Lake Mary Police Seek 'Abductor' A nationwide alert has been issued by the Lake Mary Police Department for Tim Bollinger, accused of abducting at about 11 p.m. Monday a 25-year-old Lake

The "be on the lookout" (BOLO) bulletin lists Bollinger as "armed and dangerous." Bollinger is described as 5 feet 11 inches tall with dark hair and beard. The victim is Deborah Clark. 261 Fourth St., Lake Mary, 25, 5 feet 3 inches tall, 118 pounds, with black hair. She was last seen wearing blue jeans and a striped shirt.

Bollinger and Ms. Clark are believed to be traveling in Bollinger's white over green Pontiac GTO bearing Ohio tags. "The subject should be considered dangerous and may be armed," said Lake Mary Police Sgt. David Higginbotham, "with a .357 magnum pistol and a machete."

Higginbotham said at 11 p.m. Monday Ms. Clark's sister, Pamela Collins, reported to the police at the Lake Mary station that Bollinger was abducting her sister from their home. Bollinger had roughed up a second sister, Linda Willis, breaking her nose, requiring treatment at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Ms. Clark and Ms. Willis were in bed sleeping when Bollinger, an ex-boyfriend of Ms. Clark's allegedly came into the house and threatened the three with a knife, saying he was going to kill them, Higginbotham said. Ms. Collins fought the assailant trying to help her sister, Linda, who Bollinger allegedly was beating. Ms. Collins then escaped from the house and drove the 10 blocks to the police station.

Higginbotham said four squad cars were put into the area immediately. The area and the nearby woods were filled with officers. Although the two were last seen on foot, Higginbotham said it is believed the two left in the Bollinger automobile.

China Blasts Soviets At Disarmament Conference

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI)- China, taking part for the first time in the Geneva Disarmament Conference, bitterly attacked the Soviet Union today for its invasion of Afghanistan.

Chinese Deputy Foreign Minister Zhang Wen-Jin said Moscow "is unmatched in its blind faith in the use of military force."

"Each year in the past decade it has come up with at least one novel disarmament proposal but at the same time has made a giant step in arms expansion," Zhang told the 40-nation conference at the opening of its 1980 session.

Soviet delegate Viktor Israelian twice interrupted Zhang on the grounds that conference procedure prohibits direct political attacks.

Leakey Uncovers New Clues

WASHINGTON (UPI)- Ancient footprints found in Africa suggest the ancestors of human beings had a family structure 3.6 million years ago, anthropologist Mary Leakey says.

Mrs. Leakey, reporting on her studies during the past year in northern Tanzania, said it now appears the 89-foot-long trail of prints, preserved by a rain of volcanic ash, was made by three individuals walking together-apparently a male, temale and offspring. "All three are in step and any slight deviation in course is closely followed by all three, suggesting they may have been holding on to one another," she said at a National Geographic Society news conference Monday.

Chicago Teachers May Defy Judge's Back-To-Work Order

CHICAGO (UPI) - Chicago Teachers' Union President Robert Healey ordered the city's more than 24,000 striking schoolteachers to defy a Cook County judge's back-to-work order today.

Interim Schools Superintendent Angeline P. Caruso, predicting the order would be ignored by striking teachers, late Monday announced the city's 654 school buildings would be closed today to both teachers and children, the second day in a row school children would be denied access to the classroom.

Teachers in the nation's third-largest school system walked off the job Jan. 28 to protest the School Board's failure to issue nearly $50 million in paychecks, but a strike, protesting teacher lay-offs and a shortened school year, was not officially called until Sunday

School Prayer Law Begins

BOSTON (UPI) - For the first time in more than 15 years, teachers and students in Massachusetts, public schools were allowed today to bow their heads and

But the new law may be short-lived. The Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts said it would challenge the statute in court "soon, possibly today." The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1963 local and state laws requiring recitation of the Lord's Prayer or Bible verses in public schools violated the Constitution's guarantee of separation of church and state.

The Massachusetts law, signed in November by Gov. Edward J. King, requires teachers to allow for a period of voluntary prayer before each day's classes begin. Any students not wishing to participate would be allowed to leave the room, as would the teacher. King signed the law despite claims it could not pass a constitutional test.

Lance Dealings In Records

ATLANTA (UPI) - Bank records show former federal budget director Bert Lance and co-defendant H. Jackson Mullins, who are on trial for bank fraud with two other associates, personally borrowed at least $200,000 — allegedly to cover bank overdrafts resulting from Lance's unsuccessful bid for governor of Georgia

However, prosecutors have not yet linked the loan defaults or other transactions to illegal acts. According to Justice Department attorney Edwin Tomko, that will be done with other witnesses later in the trial. As the trial enters its 14th day today, slightly more than a third of the witnesses being called to identify records from 60 banks and businesses have taken the

the party early Saturday. They never had a chance. They were quickly taken hostage and the rebel inmates were in their way to the administrative building where they threw he master switches, unlocking entire cellblocks in the overcrowded prison that held 1,136 inmates.

Within 30 minutes about 250 of those inmates had seized control of the New Mexico State Penitentiary, held 14 guards hostage and began their 36-hour war of racial violence and evenge against "snitches."

Inunates were hacked apart with homemade knives, tortured with blowtorches, castrated and raped. "When this thing started people just turned into animals, said one inmate who said he was bound and raped by 10 prisoners. "I'm lucky to be here." By early today, the bodies of 35 men - all inmates and most f them Mexican-American - had been recovered, but another 5 were still missing. Officials said they expected to find more bodies in the still-smoldering buildings, surpassing the bloody ecord of 43 killed in the Attica, N.Y., riot in 1971. Buildings were set ablaze and many of the prisoners died of smoke inhalation. Damage to the facility was estimated as high as $40 million. The rebels were more concerned with revenge than reform. They rifled administrative files to find where the informants

-the despised "snitches"-were housed. Then, armed with homemade knives, clubs, and a blowtorch went from cell to cell, maiming, killing and raping, surviving inmates said. Authorities said while some of the atrocities were for evenge, others were racially motivated.

The penitentiary's population is approximately 58 percent Mexican-American, 30 percent Anglo, 10 percent black and 1.5 percent Indian.

The rebels' fury was fed by drugs from the prison infirmary

Bundy Jury To Hear Tape

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) - Theodore Bundy started the day He could not seem to sit still. He was fidgeting in his chair, shuffling legal papers, scowling over his attorney's questions. But by the time court adjourned Monday, Bundy was grinning. He raised his fist in the air like a victorious boxer before strolling from the courtroom.

Bundy was jumpy until he learned that Circuit Judge Wallace M. Jopling would let the jury hear tape recordings that captured two hypnotic trances of former fireman C. L. "Andy" Anderson. His defense, which is expected to wind up today, is aimed at undermining Anderson's credibility.

Prosecutors believe he saw Bundy abducting Kimberly Diane Leach. The pretty 12-year-old girl vanished between classes on Feb. 9, 1978. Two months later, her decomposed, half-nude body was discovered 35 miles away when a trooper spotted a bone poking out from under an abandoned pig pen. Anderson waited almost six months before telling police about the day he was driving past Lake City Junior High AUTO WASH & WAX $1 095 School and saw a man resembling Bundy lead a crying girl into a white van.

He agreed to be hypnotized to improve his recall of the incident. He was not even sure what day he had seen the van and its occupants. After a hypnosis session with Imogene Keene, a social worker at a veteran's hospital, Anderson remembered it was the day after his young daughter's birthday, Feb. 8.

where they gobbled down incredible mixtures of tranquilizers, leeping pills and insulin — anything they thought would get them high. Some inmates also sniffed solvents and glue from the prison's industrial facilities.

Seven of the deaths were attributed to self-administered drug overdoses and prison officials say the violence was heightened by drug-crazed inmates. During the carnage, prison officials, state troopers, National Guardsmen, reporters and Gov. Bruce King stood watch outside the prison's 20-foot-high barbed-wire topped fence. The officials communicated with the out-of-control inmates via two-way radios. What they heard was frightening.

"We've got 15 dead people in A-1 (a cellblock)," said an inmate identified as Chopper 1. "You tell those people out there that we're going to start had been partially severed. In one cell, a dead inmate had a wooden stake protruding from the left side of his head. Prison officials reported some of the dead had their eyes gouged out, their sexual organs removed and their arms and legs severed.

On Monday as the surviving prisoners huddled in the 20 degree cold, separated in groups of 50-60, a small flock of buzzards hovered in the skies above the smoky stench emanating from the prison.

Warden Jerry Griffin led reporters in. A 10-foot-long, 4-foot-wide stripe of blood ran from the back of one cell into a narrow hall.

The warden's tour also went to the still-smoldering prison gymnasium. Lt. Col. VIEWPOINT lhanks, We Sure Needed It

By DON GRAFF

If there is one ally Americans are currently up on it's Canada, hands down.

The Canadian-engineered escape of U.S. diplomats from Tehran by no means resolves the embassy impasse. In fact, in making the self-important Iranian militants look slightly ridiculous before a world audience it may have temporarily set back gropings toward a face-saving resolution.

But six out is far better than none, and the exploit came just whan a lift was needed from a steady flow of somber news.

The Canadian caper, one Canadian newspaper headlined it. But although the ents for a good thriller are certainly there, it is considerably more than that.

It is a heartening example of one ally's willingness to subordinate its own interests to assist another for the ultimate benefit of all. And from the viewpoint of most Americans, there isn't much of that going around these

Further, the helping hand comes from a nation that has its own serious differences with the United States, although most Americans are scarcely aware of them.

Canadians, however, are well aware that history and geography have made their thinly populated and politically fragile confederation neighbor to a colossus capable of swallowing them up without being really aware of doing so.

It is not open political annexation that concerns Canadians but what appears to them as economic and cultural aggression. The markets and resources to the north are an obvious area for expansion of the multirillion-dollar American economy.

To prevent a complete takeover, Canada has erected legal barricades against American industry and even publications and elevision. Canadian authorities have been skirmishing most recently with U.S. broadcasters just south of the 3,000-mile border. The objection is not directly to Canadian audiences viewing American programs but to siphoning off advertising collars at the expense, and possibly survival, of local Canadian stations.

Despite these adversary aspects of the relationship, Canada has performed in trueblue fashion during the current chain of crises. It promptly cooperated with the U.S. grain embargo against the Soviet Union and was among the first to voice the possibility of an Olympic boycott.

And now the Tehran caper. There ought to be more of this going around.

"Soviet fighter design philosophy emphasizes simplicity, reliability and minimum cost," states a secret Defense Intelligence Agency analysis. As a result, "the Warsaw Pact air forces are maintained at a high state of material readiness in peacetime." What's worse is that high performance doesn't necessarily mean effectiveness in combat. READY? TOO LATE! - When the CIA, the Defense Intelligence Agency and the Air Force's own intelligence branch testify on Capitol Hill, each paints a different picture of the Soviet threat. Congressional sources say the Air Force is easily the most alarmist. As one staff aide put it: "The CIA will say" the Russians are about to come. DIA will say they're on their way. And Air Force intelligence will say they're already here."

Payne, Toth Should Work For Chamber

When you're number eight, you try harder. And it works. Bill Payne and his Fighting Seminole basketball squad, who could break a school single season winning record tonight when they entertain the Lyman Greyhounds at 8:00 p.m., made a big jump in the Florida Prep Basketball poll today. Seemingly firmly entrenched at the number eight spot for four weeks, the Tribe vaulted into the number five position on the heels of a 21-1 season slate.

Combine that with Five Star Conference foe Daytona Beach Mainland's short trip from number three to two and yes, Central Florida, the Five Star Conference has arrived. Between Tribe coach Bill Payne and Mainland coach Dick Toth, the two Five Star teams have outclassed most opponents this season enroute to rolling up a combined 41-2 record. Many a coach has dreamed about a 41-2 record folks. While Toth somewhat inherited the Mainland dynasty, Payne cultivated his own home grown over a four year span, turning last season's sometimes ragged, sometimes spectacular bunch of juniors into a definite conference and state playoff threat. But it's tonight's contest that has Payne a little concerned.

'Lyman has always played us tough, we had a couple of hard games against them earlier this season," points out the Tribe boss. "And we know they'd like nothing better than to knock us RECORD

Payne's observations of 'I'om Lawrence's Greyhounds is correct. Lyman has played like that little girl in the fairy tales. When the Greyhounds have been good, they're very, very good. But when they've played badly, the play very badly. While the Greyhounds hope that the third time meeting will provide the jinx they need to upset Seminole, Payne and company will be looking for victory number 22 on the year, a win that would set a new school record and give the Seminoles something to paste up in their scrapbooks.

Another local squad making the poll this week is Gregg Robinson's Bishop Moore Hornets out of the Orange Belt Conference. The Hornets have rolled to an 18-3 slate, despite playing without their leading scorer in the last three outings. That record is good enough for the number six spot in the class his squad deserve a compliment. Despite struggling to " current 3-18 slate, Lake Brantley's squad, depleted somewhat by graduation and lack of height, certainly lacks nothing in the lines of enthusiasm and sportsmanship.

It would have been easy for both players and coach to throw in the towel in view of the squad's won-loss record, but when game time rolls around the Patriots are as spirited and fiesty as a team in contention for a championship. It's nice to see that character building and sportsmanship is still alive in high school athletics.

game against Leesburg. Following the Panthers will be a Sanford junior varsity matchup against Lyman and then the state's fifth-ranked Fighting Seminoles take on the Greyhounds of Tom Lawrence

In preparation for Leesburg, Crooms tuned up on a pesky Bishop Moore 64-59 Monday night in the Crooms Gym. The 21st victory nudged last year's winning total by one. Playmaking guard Vernon Law was the chief mechanic for the Panthers in the fourth quarter. The 5-7 Law tallied 10 of his team leading 15 points in the last period. Included in the 10 were four free throws to hold off the young hornets.

"We made our free throws in the fourth quarter, that's what held them off," Marlett said of the five charity tosses. Helping Law in the scoring parade were Calvin "KiKi" Bryant with 14 points and quick guard Dion Jackson with 13 markers

The Panthers jumped to a 12-9 lead after the first quarter and increased it to 29-25 at halftime. A 12-10 third quarter gave them a little breathing room, but the Hornets rallied with a big 24-point fourth quarter to keep things tight.

Bishop Moore also put three players in double figures led by Mike Gay's 18 points. Casey Cavanaugh with 12 and Mike Tessitore with 11 helped the cause. BISHOP MOORE (59) Shimkonis 5, Gay 18, Tessitore 11

MEXICO CITY (UPI) - The Soviet Union's national airline will help transport athletes from "poor" countries to the summer Olympic Games in Moscow in an apparent attempt to counter the U.S. sponsored boycott of the games. Mario Vazquez Rana, president of the Mexican Olympic Committee, said Monday the Soviet Union's Aeroflot Airline agreed to help transport the athletes.

Although all the details were not clear, it appeared that under the plan athletes from Latin America would have to make their way to one of four takeoff points - the United States, Peru, Mexico or Cuba from where they would be flown by the Russians to Moscow. It was not known whether the Soviet offer would also extend to athletes from developing countries in Africa and elsewhere.

"An official communication informs me that the help is for transportation, exclusively by Aeroflot," added Vazquez, who also serves as president of the Association of National Olympic Committees.

Vazquez, who said he requested Aeroflot pick up 50 percent of the athletes' transportation costs, did not specify how much help was promised. Vazquez made the comments during a brief news conference at the end of the first of two days of meetings by 32 of ANOC's 141 standards, but plays no role in the meeting started.

Preceptor Beta Lambda

Seventeen members and guests of Preceptor Beta Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, spent a recent evening on the town.

Those enjoying an epicurean treat at the Spaghetti Factory included E.W. Cooley, Glenda and Jimmy Emerson, June and Charlie Helms, Ruth, Harry and Grace Hoffon, Amoret and John LaRosa, Delora and Francis Mark, Kay McFarland, Joyce and Charles Sammet and Vertis and Eddie Sauls. After posing for several photographs, the group was entertained by violinist and pianist who played special requested musical selections from "The Sound of Music." Amid cheers from less hearty members of the group, several of the braver participants took their first flight in Rosie O'Grady's 1776 helium balloon after the dinner. It was a night to remember!

Cold Forces FPL Record

MIAMI (UPI) - Florida Power & Light officials are bracing for more of the chilly weather that brought a one-hour power usage record this week as South Floridians warded off the early-morning cold with electricity.

The state's biggest power company plans to cut back electricity to 196 industries this morning to give people more power for their heaters, spokesman Charles Scheer said. Monday night, as people came home and took the day-long chill off their houses, FPL cut back its "curtailables" for the first time since Jan. 20, 1977, the day it snowed in Miami. The "curtailable" customers - FPL's biggest industrial and commericial users - had their electricity cut back for five hours Monday evening. It is being cut back from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. this morning. Scheer said.

Scheer said temperatures tonight and Wednesday are expected to be warmer than earlier this week, and no decision has been made on whether to curtail industrial power then or Thursday - when another cold front is expected to send. temperatures dipping again.

Between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday morning, when temperatures dipped into the 30s, electricity demand in South Florida was 9.217 megawatts, Scheer said - higher by 400 megawatts than the previous "winter peak" set Feb. 2, 1979.

"Everybody was in the shower trying to warm up, running their heaters, turning portable ones on - maybe even sticking their feet in the oven," he said.

Winter peaks are "spike peaks," higher but shorter than the "hump peaks" of summer, Scheer said. A summer record, set last year, averaged 8,900 megawatts over four or five hours, he

This week's chilly weather caught FPL with four generating units down for refueling or maintainance, he said, and the NW 14 company purchased about 300,000 kilowatts from Georgia Name in which assessed dinance of the City of Sanford, utilities over an electricity swapping link hooked up recently. One of the units down, at the Sanford plant, was put back on line later Monday, Scheer said. Another, at Cape Canaveral, is due to begin generating again Saturday, and the others should be back up shortly after that.

FOR THE BIRDS

The gifted class at Longwood Elementary School decided to publish and sell its own newspaper recently, and the proceeds, students decided, would go to the Central Florida Zoo. Principal Arletta Coberly, teacher Joy Zerivitz, and the paper's editor, Todd Hamilton, present the check to George the cockatoo and the zoo's education coordinator Bill Thacker (top). Meanwhile a kildeer flying through Sanford got confused and banged up a bit when it flew into a fence near Hopper Elementary school Tuesday. Brian Bruce, a fifth-grader at the school found it and took the bird to class for a little first aid. Bruce (second from left) shows the bird to classmates Brian Benson (left), Mike Gross and Shawn Taylor. Hopper teachers Randal Russi and Susanne Folley planned to give the injured bird to the Audubon House in Maitland.
