Watergate Trials More Guilty Pleas Coming

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate political espionage trial entered its second week today with some of the remaining defendants reportedly under heavy pressure to drop pleas.

With one guilty plea already in and four more considered a definite possibility, a dwindling number of defendants would drop the prospect of the full story ever being told about the break-in at Democratic party headquarters last summer. One of the original seven defendants, E. Howard Hunt, pleaded guilty Wednesday.

Sanford Council Actions

By BOB LLOYD

Sanford city commissioners have indicated they favor annexation of the two-thirds of Lake Jennie not already inside the city limits. But commissioners indicated they have reservations about a contingency that they issue a fill permit to allow a portion of the lake to be filled in to permit apartment construction.

Attorney S. Joe Davis told the commission that the District School Board owns all of Lake Jennie and has a contract to sell a narrow strip of land on the north and east shore for apartment development adjacent to the present Lake Jennie Apartments.

Davis claimed only a "small portion" of the lake would be filled and said there would be no dredging.

"The city won't be involved in the 'fill' operation," Davis said, "other than issuing the initial permit."

He said the fill proposal must then clear the State Air and Water Pollution Control Board and the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund.

"If the city commission won't issue the fill permit tell me now and I'll stop spinning my wheels," Davis said.

"You'll have to fill to build," Commissioner A. A. McClanahan said.

No Action On "Unigovernment"

Commissioner John Morris said he thinks the city should "seriously consider" County Commissioner Greg Drummond's proposal calling for establishment of a study commission on unified city-county government.

"I think there is a possibility of doing it," Morris said. "Somebody has got to take the initiative. On the money basis it's a fallow."

Natural commissioners declined to discuss Morris' idea and took no action on his proposal.

Taxi Regulations Tabled

In Monday's work session, commissioners tabled further consideration of proposed rate increases for taxicabs in the city until the city manager can meet with cab company representatives and clarify present "rate zones" and present them to the commission.

Harry Miller of West Palm Beach, owner of Sanford Yellow Cab and 14 other such operations over the state, said until he gets assurance that the nine independent cab operators in the city will operate under the present city ordinance as his firm does will he suspend Yellow Cab operation in Sanford Sunday through Thursday from midnight to 6 a.m.

Miller said once before when he took such action he backed down at request of the city manager.

The independent cabs operate generally from 5:30 a.m. to 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. daily.

Miller claimed the city ordinance isn't being followed and said he feels like "cutting the city ordinance in half."

"We're losing money operating by the ordinance," he said, "and the others are not."

Miller said Yellow Cab lost $4,000 in Sanford last year and would lose $10,000 if it didn't received income from a Trailways Bus depot operation.

Miller wants the city ordinance changed to require a city with no minimum or maximum rates. He also proposes the city must insure required insurance coverage on taxicabs from the present $100,000 to $500,000.

Attorney Ken McIntosh, representing nine independent black operators, asked commissioners to raise the present 45-cent maximum rate by five cents or to set the rates 10 cents "across the board in all zones."

McIntosh requested the city not raise the insurance requirement because the state will require $25,000 per car and $400 per cab for insurance and if the requirement is bumped to $50,000 the premium will be $750 per car.

"That would put them out of business," McIntosh stated.

The independent operators had no objection to Miller's proposal that all cab operators be required to have commercial licenses.

Master Plan On Way

Knowles told commissioners Dreyfus Interstate Development Corporation representatives will meet with him and City Engineer Mack Lanzey Wednesday on the Carriage Cove planned unit development master plan.

The city zoning and planning commission has referred to review McMorris Enterprises of Sanford's plan for a $50 million development of 2,125 townhouse and apartment units on 170 acres of the 277 acre PUD until Dreyfus submits the master development plan.

Sign Ordinance Tabled

City commissioners tabled consideration of a proposed sign ordinance revision until representatives from the city building department and the planning and zoning board make a presentation outlining changes in the ordinance.

Commissioners indicated the proposed revision may be "dead" anyway. Mayor Lee Moore told commissioners, "If you adopt everything, the planner says you'll have flower pots and water fountains on every street corner."

He warned the commission will be "opening a real can of worms" if it considers the sign ordinance revision.

Several years ago when the present sign ordinance was adopted a controversy arose over non-conforming signs including one for a French Avenue restaurant and cocktail lounge.

City Attorney Vernon Mize told commissioners the proposed ordinance revision may be "difficult to enforce."

Commissioner John Morris said he favors rejection of the proposal and Commissioner Gordon Meyer commented, "let it sleep."

Commissioner Julian Strömstrom called for a list of proposed changes in the sign ordinance and Commissioner A. A. McClanahan said he wants Mize to study both the old sign ordinance and the proposed revision.

Action Is Delayed On Revised Plans

By DONNA ESTES

CASSELBERRY — Despite remarks from Councilman Ed Duerr urging that the governing body "have enough guts to take a vote" on the issue, the majority of the City Council Monday night voted to hold another public hearing on the proposed development of the Land O' Lakes Country Club property into apartments and condominiums.

The three were in agreement that since development plans have changed from use of the land for more than 1,000 multi-family units to 850 since the public hearing before the zoning board, a new public hearing should be held on 7 p. m. Feb. 5 at the city hall before the Council.

Dr. Duerr, apparently ready to cast her vote on the request to change zoning of the tract from R1A to R-3 called the new public hearing "a delaying tactic" and pushed for a decision "in fairness" to the developer and to the people of the city. "Council has to act," she declared.

At the same time, a member of the audience, inside the council chamber, urged the council to act on the issue.

City Districting Vote March 13

By BOB LLOYD

Sanford voters will vote March 13 on dividing the city into four city commission districts. The issue will be presented in the form of an amendment to the new city charter.

City commissioners supervisor of Elections Mrs. Camilla Bruce has said the city referendum item can be included in the voting machine ballots in the city, with a scheduled School Board Millage election.

Commissioners set a work session for January 23 to work on the language of the districting amendment ordinance that must be passed by February 20 in order to advertise it as a referendum item.

Rev. Amos Jones, who led a petition drive to put the districting issue on the ballot, told commissioners, "We may come in with an idea but we are primarily interested in working with the city commission."

Mayor Lee P. Moore said commissioners agreed that the city should be divided into four districts of as near equal population and geographic size as possible using 1970 census information. Redistricting would be each 10 years using new federal census information.

More told commissioners they could put the districting question on referendum for voter approval or disapproval of the initial plan. If the commission could set up the proposed district lines and put the complete plan on the ballot.

If the first method is used voters would approve the city commission would draw up the specific districting proposal to go on the March 13 ballot.

Morris said it would be wise to include in the charter amendment that each district with the responsibility of investigating and clearing up the garbage wrangle, told the Reliable Garbage Company that the city would not be able to live up to the contract.

Councilman Edith Duerr said one answer to the problem might be for the company to send letters to each customer explaining the service schedule and the fee rates.

Wiz also noted the problem with glass and debris being left behind the trucks as they traverse the various routes and was told by Tapley if they "swept (behind the trucks) all the way down the street, we would never get pickups done."

The councilman pointed out if more complaints are received by the city, the only alternative will be to resort to legal action. "We are doing the best we can," was Tapley's parting remark as he left the meeting.

SCOPA Endorses Officer's Actions

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) members at their regular monthly meeting last night gave SCOPA attorney W. C. Hutchison and administrator, a vote of confidence after hearing all reports on the decision of Redwing Carriers, trucking firm, not to locate at the Port of Sanford.

The Board's action came after attorney Hutchison and administrator Ryan reported on the history of the negotiations between SCOPA and Redwing dating back to June, 1972.

Hutchison said the reason Redwing decided not to go through with their original proposal to lease port acreage for a planned terminal was based on that portion of the lease, "which would have allowed the carrier to lease at two cents a square foot for the first 20 years and at one cent a square foot for the second 20 years." It was that second 20-year option that we could not approve that caused the problems to develop with Redwing," the attorney advised.

Hutchison said the authority as a public body, could not have accepted a reduction of half the cost for the property rental. Henry Schumacher, SCOPA treasurer, said "we are better off without Redwing." He explained the last thing needed at the port was a truck marshaling yard.

Redwing President Mario Redwing said the present property occupied by Redwing must be vacated since it has been sold to a major discount shopping center and construction is expected to get underway soon.

Pet Care Includes Love

By ANN SIECKOWSKI
Some days it is just nice to be alive. 'Cause you meet the nicest people in this area where we live. We were out in Oviedo the other day and stopped in to see Bob and Irene Walters at their new little Poodle Salon, which opened for business on November 13. This was certainly not an unlucky number for these folks and it was most assuredly a lucky day for all the dogs and cats in the area.

Because now there is a place where they can be properly groomed and owners can receive instruction on proper care of their pets. Bob really knows his business and enjoys the live country and western music by the Florida Drifters and on Sunday, come back for an encore by the Midnight Ramblers from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. Since Vi purchased the Club, she has been very busy with renovations both inside and out. There are no more parking problems now because the parking lot has been improved and enlarged. There are now two brand new pool tables and other games in the game room for your pleasure. Vi has taken every precaution and means to provide top quality entertainment in a well run and friendly club. Her bartenders are all beautiful and enjoy the live country and western music by the Florida Drifters and on Sunday, come back for an encore by the Midnight Ramblers from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. POODLES are the business and first love of Bob and Irene Walters of Oviedo. Shown in their poodle salon with two of their pets, this couple can be depended on to give your animal the finest care available. The shop is open to all animals and owners are welcome to come in, watch, and ask questions about their pets.

Copper Hood Blackens

By GENE GARY
Copyies News Service
Q. We have a copper fire-place chimney hood. What can we do to retain the copper color? It repeatedly gets black. — Kitty S.W.
A. It is not easy to restore copper. We suggest you make a limited test with muriatic acid diluted one-half with water, pouring the acid slowly into the water. Of course, the copper should be scrubbed first to remove all surface dirt possible. Use rubber gloves and goggles in handling the acid, as it is dangerous. If the acid fails to get results, we believe the only other sure method is a portable buffing machine which is like the electrical hand buffer used on automobiles. Buffing paste is applied to the surface with the buffing machine and the hood is buffed out of the room. We have a gas furnace for train heat. Others say no, leave the damper open all night, and that the fumes that would be locked in the house when the damper is closed are not good for the health. What is your opinion, please? — Mrs. J.F. MacC.

A. Here is professional advice on the operation of fire-place dampers, taken from a technical publication. Make sure the damper is wide open before lighting the fire. Many fireplaces are operated with dampers constantly open, but dampers do not have to be constantly opened and closed in order to be of great value in promoting smooth discharge of smoke and arresting the down draft. Experiment to see how much the damper opening can be cut down to save heat while discharging all the smoke. When only a bed of glowing coals remains, the damper can be brought nearest to a fully closed position. But again, be sure to open it before refueling with a smoke-producing fuel.

For Entertainment Visit The Club Diamond

By ANN SIECKOWSKI
Are you looking for a place to "chill" have a good time? Well try the Club Diamond on 17-92 in DeBary. The Club is owned and operated by some really nice folks, Vi and Clyde Mayo. Clyde is new to the operation — he and Vi were married on November 10 and now they work together in the operation of this really fun place to go for an evening's entertainment. The Club Diamond is open seven days a week — Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. and on Sundays from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. The package store is open the same hours. On Fridays and Saturdays nights from 8:30 to 1:30, you can dance and enjoy the live country and western music by the Florida Drifters and on Sunday, come back for an encore by the Midnight Ramblers from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight. Since Vi purchased the Club, she has been very busy with renovations both inside and out. There are no more parking problems now because the parking lot has been improved and enlarged. Her bartenders are all beautiful and enjoy the live country and western music by the Florida Drifters and on Sunday, come back for an encore by the Midnight Ramblers from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Home Gardeners Helped

By ANN SIECKOWSKI
Great things are happening out at GardenLand. Harold Hunziker and his family are busy, busy, busy, with more folks coming in all the time to take advantage of their expertise in this business of planting because spring is just around the corner and it is time, dear friends, that you begin to think about what you are going to plant. Out at GardenLand, Hunziker can tell you which of his really great variety of plants will grow best and bloom best and will produce best and what kind of soil, fertilizer and care you should give those plants. As for seeds, at GardenLand, you may buy in bulk or by the package and you simply will not believe the variety of these which are available there. The annuals carried at GardenLand are from Dutch Mills. You know of course that annuals are plants like petunias, snapdragons, pansies, calendulas and others like that — well, of course, you already know that. Well, don't be so snug — there may be some folks who have gardens or who would like to have beautiful flower gardens who might be new to this planting game and so J. Harold Hunziker and GardenLand are all set to help them make the right choices for their particular needs. If you are a rose fancier, you should be appraised of the fact that GardenLand carries the Nelson line of Florida roses. These were developed especially for Florida soils and climates and they are truly beautiful and with Hunziker's advice and soil treatments supplies, anybody can become proficient in growing roses. It is good to know that there is such a place for pets as Bob's Poodle Shop, located in the light in downtown Oviedo, with plenty of parking space and friendly folks inside to welcome you and your pet. You are doing your pet a disservice if you don't try Bob's Poodle Shop in Oviedo and soon. Call 365-9571 for an appointment, or after hours, call 365-9999.

MUST STAY AWAY FROM WOMEN
AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Confidence man David Te Huia has been forbidden to marry for three years under terms of probation imposed by a magistrate here. Te Huia admitted three charges of theft totalling $6,998 from a 70-year-old widow. He told her he would invest her money and she gave him $10,000. Te Huia used most of the money on autos, one of which he wrecked. Stipendiary magistrate John H. Murray imposed fines of $360 and forbade Te Huia marrying or having responsibility for the maintenance or support of any women or children while on probation.

In Watergate Case Student Spied For Republicans

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Utah college student has told the Watergate case jury he stopped working as a Republican spy in the Democratic camp after a close shave in an effort to bug the headquarters of Sen. George McGovern.

Thomas Gregory resumed testifying Monday after a four-day pause during which four more defendants pleaded guilty. The plea changes make it unlikely that the trial will produce the full story behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic party headquarters last summer.

Seven men were charged in connection with the break-in but only two remain on trial: G. Gordon Liddy, former counsel to President Nixon's campaign finance committee, and James W. McCord Jr., security chief for the Nixon campaign.

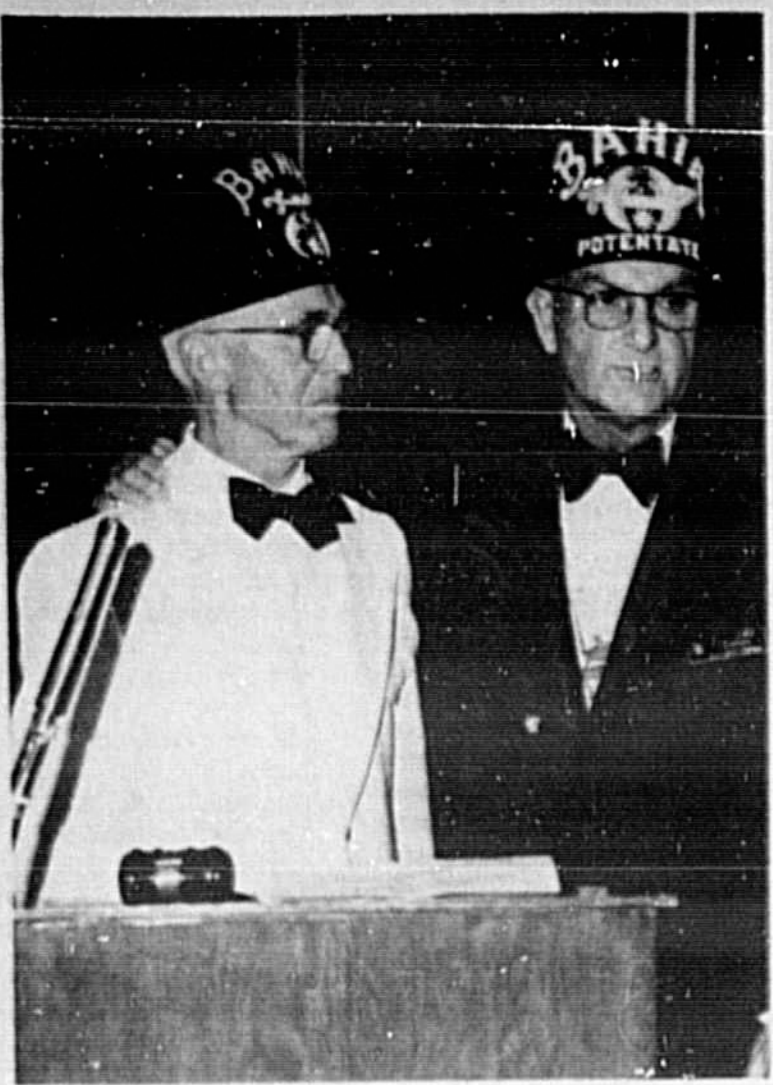

On Monday, the sixth day of the trial, U.S. Dist. Court Judge John J. Sirica accepted the guilty pleas of four Miami men after questioning them at length and saying at one point to their unrelenting answers: "I'm sorry, I don't believe you."

The judge refused to declare a mistrial, requested by attorneys for Liddy and McCord. They argued that the sudden absence of five defendants would give the jury the impression that five had pleaded guilty since the remaining two also were guilty.

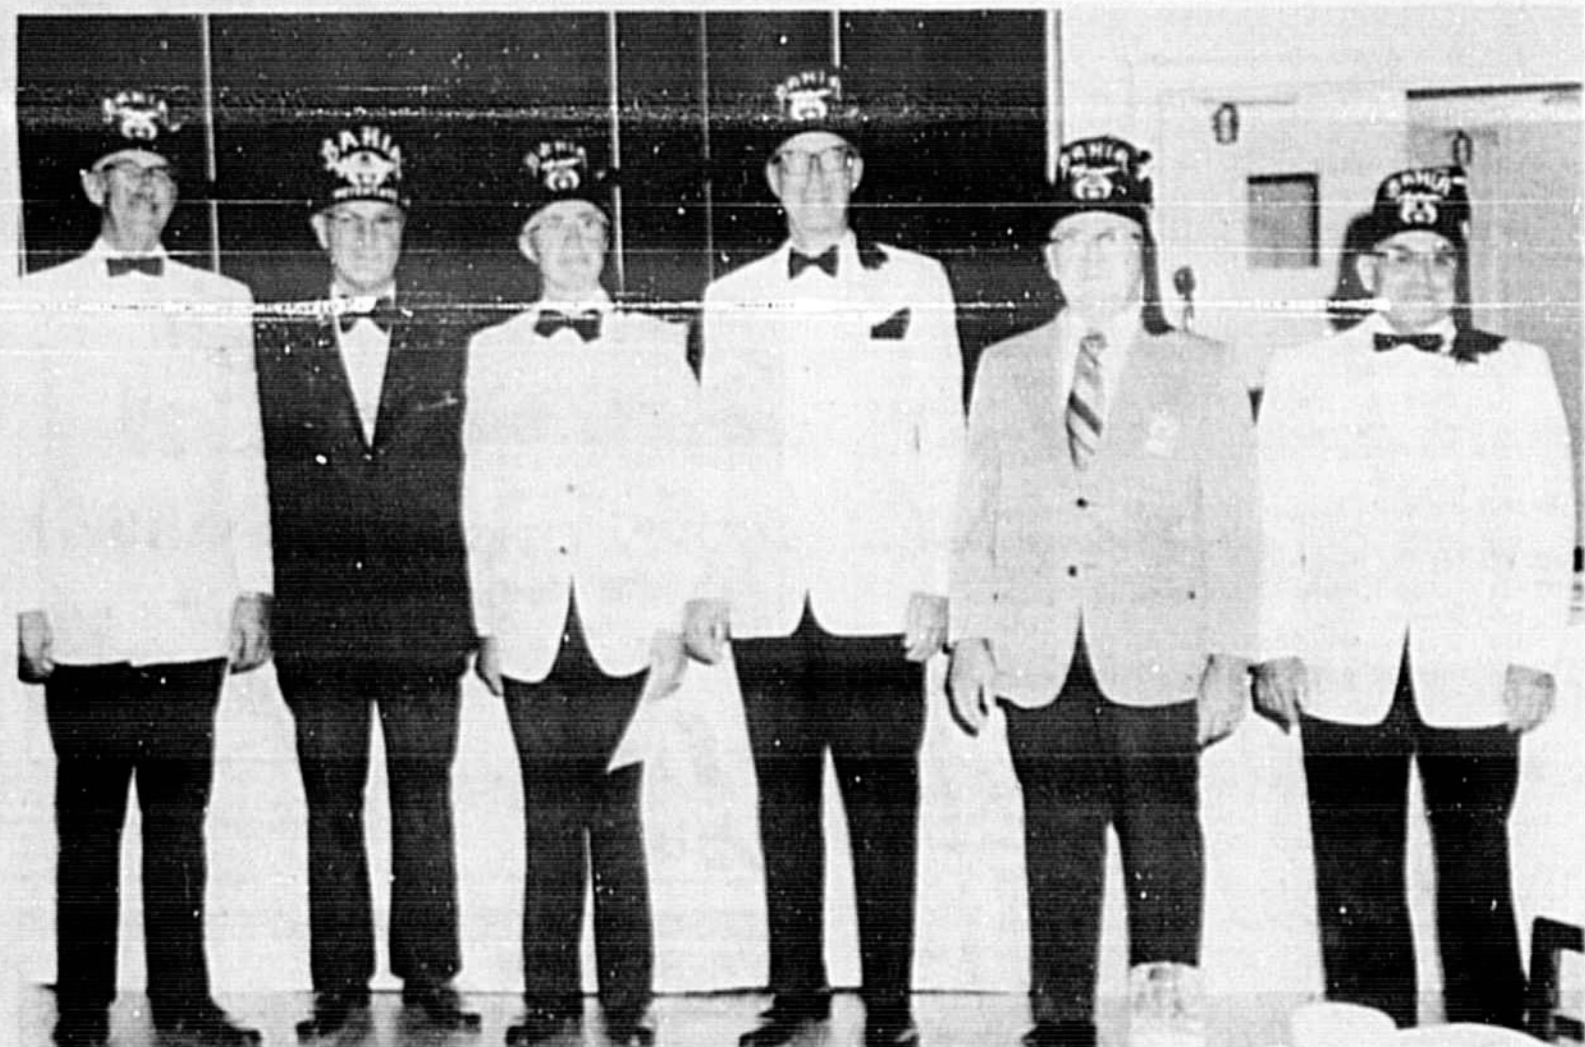

Charges against the seven include conspiracy, burglary and illegal wiretapping.

Sirica set bond at $100,000 for each of the four. Their lawyers said later they could not raise it and would stay in jail pending sentencing.

The same bond had been set for former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt Jr., who pleaded guilty last Wednesday.

Shrine Officers 700-800 Sewer Plants In Violation Installed

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Some 700 to 800 sewer plants in Florida—most of them small, domestic waste treatment units held at the Stetson-Union Hall of the University in Deland on Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Following a delicious steak dinner, the meeting was turned over to the Illustrious Potentate of Bahia Temple, J.J. Jeff Jordan, who installed the following officers for 1973:

Rudy Wester, president; Frank Lombardo, 1st vice-president; Gordon Leisinger, 2nd vice-president; Earl Langworthy, secretary; James Nelso, treasurer; and H. C. Baljet, secretary.

Baljet was formally named by board members to replace—on an interim basis—director Vice Patton, who resigned last week to accept a job with a central Florida engineering firm.

A list of violators of the law is still being compiled, said Baljet. The Deltona Shrine Club and then proceeded to name Hilbert C. Neuhause as an "Aide" and Earl Langworthy, an "Ambassador." This placed the entire membership as Neuhause is the founder of the Deltona club and Langworthy helped him and has served as the club secretary for many years.

More than 100 members and their "ladies" attended the dinner-installation.

working at the headquarters who wanted to know why Gregory was there. At this, Gregory said, he left and called to warn Hunt, and the bugging operation was called off. Gregory said he had a final meeting June 15 to tell Hunt he was wanted out of the operation. He had been paid a total of $3,400 by Hunt for his work.

All this time, Gregory said, he was getting academic credit from Brigham Young University for working in a political campaign.

Gregory identified photographs of Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzalez, two of the defendants who pleaded guilty Monday, as being present at a meeting in which the bugging operation was planned.

Flooding guilty with Sturgis and Gonzalez were Bernard L. Barker, a Miami real-estate executive, and Eugenio R. Martinez.

Gregory testified last Thursday that he had been recruited by Hunt to infiltrate the presidential campaigns of McGovern and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

As he resumed his testimony Monday, Gregory said Hunt introduced him to McCord in mid-May 1972. He said McCord expressed interest in planting electronic listening devices in the offices of McGovern campaign officials.

On a visit to McGovern headquarters, Gregory said, McCord went through the building observing the burglary-alarm system and the location of exits. He said he later was introduced to Liddy, who went along on a nighttime reconnaissance of the area around McGovern headquarters.

Gregory said he refused to provide keys to the building, but agreed to go to the McGovern headquarters on Sunday, May 28, stay late enough to be the last one out and leave some locks open. But, he said, he was discovered by another man exempting them from the law. Monday the board gave 23 waste treatment plants within the city of Jacksonville such permits. It also gave permits to Live Oak, Lake Worth, Delray Beach, and the Broward County Utilities Co.

In other action, the board eased up on a ban on sewer hookups on an overloaded sewer main in North Dade County. The board said all new hookups involving construction permits issued prior to Dec. 20, 1972, are to be accepted.

Baljet said the department plans to enforce the law strictly against these plants. "We'll start with some of the worst of the others," he told attendees following an eight-hour Pollution Control Board meeting Monday.

Baljet was formally named by board members to replace—on an interim basis—director Vice Patton, who resigned last week to accept a job with a central Florida engineering firm.

A list of violators of the law is still being compiled, said Baljet. The Deltona Shrine Club and then proceeded to name Hilbert C. Neuhause as an "Aide" and Earl Langworthy, an "Ambassador." This placed the entire membership as Neuhause is the founder of the Deltona club and Langworthy helped him and has served as the club secretary for many years.

More than 100 members and their "ladies" attended the dinner-installation.

Under the new order, however three old waste treatment plants—ones in Miami Lakes, one in Hialeah and the other in North Miami—must be temporarily reopened to handle the load.

The plants, which must provide advanced treatment within six months, would be closed down once the northeast Dade regional sewer system is adapted.

The board Monday also voted 4-0 to uphold a ban against the burning of solid fuels to warm homes during winter cold spells.

The ruling came over the objection of the Florida Citrus Mutual, which said a number of small growers would be forced out of business if they couldn't burn tires, wood, rubber scrap or other form of solid fuel.

Under the proposed guidelines, which will be submitted to the Cabinet by Jan. 30 and the Legislature by March 15, any solid mineral mining operation which is larger than 100 acres would be designated a development of regional impact.

Are U.S. Workers Unhappy With Jobs?

According to a new government study, a "dogma of increased efficiency" is dehumanizing American workers and turning them into robots. Experts looking over the shoulder of the working man have linked job monotony with a variety of ailments—even a short life span.

These sweeping assumptions resemble the resistance which has come from labor unions through the years to calls for increased productivity. They conform to sociological theory that job unhappiness rises from increased expectations, higher education, the inherent monotony of factory systems, and a desire of workers to have more say in management.

Authors of the study even cite some alarming statistics. They assert that 17 per cent of our labor force, or 11.9 million persons, can be considered unhappy with their jobs. The disenchanted include more women than men, more young people than older people, and more ethnic minorities, than those in a majority, as well as more blue-collar workers than white-collar workers. These facts are used to suggest that social injustices are reflected on the industrial scene.

To assume that dissatisfaction by 17 per cent of the labor force is a crisis industry, however, ignores the corresponding assumption that 83 per cent of all workers are happy in their jobs. To suggest a complete reordering of the systems and patterns of industry on the basis of a dissatisfied minority is simply overkill.

Yet the Department of Health, Education and Welfare suggests just such an overhaul on the strength of its study. It speaks of "robots" in referring to workers on an assembly line in an automobile plant in Ohio.

Most large firms today are moving rapidly toward policies that give identity and stature to employees. These are reflected in retirement plans, deconcentration and smaller factories, improved opportunities for education and advancement and increased fringe benefits.

The HEW study, in its limited view, its hasty conclusions and its all-considered suggestions, seems an example of poor workmanship in action. It is both behind the times and beside the point.

The American worker has his problems, to be sure, some of them personal and some which he shares with all who earn a living in an economy growing ever more technological in its tools and structure. The sociological prescription written by HEW's doctors is hardly what he needs for those remaining aches and pains on the American production line.

After 71 Years, Harry Has A Phone

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Harry Hessel is enjoying life more than usual this year. A retired farmer who lives alone in a remote, wooded region 20 miles south of Watertown, N.Y., Harry at last has a telephone and electricity for the first time in his 71 years.

From his weathered, century-old farmhouse it's three miles to the nearest paved road and another half-mile to a pay phone. All his life Harry has slugged out to the pay phone every time he wanted to make a call, sometimes in 10-foot snowdrifts.

Now, thanks to a new neighbor and the General Telephone Co. of Upstate New York, Inc., Harry can call friends or relatives from his cozy living room, still heated by a 19th Century pot-bellied stove.

The phone and electric power were the idea of Frank Shoukhy, Harry's new neighbor down the road a half-mile. Harry agreed to go in with Frank on the project.

Already the widowed Hessel is finding the phone useful in his part-time job as a tax assessor for the town of Boylston. And the fact that he can call his friends, even when there's 10 feet of snow on the ground, is comforting to Harry. The utility, a subsidiary of General Telephone and Electronics Corp., had to sink a long underground cable to reach Hessel's house.

Now all Harry Hessel needs is a telephone and mail service to his front door. "I don't really expect either," he says. "After all, it took 71 years to get a phone and electricity."

engineering professors are working with university specialists in other fields on a project to improve artificial joints.

First, they're studying the use of synthetic joints in dogs, hip, elbow and wrist joints that will function for years, even for active young people.

The idea is to design and develop artificial ankle, knee, hip, elbow and wrist joints that will function for years, even for active young people.

Dr. John F. Booker is studying the designs of synthetic joints which would minimize friction and wear and thereby last longer.

Three communities scattered across the nation are developing new ways to extract valuable resources from the solid wastes that build up in every big city. And the Environmental Protection Agency, which is sponsoring the projects, hopes other cities with similar waste disposal problems will take note.

Baltimore, Md., using an unusual new process called pyrolysis, will convert half its solid wastes into synthetic gas every day and burn the gas to make steam for extra electrical power.

EPA is backing the three demonstration projects with $11.4 million.

Jets Jetting Cleaner

The nation's scheduled airlines have issued a progress report on their achievements in cleaning up air pollution and reducing noise in and around airports.

According to Stuart Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, by the end of 1973, 64 per cent of the domestic fleet of the 27 scheduled airlines will be powered by virtually smoke-free engines. This compares with less than one per cent in 1969. Jet engine sound is also being sharply reduced.

Within the next 12 to 14 months, 13 per cent of the commercial fleet will be represented by the new, low-noise, almost smokeless, wide-bodied jets—the jumbo B-747, DC-10 and L-1011.

Another 52 per cent of the jet fleet will be powered by retrofitted engines—older engines which have been modified to reduce smoke emissions.

The airlines have been working with the engineers for quieter engines. The key factor has been the design of engines with a higher "bypass ratio."

Controls Needed For State Mines

By KEN GEFFERT
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Saying he learned first-hand about mining practices in Florida when he fell into an abandoned rock quarry, a congressman has urged that mining operations answer to state as well as federal and local authorities.

Martin Northrup, assistant director of the Florida Audubon Society, told the state Environmental Land Management Study (ELMS) Committee Monday that mining should not be exempted from proposed guidelines identifying developments of regional impact.

Earlier Monday spokesman for the mining industry asked the committee to delete mining from a list of 13 developments which would be subject to state review under the 1972 Environmental Land and Water Management Act.

"I have personal knowledge of phosphate mining pits becoming a track of all the public agencies I have to report to now," said T. E. Bronson, president of Florida Mining & Materials Corp. of Brooksville.

"Don't do more than is needed to protect the quality of life in Florida," Bronson added. "Don't overburden us with duplication."

The committee also heard testimony on proposals to designate hospitals with more than 600 beds and certain industrial plants as regional developments.

Recycling Trash

An Answer May Have Been Found

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

"Urban ore," a fancy name for trash, is America's only growing natural resource.

The problem is compounded by the fact that refuse disposal in this country still relies on the basic processes used for centuries—burning and burying.

Is there an answer to our growing refuse problem? According to mineral experts of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, a major portion of the answer may have been found.

Over the last several years, specialists at a federal research project under way in nearby Edmonston, Md., have developed a pilot recycling plant that not only eliminates the need to bury the residue of incinerated refuse, but also processes it into commercially valuable products.

Household garbage and trash contain all the materials that were thrown there. This includes aluminum, iron, copper, brass, tin, glass, paper and plastic.

In fact, some of these materials are substantially higher grade than natural ores that are profitably mined and processed for their virgin metals.

The recycling plant developed at Edmonston operates under a simple and ecologically sound theory: Since the refuse already contains materials that have been mined and refined, it is wasteful and unnecessary to draw on nature's finite resources to provide new materials.

Cost figures developed by the bureau indicate that the recycling operation can recover enough salable material to pay for itself, and in some circumstances may even yield a modest profit.

Materials recovered from urban refuse are ideal to work with, says project supervisor Paul Sullivan, and can be used to produce a variety of quality items.

"Reclaimed metals can be used for everything from stereo components and automobile radiators to teakettles and shovels," he said.

It costs $4 per ton, including the cost of amortization of the equipment over 20 years and operating costs, to process 250 tons of municipal residues a day.

Letters To The Editor

Poor Postal Service Cited

Editor Herald: Quite often you have some comments in the Clock about the poor service we are getting in our mail delivery. Thought I would send you the following: I received a Christmas card today Jan. 10. The card was an 8x10 folded card. It was stamped third class on the envelope, I took it to my local Lake Mary postmaster, he weighed it, said it was just over the weight and it would require another eight cent stamp. However, he said they usually send them through postage due—in fact I paid for at least a half dozen postage due on Christmas.

The irony of this is the card was mailed by the sender Dec. 18. It took 23 days to arrive here on New Jersey. Now ain't that something? Now that it was Nixon told us he said our deliveries would improve. What happened is this is just like many of the statements he has made in the past.

Nixon Pulled Wool
Dear Editor: 1972 was it really a good year? I just finished watching a television show about the year 1972. The show was hosted by a group of comedians and these comedians took the important political decisions of 1972 and made a complete mockery of them. In its own right you might say it was funny, but if you think of it it wasn't. I felt that all it showed was how LAME the people of America are.

Mr. Richard M. Nixon has pulled the wool over the eyes of the American people. I think WATER GATE, VIET NAM AND HIS GREAT RE-ELECTION PLAN.

I can remember when he said that he would make no attempt for PEACE before the election. Six days before the election James Bond, excuse me, Henry Kissinger, announced, "THAT PEACE WAS AT HAND," what happened Henry your hand came up empty. The election had to be the dirtiest one in the history of the American government. It may come as a surprise to some of you, but Mr. Nixon had the election fixed so Sen. McGovern could not win. Do you remember Chicago in 1968 and all the trouble they had with protesting and riots and also the trial they had for the leaders of the whole thing? Did you also know that Washington dismissed the charges on the arrangements that the leaders, Abby Hoffman, Jerry Rubin and the others, would come out and say that they supported McGovern. Mr. Nixon you took every state in the Union, except Massachusetts and you just about gave that to McGovern so it would look like a radical state, which would make Sen. Kennedy, who in no doubt will run for President in 1976, look like a radical.

The Press put the WATER GATE case in the eyes of the American public and they almost told us that Mr. Nixon was behind the whole thing. Some of the people in his re-election committee were convicted in the BUGGING of the Democratic headquarters and did you know that the wife of one of the men convicted was in a plane crash in Chicago and in fact her purse was $100,000. The stock broker she was going to see could not disclose where and how she came across the money. Well, it's the beginning of a new year and I don't really know what to look forward to. Mr. Nixon wants to put a monitor on all news on television. He has told CONGRESS that they can hear about his VIET NAM policy through the news but what can you learn from something that all the facts and truth are taken out of. Mr. Nixon has also got a brain-storming idea of bombing North Viet Nam back to the start of civilization to bring peace, or may it be because we are actually losing the war, for the people of South Viet Nam that is or did you forget "WHY WE ARE FIGHTING THE WAR".

The late Henry Truman used the same kind of tactics before he dropped the ATOMIC BOMB on Japan, do you remember if you are that old. Mr. Nixon has demonstrated some humanity action for the people in Nicaragua, but do you remember the floods of the storm Agnes when he took his sweet old time. I wonder if he knew that cherry begins at HOME.

Well, I could go on forever, but I'll finish with this. Mr. Nixon you have sent men to the moon, you have visited Russia and China, but when he'll are you going to visit the people of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA!!!!

State To Fund Health Cost

More than 31,000 Americans will discover they have tuberculosis each year. The highest die from TB in 1973, according to Mrs. Jo Petteway, president, Central Florida Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Mrs. Petteway offered these other New Year predictions for the nation's health released by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Of the new TV cases, approximately 40 percent will be found in cities with populations exceeding 250,000. Highest concentrations of the disease will be in areas of high density populations and low incomes.

One million teenagers will take up smoking, 30,000 smoking-related deaths will occur. On the brighter, and healthier, side, 2 million smokers will kick the habit.

Transportation will continue to be the chief cause of air pollution, spewing more than 100 million tons of carbon monoxide into the air, another 100 million tons of carbon dioxide into the air, and another 100 million tons of nitrogen oxides into the air.

Physicians will claim the lives of an estimated 21,300 persons and more than a half million new cases of the disease are expected.

Bronchitis, emphysema and asthma, reported together by the National Center for Health Statistics will remain the ninth largest cause of death in the U.S.

After The War A 'Marshall Plan' For Vietnam

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

A multinational "Marshall Plan" may be the best forum for picking up the pieces, in an economic sense, in Indochina after the fighting stops.

That is the conclusion of a new study by Prof. Andrew Cordier, dean of Columbia University's School of International Affairs, and researcher Ruth B. Russell.

The study is one of several now under way at a dozen "think tanks" and universities scattered around the country examining the question of postwar economic assistance for Indochina—especially the countries of South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Since the sound of gunfire is still heard on the battlefield, the study was carried out against a variety of political scenarios in order to allow adaptation to whatever political-economic patterns ultimately prevail in the area.

Of the four different types of political outcome considered, a negotiated settlement, continued Vietnamization, coexistence between north and south, and an all-Communist Vietnam, the study said the first and third would be the most conducive to the use of multilateral assistance.

The second possibility—continued Vietnamization—"would make extensive multilateralization impossible," according to the study. The authors said "there would be no technical reason why the multilateral agencies could not function in cooperation with an all-Communist Vietnam government. The study envisages the specialized war-damage fund to be based on the institutional model of the Fund of the United Nations for the Development of West Iran (FUNDWI) and using some of the techniques of the United Nations Economic and Rehabilitation Administration.

Continued high level of American financial contribution to the area was suggested in the study, but with the qualifier that other nations, such as Japan and possibly Britain and France, should shoulder some of the burden.

Sees No 'Mandate' To the Democrats

By BRUCE BOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) The word "mandate" is getting pretty badly kicked around these days, and gentle-spirited Sen. Mike Mansfield, Democratic Senate leader, just gave it another boost by claiming that his party gained one in the new 3rd Congress.

He was applying the mandate idea in the specific context of new congressional efforts to cut off funds for the Vietnam war. It would be interesting to know where he thinks he finds support for that notion.

Certainly the 1972 election results produced no general mandate for the Democrats in Congress to proceed with sweeping new programs of their own. Nor can the outcome be fairly interpreted as strict instruction from the voters specifically to cut off war funds.

The Democrats gained a net of two additional seats in the U.S. Senate, lifting their margin over Republicans from 56-45 to 57-43. In the House, they lost 13 seats, which hardly reads like a big green light.

To call that a mandate is merely to debase the language. It's even more foolish than saying, as many Democrats did, that in 1968 President Nixon, in beating Sen. Hubert Humphrey by less than one percentage point in the popular vote, was handed a mandate to end the war. The voters do not issue compelling commands in fractions.

The dictionary uses the adjective "authoritative" in refining the meaning of the kind of command that constitutes a mandate. Obviously the only thing that has happened in recent years which fits that definition is Mr. Nixon's defeat of Sen. George McGovern by 17.9 million votes last fall.

Moreover, several late-year samplings of voter attitudes indicated that Mr. Nixon, not McGovern, was perceived as the "peace candidate." Unmistakably this judgment was based on the fact that Mr. Nixon had pulled more than 500,000 troops from Vietnam and had made conciliatory moves toward Russia and China. This perception of the President, incidentally, preceded the heavily publicized late-October peace negotiations with Hanoi. I do not recall any poll or other measure of public sentiment which at any time in 1972 suggested that the majority of Americans were looking forward to a Democratic Congress to supersede the President in the role of peacemaker.

Nor did any of the post-election analyses advance the idea. Plenty of reasons were offered for continuance of Democratic control of Congress was exploded. I hope, that a winning presidential candidate ought to have coalitions consistently helpful to his party's congressional campaigns.

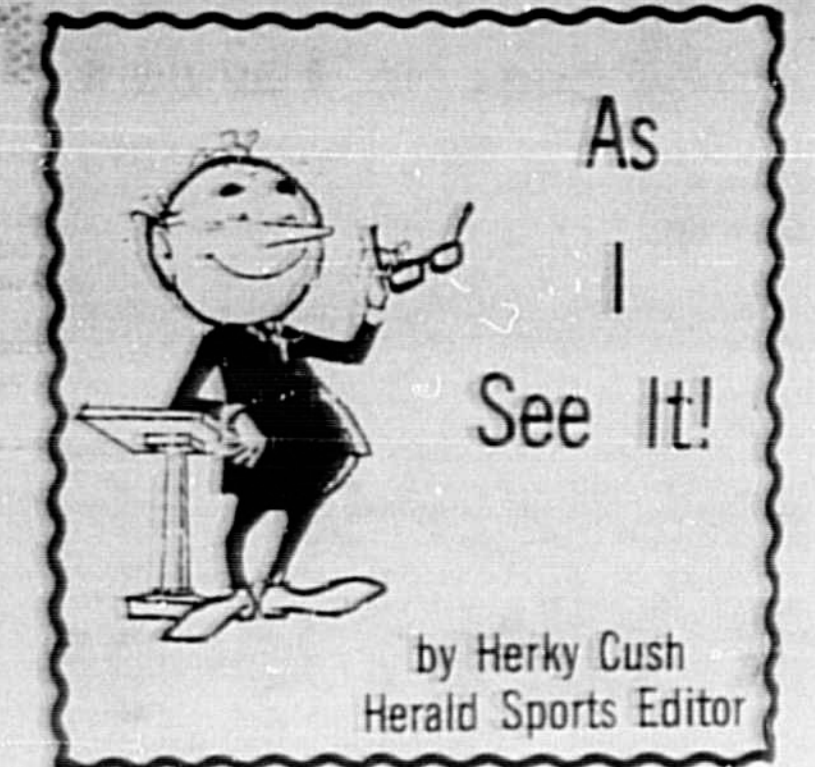

Below the presidential level, it is easy to demonstrate that the Democrats, still the nation's majority party, are deeply entrenched in countless areas.

This sort of unapproachable guff isn't any better than some of that talk we used to get from frustrated Republicans in earlier times when, having just taken it on the chin for the third or fourth time in a row, they would proceed to tell us, with a flourish of false authority, what the American people won't stand for.

Despite thinly veiled and not so thinly veiled threats from White House spokesmen, the immediate danger of the government laying a chilling hand on the content of programs beamed over the nation's airwaves is not in the commercial sector but in the area of so-called public broadcasting.

Wallick, Cleveland Cited

Two Seminole County high schools had the distinction of having two of its members placed on the first team in the recent Florida High School Sports Writers all-state grid selections.

The two prep stars were Lyman's Gregg Wallick and Trinity Prep's Lawrence Cleveland.

Wallick's prime backers, but with a 16 tackle per game average it was hard not to be a firm backer or believer in the 120 pound center.

Scott became disgruntled with those "experts" who claimed Wallick was "too small." With the news that Wallick was named to the all-state 4-A team we know that Scott was elated for his star linebacker of two years.

Wallick joins Ricky Browne, now a star linebacker for the Florida Gators, as Lyman gridders who've been named to the rolls of the state's best during his high school playing days.

Next year Wallick will be wearing the uniform of the Miami Hurricanes, having been awarded a scholarship by that university.

Cleveland's making the State Class A first team offense was expected after the Trinity senior had another sensational season during which he gained more than 1,300 yards. It marked the second straight year Cleveland was named to the All-State first team backfield.

Perhaps the most amazing part about these two fine seniors making the state's first team is that they played on teams that did not participate in the state grid playoffs.

Playoffs Help Gridders

It is our belief that Trinity Prep's fine fullback-linebacker Mike Austin would have made first team all-state instead of second team had the Saints made it into playoffs. And sometimes even then it's tough getting the attention of the voters.

Winter Park had one of the finest halfbacks to ever step on a football field in Florida yet he was overlooked when it came to the all-state team. Clarence Latimer, who rushed for better than 1,000 yards this past season, did not even make honorable mention all-state.

Merritt Island had three members of its backfield named to the first team offensive unit. Waldo Williams, Leon Bright and Jimmy Black were cited. Williams gained less than 600 yards rushing this past season. But the fact that he played in the backfield of the State Class AAAA champs undoubtedly swayed the voters.

Local Trials Docketed For 33 in Circuit Court

By MARION BETHEA

Trials began Monday for 33 defendants whose cases are docketed before Circuit Judge Joe Cowart Jr.

Of the 33 cases on the trial docket, 16 are drug related offenses. Defendants listed on the lengthy trial docket include Jack Williams, charged with uttering a forgery; John Griffin, charged in four separate cases with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny; Don Elmer Lowery, charged in one case with sale of a narcotic drug and in two other cases with uttering a forgery; Larry Tyler, charged with uttering a forgery; Joseph Williams, charged with grand larceny; Norris Chisolm, charged in two separate cases with robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony; Betty Ann Reams, charged with grand larceny.

The Colonial Plaza Mall in Orlando, Florida will have a green thumb look during the "Agriculture Is A Good Thing" promotion, which is being promoted by the Central Folage Chapter and the Action Chapter of the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Association will help decorate the theme display. The show which will center around the fountain area at the main entrance of the Mall.

In addition to the theme decoration, the two chapters will also have a foliage display which will include many different varieties of Florida foliage and woody ornamentals. This display promises to be one of the outstanding attractions during the three-day promotion.

The "Agriculture Is A Good Thing" promotion will be kicked off by a breakfast attended by some 100 guests. The Colonial Plaza Merchants Association officials will welcome the breakfast guests in Ronnie's Restaurant and Mayor Langford will extend Orlando's greeting to the visitors.

Among the many guests will be Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner and various legislative members. There will be even more sparkle during the festivities, agricultural association beauty queens, Miss Sanfilippo, Miss O. J., Florida Sweetheart Queen, Cattlemen's Sweetheart and Miss Florida will be in attendance.

Immediately following the breakfast at approximately 10 a.m. a ribbon cutting ceremony opening the Mall agricultural displays to the public will take place.

Also Robert Lee Addison, charged with robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony; Jerome Adams, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony; George Hall, charged with aggravated assault and use of a firearm in commission of a felony; Paul DeChellis, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny.

County Board Actions

By ANN SIECKOWSKI

In June of 1972, builder C. A. Johnson was granted a rezoning request which changed his property, located on the northwest corner of Alma Avenue and Howell Branch Road, from A-1 to C-2 commercial. Ninety percent of the property is in Seminole County and ten percent in Orange County. The same zoning request was approved in Orange County for that ten percent portion of the property.

Johnson told the Board that after he had completed the closing procedures on the property, he was advised that the County had come up with a new zoning classification for the area. The new zoning, C-2, does not allow service stations, which was allowed by the C-2 zoning classification.

He appeared before the Board to request that the property be changed to the new C-2 zoning in order that he might continue his building program.

According to Johnson, the Department of Transportation had advised him that Alma Ave., east of his area, was to be widened as far as the east side of SR 48, with the work to begin in February and expected completion is within a year to 18 months.

The zoning change was authorized.

Board Has Mix-Up

Maybe it was just a case of the left hand not knowing what the right hand was doing, but the mixup was definitely not merely SCIDA director, Frank Daley and Port Authority director, James Ryan appeared before the Board of Commissioners to see what could be done about funds for the FACT book on Seminole County which has been printed for distribution throughout the county.

Daley said that Commissioner Sidney Vihlen was advised that on July 11, 1972 the Board of Commissioners had authorized an expenditure of $4,158.10 for the printing and production of this fact book.

According to other reports, SCOPA deposited $5,896 with the Clerk's office for the fact book. The Board of Commissioners reportedly was never notified of this deposit and therefore the budget did not show it. It was simply carried forward into the general fund of the County. "Nobody in his wildest dreams felt that this money would not be spent — it was just assumed that it would be," stated Ashby Jones deputy clerk.

Upon direction of the Board, Jones will rebudget the money from the general fund contingency, even though the auditors will criticize the Board for not using the money in the year it was authorized. Jones said that it would be foolhardy not to justify the printing and distribution as a new project considering the time and money involved in it.

Daley explained that some of the problem came about during the time of the resignation of David Kelley, former director of SCIDA, but he (Daley) assured the Board that there would be regular checks on the financial standing of SCIDA in the future so that no similar situations arise.

Appointments Announced

Commission Chairman Sidney Vihlen announced his Board Custodial appointments on Tuesday. He recommended that based on the vast experience which Commissioner Greg Drummond has had, he would be the best representative on the East Central Florida Planning Council, SCIDA and OSO.

Commissioner Dick Williams will represent the Board on the Port Authority Board and he will also serve with Commissioner John Kimbrough on the Personnel Board for the County. Commissioner Mike Hattaway assumed the position with the juvenile detention center and with community action.

Hattaway will also serve as custodian of the courthouse and jail including the new jail construction. Included in the area of responsibility for this freshman commissioner will be the Osceola Airfield, and County Parks and Acquisition Committees.

Kimrough will retain his position with the Mental Health program and was assigned by Vihlen to continue with the Motor vehicle inspection, the new branch courthouse project and the county health department.

Williams will be responsible to and for the road department, pollution control department, food stamp program and the County groves. He will share with Commissioner Drummond the responsibilities attendant with membership on the Lake Monroe Parks project in concert with Volusia County.

Political Boss Jails 'Citizen' Editor

The county political boss ordered me to immediately cease publication after the first shocking issue, but being a staunch believer in freedom of the press, I ignored the order.

Some of the state's biggest political guns have been rolled out to attack me, and there is no assurance now that I shall remain a free man. I have been writing a book about the fabulous first year of the Sharp Citizen, and have arranged with my family and staff to keep the paper going while I finish writing the book in jail, if need be.

Freedom of the press is at stake on a national scale, because at least half the states of the United States have this old criminal law, inherited from old English laws of the Star Chamber horror days. Maybe yours. And if you do not have such a law, you soon will have one if it is proved that an editor can be sent to jail because he displeases a political boss.

My trial is scheduled for the first half of January.

Handcuffed and chained to the back seat of the deputy's car, I was hauled to the jail at our county seat, Ash Flat, Ark. I was surprised the sheriff by arriving there five minutes after 11:45, and friends soon arrived to keep a watch on my cell, because one of the main things I had reported was a series of cases of men having been beaten to death in jails all through this area.

I was released on $2,000 bail and am now awaiting trial.

This is not an ordinary suit for libel.

This is a criminal action, that places the editor in the same category as a murderer, or a robber. The power of the state, financed by public taxes, is being used in attempt to jail an editor who has dared use the freedom of the press to attack a local political dictatorship.

This case will cost me at least $10,000 to keep myself out of jail, and I hope, to set a court

And then, when he ordered all officials heretobut to deny all news sources to me, and told all businessmen in the county who were dependent upon him for financing (about 95 per cent) to boycott my advertising columns, I set out to deliberately attack the political boss.

You see, I also am an ardent advocate in the immediate, complete, and drastic use of the power of the press to straighten out situations of dictatorship and misfeasance of public officials.

UNDISPUTED BARRON

The political boss of Sharp County, a year ago, was undisputed baron of this county, and ruled it as a medieval barony. He was chairman of the Welfare Commission of the state of Arkansas, which gave him almost unlimited power to

Tallahassee Presentation Monday City, County Seek Police Academy

By BOB LLOYD

A joint city-county committee started polishing Seminole's bid for the State Police Academy at an 11 a.m. meeting at Sanford City Hall today.

Sheriff John Polk said the group is determined to make a presentation in Tallahassee Monday that will boost Seminole's proposal to locate the multi-million dollar installation at Sanford Airport and Osceola Airfield from number eight to number one spot on a state committee's list of recommended locations.

Polk returned from the Capitol Tuesday and told members of the Seminole County Commission, Sanford City Commission and Sanford Airport Authority, "We've got to let them know Bill Reed isn't running the show."

Polk said after attending Tuesday's state cabinet session "the Cabinet has an open mind" and hearings to be held by the Academy site selection committee Monday and Tuesday won't be before Reed. Polk confirmed reports that it appears Reed, Director of the State Department of Law Enforcement, tried to "stake" the site selection so sites costing over a million dollars would be selected by the Cabinet. Polk said 35 of the over 40 site proposals for the academy were from "real estate people with no mind."

"When the Governor and Attorney General asked the committee for the top 10 list in the Cabinet meeting they couldn't produce it," Polk reported. "But we later found out Sanford-Seminole is number eight on the list."

"We have two Cabinet members who'll vote for us," Polk revealed but he declined to identify the Cabinet members. "It's not up to the Department of Law Enforcement to pick the near Tallahassee would be selected by the Cabinet.

"Reed's hand picked site will also require construction of a sewage treatment plant," Polk said. "We're going to let Bill Reed know he's not running this state."

Tuesday the Cabinet postponed naming the Academy site for three weeks and ordered the site selection committee and the General Services Administration to hold hearings on proposed sites Monday and Tuesday and get definite cost commitments.

Seminole has been vying for the Academy for two years. The latest proposal offers acreage at Sanford Airport, at the going rate, as site of the Academy classroom and barracks buildings and county-owned acreage at Osceola Airfield for a firing range and pursuit driving course.

County commission chairman Sidney Vihlen Jr. and county commissioner John Kimborough pledged full county co-operation to the effort to push Seminole's proposal to the number one spot. County Commission Administrative aid Rod Loyer and County Industrial Director Frank Daley were assigned to work with the joint city-county committee in polishing the local site proposal.

Sanford city commissioners are represented on the committee by Mayor Lee Moore and City Manager Warren Knowles and the Airport Authority by airport manager J. S. Cleveland.

Polk urged that Moore give the local presentation at Monday's hearing in Tallahassee. "He really puts the point across," the sheriff said.

Moore and the local joint committee are expected to go to the Capitol Sunday night or Monday morning to make the presentation.

SIGNAL OF 'DISTRESS'

Yesterday's "Clock" column was devoted to the announced intentions of not playing the national anthem at Madison Square Garden during the Olympic Invitational track and field meets. Today, that decision was reversed. Here in Sanford, a similar situation (as shown above) developed when the "colors" were inadvertently raised — upside-down in front of the City Hall early this morning. A "flood" of calls reached The Herald, all inquiring, "What's the latest emergency to confront the city's fathers?"

'Doesn't Like Any Sites Proposed'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert Shelin says he is unhappy with all five proposed sites for an $18 million Florida Police Academy. "I think they should either locate it in Tallahassee near the state Law Enforcement Department building or, if they move it out of Tallahassee, put it in Central Florida near the police who will be attending it," Shelin said Tuesday. A site selection committee recommended, in order: two sites in Gadsden County about 15 miles west of Tallahassee, two in Leon County and one in Jackson County about 60 miles west of the state capital. The Cabinet directed the panel and the General Services Department to return with definite cost commitments on the first five choices at the Feb. 6 meeting.

J. L. Larkin, a committee member and building construction and maintenance director in the general services department, said the committee expected to hold a hearing on the proposals next Monday or Tuesday.

On a 4-2 vote, the Cabinet directed that the hearing be held. The cost of the Leon sites are listed as $1.13 million and $25,000, respectively. Jackson County commission-ers agreed to give the site in their area. The Cabinet said that costs might grow or unexpected expenses crop up without formal agreements from boards on the sites. It called for agreements on costs of land and of providing utilities including water, sewer and electricity.

"WE CAN MAKE SEMINOLE NUMBER ONE"

Sheriff John Polk told members of Seminole County Commission, Sanford City Commission and Sanford Airport Authority Tuesday that proposed site at Sanford Airport and Osceola Airfield for the State Police Academy is number eight choice of a state committee but he believes a 30 minute presentation which a joint city-county committee will give Monday in Tallahassee can "boost us to the number one spot." Shown in foreground is County Commission Chairman Sidney Vihlen Jr. Seated center is Sanford City Commission Gordon Meyer. Sheriff's Investigator Paul Legge, right, rushed back with Polk from Capitol to trigger committee meeting at 11 a.m. today to start "polishing" the Seminole proposal for next week's presentation. About Peace Treaty U.S., So. Vietnam Talking SAIGON (AP)—Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. met for an hour tonight with President Nguyen Van Thieu to discuss a revised draft of a peace agreement.

There appeared to be growing evidence that a cease-fire was near. While the U.S. Embassy would not disclose the substance of the conference, it appeared that Thieu gave President Nixon's special envoy some answers on the revised draft.

Haig had waited in the wings all day while Thieu met for 7 1/2 hours with his National Security Council and four military corps commanders at Independence palace, reportedly to discuss what steps South Vietnam would take to protect the territory and people it now controls, once a cease-fire goes into effect.

Spokesmen would not say whether Haig would meet with Thieu again or when he would leave Saigon. Haig also is scheduled to confer with the leaders of Cambodia, Thailand and Laos.

Asian diplomatic sources in Washington said they believe an agreement ending the war is very near. They anticipated that Nixon, in his inaugural address Saturday, would propose postwar rehabilitation of the economies of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos through continuing economic and military assistance.

This Washington report said there also is expectation that the Soviet Union, Communist China and other major powers will join the United States in guaranteeing the cease-fire.

South Vietnamese officials said Thieu's lengthy conference with his key advisers also dealt with modifications of the protocols to the agreement that spell out how it will be carried out, such as the size of the international force to supervise a cease-fire and the method by which prisoners of war will be freed.

These sources said Thieu has little choice but to join in signing the final treaty because of the threat of a cutoff of U.S. military and economic aid.

Haig met with Thieu for 2 1/2 hours Tuesday, but no more meetings were reported today. A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said the general spent the day doing "staff work" at the embassy.

South Vietnamese sources said on Tuesday that Nixon and Thieu planned to declare a unilateral cease-fire Friday on the eve of Nixon's inauguration. Sources said today that Nixon and Thieu still plan to declare a cease-fire but the day may be pushed back.

The Presidential Panel issued a denial of a Columbia Broadcasting System report quoting palace sources as saying South Vietnam and the United States were ready to declare a cease-fire. But it was not clear whether the statement was intended to deny the cease-fire report or to deny that the report originated at Thieu's palace.

$2 Million Shopping Area Set For 17-92, SR 434

By DONNA ESTES

LONGWOOD — A $2 million center of shops and offices is to be constructed adjacent to the Winn-Dixie plaza at the intersection of U.S. 17-92 and SR 434, Mayor Eugene Jaques informed the City Council Tuesday night.

Jaques said the buildings would be two-stories with shops on the first floor and offices on the second, much on the order of the Greater Mall and Regency Square in Casselberry.

The mayor brought the matter to the City Council's attention to determine if they could foresee any opposition to the plan. No opposition was expressed.

At the workshop meeting held to lay out goals for the new year, the mayor also recommended that the city consider "sitting down with Sanlando Utilities" to discuss the possible purchase of the water and sewer company which serves certain new areas in the municipality.

Councilman Dick Crenshaw said with all privately-owned sewer companies to be phased out, the city has the "upper hand" currently and now would be the time to press forward with the acquisition.

Jaques also recommended the city look into a water expansion program west on SR 434 as soon as possible.

Discussed as well was the possibility of all the cities of the Seminole and the county government undertaking a cooperative animal control program with identical ordinances adopted in each city. Council Chairman William Klosky proposed that the city go back into the trash collection business with funding from the federal revenue sharing moneys Jaques said before the plan is undertaken all costs involved should be determined. The Council discontinued service in December when it was shown to be operating in the red.

Klosky continued that some thought should be given to purchasing additional fire equipment in light of the fact some 500 new homes are either in the planning stages or under construction in the city.

He pointed to the need for the city to hire a full-time bookkeeper and possibly a secretary to assist City Clerk Onnie R. Shornate.

Crenshaw said the various city departments should go on a purchaser order type of arrangement and in the future no bills should be paid unless accompanied by a purchase order.

At the specially called joint meeting of governmental bodies, the thought was offered that in the event the state refuses to consider the 12-acre airport building site, offered for lease for the proposed police academy, an adjoining city owned 15 acres might be offered free to the state.

The property was given to the city and is presently being used for landfill purposes. (An earlier academy story by reporter Bob Lloyd appears elsewhere on page 1.)
