Tips on watering your lawn

Keep your lawn, shrubbery and trees healthy without wasting water. Seminole County residents don't have much choice about conserving water if they want to avoid fines, in light of the St. Johns Water Management District's conservation rules. Most people overwater anyway, and can keep their lawn and plants healthy, yet stay within the watering restrictions.

Ringling bodies in secret vault

SARASOTA - The bodies of circus king John Ringling and his wife Mable were secretly shipped to a Florida cemetery after lying in temporary crypts in New Jersey during a 50-year family squabble, a published report said.

The bodies lie in temporary receiving vaults at Restlawn Memorial Gardens in Port Charlotte, the Tampa Tribune reported in a copyright story Monday.

The circus impresario once intended that the would become his final burial site, although some relatives said he later changed his mind because he didn't want the public walking over his grave.

Whether the couple will finally be buried at the museum depends on the outcome of the family feud. After 50 years, it is still going strong.

Crowd gathers for Bakker trial

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - The U.S. District Court took on the air of a camp meeting revival today as one-time PTL supporters crowded behind police barricades to await the trial of evangelist Jim Bakker, charged with fleecing his flock at the television ministry.

A parade of anti-Bakker protesters also gathered outside the courthouse where attorneys were to make their opening statements. Included among them was a woman who arrived in a chauffeur-driven white stretch limousine.

Bakker's supporters and detractors quickly got into a squabble over whether he is a good man or the devil incarnate.

"Mr. Bakker is guilty. I think he should be punished," Beverly Sparrow said as she emerged from the limousine. "He abused money and it has ruined the ministry for the whole world."

Several people carrying picket signs critical of the preacher paraded in front of the courthouse.

Many in the crowd outside the courth use were hot-tempered as they traded opinions about Bakker, but the hostility outside was just a prelude of what was likely to follow inside as prosecutors and defense attorneys presented their opening arguments.

Black history survey begins

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN Herald staff writer

ORLANDO - The Orange County Historical Society will be surveying Seminole County for buildings that may fill blank pages in Central Florida history.

Sara Van Aradel of the society said a $15,000 grant from the Florida Bureau of Historic Preservation will help map out black history in Seminole County, which split from Orange County in 1913. The remaining costs of the project's first phase will be paid by $15,000 in contributions, she said. Van Aradel said she has been working on compiling black history in Central Florida — what she calls "a blank page" — since she came here in 1986.

"Virtually no written, documented information has been compiled in one place about this particular ethnic group in Central Florida." Van Aradel said. "In order to put together a whole picture of history in Central Flori-See History, Page, SA

State spent $35 million on outside lawyers

TAMPA - The state of Florida spent nearly $35 million on outside legal help last year, despite the fact that it employs about 700 lawyers of its own.

Attorney General Bob Butterworth said he is ocked" by the large legal tab, and he claimed that millions could be saved if the state hired more full-time lawyers to do the work now done by high-priced outside attorneys.

"We can cut that spending and use the money on someone else," Butterworth told The Tampa Tribune. "I would much rather have the children, who are waiting in line for day-care, benefit than a very few law firms that may not need the money.'

The Tribune reported Sunday the state's outside legal expenses have increased dramatstally in the past six years, rising from just under $7.9 million to $34.9 million in the fiscal year that ended June 30. The newspaper cited records in the state comptroller's office as the source for its figures.

Those records show that state agencies routinely pay private lawyers $150 an hour, and sometimes as much as $300 an hour, the newspaper said. State-employed lawyers earn an average of about $25 an hour.

The Tribune also said state agencies have no standards for judging the need for outside legal help or the size of the fees submitted for that

The dramatic rive in outside legal fees can be attributed in part to a 1986-87 bookkeeping change requiring agencies to list expert witness fees, but some fees also go unrecorded by the comptroller, the newspaper said.

Residents heed water conservation rules

Area police say warnings dwindle as people learn

By SUSAN LODEN Herald staff writer

SANFORD - Compliance with the water conservation rules in effect in Seminole and 18 other counties in the local water management district is good, police report.

Seminole County Sheriff's Capt. Luke Stallworth said the first couple of days the rules were in effect. Aug. 19, and 20, deputies issued a lot of warnings to people whose lawn sprinklers were running at inproper times. Since then, he said there have been very few violations discovered by deputies, and no arrests made of citations issued.

Most of those who have been warned by sheriff's deputies. Stallworth said, have been reported by neighbors who were angry that they too couldn't water their lawns when they wanted

In Sanford, Capt. Charles Fagan said, Sanford police have issued a couple of warnings, but have made no arrests and issued no citations.

Lake Mary Police Chief Charles Lauderdale said his officers are in the process of educating offenders about the lawn watering rules and are making no arrests. ,

To conserve water, because of a lack of rainfall and a reduction in the underground water supply, the St. Johns River Water Management District has ordered the restrictions on use of water, until water levels return to normal.

Until then residents with an even numbered address, or no address, may water their lawns or wash their cars only on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday between the hours of 4 a.m. and 8 a.m. Residents with odd number addresses may water only during the same hours on Monday. Wednesday and Saturday.

There are no restrictions on commercial car washes.

The restrictions apply to city or well water. Those who water their lawns with recycled air conditioner water are exempt. Agricultural and golf course use is limited to night time hours.

Violators can expect initial warnings and education efforts from lawmen, Stallworth said. But if hard-core violators are confronted by sheriff's deputies, he said, they may be arrested or issued a citation.

A conviction for violating the rules may bring a $500 fine and or 60 days in jail. Stallworth said most residents are complying and others are falling into line as lawmen point out the rules to

AIDS recovery baffles doctors

ST. PETERSBURG - Ron Webeck should have been dead four years ago, according to doctors.

Instead, the 41-year-old patient appears to have recovered from infections with the AIDS virus and a related, deadly brain

"I'm cured," Webeck insists. "How many more years do I have to live before I can use the word?

Dr. Sidney Houff, who treated Webeck at the National Institutes of Health, is not willing to go that far. But the doctor admits se is "extremely unusual, something that dumbfounded us.

There's not a category I can put Ron in." Houff said.

Webeck, who now has devoted his life to spreading the message that acquired immune deficiency syndrome is not an automatic death sentence, discussed his situtation in an interview for Sunday editions of the St. Petersburg Times.

"I've seen people lie down and let AIDS devour them because they think there's no hope," he said. Webeck, 41, said he has watched 70 friends and aquaintances die of AIDS and when he reflects on his own case, "I could cry, but at the same time, my heart pounds with happiness ... ," he said.

"It seems so unreal. Why me?"

I'm cured. How many more years do I have to live before I can use the word

-Ren Webeck

Webeck was found to be infected with the AIDS virus four years ago. Doctors also discovered he had progressive multifocal leukoencephalopathy, or PML, a viral disease seen in people with AIDS but otherwise rare. His doctors told him he had a month to live.

Now sophisticated tests have failed to uncover any evidence of the AIDS virus in Webeck's blood. That's rare enough, but what's unprecedented is that scientists cannot find any traces of the PML virus.

Houff hopes to publish an account of the case in a medical journal sometime next year. But first he has to figure out what's going on.

"To recover from PML is unheard of. We didn't think it happenend," Houff said.

"We don't know what the future is going to bring," he said, "I'm optimistic, I don't have any reason not to be, except (AIDS) has not given us any reason for optimism in the Webeck became ill in 1985 and had to quit his job as a restaurant waiter. His case looked particularly hopeless, so he returned to his parents' home in St. Petersburg to spend his final days with them. But he began to get better. By July 1906, consumed with curiosity, he began pester-ing researchers to study his case. A Tamps researcher who could find no trace of the virus in Webech's blood suggested in 1987 that a study of his immune system might be a good ides.

No one followed up immediately, but Webeck called scores of doctors around the country, finally connecting with Houff. The doctor, though skeptical, agreed to run

What he found were that all the components of Webeck's immune system were just about normal. What baffled Houff was that Webeck had the ususal number of B lymphocytes, white blood cells that produce antibodies against disease. Every other PML sufferer had produced vast numbers of B cells which carried the PML virus from the bloodstream to brain tissue.

Houff has produced a "cell line" offspring of an original cell that can multiply into billions for study — of Webeck's B cells. Thus far he has not unraveled the mystery.

Four other patients are still living after bouts with PML, but for much shorter periods than Webeck and all but one are suffering other opportunistic infections. The other patients have been given AZT, but Webeck has never taken the drug.

Candidates trade barbs in racially-divisive race

United Press International

MIAMI - Voters once represented by congressman Claude Pepper, D-Fla., will choose Tuesday between a Cuban-American legislator and a Jewish lawyer in a bitterly contested race in which each candidate claims the other is exploiting the city's ethnic tensions.

Republican state Sen. Ileana Ros-Lehtinen and Democrat Gerald Richman each said in separate interviews that the other sought to win by appealing to the mistrust dividing the district's large Cuban American population from other groups.

Both candidates also claimed their support transcended those ethnic divisions, despite poll results to the contrary, and predicted that crossover voters would play a significant role in Tuesday's outcome.

A poll conducted for The Miami Herald and WTVJ-TV and released Wednesday indicated the race is too close to call, however, with voters split along strict ethnic lines.

Both President George Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle made appearances on behalf of the Republican candidate.

Ros-Lehtinen's Cuban heritage has provided much of the focus for the special election, and triggered its nastiest controversy. If elected, Ros-Lehtinen would become the first Cubanborn member of Congress.

The conservative Ros-Lehtinen, a seven-year veteran of the state Legislature, refused to debate Richman after the Jewish lawyer and former president of the Florida Bar repeatedly described the district as an "American" seat. Richman denied the charge.

Woman reports rape, robbery

LONGWOOD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigating the reported rape of a 32-year-old Lake Mary woman who said two assailants forced their way into her car when she stopped at a traffic light on U.S. Highway 17-62, rural Longwood.

The woman said she was attacked at about 4:30 a.m. Sunday and that one of the men was armed with a knife. She said she was forced to drive to some woods, where one man held her while the other sexually assaulted her. The woman was reportedly knocked unconscious after the attack. When she awake, a sheriff's report said, the assailants had fied, taking $20 from her purse.

Man accused of burglary, battery

CASSELBERRY — A man who allegedly entered a Casselberry house without permission and battered a resident there during an argument over his reported conduct with a teen-age girl, has been charged with burglary to an occupied dwelling and battery.

Michael John Datre, 23, of 5164-A Richland Road, Sanford, was arrested at the scene at 1415-C Ash Circle, at 3:10 a.m. Sunday.

He is accused of entering the house of Linden Charles Snyder, 40, and of striking Snyder. Casselberry police reported that Snyder and a witness subdued the suspect and held him for police.

Wife says she was battered CASSELBERRY — Diane C. Williamson, 39, of 1621 Excalibur Drive, Casselberry, told Casselberry police her husband allegedly shoved and hit her during a dispute at their house at about 1 s.m. Sunday.

That led to a charge of battery-spouse abuse against Rodney Mark Williamson, 36, of the same address. He was arrested at home following the reported fight.

Woman charged with forcery, theft

SANFORD — Sanford police report that a woman is suspected in several cases of having allegedly forged company checks stolen from Hugh Eckel of Burms Bridge Busters.

The checks were reportedly cashed at several local businesses since May. Wilma Lynette Jones, 36, of 1229 W. 13th St., Sanford, was arrested in the cases Sunday at the police station. She faces several counts of forgery, uttering a forgery, dealing in stolen property, theft and petty theft. Police said additional charges are pending.

Policemen battered; men arrested

SANFORD - A Sanford policeman reports that a suspect who was being arrested for running from him allegedly fought him, injured the officer's elbow and knee, and broke his cyeglasecs.

That led to charges of battery on a policeman and resisting with and with out violence against Hubert Lee Williams. Williams was arrested at 3:53 p.m. Sunday at 1006 W. 13th St., after he allegedly tried to run from police. Bond is $4,000.

DUI arrests made

SANFORD - The following people face a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

-Hector Luis Hernandez, 22, of 1930 Maple Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 1:19 a.m. Sunday after he allegedly drove erratically on Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary. He also was

Sanford commission votes on money for marina beach

SANFORD - The city commission tonight will vote whether to pull $15,000 from city reserves to study possible improvements to the Lake Monroe beachfront.

The tourism committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has asked the city for $15,000 to hire a University of Florida engineer to study ways to keep northwest winds and waves from washing sands back into the lake channel.

At a city commission work accaion last week, Commissioner A.A. McCianahan said, "We're not talking about $15,000; we're talking about $65,000."

in May the chamber was awarded a $50,000 county tourism development grant, on the condition that the money is matched by the city.

Dave Farr, chamber executive fire station, community center director, said the tourism development council grant must be used between Oct. I and Sept. 30, 1990. The grant cannot be used for feasibility studies, and must be matched by the city.

McClanahan said he was also concerned that the city would pay for a feasibility study that may not be followed up. "We've had a lot of studies sitting on the shelf for about 15 years now." he

But Bill Simmons, city director of engineering and planning. called the feasibility study "invaluable information" that would be the first to tell the city if the beach could be stabilized and how much such a project would cost.

Haiang Wang, a University of Florida professor of coastal and oceanographic engineering, visited the lake earlier this summer. In a July 20 letter to the chamber, he said, "I...believe that a viable solution can be attained to maintain an attractive beach as well as to paptect the channel."

Fewer tress, fewer songbirds

One effect of tropical deforestation is particularly distressing: The population of migratory songbirds in the United States is dwindling.

As bird watchers will testify, one of the most pleasant things about the pastime is listening to the bubbling and warbling of songbirds. A loss of their company, through the destruction of tropical forests or any other reason, would be a sad loss indeed.

The drawbacks of clear-cutting tropical rain forests have been known for years. Slash-and-burn elimination of the rain forests not only destroys trees vital to maintaining the supply of oxygen on Earth and maintian-ing a normal cycle of rainfall and evaporation. but also adds pollutants to the atmosphere that can contribute to wind and water erosion. The land once cleared is usually only of limited fertility, and in a few years, new land must be cleared for crops or pasture.

The problem of songbird habitat is a more recent concern. Officials at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Patuxent Wildlife Research Center took data from the North American Breeding Bird Survey, which annually looks at birds in North America from the Florida Keys to the North Slope of Alaska.

The researchers concluded that the population trend for songbirds such as the oriole and the scarlet tanager is distinctly downward.

Some scientists have argued that a lack of forest habitat in the United States is to blame for much of the songbird depletion. The Paturent researchers have suggested and ifferent cause, using population statistics to show that only forest-dwelling birds, not shrub-dwelling species, are declining.

Migratory birds require good wintering grounds, where there is suffucient food and for them to wait out t before their breeding seasons. Without enough forest, tree-dwelling birds can't find enough cover and fewer survive to migrate north to breed.

What would the woods and the meadows. the pastures and the country roads be without the songbirds? Not silent, perhaps. but certainly not as beautiful.

The Patuxent researchers have offered Americans yet another reason to encourage nations such as Brazil and its Central and South American neighbors to preserve their irreplacable tropical forests.

How to find money for East Europe

So now, after Congress has committed America's taxpayers to bailing out the Sales with hundreds of billions of dollars, and the banks have lined up to hit them for billions more to pay the bad debts of Mexico, Brazil, etc., Poland — on the verge of economic collapse after 40 years of communium — has turned its government (or at least that part of it dealing with domestic affairs) over to Solidarity, and we are being told that $10 billion is needed if freedom is to have a chance there.

We dare not reject this plea for help too cavalierly. The worldwide collapse of confidence in communium as a workable economic system is a development of enormous importance, and leaves the free nations of the world in undisputed possession of the political and psychological initiative. If nations like Pulsaid (and shortly Hungary, and then others — conceivably even the Soviet Union itself) turn their backs on communium and seek to shift to a market economy, it is in our highest interest that they should not be seen to fail as a result of any defect in the market system.

Please note that this is not the same thing as saying that they must (or will) succeed. As regular readers of this column know, I have no faith whatever in the ability of communist economics to evolve peacefully into functioning free-market societies, no matter how good the intentions of the reformers may be.

The apparatus of state control is too overwhelming in such nations to be brushed saide easily. It will have to be rased to the ground, and replaced with brand-new institutions. The process may conceivably be voluntary, but it

States bristle at U.S. tactics

WASHINGTON - Back in the dawn of the Reagan Revolution, the White House and a complacent Congress connived to shrink the federal social-services role and leave it to the states to pick up the pieces.

Now those supposed adversaries. President Bush and the Capitol Hill Democrats, appear to have a new game: Pass bills suggesting they're kinder and gentler, on every front from child care to Medicaid for poor families. But then use the tool of federal "mandates" to oblige the states to provide services and also pick up a big part of the tab.

That way. President Bush can keep his "no new taxes" pledge. And, congressional Democrats escape from being depicted as budget bashers.

Says a National Governor's Association official: "The 'feds' have been living on their credit card for years. Now, by mandating us to do the things they can't afford, they're trying to use ours. The idea is they get the credit, we get the bills. But we don't have their ace in the hole: deficit financing."

It sounds like a clever game. But the stakes are enormous — espeically for the 37 million Americans who have no health insurance and might be covered by Medicaid. Millions of children live in or near poverty in single-parent homes, often in desperate need of decent medical care and day care. Where they don't get it, the future costs - in medical crises, school dropouts, juvenile deliquency, welfare dependency — can be immense.

Governors claim they're just as kind, gentle and progressive as Bush and Congress, but that their budgets are already under intense pressure from Medicaid. Though Washington pays just over half the Medicaid bill, the states' share has increased by 56 percent in the past six years. It's projected to grow much higher into the '90s.

Within the past few years, the federal government has added so many mandates in Medicaid, nursing-home reform and catastrophic health coverage that the states say it will cost them $5.2 billion extra over five

A bill now before the House would force the states to extend Medicaid coverage to pregnant women and their infants up to the age of one. even when family incomes range as high as 185 percent of the poverty line. State antagonisms brimmed over when the governors met in Chicago this summer. At the suggestion of Ohio's Gov. Richard Celeste (D). Said the governors: We need a two-year moraterium while everyone figures the best way to handle the massive problem of America's medically uninsured.

'I'm afraid we're backing into a national health system in the most inefficient way." Celeste subsequently told my colleague, Carol Steinbach. "Medicaid is very bureaucratic. The rule-making process is frustrating. Administrative costs are very high. If someone has a secret agenda to radicalize the governors, this Medicaid thing would do it."

The states' problem is that if Medicald sweeps their cupboard clean. where will they find the money for im-proved schools and colleges; road building: housing: air. water and toxic dump cleanup; and the thousand and one other pressing

That was how a major welfare reform package came into being last year: The governors convinced Congress to negotiate the plan with them. The bill that was finally passed emulated successful state welfare experiments and was light on mandates.

This year, the governors successfully beat back federal mandates in the $1.75 billion child-care package, which passed the Senate in June and awaits House action. In its original Senate form, the bill included such intrusive federal mandates as dictating precise childstaff ratios, decreeing the annual training child-care workers must receive, and declaring how often and thoroughly states must inspect child-care facilities.

Said the governors to Congress: Get serious. Your requirements will devour one-quarter of all the money to improve child care in our

Force alone will not win drug war

WASHINGTON - The U.S. government is waging a mighty war on drugs. And sometimes at night, along the dangerous front lines at the U.S.-Mexican border, your highly trained troops dress up as cactus. Funny, maybe. But not half as funny as spending $25 million for radar balloons that as yet haven't managed to nail a single heroin or cocaine trafficker. The cactus costumes worn by the National Guard are part of a $2.9 million drug-fighting grant.

Such simple tech-niques are beginning to look promising, unlike the colossal failure of the hightech gadgetry, guns and manpower. National polls indicate that the drug crisis concerns Americans more than AIDS or nuclear war. Drugs are in the nation's face, and killing your friends, your family and even some of your heroes. However, these days, when the White House is boasting about its commitment to win the war on drugs, our federal drug-busters are far more overwhelmed than they let on. Consider that the U.S. government spends more than $1 billion annually to stop drugs at the borders, yet the Coast Guard estimates as little as 5 percent to 7 percent of the U.S.-bound heroin and cocaine is intercepted. Consider that the United States represents 5 percent of the world's population and consumes about 50 percent of the world's cocaine. The annual U.S. market for illicit drugs is roughly equivalent to the federal budget deficit, approximately $150 billion.

The disheartening facts are sprinkled throughout a tongue-in-cheek drug questionnaire produced by Rep. Fortney "Pete" Stark, D-Calif. He plans to use it as a forum to help slap America to its senses.

Our associate Jim Lynch obtained a copy of the questionnaire, which Stark plans to send to his colleagues on Capitol Hill with the note. 'Here's another drug test you can take without fear that some lab will screw up the Stark's review of the casualties of the drug war makes it clear that the good guys are outgunned and outmaneuvered:

The National Institute on Drug Abuse estimates there are about 6.5 million cocaine and heroin addicts in need of treatment. About 2 million will seek treatment, but they're in for a surprise. There are only 250,000 treatment beds available in the country, so even if a person wants to go straight; it may not be possible.

The government's tactic has been not to offer more treatment facilities, but to slow the supply of drugs. That has been costly and

In 1988, the U.S. Navy and Coast Guard scoured the coastlines for smugglers, using up 2.347 ship-days at a cost of more than $40 million. Only 17 shipments were seized. That adds up to more than $2 million per smuggler. It would be cheaper to give each smuggler the money and set them up in a retirement home in Sun City. Ariz.

Exasperation has spread through every tier of the population. Guess who said this: "If you want to lose the war on drugs, leave it just to law enforcement." It was U.S. Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, and he's right.

Drug czar William Bennett is coming around to the realization that spending a fortune to stop the flow of drugs doesn't work when the traffickers have deeper pockets than one can even imagine. The only thing that makes sense is helping those who are already hooked get unhooked and steering future generations away from the same

Poll shows support for drug fight

NEW YORK - A majority of Americans believe the United States should send troops to fight and arrest drug traffickers in Colombia and other countries that export drugs, a Newsweek magazine poll said.

The poll of 600 adults also found an overwhelming number of Americans support harsher penalties for casual drug users with 85 percent of those polled saying they would support suspending a person's driver's license if convicted of drug abuse. Only 11 percent would oppose such measures, the survey found.

The poll, conducted Aug. 24 and Aug. 25, was taken as the bian government stepped up its battle against cocaine traffickers, detaining an estimated 12,000 suspects in an all-out war against the drug trade.

Traffickers step up war against Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia - Colombia's powerful cocaine traffickers escalated their war on the government with a nationwide bombing spree that killed one person and may have prompted the justice minister to resign. The newspaper El Espectador reported Sunday that Justice Minister Monica de Greiff resigned because of threats, but President Virgilio Barco denied the report.

Communist pledges support to Solidarity

WARSAW, Poland - A senior official was quoted today as saying the Communist Party will support the Solidarity-led government of Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki to prevent more "radical" groups from taking power in Poland.

Leasek Miller, one of 17 members of the party's policymaking Politburo, said it would support Masowiecki's non-communist government because its collapse would mean "the emergence of more radical groups of the political opposition.

Miller spoke Friday during a rally with workers in Kalisz, southwestern Poland. The text of his speech was published today in the Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Ludu.

The Communist Party - which had ruled Poland since World War II until Mazowiecki's was named prime minister last week - "must be concerned with the interest of Poland in the first place but not with the party interest," he said.

Israel attacks Hezbollah camp

BEIRUT, Lebanon - laracli warplanes today roared low over a large base of the Iranian-supported Hezbollah group near Syria's border, a day after Israeli jets struck a major Lebanese camp operated by the Moslem extremists.

The Israeli army and Hezbollah denied initial reports by Lebanese police that the planes struck the military camp in Yanta, just 2 miles west of the Syrian frontier.

A Hezboliah spokesman said the fundamentalists fired intensive rounds from anti-aircraft automatic guns on a formation of Israeli warplanes that maneuvered at a low altitude in what he called a mock raid over Yanta.

The woman said she was afraid her assailant was going to kill her when he tied her hands and feet with the towels.

She said she heard the man cut the cords to telephones in her bedroom and living room before leaving by the sliding doors in her living room. She said after hearing him leave she escaped her bonds, put on a robe and drove to a friend's home, where police were called. She then underwent an examination at a hospital.

The victim said she helped Winter Park police investigators put together a composite drawing of the man who assaulted her. She later picked Osterbeck's photo out of a line-up of nine photos as the man who saulted her, and again identifled him in court.

A forensic serologist with the Florida Department of Law En-forcement laboratory in Orlando testified Friday that samples of semen from the victim was from a man with the same blood type as Osterbeck's. Semen stains on the sheet also had the same blood type, according to the lab technologist, Margaret Tabor.

The prosecution closed its case Friday afternoon and Judge Mize adjourned the trial until 8:30 a.m. today.

Lawyers —

For example, the yearty spending includes only a portion of the fees paid to private lawyers for handling state bond issues Those fees frequently are paid from bond proceeds rather than from the state tressury.

Gov. Bob Martinez's general counsel. Pete Dunbar, said specialized lawyers often are needed on major litigation, and that other outside legal help frequently pays dividends in recovered child support and other benefits to the state.

"Should we be concerned about the growth of outside counsel? It's obviously a question that always has to be asked," Dunbar said. "Do the numbers alone give rise to concern? Not really.

Dunbar, who oversees the hiring of private law firms by agencies under the Republican governor, said lawyers are chosen for their qualifications. But he acknowledged that political cousiderations can come into play.

"I'm not hiring any of my enemies," he said.

Dozens of law firms around Florida earn $100,000 or more yearly from various state agencies. The Tampa firm of Carlton Fields Ward Emmanuel Smith & Cutler led the list with more than $1.6 million in legal fees and expenses during the past three years.

a maceive five-day caravan across the state, ending in Tallahassee, in support of abor-

At least one anti-abortion group, Rescue America, has said it plans to stage smaller rillies around the state in the 67 county seats, instead of participating in a large rally in Tallahassee. Others, though, are planning to present a strong anning to present a strong resence in Talkhansee during the session.

Some anti-abortion activists have felt strongly enough on the issue to torch abortion clinics and even invade them. But Kiracole noted that Operation Rescue, which blockaded a clinic in Tallahannee last summer and had a large number of its people arrested, remained mostly

"We're hoping it will be the same thing this time," Kiracofe said. "But we are taking into account there may be fringe groups that would take a harder approach."

It's the potential for huge large number of reporters are crowds and national visibility expected to cover the session.

that lies at the heart of the planning efforts. Florids is the scheduled to meet next week first state to revisit the abortion tosse since the U.S. Supreme Court decision in June, and "all eyes are going to be on Florida." Kirnesde said.

Neither Kiracofe nor McPherson would discuss some elements of their security plans. but other officials have said they are considering precautions like metal detectors at all of the deors leading into the Capitol. The devices have been used for several years in the Senate, where there are no barriers separating the gallery from the chamber.

The House gallery is insulated from the chamber by large order the chamber by large plexiglass panels.

Other security planning efforts involve the news media, which may be required to register for the first time for photo-ID credentials, in part because a scheduled to meet next week with representatives of the Capitol press corps to discuss the arrangements. News organiza-tions that have correspondents in Tallahassee year-round would be assigned one reserved seat in the press galleries for the special session, while visiting media will be seated on a first-come-firstserved basis in the first two rows of the public galleries.

Others, like local abortion clinics, are also taking extra security precautions. At the North Florida Women's Health and Counseling Service, for instance, exployees said they are planning for trouble. During a tour for news media this week. employees asked photographers not to shoot pictures of interior doors and windows, because they feared anti-abortionists might use them to gain access to the building.

Satellite

In such orbits, satellites take 24 hours to complete one orbit and thus appear to hang stationary in the sky, eliminating the need for costly, moveable ground antennes. In the case of Marconnic 1 day antennes Marcopolo 1, dish antennas as small as 12 inches across can be used to receive the signals.

With the advent of direct-to-home broadcasting by satellite, there is going to be a huge increase in the number of channels becoming available to the British viewer," said Anthony Simonds-Gooding, chief executive officer of BSB.

He said users would have to pay between $420 and $480 for the equipment to receive four free television channels from Marcopolo 1. A fifth channel of movies and special program-ming will be available for about 915 a month.

BSB selected Hughes to build two satellites in 1987 under a $300 million contract covering the cost of the relay stations and insurance. Hughes, in turn, picked McDonnel Douglas Space Systems Co. of Huntington Beach, Calif., to supply the Delta rocket in the first such launch contract of its kind.

But in the wake of the Jan. 28. 1986, Challenger disaster, the Reagan administration announced a new national space policy banning commercial payloads from NASA's manned space shuttle in an effort to encourage development of a private sector launch industry.

"In my estimation, the most important decision the U.S. government made was to renew the expendable launch vehicle industry." said Steven Dorfman. vice president of Hughes. "The previous decision that all launches would be on the shuttle was not a wise policy."

With dozens of high-priority satellites grounded after the shuttle accident, the big three U.S. rocket makers - McDonnell Douglas, General Dynamics Corp. of San Diego and Martin rietta Astronautics Group of Denver - announced plans to market boosters on a commer-

All three companies have since signed commercial contracts to inch a variety of private-sector satellites, but Marcopolo 1 was the first out of the blocks.

In a departure from past practice, the contract between . BSB and Hughes calls for the California aerospace company to purchase the launch vehicles and insurance for the satellites and to test them in orbit before handing over control to the buyer, "changing the traditional belance of risks and rewards," according to a company state-

IN BRIEF

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Weich slows down Kansas City

Only strong pitching efforts have stopped Kansas City intely and Bob Welch came up with one for Oakland.

Weich outducted Tom Gordon by tossing a six-hitter through eight innings Sunday, leading the Athletics to a 6-0 victory over the Royals, who lost for only the second time in their last 13 games. With the loss, Kansas City stands 3 1-2 games behind the first-place A's in the American League West.

"Welch pitched very well," Kansas City

Manager John Wathan said. "He is having an outstanding year. It took two very good pitchers (Weich and California's Bert Blyleven) to beat us this week.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston dropped Detroit 7-1, Baltimore nailed New York 8-5, Toronto tripped Milwaukee 5-4, Chicago crushed Cleveland 9-3, Minnesota subdued Seattle 8-5 and California trimmed Texas 5-4.

LeMond captures world title

CHAMBERY, France — Greg LeMond surged twice in the final kilometers and outsprinted four challengers to become the fifth cyclist in history to win the Tour de France and the world road race title in the same year Sunday at the rain-plagued World Cycling Championships. Lelfond, 28, rode in a group of five as they went up the final hill of the course with aix kilometers left. Laurent Fignon of France, who blew a sizeable lead to LeMond in the final stage of the Tour, was among those in the pack.

The riders jockeyed for the lead until LeMond surged twice more, the final time with about 200 meters left in the 262.5 kilometer race. His winning time was 6 hours, 45 minutes, 59 seconds.

Chiefs rally to beat Bears

CHICAGO - The Kaness City Chiefs under new Coach Marty Schottenheimer picked up their first win of the exhibition sesson Sunday night with an impressive 22-17 come-from-behind decision over the Chicago Bears.

"This game was important. We knew we were making progress, but to beat a good football team like Chicago is certainly going to help our confidence," said veteran quarterback Ron Jaworski, who played the entire second half and engineered the key fourth-quarter scoring drive that put Kaness City ahead.

Trailing 17-13, the Chiefa began the drive from their own 28, and Jaworski took them 72 yards on 10 plays in 6:33, completing all six pass attempts.

On a second and 3 at the Chicago 19, the 15-year veteran lobbed a pass to rookie wide receiver Robb Thomas right at the goal line, and Thomas hung on despite pass interference by defender Lemuel Stinson.

Expos surviving on West Coast

The late-season West Coast swing can often determine a team's fate down the stretch. Right now, it appears the Expos are hanging on while the Mets are slipping off.

Montreal is 2-1 on its current nine-game trip in California, while New York is 0-3. The Expos have already hurdled the toughest obstacle, playing in Candlestick Park. If they can survive the next two series in San Diego and Los Angeles, they can concentrate on the Cubs.

"We've got a great opportunity now." Andres Galarraga said Sunday after his 20th homer of the season led the Expos to a 6-3 victory over the NL West-leading San Francisco Giants, "We're only two out (of first place), we've got great pitchers and we're starting to hit the ball. In other games, Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 1-0; Chicago got past Atlanta 3-2 in 10 inninga; Houston best St. Louis 6-3; Los Angeles thumped Philadelphia 8-1; and San Diego out-slugged New York 13-7.

County boasts some of state's best runners

By MARK BLYTHE Herald sports writer

The boys 1989 cross country season looks to be one of hope and promise as both powerful and building teams dot Seminole County. Lyman, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley will all have strong squads with Seminole Lake Mary and Oviedo all following very closely. Lyman finished second in the 4A state meet last year and returns state champion Teddy Mitchell, who will look to cap off his senior year with another state title and another trip to the Kinney National meet.

Mitchell, who has been a standout since his sophomore year, will be joined by Kevin Padgett, the state's top returning junior. Padgett was a big help in the state meet for the Greyhounds last year as a strong third runner.

Lake Brantley returns several strong runners as does Lake Howell and both have proven to be tough teams to beat over the past two years. Both Lake Brantley coach Charlie Harris and Lake Howell coach Joe Corso have had the programs on the rise and look to continue the upward flight this

Lake Mary is in the midst of building a powerhouse and is in the second of a three-year program set up by second-year coach Willie Calloway. Calloway lost just one senior last year and has just two

"We're very young but we're building," Calloway said. "We have some very talented runners and we're preparing for the future. We expect to have a good year and be even better next year."

Lake Mary will be led by junior Bob Robertson, who was an allconference member last year. Robertson also has seen action on the state level in track and hopes that experience will help him this year. Lake Mary has 30 runners out.

the most in several years, and Calloway is hoping that is the start of a tradition and the Rams will come alive and run with the better teams in the county and state.

"I'm expecting a powerhouse," Calloway said. "Last year we weren't that good. This year, we'll be better and next year we should be on top."

Lake Mary will also have the services of sophomore D.J. Lewis, junior Lance Hlavin, sophomore Justin Walker, junior Ed Russ, junior Brian Kidd, junior Tad Berhardt and senior transfer Phillip Martin.

"I'm hoping to see a great deal of improvement," Calloway said. "The team is working hard and they seem to be more than ready to let people know that they have improved."

Bucs come to terms with top-pick Thomas

United Press Interational

TAMPA - Nebraska All-America linebacker Broderick Thomas, the sixth player selected in the NFL draft, has reached an agreement in principle with the Tampa Bay Buccaneess and is expected to sign today, team officials said Sunday.

Buccaneers negotiator Phil ment had been reached and Thomas was scheduled to arrive in Tampa Monday afternoon. Thomas, who has missed six weeks of training camp and three exhibition games, may play in Saturday's pre-season finale at Cleveland.

"We could use him as a (pase) rusher and see what we get out of him there," said defensive coordinator Doug Graber. "We'll have to see how much recall he has from the spring. We certainly wouldn't throw him in there and start him. He's got to win that spet."

Tampa Bay Coach Ray Perkins

expects Thomas to start as a rookie at right outside linebacker, where Winston Moss failed to register a ck in 1988. Thomas has exceptional speed for his 6-foot-4, 245pound frame and led the Cornhuskers with 98 tackles and 10 sacks as a senior.

With the signing of kicker Donald Igwebulke last Thursday and Thomas' imminent signing, right defensive end Ron Holmes is the only Tampa Bay holdout.

Miami's Johnson faces major surgery for knee

Martina gives Arantxa a lesson

TORONTO - Martina Navratilova showed her game is in fine form heading into this week's U.S. Open with a 6-2, 6-2 victory Sunday over Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario in the final of the $300,000 Canadian Open Tennis Championships.

Navratilova, the tournament's top seed and the world's second ranked player, used a powerful serve to dominate her opponent, who won a 2 1/2 hour marathon semi-final match against Gabriela Sabatini on Saturday.

"I served better today than I did all week, and I'm sure that made a big difference," Navratilova said. "I've been working on my game and I'm happy with Navratilova said the U.S. Open has been the farthest thing from her mind during the tournament.

"I haven't thought about the (U.S.) Open at all." she said. "This is a national championship so it's more important than a regular event.

'I hadn't won this tournament in awhile and I was ready for it, I was totally intent on what I was doing out there.'

Rose tied to mob bookie

United Press International

CHICAGO - Investigators say Pete Rose placed at least six bets with Dominic Basso, a Chicago mob bookmaker who was convicted on gambling and conspiracy charges. even though Rose maintains he does not know the sports betting expert, a Chicago newspaper reported.

Sources close to the investigation of Rose's alleged gambling activities told the Chicago Sun-Times that John Dowd, hired by Commissioner Bart Glamatti to investigate Rose, tracked down six phone calls made by the former Cincinnati Reds star to Basso during a period of several years.

The report in the Sunday edition of the Sun-Times corroborates a statement made by former Detroit Tigers pitcher Denny McLain on his radio talk show Friday. McClain quoted former Rose associate Paul Januzen as saying Rose had Janszen place beta with a Chicago bookmaker.

Graf set to defend U.S. Open title

United Press International

NEW YORK - Entering the U.S. Open, which begins play today. Steffi Graf is clearly the defending champion most likely to repeat while Mats Wilander is likely to lose the sole remaining title from his glorious Graf, the top seed, has won six of the last seven Grand Slam tournaments and appears too good for her competition. Second-seed Martina Navratilova hasn't won a major title in two years and despite her protests, her best years are past. Third-seed Gabriela Sabatini has flashy groundstrokes but has shown neither the strategic mind nor the intense competitiveness and perseverance of Graf.

Wilander won three of the four Grand Siam titles in 1988 but has failed to win any tournaments this year. reaching only one final. He admits to a letdown after finally reaching his goal of No. 1 in the world.

"The Open is my last chance to make this year memorable," said the fifth seed. "If I don't win, I'll try and forget 1989 as soon as I can."

Latter Day Saints take third in softball invitational

From staff regards

ORLANDO - The Sanford Church of Latter Day Saints finished third in the Calvary of Assembly Church of Orlando Invitational Tournament at Lake Fairview Park Saturday.

Joined by three Calvary Assembly teams, the Latter Day Saints played in a round-robin format that was set up for the teams to get together for a day of competition, brotherhood, and fun. Each team that wasn't playing supplied an umpire. there were no trophies awarded and each team kept its own scorebook.

The Sanford team opened the tournament with a 16-2 victory over the Calvary Saints as they pounded out 16 hits. The game was halted in the bottom of the sixth inning by the mercy rule.

LDS started slowly, the score tied 2-2 going into the bottom of the fourth when it exploded for four runs. Then LDS put the game out of reach when it scored six runs in the fifth and four more runs in the sixth.

Robert Smith led the way with a double, two singles, two runs scored and three RBI. Also contributing were Tim Brumley (double, two singles, three runs scored, one RBI). Dean Smith (two singles, four RBI). Stan Brumley (double, single, two RBI) and Sherwood Zern (two singles, two runs scored, one RBI).

Others who played well were Rod Turner (double, run scored, two RBI). Lonnie Peeler (single, run scored, RBI), Gary Moore (single, run scored, RBI), Brantley Brumley (single, two runs scored), Rodney Hodges (two runs scored, RBI).

Richard Taylor (run scored) and Bobby Newman (run scored).

The Calvary Saints scored single runs in the third and fourth innings and collected 10 hits in the game. In the second game, the Calvary Reda scored three runs in the first and four runs in the fourth to defeat the Calvary Kings (made up of players 35 years of age and over) 7-1. The Reds out-hit the Kings 9-5.

The Saints got into the winners' column in game No. 3e when they scored eight runs in the top of the seventh to overcome an 8-2 defect and held on to defeat the Reds 10-8. The Saints collected seven of their 10 hits in the big seventh inning. The Reds collected 11 hits in the losing □See Softball, Page 2B

Rose's banishment an important lesson in accountability

I swore to myself that I wouldn't write anymore about Pete Rose. After all that has been written since he get shapped with a lifetime ban from bacchall jast Thursday morning, what more could I add?

But here in the wee hours of Sunday night/Monday morning. I find my mind wreating with a relatively minor but, to me, vitally important aspect of what happened and how this mess is perceived.

In much that I have read and heard in my travels this weekend of people's opinions concerning the Rose flasco is an almost uniform description of "poor Pete" and how he is a "victim" in this.

I see is a man fully aware of the rules that went along with his chosen profession and will-ingly broke them. Be it gambling or whatever Rose was referring to when he admitted that he had made "some mistakes" and that he was now paying for them. What is most infuriating to me about it is there seems to be no remorse, no regret for whatever for him to agree to a potential lifetime ban from the game that made him what he was, the game that gave him his very it's almost as if Rose believed that 4,256 hits earns him some kind of diplomatic immunity from the rules that haved helped the game transcend generations. His stance suggets a "So what? I broke the rules. The only thing I did wrong was get caught' attitude, sneering at the very idea that he should be subject to the same regulations everyone else must follow.

But what's even more shocking to me is that there seems to be a majority of basbeball fans who actually agree with him. "Who cares if he broke some silly rule? Everybody gambles. Look what he's done for the game. Aside from the fact that Rose bled the game dry in his maniacal chase of Ty Cobb and that he was lucky both the Montreal Expos and Cincinnati

Reds were desperate enough for a ticket draw to sign a singles hitter who didn't hit foe power or average, didn't steal bases and was just barely adequate de-fensively, Rose did nothing for baseball.

great players give way to another, we understand no player is bigger than the game itself or its rules. Rose made the unbelievably egotistical mistake of believing the opposite was

What makes Rose's selfcentered display all the more unpalatable is that it comes right before the start of the school year. A countless number of young, impressionable student athletes have watched this mess unfold over the summer. And from the vocal response of many supposedly responsible adults, what are they to learn that its OK to ignore the rules if you're good enough?

At a time when we read more and more stores that deal with the unethical and, in some cases, illegale activities of college and professional athletes, it is crucial that we start reminding ourselves and our youth that athletic excellence does not excuse irresponsibility.

One of the fundamental principals of athletic participation on a scholastic and professional level is that it is a privilege to be earned, not a right to be expected. Rose confused the two and is now paying the conse-quences. The least we can do is not obscure the message for the next generation: No one is above the rules. Whether you're a freshman in high school or baseball's all-time hits leader. you must be accountable for

Then LDS fell victim to some sloppy fielding in dropping a 5-4 fourth game of the day. LDS trailed 4-2 entering the top of the sixth when they scored a pair of runs to tie the score. But the Kings came up with a run in the bottom of the sixth to take the victory.

Leading the 10-hit LDS attack were Dean Smith (two singles and three RBI). Hodges (two singles and a run scored). Tim Brumley (two singles). Robert Smith (a single and one RBI). Peeler (a single and one run scored). Stan Brumley and Taylor (one single each), and Lingenfelter and Brantley Brumley (each with one run scored).

For the Kings, who also had 10 hits. Van Kleave had two singles and one RBI. Brady singled twice. Goslin had a single and two RBI. McKubin had a single. one run scored and one RBI. Callahan singled and scored twice, Nye and Wiel each singled and scored one run, and Harvard scored one run. The Kings came back in the fifth game with a 12-4 victory over the Saints to finish the tournament at 2-1. The Kings fell behind 4-1 but scored four runs in the fourth and sixth innings, one run in the fifth and two runs in the seventh to win easily. The Kings out-hit the Saints 15-10. The final game of the day was a contest between LDS and the Reds with the winner of the contest earning a share of the tournament championship. But as in game No. 2, however, LDS came up just short as the Reds scored three runs in the top of

DEAR ABBY: My husband has always been a heavy smok-er. (Four packs a day for the last 30 years.) Al-had a heart attack last year, and the doctor gave him some orders. Quit smoking (which he did, believe it or not) and avoid all excitement. (He was more specific: absolutely no fooling around with young girls unless he wanted to die in bed.)

Now Al tells me he's nervous and restless. He says he has to lead a more "normal" life and can't give up everything he enjoys. He's asked me if I would rather have him go back to smoking again or fooling around with young girls. Isn't that a choice for you?

How should I answer him? With all his faults, I do love him and don't want to be a widow. But which is worse, lung cancer or a heart attack?

AL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's a draw. But with a choice like that, you'd probably worry less if you saw Al smoking. (P.S. Your Al certainly is a shrewd trader.)

We've earned water restrictions

How many of you, while driv-ng down the road, have seen automatic sprinklers in use as we are having a rainstorm? It's time to stop wasting water and it is up to each of us to conserve it. With the recent restrictions on our outside water use, many of you are interested in ways to conserve water in the home landscape.

landscape.

Normal rainfall in our area averages around 80 inches per year, with more than half of that total falling between the months of June and September. The St. Johns Water Management District reports that we are several inches below our rainfall average and has placed Seminole County under water restrictions.

What does this mean to you as a homeowner? Would you be surprised to find out that meet people tend to overwater their landscape? Here are some timely tips on how to be "water-wise" about your landscape by letting your lawn tell you when to water.

It is difficult to give specific rules on watering since the times and amounts for watering depend on the types of plants in your landscape, its type of soil and the amount of water you get through rainfall. Niacin tablets good for high cholesterol

DEAR DR. GOTT: My elderly arents have been talked into spending their money on niacin tablets to reduce their cholesterol counts. Are they wasting their money?

DEAR READER: No. they're not. In fact, the vitamin niscin is a good, inexpensive over-the-counter medicine for controlling high cholesterol. The recom-mended dose is 1,500 to 3,000 milligrams per day. The new 500 milligram timed-release capaules are a relatively easy way to achieve the desired amounts, and they are less likely to cause flushing, which is the major side effect of niacin.

Of course, in addition to taking niscin, your parents must reduce cholesterol in their diets. This means limiting dairy products, trimming red meat (and buying low-fat cuts), avoiding luncheon meats and bacon and being careful about processed foods containing tropical oils, such as coconut oil and paim oil. which - although cholesterol-free-may raise blood cholesterol. If the niacin is not effective, your parents will have to consider taking other more expensive prescription drugs to reduce their cholesterol

To give you more information.

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Cholesterol." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369. Cleveland, OH 44101-3369; Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 70-year-old male with ulcerative colitis. I'm on several medications and am worse now than I was a year ago. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER: Ulcerative colitis is a chronic, inflammatory bowel disease of unknown cause, marked by intermittent bloody diarrhea, fever and abdominal cramps, leading to weight loss, roughage diet and the a may reduce the severity of attacks. Sometimes oral cor-tisone may be required to reduce inflammation. Surgery to re-move portions of diseased bowel is considered only in the presence of fulminating disease, hemorrhage or perforation of the bowel. You should be under the care of a gastroenterologist.

By James Jacoby There are circumstances in which you don't mind losing a finesse, as illustrated in today's deal, but first a word about the bidding. After North had made a forcing-to-game jump raise in spades, South could have embarked upon a complicated series of cue-bids. But South did not really intend to bid a grand slam. It was unlikely that his partner held the spade king, the club ace and a diamond holding that would cover the three potential losers in that suit. And that would be difficult to determine in any event. But small slam was a different story almost anything in the North hand would provide a good play for six. So South jumped right to six spades. Declarer now wanted to guarantee the contract, and he did. After winning the ace of hearts, he played a diamond to dummy's king, cashed the heart king throwing a diamond, and ruffed dummy's last low heart. Then he played a club to dummy's ace and played a spade. If East had followed. declarer would have fineseed. not caring if West won the singleton king. As it was, East discarded, and declarer simply won the ace and played another spade. West was on lead and had the choice of leading into the A-J of diamonds, playing the club king (which would be ruffed) or playing a heart, allowing de-clarer to ruff in either hand while getting rid of the possible diamond loser from the other. If East had followed to the spade from dummy. losing to the singleton king in the West hand would have achieved this same favorable result.
