

Fugitives Linked To Kidnappings, Rapes Jailed

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Two fugitives wanted in three counties including Seminole on charges connected with kidnappings, sexual assaults, burglaries, auto theft and use of firearms were being held today without bond in the Seminole County jail.

The men, who were booked into the jail Tuesday afternoon as John Does and who have never given investigators information on themselves, were reportedly identified by fingerprints and linked to the Nov. 10 abduction, rape and false imprisonment of a 20-year-old Seminole County woman they offered a ride home in Fern Park, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

That woman was taken to the Day's Inn in Altamonte Springs where she was sexually assaulted. The following day she was taken to a Daytona Beach motel, where again she was sexually assaulted. The woman escaped on Nov. 12 and Seminole County investigators said she identified photographs of two possible suspects.

The same pair were suspected of raping a woman at a Union Park motel on Oct. 24. And another woman was reportedly the victim of a similar assault on Nov. 17. That woman was released by the suspects just across the Orange County line in Osceola county, the sheriff's report said.

Vigilant work by Winter Park police, who watched a suspected stolen car parked for several hours Monday at a Winter Park motel, led to the arrests, Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki said.

Winter Park police watched that car until the suspects entered it and left, spurring a 100-mile-per-hour chase into Seminole County near Altamonte Springs, when the men realized they were being pursued by police, the report said.

Winter Park police, Spolaki said, didn't realize they were pursuing alleged kidnapers and rapists, one an escapee from jail.

When captured, Robert C. Buroker, 31, and Stormy Faddis, 24, who escaped from a Brevard County jail in September, were first charged with grand theft auto and were held without bond, the report said.

They refused to identify themselves, but identification was made through the sheriff's department via fingerprints, the report said.

In Seminole County the pair also face charges of kidnapping, sexual battery, use of a firearm and burglary. Altamonte Springs police are also expected to file charges of sexual battery, multiple counts of false imprisonment and aggravated assault, the report said.

The pair will be held for Orange and Volusia counties on similar charges, the report said.

Officials have no address for either suspect, the report said.

Legal Service Promises To Sue Housing Authority

The Sanford Housing Authority faces a lawsuit for upholding its decision to bar free legal clinics from housing property.

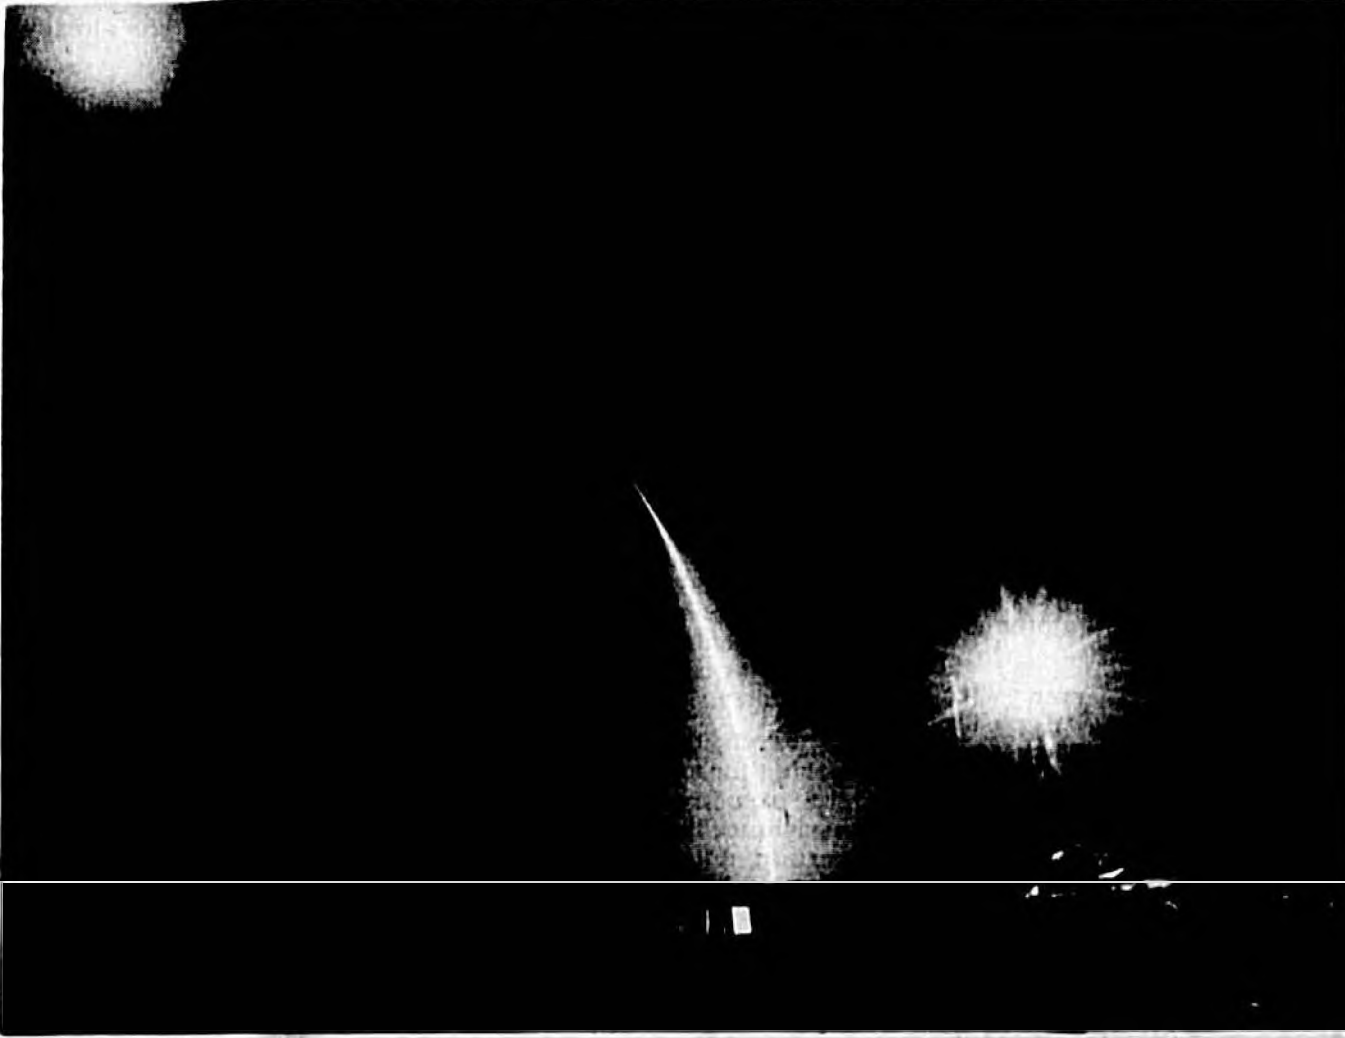

At Tuesday's authority board meeting, the commissioners acted against the advice of their attorney and refused to allow Central Florida Legal Services to renew its service.

The organization's managing attorney, Trina Kaye, said today a suit will be filed before Christmas.

"We think their action is unconstitutional and unfair to (housing) residents," she said.

Housing authority attorney Frank Whigham agreed with Ms. Kaye when he advised the Spectators along Lake Monroe in Sanford watch Atlantis blastoff Tuesday night. Time

Atlantis Shows 'Fireworks'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Atlantis' international crew successfully launched the first of three satellites today and geared up for a busy weeklong shuttle flight that began with a show-stopping nighttime ride into orbit Tuesday.

Atlantis, making its second voyage, thundered skyward at 7:29 p.m. under a nearly full moon, lighting the night sky like a giant fireworks display as it roared into space on the 23rd shuttle mission.

With Mexican shuttle flier Rodolfo Neri looking on, the Morelos-2 relay station, Mexico's second communications satellite, was sent spinning away from the shuttle's cargo bay at 2:47 a.m. EST as Atlantis crossed the equator 218 miles above the Indian Ocean.

Forty-five minutes later, an on-board rocket fired as planned to push the satellite toward its 22,300-mile-high orbit.

"It looked to us like it burned on time and it burned for 87 seconds," said astronaut Sherwood Spring. "The TV picture of it looked real nice."

Australia's Ausaat-2 relay station was scheduled for launch tonight, and a communications station owned by RCA American Communications Inc. was on tap for release from the shuttle Thanksgiving day.

During launch, the only apparent anomaly came about a minute before the main engines shut down when one of two redundant fuel pump temperature sensors failed in one of the ship's three main engines. The pump and engine worked properly.

The failures of two fuel pump sensors in July forced the shutdown of one of shuttle Challenger's main engines, prompting a safe "abort to orbit."

Patrolman's Car Struck By Train

An Altamonte Springs police patrol car was destroyed when it was struck by a Seaboard Coastline freight train this morning on Highway 436 east of County Road 427 in Altamonte.

Officer Ken Antos was in the vehicle when his car was hit as it sat on the tracks around 8 a.m., Altamonte Springs Police Lt. Steve Garver said.

According to Garver, Antos was on routine patrol when he came upon a disabled vehicle westbound on 436. Antos pulled up behind the car and attempted to push it off the road. His police car was on the train tracks when the gates at the crossing came down and the crossing bells sounded.

Antos got out of the car and with the help of passing motorists tried to raise the gates, after which he attempted to back the car off the tracks, Garver said.

Antos was still in the car when the train hit the front of the vehicle and knocked it off the tracks, he said.

Antos sustained no injuries in the accident, which tied up traffic at the crossing for about an hour, Garver said.

Care Ambulance Selling To Orlando Firm

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

After 18 months of financial, professional and morale problems, the county's sole ambulance service has announced intentions of selling its stock to an Orange County ambulance franchise.

The Dec. 12 change is not expected to affect immediately the level of service or the amount of subsidy the service receives from the county.

Care Ambulance, which took over the emergency service 1½ years ago from Herndon Ambulance, told county officials by letter Nov. 15 of the pending sale of its stock to Rural/Metro Corp., of Orlando. Rural/Metro, headquartered in Arizona, is the same company that purchased Herndon's Orange County operations just before Care took over Herndon's Seminole County operation, said Barbara Smith, Seminole County's manager of emergency service.

Because Rural/Metro is purchasing the stock of Care the business transaction will have no effect for at least six months on the county's subsidy of the ambulance service, Ms. Smith said. The county subsidizes Care $198,000 because the service traditionally loses money from non-paying customers. Its subsidy is designed to provide the ambulance service with a profit of up to 8 percent.

Care was awarded the Seminole County franchise over Herndon because it said it could do the job for less and provide a higher level of service.

While the subsidy was $10,000 less than Herndon's, See CARE, page 10A

County Hires Lawyers To Defend Interest

Land Suit Was Readied As 'Contingency'

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's Yankee Lake condemnation proceeding was a "contingency" effort prepared by City Manager Frank Faison and City Attorney William Colbert without city commission input or formal approval and without the knowledge of at least two commissioners.

The lack of communication between Sanford commission and staff was criticized today by County Attorney Nikki Clayton, who compared the efforts she and County Administrator Ken Hooper took to finalize the Yankee Lake purchase to those their city counterparts took to invalidate it.

"I can't see how Colbert and Faison would proceed without getting direction from their commission," she said. "It just doesn't make sense."

"But," she added, "they've always done things differently in Sanford."

Meanwhile, Tuesday the county commission hired an engineering firm to complete a preliminary design of the regional sewer plant at Yankee Lake and will study the feasibility of treating and disposing of sewage from the cities of Sanford and Lake Mary.

The county commission also hired two lawyers, experts in the field of condemnations, to defend its interests in Sanford's eminent domain lawsuit.

According to Ms. Clayton, although the county commissioners signed a purchase agreement on Nov. 6, which authorized her and Hooper to complete the closing without further commission approval. "We continued to keep them fully aware of our efforts. It was a package we worked on together from start to finish."

The communication process began last summer, Ms. Clayton said, when representatives of Jeno Paulucci, the property's owner, "approached us about a possible purchase."

She said the commissioners "thought about the purchase" throughout August, and at the end of the month, directed staff "to enter into the negotiation phase."

When the county agreed to buy the land in November, "We were authorized to fully review the contract and complete the sale by Dec. 31," Hooper said.

In October, when both governments were negotiating for the Yankee Lake property, Faison and Colbert began preparing for condemnation. Sanford's four commissioners and its mayor, Bettye Smith, said they first saw the suit at a special commission meeting on Nov. 8, when they were asked to sanction its filing, and did.

The meeting, which lasted less than 20 minutes, was held two days after the county authorized purchase of the 2,867 acre Yankee Lake property from Paulucci. The county finalized its purchase Thursday by paying $7.5 million for a deed stamped "pending litigation."

City Commissioners Dave Farr and John Mercer both said they were unaware of the suit until it was presented to them at the Nov. 8 meeting. Commissioner Bob Thomas and Mayor Smith said they knew beforehand, and Commissioner Milton Smith said he did not know about the condemnation attempt until after it was filed.

A case management conference for the suit has been scheduled by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi for Dec. 9 at 2:45 p.m. During the conference, the litigants' attorneys will present their cases, after which a hearing for judgment will be set.

The action was filed Nov. 8 and was originally scheduled to be heard on Dec. 13. It had to be rescheduled after the first two judges assigned, C. Vernon Mize Jr. and S. Joseph Davis Jr., disqualified themselves, citing conflicts of interest. When Davis was a practicing attorney he represented Paulucci, and Mize served as Sanford City Attorney for eight years.

By accepting the property's title, the county's vested interest in the suit has become an invested one as well. The proceeding was brought against Paulucci agent Nicholas Pope and two Florida banks holding liens on the property. Now, however, if Sanford can successfully condemn, the county will receive the city's payment for the land, Ms. Clayton said.

Audit Says SHA Chief Can't See To Do Job

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

An audit of the Sanford Housing Authority has raised questions regarding the effect its executive director's vision impairment is having on the program's administration.

The state-mandated audit, done under a Housing and Urban Development program directive, cites the director's "physical handicap" as apparently "interfering with his ability to perform his duties."

The Sanford Housing Authority oversees management of federally-subsidized housing in the community.

Today, when asked the extent of his impairment, SHA executive director Elliott Smith said, "I have problems with my eyes. That's all I want to say."

Smith was guided into Tuesday night's housing authority meeting by his wife.

The Sanford City Commission has requested a copy of the audit, to "find out what's going on over there," according to Commissioner John Mercer. He made the proposal at Monday's city commission meeting, after pointing to preliminary information he'd received. He said this data was "critical" of the authority's operation.

Smith called the audit statement "a personal subjective comment," and questioning its inclusion "in a report that found no abuse or misuse of funds."

The statement's ramifications, he said, "will be determined by the (housing authority) commissioners."

The commissioners, however, have had the report for more than a month and have yet to specifically address its findings, including the reference to the executive director.

At Tuesday's commission meeting, the statement was alluded to, discussed in general terms and then tabled. Commission Chairman A. A. McClanahan introduced the topic, saying the audit had yet to be addressed. He was refused, however, by Commissioner Alexander Wynn, who said "a lot" of the matter had been "brought out in workshops."

McClanahan again said, "All of them haven't been addressed." "We have to finish our review of organizational structure before we'll discuss this any further," Wynn said.

Force Not With Lucas In 'Star Wars' Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge, ending a legal bid to confine "Star Wars" to the silver screen, said critics and backers of President Reagan's missile defense plan may continue using the movie title in television commercials.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell Tuesday rejected a motion by filmmaker George Lucas to stop two groups from running advertisements that refer to the controversial defense proposal as "Star Wars."

Lucas, the creator of the "Star Wars" motion picture, "has no property right in the use of words commonly found in the English language," Gesell said in the unusual trademark case.

The two groups, High Frontier and the Committee for a Strong Peaceful America, have been running TV ads about Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative since October.

High Frontier, which supports the president's proposal, characterizes SDI as a peace shield in its advertisement, while the Committee for a Strong Peaceful America contends "Star Wars" could lead to war in space.

IRS: 'High-Tech Sweatshop'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service's Philadelphia office was a "hopeless high-tech sweatshop" whose poorly trained employees worked 80-hour weeks and threw tax returns and checks into the trash, two U.S. senators say.

Computer failures and inadequate training were among the causes of problems at the Philadelphia Service Center, said Sens. John Heinz and Arlen Specter, both R-Pa., who released a General Accounting Office study of the facility Tuesday.

Klinghoffers To Sue Cruise Line

NEW YORK (UPI) — The family of Leon Klinghoffer, the disabled American slain by the Palestinian hijackers of the Achille Lauro, will seek damages against the Italian cruise line and others connected with the incident.

Two suits were expected to be filed today — one in state Supreme Court and one in U.S. District Court, said Letty Simon, the Klinghoffer family spokeswoman. Simon was not expected to say how much the suits would seek until they were filed.

IN BRIEF

Death Penalty Ordered For 'Black Widow' Murderer

ORLANDO (UPI) — "Black widow killer" Judy Buenoano's sobbing plea for mercy was rejected and she was sentenced to die in Florida's electric chair for the poison murder of her first husband in 1971 to collect his life insurance.

Buenoano, 42, thus became the third woman in modern times to receive the death sentence in Florida. However, the state has never executed a woman.

She previously had been sentenced to life imprisonment for drowning her 19-year-old son, Michael Goodyear, in 1980 and to a 12-year term for the attempted car-bombing murder in 1983 of John Gentry of Pensacola, her fiancé.

Following a two-day sentencing hearing, the jury that convicted Buenoano Nov. 2 of first-degree murder for the 1971 death of her first husband, James Goodyear, voted 10-1 to recommend the death penalty. Circuit Judge Emerson Thompson Jr., who was not bound by the jury's recommendation, studied the case 2 1/2 hours before announcing his sentence.

Thompson called Buenoano to face him at the bench and asked if she had any comment before he sentenced her. Buenoano, handcuffed and manacled to chains around her feet and waist, began sobbing as deputies helped her approach the bench.

"I didn't ever kill anybody, Judge Thompson," she said. "I didn't kill my husband. I didn't bomb Mr. Gentry's car. That's the truth. I never knowingly harmed anyone in my life. I ask the court to spare my life."

Rubin Wants Brain Study Public

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Prominent Miami attorney Ellis Rubin said he is seeking to make public a study by a University of Florida researcher on the brains of state-executed inmates so he can use it in his defense of accused killer Nelson Molina.

"Certainly, I would like to be able to use the findings in defense of Mr. Molina," Rubin said. "I feel like it would back up our contention that he has organic brain damage. I hope I can save him from the electric chair."

Rubin, who said he was "acting on behalf of the public," said he thought Alachua County Circuit Judge Ocee Fagan saw what Rubin was trying to "get at," but Fagan put off a ruling until later this year and agreed to resume the hearing Dec. 10.

"I think Judge Fagan sees that this is something that at least needs to be looked into," Rubin said following the three-hour hearing. "If her (Dr. Christina Leonard) research is, in fact, public information, then the public has a right to see whatever information she may have found."

Rubin said he had hoped Fagan would rule on the case Tuesday, since Rubin's defense of Nelson Molina, charged in the death of a Miami girl, begins Monday.

Sikh Terrorists Attack Temple

AMRITSAR, India (UPI) — Gunmen believed to be Sikh terrorists Wednesday shot and wounded the head priest of the Golden Temple, crowded with worshippers on the holiest day of the Sikh religion, police said.

Giana Sahib Singh, shot at close range inside the sprawling shrine as he was entering a building, was taken to the hospital, police said. His bodyguard, Nanak Singh, was killed. The priest, hit by bullets in the right arm and the back, was declared "out of danger" at the hospital in Amritsar, about 270 miles northwest of New Delhi, the Press Trust of India said. The domestic news agency said three assailants were in-involved in the attack. The gunmen escaped by mingling with thousands of devotees jammed in the Sikh's holiest temple to celebrate the 510th birth anniversary of the Sikh prophet Guru Nanak Dev.

commission to allow the legal clinics.

"The points they make have constitutional validity," he said. "I think it's in your best interests to allow them in."

Several residents called the decision unfair as well and said the refusal was a means of keeping tenants uninformed about housing authority practices.

"They don't want to smarten people up, because they'll rebel," said Georgia Arms resident Teri Burattl. "They don't want people to know what their rights are."

Redding Gardens tenants

Willie Lucas and Eva Mae Dixon also said the action was taken to keep information from them.

"We can go to the clinic when they (the authority) raise our rent. They don't like that," Ms. Lucas said.

Ms. Dixon pointed to a direct relationship between increases to rent and public assistance checks. "When our checks are raised," she said. "The next thing you know it costs more to live here."

According to Ms. Kaye, several housing residents have raised this issue with her firm in the past and "sometimes it appears to be the truth."

Ms. Kaye also said the reasons for her firm wanting to have clinics at Redding Gardens and Brewer Court was because the CFLS downtown Sanford office is inaccessible to many tenants. She also said her organization, in addition to handling rent complaints, addressed tenants' other alleged legal problems.

"We help them get food stamps or unemployment benefits," she said. "We're not crusading against the housing authority."

In September, the commission gave CFLS permission to conduct the clinics. The approval was pulled, however, on Oct. 24 with a motion made by Commissioner Alexander Wynn. Wynn said the FHA had "some house cleaning to do," before the clinics should be allowed to resume. His proposal was passed by the board.

Ms. Kaye said she already has one plaintiff for the suit and expects to add several more before it is filed.

She called the SHA decision "unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious" and said the suit will challenge it under the First and Fourteenth amendments to the Constitution. These amendments address tenants' rights and according to Whigham, the CFLS "raises some valid points regarding these rights."

Mr. Whigham's comments were made in reference to the formal complaint the CFLS made when asking for the renewal of its clinics.

According to Ms. Kaye, because that tact didn't work, "We'll let a court decide who's right."

...Audit

According to Commissioner Velma Williams, however, "When you look at the audit, there is definitely reason for concern." She also said the "problems" she had with the report were appeased by another one received last week from a HUD official who visited Sanford.

Ms. Williams said the official "observed our operation and said he didn't see a problem with it."

"Because a man with his experience takes this position, as a commissioner I have no other choice but to take it too," she said.

The representative, Sumner Wiles of HUD's Tallahassee of-ice, was unavailable for comment today.

Commissioner Robert Frazier termed the audit "fictitious" and the board's fifth commissioner, William Long, declined comment.

The audit was done by the Sanford accounting firm of Greene, Dycus and Co. It was undertaken to comply with a HUD requirement calling for housing authorities to be audited every two years.

The report was completed in early October, and a week later, supplemented by an additional comment regarding Smith. This one states:

"From observations made during the audit it appeared that the executive director required assistance in the performance of certain duties required of that position."

Teacher Pay Increases Outlined

By Jim Searls
Herald Staff Writer

The contract the Seminole Education Association has been negotiating over with the Seminole County school board since July is essentially the same one they signed and tentatively approved on Aug. 12, school administrators said.

In Seminole County, school district employees' contracts are negotiated every year and the SEA bargains for four different sets of employees: (1) teachers; (2) clerical workers; (3) non-instructional personnel; (4) bus drivers.

Marshall Ogletree, executive director of the SEA, said that 90 percent of his group's work is with the teachers and that the other three groups have their own officers and administrators.

According to the school board's chief negotiator Ernest Cowley, all school board employees received "across the board" 4 percent increases this year except for the teachers. Cowley said the board wanted to give new teachers a raise to attract more teachers to the county. The school board's budget year runs from July 1 to June 30 of each year.

This year's contract, which must still be ratified by the teachers next Tuesday, calls for an average 7 percent increase for all teachers with a high of 12 percent for beginning teachers and a low of 5 percent (including a longevity bonus) for teachers with more than 16 years in the teaching profession.

Those teachers with more than 16 years' teaching experience are to receive a $400 pay "supplement" for the school year. Based on approximately half the school year, that amount is $216 for this budget year. Ogletree said pay increases for contracts are usually added onto each teacher's check evenly, but the longevity supplement may come in a separate check.

Other pay levels, or lanes, call for increases for teachers who are new in Florida, have three years or more of experience in Florida and those who have tenure, or more than 10 years teaching in Florida.

There are four basic categories of teachers recognized in Seminole County. They are: Rank III/Bachelor; Rank II/Master; Rank IA/Specialist; Rank I/Doctorate.

The smallest pay increase over the 84-85 contract is the $816 increase teachers in pay rank III with less than three years' experience in Florida and with 11 years' teaching experience are to receive. The largest increase would have to include advancement by degree, teaching experience in Florida, overall teaching experience and or a combination of all three as well as the increase of $216 for the longevity supplement, according to Ogletree.

In that case, Ogletree said, the teacher going from the 14 to 15-year level with more than 10 years' teaching experience in Florida with a master's degree would be the recipient of a $2,312 increase in his/her salary this year. That amount for the master's step includes the $216 pay supplement for teachers with more than 16 years in teaching.

There are 1,283 teachers in Seminole County with bachelor's degrees and 874 teachers with master's degrees out of the 2,216 teachers employed in the county, according to Ogletree. Most of those teachers fall in the more than three years teaching experience in Florida category with five to 10 years in the teaching profession. The rest are in the specialist category with only "a half dozen or so" falling in the doctorate level, Ogletree said.

The most any teacher in Seminole County can earn by salary is the $29,734 teachers at the 16-year level of the doctorate category with more than 10 years' of teaching experience in Florida can earn. In addition, Ogletree said, teachers earn "supplements" to their pay by organizing after school activities, such as student clubs and by coaching athletic activities.

Black Hammock Park Site In The Works

The city of Oviedo could wind up with a park site and residents in Black Hammock could receive water service at the same time, if a proposal by the Seminole County Commission is approved.

At a joint Oviedo-county meeting Monday, County Administrator Ken Hooper said the county would donate land at the old county landfill for use as a recreational site by Oviedo, in exchange for a wholesale water agreement.

Under the agreement, the county will provide water service to up to 500 residents in the Black Hammock area, whom Hooper said have requested a potable water source and have agreed to pay $200,000 for a distribution system out of the connection fees they pay the county. The county would install the water lines, he said.

Although an appraisal of the 20-acre site Oviedo wants to use as a park is forthcoming, Hooper said he thinks the value of the land will equal the price of the 500 hookups, with the cost of the land to be credited to the cost of the hookup fees and the county paying the difference, if any.

The water agreement would serve residents in Black Hammock, located north and east of Oviedo, who do not have a potable water source. There have been 300 requests for water service in the area, with the agreement to also encompass 200 additional platted, unbuild lots, he said.

Oviedo City Council President

Jane S. Dees asked the county to bring back something in writing for the council to consider. Councilman Gary Gotwalt, however, said he would like to see the land jointly developed by the city and county as a recreational facility. He suggested Oviedo enter into a lease agreement on the land and "not necessarily trade one commodity for another."

County Commissioner Sandra Glenn called the proposal "a way to give Oviedo clear title to the land" and provide water service for Black Hammock. "We've got some people out there that need some water," she said.

Migrant Worker Robbed And Raped

A migrant worker who was walking from a Midway store to a farm camp east of Sanford with five male co-workers reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was raped by five men, ages 18 to 20, who confronted the group as they walked along 21st Street at Sipes Avenue.

The suspects jumped out of bushes and brandished a blue steel revolver. The woman's companions were held at gunpoint while she was taken into a nearby cucumber field and raped, a sheriff's report said.

The 34-year-old woman was also robbed of $2.83, two packs of cigarettes, miscellaneous cookies and chips and four bottles of wine, the report said.

According to the report the attack occurred between 9 and 11 p.m. Monday.

WIFE STABBED

A Sanford woman was in satisfactory condition in Central Florida Hospital in Sanford, recovering from a stab wound allegedly inflicted in her right shoulder by her husband during an argument.

Seminole County sheriff's investigator Terry Huffman reported Diane Lawson had turned away from her husband and had started to walk away when he allegedly stabbed her causing "serious injury."

The couple were reportedly arguing at 3310 Hughey St., Sanford, when Ms. Lawson was injured at about 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Huffman said.

Willie Bernard Lawson, 40, of 20th Street, Sanford, was charged with aggravated battery on State Road 46, east of Sanford Avenue at 5:15 p.m. Monday. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

TRUNK CHECK ROBBERY

A 45-year-old Winter Garden man told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he was robbed by two gunmen who approached him on North at Marker streets in Altamonte Springs when he got out of his car to check on items in the trunk.

The thieves who reportedly came up behind Charles Siplin and put a gun in his back took his insurance agent collection book and its contents — $200 in checks and cash belonging to Security Life Insurance Co., Orlando, along with $25 of his own money, a sheriff's report said.

Siplin said he was checking on those items at about 9 p.m. Monday when he was robbed, the report said.

POT IN CAR

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported charging two Sanford men with possession of over 20 grams of marijuana and possession to distribute marijuana after five small bags of pot, some loose pot, several partially smoked pot cigarettes, a scale and cigarette rolling papers were reportedly found in their car.

Deputies reported approaching the car with a single occupant inside it at about 3 p.m. Monday. Deputies said they saw partially smoked pot cigarettes in the ashtray and asked the occupant to get out of the car.

The contraband was reportedly found and the first suspect's companion who had been inside Cobia Boats, Silver Lake Road, Sanford, where the car was parked came outside, a sheriff's report said.

Both the occupant of the car, Kenneth Jay Snyder, 20, of Route 3, Box 345 Lake Ave., and Darrell Ray Cantrell Jr., his companion, were arrested. Both have been released on $1,000 bond each and are scheduled to appear in court Dec. 16.

WOMAN TAKES GUNS

A 26-year-old woman who lives at the McAllister Motel on Blackstone Drive in Sanford has been charged with burglary and grand theft in connection with the theft of several firearms from a home at 2023 McArthy Ave., Sanford.

Henry Lee Stevens, 27, of that address, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he arrived home at about 3 p.m. Monday and found a woman in his livingroom, who allegedly took three firearms with a total value of $800 from his home. The woman reportedly later offered to sell one of the guns to a witness who refused the offer, a sheriff's report said.

A suspect was reportedly identified by witnesses and Zina Mae Davis was arrested at her home at 9:39 p.m. at her home. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

CAR THEFT ARREST

Sanford police reported spotting a man driving a 1979 Datsun which had been reported stolen from Mathew's Motors, 4274 Orlando Drive, Sanford. Police pursued the vehicle and when it stopped on 10th Street at Olive Avenue, arrested the driver.

Marvin F. Smith, 21, of 93 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was arrested at about 3 p.m. Monday and was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

DUI ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Larry Ted Wisemann, 39, of 329 W. Hornbeam St., Longwood, was arrested at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday after his car failed to maintain a single lane on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

SENTENCING

A Winter Springs man was spared a mandatory 3-year sentence and $50,000 fine on trafficking of cocaine charges by cooperating with law enforcement officials. His case was one of seven heard recently.

ler also agreed to seal records of proceedings against Daryl Parkhurst, 21, of 251 Tradewinds Road.

Parkhurst was arrested Dec. 23 following a traffic stop in Altamonte Springs.

A Florida Highway Patrol trooper reported stopping Parkhurst's vehicle around 2:30 a.m. He was charged with DUI, speeding — 110 mph — and after a search of his car with trafficking in cocaine, possession of cocaine, marijuana and carrying a concealed gun.

Assistant State Attorney Bill Catto told Lefler Parkhurst had been helpful and filed a motion to reduce sentence asking that Parkhurst not receive the mandatory sentence. Lefler agreed with the motion and set sentencing for Jan. 14. Parkhurst could receive up to a year in the county jail for possession of cocaine, marijuana and the concealed gun.

In other court action: —Luther Adcock, also known as Sonny Martin, 24, of 388 Notre Dame Drive, Altamonte Springs, pleaded guilty to burglary to a structure. He was arrested July 12 in connection with a burglary at 426 Citadel Drive on July 9. Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor set sentencing for Jan. 28. Adcock could receive up to a year in the county jail.

—Samson Levant, 18, of 1822, Valencia Court N., arrested in June after he was accused of taking a gold chain from a fellow student's neck at Seminole High. He pleaded no contest to robbery and faces up to a year in the county jail when sentenced Jan. 28 by McGregor.

—John R. Trimboli, 36, of 1404 Forest Hills Drive, Winter Springs, arrested in May on a charge of possession of cocaine. He was fined $1,000 by Lefler, ordered to complete 200 hours of community service and spend 3 years on probation.

—Eddie Louis Williams, 22, of 39 Lake Monroe Terrace, arrested in August after he punched a deputy in the face breaking his nose and other facial bones. Williams was sentenced by Lefler to 9 years followed by 15 years probation. He was given credit for 19 days already served.

—Raymond Williams, 28, of 509 Peachtree Drive, Altamonte Springs, arrested in March on charges of possession and sale of cocaine. Lefler ordered Williams to serve 6 months in the county jail and 5 years of probation.

—Joseph Ackerman, 24, of Ormond Beach, arrested in April and charged with conspiracy to traffick in cocaine and possession of cocaine. He was sentenced by Lefler to 180 days in jail and 3 years probation.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Seminole County sheriff's deputies have the name of a dancer who allegedly asked a bartender at the House of Babes, 6400 S. Orlando Drive, Fern Park, to change a $100 bill. After she got the cash she never handed over the $100 bill and left the scene in a taxi, at about midnight Monday.

The taxi driver reported taking the woman to the Raceway Motor Inn in Orlando. Orange County sheriff's deputies joined the search for the suspect, but by early Tuesday she hadn't been found, a sheriff's report said.

Dorman Marsh, 56, of 4600 Nebraska Ave., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a thief took several firearms, jewelry, camera gear and other items with a combined value of about $4,100 from his home Monday.

Two rifles were stolen from the home of Lois H. Dreggors, 54, of Route 2, Box 71, S. Cameron Ave., Sanford, on Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

Ana Maria Lebba, 23, of 912 Poinsetta Drive, Casselberry, and Robbin A. Schoonover, 30, of Orlando, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies they each lost a $3,500 diamond ring to a thief who took them from a cup in a classroom at Ruffles Hair Design College in Winter Park, at about 9:30 p.m. Monday. Deputies have names of possible suspects.

About $700 worth of items including a television were stolen from the home of Arletha Horn, 24, of 210 Main St., Sanford, on Monday, deputies reported.

John G. Warren, 66, of 1167 Sarah Lane, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies about $600 worth of tools and a tool box were stolen from his utility shed between Nov. 17 and Sunday.

A microwave oven worth $270 was stolen from a home building site at 4057 Gallagher Loop, lot 7, Casselberry, on Sunday or Monday, according to a report owner Richard Hoelun, 35, of Orlando, filed with sheriff's deputies. Richard N. Awaumb, of Winter Springs, also reported a $400 microwave oven was stolen from a home he is building at 4050 Gallagher Loop, lot 13 A, Casselberry.

A radio controlled helicopter and car worth a total of $200 were stolen along with a $800 remote control radio and a remote control radio unit worth $200 from the garage of Greg Dale Cowart, 27, of 1909 Conifer Drive, Winter Park, on Sunday or Monday, deputies reported.

Family Is Answer Not Government

The Planned Parenthood Federation of America spent $84,000 to conduct a Lou Harris poll on the epidemic of unwed motherhood, discovering what everybody already knows — that unwed motherhood is a matter of considerable national concern. The poll also sought to measure attitudes toward sex education and contraception, abortion, the "squeal law," and sexual morality in general. Not surprisingly, Planned Parenthood has already begun to construe the results of this poll as a mandate for, among other things, handing out free contraceptives in the public schools.

Teenage pregnancy and single motherhood, which are the surest guarantors of poverty — more than 60 percent of the long-term ADC recipients in Michigan are teenage mothers, for example — are lamented by all responsible people, regardless of their politics.

That does not mean that the issue is immune from political abuse, however. A closer look at the Planned Parenthood poll suggests that the supposed mandate for the type of program it espouses is anything but clear.

True, an astonishing 67 percent of respondents said they favored requiring public schools to establish links with family planning clinics so kids can learn about and obtain contraceptives (whether with parental consent or not was not stated).

Yet only 5 percent said that giving contraceptives is the most effective thing that parents can do to prevent pregnancy. Fully 65 percent thought that education about the risks of pregnancy is the best thing parents can do. Setting a good example and teaching good values was preferred by 12 percent, more discipline and control by 9 percent, and teaching religious beliefs by 6 percent. That's 92 percent for parental control and education, 5 percent for handing out contraceptives.

In fact, according to Planned Parenthood's poll, 85 percent of parents have had frank discussions with their children about sex, though this was not true of an earlier generation. Contrary to popular image, born-again Christians who describe themselves as politically conservative are most likely to have discussed sex with their children.

The poll asked a disingenuous question designed to side-step the obvious conclusion that family control should be strengthened, not undermined. It asked, "I'd like your impression of how much control most parents have over their teen-agers' sexual activity." Note that Planned Parenthood asked people — many neither married nor parents — to rate how they think others are doing in controlling their children. The question didn't ask parents how much control they had over their own children. The results, that 32 percent said "some control," and 46 percent said "not too much control," simply reflect impressions of how well other parents are performing their jobs, not whether parental control is possible.

Sex education in the schools is here to stay. Schools can do a decent job teaching the physical side of reproduction, which is an anatomical process easily enough described in non-controversial scientific language. Sex itself is surely more than that, however. The public schools, which have trouble teaching reading and math, cannot be trusted to teach morality.

Perhaps Sweden and some other stable homogeneous countries can succeed with the kind of amoral approach suggested by Planned Parenthood, but it's not working in the United States. Exactly why that should be so is a matter of considerable dispute among sociologists, but true realism suggests a return to more traditional standards of morality may be required. And that means strengthening traditional family bonds, not trying to remove sex education from its family context.

BERRY'S WORLD

DONALD LAMERO

Doomsayers Exaggerating Farm Crisis

WASHINGTON — Donald Fischer owns 1,200 acres of northern Missouri farmland, where he grows wheat, corn and soybeans. His debt level, while not inconsequential, is manageable. He has gradually enlarged his farm since starting it after the Korean War; he has never sold an acre and doesn't plan to. He's not making as much money as he'd like, but says he's making a living and doing what he loves.

Contrary to what the politicians are telling us about the "national farm crisis," Donald Fischer is much more the norm among farmers than the exception.

Yet cries about a national farm crisis abound. With the help of my assistant, Michael Fumento, I've been investigating some of the economic myths and the realities of the U.S. farmer. Here's what I've found:

— On the whole, farmers are not poor. In 1983, the latest year for which official income figures are available, the average farm family income was $24,090, according to the U.S. Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service. Total farm income has continued to rise, increasing from $57.9 billion in 1983 to $74.5 billion in 1984, according to the USDA.

— The continuing decline in the number of farms is not a recent development. The number has been going down since the Great Depression. Last year's 43,000 decline in farms pales in comparison to a 133,000 drop in 1981, a 120,000 decline in 1962 and a 115,000 reduction in 1963.

— Crushing farm debt is relatively rare. In 1984, of the nation's nearly 2.3 million farms, 30,000 — or 1.36 percent — were reported by the USDA to be insolvent, with debts higher than assets. A slightly higher percentage were near insolvency with debt-asset ratios of between 70 and 100 percent.

— Significantly, 82.4 percent of all farms had highly manageable debt-asset ratios of less than 40 percent, and most farms had debt-asset ratios of less than 10 percent.

— For the most part, it's not the small family farms that are threatened by insolvency, it's the large ones. USDA figures from January 1984 show that only 8.7 percent of farms with sales in the $50,000 to $99,000 range have a debt-asset ratio of more than 70 percent. But of those farms with sales of $500,000 and over, this figure jumps to 15.3 percent.

— Corporations are not taking over the American farm. Only 3 percent of all U.S. farms are owned by corporations, and of these, the great majority are still within a single family and are incorporated solely for tax purposes.

— Despite warnings by doomsayers that farm foreclosures threaten the U.S. food supply, exactly the opposite is true: Our overabundance of food endangers the nation's farmers. A staggering 34 million acres of farmland were set aside and not farmed this year. Nevertheless, record yields are expected for several crops, including corn, and government storage facilities bulge with federally purchased excess commodities.

Agriculture Committee Chairman Jesse Helms, R-N.C., says that farm subsidy payments have encouraged farmers to plant more than they can sell. And the biggest payments have gone to the richest farmers.

ROBERT WAGMAN

Channel With A Chunnel

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For more than 200 years the British have dreamed of building a roadway that would link them directly to Europe — a bridge or a tunnel across the English Channel. Since it's expensive and time-consuming to cross by ship and ferry, Britain hasn't been able to fully integrate its economy with that of Europe.

Dozens of such plans have failed, but now there's a multibillion-dollar effort to open a roadway across the Channel by the mid-1990s — and it would be the engineering feat of the century.

Last year, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and French President Francois Mitterrand met and decided that a link was worth another try. Their two governments agreed to approve only a single project, which would have to be privately financed by some Anglo-French consortium and would have to meet certain technical, safety and environmental standards.

Groups wishing to build the link were given one year in which to submit proposals. That deadline has passed, and the contenders include four major proposals.

All of the submitted projects propose building a link at the shortest distance between the French and British coastlines — a 22.6-mile point between Calais and the White Cliffs of Dover. The plans include bridges, tunnels or a combination of the two, and are designed for trains, for cars, or for both.

Only two of the proposals really stand out and are considered the favorites. The most elaborate and expensive — and some say the most feasible — is called Euroroute and combines futuristic bridges, tunnels and manmade islands.

Under the Euroroute proposal, two islands would be built in the Channel — one five miles off the coast of Dover the other five miles off Calais — and would be connected to land by enclosed bridges.

Euroroute's projected cost is 7 billion, to be paid by shareholders, institutional investors and bonds.

The second major plan is the "chunnel" project, proposed by the Channel Tunnel Group headed by Sir Nicholas Henderson, former ambassador to the United States and to France. For $4 billion, it offers a modern version of a plan that was first proposed to Napoleon in 1802. It was tried as recently as 1975 by an Anglo-French group, but there's only a half-mile hole near Dover to show for the effort.

Soviet "Star Wars" Hypocrisy Blatant

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — In the rush to interpret the Geneva summit, it might be wise to keep in mind the cynicism of President Reagan's adversaries across the negotiating table. No exercise in hypocrisy is too extreme for the Soviet establishment.

As "Exhibit A" we offer the Kremlin's first response to Reagan's "Star Wars" initiative in the spring of 1983. Though the Soviets had been doing research on space defense technology for perhaps 20 years, and had been running tests since 1968, the first movement of the Kremlin-orchestrated propaganda symphony was an anguished letter in Pravda signed by a group of Soviet scientists, attacking Reagan's proposal. It was titled: "Appeal to the Scientists of the World."

The letter deplored the "strategic defense initiative" and even bemoaned the fact that the purity of scientific research was being sullied

JEFFREY HART

Africa, Yes; N.H., No

This columnist now lives in an old schoolhouse, built around 1870, but comfortably remodelled, about 10 miles from Dartmouth College in New Hampshire. Though there is an airport an hour away for trips to Washington and New York — a professional necessity — the old schoolhouse is also way out in the country, with a trout stream 50 feet from the back porch.

Idyllic. Except during the hunting season, which is at hand.

Until moving to this part of the world, I had no special interest in hunting and only vaguely negative feelings about it. If I thought about it at all, it seemed to me stupid to shoot a lion or an elephant — but that kind of thing took place on another continent, and few people did it because it was very expensive. Also, it had a certain style. It was associated with Teddy Roosevelt and Ernest Hemingway, with "The Green Hills of Africa" and "The Snows of Kilimanjaro."

Once I even saw Hemingway himself in the sporting goods department of Abercrombie and Fitch sighting and cocking some very expensive hunting rifles and looking at some hunting shirts and socks. His Italian duck-hunting scenes at the opening of "Across the River and into the Trees" are marvellous.

But hunting up here in northern New Hampshire has nothing to do with Teddy Roosevelt, Ernest Hemingway, or Abercrombie and Fitch. It's ugly, and utterly without style or charm.

Some of the hunters are local folk, but most of them pour up along the freeways from New York and Boston, and few of them know much about life in the woods. They want to "get my deer." They come in vans and pick-up trucks, almost always with bottles of whiskey. There's very little sport to it. A typical scene would be a hung-over "hunter" sighting a deer in a pasture through a telescopic sight with the rifle resting on the hood of his car, parked by the side of the road.

They are also likely to shoot anything. A friend of mine had his Labrador retriever shot off his front porch. Cats have disappeared during hunting season. A State Policeman told me that he had been started one day to see a cow tied to the hood of a car and headed down the highway to Boston.

The hunter you can respect is the local man who knows the woods and tracks his deer all summer. Come the hunting season, he kills the deer, butchers it, and uses the venison all winter. Some local people do depend on that annual deer. Sometimes they make gloves out of the hide.

Nature has been good to the rest of us this year, at least. The weather this hunting season has been bad — cold and wet. Right now, through the sliding glass doors at the back of my schoolhouse I can see sheets of freezing rain soaking the gray and brown autumn landscape. There probably are not many hunters out there. The deer are dry under the sheltering pines. The hunters are either drunk in their pick-up trucks or heading home down the highways. Good riddance.

JULIAN BOND

Economic Boycott Will Help

A year of protest inside the United States and South Africa has radically shifted American public opinion on the apartheid state. A near majority of Americans now favors strong sanctions against South Africa and believes American businesses should not do business there.

Since July, four more states — New Jersey, New Mexico, Rhode Island and Minnesota — have voted to divest more than $3 billion from banks and companies doing business with South Africa. Nine cities and counties have joined a growing list of governments and institutions refusing to do business with apartheid.

Since the protests started, 18 U.S. corporations have announced their withdrawal from South Africa. Even President Reagan was forced to reverse his long-standing opposition to sanctions when a bipartisan majority in both houses of Congress passed anti-apartheid legislation. Much of this was later scuttled when Reagan announced weaker sanctions of his own.

Since 1976, more than $3.8 billion has been divested.

Within South Africa, the effect of the continued protests by blacks is evident despite attempts by the white-minority government to restrict news coverage. A subsidiary of the Gallup Poll discovered that black South Africans support strong sanctions by a strong majority — 77 percent — even if sanctions might hurt them economically.

That poll should have special significance for Americans. The Rev. Jerry Falwell reported after his trip to South Africa that he met no blacks who supported sanctions, and urged Americans to increase, not decrease, their South African investments. Opponents of sanctions often base their case on the reputed harm they will do to the black majority. But the Gallup Poll shows that it is a burden blacks will eagerly bear.

Inside South Africa, a year of protest has had an effect not only on the black majority but on the white minority as well. More than 900 Africans have been killed and more than 5,000 arrested or detained, including 6- and 7-year-olds. The South African inflation rate is now 16 percent and the rand has slipped to an all-time low.

But the whites-only government has remained adamant through it all, first announcing it was ready to make changes in the apartheid system, then refusing to make them.

National Tour Begins

Historic Voyage Artifacts On Display

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles Wilkes was only a junior lieutenant in the U.S. Navy with relatively little sea experience when he sailed from Hampton Roads, Va., with six vessels in his command on what was to become a four-year, 87,000-mile circumnavigation of the globe.

When Wilkes returned to New York at the end of his journey, he faced a new president, an unfriendly Congress, a disinterested public and a series of courts-martial.

But Herman Viola, Smithsonian Institution historian, says, "As a scientific and technological achievement, the U.S. Exploring Expedition can be rivaled today only by the landing of the first man on the moon. As a sea yarn, I've never come across one any better than this one."

Viola heads a committee that has set up "The Magnificent Voyagers: The U.S. Exploring Expedition, 1838-1842," which has begun a year's stay at the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History.

"Although the explorers may not have been heroes in their day," Viola says, "the achievements of the Exploring Expedition were heroic, and the nation was the beneficiary. Their legacy, though only recognized after many years, was America's passport to respect in the world of intellectual community."

The voyage was a spinoff of an unsuccessful 1818 attempt by an ex-Army officer to persuade Congress to launch an expedition testing his theory that Earth was hollow and could be entered through holes in the poles.

The idea of an expedition sparked fires in the bellies of fishermen seeking better maps of the South Seas and knowledge of its natural resources, merchants seeking new sources of commodities for the China trade and the curiosity of the country's scientists.

Finally, in 1836, President Andrew Jackson authorized $300,000 for the United States South Seas Exploring Expedition. The trip eventually cost $928,183.82.

The expedition's initial mission was to explore the coasts, islands, harbors, shoals and reefs of the South Seas with seamen and nine civilian scientists — the first time in American history that civilian and naval personnel had combined their efforts in a peacetime scientific endeavor.

The explorers accurately charted for the first time large portions of the Pacific Ocean, including the Hawaiian and Fijian islands, established Antarctica as a continent, put together the first correct maps of the Oregon territory and provided the first accurate studies of the active volcanoes Kilauea and Mauna Loa.

The 87,000-mile journey also produced 19 volumes of reports and atlases, more than 4,000 zoological specimens — nearly 2,000 new to science — 50,000 plant specimens, gems from Peru and Chile, fossils from Oregon and Australia and some 3,000 anthropological artifacts, including priceless masks, weapons and everyday objects.

The collections were turned over to the young Smithsonian Institution in 1857 and now are on display to celebrate the Smithsonian's 75th anniversary of the Natural History Building.

The expedition was not without its hazards. Two ships were lost, one with all hands while rounding Cape Horn, and two officers — one Wilkes' nephew — were killed on the Fijian island of Malolo.

And upon his return to America, Wilkes, instead of being hailed a hero, was sentenced by a court-martial to a public reprimand for handing out illegal punishment during the trip. Known as a stern disciplinarian, Wilkes was found guilty of ordering as many as 36 and 41 lashes for misconduct, instead of the prescribed 12 lashes.

Highlights of the exhibition, to run through Nov. 9, 1986, include:

- A re-creation of a lower deck on the U.S.S. Vincennes, the expedition's flagship. Visitors walk through a dimly lit, planked passageway with low-beamed ceiling typical of a man-of-war.
- The wooden globe used by the ex-Army officer to explain his hollow-Earth theory.
- Samples of the flora, fauna and ethnographic materials collected by the explorers in Brazil, Tierra del Fuego, Chile and Peru.
- Film footage taken aboard a sailing vessel rounding Cape Horn during a storm.

Following its stay in Washington, the exhibit is scheduled to visit:

SWEET DREAMS FROM UNITED TEL

You won't know it's happening, but a United Telephone computer may be testing your telephone line while you sleep. Each night, special computerized equipment checks United Tel lines to make sure they're working properly. Then, if anything is less than perfect, employees are able to test and repair the problem, usually before you notice it. This is just one of the ways that United Tel is making sure your telephone service remains one of the best values in your monthly budget.

County Powers Have Right Stuff In Jamboree

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The liftoff of the space shuttle Atlantis was visible from anywhere in Central Florida Tuesday night. Those gathered at Lake Mary High were not only awed by the spectacular liftoff, but got to see some of the most powerful girls soccer teams in the state blast into the 1985-86 season.

And the talented players gave the 200 or so fans plenty of fireworks in the Seminole County Soccer Jamboree.

In the opening half (each team played 40-minute halves), defending 4A State Champion Lyman High fought off a tough Lake Mary squad, 4-1. Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots then exploded for five goals in a 5-0 shutout of Seminole and, in the nightcap, Lake Howell outdueled Oviedo, 1-0.

"This should be a much more competitive year than last year," Lake Mary coach Bill Eisele said. "All of the teams have good players coming up through the youth leagues. Lyman is definitely the team to beat but Brantley is strong, too. And I was happy with the way we played against Lyman."

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds, 24-0 a year ago, return all but one player off the state title team. Tuesday night, Lyman's relentless offensive attack finally wore down Lake Mary's Lady Rams in the late going.

Soccer

Neither team scored in the first 15 minutes of play but Lyman had the best threat when Dawn Boyesen broke free and fired a nice shot that Lake Mary goalkeeper Kris Botticello made a nice save of.

The Lady Greyhounds broke the scoreless tie with 25:01 remaining in the half when Boyesen headed in a crossing ball from Alyson Barnes on a corner kick. There was some question as to an offsides call on the play prior to the corner kick but the official ruled Lyman was not offsides.

Lake Mary came back to tie the score at 1-1 on a dazzling goal by freshman Donna Rohr. Kelly Broen broke loose on the left side and crossed one in front of the goal and Rohr headed it in to tie the score with 17:15 left to play.

"That goal should really build our team's confidence," Eisele said. "That's the only goal, other than a penalty kick, that we've ever scored on Lyman."

About five minutes after Rohr's goal, Lyman reclaimed the lead when Bonni Steeves unloaded a shot from 20 yards out that was too high for Botticello to handle. That gave Lyman a 2-1 lead with 11:40 remaining.

The Lady Greyhounds broke it open with 7:43 left to play when Sheila Mandy stuffed in a ball that rebounded off the keeper. Mandy put the icing on the cake when she knocked in a loose ball in front of the goalmouth with 1:27 remaining to make the final 4-1.

Along with the offensive play of Dawn Boyesen and Mandy, Diana Boyesen and Barnes turned in excellent play at midfield while Lisa Chatman and Sarah Cobb combined for a good game in the net.

Eisele said Botticello, playing her first varsity game in goal, did an outstanding job. The Lady Rams' number one keeper, Laura Hellegaard, was out sick.

Marjon Stonerock and Jolie Hoffman were standouts on defense and strengthening the Rams' defense is transfer Lesli Hobek. Hobek was a fine goalkeeper at Lake Brantley a year ago. Eisele said Hobek wants to play the field more this season and she will see plenty of action on defense and midfield once she learns the Lake Mary system.

In Tuesday's second half, Seminole High's defense kept it in the game for more than 20 minutes but Lake Brantley's offense continued to push until the Lady Noles cracked.

Brantley had an excellent opportunity just over five minutes into the match but Seminole keeper Sherri Rumler made a pair of sensational saves to turn the Lady Patriots away.

While Brantley never let up on offense, Seminole couldn't get anything going offensively. Lake Brantley broke up the scoreless tie with 16:20 left to play when Michelle Herbat drilled a shot from 15 yards out. Rumler reached for it but it trickled off her fingertips and Cara Marien kicked in the loose ball for a 1-0 lead.

Second after Marien's goal, the space shuttle blasted off. Not long after that, Lake Brantley's Julie DeRusso made her explosive debut onto the Seminole County prep soccer scene.

The sophomore transfer from New Mexico nailed a shot past the Seminole keeper with 10:09 remaining for a 2-0 lead. About a minute later, DeRusso sent a high liner over the keeper's head to make it 3-0. DeRusso completed her hat trick, and it took her less than four minutes to do it, by firing in the Patriots' fourth goal past keeper Kim Walsh with 6:10 left to play.

"Kim (Walsh) was overwhelmed by that girl (DeRusso)," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "She is really an excellent player. She shoots just as hard as some boys do."

Lake Brantley made it 5-0 with 1:12 left to play when Marien knocked in her second goal of the half.

Faust Resigns At Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame football coach Gerry Faust brought intense speculation on his future at the Golden Dome to an abrupt end Tuesday by resigning.

The five-year Faust era will end following the Irish's season finale at Miami of Florida Saturday.

Faust, embattled for most of his tenure at Notre Dame, decided to leave the university rather than force a decision by his employers on whether to renew his contract.

"Recruiting starts Monday and I wanted them to be able to start right away," Faust said. "This also takes the pressure off the kids."

Athletic Director Gene Corrigan said a new coach will be announced by Monday.

In his five seasons in South Bend, Faust, 50, compiled a 30-25-1 record, earning a place in the record books as the coach with the most losses.

His career at Notre Dame was not a failure, he said.

"I would've like to have won more games, but there are other ways of winning," he said. "Like developing young people into better people — and you don't know that until 10 or 15 years down the line."

"The jury's out on that for a while," he said.

He seriously pondered stepping down after last week's 10-7 loss to Louisiana State, Notre Dame's only home loss of its 5-5 season, Faust said.

After consulting with his family and friends on Monday night, Faust said he knew his decision.

"I've had some adversity and it's brought a deeper love between me, my wife, and my family," he said. "I hope I've grown as a coach and as a person."

Lingering on the practice field Tuesday afternoon was the only reflection he allowed himself on his years here, Faust said.

"If I'd known the results going in, I'd do it again," he said. "The university gave me the opportunity and I'll always have the distinction of being among the greats."

"I am going to sit back for a couple of weeks and hope I get some calls," he said.

Corrigan said the resignation completely surprised him and the Rev. Edmund Joyce, the school's executive vice president.

The university made no search for a successor before the resignation decision was made, Corrigan said.

Faust came to Notre Dame in 1981 from Cincinnati's Moeller High School, where he built an astounding 174-17-2 record.

The move from high school to college football cost him the first two seasons in "on the job training," he said.

As the search for a new leader of the tradition-gilded Irish gets under way, Corrigan said the most important quality of the new coach will be his "integrity."

HOLTZ SUCCESSOR?

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Minnesota Coach Lou Holtz has an escape clause that would let him out of his contract to take the Notre Dame football coaching job, but it's too early to say if Notre Dame will hire him.

Notre Dame coach Gerry Faust announced his resignation Tuesday, allowing Notre Dame athletic officials to begin openly looking for his successor. Faust's last game after five years with the Irish will be Saturday, the team's season finale at Miami.

Notre Dame Athletic Director Gene Corrigan has maintained throughout the season that it would be unethical for the university to look for a coach while Faust held the job.

Corrigan declined again Tuesday to comment on Faust's replacement.

Seminole senior Joe Holden uses Faculty strongman LaMarr Richardson to lean on as he goes up for two in Tuesday's Seminole-Faculty basketball game. Richardson muscled in 14 points to lead the Faculty while Holden hit for 11 for the varsity. The Faculty came away with a 77-69 victory.

Richardson, Faculty Spank Tribe Varsity

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

The first official Seminole High faculty versus the SHS varsity basketball team game occurred Tuesday night and the over-the-hill gang taught the varsity a lesson with a 77-69 spanking in front of 100 plus fans at Seminole High.

The game was thought to be a battle the entire game. That speculation was correct as the game was tied nine times.

The faculty was led by LaMarr Richardson who scored a game high 14 points, five of which started the old bunch off to a 5-2 lead.

While Richardson dominated the boards on offense, Alex Holcomb led the way on the defensive end of the court. Holcomb ended the first period with three blocked shots, two steals, four assists, five rebounds and two points.

For Holcomb, that was just the beginning of the performance of the night. With quick reflexes and a strong vertical leap, Holcomb sparked the faculty to a 26-24 halftime lead.

Holcomb finished the half with five blocked shots, one being a stuff in the face of six-foot, 170 pound senior Joe Holden when Holden tried to slam dunk on a varsity fast break.

Even though Holcomb dominated the first half, the Seminole boys battled back with the play of Holden, Craig Walker, Andre Whitney, Robert Hill, Mike Wright, and Rod Henderson.

Henderson tied up the game on a driving layup to begin the third period. Henderson would end the game with 10 points and a couple of blocked shots himself.

"In the clutch I like giving the ball to Henderson," first year head coach Bill Klein said. "He's got the experience over the rest of the team."

Henderson showed his experience when he made an inside pass to Hill, who scored, putting the varsity Noles up by two with 3:56 left to play in the third period. "Rod (Henderson) did a fine job tonight," Klein said. "We just didn't play aggressive defense."

Basketball

Even though the defense — or lack of it — may have cost the varsity boys the game, Henderson shocked the crowd when he blocked Holcomb on a play that resembled Holcomb's block earlier. Holcomb drove to the hoop for one of his patented dunkeros and tasted nothing but Spalding when Henderson made him eat the ball.

With Henderson's blocked shot brought the end of the third period and the faculty still in the lead 50-45.

The two teams exchanged a flurry of points with one team scoring and then another. Trying to get back into the game with the varsity behind 69-56, Holden decided to make up for the earlier embarrassment and redeemed himself by hitting three buckets in a row to bring the score a little closer at 70-62.

From there though, Richardson stepped into the game with his second wind and exploded for six points in a one minute span to tie the game and preserve another win for the faculty, who only last Tuesday defeated the Orlando Renegades in a tough battle 86-81.

Although the younger Seminoles didn't win the game, they used the game to help them prepare for the upcoming season which begins against DeLand next Tuesday.

"We played the game to try and raise money," Klein said, "but we also wanted to practice playing in front of a crowd in a game situation. It was good for us because they (the faculty) have some good players and they play physical basketball. So, even though we lost it is a positive thing."

Panola Outlasts Lady Raiders, 73-65

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders had one of their better nights shooting from the floor Tuesday, but had their troubles with fouls and with shooting free throws.

SCC missed 16 free throws in the game while Panola (Texas) Junior College hit 17 of 24 from the line, most of them coming in the second half. Panola came back from a four-point halftime deficit to claim a 73-65 victory at the SCC Health Center.

The Lady Raiders now stand at 5-3 for the season and return to action Tuesday (Dec. 3) at home against Indian River.

Behind the strong inside play of Fatima Lafond and Aileen Patterson, SCC built a 37-33 halftime lead. The Lady Raiders clung to a narrow lead much of the seventh half until Panola took over with about seven minutes left.

"Panola won the game on the free throw line," SCC assistant Debbie Scherr said. "The majority of their points in the second half came from the line."

Melissa Goodson poured in a game-high 25 points, including 9 of 12 from the floor and 6 of 9 from the line, to lead the way for Panola. Robin Mazor contributed 11 points.

For the Lady Raiders, Lafond connected for 22 points including 7 of 10 from the floor. Patterson tossed in a season-high 14 points with 3 of 5 shooting from the floor and 8 of 10 from the line. Elizabeth Dietrich popped in 12 points and Lisa Starks added nine.

SCC hit 23 of 44 floor shots for 53 percent, one of the first games it has shot over 50 percent from the field. But the Lady Raiders made just 19 of 35 from the line for 54 percent.

The Lady Raiders were playing without sophomore forward Kim Lemon who Scherr said will be out for a week and a half with a dislocated knee cap.

FSU's defense, including Isaac Williams (45) chases a South Carolina back.

Hall, Gators Welcomed Week Off

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — last week off before taking on Florida coach Galen Hall said Tuesday his team was mentally and physically beat and needed

"We really needed the time off," Hall said at his weekly news conference.

King Is Back In Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — His latest legal battle behind him, Don King is set to become a full-time force in boxing again.

King, the flamboyant promoter who was found not guilty of conspiracy and tax evasion charges last week, Tuesday outlined some of his boxing plans for the near future.

King hopes to take the first step toward unifying the heavyweight title Jan. 17 when he stages a bout between World Boxing Association champion Tony Tubbs and Tim Witherspoon in Atlanta. He has five other title fights ready to go early next year, and wants to co-promote a rematch between International Boxing Federation heavyweight champ Michael Spinks and Larry Holmes.

King, 54, said he could not determine how much the six-week trial cost him in legal fees and lost business.

Hillery Pumps In 20, Lady Hatters Down South Florida

Sophomore forward Deldre Hillery pumped in 20 points and ripped down nine rebounds Tuesday night to lead Stetson's Lady Hatters to a 83-72 victory over the University of South Florida in women's basketball action at Tampa.

Deldre Hillery

Hillery poured in 17 points in Stetson's season opening victory over Florida Atlantic this past Saturday.

Joining Hillery in double figure Tuesday were Michelle Michael, who hit 7 of 8 field goals, with 17 points and Dallas Boychuk and Anita Mathur contributed 16 each. Boychuk also grabbed nine rebounds.

Lynn Cain contributed six points and handed out a game-high 12 assists.

Stetson, which shot 57 percent from the field, took a 41-38 halftime lead and slowly pulled away in the second half.

In other women's action Tuesday, three former Seminole County prep standouts hit double figures as Rollins College's Lady Tars hammered Monmouth (Ill.) College, 75-51, at Rollins' Enyart Alumni Field House.

Sophomore Mary Johnson, out of Lake Howell High, led the way with a game-high 19 points. Freshman Kirsten Dellinger, a Lake Brantley High grad, muscled in 13 points including 6 of 8 shooting from the floor and Junior Cindy Blocker, out of Lake Howell, contributed 10 points and three assists. Junior Linda Trimble, also out of Lake Brantley, netted nine points.

Kim Tayrien added 10 points and pulled down 15 rebounds for the Lady Tars who now stand at 1-1. Rollins outbounded Monmouth, 51-19.

Rollins returns to action next Friday, Dec. 6, at home against Stetson.

St. James Sets Speed Records

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Lyn St. James became the first woman to travel faster than 200 mph on a closed race course Tuesday, then broke two other speed records she had set Monday in a Ford Mustang prototype.

St. James, of Dania, Fla., set the new world's record for women by touring the Alabama International Motor Speedway course at 204,233 mph, shattering the old women's closed-course speed record of 191,042 mph set by Indianapolis 500 qualifier Wilson in 1982.

St. James failed her attempt to break the 200 mph closed-course barrier Monday and decided to stay one more day.

"I feel a sense of accomplishment, gratification and pride," St. James said. "This puts me in an elite group and I like it."

After adjustments were made on her prototype car in the morning, St. James set the new records.

During the four-lap run Monday, St. James also smashed the 10-kilometer and 10-mile records. From a standing start, her car averaged 180,304 mph for the 10-kilometer record and 186,039 mph for the 10-mile run.

She surpassed those records Tuesday by traveling 187,192 mph for 10 kilometers and 192,758 mph over the 10-mile course.

St. James was clocked by radar gun at 209 mph down the backstretch of the 2.66-mile track.

Pond Shakes Flu, Alen Eats Mud

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) — Tony Pond of Britain, recovering from the flu, pressured overnight leader Markku Alen of Finland as Tuesday's the RAC auto rally moved through the treacherous forests of North Yorkshire.

Alen, in a Lancia Delta, lost two minutes to Pond, in an MG Metro, when he went off the road on the 33rd stage, minutes after spinning in the mud.

"I was in fifth gear — absolutely flat out. I've never spun so many times in my life," said Alen, adding co-driver Kivi Maki "kept his eyes shut."

Alen, seeking his first world championship event victory since the 1984 Tour of Corsica, led by 1 minute 30 seconds after 36 special stages, with a penalty time of 5 hours 20 minutes 19 seconds.

Pond pulled clear of Alen's teammate and compatriot Henri Toivonen, whose Lancia Delta was experiencing mechanical problems. Toivonen stayed in third place but fell 1:29 behind Pond.

In fourth was Mikael Sundstrom of Finland, 3:18 further back in a Peugeot 205 at 5:34.36.

Berra: 'It's A Lot Of Potatoes'

MONTECLAIR, N.J. (UPI) — Yogi Berra once again stuck a foot in his legendary mouth and ended up Tuesday with a truckload of North Dakota potatoes on his front lawn.

Baseball's master of the malapropism, almost never at a loss for words, didn't know quite what to say when North Dakota farmers delivered some 23 tons of Red River Valley tubers to his home in Montclair.

"What can you say? It's a lot of potatoes," Berra said. "It's a good thing I like potatoes."

The potatoes — 900 50-pound boxes worth — were delivered in response to a comment Berra made while playing last summer at the Roger Maris Invitational Golf Tournament in Fargo, N.D.

After learning in a chat with his hosts that potatoes were a major crop in the state, Berra reportedly said that he never thought potatoes would grow there because it was so flat, and that all the spuds grown in the state probably wouldn't be enough to fill his front lawn.

Some Dakota farmers heard about the remark and decided at a convention two weeks ago that they would oblige the ex-Yankee catcher and manager and current Houston Astros coach.

Hunter's Hat Trick Lifts Blues

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — In notching his first NHL hat trick last night, Mark Hunter recorded hockey's version of hitting for the cycle in baseball.

Hunter scored goals with the his team at even strength, on a power play, and short-handed to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 5-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs. Bernie Federko, who also had a goal, set up Hunter twice, and his first assist gave him 500 for his career.

The Blues were coming off a 7-3 embarrassment at the hands of the Black Hawks at Chicago, and St. Louis coach Jacques Demers said his team played "as close to perfection as you could want" last night.

"When you get beat like we got beat before 18,000 people, you might want to hide," Demers said. "But this hockey club never hides."

Auer Was State's Big Power

The high school swim season has finally ended and the seasonal swimmers can go back to whatever they do — chase girls, eat fast food and live life in the fast lane — and the serious swimmers have already started another season of swimming.

The 1988-89 short-course season has opened new doors for those high school swimmers who did exceptionally well in the state meet this past weekend at the Justus Aquatic Center.

Central Florida swimmers showed their dominance in the pool by achieving All-America status, winning individual events, helping their teams to high overall finishes and breaking state records.

Joe Auer impressed everyone the most by winning two individual events and anchoring another win on the Winter Park Wildcats' 400 free relay. Auer broke state records in two of the three victories.

Swimming alone the entire meet, Auer won the 200 freestyle in 1:38.92 breaking his own record set this year which was 1:40.25. Then, Auer proceeded to win the 100 free in 45.54.

Auer's last triumph came in the 400 free relay where he teamed with Brandon Bryant, Ryan Aycocock and Andre Dieffenhaller to swim the fastest high school free relay ever swum in the state of Florida. The foursome broke Winter Park's 1979 record of 3:09.57 when they touched in at 3:06.98.

Other record breakers in the meet included Andrea Hayes of Washington who broke the state record in the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:04.78. The old record was held by Christi Woolger of Fort Lauderdale.

Hayes also added another state record when she broke the existing record in the 100 backstroke with her time of 57.05. The previous record was held by Hayes when she broke it last year at the state meet with a time of 57.29.

Chuck Burgess
SWIMMING WRITER

The only other record that was broken was that of Spanish River's Susan Johnson. Johnson, who won the national title in the 100 breast this past summer, won the 100 breast at state and finished with a new state record time of 1:02.56. The old record was held by Killian's Patty Waters who went a 1:03.81 in 1980.

Recapping the high school season reminds me of my short life at the Naval Academy — never a dull moment.

Seminole County posted a number of fine efforts that shouldn't be so easily forgotten. Some of the events that stick out in my mind are as follows:

Coach of the Year — Lyman's Don Clark for defending the Greyhounds' conference championship, coaching his boys team to a second place overall finish at the district meet and his girls to third place at the same meet and for putting the 'Hound boys into the fifth fastest team in the state of Florida.

Male Swimmer of the Year — Lyman's Charlie "Chazz" Rose for becoming only the second Greyhound state champion in the history of Lyman High. Rose also finished fourth in the 100 back at state and led off the third place 400 free relay at state. (Other members included Tom Mooney, Ken Barnett and Sam Rennard) and Kristen Pauley. All three girls made the top 12 in their respective events to pace the Patriot girls to a fifth place overall finish at the 4A State Championships.

Swim of the Year — Lyman's Tom Mooney for his unbelievable swim in the preliminaries of the 200 free at the state meet. Mooney dropped almost four seconds off his previous best time and finished tenth overall. His time of 1:46.55 was the fastest county 200 freestyle of the year.

Disqualification of the Year — Lake Mary's 400 free relay at the district finals. The Rams were seeded fourth overall and would have placed in the top 12 at the state meet if the relay hadn't gotten disqualified.

Best Conditioned Swim/Run — Lyman's Nick Radkewich for running cross country and swimming the entire fall season. Radkewich swam in a district meet on Friday night, ran in a regional meet Saturday morning and swam in the district finals on Saturday night to prove he is the best conditioned swimmer around the area.

Most Improved Program — Walt Morgan's Lake Mary Ramphibians for placing higher than any Ram swim team has ever placed in the district and state meet. Morgan placed sixth in the boys at district and eighth in the girls.

The swimmer to watch for this week comes from the Justus Dolphins of Orlando. It seems there is a 13-year-old girl who swims for the Dolphins that will compete this weekend in the Annual Thanksgiving Invitational swim meet.

The young girl will be on hand to establish herself as one of the premiere young swimmers in the county, as well as Central Florida.

The young Dolphin I'm talking about is none other than my sister, Shannon "Claisy" Burgess.

Okay, I may be a little prejudiced.

North Carolina Dumps Iona, 110-67

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — Some people are just never satisfied.

North Carolina last night thrashed Iona 110-67. Did Dean Smith praise his team's 59 percent shooting from the floor? Did he commend his players for scoring more than 100 points for the second time in as many games this season? Did he tout Brad Daugherty for breaking an ACC record with 15 consecutive field goals without a miss over two games?

No, no, and no. "We are pleased to have won, but I was disappointed in our last seven minutes of the first half," Smith said. "It's almost as if we were playing to the crowd, trying to make the sensational play, and we let up defensively."

If Smith would like to part with any of his starters, who averaged 8-foot-10 last night, Iona coach Pat Kennedy would be happy to take them off the Dean's hands. Then again, Kennedy didn't feel Smith's big men did all the damage.

Basketball

"When they don't go with that great height inside, they can go with what's probably the best three-guard rotation in the game," Kennedy said. "The combination is going to make them next to impossible to stop."

It seems it already has. Steve Hale led the onslaught with 15 points, and Kenny Smith, Daugherty and Warren Martin each added 14. Iona center Bob Coleman was game-high with 20 points.

"We just caught them early on our home court," said Smith, whose team opened its season with a 107-70 defeat of 20th-ranked UCLA.

In other games involving Top 20 teams, No. 5 Duke beat William and Mary 84-61, No. 6 Syracuse stomped Cornell 98-62, No. 7 Illinois crushed Loyola of Chicago 95-64, No. 11

Auburn stopped Birmingham Southern 61-51, No. 12 Kentucky pounded Chaminade 89-57, and No. 16 Alabama-Birmingham trounced Missouri Baptist 94-52.

At Williamsburg, Va., Johnny Dawkins scored 28 points to lead Duke, 3-0. The Blue Devils shot 68 percent from the floor, even without the injured forwards Jay Bilas and David Henderson. Mark Alarie added 17.

At Syracuse, N.Y., Wendell Alexia and Dwayne Washington each scored 16 points to lead the Orangemen over Cornell. Cornell never came closer than 22 points in the second half. Syracuse outbounded the Big Red 45-21.

At Champaign, Ill., Scott Meents scored 6 of his 12 points in the first four minutes to help Illinois to a season-opening victory. Illinois, led by Ken Norman's 16 points, had five players in double figures. Loyola guard Carl Golston was held to 9 points. At Auburn, Ala., Chuck Person shot 12-for-15 from the floor for 24 points to power the Tigers, who led from the start and held a 23-point lead with 6:44 left. Birmingham Southern closed the gap by outscoring Auburn 16-6 down the stretch.

At Honolulu, Kenny Walker scored 22 points and Ed Davender added 20 to lead Kentucky over Chaminade. Walker hit 8-of-10 from the field and 6-of-7 free throws. Davender hit 7-of-9 from the field and 6-of-7 free throws. The Wildcats forced 32 turnovers.

At Birmingham, Ala., Eddie Collins, Jerome Mincy and Tracy Foster each scored 12 points to lead UAB. Anthony Moore led all scorers with 24 points for Missouri Baptist. UAB coach Gene Bartow kept no player on the court for more than 20 minutes, and all but one of his 14 players scored.

Wright, Klein is just what the team needs this year to be successful. "We're beginning to come together as a team," Wright said. "We really like him (Klein). He lets us play and he doesn't hold back anything. I feel the team is more relaxed and shoots better."

But, unfortunately for the varsity squad just putting the ball in for two points wasn't enough to overcome one of the best faculty teams in Florida.

"They're (faculty) really good," Klein said. "We had the offense, but we just didn't have the defense."

Klein was right on the nose when he said the varsity had the offense. The Tribe put five men in double figures with Hill, Holden and Walker leading the way with 11 while Henderson and Whitney added 10.

The faculty had three in double figures with Richardson's 14 being the high mark. Houston Malcom added 12 and Holcomb poured in 11.

"Our offensive attack and the midfieldsers did very well," Lake Brantley coach Larry Kaskey said. "Seminole didn't attack much so I'm curious to see how our keeper (Karen Brown) handles pressure. She gained a lot of confidence in training sessions we had."

Along with the offensive play of DelRusso and Marien, Kaskey said Herbst played a fine half at middlefield and lightning quick Reenie Deaver played a great half at sweeper back.

"Herbst will be one of the team leaders," Kaskey said. "She controls the middle."

The Lady Patriots were playing without senior defender Pam Anderson who was out with the flu and junior forward Kristin Paine, one of last year's leading scorers, went down early Tuesday with an injury.

"That was the biggest let down," Kaskey said of Paine's injury. "Hopefully, it's not that bad."

Seminole High also felt the effects of the flu bug that is going around as Reno said her team was playing without five starters. She also said Rumler had missed two weeks of practice with the flu.

Along with Rumler's play in the net in the early going, defenders Cindy Bengé and Angela Freeman also turned in fine efforts. Now, Reno is looking for some offense.

"We lost most of our offense from last year," Reno said. "We've got 'Spuffy' (Vicky Pakovic) but we're very weak on the left side."

In the third half Tuesday, Oviedo High and Lake Howell engaged in a scoreless battle for the first 19 minutes but Jennifer Rogers scored with 22:12 remaining and Lake Howell went on to claim a 1-0 victory.

It was the first ever soccer victory for the Lake Howell girls, who were winless in their first season a year ago.

"Most of the girls played in the off season and they came back with a good attitude," Lake Howell coach Art Raynor said. "They're 200 percent better this year."

Rogers goal came on an assist from Cheryl Moss and Lake Howell goalkeeper Darcy Misiak stopped every shot Oviedo had to offer. Raynor also said midfielder Megan Lane and sweeper Melissa Mearns turned in strong performances.

For Oviedo, forward Cathy Bergman, midfielder Jill Knutson and defender Anna Hollis led the way.

Rotary Bowl Fitting End For Winter Park, Lakeland

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald
Winter Park vs. Lakeland

A fitting end to the 1995 football season and a fitting beginning of the 11th Annual Rotary Bowl game. The bowl game will be played tonight at 8 at Lyman High School.

These two teams, who usually play the first game of the season against each other, didn't meet in the regular season this year due to the redistricting and schedule changes.

However, this has turned into a match made in heaven for these two football powerhouses. The Wildcats, who missed the state playoffs because they happen to be in the same district as Apopka this year, are looking forward to meeting Lakeland for the fifth straight year.

"We're used to playing them," Wildcat head coach Larry Gergley said. "It will be different playing them last instead of first because the teams are much better at the end of the season than they are at the beginning."

Gergley and his Wildcats

Football

ended the year at 8-2, losing only to district rivals Apopka and Orlando Evans. Since the 'Cats won't be in the state playoffs this year, the Rotary Bowl will be somewhat of an end of the year gift, according to Gergley.

"It's kind of a reward for our kids," Gergley said. "We're going to go out there and have a good time whether we win or lose."

Although Gergley emphasized to his players all year to play intense football, he feels the state playoffs because they happen to be in the same district as Apopka this year, are looking forward to meeting Lakeland for the fifth straight year.

"We'll play anybody that wants to play anytime or anywhere," a confident Gergley said. "Our strategy is survival."

Survival may be the only strategy the Wildcats can use against Lakeland if past games are any indication of Wednesday's bowl game. "They're an aggressive team and very big," Gergley said. "Their offense is extremely explosive and their defense loves to gang tackle. It should be a high scoring game."

Lakeland head coach, Bill Castle, feels the game will depend on the Dreadnaught's ability to stop the Wildcat's sensational running game which is revolved around junior running back Hilton Mobley.

"Their running back (Mobley) is very good," Castle said. "They give him the ball a lot. He's strictly their bread and butter man."

Castle, like Gergley, sees the game as a high scoring one, but he also thinks the game will be won or lost by the team who makes the fewest turnovers.

"It's gotten to be a big rivalry," a confident Castle said.

Mosher, Winter Park Principal Dr. Eric Smith, Rotary Team Selection Chairman Larry Cowart and Wildcat coach Larry Gergley commit to tonight's game.

Atlanta 'Pounds' New York

ATLANTA (UPI) — Dominique Wilkins said Atlanta's ability to "pound the ball inside" keyed the Hawks to a 104-94 victory over the New York Knicks.

Wilkins, who scored 35 points, including 21 in the second quarter, said the Hawks followed their game plan for the Knicks Tuesday night.

"Our game plan tonight was to pound the ball inside to Jon (Koneak), Kevin (Willis), Cliff (Livingston), Tree (Rollins) and myself," Wilkins said. "We were able to do that, and that was the difference in the game."

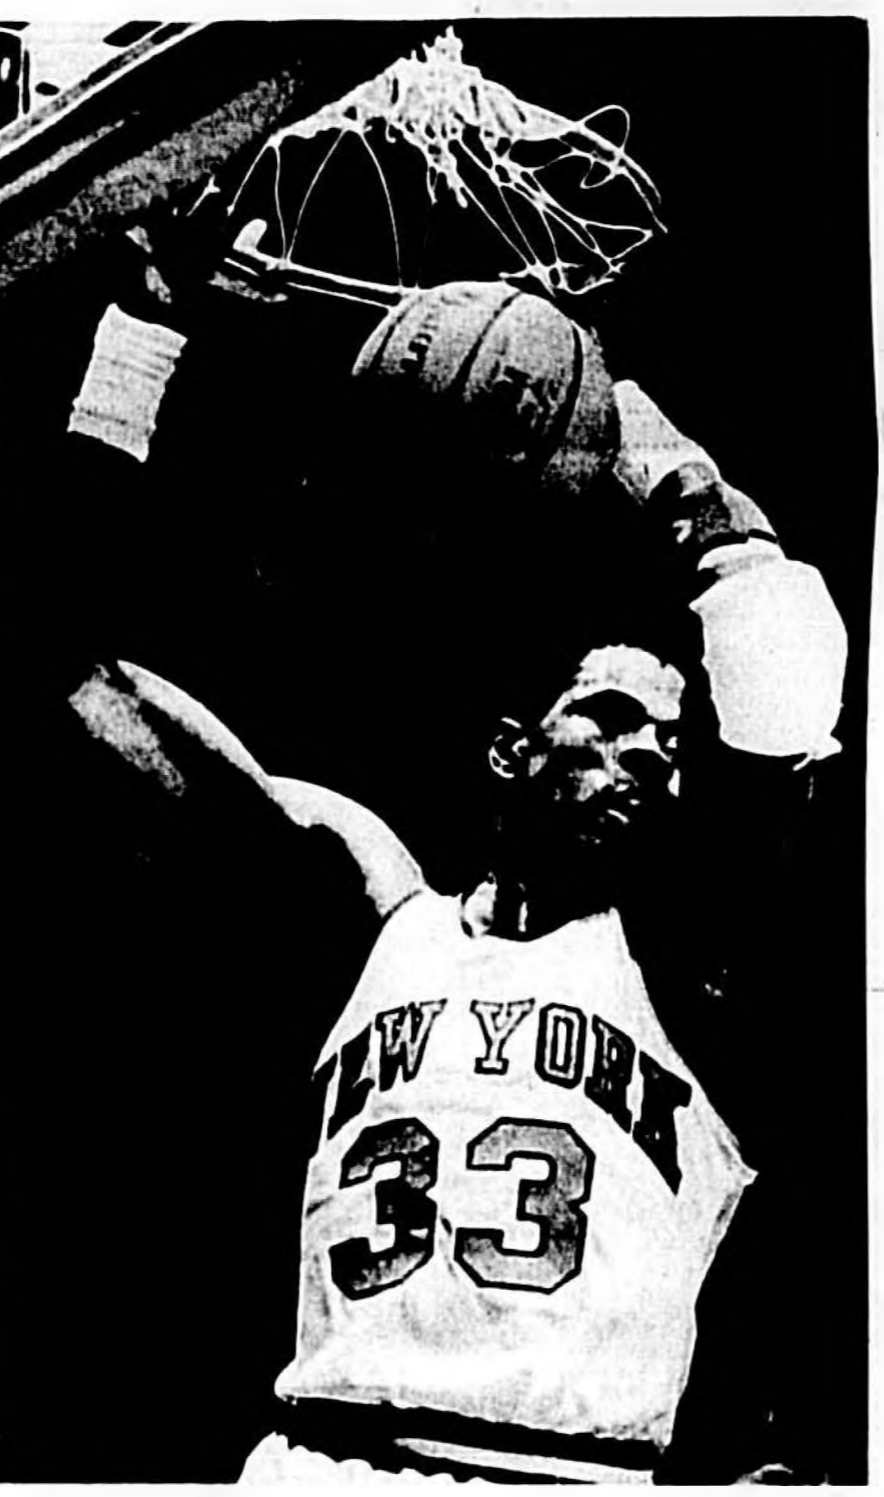

New York coach Hubie Brown agreed with Wilkins and said Atlanta's rebounding made the difference in the game.

Atlanta coach Mike Fratello described Tuesday night's game as a typical Atlanta-New York clash, "full of warfare at both ends of the floor."

"I was really pleased with our passing late in the game," Fratello said. "It led to the key buckets to keep us up and extended the clock at the same time."

"Once again, we didn't play well enough to win," New York's Patrick Ewing said. "We made a lot of mental and physical mistakes. It looks like we just have to continue to work hard, play hard and stay after it."

New York, 3-12, was paced in scoring by reserve Trent Tucker with 20 points. Center Patrick Ewing finished with 18 points, while Pat Cummings and Rory Sparrow each scored 15.

New York's Patrick Ewing stuffs home two points.

Gervin's 27 Lead Bulls To Victory

DENVER (UPI) — Given the choice between youth and experience, some coaches will choose the former. Chicago Bulls coach Stan Albeck put his confidence in veteran guard George Gervin Tuesday night and wound up defeating one of the NBA's strongest teams.

Gervin, the four-time NBA scoring champion viewed by many as too old to play, scored 27 points to lead the Bulls to a 128-123 victory over the Denver Nuggets.

The 33-year-old Gervin, who also played under Albeck in San Antonio, credited his coach for his return to form.

"He appreciates my game and gives me a lot of chances, and that makes me want to play hard," Gervin said. "I felt especially good in the fourth quarter."

Reserve guard Quintin Dailley added 24 points for Chicago, including 14 in the third quarter when the Bulls outscored Denver 39-27.

Orlando Woolridge added 20 points for Chicago, and Gene Banks and Jawann Oldham scored 16 apiece.

Denver, which jumped to an 11-2 start, has lost two games in a row. Alex English led the Nuggets with 26 points, and Mike Evans and Lafayette Lever each added 22.

"We're throwing the ball away, we're standing around, forcing shots, not penetrating," Denver coach Doug Moe said. "If it were an isolated game, I wouldn't worry. But this is three games in a row."

The Nuggets led by eight points at halftime, but the Bulls took advantage of Denver's cold third-quarter shooting to go ahead 97-93.

...Suit

Although Sanford has included a $5,675,000 "good faith" purchase offer in its suit, the price ultimately paid will be decided by a jury. Representatives for both the county and Sanford said they anticipate a jury determination would be higher than the city's purchase offer.

According to Ms. Clayton, if Sanford wins the suit, it would not only have to compensate the county, but also Paulucci's Heathrow development. Rather than financial remuneration, she said this would involve the 3.5 million gallons of daily effluent treatment called for in the county's purchase contract.

This aspect of the case will either be addressed during the condemnation proceeding or in a separate suit filed by Paulucci or his representatives, Ms. Clayton said. "Either way, Sanford will have to face not only interfering with our efforts, but also those of Heathrow."

According to Ms. Clayton, the county intends to prove in court that "Sanford's effort to exercise its power of eminent domain is nothing more than an interference" to steps the county has taken "to build a regional facility."

"By regional we mean Sanford, too," she said. According to Falsion, the city has its own project "on track," and part of it involves the condemnation suit he and Colbert began preparing in October, while both Sanford and the county were bidding on the land. He said the suit was prepared as part of the city's "contingency plan," which sought "alternative" means of obtaining the property.

Falsion also said the effort "wasn't formally presented or approved" by the commission and that he was "not sure" which commissioners were told about it.

"Those (commissioners) who raised questions" regarding the city's wastewater management efforts "during informal conversations or phone calls" were told, Falsion said.

He said he took the initiative because, "the commissioners don't sit around all day thinking of directions to give me. I'm managing the (wastewater) program."

Accordingly, he said, because the engineering studies, property appraisals and putting together the actual verbiage of the suit "couldn't be done overnight," the effort began weeks before Paulucci agreed to sell to the county. It was done, "so we could be ready to move when it (the purchase authorization) became official," Falsion said.

Milton Smith was out of town on Nov. 8 and said, "I read about it in the newspaper or Mr. Falsion told me — I don't remember which. What difference does it make?"

According to Smith, approving the suit's filing was "the only formal action" required of the commission. "That's what makes the difference," he said. "The preparation doesn't have to be approved."

Colbert and Falsion, said Smith, "have the authority" to prepare litigation without conferring with the commission. "We charge them with running the city."

Farr said although he was not told "specifically" of the suit's preparation, he "presumed" it was being worked on. "Condemnation is always a possibility," Farr said. "It's an option always open to us and they (Falsion and Colbert) didn't need our authorization."

Mercer said he "didn't know about the condemnation until after the county agreed to buy the property."

His said his first knowledge of the suit, "As far as I can remember, was at the special meeting when we agreed to (file) it."

Thomas said he "certainly knew all along" that Colbert and Falsion were preparing the suit. "It was something I talked to him (Falsion) briefly about."

Thomas said his response to the information was, "It's a good idea, since we need the land."

Mayor Smith said today she knew about the suit when she sent a letter to County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm, asking for renewal of city-county wastewater management discussions. The condemnation, however, is not mentioned in the letter, which was mailed on Oct. 28. Instead, Mayor Smith said the city is "vigorously pursuing" its wastewater management program.

The letter also states Sanford attempted to renew the discussions, "with the result that we still have heard nothing from you."

"I really believe it is time to pursue these issues," the mayor wrote. "As public officials we have a public trust to develop a system of working together for the mutual benefit of all concerned."

In discussing the condemnation proceeding, Mayor Smith said she learned of its preparation through "conversations" with Falsion. She also said the suit "isn't trying to steal anybody's land."

The wording of the suit, however, describes a "quick take" of the land and according to Ms.

Clayton, "Sanford is trying to take the property from us. There's no other way of looking at it."

She added: "We have the deed and until the pending litigation is decided, the property is legally ours."

The purchase was finalized Thursday at a meeting attended by Ms. Clayton, County Administrator Ken Hooper, County Director of Environmental Services Jim Bible, Heathrow president Roger Soderstrom, and Paulucci attorneys Jim Spooler and Harris Turner.

Although litigation commenced after the commission authorized purchase, the sale could still be finalized because, "the terms of the commission's contract remained the same," Hooper said.

Also, according to Ms. Clayton, the commission did not have to amend the initial authorization it gave she and Hooper to pursue the purchase. She said this was because a clause in the contract calls for the matter to proceed regardless of "all risk of loss resulting from natural hazards, acts of God or governmental action..."

"And we all know how things turned out," she said.

...Care

Ms. Smith said, there were initial problems with the service.

During the 18 months Care has provided ambulance service in Seminole County the company has weathered complaints about unprofessional conduct by ambulance personnel — including charges of drug use — employee morale problems and difficulty in collecting outstanding bills, county officials said.

Most of the emergency service problems were worked out, Ms. Smith said. She also said she could not fault Care's present level of service.

Ms. Smith said the county will evaluate Rural/Metro's management of Care's performance over the next six months and at that time will decide whether to alter the subsidy plan.

The pending ownership change does not affect the subsidy legally because the county will still be dealing with Care after the stock purchase. The only legal difference is that the company will be owned by Rural/Metro and not its current owner Everett Gilliland, county officials said.

PEOPLE

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Nov. 27, 1988—18

"Garnishing", Jewel Webb, left, says, "is the key to appealing food since people eat with their eyes." Webb, who recently came to Central Florida Regional Hospital to again train hospital personnel such as Dedora Smith and Pat McMiller, right, is a specialist from Morrison Management Services in bake goods, salads and merchandizing.

'Eat With Eyes'

Colorful Food Has Eye Appeal

"People eat with their eyes." "Food that is colorfully and attractively presented will appeal to people and they will try the dish, whether they think it is good or not," explained Jewel Webb, an instructor from Morrison Management Services.

Webb recently spent a week at Central Florida Regional Hospital training and re-training personnel in the Dietary Department which is managed by Morrisons.

An attractive dietary professional from Mobile, Webb was in Sanford working with the dietary staff when the hospital opened in 1982. And although prepared "the Morrison Way," all of the cooking is done on site by hospital employees — four cooks, two salad makers and two bakers.

Headquartered in the Morrison corporate offices, she travels throughout the southern states teaching her specialties — the making of salads and baked goods. The third emphasis is merchandizing, presentation and garnishing which is a Morrison trademark.

Webb said that her greatest reward is to return and see the basic foods being prepared the same way. Quickly she explained.

"Morrison's reputation was built on their basic recipe." She pointed out that if the food is cooked by those guidelines, the results won't go astray. She says she tells the cooks, "Let's don't wonder about this, it's from the bible." (The bible is the nickname for Morrison's basic recipes).

Knowing that CFRH has a reputation for their delicious sweet rolls she used that item as an example. "They are made from the Morrison basic roll mix. The local baker adds cinnamon, sugar mix, nuts, raisins, or both, and tops them off with a glaze. You see, using the basic recipe the cook is assured of a consistently good product."

That is not to mean that Webb is not open to ideas and new dishes. She quipped, "I see a cookbook and I just have to read it." And she said that one of the pleasures of traveling is that she gets new ideas by working with others around the states, visiting new locales and restaurants.

Obviously Webb likes her job. She has been an instructor with the company for 16 years. With a quick smile she said, "I grew up with Morrisons, you see: it is my first and only job."

Her aunt and uncle retired from the company and when Webb finished high school, she started traveling around with her aunt, who was an instructor in salads and baked goods. In fact, her aunt taught her the baking skills she now passes along to others.

Teaching techniques were learned first hand under the tutelage of a lady named Rose Delaney, who was a Morrison administrative assistant. Delaney also traveled the Morrison network, but working with managers and their administrative personnel. Webb has seen changes in that network through the years. Yet she is emphatic about retaining the basic ingredients. Most of the improvements have come in garnishing, she noted. Webb's definition of merchandizing is "having an excellent product and presenting it properly."

Attitude on the part of dietary personnel is also a part of good merchandizing. "The attitude has been great here. I must say this is a good staff," the instructor added.

Seeing the staff respond to her instruction is one of her major pleasures. "Many times," Webb said, "employees will think they can't do anything creative. But once they try their hand at garnishing and create a tomato rose, for instance, they really get excited and gain confidence."

That is her reward. And according to Webb, the patients, public and employees are also rewarded by "an excellent product presented properly."

Abby Writes Annual Column For Thanksgiving Blessings

DEAR ABBY: By popular demand, here is my traditional Thanksgiving column:

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day, so take a few minutes to think about what you have to be thankful for.

How's your health? Not so good? Well, thank God you've live this long. A lot of people haven't. You're hurting? Thousands — maybe millions — are hurting more. (Have you ever visited a veterans hospital? Or a rehabilitation clinic for crippled children?)

If you awakened this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, use your vocal cords to utter human sounds, walk to the breakfast table on two good legs and read the newspaper with two good eyes, praise the Lord! A lot of people couldn't.

How's your pocketbook? Thin? Well, most of the world is a lot poorer. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. In fact, one-third of the people in the world will go to bed hungry tonight.

Are you lonely? The way to have a friend is to be one. If nobody calls you, call someone. Go out of your way to do something nice for somebody. It's a sure cure for the blues.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Hurray! Our system has been saved by such concern. Concern for fair play under the law. Your country may not be a rose garden, but it also is not a patch of weeds.

Freedom rings! Look and listen. You can still worship at the church of your choice, cast a secret ballot and even criticize your government without fearing a knock on the head or a knock on the door at midnight.

Dear Abby

And if you want to live under a different system, you are free to go. There are no walls or fences—nothing to keep you here.

As a final thought, I'll repeat my Thanksgiving prayer: perhaps you will want to use it at your table tomorrow:

O, heavenly Father: We thank thee for food and remember the hungry.

We thank thee for health and remember the sick.

We thank thee for friends and remember the friendless.

We thank thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.

May these remembrances stir us to service.

That thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen.

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and may God bless you and yours.

Love, ABBY

P.S. Want an instant high? The surest cure for the post-holiday blues is to do something nice for someone. Why not call someone who lives alone and invite him (or her) over for dinner or leftovers?

Better yet, call and say, "I'm coming to get you, and I'll see that you get home." (Many older people don't like to go out alone after dark.)

Try it. And let me know the results.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old man with a problem. How can I find a woman that both my mother and I can agree will be the right wife for me?

It seems every time I get serious with a woman, my mother finds at least a hundred things wrong with her.

I want to get married and settle down, but I just can't seem to find anyone my mother thinks is good enough for me.

Can you help?

WANTS TO MARRY

DEAR WANTS: No, but you can help yourself by seeing a counselor to find out why your mother's approval is more important than your own in choosing a wife.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. All correspondence is confidential.

Mayor Proclaims 'Family Week'

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in conjunction with President Reagan has requested Sanford's Mayor Bettye Smith to issue a proclamation declaring the week of Nov. 25 as family week.

Mayor Smith said she was pleased to comply with the wishes of the President and to ask all people to consider joining in meaningful activities, such as family discussions, home improvements, church attendance, recreational sports and family prayer.

"The family is the basic strength of any free and orderly society and it is appropriate to honor the family as a unit essential to the continued well-being of the community of Sanford; and it is fitting that official recognition be given to the importance of family loyalties and ties, said Mayor Smith in issuing the proclamation.

Mayor Smith declared: "I, Bettye Smith, Mayor of Sanford, do hereby proclaim this week as Family Week... Nov. 25, 1988.

Mayor Smith was elected Sanford's first woman mayor.

Man, 65, Needs To Reduce Cholesterol

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 65 years old. My cholesterol is 357, my triglyceride is 256 and I have poor circulation. Is the high cholesterol the cause of my circulation problem? I read where an herb called Circu, developed in Switzerland and now used here, is good for circulation. Does vitamin E help, and, if so is the natural kind better than the synthetic kind?

doctor because of the possibility that a growth or hormone imbalance could have caused one breast to enlarge.
DEAR DR. GOTT — Is it safe to use a skin-bleaching cream, the kind that fades brown age spots on the hands?
DEAR READER — As a general rule, yes. But remember that many skin-bleaching pro-

DEAR READER — Your cholesterol is above the normal range. Your elevated triglycerides suggest that diabetes might be the cause of the abnormal levels of fat in your bloodstream. Your circulation problem could certainly be related to these factors. I am not familiar with the herb preparation you mention, and I seriously doubt that vitamin E would do much good.

I suggest you reduce (if you are overweight), avoid saturated fats, stop smoking (if you are a smoker) and begin a program of regular exercise — such as walking two miles a day. If your blood sugar is normal and your cholesterol-triglyceride levels haven't fallen to normal in six months, I would consider you to be a candidate for drug therapy to reduce cholesterol.

Of course, your own doctor may not agree with my analysis, but given your age and poor circulation, I would feel more comfortable if your cholesterol were below 250 and your triglycerides less than 150. I think your general state of health would be improved, too.

DEAR DR. GOTT — About a year ago I noticed that one breast was larger than the other. I haven't seen a doctor yet. What causes this? What can be done about it?

DEAR READER — You don't mention either your age or your sex. Both make a difference. Men and women may experience breast-size discrepancy. Some asymmetry is natural, and perhaps you just hadn't been aware of this before. However, I think you should check with a

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here's another deal where you first have to ask yourself what kind of bridge game you're playing. If you're at a duplicate tournament, you can be sure that everyone else is going to play three no-trump, probably with that same opening lead of a low heart. So you'd better go up with the queen of hearts in dummy, knock out the ace of spades and then, if the clubs split, make an overtrick. If clubs don't split, you may not make your contract, but at least you'll have company, since all the other duplicate players will be trying for overtricks.

If the game is rubber bridge, you have a different object — that of guaranteeing your contract. You can do so by playing low at trick one. After winning the second heart lead with the ace, cash the queen and jack of clubs. Even if clubs divide 4-1, the suit will run when you get to dummy with a heart. But now you must be a little careful. You must first develop a spade trick by playing the spade king. East will take the ace and may lead diamonds, hoping that West started with as much as the K-10 or Q-10-4 long, but you will be OK for three no-trump.

As the cards lie, most duplicate players would go set. Even at rubber bridge, you'd be surprised at the number of players who would miss this safety play.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 28, 1985

Two of your greatest assets in the year ahead will be your ability to make new friends and to maintain these relationships. These associations will prove beneficial to you in many areas of your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're an exceptionally sharp bargainer today, but, much to your credit, you won't take advantage of others. Your fairness will be recognized and repaid. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. To get yours, mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 18-16, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today will be extremely rewarding if you vent your compassionate impulses. Additional joy will be added if you band together with those doing good things for others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) At a social gathering today, make it a point to draw out people to whom you are not usually too attentive. They'll appreciate you making them feel important.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Share today's festivities with people other than just your family. If you know someone who is going to be alone, set an extra place at your table.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Good intentions will count for little today. It will be actions that really matter. Don't let an opportunity slip by where you can be helpful to another.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions favor you today in situations where you are willing to share what you gain. In fact, selfishness will assure an increase.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you may have preferences today as to what you would like to do, go along with the will of the majority instead of seeking self-gratification.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Putting yourself out for those you love will give you the greatest degree of pleasure today. People you cater to now will later cater to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't worry today about how much others can do for you. Instead, think about what you can do for them. More important, actually do it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Material gains are possible today, especially if you are strongly motivated to provide more for those to whom you feel obligated.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your words carry more weight than usual today, so be sure to use them wisely. Make it a point to boost the spirits of everyone you encounter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) People to whom you have been kind in the past are likely to make an extra effort today to be kind to you. Keep the wheels rolling, and pass their kindness on to someone else.

For Character Actor

Santa Part Role Of A Lifetime

By Frank Spotnitz
UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is one part above all others in every great actor's lifetime. For Sean Connery, it was James Bond. For Charlton Heston, it was Moses. And for David Huddleston, it's Santa Claus.

His feelings won't be hurt if you don't recognize the name. Most people don't. Huddleston, 55, is one of those perennial character actors whose voice and face are familiar, even if the name isn't.

He's been in dozens of movies, television shows and commercials, a recent example being the recurring role of Grandpa Luke in an orange juice commercial.

Chuckling, he remembers a woman who recognized him in a store. Afterward, the woman told her companion who he was. Huddleston overheard her companion reply, "You're amazing. You recognize the most insignificant people."

Huddleston may finally have done in his obscurity by landing the part of a lifetime, playing every child's favorite fat man in "Santa Claus, The Movie."

"I was excited to get it, excited to do it and excited to see it," Huddleston said. "Now I want to see how many other people get excited about it."

Although he makes no secret of his glee in finally snaring a leading role in a $50 million motion picture, Huddleston said playing the role was tough work.

"It was formidable," he said. "Especially the scenes where we shot in the snow, in the first part of the picture. We shot them in August on a soundstage. It was really hot and our costumes were all fur and leather."

Huddleston said he felt more than a touch of responsibility in bringing to life a figure that looms so large in so many children's lives.

"Every kid has an idea of what Santa Claus is, and they're all different," he said. "Now this time, they're going to have a chance, maybe for the first time, to have an image of Santa Claus that will last them the rest of their life."

The screenplay, by David Newman, depicts Santa and his wife as a childless couple who for years make toys and deliver them to children in the snowbound neighborhood where they live. One year, after a climactic event, Mr. and Mrs. Claus are given the gift of eternal life so that they can continue to spread joy to the children of the world forever.

"What's happening now is that scripts are starting to come to me for my consideration," he said. "That's nice. I like that."

And Huddleston wouldn't mind if the film prompted people to start recognizing him, even if it's only as "that guy who plays Santa Claus."

Forgery Case To Be Heard

A Massachusetts man is scheduled to appear in federal court in Orlando Dec. 12 on charges of mailing forged laboratory reports regarding a hazardous waste site near Sanford.

was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury on three counts of mail fraud in connection with work he conducted at a two-acre site off Jewett Lane and Airport Boulevard. He is accused of collecting $5,420 from the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation for tests on chemicals removed from the site. The laboratory listed as doing the chemical analysis for Smith however says it never did the tests.

Smith reportedly used the mail to submit bogus test results and a bill on papers bearing the name of the Massachusetts lab.

If convicted, Smith could receive up to 15 years and $3,000 in fines.

The Sanford site was a storage area for a Winter Park chemical company that was legally forced to close in 1983. The Winter Park Co. Forsyth Road has been called one of the worst sites of contamination in the nation and clean up at that site and the Sanford site is scheduled to begin in 1988, according to DER officials. The chemicals cannot be retested because the no longer exist, a DER spokesman said.

The untested chemicals were from 3,264 barrels of industrial waste stored at the Sanford site by the company. The barrels were found by Sanford officials in November 1981 after the Environmental Protection Agency began investigating Resource Conservation and Recovery Co., the successor to Chemical City. —Deane Jordan

First Thanksgiving Was In Florida?

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The first Thanksgiving in the New World was celebrated in Florida by Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon, not by the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, according to a University of Florida historian.

"The very first Thanksgiving in what is now the United States took place when Juan Ponce de Leon landed in Florida during the Easter season of 1513 — 108 years before the Plymouth Rock ceremony in 1621," Michael Gannon of the university's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, said Monday.

It was traditional for Spanish explorers to give formal thanks for a safe passage upon disembarking, Gannon said, but "in the course of history, it is the victors who write the histories."

"England won out over Spain for the mastery of the North American continent, so the early English ceremonies achieved wide currency in history books and eclipsed our knowledge of the earlier Spanish celebrations of thanksgiving," Gannon said.

But Massachusetts historian James Baker had a different view.

"Today Thanksgiving is considered basically a Victorian holiday with the idea of family, going back to the old home and thoughts of nostalgia, which grew in the Victorian-era tradition," said Baker, a researcher for the Plymouth Plantation, a living museum that recreates a Pilgrim village.

Baker acknowledged other groups gathered to offer thanks well before the celebrated Pilgrim feast in 1621 and said, "If people are looking for firsts, they can use whatever they want."

"But the tradition began in New England," Baker said.

Thanksgiving Day Dinner For Needy

Manna Haven, a non-profit non-denominational group dedicated to feeding the hungry in the Sanford-Seminole area, will serve a free turkey dinner on Thanksgiving Day for anybody in need of a meal.

West, a spokesman for the group said, "We have gotten food and donations from local churches, merchants, restaurants and individuals in order to put on the dinner. We are preparing to feed up to 300 persons."

The dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Thursday at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. First St., Sanford.

Manna Haven's goal is to find a location to provide meals for hungry families locally in a ministry similar to the ongoing Daily Bread operation at the Central Florida Christian Service Center.
