new private college is slated to Baughman said.

The $15 million school will be known as New College, named after the famed college at Oxford University in England, its beginning enrollment of 1,200 is exected to grow to about 2,400

Announcement of the plans for the college, which came sunday at a news conference at New York University, indicated that New College would be a sort of Oxford-style seat of learning with the accent on quality and freedom of intellectual inquiry.

er their sies to accept students "irrespective of racial origin or religious belief."

New College President George F. Baughman and hoard of trustes Chairman Philip H. Hiss stressed that the college will be free of all outside controls including those of government, pressure groups and the church.

The Rev. Howard Spragg, treasand a New College trustee, said Congregationalists have long played a major role in developing higher education, starting with the establishment of Harvard and Yale universities and later with Fisk and Howard, the first colleges for Negroes in the South.

New College will be built on the Dite of the former Charles Ringling estate on Sarasota Bay and will include the Ringling mansion. Ground-breaking is expected in September 1962.

Baughman said the college's central location between North and South America would be emphasized. He predicted that most of the students would come from outside Florida, including foreign

The Oldest Generation

We all have heard endless times that our population is getting older, in the sense that the elderly represent a larger and larger proportion of the total. We know, too, that government and many others are giving heavy attention to the problems of the aging.

Most of the time, however, the entire matter is expressed in terms of folk who are in or nearing their 60s. That's the age of retirement, enforced or voluntary, for many, it signals numerous difficult transi-

How startling to realize, then that the age 85 is now becoming a prominent factor in U. S. population calculations.

The 1960 census shows the number of Americans 85 and over is 920 per cent greater than in 1920. Then there were 91,000 today 929,000. The gain from 1950 to 1960 is 61 per cent, and these super-oldsters now represent 5.6 per cent of all the aged (over 65).

You are looking at the spirit of every 'Jeep' vehicle ever built. Look again and see the loughness, the vitality sticking out all over it! This one was bashed by a charging rhinoceros. Smacked in the face by an avalanche of rock. And run through a muddy morass that tried to absorb it. And still it comes charging back to camp like a young tion. Dear abby:

DEAR ABBY: All my friends tell me should have my head examined, I am in love with a man who has been spoiled all his life by women. He is so good-looking and loaded with charm that no one can resist him including myself. He is now being divorced for the 4th time talways the same grounds-infidelity), and is paying alimony to two wives and child support for three children. He is an executive, and I work for him. He swears he is now ready to settle down, but he can't afford another marriage, I am 26, never married, and would like to marry this man, I know I can prove to him that marriage with the right woman can work. I love him, Abliv, but I am putty in his hands. Should I stick with him?

DEAR PUTTY: Your Romeo, in my opinion, is not matriage material, and never will be. A we as who is "putter" in the hands of a sual today can expect to be and ander his fact tomorrow. . . .

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a girl who is in the sixth grade need to have a girl who is in the seventh grade come and babysit with her? My mother says that she calls the baby-sitter for my brother, who is five. But the sitter tells me what to do, too. I am only a year younger than the sitter. Why can't I sit with my little brother?? DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 43, I have been married before and have a grown daughter. I am being married again, and would like to know if it is proper to wear a white dress with all white accessories. I do not mean the traditional bridal gown, with veil. I expect to be married in church with a few close friends present. I have discussed this with a friend, and she said she doesn't think I should be married in a white outfit because I've been married before Is she cor-SECOND TIME AROUND
