

How A Miss Can Be Taught Not to Miss What She Shoots At

By MARGARET KERNDLE
AP Features Writer

BATTSURE: "We," Feb. 23. The first three shots went wild. "The World's Best Shot" said "Maggie, a pistol in your hands is a dangerous thing. I'd better teach you how to shoot." And he did.

So, come closer, Mister Hitler, and I'll tell you my military secret.

Yesterday, like a lot of other American women, I'd never had a pistol in my hands before. Yesterday, had I had you, it would have been an accident.

Today this man who has outshot representatives of the "master race" and all other challengers, says:

"Maggie can shoot a man."

He means it. I can.

Besides, he says the average American woman can learn to shoot in two hours with a little preliminary instruction and 50 shots. I mean to shoot to kill.

He's taught quite a few women to shoot. He's even taught some wives of military men and admits the women turned out to be better shots than their husbands. He hasn't been doing any official Army instruction recently. Right now he's in one of those confidential jobs at Third Service Command Headquarters which you don't mention much later he will be closer to the ranges.

He'd like to see every American learn to shoot effectively right this minute. He'd love to teach WAACs to shoot (but don't tell his wife) and let the girls mind the home front but mind it well!

This man is Capt. William P. Schweitzer, who in 1939 shot 200 bull's eyes for a world's record. One man, Col. James P. Wharton, once outshot him (but not in tournaments). The only man who ever outshot Colonel Wharton was Gen. Ike Eisenhower. It happened at Fort Monard, Md., back in the twenties.

Colonel Wharton and Captain Schweitzer put me through the pistol paces like this:

West Side Primary

Our school has finished our book "Report to the Nation". It has been turned in to Mr. Lawton to be sent to the President. It was divided into three divisions, "Save, Serve, Conserve". All illustrated with stick figures.

The following is from our book "Our Victory Garden": Mrs. St. John's first grade.

Bright and early one morning in Feb. Carol came tripping in with a handful of beans. She wanted to plant a garden because her Daddy had planted a garden. This idea met with instant approval, in fact all the children were ready to leave school at once and go outdoors to dig up a place to plant the garden. This handful of beans led to the discussion of seeds, soil, fertilizer, sunshine, rain, etc. We placed several corn and bean seeds in a glass and put a blotter between the seeds and the soil. Thus by keeping the soil wet, the seeds could sprout against the blotter and we could watch the development of the plants as it grew. We decided to use a small plot of ground back of the school and plant a garden. We planted potatoes, corn, beans, peas, lettuce, cabbage, radishes, and turnips. From this small garden and interest in it, the children turned to the study of fruits and vegetables. This is our small contribution towards doing our part in the "War Effort".

Junior Red Cross Miss Stokes' second grade.

Each year our school has joined the Junior Red Cross but this year when we handled in our membership drive the children felt they had a definite share in the War Program.

When the Red Cross tags came, each child bought one and worked to show he was a member. The children filled the kit bags, they were given in record time. A committee was selected among the children to buy the articles needed. A study of dollars and cents resulted and this directed us to buying stamps and Bonds.

The teachers as well as the pupils have been doing their share. Each teacher has taken the Standard and Advanced course offered by the Red Cross. We have certain days that we observe airplanes and work at the ration board. Our newest venture is in the study of tools. We are all enrolled in the Food Course prepared by the United States Government. Our efforts have inspired the children to the study of food and the importance of eating nourishing foods to build healthy strong bodies.

Tom Lieb Completes One Physical Program

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 24.—Coach Tom Lieb and his physical fitness training crew at the University of Florida have at last completed the mammoth task of completing the physical fitness program at the State University.

Improvement has been noticed in all phases and as a result an expansion is now in progress. For instance, 98.4 percent of those completing the difficult obstacle course did it in less than three and one-half minutes. When the program was inaugurated a lot of these same men could not complete the course. Charles McTosall, Auburndale, set a record of one minute, 54 seconds that will be hard to break.

In the matter of push-ups, 651 students improved five or more, 115 ten or more, and 19 improved 15 or more. Improvement in running ranged from one time more to five times more for 517 students. In the rope climb, 212 improved five feet or more over 32 September and 32 improved 10 feet or more. A total of 28 students improved from 10 to 20 feet. Similar records of improvement were made in swimming, leg lifts, hand jumps, and the 220-yard dash.

Cardinals Put Out Help Wanted Sign

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24, (AP)—The World Champion Cardinals, who were doing a booming business selling surplus players from their training farm system, yesterday put out a "help wanted" sign.

An advertisement, probably the precedent in the history of baseball, said the Cardinals had openings on their minor league clubs for free agents with previous professional experience. It appeared in this week's issue of the Sporting News, national baseball weekly.

"These are unusual times," said Press Sun Henson in explanation of the unusual advertisement.

The Cardinals organization, which formerly supplied nearly all major league teams with players, has had a different customer since the war. The armed forces have taken more than 255 athletes from the team's coast-to-coast system.

have bought $450 in stamps and Bonds since the drive began. The pupils are very loyal and very enthusiastic over filling their stamp books. Every Tuesday morning a grade mother comes over and collects the money that has been brought in. She goes to the Post Office and buys the stamps and brings them back to the school.

The four grades in the school compete with one another to see which one can buy the most stamps on Tuesday morning. Every Monday morning the children take their War Saving Stamps Chart and decide what they want to buy for that week and work towards that goal. In this way the children know what their money is buying and they are kept interested.

Last Fall all of the schools in Seminole county took part in the National Drive for scrap material, to help make necessary war equipment in this present emergency. Our County School Superintendent Prof. F. W. Lawton came over to our school the day we launched our drive. He gave us a wonderful pep talk that inspired the four teachers and the 117 pupils. Miss Stokes, our principal, introduced a very attractive contest early in the drive. This contest had a list of offices for volunteer workers printed at the top with beautiful ribbon badges to be awarded those who could bring in the required metal of scrap within two weeks. At the present time we have a grand total of 20,000 pounds.

The following are the letters that were chosen to go in our "Report to the Nation".

Scrap

Our Country is at war. I had three Uncles in the last World War. Now I want to help by getting scrap.

My Uncles have done their part now I'm doing what I can. I have collected 482 pounds of scrap with the help of my Dad, Aunt Lee and Uncle Tab.

With all the old scrap we collect, I know we can make some dirty Japs. "Lookout Mr. Jap, here comes our scrap".

Guess what I've been doing today? Gathering scrap instead of play. We can't win the war in a day. We will need the help of you and me. Before this awful war is through. From scrap we make more tanks. And Uncle Sam will give us thanks.

A game has to possess an extra something to have such widespread popularity as bowling. That's true of a soft drink. Coca-Cola had to be good to become the best-liked soft drink on earth.

Choicest ingredients and a finished art in its making produce in Coca-Cola a drink that stands apart. Notice how you never tire of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Its taste never fails to please. And Coca-Cola more than quenches thirst. It adds refreshment. Makes any rest-pause, the pause that refreshes. Enjoy it whenever you can.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Despite Weather, Reds Sweep Along Entire Battle Front

Soviet Shock Troops Capture Two More Towns In Advance West Of Kharkov

(By Associated Press) Russian troops are sweeping ahead along the entire front in the face of enemy counter-attacks and despite deep snows in Orsk and Kurak provinces and thick, sticky mud in the Ukraine and northern Caucasus, field dispatches today said. Aerial activity also increased.

The Soviet High Command said Red shock troops captured two more large towns in a drive west of Kharkov toward the Dnieper River while a height beyond Row-tov was retreating in hand-to-hand fighting.

The Russians said those two battalions now were being annihilated after refusing to surrender.

Heavy German counter-attacks with tank and plane support were acknowledged in the Donets Basin. While claiming the repulse of most of these, the Russians admitted German units had driven a wedge into their lines southwest of Kravotark. This town is about 50 miles above Stalino whence the Nazi escape railway runs out of the Donets Basin.

Thirteen German tanks were destroyed in the fighting, but the bulletin did not tell of the final outcome.

The locally seized west of Kharkov was not identified. Nor did the Russians mention the progress of their troops driving toward the Dnieper River. The units had been reported about 20 miles from the river in an effort to trap German armor in the west.

Dispatches said a thrust was being made in the Ukraine, and the final bulletin indicated that muddy roads might have slackened Red Army operations.

Several more complicated places were captured in the Western Caucasus drive from Kravotark toward Novorossiisk, the bulletin said. Russian units last were reported 40 miles east of Novorossiisk.

These dispatches said "The offensive in the Donets Basin is gradually coming to a head" and "The final offensive is being launched in the Caucasus" where German troops are pinned into a narrow pocket based on Novorossiisk, Black Sea port.

More Babies Born In 1942 Than Any Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. — More babies were born in the United States in 1942 than in any previous year in history, the Bureau of the Census reported yesterday.

The bureau estimated that there were 3,000,000 births in 1942, compared with the previous record of 2,850,000 in 1921 and 2,715,000 in 1921.

The number of registered births in 1942 was estimated at 2,800,000, or 20.3 per cent of population. The final estimate is not yet available, but the bureau said that the birth rate in 1942 was the highest since 1925.

In general, the birth rate increased in the areas which had the lowest rates in 1939. The highest and lowest birth rates were in the East North Central States and the Pacific Coast States, respectively.

R.A.F. Renews Assault Upon Axis Targets

Pound Wilhelmshaven U-Boat Nest And Again Hit Italian Seaport Of Naples

(By Associated Press) Bombs, crashing at the enemy rear, Commando-like killed raiders were today reported to have attacked and wrecked a Japanese seaplane carrier 60 miles below Atarab in Burma.

The R.A.F. returned to assault the U-boat nest at Wilhelmshaven last night and raised other targets in western Germany. Without the loss of a plane the British announced the Italian port of Naples was bombed by Allied aircraft.

Naval air force planes, taking advantage of lifting channel fog, Wednesday resumed their continuing offensive in which more than 100 tons of bombs have been dropped on Germany. Italy and the Axis-occupied countries.

Turning to a discussion of the Tunisian campaign, the air commander said the Germans employed about 100 dive bombers in the first day of last week's battle, but in the next two days, dive bombers all but disappeared and were replaced by fighter bombers.

He said the Germans were believed to have about 50 dive bombers in Tunisia.

Florida Grows Anxious For Proper Regulation Of Prices

Stating that Florida growers are anxious for proper regulation of prices, that will stabilize the market, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce today urged the Federal Government to take prompt action to regulate the prices of agricultural products.

Returning to the agricultural situation, the Chamber stated that the Federal Government should take prompt action to regulate the prices of agricultural products.

Vegetable Sales At State Market Continue As Usual

Sales of fruits and vegetables at the State Market, Sanford, are continuing at their usual rate, and supplies will be few exceptions are being reported by H. J. Lehman, market manager.

These are still plenty of vegetables as beans, and tomatoes, in spite of the cold weather, which reached down into the productive sections in the south part of the state, and the market is good for cabbage, cauliflower, and other vegetables.

Business is going right along on the usual basis in spite of the temporary OPA price ceiling on fresh vegetables, he added, and said that there is some confusion in regard to these ceilings, but one seems whether they apply to the farmer or to the retailer.

Celery prices are showing outstanding increases, in spite of the fact that no price ceiling has yet been put upon it, according to C. B. Miller, U.S. celery inspector at the market, who, however, predicted that prices may rise to $2.50 per ton, or $2.50 per bushel, if the present conditions are not at all unusual. It is very doubtful if the reduced tonnage to be had in this state will return as much money to growers as a larger crop at a lower price.

"The question of ceiling prices on cabbage is in the hands of the Government. There are a number of people that think retail prices only should be pegged because it is a fact that retail prices do not fluctuate like wholesale prices. For instance, if cabbage is selling for $5 a ton here, it would be $2.50 per bushel."

Two Forrests Are Fighting Men In Pages Of History

By JAMES THOMAS
AP Features
FORT GEORGE WRIGHT, Wash., Feb. 25.—The statue of Nathan Bedford Forrest stands in Memphis, Tenn. A tight-jawed Army chief of staff pilots bombs at this Army air base.

There is a link between the statue and the pilot. Both are Forrests—and fighting men. The man on horseback, Lieut. General Nathan Bedford Forrest, famous Confederate cavalry leader, was the great grandfather of the chief of staff. Brig. General Nathan Bedford Forrest.

The old general was a dreaded rider for the South during the War Between the States. General Forrest II is a staunch admirer of his unorthodox forbear.

"He was not bound by tradition," says the airman. "He sides, he was a master at the art of deception and surprise. He hit and ran, nearly always against superior forces. He was the real predecessor of modern blitz warfare insofar as his equipment would permit."

Old General Forrest likewise was the first cavalry leader to use his horse as a modern cavalry is used, his 37-year-old descendant explained. Horses were used for mobility, but when the fighting began the men dismounted and operated from whatever cover was available—really mounted in infantry.

His famous slogan, "Get there firstest with the mostest," is the motto of the 11th Air Cavalry of 1942, but, says his great-grandson, he probably never said it like that at all. Letters and papers show that the first General Forrest, although he had little formal education, expressed himself well.

Another famous saying of the general was the order given to "charge both ways" when he was hemmed in by Federal troops. The contradictory order worked and Forrest's troops fought first in the face of superior Federal forces.

Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest (the second), a modern soldier and a youthful man with swirls of hair around his eyes from scouting at the sun, has been in the Air Force since he graduated from West Point in 1928. He has more than 4,000 hours of flying time to his credit and has served with every type of combat unit from lighters to heavy bombers.

He came to Fort Wright when the 11th Air Cavalry was activated in 1941 as executive officer of the 6th bombardment wing. Successively, he was executive officer of the 11th Air Cavalry, command and G-3 officer of the Second Air Force, then chief of staff.

Navy Air Gunners Single Incomes Will Be Taught By Champ Trapshot In 1942 Increase By 23 Percent

By HAROLD V. RAUF
AP Features
NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 25.—Tommy Lovett is going to teach young Americans all his tricks so they can put method into their shooting against the Axis.

This was the highest total for any year since the Commerce Department began keeping records on income payments and sends the department's index soaring to 1942 as compared with the 1939 level of 100.

Mr. Jones said that four-fifths of the total increase in income payments in 1942 was contributed by manufacturing wages and salaries. Federal government pay rolls and the net income of farm operators, three components which constituted only one-third of total income paid to individuals in 1941.

Net income of farm operators last year reached the unprecedented total of $9,500,000,000. Mr. Jones said 58 per cent greater than 1941. Federal government pay rolls and salaries increased 27.2 per cent from $61,913,000,000 to $79,171,000,000. Manufacturing pay rolls advanced 41 per cent to $10,400,000,000.

Federal government pay rolls more than doubled last year. Pay rolls in industries affected less directly by war-time spending—trade, service, finance and public utilities—advanced about 12 per cent. Work related wages were cut about 50 per cent to $866,000,000.

"Not only has the volume of income payments expanded greatly during the war period," Mr. Jones said, but the composition of the total has changed materially.

"Wages and salaries advanced from 85 per cent of total income payments in 1939 to 70 per cent in 1942. Dividends and interest, on the other hand, dropped from 13 per cent of the total in 1939 to 8 per cent in 1942.

"Equally important shifts have occurred in the industrial sources of the nation's income flow during the war period. Agriculture, for example, has improved its relative position. Total agricultural income, which doubled between 1939 and 1942, advanced from 8 to 11 per cent of total income payments, payments to employees in the manufacturing, mining and construction industries formed 22 per cent of the total income in 1939 and 31 per cent in 1942. The distribution of service groups declined sharply to relative importance after 1939 while government pay rolls (including military) advanced from 9 to 12 per cent of all income paid out to individuals."

Lolett's flag consists of two horizontal stripes of equal width, dark blue above red.

Club, is it? he was asked. "Well, we flew it, little more rapidly," he grinned.

Kin Of Hamilton Receives Highest Military Award

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (Special)—Lieutenant Colonel Pierpont Morgan Hamilton, nephew of J. P. Morgan and great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton, has received the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military award, for risking his life in an attempt to secure the cessation of hostilities near Port Lyautey, Morocco, during the American landings in North Africa last November. It was announced yesterday.

The forty-four-year-old member of the Army Air Corps, whose home is at 115 East Fifty-first Street, was cited for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action beyond the call of duty."

Colonel Hamilton's daring exploit began on Nov. 8, when he and Colonel Deman Crowe, of Charleston, S. C., volunteered to carry a message through the French line of fire appealing to the commandant at Lyautey to lay down their arms and join the Allies.

Leaving their transport under cover of gunfire, they made their way to the mouth of the Sabor River, where they were blocked by a submarine net across the river. They quickly abandoned their boat for a jeep which carried them and a French flag as well as a flag of truce.

Private Oris W. Corey, of Ewart, Mich., who drove the jeep, maneuvered the little machine into a warship as he hopped out of the way of shells fired by French naval vessels and zigzagged through machine-gun fire of the plane.

But the worst was still to come. The three men ran into a battery of French 75's, which brought the little jeep to a respectful halt. Overcome by superior arms, Colonel Hamilton and his two colleagues, escorted to headquarters in a short time they won over a French lieutenant, who wished they well as he let them pass.

Continuing down the road, they reached a knoll past a fork in the road. There they were met by a burst of fire from a machine-gun which instantly killed Hamilton, leaped out, picked up his body and put it in the jeep. A French captain appeared and made him and his two companions.

Again Colonel Hamilton, determined to get his message to the commanding officer, resorted to diplomacy. He insisted on seeing a ranking officer and was taken to the commander of the 1st Regiment of Moroccan Riflemen, Al Wazneke. Wild Bill Hallahan, alias story, the French officer expressed regret for the incident and took him to headquarters at Port Lyautey.

There the message from the commanding officer of the American landing party was delivered. Wazneke and the other officers drew and declared the port an open city. Later, the French commander issued the order to cease fire and the net was pulled down. Henri Philippe Dettain had authorized the order.

When the American forces entered the city, they found Hamilton's body and the net. Major General George C. Patton, commander of American troops in North Africa, cited the three men for one of the most outstanding examples of heroism.

Colonel Hamilton had been prepared for his exploit the previous summer, when he learned of commando tactics as an aid to Lord Louis Mountbatten, whom he assisted in planning the Commando raid on Dieppe. He was a member of the Army Air Corps in the last war, and in June, 1942, he left England after being reappointed. Colonel Hamilton formerly was president of the Ford Motor Company, Inc., 48 West Forty-eighth Street, dealing in color films used in amateur and commercial motion pictures. His wife, the former Miss Rebecca Nickney, lives at the family residence in New York.

Two of his sons by a previous marriage also are in the service. Philip Schuyler Hamilton, twenty-two years old, is an ensign in the Navy and David B. Hamilton, twenty-one, is an Air Corps Cadet. A third son, Ian Hamilton, eighteen, is a student at Harvard University.

Mail Orders And Chain Store Sales Rise 12 Percent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chain store and mail order sales throughout the United States totaled $14,000,000,000 in 1942, a gain of 12 percent over 1941 and 35 percent as compared with 1940, according to estimates of the Department of Commerce based on a representative sample of the trade.

The most important increases among the major trade groups in 1942 as compared with 1941 were registered by apparel, grocery and drug chains. Of the apparel group, women's wear was about one-third larger and shoes about one-fourth, and variety stores expanded about one-twentieth. The latter trade experienced unprecedented business during the first three months of 1942, but fell sharply below 1941 levels during the remainder of the year. Grocery and drug store trade increased about one-fifth and variety one-seventh, while catalog sales of mail order houses were severely curtailed, increasing their total by only 1 percent.

All major lines of trade showed the first quarter of the year recorded a pronounced rise over the corresponding period of 1941. As the year progressed, however, the effects of shortages, restrictions and regulations growing out of the war economy were reflected in a marked degree in reduced sales of those stores dealing principally in durable goods items. A 27 percent gain recorded for the first quarter of the year was narrowed to 10 percent for the second quarter, and further reduced to 8 percent for the third. The final quarter also averaged 8 percent above the comparative 1941 period, notwithstanding a poor December comparison.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 25—If Fred Ankenman ever sits down to write a book on baseball he'll have to watch himself or it'll run into a whole library.

Speaking of material; well, Ankenman sent such fellows as Dizzy and Paul Dean, Lou Warneke, Wild Bill Hallahan, Poppy Martin, Johnny Rizzo and Howard Pollet to the big show, and that's just a starter.

Ankenman resigned as president of the Houston Buffs of the Texas League the other day. He had been with the Buffs 27 years, five as secretary and 17 as president, and the roster of stars who went from the Houston mill reads like a list of all time greats in baseball.

During his service here he signed more than 1,500 players to contracts. The Buffs finished on top of the Texas League six times, second five times, third two times, fifth five times, sixth two times, and seventh twice. Not once did the Buffs end up in the cellar.

His two biggest years offered him the most severe headaches. First was in 1928 when the Buffs, with one of the strongest teams in minor league history, waded through for a pennant and the Dixie Series championship with such men as Hallahan, Watkins, Red Worthington, Caray Selph and Heinie Schibbe, and drawing the fans by the thousands every game.

And as far as players who received a trial or got most of their schooling with the Buffs in his many years of service, look at these names:

The Dean brothers, Hallahan, Flint Rheem, Mort Cooper, Howard Kriak, Ernie White, Mickey Owen, Jim Bottomley, Stu Moffitt, Don Gutierrez, Johnny Hopp, Danny Murtaugh, Ray Blades, Chick Stacey, Joe Medwick, Ival Gooden and so on. Yes, quite a gang of fellows to figure in a fellow's memoirs.

headaches like that guy, the greatest showman of them all! Ankenman either slipped or was largely responsible for signing such players as Gus Mancuso, Frank Barnes, Johnny Hudson, George Mungler, Johnny Monroe, Ray Benge, Heinie Schibbe, Lou Warneke, Johnny Rizzo, Gene Bailey, Wally Watkins, Red Lynn, Howard Pollet, Homer Peel and his own son, Pat Ankenman, who last year managed New Orleans of the Southern Association.

Another basketball clash at Seabreeze High School is planned for this evening by the Celery Fed quint, providing they do not get a call not to come. Coach Leonard McLucas, said this morning. If the Feds win it will be their third victory over Coach Russell McCracken's basket shooters.

The probable Fed lineup will be Lew and Brock, forwards, Daniels, center, and Fleming and Deke, guards, according to Coach McLucas.

Right Fertilizer Is Necessary For Victory Gardens

By ROBERT GEIGER

Fertilizers are so scarce this year that precious nitrogen preparations have been put up in special packages and labeled "For Victory Gardens or Food Production Only."

They are especially for the city Victory gardeners but the U. S. Department of Agriculture says that they be purchased only when well rotted leafmold or animal fertilizers are not available in sufficient quantities.

Nitrogen is a necessity in manufacturing ammunition and although it was commonly available before the war in a five percent mixture with 10 percent phosphorus and five percent potash, the percentage of nitrogen this year has been cut to three percent with eight percent phosphorus and seven percent potash.

Department of Agriculture experts say this new mixture is satisfactory for vegetable gardens but they add that extra care should be taken in preparing the

Commissions Are Being Extended To Merchant Marines

Special Suggestions

Here are the department's special 1943 suggestions for Victory gardeners:

Have your ground plowed, if at all possible, otherwise spade it to a depth of about 10 inches if possible. In deep-furrows water thin layers of top soil should not be turned so deeply.

If well rotted leafmold, horse or cow manure or other decayed organic matter is available, work in about one bushel to each 25 square feet or 20 tons to an acre.

Work the ground with a rake, and remove stones or trash.

The ground should be reworked and smoothed with a rake just before each row is planted.

Commercial fertilizers are best when applied beside the garden rows in a band about three or four inches wide and about two inches from the line where the seeds will be sown or the plants set. Slop out a furrow with a hoe about two inches deep. The fertilizer should be spread and firmly in the furrow, mixed with soil and the trench covered. The fertilizer should not touch the seed.

Commissions Are Being Extended To Merchant Marines

Merchant Marine officers in uniform and commissions in the United States Maritime Service today had been extended by the Merchant Marine Commission in recognition of their heroic and unselfish devotion to duty on the sea for high seas.

Details of a program to put all Merchant Marine officers in uniform to award them commissions equal to their experience and offering war and peace time benefits, were announced by Ensign Robert J. Connell, regional controlling director for the Maritime Service.

Headquarters, Mr. Connell explained, Merchant Marine officers have not had the privilege of wearing any except company uniforms since those few who were members of the Naval Reserve. Usually they wore civilian clothing when on shore.

The new program provides that they must wear the Maritime Service uniform when on duty.

The uniform is identical with that of the Navy with the exception of the Maritime Service insignia which is worn on the collar sleeve. The basic uniform will be provided free of cost to those men who qualify. Commissions range from ensign to captain, depending on age, rank and experience.

Merchant Marine officers are urged to contact Mr. Connell, 214 Peachtree Avenue Atlanta, or any of the following Maritime Service offices: Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; Knoxville and Nashville, Tenn.; Tampa and Jacksonville, Fla.; Savannah and Augusta, Ga.; Greenville, S.C.

Procedure for obtaining the commission has been simplified and they will be issued with a minimum of "red tape," Mr. Connell declared.

The Brazilian flag is a field of green with a yellow parallelogram in the center, on which is superimposed a blue globe.

Nazis Admit Loss Of Initiative In Tunisian Battle

High Ground Around Kasserine Pass Is Also Captured By The Allied Troops

Hitler's high command today tacitly admitted the loss of the initiative in this battle of central Tunisia, reporting "our offensive operations have been concluded," and a bulletin from Allied headquarters announced that the strategic Kasserine Pass is in Allied hands.

The high ground northeast and southwest of the Pass was also captured, the communiques reported, and noted that Allied troops, pushing the counter-offensive, had advanced 10 to 15 miles in the area to the northeast.

Allied airplanes swept across the whole front and bombed Gafsa, 53 miles south of Kasserine, toward which the Germans appeared to be retreating. The British, meanwhile, were reported to have penetrated the Mareth Line in developing a pincer against the Axis.

Allied armies on offensive with strong air cover in both Western and Southern Tunisia slashed through the Axis rear guard in Kasserine Pass last night and penetrated advance positions on the edge of the Mareth line.

Under the field command of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British and American forces were declared to have launched the long-awaited double squeeze on the Axis bridgehead in North Africa, the Kasserine Pass, from which Marshal Erwin Rommel last Sunday threatened to break into Algeria, was being savagely harassed.

The Axis still is gathering large numbers of troops and supplies, Canadian press correspondents reported from the field headquarters. He said an American pilot patrolling the Sicilian Straits saw large enemy convoys crossing the Tunisian coast and the pilot had seen 40 large German transport planes landing troops at Bizerte.

Allied tank columns and infantry were reported shelling German positions at Sbeitia and Ouelletia above the Kasserine gap.

Thus, instead of Rommel assuming a dominating position on the Algerian frontier, dispatches showed he was being compelled to pull back his shattered armor to the coastal corridor in Eastern Tunisia.

In the South, his Mareth line appeared due to suffer a large-scale attack from the British Eighth Army, led by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

French headquarters announced that the Germans had been beaten back west of Dussailia with serious losses when they tried to launch an attack. Prisoners were taken.

The German base at Sbeitia was being menaced by strong Allied patrol operations from the vicinity of Sbeitia to the northeast; Czech troops coming out of the mountains on the west side of the Dussailia valley smashed one after another of the enemy's positions in what was perhaps the beginning of a determined Allied drive in that sector.

Registration For Institutional Users Of Food Set For Next Week

Registration for institutional users of food will be conducted March 1 through March 10, the rationing board, A. B. Peterson, announced this morning.

Institutional users are operators of eating establishments such as restaurants, hotels, boarding houses, hospitals, prison camps, etc., Mr. Peterson explained.

An applicant may obtain registration instructions from Mr. Peterson at the Army and Air Force Council Recreation Division.

Group one of institutional users is called a "pooled bank" group and includes boarding houses, fraternity houses, sorority houses, summer camps, monasteries and convents. Group two is institutions of involuntary confinement such as jails, prisons, in some asylums and homes for delinquents. Group three, the "general" classification, includes taverns, public eating places and other public organizations.

Operators of establishments under category one are required to use the ration stamps of the people they serve, while under groups two and three, operators do not use stamps of the people they serve, Mr. Peterson explained.
