Murder charges dropped against Geneva men

Charges have been dropped against two men arrested in connection with the Christmas morning shooting death of Mark Tullous, a construction worker, and a new suspect is under arrest.

In consultation with the office of the State Attorney, due to new evidence and information developed, murder charges against Shawn O'Neal and E.V. Perry, both of Geneva, were dropped earlier this week. However, both men remain in jail under unrelated charges.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office has established that neither of the two were apparently directly involved in the shooting, despite an independent eyewitness identification.

Thursday, Dec. 28, investigators arrested Terrance Bernard Hillery, 28, of 2391 Church St. in Sanford. He has been charged with one count of murder and two counts of attempted armed robbery in connection with the shooting of Tullous.

Lt. Ed Allen with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office said Hillery voluntarily surrendered himself and provided a confession to investigators Thursday afternoon.

He has subsequently been booked into the John E. Polk

Salvation Army reports shortfall

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The nation's retailers aren't the only ones feeling the effects of a "soft" Christmas shopping season. As the final weekend of the year arrives, The Salvation Army in Seminole County is prepared to launch an 11th-hour mail blitz to make up for an anticipated holiday fund-raising shortfall of some $50,000.

"There could be a number of factors contributing to the decrease in donations this year," said Major Bruce Williams.

"There was the prolonged uncertainty of the future economy because of the drawn-out presidential election, we've seen falling stock prices the final month of the year, and some donors may feel reluctant to make year-end donations.

Those conditions hit the Salvation Army at a critical time. Throughout the holiday season, the agency provides basic necessities as well as toys and gifts to needy children and food baskets to families. Funds raised between Thanksgiving and Christmas also go a long way in providing material assistance to the needy during the next fiscal year.

"The fund-raising shortfall isn't a result of our kettle drives," said Bill Stewart, director of development.

"In fact, we had more new volunteers ringing bells this year and more returning volunteers working extra shifts. We simply didn't get the traditional response we normally get to our mail appeal."

Stewart said if the Salvation Army cannot make up the $50,000 shortfall in the final days of 2000, the agency would have to review its overall budget for the next fiscal year.

"It could mean a reduction in the level of service to the people we assist, it could mean helping fewer people in Seminole County or it could mean a combination of the two," said Stewart.

SANFORD — For more than 30 years, former Sanford City Commissioner Bob Thomas worked humbly to make his mark on the city. Now he has a marker in his own name.

Friends, neighbors and city officials gathered at what current commissioner Whitey Eckstein called, "Bob Thomas' neighborhood," Friday morning for the official dedication of Bob Thomas Circle, replacing the formerly named Bethune Circle.

Now 76, Thomas was elected Sanford's first black city commissioner, serving from 1984 until 1996 when he narrowly lost a run-off mayoral race to Mayor Larry Dale.

While Friday morning's cold temperatures made for goose bumps and teeth chattering, the words of praise for Thomas' service to Sanford warmed the gathering.

"Bob is a hero," spoke Eckstein. "Every year I teach my kids about him. He's a special person."

Eckstein recalled how Thomas always carried himself with grace and style as a commissioner and how he emphasized the importance of education.

Altamonte department offers fire prevention tips

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A mobile home, owned by Virginia Vaughn, off Maytown-Osteen Road, east of Osteen, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Prior to spotting the fire, her son, who lives nearby, told fire investigators he thought he heard voices of children approximately an hour earlier.

The home was in a wooded area, and there was fear the fire would spread into dry woodlands nearby. It was extinguished before any further damage occurred, but the mobile home and its contents were destroyed.

Almost as if to issue a warning for this particular residence, the Altamonte Springs Fire Department has distributed suggestions to everyone for preventing fires in and near homes.

Rain is seriously needed in Central Florida. Brief rainfall will not help the drought situation. Without a crucial

Dukes of Dixieland coming to Sanford

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff writer

SANFORD — The world-famous Dukes of Dixieland will be in performance Saturday, Jan. 6, at the Helen Stairs Theatre, 201 Magnolia Avenue in downtown Sanford. For lovers of Dixieland music, or for that matter, pop, gospel and country, it promises to be a performance never to be forgotten.

The Dukes, celebrating 50 years, is the oldest continuing jazz band in New Orleans. The Dukes preserve such Dixieland favorites as Bourbon Street Parade and South Rampart Street Parade, mixing them in with mellow blues such as Basin Street Blues and St. James Infirmary Blues.

The group contains a typical Dixieland Band combination of instruments: drums, bass, clarinet, trumpet, trombone and piano. Although the band is home based aboard the Steamboat Natchez in New Orleans, and perform there every night they're in town, the trumpet player, Kevin Clark, will feel at home here in Central Florida. Clark grew up in Orlando, and received training at Stetson University in DeLand. He also handles most of the arranging for the group. Several others have performed occasionally at Disney World.

Over the years, they have had many firsts including the only Dixieland group to record an internationally released compact disc, "Digital Dixieland". They have also appeared as special guests in numerous symphony orchestras including those in Cleveland, Baltimore, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Los Angeles, the National Symphony and the New York Pops.

Among their albums, CDs and tapes, they have recorded special tributes to such jazz greats as Bob Crosby and the Bob Cats, Jelly Roll Morton, Louis Armstrong, and Bix Beiderbecke.

As for other styles of music, the Dukes of

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

2000 ...

What a Year

Elsewhere in today's edition of the Seminole Herald, you'll find a month-by-month breakout of all the stories that made news during the year 2000. Among other duties, I was given the chore of going through every edition of the Herald, to seek out what may have been important and/or interesting to readers. It was a very interesting experience.

I have no doubt that the articles I found which I thought should be included, were not necessarily what others may have selected. If I overlooked something which you may have been involved with or interested in — sorry 'bout that.

Joe DeSantis also has compiled a list of the top 20 stories of the year, many are repeats of what I wrote — but in much more detail. He also wrote "Words that got in our way". Again, these were taken from the pages of this past year's Herald. And Tom Vincent and Arthur Zielinski has prepared photos from this past year to remind you of the people involved in the events that molded the year 2000.

The Herald has been published for the past 93 years, (although I have not worked here that long). I have had the privilege of scanning through some of the old editions. At one time I was even considering doing a weekly column on what happened in Sanford 75, 50 and 25 years ago. That never came to pass however, but the information I started gathering was interesting.

For example, slightly over 50 years ago, various governmental bodies in Sanford, mostly the city commission, were considering: improving the shore of Lake Monroe, improving the downtown lighting, paving and re-paving some of the streets where potholes have occurred, making improvements to the parks and baseball stadium, attempting to lure new, clean industry to Sanford in an effort to improve the tax base, and dozens of other projects. I probably could have used the old issues of the Herald to find the month-by-month list of news stories, and without a date, few would think it's anything but modern times.

Except for the presidential election we just had, which could easily be a once-in-a-lifetime occurrence, most of this year has had an average amount of news here on the homefront.

Personally however, each of us probably has our own list of good and bad times since we ushered in the year 2000. For some, there may have been births, deaths, sickness, divorces, marriages, perhaps a party you attended, a contest you won, a promotion and raise or a demotion or firing from your job.

It has been said that if we take the time on this New Year's holiday to actually write down lists of good and bad things that happened to us in the past year, our list of good will be longer — if we think positive.

But look at it this way. We now have a brand new year in the immediate future. We can start fresh, and accumulate a list of good things we can be pleased with next Dec. 31.

So with this in mind, the staff and management of the Seminole Herald wishes everyone a HAPPY NEW YEAR.

A helping hand

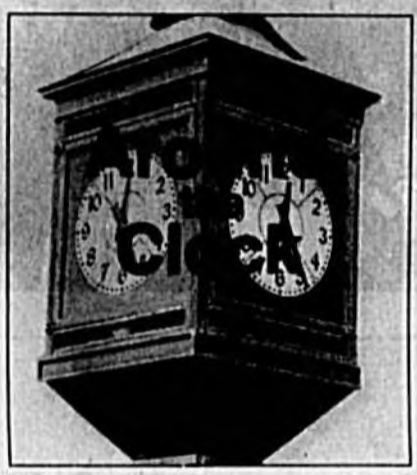

Major Bruce Williams of the Salvation Army accepts a check for $1,000 from Wen Stocksett, left, president of Sanford Rotary/Breakfast Club, and Pat Stenstrom, Rotary board member and past-president. The money will go toward the Salvation Army's Family Focus program.

Mark Your Calendar: Details are still being hammered out, but pencil in an evening of debate between mayoral and City Commission candidates in Districts 1 and 2 for Feb. 27. The talk fest will take place at the Helen Stairs Theater. We may be there a while. The growing list of candidates is beginning to read like a couple of law firms. In District 1, its Kuhn, Rogers, Lowell & Woodruff. In the Mayor's contest it could be Dale, Lessard & Reed. Little bird department says one of those "anonymous" candidates who picked up a qualifying package from the city clerk's office is Larry Blair who could be making a second run for the mayor's job.

Armed and well informed: Pressured by numerous and eclectic development interests, Sanford property owners are fast learning the ropes in persuasively addressing the City Commission and the city's Planning and Zoning Boards. Case in point was the recent request by Rami Yosefian for an assisted-living facility and walk-in health clinic at the former Velma Carter Center. Armed with not only a laundry list of concerns, spokespersons for about 30 residents near the 14th and Magnolia Avenue location cited city code and statutes to plead their case. End result was yes for the assisted-living facility but no to a health clinic. To Yosefian's credit he promised to meet with nearby residents to get input on his final site-plan proposal.

Lights or fights? Preliminary ideas are being batted around for the installation of historically replicated street lighting in Sanford's Historic District. Not everyone is in agreement on the cost and future impact on homeowners' electricity bills. Still in the embryonic stages, plans call for a special assessment for the purchase and installation of the lights. The real catch may be in the current proposal that would also assess homeowners a portion of the electricity bill for the next 20 years. Some residents, armed with calculators and factoring in for inflation on energy costs over the next two decades are already adamantly opposed to the idea.

Commission Comedy: While

Sanford City Commissioner Whitey Eckstein spoke with genuine emotion at the street dedication ceremony for former commissioner Bob Thomas Friday morning, he didn't miss the opportunity to crack up the crowd on hand for the event.

"Bob Thomas can be proud to be the first black elected to Sanford's City Commission. And I'm proud to be the first 'Whitey.'"

Early Supporter: Following the ceremony to rename Bethune Circle to Bob Thomas Circle, Thomas reflected on his early support for development of the Seminole Towne Center despite initial opposition. Turns out Thomas went on the record early for another substantial and controversial city issue: the development of a hotel and conference center on Lake Monroe. Seminole Herald reporter Nick Pfelfauf was rummaging through his notes from the 1996 mayoral race and came across these comments from Thomas.

"There are a lot of vacant lots along the lakefront. It could become entertainment row. An apartment would be a great potential, and I see one day, a big motel with a convention center. But the only way we can do it is to attract more people into Sanford."

Thomas for Mayor? He lost in 1996 but there's another Mayor's race coming up in March. Bob Thomas was asked at 76 years old if he might give public office another shot. "No way," he chuckled. "Absolutely no way."

Sex Offenses
Members of the City County Investigative Bureau (CCIB) of Seminole County conducted an undercover operation Thursday. Arrests were made at two locations.

Fred Raymond Ganas, Jr., 50, of Ohio Avenue, Sanford, was arrested at Big Tree Park on General Hutchinson Parkway near Longwood. He was charged with assignment to commit a lewd act, indecent exposure in public, and possession of under 20 grams of cannabis.

Gregory Alliston McGuire, 53, of Amethyst Way, Lake Mary, was arrested at Big Tree Park on charges of sexual offense, engaging/offering lewdness.

Joseph Edward Leslie, 33, of Orange Drive, Altamonte Springs, was arrested by the CCIB at the Environmental Center on Osprey Trail in Longwood. He was charged with indecent exposure in public, engaging to commit/offer lewdness and possession of narcotics equipment.

Burglary suspect
Sheriff's deputies arrested Phillip Carlos Davis, 21, listed as homeless in Winter Park, on SR-436 in Casselberry Thursday. A deputy stopped him when it was believed he was a suspect in a burglary case. When the officer attempted to handcuff Davis, he broke free and fled, but was found hiding under a residence on Anchor Road. The deputy said as Davis was being driven to jail, he discovered Davis had a handcuff key and was attempting to break free again.

Davis was ultimately charged with two counts of escape, resisting an officer with violence, possession of concealed handcuff key, giving a false identification to a law enforcement officer, resisting an officer without violence, and in connection with being located under the Anchor Road house, he was also charged with unarmed burglary to a structure.

Officer Injured
Sheriff's deputies arrested Raymond Williams Jr., 44, of Altamonte Springs, on Jackson Street in Altamonte Springs Friday. A deputy located Williams, who was wanted on a felony warrant. A struggle ensued during which time the deputies leg was injured when a fence gate fell on him as Williams was attempting to flee.

Williams was charged with resisting an officer with violence, battery on an officer, and resisting an officer without violence. He was also served a warrant for selling cocaine within 1000 feet of a school.

John Doe Charged
Sanford police stopped a man and woman in a vehicle at Oneal Street and Sipes Avenue early Friday. After the vehicle was stopped, the driver attempted to escape on foot, but was apprehended in a nearby wooded area in Midway. The driver reportedly refused to give an identification or any information to the deputy. The woman passenger reported that the man had been holding her in the vehicle against her will.

Temporarily listed as John Doe, the driver was charged with kidnapping/false imprisonment, driving under the influence of alcohol and resisting an officer without violence. The vehicle involved had been reported stolen, and the driver was also charged with grand theft of a motor vehicle.

Warrant Served
Sheriff's deputies located Jerry David Hightower, 33, of Winter Park, in the Midway area early Friday. He was wanted on warrants in Flagler County for failing to appear on a charge of burglary to a dwelling, and in Orange County for an unlisted warrant. Because Hightower attempted to run from the deputy, he was also charged with aggravated fleeing/eluding and resisting an officer, after he was found hiding under a house.

COMMUNITY NOTES

Vision and hope for the year to come

As 2001 stands poised to unfold before us, it is traditional to make some type of New Year's resolution. Instead, the Seminole Herald would like to share with readers its vision and hopes for things we would like to see come to pass in our community over the next 12 months. Some of our wishes are substantial and far-reaching. Others may seem small in the grand scheme of things but contribute to the fabric and quality of life in our municipalities and county as a whole. We invite you to share in our wish list for 2001.

To our County Commission and Sanford City Commission: Our hopes are for a robust and highly positive response to a Request for Qualifications/Request for Proposal on a waterfront hotel and conference center on the shores of Lake Monroe. If the response is affirmative, proceed with gusto. If the response is luke warm and tinged with unacceptable risk, have the foresight and wisdom to back off the prospect of taxpayers subsidizing a questionable venture.

To voters and candidates in upcoming municipal races in Sanford and Lake Mary: If the 2000 election taught us anything, it is that one vote does count. Our wish is for vibrant, concerned, and thoughtful candidates to step forward and display a willingness to take on leadership roles with no hidden agendas. Here's to campaigns that deal intelligently with the real issues that affect our future and to refrain from nasty campaigning and personal attacks. Here's also hoping citizens in both communities value their individual votes and turn out at the polls, realizing local elections give us the greatest amount of local control and governance.

To the Sanford/Orlando International Airport and the Sanford Port Authority: Keep up the good work and keep growing. The success of the Port Authority's Business Incubator and the airport's future role in both international and domestic air travel play a critical part in a diversified economy and employment infrastructure locally and regionally.

And while we're on the subject of travel, here's to the new I-4 bridge and the County's Trails Programs being completed on time and on budget.

Casting an eye toward Tallahassee, our wish here is for our State Legislature to wisely address the constitutional amendment passed by Florida voters for high speed rail. Wants are one thing, needs are another. Did anybody bother figuring out where the billions to build it are going to come from? Did anyone bother to figure out how it helps alleviate gridlock and who ultimately benefits from it?

Our 2001 wish for all of our public safety officials is for a 365-day year where not one police officer or firefighter is injured or killed in the line of duty while serving and protecting us.

Here's wishing Lake Mary good fortune in its efforts to renovate its downtown area. Old fashion downtown's seem to be all the rage. Likewise, we're proud Sanford continues to be revitalized into a thriving entity.

Our wish for the hundreds of public and private school system teachers and administrators is for a productive year, continued improvement and increasing accountability. To each student in our county our wish is for a year of personal growth, an increased emphasis on personal responsibility and a school year void of violence, drugs, and counter-productive activities.

On a purely selfish note, we wish to have our old name back for the Central Florida Zoo. The Orlando Zoo at Sanford sounds more confusing than a South Florida butterfly ballot.

Our wish for native son Tim Raines is for a successful comeback from Lupus and retirement with his new, old team, the Montreal Expos. Here's wishing David Eckstein is the starting second baseman for the Anaheim Angels on Opening Day this spring.

To each of our readers, our wish is for a year of good health and good fortune, of close family bonds and enrichment of the heart, soul, and human spirit.

To each of our advertisers, continued prosperity and good market-place fortune. Our success is tied to your success.

We shared quite a ride together in Seminole County in 2000. It was a year marked by tragedy and joy, success and failure, surprise and astonishment.

Here's to our continued journey together in 2001.

Year In Cartoons

ROBERT ARIAL

Looking back on what a crazy year it's been — what with Elian, the confederate flag, W's malapropisms, Gore's sighs, a dead man winning a Senate seat and capped off by "the election that wouldn't end" — I'm reminded of the Chinese curse: "May you live in interesting times." Only for me, it's not a curse, it's a blessing!

JIM BERRY

Working with general, topical and social scene subjects is always fun to do. ... I commented on such diverse things as: high gasoline prices, ballot chads, "Harry Potter," road rage, the disappearance of Los Alamos nuclear secrets, "Who Wants to Marry a Millionaire?" and President Bill and Senator Hillary, who continued to be the stars of the 2000 show. Of course, the biggest story was the unbelievably close presidential election ... It was a historic, great ride for political junkies, talking heads, high-powered lawyers and editorial cartoonists.

ED STEIN

OK, the election was in November, right? Was there another story in the 10 months before that? If there was, I can't remember anything about it. Some weirdness in the Midwest or something. An American ship bombed. Or was that the year before? The only thing I do know is that I didn't want this election to end. It was WAY too much fun. You know those crazy protesters at the Supreme Court, half of them screaming for Gore to concede, half of them yelling that the Bushes stole it? The nut in the background yelling "Four More Years!" was a cartoonist.

Berry's World

JEFF STAHLER

As the year 2000 arrived, technology was to fall us and didn't — but the year was full of surprises, nonetheless. We lost a king, Charles Schulz. We watched the Elian Gonzalez soap opera, the "Survivor" mini-series and the drama of the Olympics. John Rocker mouthed off and Bobby Knight lost his temper for the last time for Indiana basketball. Napster ruled and Firestone tires didn't. And then we had the election. And the election. And the election.

From A to Z

Art Zielinski asks people what they think ...

What I thought would be one of the easiest A to Z questions to answer, turned out to be one of the most difficult. After asking more than 15 people, I finally found my first person willing to participate in the street survey. The dreaded question which many people tried to avoid was, "What are your New Year's resolutions?"

I'm starting a new business in Sanford — the Mulberry Bush — and I plan to work very hard to make it as prosperous as I can.

Pat Moye, Sanford

I plan to read my Bible everyday. I'm also going to join a painting club in Seminole County and start painting again.

Susan Jaramillo, Lake Mary

I have a life-long resolution, with fundamental goals to work on throughout my life. I think New Year's resolutions just fall by the way-side.

Charles Frost, Daytona

I don't make New Year's resolutions anymore. I would just end up breaking them and be disappointed.

Cynthia Ebaugh, Merritt Island

Getting all my bills paid on time. I also plan to stay away from greasy foods.

Mark Evans, Geneva

Outdoor plants need protection from cold

Many different tropical and subtropical plants are found in a typical Florida landscape. While tropical plants need to be protected from temperatures below 50 degrees, subtropical plants can harden to withstand freezing temperatures.

Al Ferrer

The ability of plants to tolerate freezing temperatures is influenced by temperature changes prior to a freeze.

A gradual decrease in temperature over a relative long period of time prepares the plants to withstand cold temperatures.

Plants normally tolerant to low temperatures may be injured if a sudden decrease in temperature occurs. Cold injury can occur to the entire plant or to plant parts such as buds, flowers, fruits, trunks, stems or roots.

Many plant parts can adapt to tolerate cold, but fruits and roots have little ability to develop cold tolerance.

Containers

Plant roots in small containers can be frozen by low temperatures, but under the same conditions, roots of plants in the landscape will escape cold injury.

Roots of plants in exposed containers can be injured by low temperatures and show no apparent damage until the plants are stressed at higher temperatures.

Soil Heat

Radiating heat from soil warms the air above ground and low-growing plants will greatly benefit from this source of heat. Soil heat is best preserved by mulches placed around plants to protect the roots.

Organic mulches such as pine bark are recommended.

Fertilization

Most landscape plants are fertilized two or three times a year.

In Central Florida, usually one application is scheduled in March and another in September.

Late fall applications should be avoided as it can promote untimely late flush of new growth. Fertilizer rates should be reduced in the fall because plant nutrient consumption declines during the colder months.

Plants should receive in the fall about one third to one half the normal fertilizer rate.

Irrigation

Watering plants several hours before a freeze will protect plants because a wet soil will absorb more solar radiation than a dry soil. This heat will be released during the night thus helping to protect the roots of the plants.

After a freeze, plants should be watered to provide water to the plants which may be losing water through transpiration and the water in the soil may not be available because it is frozen, this is especially true in container plants.

Coverings

Materials such as cloth sheets, quilts and plastics can be placed over plants to protect them from frost damage.

Covers that extend to the ground and do not touch the plant tissues, will protect plants by reducing radiant heat loss from the plants and the ground.

A light bulb can be placed under the covers to provide heat to the plants when very low temperatures are expected. The covers must be removed as temperatures rise during a sunny day. Contact between the plant tissues and the coverings, may result in cold injury.

Pruning After A Freeze

Pruning should be delayed until new growth is visible. Dead leaves may be removed as soon as they have turned brown.

Cold damaged to woody tissues can be best determined by examining the food conducting tissues under the bark.

If scratching into the bark reveals black or brown tissues, continue the search until you find green tissues when scratched.

Prune back to the live wood to promote healthy growth of the branches.

Cold Injury To Palms

Remove damaged portions of leaves but keep the green, not injured portions of the leaves to maintain a high level of photosynthetic area.

Spray palms with a copper containing fungicide at the recommended rate. Repeat the spray 10 days after the first treatment with the copper fungicide or another broad spectrum fungicide.

Palms growing in containers should receive a fungicide soil drench to suppress possible root infecting fungi from causing root rots.

A monthly soluble nutrient solution containing minor elements can be applied to help palms recover from light freeze injuries.

Seminole's top stories of the year

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

Wow. What a way to begin the new millennium. Seminole County, catapulted into the national spotlight as an integral player in the 2000 presidential race, closes out the first year of a new century with no shortage of major news events that helped shape our community both locally and on a national level. As we catch our collective breaths on the eve of 2001, the editorial staff of the Seminole Herald reflects on the events that dominated our locale over the past 12 months. Here's how we rank the top 20 local stories of 2000.

1. Seminole County absentee ballot controversy: With the 2000 presidential election embroiled in controversy, rhetorical skirmishes, and legal battles before the highest courts in the state and nation, the eyes of America and the world were squarely focused on 15,000 absentee ballots cast in Seminole County. Longwood attorney Harry Jacobs sued Supervisor of Elections Sandra Goard, George W. Bush and Dick Cheney when it was discovered Goard allowed GOP operatives the use of her office to correct missing information from a mass absentee ballot request mail-out.

With the election outcome in the balance, Jacobs lost first in Leon County Circuit Court and again on an appeal before the Florida Supreme Court. Poor judgment and mismanagement, yes, the courts said. Fraud and collusion no. Against the glare of a national spotlight and under the scrutiny of a media microscope, Seminole County emerged as a prime player in the nation's most dramatic story of the year. The country rode an emotional hurricane for 36 days before Al Gore conceded and electors officially cast Florida's 25 electoral votes for Bush on Dec. 18.

2. Sanford's Conference Center and hotel: Stop. Go. Yes. No. Maybe. After years of foot dragging and intermittent starts and stops, a defining moment in the future of Sanford's waterfront. Seminole County Commissioners vote 3-2 to partner with the City of Sanford if a Request for Qualifications/Request for Proposals draws a private partner convinced a hotel and conference center on the shores of Lake Monroe can be a winner. By mid-summer 2001, the city and county will decide whether or not to build. If the answer is yes, Sanford's waterfront will undergo dramatic changes and the city may finally have the cornerstone it needs to spark substantial redevelopment of the downtown area and Historic District.

3. Orlando-Sanford International Airport Expansion: An expanded runway, additional gates and a new state-of-the-art domestic passenger terminal clearly indicate a vibrant future for a long-dormant facility. International passenger traffic hits the 2 million mark and domestic flights continue to be added. Pan American marches forward in developing regional hubs in New England and the

In November, all eyes were on Seminole County's vote tabulation in the race for the presidency. In December, the Florida Supreme Court voted to allow the count of absentee ballots in Seminole County to stand as they were declared, and George W. Bush went on to win the election.

Northeast that bring more travelers and business to Seminole County. Dove-tailed with a possible new hotel and conference center on Lake Monroe, we may one day host, wine, and dine those visitors, capturing their tourist and travel dollars currently shuttled off to Orange County.

Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan died in April following a painful battle with terminal cancer.

4. Soup's On-So is the Battle: Packed chambers at Sanford City Hall over a request by Jean Metts and Seminole Volunteer Enterprise's to transform a food distribution facility at 4th and Elm into a soup kitchen.

Following contentious debate in which Metts labels the City Commission and Historic District residents as "plantation owning racists," board votes 3-2 to grant a dimensional variance. Angered homeowners sue the city, claiming Commission violated its own ordinances and code enforcement. A mediated settlement results in reduced hours and days Metts can operate. Since early spring, few meals have been served and County Commission cuts nearly in half funding for the social service agency. Months later, an Orlando facility looking to transform the old Heilig Meyers storefront on 17-92 into an indigent health care clinic for tuberculosis patients, withdraws request for a similar variance.

5. Good bye "Mac," You'll be missed: Facing a painful battle with terminal cancer, Sanford fixture and city commissioner Mac McClanahan takes his life. His passing is the final chapter in a legacy of community activism, public service, and humanitarianism. Whether fixing bicycles for underprivileged children or fighting the good fight for the underdog, McClanahan's departure creates a void on the Sanford City Commission and a hole in the city's heart.

6. A Judicial first: Longwood attorney James C. Perry is nominated by Florida Governor Jeb Bush and is investitured as Seminole County's first black judge to be appointed to the 18th Judicial Circuit of Florida. Perry is presented his judicial robe by the Seminole County Bar Association and his judicial gavel by the Brevard County Bar Association. Family, friends, and dignitaries share the historic moment.

7. Boys on the Bus: When they rolled into town two weeks before the presidential election, few of us could have anticipated how pivotal Seminole County would turn out to be for Texas Gov. George W. Bush and Dick Cheney. The politicos packed Seminole Community College for a spirited campaign stop, telling us "help is on the way." Just for good measure "W" brought along former primary rival John McCain and little brother Jeb, who just happens to be governor of his own state.

8. Sex, Lies, and Audio Tape: Darlene Ladoczky, a 12-year veteran of the Sanford Police Department is busted, charged with trafficking in cocaine and having sex with a convicted drug dealer-informant. She dodges the more serious convictions of conspiracy with intent to distribute cocaine and of carrying a firearm during a drug trafficking offense. Her sordid relationship with crack dealer Antonio Holley and twin convictions for lying to federal agents during an investigation nets her 21 months in prison, two years of supervised release and 50 hours of community service. She faced as many as 20 years in jail and fines in the hundreds of thousands of dollars had she been found guilty of the more serious charges.

9. And the winners are? No problems with ballots here. All three incumbents running for county commission seats earn confidence of the voters. Daryl McLain, Grant Maloy and Dick Van Der Weide return to the dais after sometimes nasty campaigning involving other commission members jumping into the fray. Meanwhile, Don Eslinger tromps the upstart bid of former Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary by a 70-30 margin to return for another term as Seminole County's top cop. In Longwood, Mayor Paul Lovstrand fends off a second challenge by Craig Van Hoooven and Steve Miller narrowly defeats political newcomer George McKenzie to retain city council seats. Peaceful Lake Mary welcomes Thom Greene as new mayor, filling the shoes of departed David Meador who makes the jump to the Florida House of Representatives. DeDe Schaeffner unseats controversial Bob Guff on the Seminole County School Board. Randy Jones pounds doors and burns shoe leather to emerge from the pack a winner to fill the vacant seat of McClanahan on Sanford's city commission.

10. If you build it, they will come: Seminole Community College completes construction on the Oviedo Program Campus. Now county residents can go from kindergarten to the Ph.D. level without having to set foot outside Seminole County. October registrations hit 3,000 for January 2001 first term. The $30 million 147,000 square foot facility offers traditional A.A. Liberal Arts degree programs, high tech certification programs, self enrichment and leisure classes to boot.

11. If you don't build it, they will be happy: County residents along SR 46 pack county commission chambers and convince the board that a super-sized proposed Wal-Mart is too much for them to swallow. Commission votes down the project. By year's end Wal-Mart announces plans for a super store in the Seminole Plaza. Publix vacates its spot, Ross moves to Publix's old digs and Wal-Mart knocks down a few walls and expands into where Ross formally was located.

Year ender-words that got in our way ...

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

Whether by accident, design, fate, chance, or circumstance, this nation's rhetorical landscape is an ever-evolving continuum. Words move in and out of our national vocabulary with a great degree of regularity. Some become old and passé, others take on new contextual meaning. We find some unique vernacular friends and interpret old familiar ones in newfangled ways. Failing that, our collective cultural genius gives birth to brand new machinations, often resulting in downright fabrications of manufactured double speak. Put your ear to the ground and join us as we revisit, in no particular order, how words got in our way during the year 2000.

Chad — Once thought to be a small country in north-central Africa, south of Libya. A more contemporary interpretation: a small component part of an angst-filled Florida punch card ballot.

Swinging chad — Not to be confused with the Benny Goodman era. A partially dislodged chad rendered controversial by the inability of some South Florida voters to muscle it loose.

Dimpled chad — A really cute swinging chad that may or may not be counted depending on one's political predisposition.

Swing-ing chad (swin'jin' chad), n.

Pregnant chad — Please see Madonna.

Undervotes — Votes in the state of Florida that were not counted during the 2000 presidential election. Democrats refer to undervotes as "we was robbed." Republicans refer to undervotes as votes disallowed due to lack of uniform standards or criteria for counting purposes. Republicans also refer to undervotes as "the winning margin."

Recount — not to be confused with Count Dracula, although watching the on-again, off-again tortured process was enough to make one's blood run cold. Also, what Al Gore didn't get.

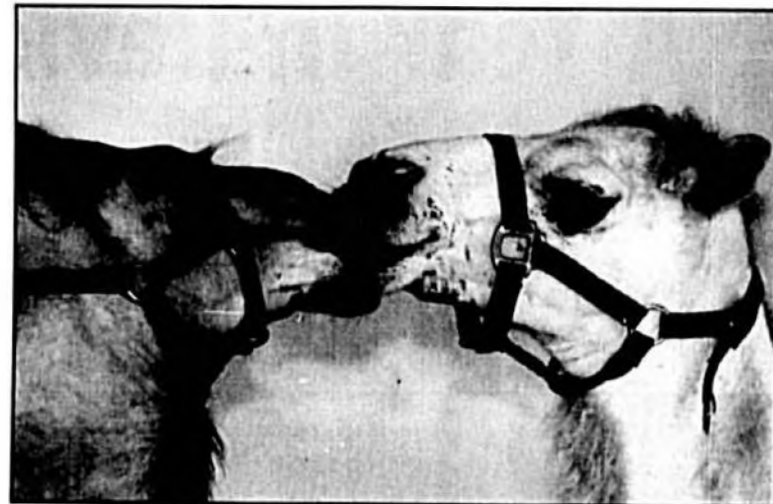

Absentee ballots — any combination of ballots that fit the following criteria: ballots cast by absent-minded voters; ballots not counted by absent-minded supervisors of elections; any military ballot challenged by a Democrat; any Seminole County ballot challenged by Harry Jacobs; any Seminole County ballot "fixed" by Republican operatives.

Disenfranchisement — The post-election mantra of any Democratic cry-baby, also known as a Democratic spokesperson, also known as liberal media spinmeisters.

Seminole highlights from 2000

A brief overview of the news events during the year 2000, taken from the pages of the Seminole Herald.

JANUARY 2000

- After the first few work days in the new year, Central Floridians found the threat of computer breakdowns because of the change in the year, known as Y2K, was all for naught. The only glitch reported in Seminole County was in the county's Building Department, and it was repaired within five minutes.
- Under the headline, "Will civility rule in Longwood?" the Herald reported that the city commission unanimously rejected a resolution governing their (Commissioners') own code of conduct, "because they said it was too restrictive."
- Local supporters of the Florida State University Seminoles were elated when FSU won its second National Championship by defeating Virginia Tech on Jan. 4, thus finishing the season 12 and 0, for its first undefeated season.
- Citizens of Sanford filed a lawsuit against the city seeking an injunction to prohibit the granting of off-street parking waivers for the free dinner program proposed by Seminole Volunteer Enterprises and its director, Jean Metts. City Commissioner Velma William's proposal that the city hold public forums to discuss the matter was quashed when Metts accused the city of racism. Later in the month, Metts apologized for comments made to the mayor and city commission.
- The Seminole County Commission unanimously rejected plans for a Wal-Mart, northwest of SR-46 and Oregon Avenue.
- The Seminole County School Board approved $5 million to be spent on renovations to Crooms Academy during the 2000-2001 school year.
- An Apopka man reportedly paid $40,000 to the owner of an ostrich farm, supposedly located in Oviedo. The purchase was for 27 ostriches, which he planned to use for meat. The Oviedo man however, had reportedly sold the same ostriches to possibly a dozen different investors, and had either stuck his head in the sand, or disappeared to Colorado before he could be apprehended.
- The Ritz Theater was renamed the Helen Stairs Theater in honor of Stairs who led the restoration project and helped raised $1.8 million to renovate the 79-year old theater.
- The 11th annual Martin Luther King, Jr. celebration in Sanford drew approximately 3,000 people at a Fort Mellon Park event.
- Work got under way on a $25 million expansion of the domestic terminal facilities at the airport, while hopes were up about the planned service of JetBlue Airways coming into Sanford.
- Lisa Abbott was crowned the first Miss Lake Mary for the new millennium. She was sponsored by Lake Mary High School National Honor Society.
- Plans were announced to merge the Greater Lake Mary/Heathrow Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. The proposal was approved during a breakfast meeting in February.

FEBRUARY 2000

- The month began with Tim Raines deciding to return to the New York Yankees from the Oakland Athletics for the 2000 series. Raines had already won two World Series Rings before joining the Athletics.
- Sanford kicked off a program aimed at paving all the dirt streets and roads (2.5 miles) in the city.
- Jean Metts opened the soup kitchen in downtown Sanford following two years of wrangling over the site and parking availability.
- A feasibility study indicated Sanford could support a successful hotel and conference center in the east end of Fort Mellon Park.
- Congressman John Mica's plans for a commuter rail system in Seminole and Orange Counties, already supported by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, wins support from Seminole County and the City of Sanford.
- Pan Am began regular flights from Sanford to the Chicago-Gary Airport and Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

MARCH 2000

- Sanford police investigated an attempt to set fire to the Goldsboro Community Service Center on 13th Street. Evidence indicated it was a fire-bomb attempt. The center, operated by Sanford Police and Seminole County Sheriff's Department began operations in May, 1999. Two persons, ages 16 and 18 were arrested three days later. The two, with extensive criminal records, had also reportedly been involved in a number of vehicular thefts in Sanford, Altamonte Springs and Deltona.
- Brooke Hall, a senior, was crowned Miss Seminole High School.
- The seventh annual Old Lake Mary Days was a huge success, with hundreds participating, and thousands in attendance.
- Seminole County swore in its first black judge, as Florida Gov. Jeb Bush appointed Longwood resident Jim Perry to the 18th Judicial Court.

- The Presidential Preferential Primary in Seminole County revealed George W. Bush and Al Gore were selected by their respective parties to seek the presidency. Only 12.9 percent of eligible voters went to the polls.
- John Michael Buzia, 39, confessed to the ax murder of Thea and Charles Kersch at their Winter Park home. The murders, on West Palm Valley Drive, were said to be the result of a home robbery.
- The new Olympic-sized swimming pool, the Sanford-Seminole Aquatic Center, at Seminole High School was officially dedicated.
- An administrative judge issued a 90-day suspension of the operation of the soup kitchen in downtown Sanford by Seminole Volunteer Enterprises, as citizens file a lawsuit against the city that it violated parking restrictions in order to allow the business to operate.
- On March 30, the lawsuit was dropped allowing the soup kitchen to operate once again.
- Police and sheriff's deputies arrested 23 students at Oviedo and Seminole High Schools, charged with selling drugs to undercover agents posing as students. Nine were arrested in Oviedo and 14 at Seminole High.
- A Navy memorial is proposed, to be located at the entrance to the Orlando-Sanford Airport, former home of the Sanford Naval Base.
- A 12-year veteran of the Sanford Police Department, Darlene Ladoczky, was charged in connection with a drug deal, involving a Sanford man, previously convicted of dealing in crack cocaine. The arrest occurred following a six month investigation.
- Sanford native Tim Raines, announced his retirement from professional baseball, ending a 20 year career in the Major Leagues. During his time, he hit .295 for his career and finished with 808 stolen bases, fourth on the all time record. He had worked with the New York Yankees, Montreal Expos, Oakland Athletics and Chicago White Sox.
- Pan Am Airways added flights to Pittsburgh from the Orlando-Sanford International Airport.

APRIL 2000

- Shannon Kelly, 24, a graduate student at Florida International University, was selected Miss Seminole County, and was awarded a scholarship.
- It was disclosed that Sanford's sewage treatment plant had dumped about seven million gallons of partially treated sewage into the St. Johns River, leaving the city facing possible punishment. Within days however, health officials lifted the warning after water testing proved the matter was under control and the river and Lake Monroe were safe.
- A settlement regarding approval for continuing operation of the soup kitchen in downtown Sanford was again defeated before the Sanford City Commission due to a lack of a second on a motion to continue. Circuit Court Judge Thomas Freeman issued another 90-day injunction against the facility.
- A Native American spear-point collection, with over 300 arrowheads dating from 700 to 3,000 years old, was stolen from the Museum of Seminole County.
- Dr. Harry S. Woodruff, who practiced dentistry in Sanford for over 50 years, passed away at the age of 93 on April 13.
- Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan passed away at his home on April 19. He was 74 years of age. He had held public office, off and on, since 1971, and was a retired Lt. Commander in the U.S. Navy.
- The Lake Mary High School Color Guard wins the Winter Guard International Championship competition in Dayton, Ohio, defeating 130 other units.
- Linda Kuhn stepped down as executive director of Sanford Main Street. She would be replaced on May 1 by Walt Padgett.

MAY 2000

12. An American Tragedy: We loved his graceful moves to the basket. We mourned with him at the loss of a son. Corry Erving, drug-troubled son of basketball great "Dr. J." Julius Erving is found dead when his body and car are located in a retention pond just a few hundred yards from the Erving's Seminole County home. Last seen leaving his job at an Altamonte Springs bakery, locals kept a hopeful vigil with the Erving family for weeks following Corry's disappearance.

13. Happy Heritage: The third time proved to be a charm for the Sanford/Seminole Chamber of Commerce and the Heritage Days Festival. After a slow start the first two years, this year's event turned a profit of more than $15,000. Charlie Daniels and Percy Sledge headlined and drew large crowds.

14. "Let the judge judge:" The Reverend Jesse Jackson made not one, but two trips to Seminole County, protesting and organizing bus rallies to Tallahassee over Florida's controversial role in the presidential election. The flamboyant and often combative Jackson always draws a crowd and packed more than 1,300 into a local church for a unity rally.

15. Building Bridges: Construction of a new Interstate-4 bridge linking commuters between Seminole and Volusia counties is a welcome relief to a growing bottleneck. Likewise, completion of the GreeneWay's missing link eases gridlock. But keep those pockets stuffed with quarters, daily use of the GreeneWay can run into some serious green.

16. Come on in, the water's fine: Once closed down because of discriminatory use practices, the city of Sanford's swimming pool re-emerged as a refurbished and sparkling aquatic complex at Seminole High, illustrating that yesterday's practices of exclusion were all wet.

17. Portly Progress: The Port of Sanford once again expanded its Business Incubator Program this year. Entrepreneurs, small businesses and start-ups get increased resources and help in developing solid business plans, creating new jobs, and contributing to the county's economic prosperity and employment infrastructure.

18. The curtain goes up: The Helen Stairs Theater completed its first full year of operation with a polished December performance by the Moscow Boys Choir. A diamond in the rough, the former Ritz is poised to become a jewel in downtown Sanford's revitalized crown.

19. Is there a doctor in the house? Central Florida Regional Hospital underwent major renovations, and expansion, topped off by a ribbon-cutting ceremony on a brand new $12 million Emergency Room and addition of treatment programs.

20. The Last Boy Scout: Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said thanks, but no thanks, kicking the United Way out of city hall.

Dale, an Eagle Scout himself, took to the airwaves of National Public Radio to state his case about the United Ways' decision not to fund Boy Scout programs because of the organization's position on excluding homosexuals from scouting activities.

20. Who let the dogs out? Many Florida counties and cities will be eyeing the success of Paw Park, Sanford's first off-leash park for dogs. In a unique partnership between private citizens and the city, fences and other pet friendly amenities will soon transform the old Jaycee's Park from a seldom used dumping ground into a first for the city.

Statistical Disenfranchisement — First spawned on MSNBC at 2 a.m. on post-election day 34 by some third-rate talking head. A purported numerical anomaly that suggests Democratic vote counters should be empowered to divine the intent of mismarked or unmarked ballots. Statistical disenfranchisements are thought to be cousins of chads or dimpled chads, but not necessarily pregnant chads.

The Supremes — Not to be confused with Diana Ross and the gal band from the '60's and 70's. Seven black-robed Democratically appointed mental midgets whose repeated inability to interpret their own state's constitution brought the wrath of five black-robed Republican appointed justices who ruled "the recount stops here." So did the post-election mess.

24/7 — This year's overexposed buzz word; shortens plain English for "twenty four hours a day, seven days a week."

Problematic — Favorite buzz word of late night academics, political analysts and anyone with a Juris Doctorate. Also indicative of the state of Florida's entire election process. Also see exit poll interviewing and network television coverage of the 2000 race.

Live team coverage — What, as opposed to dead team coverage?

Whazzup? — Buzz word greeting for male beer drinking buddies in television commercials. Also the $64 question asked by the remainder of the nation in response to Florida voters' problematic inability to cast and count their ballots.

Bipartisanship — Ancient roots unknown. Used only by Democrats when they want you to look the other way. Used only by Republicans when they don't want you to look at all.

Political corpse — Al Gore's post-election stature within the Democratic party. The end result of George W. Bush's agenda before a divided House and Senate.

Favorite post election bumper sticker: "My grandmother can vote correctly, why can't yours?"

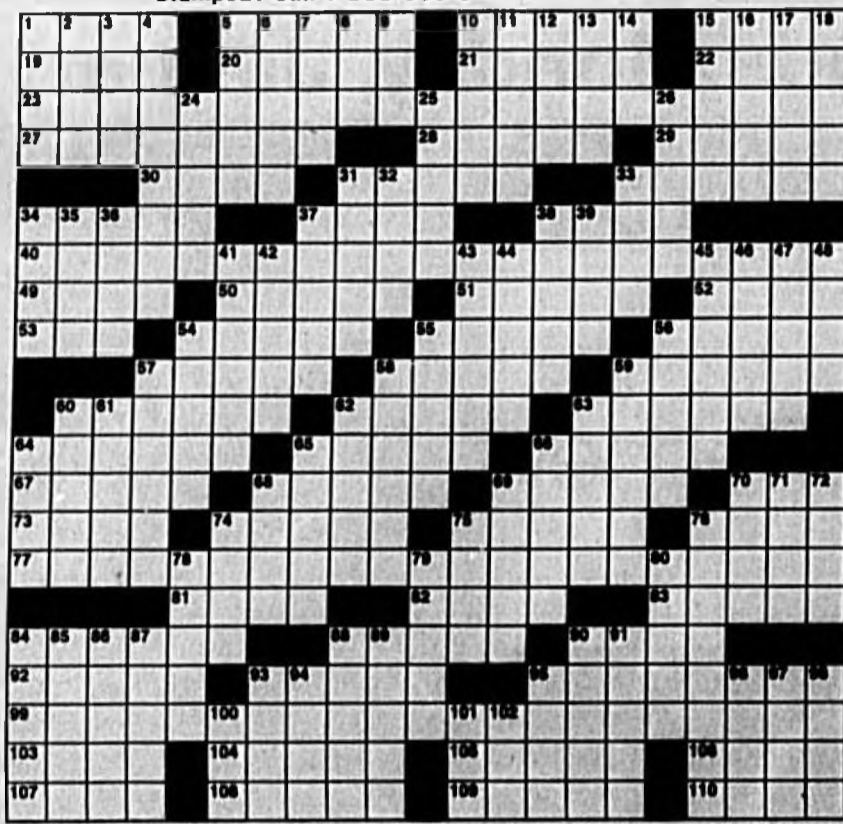

Second favorite post-election bumper sticker: "Florida will release its 25 electoral votes when the rest of the nation quits sending us their old people."

The Way We Were: Former Sanfordites

Today you will learn of the accomplishments of more former Sanfordites.

Tom Palmer

Tom Palmer, a Sanford native and 1965 graduate of Seminole High School was a fellow at Duke University during September. The fellowship was to the Dewitt H. Wallace Center for Communications and Journalism.

Palmer, son of Clara and the late Lambert R. Palmer of Sanford, is an environmental reporter and columnist at the Lakeland Ledger.

His fellowship, sponsored by the New York Times, allowed him to enjoy a career break to read, study and take classes. He was also able to participate in discussions with other journalists in the program.

This is an international program and in addition to Palmer and two other American journalists, the group includes one Bosnian, one Japanese and three German journalists.

Palmer has also won numerous other awards including the Al Burt Award from 1000 Friends of Florida, the Marjorie Stoneman Douglas Award from the Florida Lakes Management Society, and the Indigo Writers Award from the Florida Chapter of the Sierra Club.

The Douglas Award is given to the individual or group who demonstrates excellence in journalism in the field of lake management and who contributes to our understanding of lakes and the issues relevant to their conservation and protection. Palmer was the first recipient in 1996.

A letter to the editor published in the Ledger from the Florida Lakes Management Society states, "Tom Palmer has been a leader in environmental reporting for many years. His personal interest and technical knowledge of the environment are reflected in the quality of his work and set him apart from his peers. He is recognized not only locally but through the state for his thorough and accurate presentation of environmental issues."

Tom and his wife, Renee live in Winter Haven.

According to the 1965 Salmagundi, Tom's activities included involvement in several clubs such as Tumbling, Future Teachers and Science. He served as president of the Spanish Club.

Clara Palmer, Tom's mother, gave me the above information. She had called me following my articles on the Park family to give me information on Mrs. Geneva Park and Tom's recent achievement came up in the conversation. It sounded like something that needed to be published, as he has many interested friends here.

Grace Marie Stinecpher

Mrs. Geneva Park

As just mentioned, Mrs. Palmer called to give me information about Mrs. Park that her son, Charlie, had not put in his book.

Mrs. Palmer had worked at the Seminole County Jail when it was located next to the former courthouse. She discussed Mrs. Park having a jail ministry; and she would visit the jail often to teach a Bible lesson and also help inmates in various ways.

Especially remembered was a colorful black woman named Odessa who was in and out of jail. Mrs. Park came to love Odessa and would bring her clothes and other needed items.

Another time, there was an incarcerated juvenile girl who no one would associate with, as she was filthy. They found out that she didn't know how to take care of herself, so Mrs. Park and Mrs. Palmer gave her a bath and taught her how to do it herself.

According to Mrs. Palmer, both Dr. and Mrs. Park spent a great deal of time at the Methodist Children's Home in Enterprise, doing whatever they could to help out.

I also know that Mrs. Park taught a ladies Sunday School class at First Baptist Church and was a leader of the Young Women's Auxiliary (YWA's) with Minnie Kratzert. Dr. Park Sr. became a deacon in 1957.

Clara Palmer also worked at the Pinecrest Inn for several years. She recalls fondly the time Bill Park was a speaker there at a Civitan meeting. He learned that it was Mrs. Palmer's birthday and made a charcoal drawing of her, which he signed. She still has it framed and hanging in her home.

Robin Lippincott

The following information I received from the Sanford Museum. It is from a four-page list of Robin's publications and accomplishments.

Robin Lippincott, son of Robert and Marcie Lippincott of Lake Mary, graduated from Seminole High School in 1972. He received an associate in arts at Seminole Community College in 1975, a bachelor of arts in English at FSU in 1978 and master of fine arts in writing at Vermont College, Montpelier, in 1990.

His recent novel, "Mr. Dalloway," published in 1999, has received critical acclaim. It was nominated for an Impac Dublin Literary Award, an American Literary Association Roundtable Award, a Lambda Literary Award and an Independent Book Award.

Publishers Weekly calls his first review, "Lippincott calls his first novel a creative response to the Virginia Woolf classic, 'Mrs. Dalloway,'" but its virtuous handling of the inner life of the characters should delight more than just Woolf enthusiasts. The author pays homage to Woolf while at the same time creating his own vision."

Robin has had many works published in various literary magazines and quarterlies, much too numerous to mention here. Among the honors he has received has been recipient of a Yaddo Fellowship in 1997, 1998 and 2000; second place in Waterdon's Short Story Competition, 1994, nominated for both a 1991-92 and 1993-94 Pushcart Prize.

He has been a guest lecturer at the University of Louisville, fiction editor of the Bananafish, a magazine of short fiction, 1997-2000; and an instructor at Harvard Extension school.

He often participates in readings of excerpts from his works. He has done this in Orlando, Rollins College and FSU. Other readings were in such places as University of Louisville, the Abby Bookstore in Paris, France, and DNA Gallery, Provincetown, Ma.

This talented writer lives in Somerville, Ma. His novel, "Our Arcadia" will be published in June, 2001.

I had Robin in my class for less than a semester during the spring of 1972. Football Coach and Athletic Director Tom Perrin resigned and I was asked to take his two Algebra I classes while someone else took my Business Math classes. I didn't get to know the students very well, but they were good kids which I enjoyed.

Robin's sister, Marcia, was active in Future Teachers in the 1960s when I was its sponsor. She is presently an attorney in Winter Park.

Foundation announces new board officers

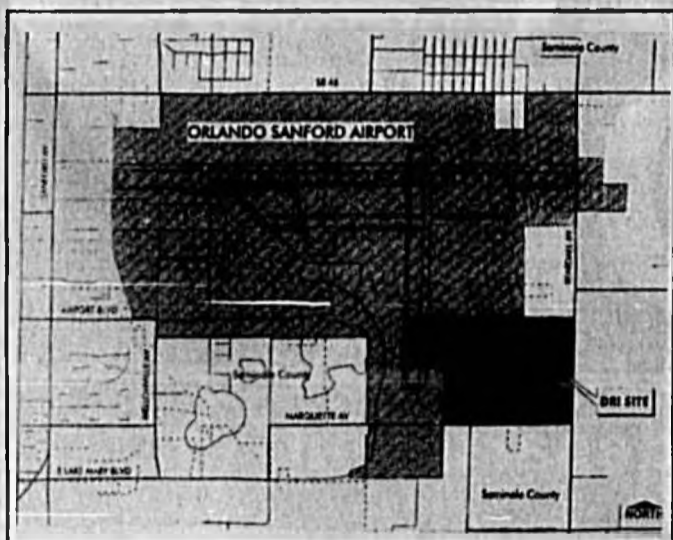

The Foundation for Seminole County Public Schools has announced its new board officers. Debbie Roberts with AT&T is chairman; Curt Wells with Huntington Bank is chairman elect; David Wright, WCG, Inc., is vice president, board development; Tim Myers with Suntrust is vice president of programs, and Laurie Anderson with J. Rolfe Davis Insurance is treasurer. The foundation is a non-profit organization with the mission statement, "We will enhance the quality of education in Seminole County Public Schools by raising and distributing funds and in-kind contributions, fostering involvement in schools by business and the community and providing recognition and rewards for outstanding contributions to, and performance within the school system."

5,000 pairs of shoes collected during yearly drive

From staff reports

The third-annual "Nearly-New, Barely-Used Shoe Drive" sponsored by Altamonte Springs orthodontist Dr. Barry Levin and his staff resulted in more than 5,000 pairs of shoes being donated to four area charities.

breaker over previous years," said Dr. Levin. "The 17 participating schools did a phenomenal job rallying their families, friends and the community to make the shoe drive so tremendously successful."

He said the 5,003 pairs of shoes completely filled the 16 foot PODS unit, the main collection container donated by the company.

"We are greatly appreciative of everyone who donated shoes," he added. "Contributors should feel much gratification about the goodwill they have performed to help people who are less-fortunate."

The schools involved in the drive included Annunciation Catholic Academy, Bear Lake Elementary School, Keeth Elementary School, Lake Brantley High School, Lake Mary Elementary and High Schools, Lyman High School, Millennium Middle School, Orangewood Christian School, Rock Lake Middle School, Sabal Point Elementary, Seminole High School, Teague Middle School, Trinity Christian School, Wekiva Elementary School, Wilson Elementary School, and Woodlands Elementary School.

The charitable organizations, Mustard Seed of Central Florida, Salvation Army Men's Shelter, and Women's and Children's Shelter, Restore Orlando, and Lakeside Alternatives Foundation, will be distributing all of the shoes to people who are homeless and victims of despair.

DERMATOLOGIST DEVELOPS FORMULA FOR RESTORING AGING SKIN

Is the skin on the back of your hands & arms thin, easily injured, bruised, discolored (dark spots), or dry and rough? These are common skin problems that most dermatologists deal with everyday. Skin damage begins to show up as early as age thirty, when dark spots begin to be visible on the arms, back of hands, and upper chest. As people continue to age, their skin thins and loses elasticity. Later in life the skin will bruise & injure easily and become dry & rough.

To properly address all these problems, dermatologists often prescribe several expensive treatments at different points along the aging process. Recently, however, one renegade dermatologist has taken the key ingredients from the most effective treatments available for the skin and developed a single formula that deals with each of these problems. This formula was designed to help with both protection and repair of damaged skin. According to this dermatologist "most of America could benefit and look younger." Prove it to yourself while you can get it at this low price without a prescription. Satisfaction is guaranteed. If after 60 days your skin doesn't look younger, feel more durable and healthy, return it for a full refund.

To order, send name, address and payment of $29 plus $3 shipping and handling (no matter how many jars total shipping is $3) to Dermatology Center, 195 S. Countryside Lane, Orem, UT 84058 or call 1-800-246-1400. Order by internet at: www.skinrejuvenation.com PAID ADVERTISEMENT

Shortfall

Christmas Eve day this holiday season as a quirk of the calendar as well. As a standing practice the agency, which has enjoyed substantial kettle donations on Christmas Eve day, does not man kettle sites on Sundays. This year Christmas Eve fell on a Sunday.

"We've heard a lot of discussion all year long about the robust economy. But the department stores are looking at a down year as well. If people have extra money they appear to be holding on to it and I can understand that," Stewart said.

"Unfortunately we have few avenues to make up that budget imbalance."

The Salvation Army launched a final 2000 mail-out plea to traditional donors Friday, Dec. 29 in order to attempt to make up the fund raising shortfall. The agency is asking traditional donors to dig a little deeper this New Year's weekend.

Stewart said the Salvation Army also sent out a mail fund raising piece to new homeowners in Seminole County hoping to expand its base of fund raising, but that endeavor has produced few if any results.

Faced with an increase of 15 percent in the number of Seminole County requests for assistance, Stewart said county residents who would like to help the agency in its final push of the year are asked to send contributions to the Salvation Army Development Center, P.O. Box 1946, Sanford, Florida, 32772-1946.

look no farther," Eckstein told the gathering.

"Bob was a sixth-grade drop out. But after serving in the Pacific in WW II, he went back to school as a 21-year old sixth grader. Then he went to college and got a degree. Bob Thomas never thought of himself as special — but he always thought about being compassionate and doing the right thing. Bob brought humility and class to the commission," commented Eckstein.

Commissioner Velma Williams, who succeeded Thomas on Sanford's commission said, "I'm elated at this moment, it's been a long time coming.

Thomas was humbled when the new street sign bearing his name was unveiled.

"I thank God for this day," he said.

"I'm thankful for the blessing and the people who have come to witness this. Words can not express my humble appreciation."

While accepting warm hand shakes and hugs from those in attendance, Thomas reminisced about his 12-year tenure on the City Commission.

"I think one of the things I'm most proud about was my early support for the Seminole Towne Center. When it first was proposed there was a lot of opposition to it. But I always said if it got built a lot of other things would pop up around it. The evidence is there."

Thomas also spoke fondly of his working relationship with former Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett, now chief deputy with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

"I enjoyed having served with him. He was a fair man who enhanced the department", Thomas said. "I also enjoyed working together with former Mayor Bettye Smith."

The effective date of the street name change from Bethune Circle to Bob Thomas Circle takes place Jan. 29 for mail purposes. Residents along "Bob Thomas Circle" will retain their old house numbers for postal delivery.

long lasting rain, brush fires are able to erupt anywhere at any time, according to the fire prevention suggestions.

One of the warnings is to be aware of suspicious persons, especially children who may be playing with lighters, matches or fireworks. They have been determined the cause of a number of blazes in Central Florida in the recent past.

Other suggestions include:

- Clear out brush from around the house.
- Clean foliage off the roof of the house (dead pine needles, pine cones, etc.).
- Cut tree limbs that hang over or touch the home
- Keep yard trimmed and mowed
- If keeping a mulch pile, keep it far away from the home.
- Make sure your yard is properly marked from the roadway (to assist emergency vehicles)

- Never throw cigarette butts out of the window of a home or vehicle.

Allamonte Springs Fire Chief George S. Gaston said a "Tinder Box" is a common phrase being heard around fire departments in Central Florida these days. While firefighters are staying at the ready, he said following these suggestions will help save property and lives.

Airport growth

With the holiday season in full swing, monthly activity at Orlando Sanford International Airport will finish the year on a high note. Nearly 1.1 million total passengers have passed through the airport thus far this year with 153,767 domestic and 939,977 international passengers.

For the month of November alone, there were 15,484 domestic and 52,866 international passengers, nearly 100 percent over November of last year.

LEMON TAKES HEAD JOB AT EUSTIS HIGH

Chet Lemon, 45, who runs the Chet Lemon Baseball School and AAU Baseball Program out of the Lake Mary Sports Complex, has been named the head baseball coach at Eustis High School.

Lemon will replace Tyler Crow, who was named the coach after the Panthers won the Class 4A State title last spring. Crow will remain with the program as an assistant coach.

Lemon, a three-time American League All-Star during his 16-year career with the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, moved to Umatilla from Heathrow several years ago, but continues to run his business locally.

UCF FOOTBALL SIGNS THREE JC PLAYERS

Three junior college football players, including former Dr. Phillips High School receiver Doug Gabriel, have signed letters of intent to play for UCF next fall.

The other two are cornerbacks Terrance Bell from Palm Beach Gardens and Carlos Thompson from McComb, Mississippi. All three graduated from their respective schools in December and will enroll at UCF in January.

Gabriel (6-foot-2, 205-pounds) played for Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College where he set school records for touchdowns in a season with 17. He chose UCF over Florida State.

"Doug Gabriel is an exceptional athlete who can do a lot of things," said UCF recruiting coordinator Scott Fountain. "We expect him to return kicks and possibly punts, as well as help fill the void left by the graduation of Kenny Clark and (Lake Mary's) Tyson Hinshaw."

Bell (6-foot, 190-pounds) played for Dodge City (Ks.) Community College, while Thompson (5-foot-10, 180-pounds) played for Southwest Mississippi Community College. They will add depth at cornerback where UCF lost starter Devin Bush to graduation. Thompson registered five interceptions and six blocked punts this year.

"They will give us immediate competition across the board at corner which is something we need going into spring practice," said Fountain. "They are taller than most of the cornerbacks we have had which is something Coach (Gene) Chizik has been looking for the past couple of years."

ECKSTEIN PREMIER BASEBALL CLINIC

Seminole High School's Alumni Field will be the site for the Eckstein Premier Baseball Clinic on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 5 and 6.

Rick and David Eckstein and Kenne Brown will conduct the camp, which will address all areas of baseball competition.

Players also will be able to identify a specific area of concentration to be addressed during the clinic.

The clinic will run from 9 a.m. to noon each day. Enrollment in the clinic, which is limited, is $100.

Players interested in registering and reserving a spot in the clinic should call 407-687-8129. All participants will receive a clinic T-shirt.

Lake Brantley, Lake Mary, Oviedo boys squads win way into soccer semifinals

ORLANDO — The Seminole Athletic Conference was assured of having at least one team in the finals of the prestigious Eagle Invitational and a 50-50 chance of filling both spots in the event for boys soccer teams being contested at Edgewater and Bishop Moore high schools.

Thursday, Lake Brantley, Lake Mary and Oviedo won their second straight games in the tournament and were to have joined co-host Bishop Moore in the semifinals on Friday.

The Patriots and Lions were matched up in one semifinal with the winner advancing to Saturday's finale. And with the Rams, who gave a good showing of themselves in last week's Puma Tournament in Tampa, carrying a 10-2-2 record into their game with the undefeated (12-0-2) Hornets, an all-SAC title game was as very good possibility.

Lake Mary reached the semifinals with a 1-0 victory over Dr. Phillips, the only goal coming from senior Rui Vasconcelos on an assist from junior Travis Rodgers in the first half, and a 1-0 overtime victory over a tough Winter Park squad on Thursday.

Lake Brantley (8-3-2) won its opener, 3-1, over Melbourne and then survived in a 3-2 penalty kick victory over co-host Edgewater in the quarterfinals, outscoring the Eagles 4-3 in the kick off.

Oviedo (10-4-2) has probably had the toughest road to the semifinals, knocking off previously unbeaten P.K. Youngge (8-1-1) from Gainesville, 3-1, and then edging a powerful Miami-Sunset team, 1-0.

Rams girls, AFIX boys advance to finals of "Classic"

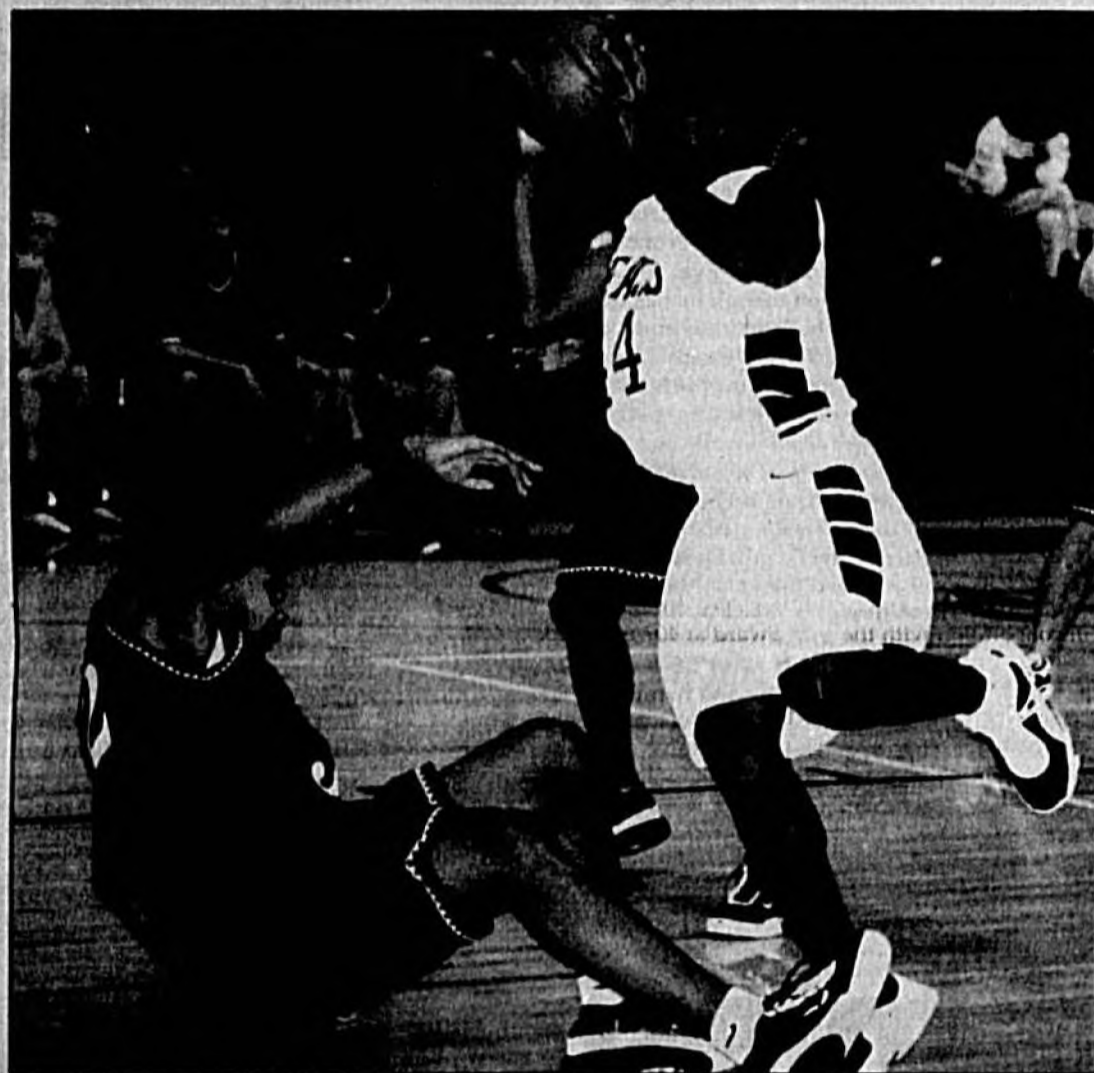

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — The Seminole High School boys and Lake Mary High School girls were left with the burden of upholding the honor of the Seminole Athletic Conference when they advanced to the finals of the 5th Annual Lake Mary High School Holiday Classic Thursday.

Coach Bob Traina's Arrow Force IX squad had to come-from-behind in both of its games to earn a shot at Winter Park, which rolled through its two opponents, while coach Carl Brown's Rams were looking to defend their 1999 Classic championship and also win their second tournament title in as many weeks.

Seminole being in the finals is something just short of a miracle.

Another shutout for SHS in girls soccer

BUNNELL — The Seminole High School girls soccer team continued to show its vast improvement since the beginning of the season as it posted its second 3-0 shutout in three games in the Ninth Annual Lady Bulldog Holiday Classic at Flagler-Palm Coast High School in Bunnell last Friday.

The victim this time was Gainesville High School as the Fighting Seminoles went 2-1 in the tournament to improve to a very misleading 4-11 on the season. The Purple Hurricanes fell to 2-8-1.

Lauren Kovasik was the star for the Tribe, scoring a pair of goals and assisting on the other score, this one off the foot of Jeanette Curtis.

The Seminole defense was also outstanding, holding Gainesville to only eight shots on goal, while the Tribe got off 18 shots.

Altamonte stars take pair from Sanford

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Sanford and Altamonte Springs recreation departments recently decided to give their young flag football stars a present for a good season, setting up games between the two cities at Eastmonte Park so the teams could see what it was like to play someone different.

And while the Altamonte Springs All-Stars both came out on top of the championship teams from Sanford, a good time and good sportsmanship was enjoyed by all.

In the first game, the 7-through-9 year old all-star team from Altamonte Springs topped the Sanford Raiders, 28-8, behind the play of quarterback Nick Calloway.

Crystal Ball puts neck on line as the playoffs begin

This is showtime my friends, the playoffs begin this weekend.

Teams spent last week planning ways to squeak into the post-season fray only to disappoint fans at the bitter end. I would not want to be a Lions fan after seeing my team miss the playoffs with a loss to the lowly Chicago Bears. In the Crystal Ball's opinion, any team that loses to the Bears with the playoffs on the line jeopardizes their fans' loyalty. I wouldn't blame a single person in Detroit that decided not to support the team next season. What happened to them is a disgrace.

Last week we blew the doors off with my patented LOCK OF THE WEEK selection. The INDIANAPOLIS COLTS weren't in the Christmas spirit as they whipped the visiting VIKINGS. As promised they not only covered the published spread, they did it by over four times the points they needed.

Tampa Bay looked awful in the snow and gave a hardcore fan like myself shaky knees as the playoffs begin.

The only thing I have to say about the Jaguars is that quarterback Mark Brunell's home burned down on Christmas Eve. You hate to hear stories like that even though he has the ability to rebuild immediately. Teammate and best friend Tony Bosselli opened his doors for the holidays, I thought that was cool.

Miami looked terrible in their ugly win against New England but should be able to put things back together at home....Maybe not, I just remembered they play the red hot Colts.

Let's get to the schedule and find some winners.

INDIANAPOLIS (-1) AT MIAMI

Peyton Manning and the Colts are feeling great about themselves after a sluggish midseason. They have had little trouble disposing of opponents, including the Dolphins, over the last few weeks.

I think the Dolphins are back to their old style. Get the fans excited.....lose early in the playoffs.....fans excited.....lose early in the playoffs.

All you Fin Fans can hate me if you want, that's what will happen. Colts 34, Dolphins 13 (if Fiedler doesn't get injured).

ST. LOUIS (-5) AT NEW ORLEANS

The Rammies go back to the scene of the crime for this one. After their recent pummeling of the 'Aints, the bookmakers in Vegas think the Rammies are a LOCK. I'm not so sure, but without Sanford native Jeff Blake at quarterback, New Orleans has their work cut out for them.

As a matter of fact, the Crystal Ball of Football would be amazed if the 'Aints even keep it close. Rammies in a blowout that history will record. New Orleans will score some points on this lousy defense, but the result will never be in doubt.

Rammies 47, 'Aints 34.

BALTIMORE (-3) VS. DENVER

The Ravens still can't get any respect. In my opinion, which usually becomes fact, Baltimore will thump the Broncos on both sides of the ball. Shanahan is a great coach that will keep it close, but coaches won't have to face a defense that should be outlawed. Extra stretchers and ambulances will be on hand for this one.

Can you believe Dilfer got a second chance? The amazing thing is that it doesn't look like he's going to blow it. Ravens 27, Broncos 20.

TAMPA BAY (-2) AT PHILADELPHIA

The Bucs need to get all cylinders going in this one and it may be cold. I don't believe, in any of that nonsense that they can't win in freezing temperatures. Most of their players played college ball north of Georgia.

I think Tampa is going to put a hurting on McNabb that he won't forget until late next season. When this team feels threatened, they have a See NFL, Page 3B

The Tigers 15-6 after one period. Seminole continued to struggle in the second quarter and did not score until their was 2:20 to go on the clock before halftime and found itself down by 17 points, 23-6.

But AFDX scored the final 11 points of the quarter to only trail by six, 23-17, at intermission and held Holy Cross to only 23 points the rest of the way, while scoring 35 points themselves to win going away, 52-46.

Thursday's semifinal was nearly the opposite as Seminole (8-3) led the entire game until Deltona (2-6) caught fire and took a 43-41 lead with 6:25 left.

But AFDX would turn up the defensive pressure and hold the Wolves to only three points over the final 4:44 and pull out a 56-51 triumph.

The Lake Mary girls (13-1) are starting to look like they might be ready to contend for another state title as they made mince meat of Tavares, 74-33, on Thursday.

Bryn Mosler (14) and Erica Dunkman (12) led the way as the Rams advanced to face Orange Park, a 72-25 winner over Satellite, in Friday's finals.

Lake Mary is trying to add their own tournament trophy to the one it won at the Midnight Holiday Shootout at Boone High School last week.

to keep the Raiders' offense off of the field for much of the first half.

Sanford, in fact, only had the ball twice in the entire first half as Altamonte Springs built a 15-0 lead.

The first score of the game came on an 8-yard pass from Calloway to Chris Atkins. The extra point try failed.

The Raiders' first possession ended when Willis Dorsey intercepted a pass at the Sanford 24-yard line.

A few plays later, Calloway hit Atkins for a 15-yard touchdown strike and Calloway then hit Dorsey with an extra point pass, making the score 13-0.

The hosts then increased the lead to 15-0 when Sanford's second offensive possession ended in a safety.

The Raiders got their act together in the second half and the remainder of the game was played pretty much on equal footing.

Dorsey got Altamonte Springs' first score on a 4-yard run after a lateral and Calloway hit Atkins for the extra point.

Sanford got on the board when Lenny Grace raced in from 70-yards out and also added a two-point conversion run.

The final score came on the last play of the game when Calloway found Adam Overbay in the end zone for a 12-yard touchdown.

The second game featured an awesome defensive battle between the 10-to-12 year olds teams with Altamonte Springs surviving, 8-0, over the Sanford Steelers.

Altamonte Springs scored the only points of the first half when Kevin Landress grabbed a Sanford runner's flag in the end zone for a safety.

The Steelers also flashed a little defensive brilliance of their own as Shane Ibsiter pulled the flag of an Altamonte Springs runner on a fourth and goal as the first half time expired.

The only touchdown of the game came when Dan Pregano hit Noah Wilmont with a 12-yard touchdown pass.

Altamonte Springs got the chance to show off its defense on the final series of the game.

The Steelers marched down the field in a last-ditch effort but with less than two minutes to go, a Sanford fourth-and-goal pass fell incomplete, preserving the Altamonte Springs victory.

knack for playing to their potential. I'll watch the second half, but only because I'm a Bucs fan. It will be painfully obvious to Eagles fans that the game is over late in the second quarter. Bucs 31, Eagles 17.

Each week the Crystal Ball of Football releases his patented LOCK OF THE WEEK. This is the game that after research and contemplation, I feel most comfortable releasing as a "sure thing."

These four games are the easiest playoff slate I have ever seen. For the first time in the history of WHAT'S UP IN THE N.F.L., I'm announcing a 10,000 STAR ALL INCLUSIVE, EVERY GAME IN THE SCHEDULE LOCK OF THE MILLENNIUM.

How can I do it you ask? I have studied these games for 11 hours straight and I know the results. Saturday I'm going with the INDIANAPOLIS COLTS (-1) OVER MIAMI for the above listed reasons. I'm also going with the ST. LOUIS RAMS (-5) OVER NEW ORLEANS at the Superdome. Two road underdogs.....amazing.

Sunday, I'll reload with the BALTIMORE RAVENS (-3) OVER NEW ORLEANS. The Raven defense will decimate an already ailing Bronco squad. Then to pull off the four teamer on Sunday afternoon, the TAMPA BAY BUCS (-2) will thrash the PHILADELPHIA EAGLES.

Folks, this only happens once a millennium, capitalize on it. Enjoy your football this weekend and remember, everything else can wait!

Was Shannen Doherty a child actor?

Q. Did Shannen Doherty of "Charmed" star in a series when she was a little girl? My friend says yes, I disagree. A steak dinner is the winning prize. -- C. N., Santa Fe, N.M.

A. The late Michael Landon cast Ms. Doherty (at the age of 11) as Jenny Wilder in the series, "Little House: A New Beginning." She later went on to star in the series, "Our House" before "Beverly Hills, 90210."

Q. Back in the late 1970s, I remember that William Shatner starred in a movie with the wife of Sammy Davis Jr. Can you tell me the name of the film and refresh my memory as to the subject matter? Thanks in advance. -- L. M., Pittsburgh, Pa.

A. That 1977 film was called "Kingdom of the Spiders." Shatner starred with Tiffany Bolling, Woody Strode and Altovise Davis (Mrs. Sammy Davis Jr.) as a veterinarian who discovers that tarantulas are going on the warpath in Arizona. The film is available on videotape.

Q. I am working on a film school project on William Shakespeare. How many film versions of "Othello" have been made? Who were the stars, if you can name them? -- A. C., Lansing, Mich.

A. Three versions exist. In the first film from 1952, Orson Welles was the star and director. The film was shot between 1949 and 1952, because of budget difficulties. Joseph Cotton appeared as a Senator and Joan Fontaine appeared as a Senator. The 1965 film featured Maggie Smith and Derek Jacobi. Laurence Fishburne, Kenneth Branagh and Irene Jacob starred in the 1995 version. All films are available on videotape. We hope we have been helpful.

Q. There used to be an actor by the name of Dale Robertson, whom I never see on TV or in the movies any more. Did he retire from show business or did he pass away? -- G.D., Joplin, Mo.

A. The former Robertson, now 77, is another one who is still perking along.

Q. I love watching "7th Heaven" on the WB. What other television projects has its star, Stephen Collins appeared? - M. O., Altoona, Pa.

A. Collins played the love interest of Sela Ward on the series, "Sisters." He also starred in the series, "Tattlers," "Working It Out" and "Tales of the Gold Monkey." He had starring roles in the miniseries, "The Rhinemann Exchange," "Inside the Third Reich," "Chiefs," "The Two Mrs. Grenvilles," "A Woman Named Jackie" and "Scarlett." His TV movies include "The Betty Broderick Story," "An Unexpected Family" and "An Unexpected Life."

Pets comfort to residents at Sanford center

By Michelle Jeris
Managing Editor

Most residents at Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center of Sanford adore Ayla and Chester.

And, the pair are always ready to reciprocate the adoration, as long as there's a pat on the head, a scratch behind the ear or a couple minutes of attention given in return.

Ayla the golden retriever and Chester the cat were adopted by the center as part of its pet therapy program. While helping to maintain residents' sensory skills, the animals also provide joy to the people who call the facility home.

"Pet therapy is a way to bring comfort," Activities Director Leslie Everhart said. "It brings back memories of pets they once had, and they relate to the unconditional love both Ayla and Chester provide."

Ayla came to Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center three years ago, Everhart said. An employee at the center found her in an environment that was detrimental to her health and decided the facility was the perfect home for the golden retriever.

Chester became a resident about a year ago after he was adopted from Animal Rescue. The de-clawed cat seems perfectly content with his new home, often finding his way to a warm lap or a spot in the sun.

"They are both perfect animals for the program," Everhart said. "Golden retrievers are such good-natured dogs, and Chester is so laid-back. The residents just love them."

The feeling is mutual. During the day, both animals can be found visiting residents' rooms or sneaking a snack from a willing conspirator.

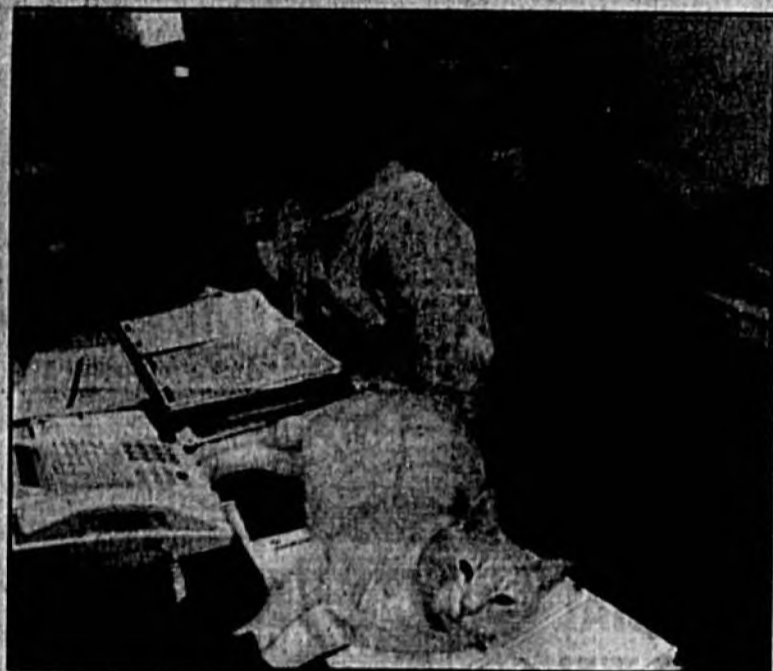

The center's employees also enjoy the animals' company and take turns feeding them or taking Ayla home during the evenings and weekends. (Chester stays in a closed room during the evenings).

"Everyone enjoys having them around," Everhart said. "They are the perfect animals to have here."

Cafeteria Life

Feeding more than 2,000 people each day is no easy job, but for John Caldwell, food service director at Seminole High School, it's the best job in the world.

Caldwell retired from the Navy after 25 years of service. He spent 22 years in the food service field and now lives in Cape Canaveral with his wife of 28 years, Jennifer. He started working at Seminole High School three years ago after taking a management training program conducted by Seminole County Schools Food Service Department, which is headed by Food Service Director, Dan Andrews. Caldwell supervises 30 employees which he called, "the best staff in Seminole County". And, after hearing the comments of several staff members, the feeling toward their boss is mutual.

Helping Caldwell is his assistant manager, Janell Harris; Food Service Assistant P.J. Anthony, who was named Cafeteria Employee of the Year and also Seminole High School Employee of the Year, and Lead Cook, Claudette Brown. Herald Staff Writer Arthur Zelnick recently talked with Caldwell in the cafeteria at Seminole High School.

Q: How many students do you feed each day?
A: The school has an enrollment of some 2,700 and it's still growing. On an average day, we serve about 2,000 meals in the cafeteria. I also send three remote carts throughout the campus. Each cart has cold and hot food. We also have an ice cream cart. The kids like to sit around outside and eat. They sit in groups and do what kids do — they talk about what's going to happen on Friday and Saturday night.

Q: Do you and your staff plan the weekly menu?

A: No, we have a standardized menu that is put together by the Seminole County Food Service. The department is headed by Dan Andrews and Linda Daniels. Each high school will have the same menu. If you go to Oviedo High School and ask for a "turkey club" it will be the same turkey club you get at Seminole High. But the one you get at Seminole High might be a tad bit better.

Q: Do you serve the same menu each week?

A: We have what we call a "cycle." We have basically a food court, just like the one you would find at Seminole Towne Center Mall. Each day the kids could choose from hoagies, pizza, hamburgers, Deli sandwiches, French fries, garden salads, calzones, soup or chili just to name a few menu items. We also serve Maxi A, B, C, D, E, and F meals.

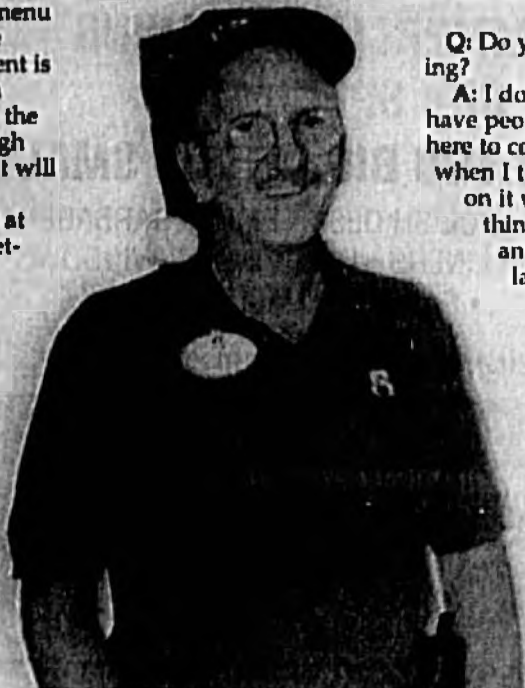

The Maxi menu is similar to the value meals. All Maxis come with a choice of fruit, tea/lemonade and milk. The students can also "super size" the Maxis and combos.

Q: Do you do any of the cooking?

A: I do some, but very little. I have people that are employed here to cook, and they frown on it when I try to cook. They frown on it when I try and do something because they think I'm an invalid, Caldwell laughed.

Q: What is the most popular item on the menu?

A: The kids like the pizza the most. It's our own recipe. It was created by Seminole County Schools. We call it Gianni's. French fries are also a very popular item.

Gavel presented to new AARP president

The December meeting of the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP is notable because it's always the Christmas luncheon and the installation of officers for the upcoming year. A special guest to this year's luncheon was Paul R. Holmberg. Paul is a volunteer ambassador for AARP National. He was on hand to install the new officers.

Before installing the new officers, Paul asked all the outgoing officers and board members to stand and be recognized. He thanked them for their dedication to the chapter for the past year. Paul then asked the new officers to come to the front and take their oath of office. The new officers are Irene Lober, president; Marie Kichno, first vice president; Marie Fratto, second vice president; Lee Wild, secretary; and Gloria Van Kleck, treasurer. The board members for the upcoming year consist of the new officers and the committee chairs. After the installation, Paulee Stevens made a presentation to outgoing president Cynthia Pitcock. Paulee thanked Cynthia for her dedication and service to the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP and then presented her with a plaque of appreciation.

Cynthia also had several presentations to make. She called Paulee Stevens and Marge and Jim Carmona to the front of the room. In addition to their other jobs, every other month, Marge and Jim are responsible for the chapter's newsletter. Paulee is a frequent sketch contributor to the newsletter. Cynthia thanked them for all the help they had been to her for the two years she served as president. Marge had been such an enormous help. Cynthia said that she deserved to be the recipient of the President's Award. Each meeting, Cynthia has recognized someone special with this award. This meeting, the President's Award was to be "Queen for the Day." Cynthia crowned Marge for the occasion. Cynthia also had presents for Marge and Jim, Paulee and her telephone committee.

The special entertainment for the event was the Southern Edition.

Each one of the members of the trio started out as a member of a barbershop quartet. After a couple of years, the three ended up in the same quartet with another member. When the fourth woman left, the women decided to become a trio, but keep the harmonies and a capella style of a barbershop quartet. The three are very reminiscent of the Andrew sisters.

The next meeting of the Lake Mary Chapter of the AARP is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 16 at 1 p.m., in the Lake Mary Community Building. Membership in the Lake Mary Chapter is just $3 a year. If you'd like to join, just stop by.

Q: With the large selection of food, do you get many complaints from the students?

A: When I first came here we did, but we don't anymore. These kids are our customers, and they know we're serious about our business. My policy is — if a kid brings something back and he or she is dissatisfied with it, I don't care what the reason is — too hot, too cold, whatever — I want it exchanged, that's the bottom line.

Q: What are your normal work hours?

A: I use to get here between 4:30 a.m. and 5 a.m. every day. But it has taken a toll on me. Now I get here around 6 a.m. My assistant manager, Janell Harris, also gets here at 6 a.m. to open the doors. Most of the workers go home around 1:30 p.m.

Q: What do you like most about the job?

A: To relate with the kids. To talk with them and exchange views. It makes you feel young to be able to work with these kids.

Hospital auxiliary elects officers, spoofs latest fashions

Central Florida Regional Hospital Auxiliary members recently held its quarterly meeting. After electing officers for 2001, members stepped forward to model various spoofs on formal, sports and holiday attire.

Elected officers include President Dee Redwine, President-Elect Louise

Nolan, Vice President Doris Elliott, Treasurer Thelma Smith, Recording Secretary Katherine Alexander and Corresponding Secretary Jane Englebracht. The slate, all carry-overs from 2000 except the recording secretary, will begin the term in January.

During the fashion show spoof, Dottie Floray introduced each model and described his or her outfit.

Although the offer was made to auction off the outfits, no bids were made.

Models included Helen Benton, Mary Boone, Shirley Diedrich, Doris Elliott, Ray and Jane Englebracht, Vivian Farmer, Louise Nolan, Martha Novak, Dee Redwine, John and Bea Ridenour, Nancy Rivers, Dolores Salvatore, Grace Smith and Helen Williams.

Dottie Curry, Rita Findell and Don Ridenour modeled what all auxiliary members should look like while on duty at the hospital.

The hospital auxiliary is always in need of new volunteers. If anyone is interested in joining the group, contact Vivian Farmer or Don Ridenour at 407-321-4500, ext. 5653.

Ballet Guild 33 years old and still kicking

In a salute to Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, Ron Rose, president and CEO of the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce said: "Your 33-year-old organization (Ballet Guild) has inspired our youth, enhanced our community, and has been a strong leader in the cultural development of our city and beyond."

As the year 2000 made its debut and ended, after 33 years, Ballet Guild dancers were still on their toes. When the guild was founded back in 1968, skeptics openly predicted it was a passing fancy. But the handful of ardent volunteer supporters grew by leaps and bounds to advance the dancers to national recognition.

The Guild's December performance, "A Holiday Mix & Match (With a Catch)" attracted nearly a full house at the Winter Springs High School Performing Arts Center. The artistic directors since the guild's inception are the Rye sisters, Miriam Doktor and Valerie Weld. In planning the annual glittering galas, the creative sisters find it difficult to "just play it straight" and deviate from classical ballet to fun and frivolity dances. Patrons can always expect the unexpected from the dancing teachers.

Adding to the professional performance this year were guest choreographers, Thom Lake of Lake Mary, a former student who made it to the top; Vince Gargani of Los Angeles; and Kelli Sullivan Palumbo, a former BGS dancer who now dances professionally.

Before the show got under way, the following awards were presented: Haley Singleton was the recipient of the Silver Slipper Award for acquiring the most sponsors and Jenny Dennis received the Nola Ferguson Dedication Award.

The show opened with the lively "Jingle Rock" and held the audience spellbound through to the last number, "The First Christmas Morning." Narrator Mark Tarcano played his own twin brother, Larry the Lumberjack, and recited poetry with a flair in describing the dances. In two previous productions, he played Harry, one of Santa's chosen elves.

Thom Lake and Haley Singleton nearly brought the house down as they did lift after lift in a new number, "The Silent Night." A spectacular sight, "Rudolph Marmbo" featured Bob Fossee and 10 high-stepping senior BGS dancers wearing dazzling costumes including sparkling red-sequined derby hats with antlers.

Another innovative hit was "dancing trees" when the dancers were covered from head to foot. The finishing touch to each costume was a twinkling star on top created by local artist Pam Singleton.

An all-white background was the perfect setting for "The First Christmas Morn," performed by an ensemble of 18 BGS dancers. George Weld, Rick McLamb and other capable crew members created

Joella Bowden returns to Sanford during holidays

Beautiful, talented artist and dancer Joella Ariena Bowden was recently home for a month's visit with her parents, Dr. Lawrence and Vivian Hurston Bowden.

The talented mezzo soprano and dancer is a graduate of Lake Howell High School and furthered her education at Seminole Community College.

After giving much thought to her talent and her dreams for success in her life, Joella began to train in the field of dance with the Southern Ballet Theater of Florida for ballet, Raskin Dance Theater of Florida for jazz, School of Performing Art of Florida for tap, and Alvin Ailey

Joella Bowden

Dance Theatre in New York City for modern dance. Joella's voice training in techniques was acquired at Atlantic City, N.J., and Guam.

She has appeared as a dancer with the Southern Ballet Theater in performances of "Carmina Burana," "Bolero," "La Sylphide," "Midsummer's Nights Dream," and "Don Quixote," with great artistic directors, including Barbara Riggins and Jennifer Vannuchi.

Continuing to perfect her talents, she did production shows "Fandango," "Shout," "Island Breeze," "Wild Bills," "Jolly Holidays," and "Wahoo Baby" in the Atlantic City Hilton in New Jersey, Walt Disney World and Merv Griffin Resorts, and she was the featured dancer at EuroDisney in Paris, France.

Joella has shared her talents with the students of Central Florida. She taught intermediate jazz at South Seminole Middle School, where her mother is an assistant principal. She also taught classes in beginning and intermediate ballet at Orlando School of Cultural Dance.

There have been many sightings of Joella on television and movie promotions. She has appeared as Robin in a "Batman and Robin" movie promotion, performed in the NCAA play-offs half-time show and as a dancer/model for Adidas, all for Hardrive Productions of Florida.

For more than two years, Joella has been living in Sand Castle, Guam. She says she has grown tremendously since living and working in the lovely city. She is featured as captain dancer in the production of "Fantastique," directed by Jerry Jackson.

Joella says she enjoys her job as she travels around the world as she recruits dancers for Guam and the United States.

While visiting her parents, she was honored with a party, where she had a chance to share her experiences with her uncle, Dr. Clifford J. Hurston of Daytona. Many others of her family, friends, former teachers and classmates attended the gathering.

Many from Sanford will remember her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joel and Mable Hurston, who were former educators of Crooms Academy, and her historically renowned aunt, Zora Neale Hurston, famous writer and anthropologist.

Family can't get enough of mother's new million

DEAR ABBY: Because of a serious illness that resulted from taking a certain medication, I recently received a settlement of more than a million dollars. I have invested

Dear Abby

..... most of the money, and have a cash flow sufficient to take care of emergencies and a few luxuries. I must make sure that these funds will cover medical expenses for the remainder of my life.

Ever since I received the settlement, my family (children, parents and siblings) think I'm very rich and that my money is their money, too. They constantly ask me to bail them out of one financial mess or another, or to buy them luxury items. I have helped them out of tight spots in the past, but they have always squandered their money and have never saved a dime for the future.

I go to bed each night sick to my stomach because of the guilt trips they put me through when I refuse their requests for money. They expect me to pay for everything.

Abby, am I being selfish?
S.F. IN COLORADO

DEAR S.F.: No, you are being prudent. Instead of giving them money, encourage your relatives to enroll in credit counseling or money-management courses offered at many colleges. Remember the adage: "Give a man a fish and he'll eat for a day. Teach him to fish and he'll eat for life." Continually bailing out family members is doing them no favor. Take care of your own needs and let them take care of theirs.

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl at work I really like. She is not only physically attractive, but her interests are also similar to mine.

Recently we had lunch together. I gave her a rose and a card with a short message telling her how terrific she is. She read the card after we had our lunch, and the next day I asked her what she thought of it. She told me she "loved it," and complimented me on my spelling and grammar.

I really like her, but she recently ended a long-time relationship, and I don't want to put her on the spot. How can I find out if she likes me as more than a friend, without hurting our existing friendship?

IN LOVE ON LONG ISLAND

DEAR IN LOVE: She has already conveyed an important message. Since she commented only on your spelling and grammar — and not the message in the note you sent her — she's interested only in a platonic relationship.

DEAR ABBY: I thought maybe your readers would be interested in something I thought of the other day. At one minute and one second after 1 o'clock in the morning on Jan. 1, 2001, the numbers will look like this: 01:01:01, 01/01/01. It won't happen again for 1,000 years! Pretty cool, huh?

CHRISTY DAY, MOBILE, ALA.

DEAR CHRISTY: Way cool, and a new beginning.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Happy New Year! While enjoying New Year's Eve festivities, please remember: If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink!

RELIGION

Bad news is best news in letters

How many of those chatty, bubbly Christmas letters from friends and out-of-town relatives did you get this year? We got several, but the number is down from what it was 20 years ago.

Most of us have come to realize that other people don't want to read about how wonderful life was for us in the last year. Not only that, but we don't always believe what we read.

"The people who write these letters and run them through the copier for all the world to read live impossible lives," said a letter to the editor in the paper recently. "I know of no families that could have such good fortune dropped in their laps."

People who write these letters every Christmas — "Bill got the most wonderful promotion ... We spent three glorious weeks in February just 'lazebyboning' in the sun in the Caribbean ...

The children all came home with top grades..." — should keep in mind something that Monsignor Ronald Knox once wrote.

George Plagenz

The English cleric put his finger on the truth when he said, "Being sorry for people who are in trouble comes naturally to most of us, but other people's good fortune is rather boring, isn't it?"

Apparently there are other ministers who sometimes feel the same way. I said to a clergywoman the other day that keeping the Ten Commandments doesn't give me as much trouble as St. Paul's admonition to the Christians in Rome to "rejoice with those who rejoice."

"I'm glad to hear you say that," the pastor confessed. "I have the same trouble with that passage. When things are going badly for me, I often find it hard being glad when I hear things are going great for somebody else. But keep that to yourself."

We think we like to hear and read good news, but we really don't unless the good news concerns us or somebody in our family. If we were honest, we would have to confess that bad news makes us happier than good news.

Daytime dramas, with their depressing themes, actually lift the spirits of most soap opera devotees. It enables them to feel that no matter how awful life is for them, it isn't as bad as Audrey's.

Audrey was married to Steve Hardy, but she wanted a divorce because they couldn't have any children. She then married Tom Baldwin. Now she is going to have Tom's child, but she realizes she isn't in love with Tom. She still loves Steve, who is still in love with her. Tom and Audrey were all set to get a divorce, which would have simplified everything, but now, with the baby coming, Tom feels that this might get them back together, so he is contesting the divorce.

Doesn't it make you feel good to know that your life isn't that bad? Doesn't it brighten your day more than those photocopied Christmas letters with their hollow cheer?

Cleaning up the loose ends of the old year: A female reader sent in this reason for hunting's popularity with men: "Hunters give all sorts of reasons why they hunt, but they never mention the real reason. They need to kill. There is always something in the hunter's life that makes him doubt his manliness. Either he is unable to have children of his own or he has a nagging wife or a demanding boss. Sometimes there may be a more personal reason. Killing an animal supplies this missing feeling of manliness."

Are there any hunters out there who would like to defend themselves against this charge? Best religious joke of 2000: A sign in front of a Presbyterian Church said, "Re-count your blessings."

Help Needed

The American Red Cross is requesting the community's financial assistance to help victims of recent severe winter weather and tornadoes in the southeastern United States. Freezing rain, snow and tornadoes ripped through Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Arkansas and Texas on Dec. 16, leaving 12 confirmed dead and hundreds injured. Dozens are still missing and hundreds of homes and businesses were destroyed.

Tuscaloosa, Alabama was particularly hard hit by a tornado that swept a path 18 miles long with winds ranging from 158 to 206 miles per hour.

To help, contributions can be made to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund by phoning 1-800-HELP-NOW. Or contributions may be sent to the local chapter, American Red Cross of Central Florida, 5 North Bumby Ave., Orlando, FL 32803.

Inter-faith Celebration
Sunday, Jan. 14, beginning at 2:30 p.m., there will be an inter-faith religious service to celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Musical renditions will be given by the Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration Choir and other guests. The program will be held in the Sanford Civic Center. For banquet tickets, call 323-2099 or 323-6366.

Angel tree

For the seventh consecutive year, Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Sanford has brightened Christmas Day for less fortunate youngsters through the Angel Tree at the Sanford Wal-Mart. This year, the church purchased gifts for 14 children at a cost of more than $500. The gifts ranged from scooters to compact disc players and clothing. Pictured are Kasmine Sanders, Allison Crowley, Tehlara Wimberley, Matthew Crowley, Jaira Cuthbert, Danny Butler, James Ireland, Brian Ireland, Youth Minister Pam Butler and Youth Leader Mary Benton.

Lutheran church nominations for officers listed

Nominations for Ascension Lutheran Church of Longwood's officers and subsequent 2001 election was delayed by the board of directors until a nominations report could be compiled.

Individuals nominated for congregation office include Peter McDonnell, vice president; David Isaacson, treasurer; Don Luce, evangelist; Rose Mary Berg, properties; Wava Swain, senior minister; and Erik Jensen, Vince Lambert and Bill Wachter, elders.

The election ballot will be presented to the congregation in services on Dec. 31.

Valerie Weld said, "Six Santas in 'That Man Over there' are always welcome in a holiday production, and this year's Santas outdid themselves." She added, "Swing was not only big this year, but well-rehearsed, smooth and exciting as 15 couples took over the stage and rocked out to 'The Man With the Bag.'"

Beauty Salon Celebrates Holidays With Style

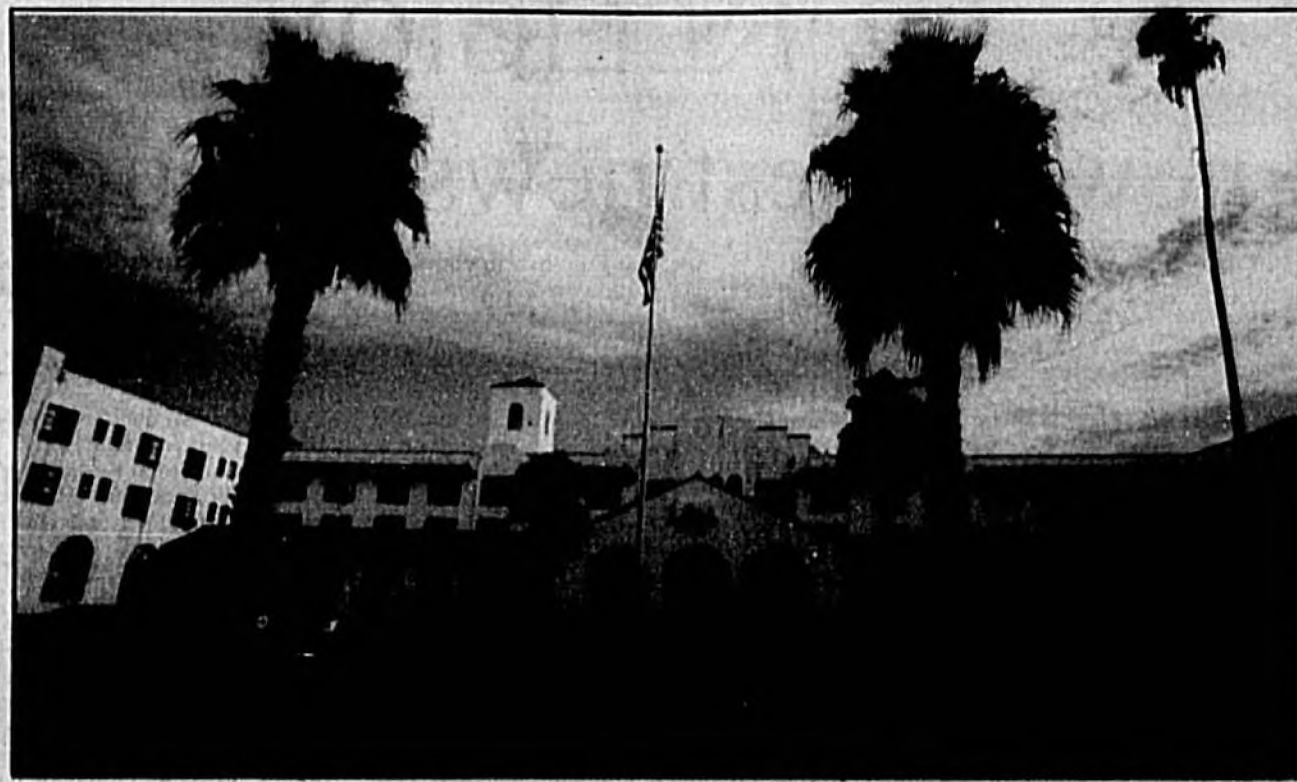

Open House was the order of the day every day during Christmas week at Avant's Beauty Salon. Not only was Milady pampered and made more beautiful than ever, but she was treated royally.

Every day, a refreshment table featured a potpourri of delectable goodies and choice of beverages. There were lots of homemade delights as well as sugar-free treats for those watching their waistline.

But that's not all. Each patron drew a number from a Santa Claus cap for the gift of her choice from a large selection. She was also presented a purse calendar and an adorable red-nosed Rudolph tree ornament fashioned from clothes pins.

Later that day, a catered dinner arrived for the employees and they were a merry bunch opening up slews of gifts from their patrons.

Manager-owner Kay Wright was in charge of the week's celebration, assisted by stylists, Elaine, Lillian and Millie.

A new look

The New Tribes Mission International Headquarters, located at 1000 E. First St. in Sanford, recently received a new coating of paint. The building, which was built in 1925 as the Forrest Lake Hotel, has always been white, but now has a custom color of New Tribes tan. The painting project started in May and was completed last month. New Tribes Mission (NTM) bought the property, which included a gymnasium and a 15-unit former motel and classroom building, in May 1977. NTM paid $400,000 and spent another $350,000 in repairs after it purchased the facility. Another party wanted to buy the property and put up a high-rise condominium. It would have cost $75,000 to have the hotel torn down.

Good luck, and all of your Florida family and friends send love to you.

The blessings of giving were shared throughout the holiday season. Sharing with others who were in need was shown in giving.

The Mean Gene Gospel Radio Ministry and Nat's Restaurant, located at West 13th St., shared their blessings of giving with three families. Regina Thompson's family was recently burned out of their home. Brenda Walker's family and Rosanna Stephens' family, and the Thompsons, were given a full Christmas dinner, complete with all the trimmings, which was cooked by Nat's. Merry Christmas love and Christian blessings were given by Mean Gene and Nat's. These families were chosen because of need.

The following are upcoming cultural events.

• Heritage, A Celebration of Black Achievement will be held Jan. 12. The program will honor Ruth Hatch Allen, a community activist, and Willie G. Holt, a retired educator. Featured entertainment will include The Hamilton Singers, The Inspirational Singers, and Broadway star and artist Alton Lethrop.

The event will be held in the concert hall at Seminole Community College.

• The city of Sanford Steering Committee for the Martin Luther King Jr. Observance has planned events from Jan. 12 to Jan. 15.

Friday, Jan. 12, beginning at 7 p.m., there will be an oratorical, poster and essay contest at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Saturday, Jan. 13, beginning at 9 a.m., the dedication of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard will be held. The location will be announced.

Beginning at 6 p.m. Saturday, the Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Banquet will be held in the Sanford Civic Center.

Cost is $20 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under.

Sunday, Jan. 14, beginning at 2:30 p.m., there will be the interfaith religious service. Musical renditions will be given by the Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration Choir and other guests. Both programs will be held in the Sanford Civic Center. For banquet tickets, call 323-2099 or 323-6366.

Monday, Jan. 15, beginning at 10 a.m., there will be the Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration Parade. Call 322-5489 for information.

• The 12th annual Zora Neale Hurston Festival of the Arts and Humanities will be held Jan. 25 through Jan. 28 in Eatonville.

Happy birthday to the December birthday honorees, including Rene J. Tillman, Sandra Jackson, Christine J. Johnston and Jimmie Jackson.

Sanford visitors for the holidays included Rosa Harold Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. William (Tori) Lockhard, Isaac Williams, Lavene Jackson Thompson, Thomas Wilson III, Kim Brinson and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis (Doris) Goins.

All my readers, family and friends are wished a blessed new year!
