

Composer Of Radio Jingle Says Reaction To Tunes Amazes Him

NEW YORK, (AP)—Myron Mahler worked his way through college acting as a county fair barker for a trained mule act. He also sold horoscopes, corn cobs and hair curlers.

But all the while he dreamed of writing the great American novel. Today, at 36, Myron Mahler is a success. He writes singing commercials for the radio. This talent for turning out musical jingles has helped make him vice-president of an advertising agency.

And who is worrying about the great American novel? Not Mahler. He is content to have been a pioneer in a bold new art form that has swept the United States like a virus.

"Jingles have permeated the life of America in the last 15 years," said Mahler, a slender, intense man with a scholarly air. "Today there are literally thousands of them on the radio and television.

"The singing commercial is becoming the great American folk music. Children now sing them if they were popular songs."

They become so accustomed to them that some children's digestive apparatus is thrown out of gear if their favorite jingle is suddenly removed from their environment. When a program time is switched, desperate mothers write in asking to buy a phonograph disc of a jingle, explaining:

"Our Johnny refuses to eat his cereal since you changed your program hour."

"This reaction amazes even a little," said Mahler with considerable satisfaction.

Some adults complain singing commercials cause them indigestion, too, but for a different reason, and even kidnap vague homicidal impulses.

"As a party people come up to me sometimes and say, 'I'd like to kill you,'" laughed Mahler. "But they are usually just joking. Often they ask me to sit down at a piano and play my jingles for them."

Development Of Youths Character Starts In Cradle

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE, AP Education Writer

Character development begins for the child. But it is something a child cannot be forced to learn before his growth and maturity make it possible. A parent who does not understand this may be seriously undermining the character growth of his child.

The General Federation of Women's clubs, with over three million members in 63 countries, is about to start a world-wide effort to make practical application of this principle. The movement is backed by the Palmer Foundation, a philanthropic enterprise established by C. E. Palmer, Texasian, publisher and Mrs. Palmer.

As a first step, the Federation has just published a study entitled "Parents Responsibility in Character Development." It was prepared at Washington State College, Pullman, Washington, by Dr. Olive John Morgan, director of the Psychological Clinic, Philadelphia, Dr. Wallis Henley, at Jefferson, Department of Public Instruction, Lansing, and Loren Belknap, instructor, Department of Sociology, Washington State College.

Although the program is designed primarily for study groups of clubs affiliated with the General Federation, it should be made a part of the thinking of all parents, school teachers and other persons engaged in work with children, especially those of pre-school age.

The study follows the findings of psychologists and psychiatrists that embarrassments, disappointments and frustrations of childhood often produce emotional scars which may remain in the subconscious mind and later cause trouble.

"If a child learns at an early age to express himself without fear, says the study, it will be how many more veterans (sic) survivors of dead veterans) will rate a dividend.

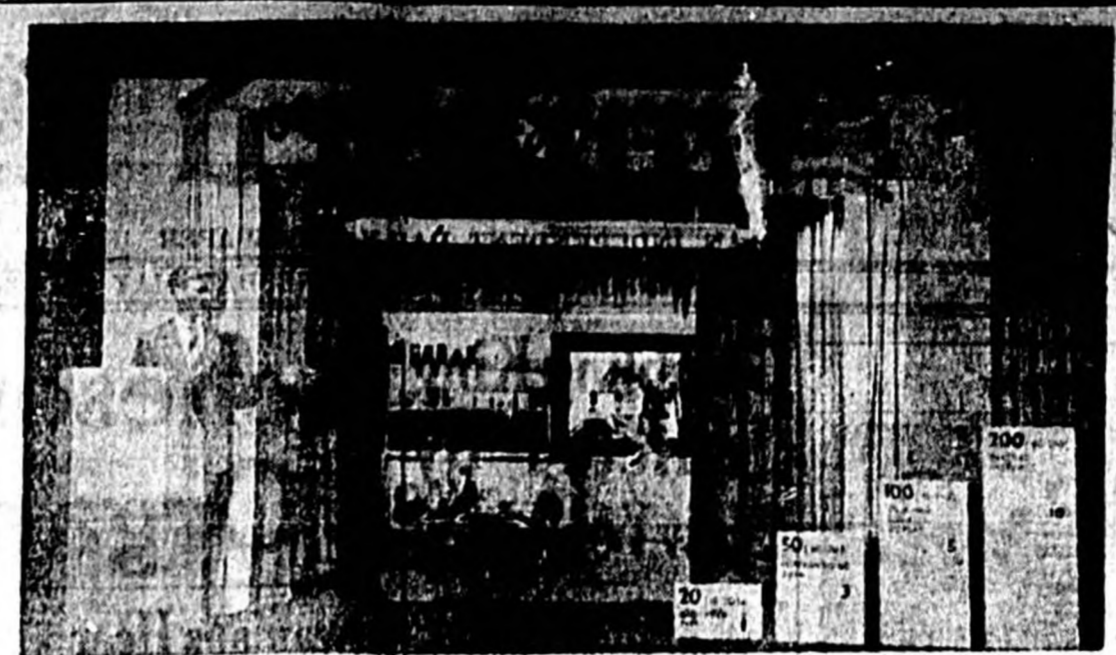

They say about 15,200,000 veterans are living today. But not all of them had National Service Insurance. In fact, the VA says one tabulation shows that as many as eight per cent of all servicemen never took out the insurance.

If the eight per cent figure is accurate, it means that virtually all veterans have gotten their dividends, but (apparently) not because survivors of dead veterans will not pick up all of the $270,000,000 left in the pot. There just aren't enough of them.

No matter how you look at it, says the VA, all but a "sprinkling" of veterans and most survivors will be paid by the end of this month. Some survivors' payments, says the VA, will be contested in the courts and may not be decided for a long time.

The VA left dismissal slips in 1,390 employe mail boxes last Monday. All these employes were on a temporary detail, getting out the dividend. At one time the special dividend task force numbered 3,000 persons.

Now left to handle the few remaining "problem cases" are 400 special dividend employes.

This is the new store-lighting demonstration display built expressly for the General Electric Training Lighting Institute scheduled to arrive in Daytona Beach on June 6. Making the presentation is John R. Watson of General Electric's Engineering Division at Nela Park, Cleveland. The Lighting Show is being sponsored by Florida Power and Light Company in cooperation with General Electric. Due to limited seating arrangements, reservations through Florida Power & Light Company offices are advised.

are adjusting properly, says the study, are: 1. Their respect for other people's property and rights; 2. Their not hurting anyone's feelings purposely for anything; 3. Their getting over having temper tantrums when they can't have their own way; 4. Their ability and willingness to accept responsibility and their ability to face things pretty squarely and directly.

Above all else however, says the study, the important thing is for parents to realize what they need is a clear understanding of what makes good character possible. They must realize that they have to create these conditions for themselves, and that they can only help their children by being the kind of people they want their children to become.

Not being able to be perfect people all at once, they must realize that growth should be their goal, not perfection. They can then think of their children as learners, and their mistakes as valuable steps in seeing more clearly the ways of creating the good they are seeking.

Gradually parents will come to know the true meaning of love and the reality of the Golden Rule (Thirteenth Chapter of First Corinthians) the capstone of the Palmer Foundation's objectives.

U. N. CHANGES KASHMIR SETUP

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP)—The organization of United Nations military observers deployed along the 700-mile demarcation line between Indian and Pakistani troops in Kashmir has been revised to "insure impartiality and speed in communications."

Military observers have been patrolling the line between Indian and Pakistani forces in Kashmir for almost two years. The normal strength of their establishment is 50, and it now includes officers of the Canadian, Belgian, United States and Norwegian armies.

Separate control rooms on either side of the line have been abolished and absorbed into a central headquarters which is to function for six months on the Indian side, then move for six months to Pakistan territory.

THE QUICK AND THE DEAD

LONDON (AP)—Historian Hilaire Belloc, 79, and Statesman Winston Churchill, 75, are the only living commoners whose pictures hang in the National Portrait Gallery. Normally only those dead 10 years get the honor.

Belloc has just slipped into the place in a picture with two dead men, G. K. Chesterton and Maurice Baring. "Conversation Piece," by James Gunn, Churchill was already well established in the gallery.

MOVIE CREATES LION FAMINE

ROME (AP)—Europe is in for a lion famine this summer. Except for zoos, there'll hardly be a lion to be seen. Circusmen won't have them.

The reason: the movie "Quo Vadis" being filmed this summer at Cinecitta outside Rome, had to have fifty to sixty lions for its Circus Maximus scenes. And that's just about as many lions as there are in postwar Europe. The film producer leased the whole lot of them.

SUDANESE SCORN GIRAFFE

KHARTOUM (AP)—People just aren't as interested in hunting giraffe as they used to be. Sudan tribesmen are given quotas of giraffe they can kill from horseback. The official Sudan monthly record reports one tribe with a quota of 75 killed only 49. Another tribe didn't bother to kill any of its quota of 20.

The giraffe population is growing despite some poaching by Arabs.

or the payment.

But a veteran who had more than one number might easily have had more than one policy. Matching up the policies with the numbers, so the veteran gets full payment, could present a problem.

Suppose a veteran applied for his dividend last fall but forgot to tell the VA where to send it.

That has happened and it means the VA must track him down and get an address for him. This could be tough if the veteran is a migratory worker.

Suppose a veteran died at a camp when his insurance was "lapsed" — that is, he had stopped paying premiums on it. If he left a will, then the dividend goes to his heir or heirs. But if he died intestate...

the person or persons getting the dividend must be picked from all his relatives according to state law. Each state has its own law on what happens to estates of persons who die intestate.

The VA says there are 50,000 to 100,000 survivors of veterans who died while their insurance was lapsed but who still rate dividend payments. Discovering who they are is taking a lot of work.

Another 500,000 survivors of dead veterans are already getting their dividend checks. They were named as beneficiaries, the insurance was in force at time of death and they are not problem cases.

All dividend checks to survivors are mailed from VA district offices and the VA central office in Washington. No figures to show how far the job has progressed.

But on veterans themselves, here is the latest tally:

Checks have been mailed to just under 14,000,000 veterans. About 15,000 a day are going out now.

Last January, when the paying job started, the rate was more than 1,000,000 a week and the work was done by special punch-card machines.

The VA cannot say exactly

Tuberculosis now claims relatively less than one-fifth as many lives among children as it did 20 years ago.

Increased hospitalization of adults who have contracted the disease is considered largely responsible for the gains which have been made.

The death rate among the company's industrial policyholders at ages 1 to 14 has dropped from 20.4 per 10,000 in 1930 to 3.7 in 1949.

'It is especially important for the protection of children that all school personnel—teachers, nurses, custodians, and food handlers—be X rayed annually.'

Because tuberculosis is so infrequent in children today, mass X ray campaigns are not economical for detecting the disease.

Re-Secretizing

What is an official secret? The answer is not so easy as you might think.

In October, 1947, the Committee received public testimony on Red infiltration in Washington.

Why did the Committee do this? Apparently it was to freshen up a stale sensation, which later could be re-disclosed with a great deal of hullabaloo.

The worthy Homer sometimes nodded, and brilliant, factually, tough-minded Doris Fieelson is capable of being romantic and naive.

Truman And The FEPC

Columnist Doris Fieelson told Alabama business and professional women Saturday that President Truman 'prides himself on being a Southerner.'

The 'story' the President might tell has already been told—by him and by his close associates.

The story is short and simple. The President is for the force bills because of political necessity.

Too Late To Classify

In 1947 Governor Caldwell appointed a Florida Resources-Use Education Committee composed of representatives of state and federal agencies and institutions.

The word 'forest' while proper in a technical sense, does not convey the meaning it should to the small farmer or city dweller.

It might be a bright idea to give away the land to the Governor.

It remains to be seen what the result will be of the so-called 'save the United Nations' pilgrimage just made by the U.N.'s top officer, Trygve Lie.

Right now the U.N.'s most aggravating symptom is the Soviet Union's refusal to make part in U.N. affairs until China is represented by delegates from the Communist regime.

Ever since the House finished the omnibus appropriation bill, we have been wondering why those charged with the responsibility of scheduling bills for consideration have been keeping the House in session from eleven in the morning until around seven in the evening.

On the other hand, if Western diplomats agree to see the Chinese Communists to end the Russian boycott, some Western experts believe the Soviets will swing the walk-out club every time they come up on the short end of a major argument in the U.N.

But the charter limited the Security Council. Lie has gone much further. He has gone behind the men who sit on the security council, to the heads of state.

560 Meet Death In 'Memorial Day Massacre'

Traffic Toll Claims 340 Fatalities; 2 Die In Florida
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accidents killed at least 560 persons during the four-day Memorial Day weekend.

The staggering death toll included 340 traffic fatalities—a fraction under a rate of 80 deaths a day—during the 102 hour period from 6 P. M. Friday to midnight Tuesday.

This compared with a rate of 77.86 deaths a day in the previous record Memorial Day traffic toll last year when 253 were killed in a three-day period.

This year's Memorial Day death toll included 92 drownings and 129 lives lost from varied other accidents including fires, falls, and plane crashes.

The National Safety Council estimated that the immediate traffic toll was at least 100 more than for a normal four-day period.

For the first three months of this year (90 days), 7,060 persons were killed in traffic—78 every 24 hours. This would amount to 331 deaths for a 102 hour period.

However, the three-month figures are not accurate comparable with those in the current survey because they include later deaths of those hurt in accidents, whereas the survey includes only deaths occurring immediately or within a few hours after accidents.

He said, 'Everybody is asking "What happened?"

He said the greater need in any formula for reducing the accident rate is 'more self discipline on the part of the driver.'

The overall accident death toll of 560 was the highest on record for a Memorial Day holiday, but actually set a lower rate than that of 1947 when 804 died from all types of accidents in three days.

One death by traffic violence was reported throughout the state of Florida, while another death was attributed to miscellaneous causes.

State Commission

Although it is a public hearing, no one had appeared up to shortly before noon to protest the new rates.

Western Union brought many of its high officials, rate experts and accountants to the hearing, including A. J. Douglas, rate engineer of New York who said the new rates would produce approximately $216,307 a year additional revenue.

One, enacted in 1955, permits a charge of 5 cents a word for messages sent 100 miles, or less; and one a cent charge a word for messages beyond that limit.

D'Alember said the proposed canning plant could be used to preserve produce from Florida's own institutional farms if the federal program should stop.

Acheson Tells

The President has authorized "that he supports Secretary Johnson and his view that we must make this principle work, for we can see no other way to accomplish the job of defense and at the same time to get ahead with the constructive task of building a successfully functioning economy in the free world."

The work of the North Atlantic Treaty organization in the first year of its existence has shown that the task of defense is so large, its cost in labor and material resources so high and the problem of security so individual will be adequate," he added.

"The job can not be done unless we do our full part which includes the provision of mutual defense assistance."

This was viewed as a plea for Congressional approval of a $1,225,000,000 second year American arms aid program which President Truman is expected to submit to Congress this week.

The program, approved by the State Department and the budget bureau, proposes spending an additional $1,000,000,000 for next year's military aid program.

It was the first time since the war that Acheson has had a full day in the path of possible Communist aggression. The funds would be available for use during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Acheson's remarks had been made at the London meeting "a new vigor in European life and European leadership."

In noting that none of the 12 foreign ministers said anything which indicated that there is an immediate threat of war, Acheson said: "It was our unanimous view that this is not the problem. The problem is to meet a threat which, in view of the known program of the Kremlin, will exist unless we act now to prepare our defenses against aggression."

RED WEDDING

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Reds are turning even the ancient wedding ceremony into a shouting war for their theories.

The leftist newspaper "Ta Kung Pao" carries an account of a recent Shanghai wedding which it said was "rich in educational meaning."

Instead of sending gifts, guests paid the equivalent of each at the door for ten and cakes. The lavish wedding feast— for which a groom ordinarily will go into debt for years if necessary—was cut out entirely. So was the "drinking, toasting and jostling."

So were the firecrackers, the brass band, and the wedding procession where the bride usually rides through the street in a closed sedan chair.

Instead, there was a discussion which criticized the old style wedding, appraised the new, and featured a round-table talk on "how to attain the full meaning of marriage."

Attorney Lewis Pettaway of the commission, cited two state laws governing Western Union's rate charges in Florida.

One, enacted in 1955, permits a charge of 5 cents a word for messages sent 100 miles, or less; and one a cent charge a word for messages beyond that limit.

D'Alember said the proposed canning plant could be used to preserve produce from Florida's own institutional farms if the federal program should stop.

These Women

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer

Until the experts can decide whether nicotine is man's friend or enemy, I wish they would shut up about the subject.
As it is, I'm just a victim, alternately scared to death or reassured that I've just picked up a harmless little habit. I've enough to worry about without taking time to fret about cigarettes: the cold, the flu, the income taxes, daylight saving time and the state department.
Apparently, however, the anti-nicotine forces are campaigning strongly again. Their tactics seem to be to scare people away from cigarettes and then advise them that it's really easy to cut out the habit. It is not easy to stop smoking, either by gradually cutting down or by just giving them up. So far all the anti and pro-nicotine propaganda I've encountered has had the effect of stepping up my consumption of cigarettes to quiet lumpy nerves and to reduce my enjoyment of some of the vanishing point.
It occurs to me that somebody must be wrong about cigarettes. The big thing is to find out what side has truth on its team.
With the dawn of 1936, the nation's head-groaning digest magazine treated its readers to a scrawny, miserably assembled items purporting to be a coldly scientific analysis. It showed that nicotine is a killer and used authoritative-sounding medical news-casts to prove it. As I remember the piece, it convinced me that the cigarette was responsible for all human ills except television and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Treating cancer, high blood pressure, ulcers and heart ailments with brisk decisiveness, it frightened the living daylight out of me. It must have been two hours before I tremblingly lit another cigarette and for a couple of days afterwards I recognized symptoms of the five things in a casual cough or sneeze.
Most of all I was impressed by information concerning a disease I'd never heard of before, but involving hands and feet and entirely caused by smoking cigarettes. The author treated this disease with grim humor relating a story about a sufferer given a one.

choice between abandoning cigarettes and losing all extremities. And guess which the victim chose? Then along comes another magazine, non-digest, this time with a brisk, assured article showing pretty conclusively that nobody really knows whether cigarettes are good for you, bad for you or neither. How come it asks pointedly, that if cigarettes are killing off people, the average citizen is living much longer? How come insurance companies don't bother to inquire of prospects whether they smoke or not? Then it tells about some doctors who cleared up ulcers with cabbage juice while letting the patients smoke. It disparages some statistical research, even made by medical men, and notes that the hands and feet disease is a very rare one indeed.
The big question in my mind beyond whether to smoke or not to smoke, it seems to me that if the experts are as widely confused on a subject as tangible as smoking, how are we ever going to get a solution to some of the intangibles, like how to achieve peace.

Meanwhile, I'm glad I have a doctor who smokes and who thinks a little smoking never hurt any one.

Deland Red Hats Rim Sanford For 13th Straight Win

Singleton Has Roof Topped In After Holding Hatters For Seven Frames

Deland, May 31 (AP)—The rampaging Red Hats of Deland rallied here last night to mark up their thirteenth straight victory, defeating the Sanford Giants 6-4.

Hold hitless by Sanford hurler Jim Singleton until two were out in the seventh, the Hats tied up a two-run Sanford lead and then opened up in the eighth with a six-hit barrage that won the ball game.

Doubles by Dan Bruening and Ray Dunne of the Hats sparked the offense the Giants couldn't match in their final turn at bat though two additional Sanford runs came across.

Washington Club Sports Youngest Infield In Loop

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Clark Griffith wants to keep his Washington Senators in or near the American League's first division and he thinks "a young infield combination" will do the trick.

"Bucky Harris wanted C and I went out and got him," was Griffith's explanation of the six-player trade with the Chicago White Sox announced last night.

"It's the first good infield we've had since my 1923-24 team and you can't go any place without a good double-play combination," Griffith added.

The deal sent first baseman Eddie Robinson, pitcher Ray Scarborough, second baseman Al Kuzava to the Chicago White Sox for pitcher Bob Kuzava and outfielder Johnny Ostrowski.

The 80-year-old Washington President gave full credit for the swap to his manager "Bucky Harris" who came up with the idea in the first place," he said. "He wanted Kuzava and we made the best deal we could."

In St. Louis, Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox, called it a "$400,000 deal — $300,000 on each side based on current player values."

He said the trade was made with the full approval of Johnny (Doc) Corbin, the new Sox manager, and the American League umpire in charge of the deal, Griffith said, "It's beyond doubt the best infield we've had since."

The infield will line up tomorrow with Irv Noren at first base, Michaelis at second, Sam Dente at shortstop and Eddie Yost at third.

Noren, whom the Senators bought from Brooklyn's Holywood farm club in the Pacific Coast League last winter for $70,000, had been the regular centerfielder until he entered the hospital earlier this month for an appendicitis operation. But he was a first baseman before he became an outfielder and should have no trouble.

Seminole High School Youth Interviews New Giant Hurlers

This week we find the Giants well established in fourth place with a three game lead over Palatka and only five games out of third place. They have had a little trouble holding the fourth position, but it looks as if they are there to stay this time. And by the looks of things if they continue playing like they are now they will soon be in third place.

Anyone who is following the Giants will agree to the fact that before the season is over they will be one of the best in the league. We find that they are still batting very good, but their fielding is falling down a little. The pitchers also look much better now and along with two new pitchers they too will be one of the best pitching staffs in the league.

It is hard to believe that any fan would not agree that our two new pitchers are among the best. In his first appearance, Clyde Stevens pitched the Giants to a five to two victory over the Gainesville G-men. In his recent appearance he lost to Daytona in a hot pitchers' duel. In these two games he has struck out 27 batters, walked 15, and allowed but seven hits.

Our other new pitcher, Bob Rivers, lost to Gainesville in his first game but made up for it by beating Palatka on his second appearance. With the knowing that they have made so far we can be certain that we will see some good ball from these two. When we look at his interest in the game, his baseball and his education to be a coach or a history teacher, I don't see how he can keep from making a go of one of those. So we wish him the best of luck for the rest of the season.

Now let us look at a few things about Bob Rivers. He is 19 years of age and came from Puerto Rico. He is a small, dark haired fellow with a good personality. When he has a chance he likes to swim. He says Sanford is a little too quiet for him, but other than that he thinks we have a fine town. And he thinks that he will get used to the quietness. In his opinion Sanford has "pretty good fans" as he puts it.

He thinks that the rest of the fellows on the club are swell and likes our manager very much. When he isn't playing ball, he works for the government. We hope that he does get used to Sanford and that he will have a good year with the Giants.

Terwilliger Gets Off To Fast Start With Chicago Cubs

AP Newsfeatures
They're starting to call him the Old Pro.

Meaning none other than Wayne Terwilliger, 28-year-old rookie, who had exactly 100 professional games under his belt when opening day arrived this spring.

For a green pea, with hardly any experience, Terwilliger has amazed the baseball world with his drive and fight that indicates The Twig will be around for many years, playing second base for the Chicago Cubs.

A few days before the opener this year, Terwilliger spiked himself making a sensational play, coming in fast toward the mound on a tribble. His knee was cut and five stitches were necessary. So when Manager Frank Frisch was getting around to making up his lineup for the opener, and figured Terwilliger would need a little rest, The Twig heard about it, and, waiting old Frisch's call, he said: "If you think I'm gonna sit on the bench when the season opens, you're wrong! If you'll have me, I'll play."

Terwilliger did was play a flawless game in the field and collect a couple of hits. He's a huller ball player, his shrill, high voice penetrating above all the noise and clamor of big league ball games. He played only 36 games with the Cubs at the fall end of the 1949 season, but he's already mastering the technique of playing for the hitter.

There was some question about his ability to hit big league pitching this spring. So he went to Frisch and asked for advice. Frisch had The Twig move up a few inches in the batter's box, and the kid became a hitter overnight, winning old Frisch's league campaign with a .309 average.

"I don't see how Terwilliger can miss," says Frisch, who was a great second baseman in his day, and is now honored in baseball's Hall of Fame. "He's a fighter all the way. He doesn't quit hustling, and he has the knack of making the right play at the right time. I can't see a better second baseman on the double play pivot in the league."

13,785 New Seats Kennel Club Will To Cut Pressure In Gator Stadium Saturday Evening

GAINESVILLE, May 31 — The addition of 13,785 seats to the University of Florida football stadium hasn't trickled ticket numbers. Percy Beard told believing his headaches are over — though he does expect a reduction in his aspirin bill.

In explaining to prospective buyers that the stadium addition increases the number of West Side seats from 8,810 to 20,980, Beard sees some relief but the same old problem.

"The new seats will considerably relieve the pressure on the ticket office," he admits in his ticket information folder, "although we still haven't figured out a way to put all 20,980 on the 50-yard line."

The folder explains the exact manner in which the University of Florida will offer football season tickets for the first time. There are to be two season ticket books: (1) for the Citadel, Dupage, Auburn, Furman and Miami games in Gainesville and (2) another for the Georgia and Alabama games in Jacksonville.

Season tickets are to be sold on two priorities: (1) the month of June; Contributors to the scholarship fund; (2) the month of July; former Florida football lettermen, paid up alumni, other alumni, and first shot at individual game tickets during the month of August, and individual game sale to all others will begin September first.

The complete ticket information and ticket application blanks are being mailed out this week and ticket orders will be accepted by the Athletic Association beginning June first.

Completion of the seats now being added at Florida Field will give the stadium 55,558 permanent seats and a capacity of 89,453.

NO HIT - ONE RUN
LEBANON, Pa., May 31 (AP)—The North Atlantic League was host to a baseball rarity on Memorial Day — a game won by a team which did not get a hit.

The Jays' winner was league leading Lebanon, the victim was Stroudsburg, Pa., and pitcher Gene Stem, who had a no-hit game only to lose 1-0.

The lone run got in in the fourth inning on two errors and an infield out. Stroudsburg got only one hit off Lebanon's Jerry Meris.

NO HIT GAME
THOMASVILLE, N. C., May 31 (AP)—Veteran Al Jarrett pitched a no-hit, no-run game last night as the High Point-Thomasville team defeated Lexington 1-0, in the opening contest of a Class D North Carolina State League doubleheader.

Memorial Day In Major Loops Sees 5 Records Broken

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Memorial Day, 1950, will long be remembered by 83 million drunk pitchers who were named for 40 home runs and 400 runs scored on the biggest single day of batting in baseball history.

An approximate paid attendance of 28,329 who sat in on the doubleheader messages at the eight big league ball parks saw the following records smashed:

1. Most home runs in both leagues on the same day—40.
2. Most runs scored in both leagues on the same day—191.
3. Most hits made in both leagues on the same day—339.
4. Most pitchers used in both leagues on the same day—83.
5. Most home runs hit in the National League in one day—24.

When the smoke cleared away, it was found that the New York Yankees had whipped the Boston Red Sox twice, 11-7 and 6-3, to increase their American League lead to three games over the Detroit Tigers. Detroit divided a pair with Cleveland, winning the second game 6-2, after the Indians had won the first, 4-0.

Brooklyn routed Philadelphia at the top in the National League, thrashing the Phils twice, 7-5 in ten innings and 6-4. The St. Louis Cardinals also swept past the Phils, moving into second place a game behind Brooklyn by trouncing Pittsburgh twice, 17-13 and 8-5.

Sanford Bows 8 To 7; Packers Here Tonight

Rivera And Tedesco Give Up Ten Hits; Manager Ed Levy Clubs Number 16

LEESBURG, June 1. (AP)—The Leesburg Packers took a wild-arming affair from the Sanford Giants here tonight, 8 to 7, in a ten-inning game.

The Giants held a two run advantage in the sixth and Leesburg tied it up making a five-all game. Manager Ed Levy of the Giants made a 5-5 tie in the sixth with his nineteenth home run of the season which places him within two homers of tying the league record.

14 FOR HATS

DELAND, June 1. (AP)—The fourteenth straight victory by the Deland Red Hats was recorded here tonight as Orlando took a 13-8 drubbing, enabling the Hats to move closer to equalling or surpassing the 16-game mark set by Daytona Beach earlier this season.

The Hats will get a chance to surpass this record in a twin bill at Orlando tomorrow. Although out of the Hats utilized their eight safeties, four Senators and a wild pitch to grab an early lead and hold it without a serious threat from the three double plays, slipping Senator offensives in the bud.

GAINESVILLE, June 1. (AP)—The Gainesville G-Men bunched four of their seven hits off two Augustus hurlers in the fifth inning here tonight to take a 6-3 lead.

Chattanooga Team Fliers And Pilots Await Arrival Of 50 Grand Pitcher Wild Three Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chattanooga is awaiting the arrival today of one-time bonus boy Frank Quinn, a right-hander once worth $80,000—a price the entire team of Lookouts probably wouldn't bring with their present standing.

The Lookouts are hoping Quinn might ease them from the seventh place they find themselves in. They were picked for last and might have made it by now but for Little Rock shown talent in that department.

Quinn, a Yale alumnus, might also add some grammatical polish to Bobo Newcom, who is scheduled to pitch tonight against Mobile.

Quinn got his bonus price from the Boston Red Sox when he graduated from Yale in 1928. The 23-year-old hurler was sent to Birmingham where he completed a 5-2 record.

The Pensacola Fliers put on a 19 hit attack featured by the heavy hitting of Charley Weathers and Ray Williams to win a decision from the Gadsden Pilots, Dick Dankel did not last out the first frame and his successor, the former eight-man star of Montgomery, Stan Coulling was treated equally as rough.

Weather's bashed out a pair of triples and two home runs to account for four runs. Williams had a perfect night at the plate with four blows and Mack McWhorter along with Jim Rivera also hit for the circuit.

Chapman made his 42nd consecutive game to get a hit when he singled sharply to left field in the first inning. He went on to get two more singles and a double for four blows.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
When Pensacola and Gadsden play here they do it with plenty of energy.

The Fliers and the Pilots have pushed across 55 runs in three high scoring contests that ended last night with Pensacola coming out on top 13-7.

Part of that three games scoring spree can be chalked up to Gadsden's Herb Chapman who is now on a hitting spree that sets a new record every game he gets a hit.

Chapman made it 42 games in a row last night as he collected four hits in four trips to the plate. Elsewhere in the Southeastern League last night, Selma downed Vicksburg 11-9, Montgomery beat Jackson 5-4, and Meridian defeated Anniston 6-2.

The scene shifts tonight with Selma at Jackson, Montgomery at Vicksburg, Anniston at Pensacola and Gadsden at Meridian.

The Pensacola Fliers put on a 19 hit attack featured by the heavy hitting of Charley Weathers and Ray Williams to win a decision from the Gadsden Pilots, Dick Dankel did not last out the first frame and his successor, the former eight-man star of Montgomery, Stan Coulling was treated equally as rough.

Johnny Parsons, 31-year Van Nuys, Cal., speedster, whose heavy foot broke records of long standing, receives the winner's prize from lovely film actress Barbara Stanwyck after winning the 34th triennial of the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis. On the hood of his racer is the little winner's cup, and behind him the giant trophy he will hold for a year, both presented by Wilbur Shaw, shown at the extreme left. Parsons' average speed for the 345 miles of the grind which was stopped because of rain, was 124,002 miles per hour. Tony Bettenhausen of Tinian Park, Ill., was second, and defending champ Bill Holland, third. (International Soundphoto.)

Speedway Drivers To Divide Potful Of Winning Money

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. (AP)—Race car owners and drivers divided up a record $201,085 in prizes today from the fastest and the shortest race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

The prize distribution from T. E. (Pop) Myers, speedway vice president, got no more than "grade" acceptance from one car owner—Ernie Wolcott, Tulsa, Okla.—the $8,788.63 which Jole C. Howard and his relief driver, Tony Bettenhausen, collected for fifth place was about $15,810 less than Wolfe thought it should be.

Unofficial results announced at the end of the race Tuesday gave the Wolfe special second place. A check of the tape and charts pushed the car down to fifth, and Bill Holland, Miami, claimed it $21,898.63 second prize.

A last-minute boost in manufacturers' accessories prizes, to a total of $26,125, boosted the speedway purse over the $200,000 mark for the first time.

United States To Have Two Squads In French Tourney

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—The United States will have two teams in both the men's and women's doubles semi-finals of the French International tennis tournament tomorrow.

Victorian Billy Talbert of New York and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati advanced yesterday along with Hodge Patty of Los Angeles and Victor Seixas of Philadelphia. In Women's competition, Amelia's hopes will be carried by Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., on the one hand and Doria Hart of Jacksonville, and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., on the other.

Talbert and Trabert reached the semi by defeating I. Bergelin and S. Davidson of Sweden, 6-4, 6-1, 8-6. Patty and Seixas disposed of J. Thomas and Jean Ducos De La Halle of France, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

The Talbert-Trabert duo will tackle Australia's John Bromwich and Adrian Quist tomorrow. The down-under pair yesterday ousted the Philippine team of Feliciano Ampon and O. Carmona, 6-2, 6-2, 6-7, 6-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Patty and Seixas will play Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt and Eric Sturgeus of South Africa. The latter combination beat the U. S. team of Frank Kovaleski and Art Larsen, 7-9, 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

The Mises Hart and Fry will clash with a team consisting of one American—Pat Todd—and Mme. Adamson of France. Brough and Mrs. DuPont will meet the French pair of Mmes. A. Hall and Anne-Marie Seghers.

Barbecued chicken is usually a good main-course choice for a company dinner. Serve baked potatoes, green peas, a salad, and hot buttered crusty rolls with it. A light dessert such as strawberry or pineapple Bavarian Cream would be welcome.

Alternating current, the kind available in most households, gets its name from the fact it is alternately positive and negative.

The 1935 Open champion will be a real golfer—not a trick shot artist.

Add whole kernel corn (drained) to pancake batter, bake on griddle as usual and serve with maple or maple-flavored syrup and lots of hot coffee.

Marietta Regatta Crews Will Row In West Virginia

MARIETTA, O. (AP)—This year's transfer to Marietta of the famed Poughkeepsie Regatta actually gives proud West Virginia—NOT Ohio—the nation's biggest collegiate rowing event.

The June 17 competition will find the nation's top rowmen dipping flashing blades into a piece of property the Mountaineer state inherited after years of legal scrapping.

West Virginia's "ownership" of the Ohio lake the way to the low water mark on the Buckeye state's side is accepted today under agreed principles of law.

Some of the courtroom skirmishing over the question late in the 18th and early in the 19th centuries must have been as heated as will be the next month's battling over the Ohio's three-mile course.

The river first became significant as a dividing line in 1781 when Virginia, of which West Virginia then was a part, ceded to the United States government all territory previously claimed northwest of the Ohio.

The Old Dominion took that step largely because of the increasing jealousy of other colonial states over Virginia's large land holdings.

At the time the western bank of the Ohio, at low water, was established as Virginia's most remote boundary line, the line has remained since, prolonged legal wrangling to the contrary.

Accordingly, West Virginia now maintains police jurisdiction over the river to the point of issuing fishing licenses—to what amounts to a distance of some six feet off the Ohio bank.

Virginia, as the first to include the river within its boundary, was setting under established principles of international law—those holding that when a nation occupies a country terminated by a river, it also appropriates said river.

Clubhouse

By FRANK BECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Sam Jethro had two strikes on him the first day he put on a monkey suit for the Boston Braves.

He had been in organized baseball only one season and was a Branch Rickey castoff, expensive as he may have been. The slim Negro from East St. Louis cast the Braves since $800 despite all those astronomic figures that have been kicked around.

When he failed to hit in the early Florida exhibition games and looked like a shadow boxer chasing fly balls in center field, the scribes began asking:

"Is Jethro another of Rickey's lemons?"

The strength of 89 stolen bases for Brooklyn's Montreal farm team he received nationwide publicity during the winter. His .326 batting average was second best in the International League. He was supposed to be a weak hitting right hander. He couldn't throw too well, he could not bunt and his fielding was questionable.

Despite all this and the fact that lately he has been seen hitting bad pitches for base hits, Jethro has made the grade as Boston's center fielder.

In the first 26 National League games he had a .324 batting average, five homers, three triples and six doubles. And during that time Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies was the only southpaw to stop him as a right handed batter. He also had four stolen bases.

That Jethro is the fastest man in baseball might be disputed in some quarters but certainly not among the Braves or Dodgers. In the spring of 1940 when Jethro trained at Vero Beach, Fla., he was the fastest man in camp—and that 44 in some 300 Dodger barnyards.

He's not only the fastest man in baseball, says Arthur Mann, formerly Rickey's assistant. "One of the world's fastest humans." Two watches Vero Beach caught him in 6.1 seconds for the 60-yard dash. And wearing a baseball snow cap, across the Ohio River, across Ohio.

Critical Gimp Shortage Brings U. S. To Brink Of Button Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Every day we wake up to a new crisis. And don't think we haven't got a grim one for today.

It's this:

America is getting short of gimps. There are plenty of old gimps, but there aren't enough strong young gimps coming along.

A gimp is a person who earns his living sewing buttonholes.

There are only about 3,500 buttonhole makers left in this country—and most of them are old.

John Maximilian Bappert, the Rembrandt in this field.

"The young people seem not interested too much in buttonholes. They seem interested in other things."

This is heresy to Bappert who recently was picked by a trades school here as the nation's outstanding buttonhole maker. His family sewed buttonholes for three generations before him in Hungary.

Bappert, a quiet, stocky man of 42, came here at the age of 13. He figures that in the last 29 years he has made 13,920,000 loops with his needle in sewing about 348,000 buttonholes. He averages 12,000 buttonholes a year.

"I do not find it dull," he said. "People think there is nothing to it. They say, 'what is a buttonhole? A buttonhole is nothing.' But it takes years of work to learn to make a buttonhole right."

Bappert supervises 18 gimps in the buttonhole department of Stuart's hand-tailoring firm. It takes him five minutes to make a double buttonhole.

He works without glasses. "My eyes are good," he said. "I can read anything—even the small print on a check."

His buttonhole eye strictly for a living. In 29 years he hasn't even seen a pair of trousers in his workshop.

Ninety per cent of the trousers have elastic fasteners or machine-made buttonholes," he said.

of information for the committee. It provided tips which are certain to lead the investigators into other cities throughout the country.

The evidence was said to be facts, figures, names and information which could be placed before a grand jury with supporting testimony.

The President was expected to give his blessings to the inquiry and pledge the full cooperation of the Justice Department and other government agencies.

The Senate's special committee of five, headed by Senator Kefauver, opened its investigation last Saturday with secret hearings in Miami. The inquiry is expected to shift soon to other cities under the same cloak of secrecy.

Senator Tobey (R-N.H.), a committee member, said the group may ask President Truman for authority to look at the income tax returns of suspected gangsters and racketeers.

"I expect Mr. Truman to give us his cooperation and support," Tobey told reporters.

Other committee members are Senators Hunt (D-N.Y.), Wiley (R-W.V.) and O'Connor (D-Mt.).

One committee member said "rather suspect" that the crime allusion in Kansas City, Mo., would be discussed during the White House visit.

Democratic leader Charles McNamara and his strong-arm lieutenant, Charles Gargotta, were shot down in Kansas City Apr. 6. A federal grand jury report linked their murder with a gambling rambou sold to be operating in the Missouri City.

The Senate committee's main objective is to uncover the underworld's sources of wealth—and to disclose any ties between criminal and political groups.

would pay for equipment and training to help the human arms of independence against strong Soviet pressures and to help the Philippines and South Korean governments to maintain internal order in the face of Communist threats.

General arm of China—$75,000,000. The President said this money is needed to continue and expand upon present programs for giving help to the non-Communist forces in this area that are now engaged in active conflict with militant Communist elements.

The president did not specify the exact number of countries which would share in the American Arms Aid Program.

Among those who under direction of Miss Olin Reese Whittle entertained the Jaycees were Buddy Bass and Bobbie Marie, pianists; David Hester, Shirley Middleton and boys of the double quartet; H. T. Gordy, civics teacher, sang for the group.

RED SLOW DOWN

BEHLEN, June 1 (AP) — Soviet frontier guards slowed down Western truck traffic on the Berlin highway today.

While it appeared here that the slowdown might have been in reprisal for detention of four East German barges in western Berlin canals, truck drivers at the Helmsdorf checkpoint said Russian zone guards told them the new restrictions were countermeasures

World Could Do With Horse Sense Of Lady Wender

By PAUL DUKE

RICHMOND, Va. — This world could do with more horse sense—the kind Lady Wender has.

She's a horse I met the other day. Quite a girl, too. The Lady is not only an authority on the earth's problems, but on most any other subject as well. Does not mind sharing her knowledge, either.

Oh, she looks like any other horse—black-coated, speckled in gray around the mane, with four white feet. A trifle on the weighty side, too.

But after two hours in her presence I am prepared to admit that Lady is somewhat different from most of her kin—at least the ones I have met.

Animal World Scholar

For one thing, she has more than the usual amount of horse sense. She's a real brain, if you ask me, a sort of the Beta Kappa of the animal world.

Oh no, she doesn't talk. The Lady uses the hunt and peck system. In her stall, there's a rather nicely contrived board with letters and numbers fitted down into its sides.

When Lady voices an opinion she simply lowers her chin, touches a letter extending out from each side, and the letter of figure shoots up—just like a typewriter.

Lady's owner, Mrs. C. D. Fonda introduced me as "Mr. Duke." But Lady quickly dispensed with formality and checked out a chummy "Paul" even though she had no fore-knowledge of my first name.

Knows All the Answers

With that send-off, Lady and I chatted like a couple of old boys. I asked her the answering.

From Mrs. Fonda, who has raised Lady since she was a three-year-old colt, I learned that the horse is something of a wizard at solving riddles in Frank-lin D. Roosevelt's second term the forecast that he would be elected president not only for a third but also a fourth term.

In December 1947, she predicted America's entry into the war a year later.

Don't get the notion Lady is perfect. She's flubbed a few times, too. Such as two years ago when she fell in line with all the other pollsters and prophesied a Dewey victory.

I asked Lady how much I made weekly. "Bingo!" Like that, she dashed back the correct figure.

Thinking the digits might be a little low on that one, I scribbled down two other numbers on a pad. Mrs. Fonda, a graying little lady who refers to her pet as an "educated horse," grinned and said something about folks always trying to "catch" Lady. Not

Hainan Island Is One Of Wealthiest Regions In Asia

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, Indochina—In Hainan Island the Chinese Communists have acquired one of the potentially richest regions in East Asia but one which for the present will only add to their severe economic problems. The Japanese made a comprehensive survey of the big south China island while they were occupying it during the war. They found that its mineral wealth may rival that of Manchuria and Sinkiang. China's far western provinces Hainan has high-grade deposits of iron, tin, copper, manganese, lead, silver, coal, granite, antimony, and tungsten. These have hardly been touched. Hainan also can produce rubber, pineapple, sugar cane, quinine, coffee and coconuts.

With industrial development, Hainan could become one of the few Asiatic regions capable of supporting a larger population. Leaders on Hainan say the 2,500,000 population could be tripled without straining the island's resources. But now Hainan has to buy about two-thirds of its food elsewhere. And the Communist mainland has famine instead of surplus.

Besides the immediate problem of feeding the population the Chinese Communists inherit an enormous job of rehabilitation. After the war the Chinese Nationalist officials almost wrecked the industrial foundation of Hainan built by the Japanese. Their remarkable record of efficiency, corruption and show valuations ended only a year ago when Gov. Chen Chi-tang took over.

On a visit to Hainan in January, I found only about 12 factories still operating of 170 left intact by the Japanese. Port installations at Hailow, the capital, and the excellent harbor and naval base of Yulin were neglected. The Japanese had built a new railway. The Nationalists had sold the rails for scrap.

Governor Chen had only been to repair the damage done by his predecessors when the Communist invasion began. He had retained some of the iron mines. There is little prospect the Communists can begin to exploit Hainan's resources soon. Most of their limited capital probably is earmarked for south China and Manchuria. The communists also may hesitate to risk capital on the island because it would be too exposed should a general war come to the Orient.

Defense Council Is Reactivated By Fuller Warren

TALLAHASSEE, June 1 — (AP) — Col. R. G. Howie, Commanding District since 1940, today named director of the newly reactivated state defense council by Governor Warren.

He will take over his duties on July 1. Col. Howie, 59 years old, is retiring from the regular army after 33 years active duty that included participation in General Pershing's Mexican Border campaign against Pancho Villa.

The new defense council is composed of the Governor, as chairman, the chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission, chairman of the State Road Department, director of the Department of Public Safety, the State Health Officer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Commissioner of Agriculture.

Governor Warren said establishment of the organization "has no significance as far as immediate danger is concerned." The council's job "will be to prepare and maintain plans for civil defense, when and if needed, and to suggest plans for overall national security."

The federal government plan provides for each state to be responsible for civil defense within its own borders. Florida is one of 38 states now setting up specific programs for civil preparedness.

During the war, Florida had a road defense council program headed by Maj. Gen. Albert Blanding. It was disbanded shortly after the war ended.

TIME FOR HISTORY
LONDON — (AP) — The Staffordshire County History Committee has decided it is time to go ahead and finish the county history.

The committee advertised in the London Times for an editor to plan completion of the history and "take the necessary steps to carry this out."

"One volume of the Staffordshire county history," said the ad, "was published in 1908."

50-STATE FLAG IS READY
ONTARIO, Calif. — (AP) — If the Union is increased from 48 to 50 states by the addition of Hawaii and Alaska, this city will not be caught napping.

Miss Laura Stroud's 44 sixth grade pupils have seen to that. The youngsters have proudly presented Mayor Roy D. Bales with a handsome five by eight foot American flag to be flown on the day the union numbers 50 states.

Johnny Wyrostek of the Cincinnati Reds led the American Association in hitting with a mark of .358 in 1944.

NEW YORK—Sweet are the uses of psychiatry. In the proper hands, and the proper hands today are those belonging to members of the National Cartoonists Society. These whimsical souls, some 280 strong at the moment and presided over by Alex Raymond, the Rip Kirby creator to whom I always refer as genial Alex Raymond, perhaps because he is genial, have launched one of the most praiseworthy charity drives on the books today and psychiatry is all involved with the whole thing.

It appears that the cartoonists, working closely with the Institute of Psychotherapy here in the east Seventies, are going to set up a chain of free clinics for the psychiatric treatment of disturbed children. To this end, they have set up a separate group of their own called Somebody Cares, headed by debonair Russell Patterson, and they got the ball rolling the other night by staging the world premiere of a movie called Johnny Holiday at a local movie house and earmarking the profits of the premiere for the work of Somebody Cares.

Because our professions are tied in so closely—that means that we both appear in the newspapers—I have come to know, admire, drink with, golf with and borrow money from many of the cartoonists. And once in a while, I wonder if perhaps they might not set up a second charity for the psychiatric treatment of disturbed cartoonists. For these are not mortal men. These are elves. These are ghosts who appear in the night to steal policemen's nightsticks or play practical jokes on bank presidents. A cartoonist is a strange and wonderful thing.

ONE OF MY FAVORITES, for instance, is Roy Crane, another genial man (in fact, most cartoonists are genial), who draws Bus Sawyer. Roy lives in Orlando, Fla., now and his strip has become so popular that work keeps him glued to his drawing board. But once he lived a much more whimsical life. Once he decided he wanted to see the inside of the famous Okefenokee swamp in Georgia, so he wandered off into it and lived with alligators and bears—not literally, you understand—for neighbors for a few weeks. Came back with a beard that scared the wits out of his children. Another time he became a seaman on a freighter to Europe and still another time he joined the circus as a clown. Another summer he beat his way around the country in a hot air balloon. An unwhipped man, Crane.

The late H. H. Knerr, who drew the Kaltenhammer Kids, used to go up in balloons as a business, and Norman Marsh, the artist of Donny Hale, has already made three separate attempts to fly non-stop from California to New York in a light plane and break the record for that peculiar form of sport. Marsh also was a detective, a sailor of a 68-foot sloop, a prizefighter manager and a United States Marine in two wars. What I am trying to get across is that there is nothing dull about these guys and that their lives are considerably more interesting than those of, say, movie stars. Like the time George Bringing Up Father McManis, the dean of them all, bet $100 on the nose of a horse named Hamberg Belle in St. Louis and she came in at 30 to 1—enabling him to pack his toothbrush and head for New York and fame.

IT IS THE PLEASURE of Otto Seglow, the Little King man, to dress up in costume and get out on stage to ham it up whenever possible, while Mel Terry, who draws Terna, is a Camp Fire guard. Blue Bird Taylor, Boysen Club adviser, American Youth Hosteler and a good coach, I suppose, these come under the head of whimsy, too. The most irresponsible of all the cartoonists might be Bob Dunn, who draws Just the Type. He is an amateur magician and a master of ceremonies on the side, on whom the psychiatrists could work indefinitely because he once wanted to pitch for the New York Giants and now he's languid mass of frustration.

Most of the guys are hard workers, but they are also the first to admit that there could be tougher jobs. "Gosh," Don Flowers—who draws Glamour Girls—told me once, "I couldn't earn a living any other way. I don't know how to work hard." On the other hand, a good "barrel of the boys, like Mill Caniff, sweat hard over their strips.

Leaders Trying To Solve Problems Of Small Businesses

WASHINGTON — Administration leaders have been trying for long time to solve the credit problems of small business. Now the President thinks he's got it. The two most novel features of his idea are:

1. Capital banks, privately owned lending agencies supervised by the Federal Reserve System. They would extend long-term credit to owners of small businesses unable to borrow money elsewhere.

2. Government insurance of bank loans to small business. The loans would be up to $25,000, repayable in five years. The capital banks would lend larger sums.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report, for about a year has been working on a capital bank bill. Congressional sources say that these two proposals, plus several others which the President included in his recent message to Congress on small business, will probably be included in an administration bill to be called the Small Business Act of 1950.

Both Republicans and Democrats long ago concluded that something must be done to ease the credit market for small businessmen. The point was stressed in the annual report of the House Committee on Small Business in the Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress. The solution proposed in that report, however, was tax relief for small corporations so that they could accumulate reserves to flow back into their businesses.

The same committee, now under Democratic control, in its 1950 progress report proposed a study of various new plans, including those the President subsequently adopted.

All factions have agreed that small business is now facing a new and critical credit problem. Modern mechanized industry has increased the money requirements of small businessmen trying to compete with large firms engaged in scientific mass production. It takes a lot of money to start small businesses. It is also costly to expand a plant and replace obsolete machinery. The small businessman finds no difficulty getting short-term loans, but they don't help. The sums needed are so large that they cannot be repaid in a few months.

Most conventional banks can't make long-term business loans, because they must have a large proportion of their funds liquid. A few large banks in some cities do make such loans on a substantial scale. But they serve only a minor proportion of the nation's small businesses.

Selling stocks or bonds to get capital—a method used by large corporations—is not feasible for small business. Borrowing equity capital from small investors isn't practicable, because most people would prefer to use their savings to buy homes, government bonds or insurance. Insurance companies and other large investors don't like to invest in small firms—unless they thereby gain control of them. They prefer the securities of large, well-established concerns.

Most small businesses do manage, nevertheless, to get capital, somehow, somewhere, when they need it. A sizeable minority don't succeed, however, and their businesses often wither or fail for lack of credit. Such small businesses have been beseeching Congress for help for years.

The capital bank idea is, briefly, an investment company which obtains capital by selling securities on the open market and then lends it to small business on a long-term basis. Not being a bank of deposit, it doesn't have a worry about keeping its funds liquid.

CITES MAN'S DEATH CYCLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — The oldest people now living apparently do not reach greater ages than the ancients, says Dr. Edward S. Dewey, Jr., Yale ecologist, in the "Scientific American."

Dewey thinks long life runs in families, but he believes the amount of living a man can pack into a life is about uniform. Those who live longer live more slowly. The maximum life span seems to be about 115 to 120 years, he says.

Of course your family will want hot cross buns a good many times before the Lenten season is over. Here's an easy way of making them from a "beaten batter." Once they're out of the oven mix confecturer's sugar with a little hot water, flavor with vanilla, and mark a cross on each bun.

Hot Cross Buns
Ingredients: 1 package yeast, 1/4 cup lukewarm water, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 cup shortening, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 1/4 cups sifted enriched flour, 2 eggs, 1 cup currants.

Method: Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and add sugar, salt, and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup of the flour, nutmeg and cinnamon. Beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs and again beat well. Add remaining flour to make a thick batter. Beat thoroughly until smooth. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 hour). When light, stir down. Add currants. Drop by spoonfuls into greased 8-inch muffin pans, filling one-half full. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in a moderate (375 degrees F.) oven about 20 minutes. Makes about 30 hot cross buns.

For Easter morning breakfast we suggest the butterscotch bun. You'll be interested in this unusual method of cutting the dough: Take clean white string—strong enough so it won't break—and place it under the rectangular roll of dough one inch from the end. Then tie it in a knot and pull to cut the dough in a slice. Repeat until the dough is used up.

Butterscotch Buns
Ingredients: 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 3/4 cup milk (about), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup brown sugar (firmly packed), 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon water, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/2 cup broken walnut or pecan meats.

Method: Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; add milk and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth and knead 30 seconds.

or enough to shape. Roll into 12-10-inch rectangle. 1/4-inch thick. Cream together 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 1/2 cup brown sugar and spread on dough. Roll as for jelly roll and cut in 1-inch slices. Melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in 8x8x2-inch pan; add water and 2 tablespoons brown sugar. Cook over low heat until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and sprinkle nuts over. Place rolls in pan, cut side down. Bake in hot (400 degrees F.) oven 40 minutes, or until done. Remove at once from pan. Makes 10 to 12 rolls.

In this era of modern science, the average newspaper reporter no longer is a "leg man." He uses the telephone.

Bumper Crops Of Mexican Workers Pay "Hookers" To Hit Job Trail Get Into America

NEW YORK, June 1. — (AP) — Fewer layoffs, higher job totals, longer work weeks and therefore greater take-home pay are reported. This is pleasant news today for the half million college graduates hitting the job hunting trail. Most observers warn them that the trail will be rougher and longer than any time since the end of the war. But the pickup in business generally makes the prospect brighter than it was at mid-term. Four out of every five college graduates this year will be employed by Oct. 1, the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis predicts today. It bases this on estimates of placement officials in a survey of 128 colleges and universities. The senior crop is at a record high, and pre-graduation hiring has been slower this year in most schools. Large companies have been taking fewer new employees per firm, placement officials say. But many schools report a sharp increase this spring in the number of smaller companies seeking college graduates. Success in placing this year's crop of technological graduates is reported in Atlanta by the Associated Industries of Georgia. The association works closely with Georgia's educational institutions in finding jobs for graduates. A two-year terminal course in six technical fields of industry is run at the Southern Technical Institute at Chamblee, Ga., a branch of Georgia Tech. The graduates are mid-way between the four-year engineer and the vocational trainee. In two years, the association reports, this school has turned out 150 graduates and "has had three jobs waiting for every man it turns out." However, most colleges have been warning their graduates this spring that they will have to hunt harder and longer for jobs than did last year's class. But the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. contends that, even so, this will be a better year for the job-seeking college graduate than was considered normal before the war. Its survey also shows that four out of every five schools report that starting salaries of their graduates this year will be as high as in 1949, and those reporting a drop say it is very slight. Special counseling sessions have been held this year by many schools to prepare their seniors for today's employment conditions. Most report their seniors being pretty realistic about it. "Graduates realize that jobs are a little scarcer," says the college of business administration of the University of Texas. "But they

MEXICO CITY, June 1. — (AP) — It's a dark night on the Rio Grande. A man comes out of the brush on the Mexican shore. He peers furtively through the darkness up and down the river. Satisfied, he creeps down the bank. A dozen men, their left wrists tied to a long cord, follow him in line. He wades into the water, sounding with a long stick. One of the men splashes and the leader shushes him. They wade quietly to the far bank. The leader stays behind as the other men cut themselves loose and climb up the bank, disappearing into the brush on the U. S. side. Another consignment of smuggled Mexican farm workers has arrived in the U. S. The leader is an "enganchador" (a hooker), so called because he pulls men out of the water. For two or three days he has been quietly talking to Mexicans camped along the shore. They want to go to the U. S. to work. Even at 25 cents a day, they will make more in an hour than they could make in half a day at home. They do not think about the higher cost of food and cigarettes in the U. S. The hooker finally completes the number he is willing to smuggle across the river. They pay in advance — how much depends on how much they have. The average is probably around 10 or 15 pesos — $1.10 or $1.65 — a man. Then they start their crossing. There is small penalty for failure. If the U. S. authorities catch them, the illegal migrants are merely sent back to Mexico. If Mexicans catch them, there is a fine of up to 10,000 pesos ($1,100) and two to five years in jail. But Pedro Garcia, chief of the Revenue Border Patrol, says he has only two men to patrol a hundred miles. There are other types of "man smugglers." Sometimes boatmen will take the Mexicans across in small skiffs or on rafts. These are called "spiters" — "chicken men." On the western frontier, up against California and Arizona, the smugglers are men who know the habits of the border patrol and have a good chance of getting their work across the fence. Or they may be merely guides, who take the would-be immigrants to a point where there is no fence. The migrant is called a "wet-back" along the river or a "wire jumper" in the west. It is a danger from the time he leaves Mexico. He may step into a hole in the ford, or the current may wash him downstream. If he crosses in a boat, it may overturn. So many bodies of aliens have been taken from the river that a U. S. sheriff in the lower valley complained that the free cemetery in his town was full of unidentified Mexicans. Mexicans say that even if the migrants get across the river safely, and find a job with a

Advancement In Science Seen By M. I. T. President

BOSTON, June 1. — (AP) — President James R. Killian, Jr., of Massachusetts Institute of Technology forecasts great advancements in science in the next half century if the world is at peace. But Harvard anthropologist Ernest A. Hooton differs with the noted scientist and sees little ahead. Killian and Hooton participated in a 10th anniversary luncheon of "America's Town Meeting of the Air" last night. Killian looked for a new stream of ideas, products and processes to improve health and living standards of science's field of restrictions and conscious of the old war. He said he expected "flicker-free color television, probably three-dimensional, and travels at speeds up to 1,000 miles an hour or more, synthetic foods and better ways of preserving foods." He also forecast increased use of solar energy, heat pumps and possible use of the earth's heat as a new major source of energy. Looking ahead to the future he forecast "partial conversion of sea water into fresh water." At the moment the M. I. T. president said, American science is handicapped by the restrictions and suspicion of the old war. "It is handicapped by too much secrecy, by a large amount of security as a means of security," he added. Hooton, on the other hand, said of the next half century, "I don't know. Man has acquired control over some of the forces of nature but is more self-centered and more self-indulgent without which human progress is almost impossible." He detected the basic cause of wartime spirit from competitiveness and stupidity in over-production and waste. "If we could teach mankind to stop over-producing most of our domestic and international problems would disappear. We could get rid of war because there would be no more need and employment for weapons." Research he held as paying the penalty for spending our brains upon improving machine rather than improving man himself. Hooton said that responsible science already has "abundant" quantities of atomic energy and that it is not to deal with the smugglers. Those who have "withheld" working for them are not allowed to employ legal immigrants. But there is a demand for labor on the U. S. side of the river. And a supply on the Mexican side. The outlaw of supply and demand is still working.

Woman Might Some Day Describe Her Attacker To Police

NEW YORK, June 1. — (AP) — Out of the damaged brain of a woman who was savagely beaten six years ago may someday emerge the name or description of her attacker. The doctors who have worked with Mrs. Harriet Scoville Higginson, a socially prominent Connecticut divorcee, say her recovery has been almost incredible. On June 15, 1944, Mrs. Higginson, then 31, was attacked in her home at Cornwall, Conn., and almost killed with 20 blows on the head. Some of which crushed her skull. She was another expert neurologist said her attacker never has been found. She was partly paralyzed and the speech center of her brain was almost destroyed. But with what physicians and psychiatrists say was "indomitable will" she has learned to walk again, and to read, write and speak — although with limitations. Her first average psychiatrist, Dr. Herbert W. Lashley, is confident that she will succeed in recalling the details of her night of horror. "Over the past few months she has been having flashes of memory, some of them coming under light hypnosis," the doctor said, "telling us a definite pattern." The last thing she remembers "And some of these memories are of the night was returning home from a dinner with friends, paying the tabs, after looking after her two sons, four and six, and walking toward her own bedroom. Her children found her the next morning lying in a wetter of blood. Unable to stop passing motorist a phone for help, her seven hours unconscious toward her own bedroom. "I should, possibly identify the subject in my mind, it is free from mental charges because Connecticut five-year statute of limitations has run out. But he should still be amenable to a civil suit." AFTER LUNCH — FISH CHICAGO, June 1. — (AP) — Rudy "Cater" ate his lunch in Hunt Club Park and then decided to use the lagoon as a finger bowl. He dipped his hands in the water, saw something swimming close to him, grabbed it and pulled it out. It was a 31 pound carp. Ohio became a state in 1803. Illinois Territory was established in 1808.

Jerusalem loan refused. The newspaper "Hatzofeh" said Barclays Bank of London has refused to loan $1,000,000 to the City of Jerusalem "owing to the uncertain political situation in the city." The city had planned to use the money for new development schemes. The bank did, however, announce its readiness to lend $300,000 if the loan was guaranteed. Mexico is planning a determined campaign to halt their operations. Patrols may be increased on the Mexican side of the river. An educational campaign will warn the workers of the dangers they run. The U. S. by the migrant workers' agreement, is bound to do all it can to halt illegal immigration. There are U. S. laws against illegal entry and an active border patrol to enforce them. U. S. troops at the border areas are warned not to deal with the smugglers. Those who have "withheld" working for them are not allowed to employ legal immigrants. But there is a demand for labor on the U. S. side of the river. And a supply on the Mexican side. The outlaw of supply and demand is still working.

Business Success Rougher Project Now Than in 1945

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — If you want to get out from under the boss and start a business of your own...

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

WASHINGTON—It may be a lot longer than generally expected before the first hydrogen bomb is exploded.

Joseph Ferguson, now Ohio State Auditor Joseph Ferguson has been chosen by the Democrats to oppose Taft, the AFL, CIO and Railroad Brotherhoods are going to start to work.

One AFL chief views the situation this way: Ferguson has a well-knit organization in every Ohio county through his state auditor's position and is popular in rural areas.

Mr. Truman's trip—Republicans still smarting over President Truman's denunciation of the GOP-controlled 80th Congress as the "second worst" are lying in wait with heavy ammunition in case he praises the Democratic-run 81st Congress.

Atomic Allies—Whether the United States, Great Britain and Canada finally decide on the free interchange of vital atomic secrets will depend largely on the outcome of two errands of diplomacy this month.

These are the trip by United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie to the Kremlin in the interests of a new East-West understanding, and the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting in London.

Should the secrets trade hands, the United States would get from Britain knowledge on new processes which simplify the tricky detonation of the A-bomb.

On the other hand, the hotter the cold war gets, the better are the chances that the United States, Britain and Canada may decide an information pool is utterly necessary to their common defense.

Should the secrets trade hands, the United States would get from Britain knowledge on new processes which simplify the tricky detonation of the A-bomb.

This country, in turn, would give its partners equally valuable data on peacetime uses of fission-energy.

For every one furniture or home furnishing store that failed in 1948 (when it was hard to 21) failed last year. Nineteen food and liquor stores failed in 1949 for every one in 1948; 15 general merchandise stores, 14 clothing stores, 11 restaurants and bars, 10 drug stores and six kindred, for every one of their kind in 1948.

Most people can start a business, as they say in Albany, The trick is to keep it going.

WOMEN HELP YUGOSLAVIA BELGRADE (AP) — Women now help to shape the future of Yugoslavia from high seats in the government's councils.

Business failures aren't at the rate they were during the war, but they have been climbing fairly steadily since the comparatively foolproof business year of 1946, when only 1,129 firms went under.

F.B.I. AGENTS arrested Harry Gold (above), 39, of Philadelphia on espionage charges. He is accused of "dealing" with the British spy Sir Klaus Fuchs. Gold was held in a $100,000 bail after a hearing. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said in a joint statement in Washington that Dr. Fuchs had turned over atom bomb secrets to Gold.

HIGHER OLIVES DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — The average olive in California probably will be bigger if the tariff on imported olive oil is cut 50 per cent, as expected.

Size can be increased by thinning part of the growing crop on the trees, reports H. Hartman, University of California pomologist. He says trees with light crops generally produce fully large fruit, while those with heavy crops yield a high percentage of olives too small for canning.

Hints To Housewives

TEA TOWEL TESTS Homemakers generally agree on the qualities they want in kitchen towels, says Adelaide Ginter of the Missouri Experiment Station.

To learn which kind of toweling meets these specifications best, Miss Ginter tested 30 towelings from local stores. They included all cotton, all linen, cotton-linen mixtures, and rayon-linen mixtures.

From the tests Miss Ginter concludes that no one kind of toweling has all qualities desired. For example, rayon and linen towels have strength with repeated washing, but absorb moisture better while cotton gained strength and absorbed moisture less.

JUST JUGGLE SOME FIGURES

JUGGLING numbers is a fascinating game. The making of magic squares, for example, is a favorite pastime of a large number of persons.
Here's a poser many will find interesting. Cut out the sixteen circles numbered 1 to 16, and first arrange them so that the resultant square will add up to 30 in all directions
—horizontal, vertical, diagonal.
Start with the circles placed as above, and move only ten of the circles to arrange them so that the
—horizontal, vertical, diagonal.

WORD MAGIC

IN New York, New Jersey, California and other localities, silk is being successfully produced, and U.S. silk farmers say it is unnecessary for this country ever to be dependent upon Japan for our supply. Turning worms into silk requires many steps in the natural process, but no more than six steps are required to turn WORM INTO SILK by the ladderword method of changing one letter each step. A complete word must be left, and the order of the letters must not be changed. Try it.

HOW COME?

A LIGHTHOUSE beacon's range is 16 miles.
Captain Parker, two miles away, cannot see it, but Captain Kaye, 16 miles away, can. Why can't Parker see it? (Nope, he's not blind; and he's trying to see it.)

A large grid-based puzzle, possibly a crossword or a similar word game, with a grid of letters and some numbers indicating starting points.

CHARADES

THE charade is a poetical, prose or factual puzzle founded on a word or phrase, each syllable of which constitutes a noun. The whole of the word is a noun of somewhat different meaning from each of those supplied by its separate syllables. In writing, the syllables are termed FIRST, SECOND, THIRD, etc., and the complete word is termed
WHOLE, ALL, TOTAL or COMPLETE.
A well-known example of the proposed charade is: My FIRST is company; my SECOND shuns company; and my WHOLE amuses company. The answer is co-nun-drum.
Here are charades from the National Puzzlers' League that are wits-testers:

II (10 letters)

Weather-stained, unkempt, COM-PLETE,
He THREE the line of homeless men
Seeking at TWO a place to eat
A bowl of stew, perhaps a ONE of fruit.
—MRS. J. F. MORTON

III (10 letters)

This is a puzzle within a puzzle, as you'll discover:
Darling, THREE FOUR of yore's sol-ing
Is not as childish as you thought,
For years and years of history
May be described by one TWO dot.
So TOTAL, there's a fascination
When just a large-sized letter ONE
May represent Atlanta, Paris,
Columbus, Rome and Washington.
—FRANK T. BLACK

ANSWERS

1. The answer to the puzzle is co-nun-drum.
2. The answer to the puzzle is co-nun-drum.
3. The answer to the puzzle is co-nun-drum.

A "New" Game to Play

GAMES like fashion undergo cycles. They're popular for a while, sometimes reaching the proportions of a fad, then die down only to revive after a long interval and achieve new popularity.
The game called Numerica appears due for a comeback. It was widely popular 50 years ago, then receded as a "pastime" except in a few localities.
Numerica can be played solitaire or in competition.
Besides a complete deck of 52 cards for each player, there must be a "call" deck which the player, or "caller," shuffles in addition to his own. In a game with two or more players, the "call" rotates in solitaire, the player must of course, be his own "caller."
The "call" deck is shuffled thoroughly and fanned down. The player receives their own deck from the pile, leaving the "call" deck on top. The call deck is one pile of 10 cards, the "call" deck being on top.
The number of the top card of the "call" deck which has been shuffled and fanned down is the number of the "call" deck.
The player then receives the top card of his own deck, and the "call" deck is shuffled thoroughly and fanned down again. The player receives their own deck from the pile, leaving the "call" deck on top.
The call deck is one pile of 10 cards, the "call" deck
being on top.

The current Independence Drive for selling U. S. Savings Bonds, which closes July 4, is placing emphasis on the Liberty Bell. A replica of the famous old bell has been made up for each state and territory and will tour the state throughout the drive. The replicas are exactly as the old bell was before it was cracked.

Bell was ordered 20 years ago by the Philadelphia assembly and installed in June 1783, at the new State House in the Quaker City. Inscribed on the bell is this Biblical verse: Proclaim liberty through all the land and to all the inhabitants thereof. It achieved immortality at noon on July 8, 1776, by pealing out the birth of a new nation after a public reading of the four-page-old Declaration of Independence.

The famous crack appeared in 1835 while the bell was tolled to mourn the death of Chief Justice Marshall. For nearly 11 years afterward the bell hung silent and neglected. In February 1846 it was decided to drill the crack in Liberty and toll it in honor of George Washington's birthday. It rang clear until around noon, when suddenly the crack spread and the ringing became a hoarse rattle. That's the last time anyone has ever heard the true voice of the original Liberty Bell.

Independence has a deeper meaning for farm people than for most Americans. Perhaps no other group prizes freedom of thought and action more than farmers. And no doubt Florida farmers are going to love and keep all their savings bonds they can, both now and later.

Approximately one million more children will be enrolled in United States public schools next year than are enrolled now.

The highest coal mine in the world is at Florista, near Crested Butte, Colorado.
