool it all and divide.

"Why will people fall for such tales?" asks our reader. "And why will those old misers and hags hoard like that? Can't people have a little sense?"

We don't know. Lots of people don't have much sense. Some spend all their money faster than they get it and end up poor—or inherit annuities. Some are sensible and thrifty and have a good time pleasantly as they go along and taxes take the backbone out of savings.

But life is short and sense helps happiness. "Neither riches nor poverty give me, O Lord," prayed the Psalmist. The middle road is more fun, too.

Shakespeare And - -

People in the United States complain about the low quality of television. The villagers of England's Stratford-on-Avon complain about too much Shakespeare. Perhaps it's just that people are never satisfied. More accurately, however, it is probable that the mind, like the stomach, rebels at an unvaried diet.

Stratford-on-Avon has taken steps to vary its entertainment program. It is making plans to build a modern vaudeville house which will operate in competition with the world-renowned all-Shakespeare memorial theatre. "A lot of people are rather tired of living with Shakespeare's spirit day and night," said one councilman of the town where the immortal poet was born.

Americans are equally fed up with pap offered in lieu of entertainment on America's television programs, and are convinced another remedy is available besides shutting off the set. They do not ask for 16 hours of Shakespeare a day. They merely ask for a varied diet, like that which will be available once Stratford-on-Avon has its vaudeville. They don't demand an end to frothy entertainment. They simply want something that will compete with it—some Shakespeare, some Ibsen, some Shaw, some O'Neill. It doesn't have to be an either-or proposition. It can be both.

Barkley, Victim Of Unions

Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, "Dear Alben" President Franklin D. Roosevelt called him, stands today as one of the most tragic figures in American history.

For decades he has served in Congress, first as a member of the Lower House, then as a senator, and finally as Vice President of the United States, in which position he has for nearly four years presided over sessions of the Upper House.

In all of his long career Mr. Barkley's services as a national legislator has been distinguished by his advocacy of the cause of the workingman, his readiness to do the things the union leaders have wanted him to do in behalf of their cause.

Despite his pro-labor attitude and his ultra-liberalism, however, he has gained much favor with the general public—so much, in fact, that political fate has pointed a beckoning finger toward him, and led him toward the greatest honor, politically speaking, within the power of the American people to bestow upon a fellow-man.

This "break" led him to the threshold of the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. A few days ago he looked like a virtual certainty for that honor, and on Monday morning he called a dozen of the union leaders together for breakfast, and sought from them a commitment of support in reciprocation for what he has done for labor throughout his tenure in Congress.

He talked, and the union leaders listened. And they came away from the breakfast table shaking their heads negatively.

No, they were sorry to say, they would not support their long-time friend. He was too old, and furthermore, he might make a deal with other politicians that would obstruct the plans of labor to achieve its purpose.

Mr. Barkley's explanation of his failure to gain the support he sought is that the union leaders wanted still greater control over the Democratic party than they already have. He was unwilling to acquiesce in their demand and, realizing his inability to win without their support, he withdrew from the race.

American history does not record another case of such ruthless exploitation of a human being, and then throwing him into the discard when his productive days were nearing an end.

The union leaders have thus committed a crime against a friend they will never be able to live down.

PREMIUM GAS?

Too Late To Classify

All Florida is moving ahead so fast that unless a person visits every section frequently he just can't keep up with what is going on. I recently made a trip to West Florida for the first time in several years and it was really an eye opener.

Don't you folks in South Florida ever get the idea that your area is the only one making progress. Take a few days off and give yourself a vacation trip through the western part of the state.

You will be entranced with the natural beauty of this magnificent section of vast velvet green wooded areas, red clay hills, and superb waterways. Take a trip over the Gulf Coast Highway. You will be astounded at what is taking place along the coastal area from Apalachicola to Pensacola. Panama City was a revelation. It is growing like a weed and the beautiful gulf beaches with their sparkling turquoise and emerald waters are attracting more and more visitors each year. Long stretches of beach that were nothing but sand dunes a few years ago are now built up for miles both east and west of Panama City, Ft. Walton that recalled as a very small community is now a bustling, bustling city I hardly recognized.

I made the trip from Tampa to Panama City to attend a meeting of the Alabama Press Association and had not planned to journey any further west. I was so impressed with what I saw that I took an extra day to drive in the coastal route to Pensacola and return via the inland route through Milton, Crestview and Marianna to Tallahassee.

This section of the state is so different from what we see in South Florida that it was like a trip to another state. Unless you get out into this part of the country every so often you forget how attractive it really is.

Summer tourist travel to the area is heavy and there were more out-of-state cars than local cars on the highways, particularly in the beach section. It seemed that just about every car we passed was from some other state with Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas all well represented and plenty from other states as well.

Right now I want to commend the State Road Department for the splendid maintenance job it has done as well as in the construction of new highways. It is no small job to keep a highway system as large and sprawling as Florida's in good condition and the accomplishment to the credit of the department, considering the limited funds available, speaks well for Chairman Alfred McKethan and his co-workers.

Being a tourist state we annually attract thousands of visitors and each year finds more and more cars and trucks using our highways. Our investment in those roads has paid big dividends, for these visitors contribute millions of dollars in the form of taxes we would not otherwise receive and that more than offset their use of our roads.

The day is coming fast, however, when Florida will have to start a long-range planning program of road construction. It we are to keep up with the natural growth of the state, and at the same time provide safe and rapid transportation for the ever increasing number of visitors, we will find it imperative that we plan for the future. We are going to need an arterial system that will route traffic outside the large communities and permit express travel that will be both speedy and safe. Only through the inauguration of a constructive long-range program can this be accomplished.

Through the cooperation of the Panama City News-Herald our press group enjoyed a delightful tour of St. Andrews Bay on a beautiful and commodious yacht provided by Avondale Mills, mayor Carl Gray extended cordial greetings and the John H. Perry organization provided one of the most elaborate receptions and hospitalities hours I have ever experienced, the party being staged on the beautiful water front grounds of the Cove Hotel.

It was gratifying to have the privilege of joining the good people of Panama City in welcoming these Alabama newspaper folks, and even more gratifying to think that they would leave their own state to hold their meeting in Florida. They were a mighty fine group and good friends of Florida. The splendid publicity given us through the editorial and news columns of their papers have had much to do with making Florida the summer playground for many thousands of Alabamians each year.

A new television and radio shop dealing in both sales and service opened in Sanford today. The shop, Winn's Television and Radio, is located at 300 East Second Street and will be operated by Bill Winn and H. V. Ousta, both of whom have had a number of years experience in television and radio work.

Television Store Opens In Sanford

The store will sell Admiral and Philco sets and is authorized to service General Electric and Motorola sets as well as the foregoing.

Decorated in an attractive ivy green and white with tan carpets, the shop will be holding an open house Friday and Saturday, with sets of water glasses being given away to all the visiting ladies. The shop is completely equipped with every modern device for radio and television service. Mr. Winn has been working with television in Sanford since it first came to Sanford three and a half years ago. Mr. Ousta has four and a half years experience in the field.

Armed Jets Scan Heavens Seeking Elusive Balloon

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Six armed jet planes thundered high into the skies over Central Ohio Wednesday night, chasing a mysterious object they never did catch.

Thousands of persons on the ground thought they might be watching a flying saucer, but the Air Force decided it was only a weather research balloon.

TV station WTVN in Columbus interrupted the Democratic National Convention to televise the object and the jet chase through a powerful telephoto lens.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Columbus estimated the balloon was drifting well above 65,000 feet—a height ordinarily out of reach of the naked eye. Such balloons usually can go about 100,000 feet before they burst and drop their recording data by parachute.

The apparently enormous size made an easy target for ground observers. They swamped newspaper offices and radio stations with reports of a "flying saucer."

An Air Force transport en route from Washington to Dayton spotted the object between Columbus and Dayton and immediately radioed Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

RHIP HERO DIES
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. Henry Nelson, 71, whose troop transport the President Coolidge, lost only two men after striking a mine in World War II, died Wednesday night.

The Coolidge struck the mine at Spiritu Santo in the New Hebrides in the South Pacific in 1942. Nelson quickly beached the converted liner with 5,150 troops aboard. His action was praised as preventing possible heavy loss of life. The two victims were crewmen.

FAMED REPORTER DIES
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Filan, whose dramatic picture of Japanese bodies on bomb-blasted Tokyo won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1944, died Wednesday night of a brain tumor.

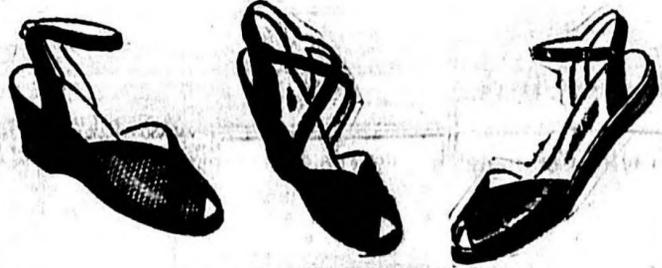

The 47-year-old veteran of 22 years on the Associated Press was one of the nation's top news photographers.

Miss Frances Givens Honored At Shower

Mrs. Vernon Carroll, Mrs. W. F. McTeer and Mrs. C. S. Dandridge entertained on Tuesday evening with a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Frances Givens, whose marriage to Charles E. Willis will take place tomorrow night at the Sanford Assembly of God Church. The party was held at the McTeer home at 518 Melonville Avenue at 8:00 o'clock.

Green and white was the color scheme carried out in decorations for the occasion. The dining table was centered with a graceful arrangement of pink and white roses flanked with green tapers. Lively games were enjoyed during the evening with prizes being won by Miss Givens and Miss Shirley Dandridge. Late in the evening the honoree was presented with many lovely gifts from her friends.

The hostesses served a delicious salad course with punch and were assisted by Mrs. Carl Brumback, Mrs. John Deal and Miss Donna McTeer. Those invited to be with Miss Givens were her mother, Mrs. Thelma Givens, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. G. M. Willis, and Mrs. H. E. Hullock, Mrs. Henry Benton, Mrs. E. V. Miller, Mrs. B. H. Giles, Mrs. Giles, Mrs. Ed Starnes, Mrs. Harley Starnes, Mrs. Nettles, Mrs. W. A. Sweatt and Mrs. George Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Madden and son Edwin have returned from a three weeks' vacation spent in North Carolina, Virginia, Washington, D. C. and Georgia. While in Greensboro, N. C. they visited with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Madden and son, Steve, and Mr. and Mrs. Theron Madden.

Senator McCarran Undergoes Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarran (R-Wis.) today underwent a major stomach operation which his doctors said would keep him from taking any active part in his campaign for re-nomination.

The senator's office said the operation was performed at 7:30 a. m. EST at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., where he had been recuperating from minor sinus surgery.

A bulletin by Dr. George W. Calver, official physician for members of Congress, said a physical checkup at the hospital "revealed a herniation of stomach through a rupture in the diaphragm."

ABANDONS FREE RIDES JACKSONVILLE (AP)—The Jacksonville Coach Co. said today the free rides it has provided for two years to churchgoers will be discontinued after next Sunday.

General Manager J. M. Moore said the company was taking the step to reduce expenses. Bus fares were recently upped from 10 to 15 cents.

Givens-Willis Plans Told For Wedding

Miss Laura Frances Givens, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Givens, announced today plans for her marriage to Charles Edwin Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Willis, which will take place tomorrow night. The wedding will take place at 8:00 o'clock at the Assembly of God Church, Twelfth and Laurel Avenue, with Rev. Pansy Sample officiating.

Nuptial music will be rendered by Pianist Mrs. John Deal. The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Leonard Givens, and has chosen as her maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Sally Miller. Forrest McTeer will perform the duties of best man for Mr. Willis.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of Mrs. W. F. McTeer at 518 Melonville Avenue. All friends of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and reception.

Baptist Group To Hold District Rally

The Woman's Missionary Union of Sanford, Baptist Association, which is composed of 30 Woman's Missionary Societies and 80 Young People's Auxiliaries, will have a District Rally at the First Baptist Church in Port Orange on July 29th, beginning at 10:00 a. m. Members of the local Woman's Missionary Union especially the young people are urged to attend. A bus will leave the First Baptist Church, at the corner of Park Avenue and Sixth Street, promptly at 8:30 a. m. Every one who attends is requested to bring a covered dish for the noon luncheon.

Mrs. J. J. Peterson of Sanford is the president and will preside at the quarterly rally. During the business session there will be an election of associational officers for the new year. An interesting and guest speaker will be Miss Lila Watson of China, a foreign missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Appleby Home Scene Of Methodist Meet

Mrs. Harold Appleby and Mrs. J. M. Leonard were hostesses for the regular business meeting of the regular Class of the First Methodist Church held recently at the Appleby home on West First Street. A box of clothing was packed for mailing to Korea and the class voted to mail a box each month. President Miss Louise Sipple announced that a framed picture of the class anniversary party would be hung in the classroom.

The meeting was closed with the singing of the class song. Those attending with the hostesses were Miss Sipple, Mrs. Lowell E. Oiler, Mrs. E. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Kilpatrick Jr., Mrs. Roy Williams, Mrs. J. H. Lambeth, Mrs. J. Paul Horton, Mrs. E. H. Arwood and Miss Thelma Long.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cupid got thrown for a loss today when Reynolds declared she has no time for marriage—not at this stage in her blossoming career, anyway.

Debbie is a gorgeous center from El Paso who made a box office managing to keep up with the dancing feet of Gene Kelly and Donald O'Connor in a recent musical. Since then she has been boomed for two star roles in her studio, and she has said that romance will not interfere with her film plans.

"Building a career and being married is both full-time jobs," she told me. "You can't do both at once and do justice to either of them. Right now I'm interested in my career. Whether I'm in a picture, I can do nothing else. I come home at night after a dance number or doing a difficult comedy scene and I collapse. When I'm not in a picture, I'm out on a personal appearance tour."

"That's the way it has to be when you're building your career. I can't even consider marriage for a year. If I have arrived by then I can afford to do less pictures. Then I can think about getting married."

Debbie even indicated that she has found a man who is serious about her starlet dates. Actors Robert Wagner and Hugh O'Brian, but intimates say that Wagner is the head man in her heart. But if any romance blossoms, Debbie is assured it would be a long engagement.

"Feeling as I do about my career," she remarked, "I don't let myself get carried away romantically."

"Also, there is the matter of money. It wouldn't matter to me if my husband were making less than me. But I would have to have a healthy attitude about it and appreciate an extra paycheck as a blessing. If he started to resent it, that would be the end of the marriage."

Although Debbie's main concern is her career, she is not without her ideas about marriage. Some of them are very interesting. Such as: "The important thing about marriage is to have babies. Have as many as you want. You can worry about paying for them later. Somehow you always do."

Mrs. Kenneth Leon Berry, the former Miss Nancy Aline Williams, whose marriage to Mr. Berry took place in an impressive ceremony last evening at the First Baptist Church. Following a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Berry plan to make their home in Philadelphia. Mrs. Berry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Williams and Mr. Berry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Barry of Reading, Pa.

Nancy Aline Williams, Kenneth Leon Berry Married In Impressive Candlelight Service

The First Baptist Church of Sanford was the setting last night for the marriage of Nancy Aline Williams to Kenneth Leon Berry, of Philadelphia, Pa. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Williams and Mr. Berry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Barry of Reading, Pa.

The church was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and white flowers. Baskets of the white flowers were placed on the altar and formed a background for the exchange of marriage vows. Branches of candelabra held burning white tapers and the lighted candles were also placed in the choir loft. The family seating was marked with sprays of white blossoms tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Evans McCoy, organist, rendered soft music including "Through the Years," "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer." A hymn in honor of her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of Chantilly lace and white tulle. The bride's hair was styled in a soft, wavy fashion. The bride's gown was a masterpiece of lace and tulle, with a full, flowing skirt. The bride's accessories were simple and elegant, including a white veil and a white hat.

She carried a white Bible, a gift of the Young Woman's Auxiliary of the church, topped with a spray of white flowers. Her bridesmaids and a purple throned maid. At the neckline of her wedding gown was a beautiful brooch given to her by the bridegroom, and she also wore a pair of white earrings which had been worn by her mother at her own wedding. She wore a tiny crown fitting hat of tulle, lace and orange blossoms from which fell a spray of three silk ribbons.

Serving as the bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Lee Draper of Lake Wales; Miss Jean Sayer as maid of honor; Mrs. Spencer Hazlett, Mrs. S. E. Manfre, Miss Jane Chapman, Miss Barbara Jo Langness of Jacksonville as bridesmaids; and Miss Peggy Jane Lundquist as junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were identical being fashioned of nylon net with strapless tucked bodices and crushed net girdles. The bouffant ballerina length skirts featured accordion pleating which formed an apron effect in the front and small bustles in the back.

Mrs. Draper wore a gold net gown, Miss Sayer, orchid, Mrs. Hazlett and Mrs. Manfre, peacock blue, Miss Chapman and Miss Langness, frost pink, and Miss Lundquist, yellow net. They all wore matching half hats of pleated net and carried baskets of pastel flowers.

Little Miss Betty Odham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bralley Odham, was the flower girl and wore a lime green ballerina length frock and carried a basket of rose petals and decorated with small salmon colored. Fashion roses. Young James Lang Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yoke Williams Jr., served as ring bearer.

James Jordan of DeLand performed the duties of best man for Mr. Berry and usher, included Kermit Berry of Reading, Pa., Eugene Estridge III of Sanford, William Flowers, tax Superintendent and Laurence Willard all of DeLand, and Jack Winfree of Daytona Beach.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bride wore a gown of powder blue Chantilly lace and chiffon and a corsage of Vanilla orchids and sweetheart roses. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Berry, was gowned in blue lace over taffeta and her corsage was of yellow orchids. Mrs. Nancy Dobbins, grandmother of the bride wore lavender tulle taffeta with a lavender orchid corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the lovely gardens at the Williams home on Valencia Drive. The bride's table was overlaid with a beautiful embroidered white pineapple cloth. White flowers were used in decorating the table with crystal and silver appointments. At one end of the table was a five-course wedding cake and silver candelabra held white tapers. Punch was served from several lace covered tables throughout the garden. A very good and goodly completed the decorations in the Williams' home.

Assisting with the guests were Mrs. Harry Lee, Mrs. H. W. Tucker, Mrs. M. H. Smith, Mrs. A. V. Lee, Mrs. W. M. Phillips, Mrs. W. A. Morrison, Mrs. F. E. Roumiltat, Mrs. W. P. Brooks Jr., Mrs. P. D. Anderson, Mrs. Hugh Darden of Sanford; the guests were Mrs. Gerald Lougheed, Mrs. Wight Kutley, Mrs. Dale Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Stanley, Mrs. Stanley Rocky, Mrs. W. S. Brumley Jr., Mrs. Harold Chapman, Mrs. Richard Walker and Mrs. George Chapman. Also the Misses Margaret Dingfelder, Diana Fleischer, Bobbye Morton, Betty Rene Hall, Harriett Hedding, Mary Ann Gallo-way, Janet Cleveland, Joanne Williams, Margaret Morrison, Shirley Moreland and Barbara Chapman. Also from Stetson were the Misses Mary Boone, Barbara Bailey and Laura Languish.

Late in the evening the couple left for a wedding trip to Miami Beach. For traveling Mrs. Berry wore a beautifully tailored suit of white silk print with a burnout type hat of white lace straw, featuring rhinestone trimming and veiling. Her accessories were white and a white orchid formed her corsage. Following their wedding trip the couple will reside in Philadelphia where Mr. Berry is engaged in plant engineering estimating for the Electric Storage firm.

Women's Fellowship Meets At Church

The Christian Women's Fellowship group met at the First Christian Church at 1601 Sanford Avenue on Monday evening. Mrs. Ralph Kuhn opened the meeting with a devotional based on the life of Paul after which Mrs. O. T. Pearson talked on human rights.

Following the meeting refreshments were served to Rev. and Mrs. Herbert J. Bess, Mrs. Charles Grime, Mrs. O. T. Pearson, Mrs. Ralph Kuhn, Mrs. R. G. Fox, Mrs. Robert Brink, Mrs. W. H. Young, Mrs. E. W. Casado, Mrs. M. H. Billingsley, Mrs. Earl Evans, Mrs. W. E. Yesley, Mrs. V. H. Grantham, Victor H. Grantham Jr. and Mrs. Chandler Vail.

Blues In The News
By BOB ANTHONY

Leo J. Yingling, Chief Commissioner, became a member of the First Reserve yesterday and is now looking forward to his future retirement. The chief has served in the Navy 10 1/2 years and will spend two more years on active duty with the First Reserve before retiring to his home in Lily, Pa. Chief Yingling, his wife, and three sons, ages 8, 6, and 4 are presently residing in DelRay.

Jacques Wells and Til Tarbuton paid a farewell visit to Sanford yesterday. Both men formerly stationed here, have received honorable discharges from the Naval Hospital in Jacksonville. After their good-byes to their many friends around the station and in the city of Sanford, the men will be returning to their homes. Jacques intends to enter college under the Korean (G) Bill while Til will be going back to his job in Norfolk, Va.

Jennie Perry and her fiancé, who recently arrived in Sanford from her home in Texas, were married last night during a beautiful ceremony in the future plans of the newlyweds have not been revealed.

Tomorrow, officially declared "All-Star Baseball Day" will be a big day in Sanford with the biggest event being the North-South All-Star Game tomorrow night at Sanford's Memorial Stadium.

Cooperating wholeheartedly with the people of Sanford, NAAAS will welcome visitors about the station between the hours of 12:30 and 3:30 tomorrow afternoon. Among the many buildings that will be open to the public is the Parachute Loft, where many interesting displays and demonstrations may be seen. Aviators oxygen breathing equipment, packing and drying of parachutes will be shown.

The Aviation Training will open its rooms to visitors and qualified personnel will be on hand to explain the use of all equipment used in the training of men aboard the station.

It will be possible to see how the Navy cuts and lives by touring the Galley and enlisted men's barracks. Since Flight Operations will be in progress during the time of the County general visiting of the Hangar and Flight area will not be permitted. However, it will be possible to observe operations from a parking lot located near the hangar.

If you've never been aboard the station and would like to see a Naval Auxiliary Air Station in operation, be sure to come aboard and look around tomorrow afternoon between 12:30 and 3:30. We'll be lookin' for you then.

COLLIER VIGIL IS OVER HOME
SPRING CITY, Mo., (AP) — Workers finally reached the bottom of an abandoned mine where a small dog has kept a 25-day vigil and found nothing—except a small bone.

The animal had maintained a watch at the mouth of the shaft since last month, refusing to leave.

Residents of this Southwest Missouri community speculated that the dog's owner might have tumbled into the mine. The dog is a stranger in the neighborhood.

Volunteers spent the past week pumping out the flooded mine. Thousands of persons visited the scene, curious over what might be found.

Trellis Mac Writes Husband About Fantastic Rumors Around Convention

(Editor's note: Trellis Mac Peble, America's most average wife, finds that every Democrat is a king-maker in the following letter to her husband giving an inside view of the Donkey Serenade.)

By HAL ROYLE
CHICAGO (AP)—Dear darling Wilbur, Well, honey, the Democratic convention right now is like a barbershop quartet where everybody wants to sing tenor.

This is the showdown day to pick the presidential nominee, and there are still more candidates than there are delegates. If the convention charged each one a nominating fee, it could wipe out the national debt.

The candidates are all so nervous they are trading each other up as well as delegates. But the one they are most angry at is Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Illinois sphinx who won't say yes and no.

Adlai still seems to add up as the popular favorite, but a lot of Democrats are getting annoyed at his coyness.

"I think Stevenson just confuses this convention with a radio giveaway program," said one delegate. "He will accept the nomination all right, but he figures if he waits a little longer he maybe also can win an electric refrigerator, a new car and a week's trip to Bermuda."

With balloting time so near, everybody is as nervous as a cat in a dog pound. The donkey men are all ears, listening to the rumors—rumors—rumors.

Here are just a few, Wilbur, to show you how silly rumors can be:

1. "Taft has sent some of his best organizers here to work for Dick Russell."

2. "Eisenhower sent some of his best organizers here to disrupt the Harriman campaign."

3. "A Kefauver supporter collapsed under the strain, sat down in a chair and began to sturm his stomach, under the delusion he was a banjo."

4. "Harry Truman is working a ouija board in the White House trying to get it to tell him what candidate to back."

Somewhat, dear, I think Adlai Barkley is lucky to be out of it all—if he really is. I saw him give his farewell speech Wednesday night, and I will remember that grand old man all my life.

I went as the guest of Mr. Petrol, that rich millionaire from Texas. He isn't a dubious delegate any longer. They finally seated him, and he said:

"Well, it's about time. That chair was getting moss on it." When Vice President Barkley finished his speech, there were tears in the eyes of everybody, including Mr. Petrol, who said: "I haven't gushed like this since I hit my first oil well, Trellis Mac."

But, Wilbur, the thing I liked best about the veep was that, when he was through and they called his wife to the platform, the first thing he said was, "How did I do, dear?" I know he said it, because I could read his lips. And she just smiled and held his hand up in a V for victory signal.

When the ovation was over at last and he had shaken the hands of all the politicians, he came up to say goodbye. He just stood quietly there for a moment. He looked out past the waving banners, up to the big signs saying, "60 million jobs and 'twenty years of plenty.'" He looked at the portraits of Democratic chieftains—Jefferson, Jackson, Grover Cleveland, Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman.

He stood there all alone at the summit of his life. Oh, Wilbur! his lifetime was in his eyes. He lifted his hands and shook them gravely to the four corners of the great hall, like a solemn old Indian chief saying farewell to the sun, and then he turned and walked out of the light and into the dark.

Wilbur, it suddenly made me terribly homesick. Eat you all right? Now just don't eat yardies and things like that while I'm gone.

Your loving wife,
Trellis Mac

P.S. Write more money. Perle Mesta bought a new dress, so I had to, too.

Summer Bachelor Is Labeled For Shopping Tactics

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—In the cartoons you tell the summer bachelor by the sink full of dirty dishes. In reality you spot him quicker by watching him shop at the grocery.

He's the one reading the labels so carefully and weighing the cans in his hands. He thinks he is doing a mathematical job on comparative values—weight vs. price.

Serious women shoppers, who pick up the can he has just rejected, know his wife has other standards of value. And the women suspect the summer bachelor is just trying to divine what actually is in the can—an old story to them—and hoping for guidance from the label or heaven, as to how he could prepare the contents. Men are becoming increasingly numerous in grocery stores. At some hours at least 50 per cent of the customers are men, mostly buying what their wives have ordered.

Real bachelors often are knowledgeable. But the summer bachelor is a thing apart.

Watch him in the vegetable department, waiting to catch the scornful clerk's eye, and carefully holding the sweet potato he picked for its rosy color (unaware that means it's probably a yam).

Five women have already rejected it because it has soft ends and signs of being rotten in the core.

After three women shoppers have come up, pushed in ahead of him and departed, the summer bachelor gets his potato into the clerk's hands. The clerk sighs with relief and thanks providence for summer bachelors, who don't know their groceries but keep grocers prosperous.

But when it's all over, the summer bachelor usually cleans up that sink.

Krider's Four-Hitter Moves Baby Blues Into A. L. Finals

The Sanford Legion baseball machine continued to roll on yesterday as the Baby Blues defeated a heretofore undefeated Umatilla nine to advance into the finals of the District 4 American Legion Junior Baseball tournament in Orlando.

led by Jim "Jock" Krider's steady 4-hit pitching the locals literally steamrollered over the Umatilla team.

The final encounter between Sanford and the winner of the Umatilla Winter Park tilt is scheduled for Friday night under the stars at the Sanford stadium.

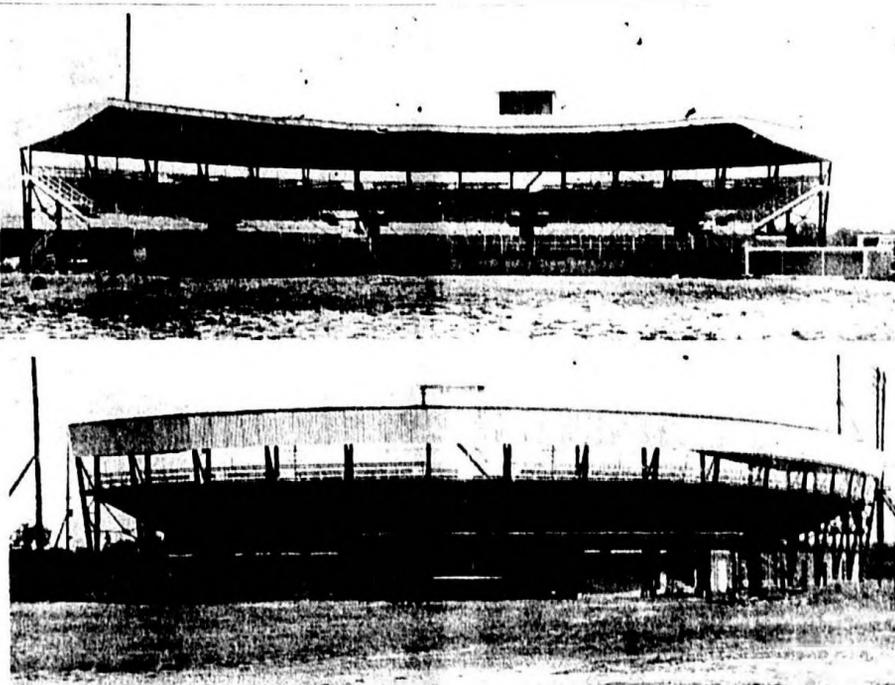

Terry Cordell rules, the locals must be beaten twice to be eliminated, while each of the other teams has already been decision once.

Krider was the big gun for the locals yesterday. In addition to fanning 9 batters while passing only two men, he scored the first run of the inning and drove home another tally.

Umatilla rallied in the sixth inning, however, when a scoring error by Fleischer, who had pitched a scoreless game, allowed the visitors to score.

Climaxing the gain All-Star sales and festivities in Sanford tomorrow night will be the eighth annual dream classic in Florida State League history when the Northern All-Star team faces the host Southern All-Stars in the Memorial Stadium at 8:15 p. m.

Manager Ed Levy of the South has designated ten-year-old left-hander George Klarmann to open on the rubber against the mighty hitting North. The New Jersey youth, who but a few months ago was pitching for his high school team, has pitched a 20-0 record with the sixth place Orlando Senators this season.

His Orlando skipper, Levy, has confidence in his home lefthander as he does in his entire team which is decidedly weaker from an all-around hitting and pitching standpoint.

The Northern team, with such ferocious sluggers as Red Howie, Jack Cade, and Howie Tenneson, is holding a team batting average of an unheard-of .331 mark and pitchers like Tom Mills of Jax Beach, who have won 21 games this year, is considered, quite naturally, the favorite in tomorrow night's clash.

The South can only boast of three .300 hitters, led by Sanford's Chuck Aloha with a .325 average, and an aggregate .280 team batting average, which is a full 41 points lower than the North. The comparative pitching strength is again weaker than the North's on paper.

However, one can never tell when one game is played between a power-hitter and a weaker team. If the South is up for the contest and the North off, it can be a different story. One factor is in favor of the Southern team.

Manager Chuck Aloha and pitcher Ed Levy are the two most dangerous long-hall hitters in the league. Between them they have hit 34 home runs this year, Aloha leading the FSL with 20 and Levy ranking third with 14.

The short fences of 327 feet down each foul line and only 375 in dead center field at Memorial Stadium might play a major factor in the long-hall abilities of these two sluggers.

In a single affair such as this one home run might be the deciding factor, especially in a pitching duel.

Levy plans on using Virgil Fraser, brilliant looking rookie flinger who has pitched a scoreless game, as his ace.

Meanwhile popular Bill Steineke has admitted that Tom Mills must be his starting flinger for the Northern Stars, since the control ball specialist was the first player in organized ball to register 20 wins this year.

The outfield trio of Treadway, Tenneson, and Kinari are regarded as the best in the league. Kinari is the best in the league.

McCrickard was not placed on the team by the fans but picked after the balloting by Manager Steineke, since Red Roberts, who will be playing first base, was also selected as one of the North's left-handers.

Local Balloting Differs With Official Poll For South Team

After three weeks of balloting in the Sanford Herald's All-Star poll, 403 local fans submitted their choices for the Florida State League team to be played here tomorrow night at 8:15 p. m. in the Memorial Stadium.

The Herald's poll closely followed the official results of the eight parks two weeks ago, at least as far as the Northern All-Star team was concerned. Only two variations were noted for the Northern All-Stars. They were at shortstop where local fans favored Gary Sondermyer, Palatka, over Bill Mostromsky of DeLand by a narrow margin of seven votes.

The other minor variation was in the outfield where Sanford G. Sondermyer and Al Pirtle, the official poll listed both Treadway and Tesnow and placed Jax Beach's Buster Kinard in the outer garden, instead of Pirtle. Kinard rated fifth in the local balloting with 127 votes.

Great differences in the Herald's balloting for the Southern All-Stars were noticed in the selection of six players at four positions which didn't make the league poll. The popular flashy fielding and hard hitting John Imbra of Sanford received an overwhelming vote from the fans for second base. Imbra polled 350 votes of a possible 403 and 319 more than his closest opponent, Chico Fundora, Leesburg. The Cuban second sacker made the official loop Southern team at the keystone base, however. Imbra is hitting a cool .323 as compared to Fundora's .286 prior to tomorrow night's game, which led many local fans to wonder how Fundora made it.

Fred Brady, rookie shortstop for the Leesburg Packers, was over looked by the official poll, despite the fact that Brady was hitting over the .450 mark. The League fans placed Danny Doy of Orlando on the Southern club when the little Cuban was hitting .206 or almost 140 points below Brady. The Herald poll gave Brady the short field post with 302 ballots compared to second base Fundora's 108 votes.

A rather amazing thing happened when the results of the official poll showed that Fred Cavallaro, Sanford outfielder and former Red Hat, was placed in the trio of gardeners for the Southern team while batting only .234. Cavallaro did not receive a single vote from local diamond fans in the Herald poll.

The Sanford baseball constituency voted in a 200 hitting outfielder for the South in naming Buck Collins of Leesburg (308), Pete Hughes, Cocoa (332) and Slaughter, St. Louis, 55.

Home runs — Sauer, Chicago, 24; Hodges, Brooklyn, and Kiner, Pittsburgh, 18; Matthews, Boston, and Thomson, New York, 15.

Pitching — Roe, Brooklyn, 7.0; 1.000; Black, Brooklyn, 4.1; 800; Labine, Brooklyn, and Wilhelm, New York, 7.2; 778; Erskine, Brooklyn, and Hearn, New York, 10.3; 769.

Chuck Aleno, who has won the most votes in the poll, is a pitcher for the Orlando lefty with an unimpressive 7.8 record. Prisco Lopez, Cocoa, with a miserable 6-10 record, made the Southern mound corps, too, as did his teammate Vicci Frazier with an 8-7 season's count.

All other positions on the two All-Star polls were identical. The widely talked about mystery shrouding who will get the most votes by Zeb Rathoff, Coley City Printing Company in Sanford, will not be solved or revealed until just prior to game time tomorrow night at the park.

In the Herald's poll, Red Roberts, the colorful and versatile DeLand Red Hat star won hands down with a 211-vote plurality over popular Chuck Aleno. This may be indicative of the final result, though Ed Levy polled the most individual votes for a player in the official voting.

Hunt-Mercury Is In Third After Win Over Wilson

Robson's Raps Navy, 12-4, To Capture 2nd Spot In Loop

The David and Goliath story was re-enacted on the Lakeland diamond last night when the cellar-dwelling Hunt-Mercury softball team rose to a second place position by defeating the mighty Red Hiss and the front running Wilson-Maierman, 4-2. The victory enabled Hunt to vacate first place for the first time this year.

Hunt-Mercury's triumph pushed them into third place and at the same time cut down Wilson's circuit lead to 3 1/2 games over Robson's Sporting Goods. Robson's manwhirl broke a second place deadlock with Navy VF 35 by slapping a 12-4 defeat on the sailors. This loss plus the Hunt victory dropped Navy to the bottom of the City Softball standings 4 1/2 games behind Wilson in first place.

Frankie Stenstrom's double scoring Hubert Bagwell who had singled to open the second frame, provided Hiss with the winning tally over Wilson-Maier in the initial game. Chuck Graves went the distance for his third win for Hunt's in limiting Wilson to just three hits and two markers. Jimmy Butler, Wilson centerfielder, singled Graves for one of the hits, a one-run homer to lead-off the third inning.

George Blasen, Robson second sacker paced his team to victory with a pair of no-bases blows in the eighth of the ten hit last night. Glen Jones went the route to gain credit for the win over Navy. Jones held Navy to four runs on eight hits. A big eight run in the eighth sent Navy and their starter Dunlap, Wilson-Maier 601 100-2-2 3 Hunt-Mercury 229 000-4-7

Seining Depletes Lakes Of 463,278 Pounds Of Fish

TALLAHASSEE (Special) — Controlled seining operations on Lakes George, Crescent, and Okechobee netted a total of 463,278 pounds of roughfish, including 178,906 pounds of roughfish and salt water fish during the first three weeks of the program. It was reported today by John F. DeQuine, chief fisheries biologist of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

DeQuine said that the total included 114,193 pounds of black bass and pickerel and 23,484 pounds of non-predatory turtles which were returned to the lakes. The total also included a number of salt water fish in which game species, such as tarpon, snook and ladyfish, were placed back in the waters.

The breakdown on the three lakes follows:

Lake George: 23,977 pounds of bass and pickerel, 69,744 pounds of bream and crappie, 20,232 pounds of catfish, and 116,394 pounds of roughfish and salt water fish.

Lake Crescent: 3,223 pounds of bass and pickerel, 70,606 pounds of bream and crappie, 12,051 pounds of catfish, 24,776 pounds of roughfish and predaceous turtles, and 23,454 pounds of non-predatory turtles.

The seining operations are part of a three-year experimental program designed to improve sports fishing opportunities by removing roughfish and harvesting surplus populations of panfish. All panfish are destroyed while bass and crappie are sold after being tagged and inspected at a central checking station. The project is under strict Commission supervision.

Gale Penza Leads Hats To Victory With Five Hits

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Florida State League's leading DeLand Red Hats wallopped last place Cocoa, 15-6 Wednesday night.

Gale Penza was the big batsman for the night, getting five of DeLand's 18 hits in six tries. Penza, who once played for Cocoa, batted in six runs with his hits, which included a homer and a double.

In other games, Orlando edged Jacksonville Beach, 4-3; Daytona Beach beat Leesburg, 7-5; and Sanford defeated Palatka, 10-4.

Sanford batters knocked out 10 hits off three Palatka pitchers. Shortstop Gary Sondermyer's 2-run homer in the second inning and one by Rightfielder Al Pirtle and two by runs in the third didn't help Palatka.

Orlando scored three times in the second inning and once in the fourth to beat Jacksonville Beach and give Tom Mills his fourth defeat against 11 wins this season. Daytona Beach's Eddie Gasque pitched a 6-hitter to beat Leesburg, with the help of Bill Rough who relieved in the eighth inning.

Magic No. 18 Is What Bucs Face In Cellar Bid

Pittsburgh Rests 41 Contests In Back Of Brooklyn Burns

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

The magic number now is 18 in Pittsburgh's wild dash toward the major league booby prize.

Any combination of 18 Pirates losses or Brooklyn wins will do the job. As the Pittsburgh lads (6-13 with Brooklyn) play 11 more with the Dodgers, it shouldn't take too long.

Brooklyn lost to a lefthanded starter for the first time this season, letting Harth Perkowski of Cincinnati go nine with a 10-hitter, 6-4. Homers by Joe Adcock, Andy Semick and Bob Borkowski off Carl Erskine carried more weight than Billy Cox's 2-run double and Gil Hodges' 19th homer with one on.

Because New York and St. Louis were idle, the Dodgers lost only a half game of their National League lead, now measuring seven games.

Bob Rush, making his eighth try for Win No. 10 since June 13, finally succeeded in Boston where the Chicago Cubs ripped into Max Surkont and three others for 13 hits and 6-2 victory.

Just when the New York Yanks were ready to land a knockout blow on Cleveland, the Indians bounced back behind Bob Lemon to win, 7-3. Coming after Tuesday's double loss, the Tribe still trailed by 6 1/2 games in fourth place.

Lemon's first triumph over the Yankees this year was a fine 6-hitter to hand Rookie Tom Gorman his first setback. Al Rosen's 18th homer in the fifth put Cleveland ahead to stay.

Boston closed to within four games of the Yanks by blasting seven runs in the ninth inning at Tampa for a 10-4 decision.

Washington remained in a challenging position, only six games behind Detroit in 18 in the ninth inning. Starter Alex Kellner and Winner Rob Hooper held St. Louis to four hits, as the Philadelphia A's handed the Browns their seventh straight defeat, 3-2.

HIGHLIGHTS CONVENTION

By VOLIE WILLIAMS, JR.

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—The power politicians pulled all stops out in an effort to prevent the seating of the Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana delegations, and failed. It was a close test of strength between the South allied with the conservative Democrats in opposition to the liberal and pseudo-liberal branch of the party.

Aligned together were the forces of Stevenson, Barkley, Russell and Kerr on one side and Roosevelt, Humphrey, Kefauver and Humphrey on the other. For a while during the voting on the seating of Virginia, it looked as though the Kefauver-Humphrey-Harriman group would win, but before the results were announced, there was a sufficient number of states changing their votes to alter the final tally.

While it is true that television viewers get a better all around picture of the convention than do the delegates, there are certain aspects of strategy which can be recognized only by attendance at the convention. As an example, tonight when Senator Hubert H. Humphrey was nominated, he received one of the biggest four demonstrations accorded any candidate; however, as former Governor Doyle Carlton and numbers of others of an opinion, it was a sufficient number of states changing their votes to alter the final tally.

Such tactics are designed to impress the voters—not with the expectation that Humphrey will receive the nomination this time—but to leave an impression upon the minds of delegates and future delegates that "this man Humphrey must be a good man, look at the demonstration he received."

When the Kefauver-Harriman crowd lost the Virginia matter, they then moved to adjourn—trick logic in use in political maneuvering. They wanted time to regroup their forces and time to handle wavering delegates.

They lost this motion, however, an agreement was reached between the opposition factions and the convention was adjourned at 3:00 a. m. to reconvene at 11:00 a. m. today.

Russell's Florida delegates are "afiling with him until he releases us," said Congressman Ed Jim Haley last night. "By" Boyd and Governor Carlton confirmed this statement. The Herald inquired if Russell released them, would they then support Governor Stevenson and the answer was "very likely, however, it will not be unanimous."

One of them who would not be quoted stated that in view of Kefauver's desertion of the South and Tennessee's failure to vote with the South on procedural matters, it was extremely doubtful if Florida's Russell delegates would support Kefauver in the event Russell were nominated.

The placing of Alben Barkley's name in nomination last night might have some effect on the outcome of the Democratic nominee also. Although the CIO members are too old, there are numbers of other delegates and citizens who feel that he is the one man who possesses the background and ability to win against General Eisenhower in November.

I would like to devote the remainder of this, my last column from this convention, to the expression of some personal opinion. (Continued on Page Four)

Burned Freed On Charges Of Driving Drunk

Accident Took Place May 31 When Truck Went Into A Ditch

The case of Charles E. Burnsed, charged with driving while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage to the extent that his normal faculties were impaired, ended in an acquittal in County Court yesterday.

Prosecution witnesses H. H. Martin, C. W. McCoy, Robert G. Dell Hurford, and R. P. Harrison, state highway patrolman, testified that Mr. Burnsed, whose pickup truck went into a ditch on May 31, appeared to be intoxicated after the accident occurred.

Mr. Burnsed testified that he was 75 to 80 feet from the scene of the accident, that he observed Mr. Burnsed get out of the truck, walk off, and return later with Mrs. Burnsed and a tractor. At this time, according to Mr. Martin, he advised Mrs. Burnsed that she had better drive the tractor because Mr. Burnsed was too intoxicated to drive it.

Mr. McCoy was sitting on his porch nearby at the time of the accident and testified that Mr. Burnsed appeared to be intoxicated when he came into his yard and asked to borrow his automobile to pull the truck out.

Mr. Burnsed testified that he assisted Mr. Burnsed to remove the truck from the ditch and that he was intoxicated at that time. Patrolman Harrison revealed that when he arrived at the scene of the accident, he smelled low on the truck and that he appeared to be intoxicated.

Canal Project To Be Considered At Meet On Tuesday

A group of interested citizens of the St. John's River valley will meet Tuesday in Sanford to discuss plans for the proposed Titusville-Sanford Canal.

The steering committee of the group will meet at 10:30 o'clock in the City Hall and the whole body will convene at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The meeting is planned to set up an active organization to promote the canal project and to work with any group or organization interested in linking the St. John's and the Indian Rivers.

Scheduled to speak at the meeting are Henry Fozzard, U. S. C. G. A. Joe Earmann of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, Earl Brown of DeLand and Col. A. G. Matthews of the State Conservation Division.

Members of the committee include L. P. Boyle, Earl Brown, Harry Fozzard, Al Lewis, C. C. McLean, of Palatka, Dr. J. J. L. Hurford, of Jacksonville, Lester Bush of Palatka, Capt. C. D. Anderson of Welaka, Capt. Harlow Merryday of Palatka, Ed Goodwin of Titusville, and Roy Carpenter of Titusville.

Also at the steering committee meeting will be David Howard of Jacksonville, editor of the Sanford Magazine. The group is interested in the proposed Titusville-Sanford canal and includes people from throughout the St. John's River valley area.

Casselberry Case Expected To Go To Jury Late Today

Defendant Testifies Wife Called Liar By Man Attacked

The case of the State vs. Elmer Casselberry, charged with assault and battery, is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon in Judge Douglas Steinhilber's County Court.

Mr. Casselberry testified this afternoon that he attacked the victim of Casselberry's assault, the latter shook his finger in the defendant's face and said, "You are a liar."

According to Mr. Casselberry, he and his wife entered the office of the town council, and he began to speak to Mr. Casselberry about a water hydrant near Mr. Gibson's property which Mr. Casselberry recently had sealed.

Mr. Casselberry said that while this conversation was going on, he heard Mrs. Gibson say to his wife, "That's a fabrication," and at that time Mr. Casselberry struck Mrs. Gibson's face and said, "I know I tried to choke him, and I do it again tomorrow."

In answer to questions from the court, Mr. Casselberry testified that he had brought about an agreement to end the steel strike and that he was ready to stamp the country for the Democratic nomination in matter which he had promised to do.

Truman Flies To Convention To Raise Hell

Plane Takes Off In Washington As His Alternate Casts His Vote For Stevenson

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (Special)—President Truman will delay his scheduled 9 p. m. ENF address to the Democratic National Convention if a presidential nominee has not been picked by that time.

WASHINGTON (Special)—President Truman took off for Chicago today to cap the fiery democratic convention with a "give 'em hell" speech against his favorite foes, the republicans.

The president left national airport in the plane the independence of 141 p. m. ENF, still mulling over the speech he hopes will help lead the democratic victory in the presidential election. Mrs. Truman accompanied her husband.

Truman will speak from notes on addressing the convention at 9 p. m. ENF tonight. He is at his oratorical best when he is not reading from a prepared text and he was telling no one just what he intended to say.

There were two doubts, though, that the President was expected to do.

He had brought about an agreement to end the steel strike and that he was ready to stamp the country for the Democratic nomination in matter which he had promised to do.

Mr. Truman flew Washington at 1:30 p. m. ENF aboard the White House plane the Independence for the 2 1/2 hour flight to Chicago's Municipal Airport.

North Is Favored Over South In All-Star Game Here Tonight

By KENT CHETLIN

The classic of classics in the annals of Florida State League for 1952 will be staged this evening in Memorial Stadium when for the first time in the 10-year history of the event a Northern and Southern club will clash at 8:15 p. m.

Peculiar to this game is the fact that everyone of the players were chosen by the fans, including the two managers. Baseball experts and fans concede the power-packed Northerners are the decided favorites for this evening's game in Sanford's new baseball plant.

Stevenson Smiles As Boom Grows

Steel Strike Is Brought To End By Compromise

Price Increase, Modified Union Policy Crux Of Agreement

BY HOWARD LEVINS, JR. WASHINGTON, July 25.—The longest steel strike in American history is expected to resume next week.

The striking 400,000 steelworkers' union was considered verbally ready today to accept a strike end agreement reached at the White House after President Truman personally demanded and got a settlement.

It was not a clear-cut victory for anyone concerned the union industry or the government. There was give and take on all sides. The end of the crippling 53-day strike was announced late Thursday by the President himself with the President's chief Murray and U. S. Steel Chairman Benjamin Fairless standing beside him.

Calling new men into his own office a rare occurrence, Mr. Truman told them Murray and Fairless a verbal agreement on important basic issues after five long conferences, and predicted a "speedy resumption of steel production."

He and Murray would meet to day with his top Wage Policy Committee to obtain ratification of the agreement.

Fairless, it was reliably learned plans to make a personal appearance before this committee in a dramatic move aimed at wiping out six differences. The union invited him to make a short talk to the group after a closed session during which actual ratification of the agreement was scheduled.

At best it will be four or five days before any substantial production of steel is reached. It takes time to heat up the banked blast furnaces which stand by workers have kept alive ever since the strike started June 2.

The new steel which comes out of some 380 struck plants will sell for about $3.20 a ton more than before the strike started.

Barkeley Supporter Sees Death Of Stevenson As Unlikely After Bad Bail

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (Special)—With the first ballot roll called through Oregon, the official count for the Democratic presidential nomination stood:

HARRISMAN 101
KEFAUVER 100
KERR 82
RUSSELL 74
STEVENSON 18
Other 141

By JACK REIF Chicago (Special)—The first ballot over the Democratic presidential nomination developed today as it became apparent that no candidate could win the prize as the first count.

Barkeley, the moderate vote switcher, which seemed unlikely, Gov. Allan P. Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia headed for a group on the first ballot with most of them within striking distance of the 270 votes needed for victory.

With the first count progressing slowly in this rapidly paced and slightly tense three-man contest, it was expected that Stevenson would lead the group on the first ballot, but that the group would split.

As an indication of what might happen on the second roll of call, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who had been in the lead, his support in California and the Kansas vote, having had a change of heart, had moved to the second roll of call.

Florida Delegates Hoping For Second Spot For Russell

By JACK REIF Chicago (Special)—Florida delegates, hoping for a second spot for Russell, are expected to vote for him in the second roll of call.

When the second roll of call is held, it is expected that Russell will receive the support of the Florida delegates, who are expected to vote for him in the second roll of call.

National Guard To Leave For Camp

About 80 members of Sanford's National Guard regiment will leave Sunday afternoon for two weeks of summer training camp at Fort McClelland in Anniston, Ala. It was announced today by Capt. David M. Gatchel, commanding officer for Company I of the 121st Infantry Regiment.

The company will leave the Atlantic Coast Line depot at 5:00 p. m. return on Aug. 10 at 9:00 a. m.

SOCIAL SECURITY

ORLANDO (Special)—Nearly every family in Central Florida now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments will receive more money beginning with the September payments due about Oct. 3. If the increase does not show on a check when it arrives early in October, and an increase is due, a later check will make up the difference.

Statistically speaking, the Northern Stars will field an array of sluggers that boast of a combined .331 average to the .280 hitting percentage of the Southern club.

Manager Chuck Aleno, who has been nursing a back injury for the last five days, may be forced to yield his position to Dave Drapp, who was added to the roster yesterday in the decided superior to the
