

Flames Hit Jai Alai At Fern Park

A welder's spark was blamed as the cause of a fire this morning at the Orlando-Seminole Jai Alai Fronton in Fern Park, causing extensive damage. According to the general manager, Gordon Hulbert, the fire was confined to one room, but there was a "terrific amount of smoke damage. The place is black."

The fire was detected at about 9 this morning. Hulbert and an architect were discussing expansion plans when a worker ran out of the building shouting, "Get some fire trucks."

The blaze started in a tele-wager dressing room. Nearly 50 large overstuffed chairs and 50 tele-wager girls' uniforms were lost in the blaze. The fire started when a spark dropped from the construction area above, through a crack, and into the room.

According to Hulbert, the fronton is a fire-proof building, the reason the blaze was confined to the one room, located under the stands.

The fire won't affect the expansion construction which is going on, but there is still some question as to whether it will affect the opening date. The fronton is slated to open Oct. 2. The construction crews are working on a new 1,000-seat balcony and expanded player dressing room facilities.

Hulbert could place no money figure on the fire loss, commenting, "It's too early to tell how much yet."

FLAMES were contained in the fireproof Jai Alai Fronton at Fern Park this morning but smoke caused considerable damage to the plant, according to Gordon Hulbert, general manager. Casselberry FD Ignores Fire At Jai Alai

CASSELBERRY — Mayor Curtis Blow today enforced City Council policy by forbidding the city's volunteer and paid fire-fighters to respond for a call for assistance in extinguishing the blaze at the Orlando-Seminole Jai Alai Fronton.

"Council has repeatedly insisted that this type of action be taken," mayor declared. "While the jai alai fronton is in proximity to our incorporated areas it has never expressed the desire to become part of our city."

"We, therefore, feel no responsibility toward giving them services that our citizens are paying for, especially when there is no danger to life or limb involved," Blow said.

In addition, the mayor said he has been given to understand the fronton has a contract for fire protection with another department, namely Fern Park, and Casselberry has no mutual aid agreement with Fern Park.

The municipal chief executive said the city fire force fights all fires within the Casselberry city limits and will respond, under mutual aid agreement, to fires within the city limits of Altamonte Springs, Longwood, North Orlando or to a fire in the county in the general area when the Florida Forest Services requests aid.

Thieves Obtain $1,200 Rash Of Burglaries Hit

SANFORD police and county detectives are investigating a series of weekend burglaries that netted intruders an estimated $1,200 in property loss.

John Van Metcalf, 106 Genevieve Drive, Altamonte Springs, returned home at 6 p.m. Sunday from a weekend outing and discovered almost $700 in cash missing. In a report filed with sheriff's office, Van Metcalf listed the loss of $500 removed from a jewel box and $188 from his wife's dresser. Entry into the home was made through an unlocked window, county investigators reported.

In addition, the mayor said he has been given to understand the fronton has a contract for fire protection with another department, namely Fern Park, and Casselberry has no mutual aid agreement with Fern Park.

Men from the Longwood department returned to the Wilma Avenue station during the morning for its emergency rescue truck and returned to the fire.

LONGWOOD — City Council overruled its planning and zoning board and bowed to the wishes of a land developer for variances to permit construction of homes of 90-feet "or better" with lots in the planned new Shadow Hill subdivision on the Longwood-Markham Road.

A public hearing will be held upon the closing of Market Street.

Lastly, a resolution is expected to be adopted by council similar to that of Winter Park for "Save our trees" program.

U. S. Warplanes Range Wide Allies Maul Commies

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces backed by U.S. planes and warships badly mauled a North Vietnamese regiment and wiped out 20 of its tanks in driving back two assaults on the northern front along the 17th parallel today.

Heavy fighting was reported from the Mekong Delta to the Street Without Joy north of Hue. Field reports from the northern front said a North Vietnamese force of 21 miles north of Hue just before dawn Sunday and drove a South Vietnamese marine battalion about half a mile back.

Simultaneously North Vietnamese infantrymen supported by tanks attempted to move across the Van Thinh bridge 15 1/2 miles north of Hue but South Vietnamese engineers blew out a span. Some North Vietnamese managed to cross the bridge under cover of fire from their tanks but air and artillery strikes forced them back.

Seminole Growth Must Be Directed

Growth has become almost a magical word in South Seminole County, spoken with awe amid dreams of bigger and better things.

But is the word "growth" synonymous with progress? And are more and more people the key to a prosperous community?

The highways are unbelievably overcrowded and schools are carrying double the load of students for which they were designed.

One solution may be to strengthen and upgrade building regulations and requirements.

The cities and county can now pick and choose in an objective manner the type development that is best for the whole area.

With free and open dialogue between the governmental entities and the school board, which has the task of providing classrooms and teachers sufficient in number to instruct the endless line of new students, the board could be informed of impending new developments before it is too late.

The Cure-Ail

There's a fast-growing group of Filipinos advocating that the Philippines become the 51st of the United States.

Says the head of the movement: "Statehood is the only cure for unemployment, graft and corruption, international indebtedness, social unrest, insecurity, rice shortage, sugar quota, lack of capital, brain drain, dollar control, smuggling and as part of the United States surely the Philippines will be an economic giant in Asia."

Maybe if he takes a couple of aspirin and lies down a while those fevered imaginings will go away. —Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune

In the past few weeks two cities in the south end took steps to curtail use of water during dry seasons. Perhaps one of the cities, North Orlando, has the answer to this problem.

Police and fire protection, absolute necessities in an urban society, also must be given close scrutiny in the cities. While some may say these departments must be "beefed up"

Henry Kissinger He Also Faces A Summit

By RAY McHUGH Chief, Washington Bureau Copying News Service

WASHINGTON — They call Dr. Henry Kissinger the "Metetrich" of President Nixon. At Moscow he faces an acid test.

Like the famous Austrian foreign minister who helped forge a century of European peace at the Congress of Vienna after the Napoleonic wars, Kissinger, too, has a constituency of one.

Clemens Metetrich served the Hapsburg kings of the Holy Roman Empire. Kissinger serves the President of the United States. Public opinion and personal popularity matter less to Metetrich, and don't seem to bother Kissinger, despite his frequent laugh-pocked "background" meetings with Washington newsmen and his headline-grabbing party appearances with "swinging" actresses, TV personalities and other celebrities who share one attribute: all of them are beautiful.

Kissinger, national security adviser to the President, does not protect comparisons with Metetrich; in fact, he invites them.

So Washington inevitably turns to the study of the great Austrian statesman as it tries to fathom the German-born Harvard geopolitician who has emerged as a key and enigmatic figure in President Nixon's quest for "a generation of peace."

It was Kissinger and Mr. Nixon who formulated the Vietnamization policy that is now under such severe strain.

"Nixon Doctrine" that envisions the steady withdrawal of American military power around the world and the buildup of self-reliant allies.

—Dared to break the icy wall that separated the United States and Communist China for 20 years and brought the President's trip to Peking.

—Escalated the still controversial "incursion" into Cambodia in 1970.

—Are now preparing for a Moscow summit meeting that not only in manpower but in new sophisticated equipment to provide protection to high-rise commercial developments and new citizens the taxpayers now in residence are at the breaking point as far as ad valorem taxes are concerned.

Municipal government in South Seminole County can no longer be considered a parttime affair. The real need is competent dedicated and cool headed elected officials who, in league with knowledgeable professionals, will plan for the future.

could affect world relations from pole to pole.

Kissinger himself, in a Harvard thesis, wrote this description of Metetrich:

"He was a rocco figure, complete, finely carved, all surface, like an intricately cut prism. His face was delicate, but without depth, his conversation brilliant, but without ultimate seriousness.

"Equally at home in the salon and in the cabinet, he was the best ideal of an aristocracy which justified itself not by its truth but by its existence. And if he never came to terms with the new age it was not because he failed to understand its seriousness, but because he disdained it." Is that also an apt self-portrait of Kissinger? The question holds a hundred answers and a hundred arguments. But no presidential adviser has matched the imagined power of Henry Kissinger since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Harry Hopkins or Woodrow Wilson's Col. Edward M. House.

Whether that power is real is another many-sided argument. Kissinger laughs at suggestions that he is some sort of gray eminence in the White House. He describes himself as a collector of facts, a man who outlines options to the President, then carries out Mr.

Nixon's orders. He expresses his personal opinions, he says, only when the President asks for them.

When those opinions come, however, they invariably reflect the balance of power theories of Metetrich, according to Kissinger's White House intimates.

Harold Nicholson in his definitive book, "The Congress of Vienna," wrote: "Metetrich's political theory can be summarized in the one word 'equilibrium' . . . In international affairs the balance of power was an almost cosmic principle. . . This belief in national and international balance led him to distrust all extremes."

RECKONING IS AT HAND Nixon Puts Self On Perilous Limb

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Daring so much with more sweeping air assaults and the mowing of North Vietnamese harbors, President Nixon truly must be utterly fatalistic politically.

In this astonishing year of voter protest, weariness with the Vietnam war—to no one's surprise—is always among the top three or four issues in opinion surveys find tribulations of the American people.

They want us out of Indochina, and fast. They simply have a hard time viewing our participation on the ground at vast military, wasteful, men and resources, damaging to both our efforts.

Against this backdrop politicians have been jockeying for months that any move which brings the war to the nation's front page is the President's political life.

"Several times in the past year or more, he has flouted that notion by issuing his air strikes for his periods against North Vietnam. Since the big Hanoi offensive began a month and a half ago, this response has of course been continuous.

If there was political danger in such actions, it would seem small compared to the possible peril in Nixon's new course. The magnitude is far greater, involving as it does all of North Vietnam's trading partners and most specifically its biggest military supplier, the Soviet Union.

Is all this obvious? Then the chief confusion has to be that Richard Nixon, said by his critics to be governed always by the narrowest of political considerations, is in this important matter quite disdainful of them.

One reservation must be entered here. A certain national poll-taker reports that rising numbers of Americans are upset at Hanoi's open invasion of South Vietnam's sea coast after the Demilitarized Zone. They are not pleased, he says, at a consequence of our withdrawals of men and material.

A much more limited exploration of voter sentiment in Michigan found some similar responses. Many felt that Hanoi was grossly at fault for heating up the war and that it was acting deliberately to embarrass the President in an election year.

Said one politician aware of these findings: "Many people feel we shouldn't let Hanoi take care of another President for us."

The reference here was to judgments that Hanoi's 1968 Tet offensive was heavily responsible for Lyndon Johnson's decision not to seek another term.

Telling 'Death': Doctors of World Vary in Opinions

By DON OAKLEY

One of the great unresolved moral questions in medicine is whether or not a doctor has a duty, or even a right, to employ heroic measures to keep the spark of life flickering in a hopelessly ill patient.

There is a companion query to this question. While not so profound as the first, it is a situation more doctors are more likely to encounter. This is whether to tell or not to tell a dying patient that he is dying.

It would seem that it ought to depend upon the patient, his personality, his store of psychological strength or spiritual resources.

But mankind has apparently devised many styles of dying as it has of living. After surveying doctors from four continents, a team of researchers at the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo report that the decision more often than not is based on the physician's own quirks, cultural background and religion—not the patient's.

The study included 230 doctors: 24 from Argentina, 31 from India and Ceylon, 24 from the Far East, 45 from Israel, 40 Jewish-American doctors and 66-non-Jewish American doctors.

Each physician responded to a battery of 12 interlocking questions designed to reveal his attitudes toward telling a patient about a fatal disease (in this case, cancer), about ordering "aggressive treatment" for the disease and about his views on death and immortality.

The investigation turned up significant differences in the handling of terminal illness. The researchers believe these differences stem from the cultural and religious background of the physicians themselves.

American doctors, for instance, strongly believe in telling the patient he has a fatal illness. Non-Americans just as strongly oppose this.

Argentinians believe in aggressive treatment—never say die, as it were—even though it subjects the patient to added pain and expense without much benefit to him. Indians and Ceylonese do not favor aggressive treatment. Americans and Far Easterners would use aggressive treatment only for selective cases, and Israeli doctors were almost evenly split on the question.

Israeli, Far Eastern and Jewish-American doctors give little credence to immortality. The other groups believe in some form of afterlife.

Alone among all the doctors, the Jewish-American doctors believe that man can be happily reconciled to the fact of his nonexistence after death.

The Israeli and Jewish-American doctors, says the study, "do not believe in preparing spiritually for death, and therefore see no point in telling the cancer patient about his illness. It is more important to them to prolong life and cause no aggravation or sadness to the patient."

By contrast, the Indian and Ceylonese doctors believe the patient must have time to prepare for death, but that it is difficult for the patient to cope with the knowledge that his illness is fatal.

The researchers conclude that it is of the "utmost importance" for each doctor to be aware of his own particular attitudes about death so that he can prevent the idiosyncrasies from interfering with the quality of medical care he administers to the fatally ill patient.

Physician, know thyself.

Men who spend their time analyzing such things report that Women's Lib is not doing well in China.

Now this seems to contradict the prominent roles in which women have been seen by those accompanying President Nixon and other Occidental visitors. It also seems to contradict the official line of the party and government.

But Asian scholars who have done some careful research on the subject send me word that women eager to move in the highest political councils of state have not met with great success of late in China.

Some women have, of course. But these analysts note that the most prominent women have some pretty high male connections. There's Mao Tse-tung's wife Chiang Ching, on the Politburo, who was a mighty voice in the Cultural Revolution. There's Mao's daughter, Hsiao Li, editor of the powerful Liberation Daily.

A number of other wives of powerful men hold prominent positions of high responsibility. Chu En-lai's wife, for example. But my informants are not impressed by this. They take it as another example of male chauvinism.

What the scholars do note is that recent claims about the increase of women cadres in local party and government organs, when analyzed, show that few if any of the new appointments have been made above the county level.

Even there, they claim that many women elected to the local committees are generally regarded as nothing more than decorative fixtures. In some areas, it is a matter of rote to have a woman vice-chairman as a token appointee, these men say.

The local Chinese officials involved have explained that by saying that because women are heavily burdened with household chores they should take a lighter load in revolutionary activities.

To judge by official statement and officially sponsored newspaper and radio campaigns, the Peking government is all-out to raise the official status of women.

Local leaders are taken to task for believing men are important and women are not. The widespread belief that women should devote themselves solely to work within the family is officially jeered.

Liberty County Is Nice Place To Live

BRISTOL, Fla. (AP) — Liberty County, Florida's smallest, has the state's lowest crime rate because there are so many good things to do that nobody wants to do anything really bad, says County Judge J. Hayburn Peddie.

His point seemed well taken after a Florida Department of Law Enforcement report showed that Liberty County's crime rate in 1971 was about 20 times lower than that of Dade County (Miami), which topped the 67-county list.

The reason is a child here has got freedom. He can go to the woods, hunting, fishing and swimming. A child is naturally rebellious. If there's nothing for him to do, he's going to get into trouble. The law enforcement bureau list said 5,762.1 crimes per 100,000 residents were committed in Dade County last year. Based on the 100,000 residents scale, Liberty County's crime rate worked out to 264.2.

Liberty County's population is 3,497, compared to Dade's 1.3 million.

Liberty County is well off the beaten track in Florida's north-west Panhandle. The county lies along the east bank of the teal-colored Apalachicola River, and two-thirds of its acreage is covered by Apalachicola National Forest or timberlands owned by the St. Joe Paper Co.

Only 189 people were arrested in the county in 1971 — 156 of them on drunkenness charges. Of the nine serious crimes reported, the most serious were two cases of aggravated assault.

Last week, the only prisoner in Sheriff L. C. Rankin's jail was a woman held on a drunkenness charge. The last arrest he made was on May 14, when he nabbed a man "for stealing honey bees" which produce the tasty Tupelo honey many Liberty County residents sell.

Sheriff Rankin explains dry that one of his big problems is dog snatchers. "They get upset over stealing dogs," he says. "You might steal a youngun, but don't mess with anybody's dog."

J. W. Eubanks, who owns the Apalachee Restaurant, credits the sheriff for Liberty County's low crime rate.

State Approval For Jax Plant

By JOHN VAN GIESON TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Chairman David Levin says the Florida Pollution Control Board will approve the $300 million floating nuclear generator factory proposed for Jacksonville, which faces crucial economy vs. ecology decisions this week.

The Pollution Board was to determine today whether the Westinghouse-Tennessco plant meets state water quality standards and the Cabinet is scheduled to decide Tuesday whether to issue a dredge and fill permit for hundreds of acres of submerged land at Jacksonville's Blount Island.

But there is little doubt at this point that both state boards will approve the project, which would create 10,000 jobs and a $100 million payroll.

Asked if the Pollution Control Board would say yes to the giant project, Levin said "that's my guess but I have no official way of knowing."

At least four Cabinet members have commented publicly that they favor the project, and there is speculation the Cabinet vote could reach 7-0, unless there is a last-minute attempt to delay approval of a dredge and fill permit.

With reports of a 2.2 tie on the Pollution Control Board, Levin's vote was seen as the one that would determine the fate of the project.

Governor Acts Swiftly On Complaints Askew Rides Herd On Officials

By RICH OPPEL Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew has moved against five of Florida's 67 sheriffs during his short reign in office—topping even former Gov. Claude Kirk's Wackenhut-backed incursions into Florida's courtrooms.

Just last week, the top law enforcement officers in three counties felt the governor's power.

"It all indicates that when we receive complaints, they're not just filed away," said Don Prude, Askew's press secretary. "We have a good system of checking into complaints."

Since taking office in January 1971, Askew's track record with sheriffs looks like this:

—On March 2, 1971, Askew suspended Sheriff J.W. "Sue" Pridgeon of tiny Lafayette County. Pridgeon was removed by the Senate, and convicted in federal court on charges of buying and concealing a stolen tractor.

—Last Wednesday, Askew suspended Sheriff Roy C. Baker, 52, of Martin County, on grounds of drunkenness on the job and "constant refusal" to cooperate with other law enforcement agencies.

—On Thursday, the governor ordered a state attorney to investigate alleged mistreatment of prisoners in Hernando County by Sheriff Sim Lowman's Brooksville jail.

—On Friday, Askew went to court and got a grand jury probe of events surrounding the death of Tommy J. Vickers, inmate at a prisoner in the Lake County Jail. Askew said Sheriff Willis McCall may be a "principal suspect."

Four sheriffs were affected by Kirk's actions. State-paid investigations by Wackenhut Detective Agency men led to the suspensions of L.O. Davis of St. Johns County, Flanders Thompson of Lee and Hernando's Lowman. Thompson and Lowman were cleared and reinstated, while Davis was removed.

Later in his term, Kirk lifted the badge of W.E. "Bill" Davis of Escambia County, who still faces charges of gambling, bribery and malfeasance in office. His contempt of court conviction was recently overturned.

Now working as a carpenter at a steam plant, Escambia's Davis says he plans to seek reelection. Prides credits the Department of Law Enforcement, created at Kirk's behest, and Edgar Dunn Jr., Askew's legal counsel, with work leading to action against the sheriffs.

He said William Reed, head of the department, "is really a dedicated guy, and probably the least political guy you'd ever meet."

Can you have the power you need and a good environment, too?

It's costing us almost $1 million a day to help make sure.

Every year you (and your Florida neighbors) use more and more electricity. Which keeps us hopping at FPL, planning and building to help make sure you'll have the power you need.

But investing in more power plants also means investing in more equipment to protect our natural resources. For example, after borrowing water to cool our new generating units, we have to cool the water itself before we return it to Florida's rivers and bays. This calls for the construction of complex cooling water systems. The one at our Turkey Point project; for instance, will cost approximately $30 million.

It's a lot of money. But it's a worthwhile investment in two vital things: reliable electric service and a good living environment.

LEAVING HOME IS NO LAUGHING MATTER... But the Welcome "agon" hostess can make it easier to adjust to your new surroundings, and maybe just a smile on your face!

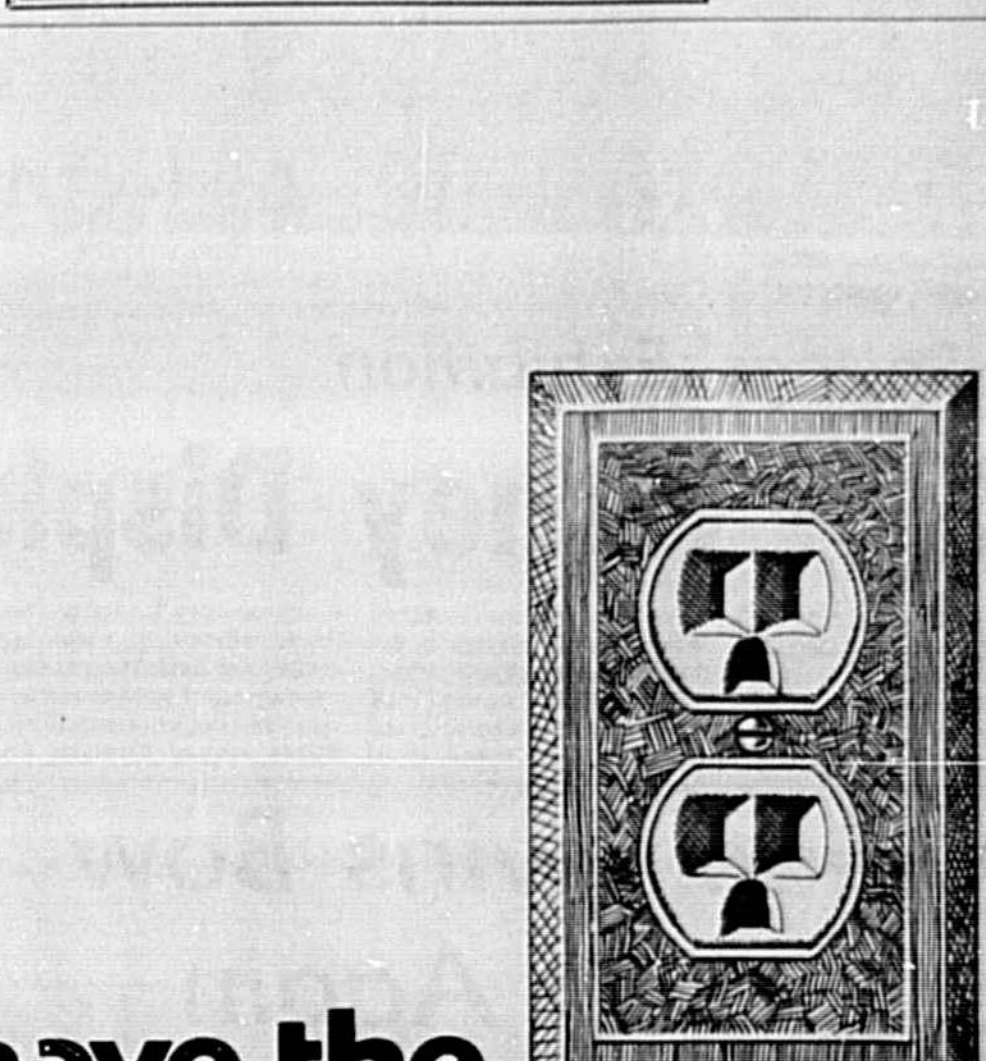

Directing this year's program is Miss Sandra Brooks, M.Ed., from Florida State University, and assistant director is Miss Vesta Turbeville, M.S., parent information educator for the Leon County schools in Tallahassee.

One of the highlights of the week long program will be a session on "living with a hearing loss" with special guests from the Council for Hard of Hearing Children of Central Florida including William Seader, Orlando, president of the council, and Mrs. Mary T. Hopkins, Orange County coordinator, hard of hearing department, Rock Lake Elementary School in Orlando, Florida State University.

CLIFF RICHEY amazed the spectators with his moves yesterday in a tennis exhibition with Frank Froehling at The Springs. Richey is the number two ranked tennis player in the United States and won the singles competition 6-4 and 6-1.

FRANK FROEHLING, ranked ninth in the nation by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, lost the singles competition at The Springs yesterday to Cliff Richey, but he got his revenge in the doubles when teamed with Lex Wood.

"I CAN'T believe I missed it," Frank Froehling seems to be saying after booting a play during an exhibition at The Springs yesterday. Froehling is ranked ninth in the nation by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The American Wood Council sponsored his match with Cliff Richey.

Over 300 people spent Sunday afternoon at The Springs in Longwood as they got a chance to see two of the country's greatest tennis players in action. The exhibition which featured Cliff Richey and Frank Froehling was sponsored by the American Wood Council, which was recognizing The Springs for its excellence in planning, design and architecture plus creative use of wood products.

Oviedo Twins Bow To Vinson Again

What's the secret to beating the Twins of the Oviedo Little League? Ask Alonzo Vinson of the Pirates. He's buried the only two games in which the Twins have lost this season. The latest came Friday night when Alonzo whipped the Twins 10-4. It was the second start against the Twins this season for the Pirate ace and each time he's set them down. The Twins lost but once in the first half and this latest loss was their first of the second half of play.

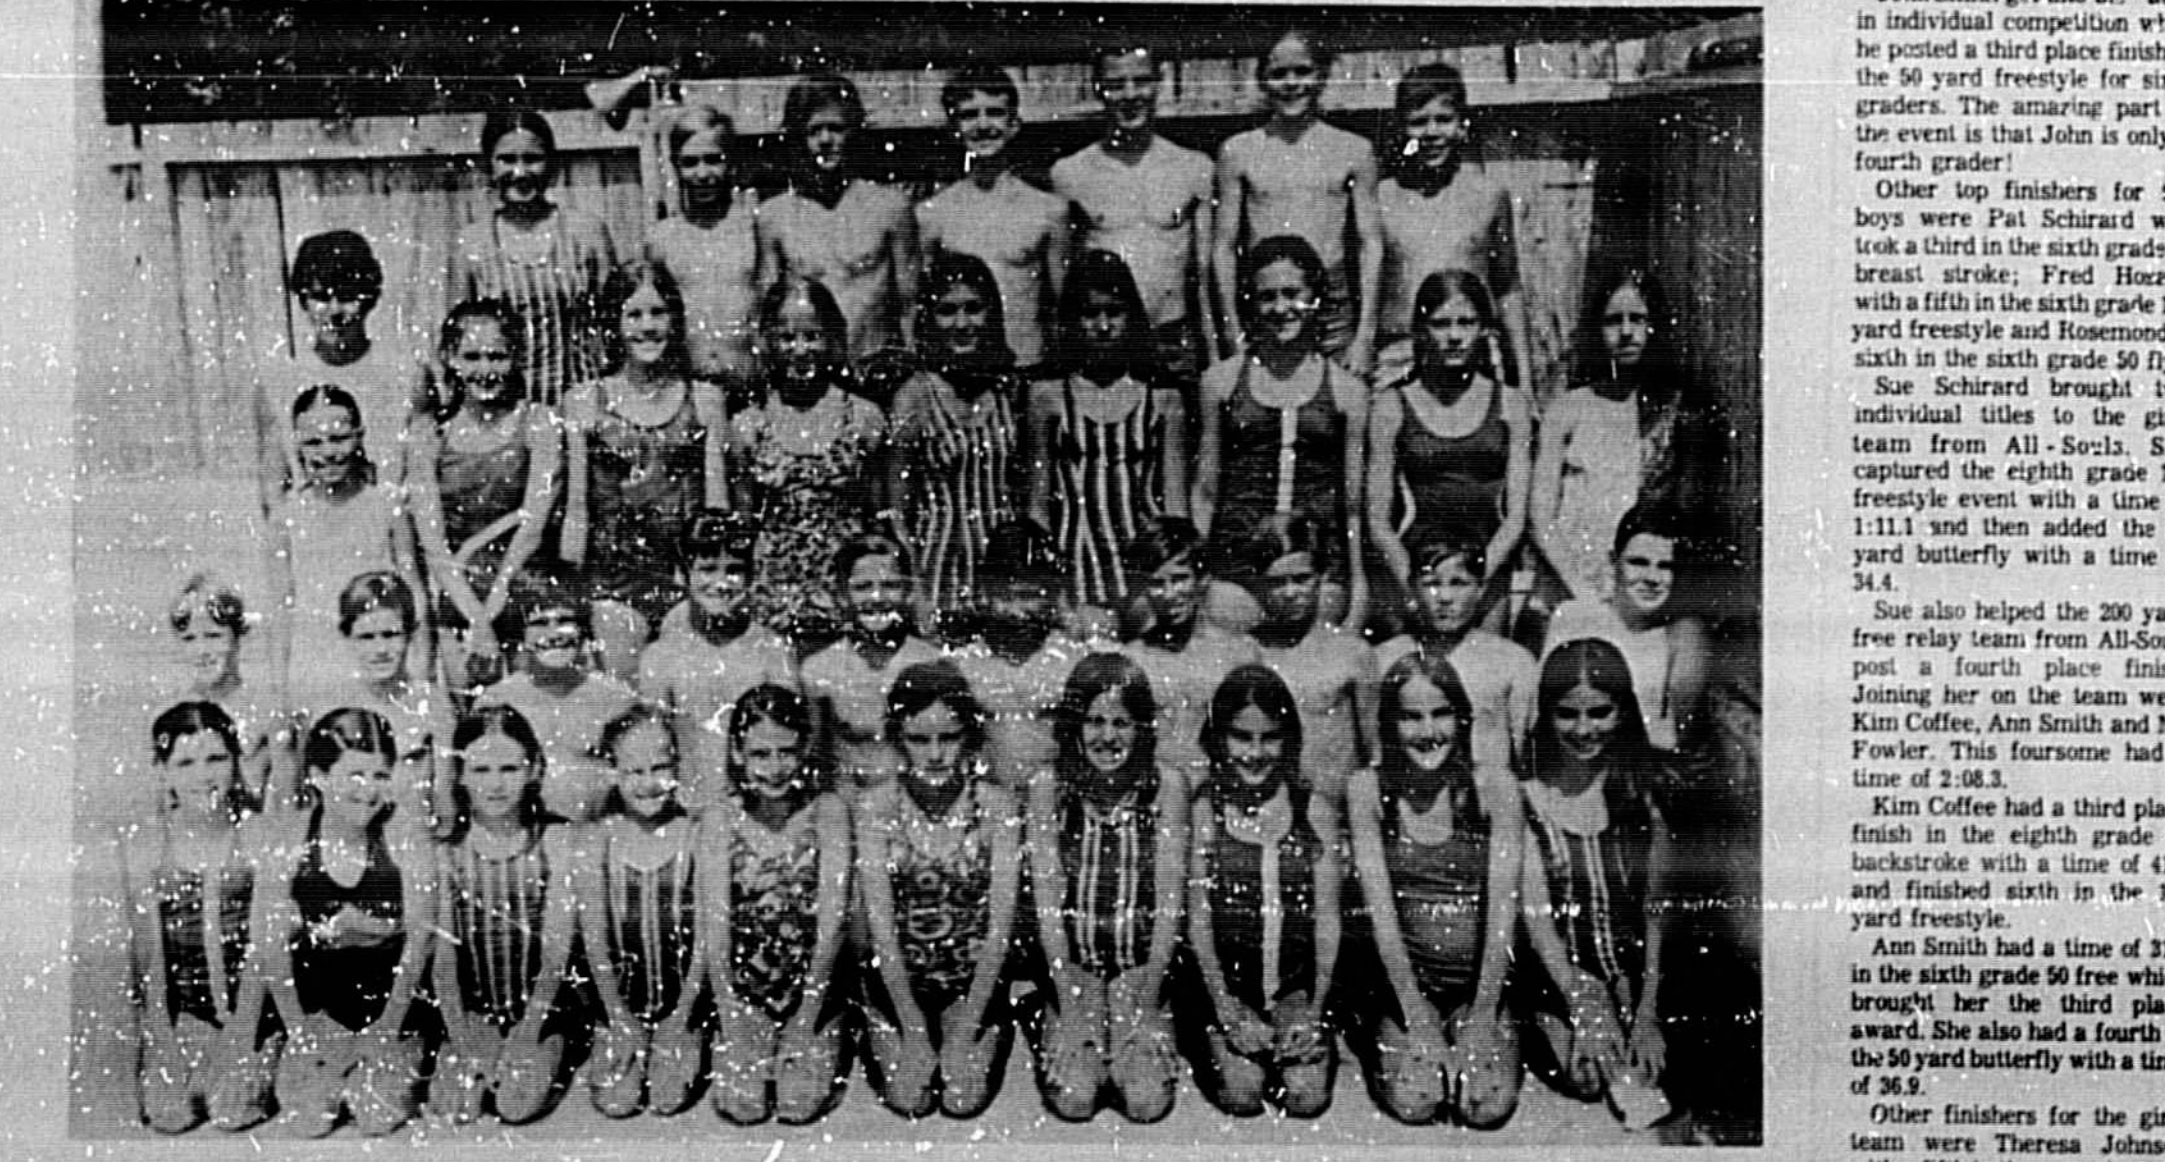

and 6-1 to win the best two out of three series. Richey, the nation's number two ranked tennis player, jumped to a 4-1 lead in the first set. Froehling fought back and tied the match at 4-4, but Richey pulled ahead 5-4 and then after a long battle notched the winning point.

All-Souls Splashers Cop Runner-Up Trophy

Sparked by a pair of first place finishes by Kevin Smith the All-Soul Parochial School boys swim team was able to capture the second place team award in the Greater Orlando Catholic Junior High Swim Meet.

Baseball Tips

9—Playing Third Base

Like the shortstop, the man at third must have a strong arm. More important, he cannot be afraid of the ball. It's just a matter of home plate and the bat to the third base bag. You can be as quick as a cat, but you must be quick. Reflexes are all-important.

How did your husband make his proposal?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In response to your question: Does anyone remember her marriage proposal? I'm sure my wife does.

Ellen and I had been going together for five years when I finally asked her to marry me. She said she would consider it only if I put it in writing, so I submitted the following, which you have my permission to reprint.

"Miss Ellen Astor: I, the undersigned, wish to inform you that in accordance with the laws of human nature and common practice, I hereby serve notice on the fourth day of September in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty seven, I wish to take you as my lawfully wedded wife, to have and to hold until death do us part. (signed)

Fred H. Zimmerman
She accepted. This year we shall celebrate our 35th wedding anniversary.

DEAR ABBY: On Dec. 22, 1927, I was in my girl friend's kitchen having a little homemade wine when I reached into my pocket and pulled out 30 or 32 ring settings. I tossed them on the table and said "Pick out the one you like and I'll have a stone put in it." She did, and that was it. Since it was three days before Christmas that was her Christmas present. To. F. J. D. IN MENLO PARK

DEAR F. J. D.: That's what I call killing two birds with one "stone."

DEAR ABBY: A proposal? Well, that's a matter of opinion, but here's what happened: While holding the match to light my date's cigarette, I said, "I could never be married to a girl who smokes." She took one final drag from the cigarette, then she put it out and said, "THAT was my last cigarette!" And there went my last excuse.

ME AND MY BIG MOUTH

DEAR ABBY: Here's my proposal: I get a call at work one afternoon. It was my boyfriend of seven months. "I'm downtown," he said. "Had something to take care of, and since I've already lost a day's work anyway you may as well come down and we'll take our honeymoon."

Incidentally, my father picked my husband up at 5 a. m. after our wedding night and THEY went duck hunting. HAPPY HUNTING WIDOW IN ILLINOIS

DEAR WIDOW: Yours was a new kind of "savage" wedding!

DEAR ABBY: I am the promise of a pair of illegitimate twin boys, now seven months old. Their father (a married man and the father of five legitimate children) proposed to me in the following manner:

"Honey, will you marry me?"
I replied, "How can I?—You're already married."
He said, "Well, I'll get only one year for bigamy!"
I turned him down. Who wants a husband who would have two wives and seven kids?

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell June, who requested suggestions for the use of polyester knit scraps, that I made a cape to wear with square dance dresses and slacks, a sleeveless blouse and am now working on a full-work tank-shirt.

In this age of the scrap craze she can cut squares or let her imagination run wild as to designs for alphanas, baby blankets, throw pillows, tote bags, children's skirts, pants or shorts. A bed quilt can be made by sewing together enough of the largest pieces to cover the bed twice, one piece for the top and the other for the lining. Sew the big pieces together, leaving an opening to turn the quilt. Whip this opening closed and top stitch all around. Be sure to use double duty thread so the stitches will not break.—MRS. M. B.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering June who wanted to know what she could do with scraps of double knit fabric. I work in a nursing home and we have many laps cover made from double knits. Most of them are made of pieces about the size of an envelope. They do not need cotton filling as that would make them too bulky, just a lining. Some of ours are tied like comforters and others are not. A yard square makes a very practical cover.—MRS. E. L.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is not just local. Everywhere we have traveled I have seen waitresses in restaurants use the same damp cloth for washing off the tables, the chair seats and then back to the tables again. It seems that local Boards of Health should have rules for such things and then enforce them.—N. G. W.

DEAR POLLY—Those gals with steam irons that find that a small pliable plastic juice glass works perfectly for filling the iron. It holds the right amount of water and can be squeezed to force a squirt for pouring. No more messes and extra time spent in wiping water drips off the iron. Such a glass can be kept close to the ironing board to be handy for refills.—ARLENE trump. You have fixed it to give an expert a chance to go after an overtrick. "He wins the first spade and knocks out the ace of clubs. West plays a second spade. South takes that also, and leads a third spade. Jim: "He doesn't trick his contract if West started with five spades, he takes three spade tricks, but West started with just four. When he takes the last spade, East, who will have had to discard three times on clubs, will be squeezed in the red suits. South throws a diamond from dummy and a heart from his hand and makes the rest of the tricks.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Oswald: "A lucky squeeze and, of course, an alert West can stop it by simply refusing to cash the last spade." Jim: "These hands are usually very simple, but here is one that has been jazzed up a little." Oswald: "The basic lesson here is very good. South has a classic no-trump and North a proper raise to game. South can count to nine easy tricks provided he just knocks out the ace of clubs at his first opportunity." Jim: "You see where I have lived the hand up?" Oswald: "Of course, you do now." Your partner continues to these days. What do you do now?

BETTY CANARY

True and False of Vacation Time

By BETTY CANARY

From a mother who has successfully endured 20 years of summer vacation periods with children, the following report:

TRUE: Children ages 2 to 12 find complete joy through mixing sand and stuff.

"Stuff" can be roughly translated as anything liquid or sticky, including water, orange juice, soft polishes, peanut butter, and the like.

Nobody ever learns to be neater about watermelon. Grass grows more riotously during the weeks the children are away.

Tennis shoes always squeak but infuriatingly so in July.

The mail-order companies who promise their books and magazines for kids guarantee to "keep them engrossed and will stimulate learning during the summer months" are guilty of fake advertising.

Everything seems to cost more in July.

Fathers play more golf in July.

FALSE: Summer is wonderful.

Children need three months of vacation from school.

Children wouldn't look as scruffy by Aug. 10 if their mothers cared more about the job with which they were entrusted.

A sofa looks better after being covered with wet bathing suits, two dogs and sandwich crusts.

Other mothers let kids wear swim fins in the bathtub, eat cookies without a meal-break, buy Army surplus tanks, keep the freezer filled with crushed ice for snow cones.

Anything else kids tell you when you say "no" to them.

Worry Clinic by George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Dean Rusk shows why Washington officials must be skilled verbalists with reports of his psychological methods...

Case T-555: Warren K. Agee is the talented Dean of the School of Journalism at the University of Georgia...

"We are having a convention of the Southern Association of Business Communicators..."

"Dean Rusk and a few others have been picked as our speakers, for the SABIC is inviting the top orators who have previously spoken at their conventions during the past 25 years..."

"Because they enjoyed your former address so much, they have asked me to see if you could come back again..."

"The obvious implication was that we callously ignored civilians," he added...

"And this woman who was left behind would also have been on that loaded helicopter..."

Referred To Attorney General For Opinion

Bingo Eyed By Longwood VFD

BY DONNA ESTES
LONGWOOD — The question of the propriety of the city's volunteer fire department holding regular bingo games to raise funds for purchase of equipment has been referred to Attorney General Robert Shevin by City Attorney S. Joseph Davis Jr.

whether an arm of municipal government can be included. Councilman E. E. Williamson, senior member of the board, continued his opposition to the proposal with the statement, "I do not think it will be good for us."

In other action, Council: Voted no objections to an inquiry from County Planner David Farr to a proposed change of zoning on a tract on Seminole Blvd. from agricultural to commercial to permit construction of a "mini-warehouse." Farr told the board the County Commission was seeking a recommendation before permitting the rezoning. Mayor Kenneth Brown said the city would prefer that the tract be annexed to the municipality but does not object to the zoning if an easement is provided for drainage across the C. A. Hobbs property into Fairy Lake.

Accepted the plans submitted by architect Richard Bennett for expansion of the city hall with three new offices to the west. The plans were ordered put out to bid with bids to be returned June 8.

Approved on recommendation of City Engineer William Palm the final plans for Lake Ruth Subdivision subject to revisions to be made in the plans. The mayor was authorized to execute the plat for the development when reviews are completed.

Authorized the mayor to execute plat for Longwood Pines after recommendation is received from Palm. This subdivision is to be built on the extension of Georgia Avenue east.

Granted permission to the parks and grounds committee to construct and place playground equipment on a section of city property next to the cemetery and at a location near the city ball field.

Approved a plan suggested by Councilman Dick Crenshaw to start a trash pick-up service for city residents wishing the service at a fee of $1 monthly. Those desiring the service are to either call city hall or drop a postcard to the city. Charges for the service are to be included in monthly water bills.

Approved closing of city hall on Monday, May 29, for Memorial Day.

Agreed to permit the volunteer fire department to sponsor a boy scout troop and for the troop to hold regular meetings in the municipal building at city park.

Guilty Pleas Entered By Defendants

By MARION BETHEA
In trial proceedings before Circuit Judge Richard Muldrew, Michael Lowe, charged with possession of a dangerous drug, pleaded guilty to a lesser offense of possession of marijuana in an amount less than five grams. The court withheld adjudication of the offense and sentenced him to county jail for one year. Baldwin was given credit for time in which he has been incarcerated since Feb. 18, 1972.

defendant to remain on bond. The state dropped charges of the first count. Cummings Baldwin, charged with larceny of a vehicle, entered a guilty plea to the lesser offense of possession of a motor vehicle. Judge Muldrew adjudicated the defendant guilty of the offense and sentenced him to county jail for one year. Baldwin was given credit for time in which he has been incarcerated since Feb. 18, 1972.

In other cases, Larry Joe Dennis, charged with carrying a concealed firearm, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of carrying a concealed weapon. Adjudication of guilt was withheld by the court and the defendant allowed to remain on bond pending PSI.

Summer Term Announced
Sanford Christian School has announced a summer term for remedial instruction. Mrs. Jessie Rosenow will accept a limited number of elementary pupils, grades 1-6 for instruction in Language, Arts and Mathematics. This is a remedial program, with special emphasis on reading.

Classes will be held during the six weeks period, June 12 to July 21, 1972, with classes meeting daily from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m., Monday through Friday. Tuition cost for the six weeks period will be $30.00, payable in advance at the school office.

There's another reason to see the U.S.A. in a Chevrolet other than its comfort, safety features and traditionally high resale value.

(Prices are lower.)*

When the government eliminated the Federal Excise Tax on new cars, the price of every new Chevrolet and every option was reduced. It all happened back in mid-December. The Federal Excise Tax was dropped and that in turn dropped the price of every new Chevrolet and every extra from white stripe tires to air conditioning.

Jai Alai Is Billed For Fire Fighting

By DONNA ESTES
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Bill for services rendered was ordered sent to the owners of the Orlando-Seminole Jai Alai Fronton by Mayor Lawrence Swofford today to compensate for the assistance given by his city's fire department in extinguishing the blaze at the sports arena Monday afternoon.

Swofford told The Herald when it came to his attention yesterday that city equipment and men were at the fire he immediately ordered their return to the municipality. And firemen who responded to the call were "severely reprimanded." Fire Chief Thomas Siegfried is on vacation.

The mayor said he thoroughly agreed with the position taken by the City of Casselberry and its mayor, Curtis Blow, Monday in refusing to answer call to the fire.

He continued that Altamonte city policy is identical to Casselberry's. Swofford said his city's fire department has instructions to answer calls inside the city, the Suburban Fire Control District and other areas protected under a contract, as well as to assist the Cities of Casselberry, Longwood and North Orlando under a mutual aid agreement.

"Altamonte has no agreement with the Jai Alai Fronton for assistance at fires," the mayor declared. Longwood Fire Commissioner William Klosky, whose department was at the scene of the fire for nearly five hours, informed The Herald today consideration will be given by the city to billing the Fronton for services.

Klosky added that thought is being given to requiring the Longwood Fire Department to follow similar policy to that in Casselberry and Altamonte.

City Kills Districting Vote

Morris: "I can't see why the commission would not afford the people the right to be heard on this."

Sanford City Commission in a 3-2 vote last night defeated the effort to have the City of Sanford divided into voting districts. Candidates for the City Commission would have had to seek election in their home districts.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees sought to have the question placed on the December general ballot for the voters to decide.

Mayor Moore said he does not believe districting would accomplish what the people who made the proposal had in mind but stressed "it should go to the voters."

Stenstrom Applauds Mooney And Herald

Douglas Stenstrom, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce chairman, this morning outlined for the Chamber board of directors the work of his committee, Legislative and National Affairs Committee, and also the President of the Sanford-Seminole JCs, that included in his report was the disclosure that work on four-laning SR 436 from I-4 west to the Orange County line, first thought stalled due to the lack of sufficient funding for right-of-way, was proceeding on schedule due to the efforts of Rep. Eugene Mooney, who reacted to a telephone call from The Sanford Herald managing editor, Fred Van Pelt, and contacted Department of Transportation officials to get the project moving again.

Mooney, formerly with the transportation department, later notified Van Pelt that funds were available to proceed with the right-of-way acquisitions.

Herring Requests Audit Of Accounts

State Attorney Abbott Herring today informed The Sanford Herald that Brevard Solicitor Jerry Bros has been told by Gov. Reubin Askew's legal counsel to "cool" his investigation of Herring's per diem and travel expenses and await an audit of Herring's accounts by an independent, impartial investigator.

Herring said Bros had been told to "put his investigation of Herring on ice" since the state attorney had requested a complete "100 per cent" audit by the state of his accounts.
