Dungeon master pleads guilty

TAMPA - Looking dapper and unrepentant, the so-called master of a "fantasy" dungeon pleaded guilty to 15 of 16 charges related to running an illegal sexual enterprise.

Terry Lynn Thomas, known as "Master Troy," was charged in 1995 with conspiracy and racketeering, operating a place for lewd activities, distribution of obscene material and possession of child pornography.

He pleaded guilty Thursday to all but the racketeering charge in exchange for five years' probation. He faced up to six years in prison if convicted on all counts.

"I'm pleading guilty not because I am guilty, but because I'm forced to by the law," Thomas told Judge Debra Behnke. Thomas. 50; Jena Zellar, known as "Slave Joan," were arrested in June 1995 after investigators raided a Thonotosassa home where they said customers paid to be videotaped, watch films of others or engage in acts that involved whips, handcuffs, 'slaves'' and, sometimes, a dog.

The raid followed a two-month investigation in which Hillsborough County sheriff's detectives rented films featuring bestiality with pets, livestock and exotic animals.

Authorities later confiscated videotapes with titles such as "Swise Love Dog," "Animal Zoo," and "Horse and Woman."

Some were commercially distributed films, including three that featured actor Tract Lords at age 15 or 16, investigators said.

Never on a Sunday

BELLEAIR BEACH - Steven Frame was trying to make some extra money painting the stucco foundation of his uncle's home one recent Sunday when a pair of cops drove up and slapped him with a $30 ticket.

In Belleair Beach, a city of $200,000 homes near St. Petersburg, it's against the law to do certain work for pay on Sundays. Paid workers can't paint a house, build a deck or perform any task considered construction.

"It's a city ordinance." police chief Mitch Heathcote said. "The council brings it up all the time. They want it enforced."

Two police cars pulled up before Frame finished the first coat of paint on his uncle's home.

'He asked me if I was getting paid." Frame said. "I wasn't going to lie about it. I told him I was After searching their code book, the officers wrote Frame a ticket for "performing contracted work which is prohibited on Sundays at all times. To wit: painting." It's a $30 violation.

Frame's uncle, Ron Birch, was dumbfounded.

"It appears to me that the police would have better things to do," he said.

Council member Elisabeth Schroeder disagrees. She said the ordinance protects the 2,000 people in her city from construction work one day each week.

"You figure one day a week should be a peaceful day," Schroeder said.

Council president Ron Zimmerman said the city might expand the law to ban paid lawn services from mowing on Sundays.

Frame, 34, of nearby Clearwater has been in the painting and pressure-cleaning business for five years. He was cited Jan. 19 and had 10 days to either fight the ticket or pay the fine. He paid the fine Jan. 29, he said, to avoid the hassle of going to court.

TV stations ordered to pay millions

SAN FRANCISCO - Three TV stations, two of them in Florida, wilifully violated copyright law by airing hundreds of episodes of four series without permission, a federal appeals court has ruled.

uit Court of Appeals orde pay $8.8 million in damages. The court upheld a federal judge's decision in favor of Columbia Pictures Television, which held rights to the 440 episodes and licensed them to the Southeastern stations.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE Culverhouse's widow, trustees settle

By LIGA HOLEWA Associated Press Writer

TAMPA - It was a courtroom drama that felt like a richly detailed soap opera, featuring a wealthy, philandering football team owner and a widow determined to get her due.

The case reached an abrupt end Thursday when the widow of late Tampa Bay Buccancers owner Hugh Culverhouse reached a settlement with the trustees accused of cheating her out of a portion of his $380 milnon esune.

The agreement came days after a judge began hearing her lawsuit, which made public sordid details of the extramarital affairs and financial dealings of her husband, a tax attorney who had owned the losing but prof-Itable Bucs.

"I'm terribly glad that it's over." Joy Culverhouse told reporters after signing the agreement, which gives the trustees $3 million each to remove themselves from overseeing the Culverhouse catalc.

Court testimony focused on management of the estate. But attention was focused on the case for months because steamy depositions detailed three affairs Culverhouse allegedly had. including one with Susan Brinkley, wife of former broadcaster David Brinkley.

"I'd like to pull him out of the grave and shoot him with every bullet I could get," Mrs. Culverhouse told The Tampa Tribune last weekend. She said she didn't know about the affairs, and details that emerged made her more determined to take control of the estate.

"I want to get those damn trustees out of there," she told the newspaper.

The case began a year ago, when Mrs. Culverhouse, 76, filed three lawsuits. The first accused lawyers Jack Donian. Fred Cone and Steve Story of mishandling the trust and failing to pay her the income she should have received. A judge began hearing that case Monday.

The trustees said they did their best to manage a complicated estate. Story testified that his skillful management helped bring the Culverhouse empire back from the brink of Anancial collapse.

The second sun second Gam of malpractice, saying he tricked Mrs. Culverhouse into signing an agreement that greatly reduced her share of the family fortune. It gave her husband control of the couple's money in exchange for $5 million and a condominium overlooking husband and Cone advised her to sign it for tax reasons and because Culverhouse was on the brink of bankruptcy. A few months later, statements showed the worth of Culverhouse's holdings actually had grown by $36.7 million.

She contended her husband created the trust and tricked her into signing the agreement because he planned to divorce her and remarry. Court depositions showed Culverhouse's receptionist, Chariton Ford, said he proposed to her and asked for

The settlement pays Mrs. Culverhouse $34 million and allows her to name her own trustees. Story will stay on as the trust manager.

From Associated Press reports

Let's start out with a correction from yesterday's column. Ronald Reagan, whose birthday was yesterday, was not the 14th president of the United States.

he was the 40th. Franklin Pierce was the 14th president, and he died almost 50 years before Reagan was born. Sorry 'bout that.

Getting back to today, it marks the beginning of the Year of the Ox, 4895, the Chinese New Year.

Where observed overseas, everything closes; schools, businesses, panks, and at times, even law enforcement officers go home. The event is generally celebrated until the Lantern Festival, 15 days later, but merchants usually reopen their stores and places of business on the fifth day, and things return to normal.

WASHINGTON - There they go again: Historians, grading the presidents and debating whether the tests themselves pass the test.

A REAL AND A REPART AND A REAL AN

Was Ronald Reagan near great or merely average? Is it too soon to grade President Clinton? Is the notion of rating presidents a bad idea altogether?

The two newest entrants in the ratings game are getting a harrumph from fans of Reagan. milled at his placement in the middle of the presidential pack.

"Rating the Presidents," a 300-page book by William J. Ridings Jr. and Stuart B. Mclver that is being published this month by Citadel Press, ranks Reagan 26th out of 41 based on a poll of 719 historians, political scientists and others.

A survey of 32 jurors by Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. for The New York Times Magazine in December lumped Reagan among 12 presidents in the average-low category.

"There You Go Again, Liberal Historians and the New York Times Deny Ronald Reagan His Due," the Heritage Foundation complains in a headline in its March-April issue of Policy Review magazine.

The magazine goes so far as to offer space to a number of voices more sympathetic to the Gipper. "Reagan belongs on Mount Rushmore," wrote William F.

Buckley Jr. "Reagan's was a near-great presidency." said Henry Kise-

That's what's happened to Eisenhower: He crept from 22nd in a 1962 survey by Arthur Schlesinger Sr. to average-high in the younger Schlesinger's latest survey and ninth in the Ridings-Mciver poll.

It wasn't until Eisenhower's presidential papers became available in the 1970s that the impression of him as an "sleepy, wymbolic leader" gave way to the idea that he was well informed but used intermediaries to carry out the will, and Fred Oreenstein. a presidential nd an Eisenhower biographer. third-tier ranking. George Bush and Clinton wound up 22nd and 23rd, respectively, in the Ridings-McIver poll; both were rated average-low in Schlesinger's December survey.

Presidential ratings first took off as a scholarly pursuit with a 1948 survey by the senior Schlesinger, who asked 55 leading historians to place each president in one of five you tell? Only the president categories ranging from great to failure.

From that simple beginning. the ratings have gotten increasingly sophisticated, with all sorts of statistical models. quality assessments and fancy methodologies.

Still, some historians shrink at the notion of assigning presidential grades at all.

Nixon is classified as a failure in the latest Schlesinger poll, and ranks 32nd in the Ridings-McIver survey, his demerits for character partially offset by above-average grades for political skill and crisis management.

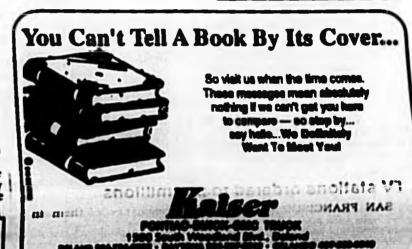

Schlesinger himself acknowledges the limitations of presidential ratings.

He recalls John F. Kennedy asking him, "How the hell can himself can know what his real pressures and real alternatives are. If you don't know that, how can you judge performance?"

Nonetheless. Schlesinger thinks it's healthy to ponder how a president measures up against his peers - particularly for the president himself to do

POLICE BRIEFS

Drug arrests

Seminole County sheriff's deputies spotted a 1990 Toyota Wednesday, and checked its license. It was determined that the listed driver's license had been suspended indefinately, so a traffic stop was conducted at 20th Street and Maple Avenue In Sanford.

Fred Douglas MacArthur, 19, of Winter Springs was the driver. His passenger was identified as Rodrakus L. Hooks, 18, of 2414 Marshall Avenue, Sanford.

Officers said a search of MacArthur uncovered a 9mm bullet and $365 in cash in his pocket. A loaded handgun magazine and a handgun, as well as drug related items were said to have been found in various places during a search of the vehicle.

Both MacArthur and Hooks were arrested on charges of possession of over 20 grams of cannabia with intent to distribute, carrying a concealed firearm, and possession/use of Deputies said MacArthur's license had been suspended indefinitely for failure to pay a traffic fine.

Sexual acts

Karl Edward Osta, 27, 2916 S. Palmetto Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Wednesday. According to the arrest report, on Jan. 20, it was determined that he had reportedly been involved in sexual activities with a 10-year-old girl at his and her residence, over a period of time.

He was arrested Wednesday on four counts of committing an act defined as sexual battery on a child under 16, four counts of lewd/lascivious assault on a child, and four counts of carnal intercourse with an unmarried person under the age of 18.

Retail theft

Michele M. Campbell, 30, of DeBary, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Wednesday at a retail store in the 3800 block of Lake Emma Road near Lake Mary, after she reportedly attempted to take merchandise from the store without paying. She was charged with retail theft.

Jane Doe

A woman was arrested by members of the Sanford police QUAD-Squad Wednesday. Officers said they were patrolling in the area of 13th Street and Williams Avenue, and saw a man and woman in a vehicle parked behind a tavern. When they investigated, they said the woman attempted to escape. She was apprehended after a chase, in the 1400 block of Williams Avenue, but officers said she refused to give any identity. She was arrested as Jane Doe and chared with obstruction by disguise and resisting an officer without violence.

Man attacked

A Sanford man told police he was walking near his 1997 Mitsubishi Wednesday at a convenience store in the 2700 block of W. 25th Street, when he was approached by four men. He said one had a handgun and another one had a knife. After knocking him to the ground, the four reportedly took his vehicle.

The Mitaubishi was located later Wednesday by sheriff's deputies parked near 18th Street and Mulberry Avenue in Sanford.

Plaintiffs say O.J. Simpson is rich; defense says he's broke

By INCHAEL PLESMAN Associated Press Writer

SANTA MONICA. Calif. - What's in a tainted name?

In O.J. Simpson's case, it all depends on the accountant.

Plaintiffs seeking punitive damages on top of the $8.5 million they've won in compensatory demages said Thursday that Simpson is worth at least $15.7 million, which includes $2 million to $3 million a year from signing autographs and writing another book.

The defense claimed that Tuesday's verdict left an already tapped-out Simpson $9.3 million in the hole and argued that the jury should award the plaintiffs nothing in punitive damages. "He can't pay his bills." Simpson's longtime business lawyer, Leroy "Skip" Tart, testified.

The punishment phase of the trial resumes today with more testimony from Taft and other peon money men, followed by another round of deliberations to determine a damage award to punish Simpson for two killings.

The same panel found Simpson liable for the June 12, 1994, knife slayings of ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman, and awarded the 95.5 million to Goldman's parents as compensation for the loss of their son's companionship.

Now, the jury is considering whether to award punitive damages to Goldman's parents and to Ms. Simpson's heirs - the two children she had with Simpson. This final phase of the trial began with the defense moving to throw out any claims for punitive damages on grounds that plaintiff estimates of Simpson's net worth were based on future earnings instead of current value. Judge Hiroshi Fujisaki denied the request.

Then, in opening remarks to jurors, lead defense lawyer Robert Baker said the verdict ruined Simpson and now he can make "absolutely nothing" from the sale of his personality and autographs.

"Those days are gone forever," Baker said.

The defense estimated Simpson's net worth at minus $9,356,157 when the jury award is factored in.

Simpson still owes about $1.5 million in litigation costs for his two trials, plus an additional $1.3 million in what was listed as just civil costs, forensic accountant Neill Freeman testified. Also, Simpson's custody battle for the two children cost him more than $188,000, Baker disclosed.

The plaintiffs used many of the same figures to reach their $15.7 million net-worth figure, with a major addition: an asset of $24.9 million - the amount plaintiffs said Simpson's name and likences is worth.

Taking danger off bridge

Another wreck on Interstate-4 at the Lake Monroe bridge. This time, a van, after reportedly making an improper lane change, struck the side of a 1985 Chevrolet causing the car to fly off the bridge, dropping approximately 75 feet, and landing in the water.

Thankfully, the drive of the Chevrolet was not injured. He was wearing a seat belt.

Just eight days before this, a semi-tractor trailer slammed into the outside guard rail. bounced off, and perched on top of the concrete median, near the same location.

In both cases, especially heavy rush hour traffic was stopped for several hours. Many people arrived at their destination one, two, even three hours later than had been planned. Last year, there were several other wrecks at that location.

It has often been said that a local government body doesn't put up a traffic signal at a dangerous intersection until someone is killed. This is not generally the case, but it appears as such.

We believe we have had enough accidentaat this I-4 bridge to warrant some serious consideration toward making improvements. No one has been killed (recently, at least), but it's time to do something before a life is lost.

What can be done? Remove the median concrete? Put up a slower speed limit (and enforce it)?

The most logical answer is to widen the bridge, but that would take millions of dollars and require possibly several years of study. planning and construction work. Plus the fact the bridge are widened, such action at this point may only lead to an increase in accidents, the second secon an immediate solution.

No one wants to reduce speed on a so-called rapid-transit highway just to cross a bridge.

Abandoning selection by merit

Charles Kettering, the longtime research director of General Motors, was fond of saying. "A problem well stated is a problem half solved." A rigorously logical friend of mine once objected that this isn't true. And maybe, technically, he was right. But Kettering's underlying point was sound: We could save a lot of time if we would first state clearly what we're arguing over.

The California Civil Rights Initiative (Pro-position 209 on the ballot in California last November) is a classic example. The initiative, which passed with 54 percent of the votes in a state-time Mr. Clinton carried-overwitehillingty. amends the state constitution to provide that "the state shall not discriminate against, or grant preferential treatment to, any individual or group on the basis of race, sex, color, ethnicity, or national origin in the operation of public employment, public education, or public contracting."

Prior to the election, opponents of Prop 209. lacking any better arguments against it, fell back on simple lying - charging, for example, that II would "gut" nondiscriminatory affirmative action programs such as outreach and job training. Since November, they have eased their pain by getting a liberal federal district judge to enjoin its enforcement until the Supreme Court can pass on its constitutionality in a year or so. But they know very well that even the present

Supreme Court is likely to uphold it eventually, and some thoughtful liberals are seeking a fall-back position.

Once such person is Nathan Glazer. Writing in the Jan. 27 Issue of the New Republic, in a space set aside for "The Hard Questions, 14 Glazer notes that CCRI, even if it were adopted an national policy, wouldn't af-fect black employment drastically (since private corporations still could, and many would. discriminate in favor of blacks) or change the picture for preferences in government contracting much (since the Supreme Court is already moving against these). But higher education, he points out, is something else again: There, the end of preferences "means facing the prospect that the number of African American students accepted into selective institutions would drop from 6 or 7 percent to around 2 percent." This, he asserts, would be a "disaster for race relations."

Mr. Glazer therefore asks. "Can we find a way to reconcile some degree of selectivity or pref-erence ... with the language and ideals of the Fourteenth Amendment and the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and with the parallel language of California's Proposition 209, which is modeled on those precedents?" He doesn't answer the question, he just raises it. A "hard question.". Inderd.

And if we choose to maintain black acceptances at 7 percent, in the name of some higher and overriding necessity, then let us at least be clear about what we are doing: We are denying 5 percent of the places available in America's institutions of higher learning to young men and women who have every right to them on the basis of their objective qualifications, but have the misfortune to belonging to the white or Would you, if you were the yellow race. parent of a white or Asian child fully qualified for such an education, acquiesce philosophically if he or she were rejected in favor of a less qualified black child?

No one can pretend that the answer to that question is easy. But at least it's the right question.

The battle of the budget

It's budget season, that time of the year when Congress keeps us entertained until baseball starts. More than that: It's the balanced budget amendment all-star game. when the slickest and most talented prevaricators, hypocrites and rabble-rousers on the planet step to the plate to take their whacks

It happens every winter. The balanced budget amendment is a simple concept. It mays the government shall spend no more money in a given year than it takes in. Exceptions would be made for times of war and economic crisis; a three-fifths vote of both houses of Con-

That's not what our interstate system is supposed to do. It is to provide us with a route by which we can travel at a reasonable rate of speed and reach our destinations without delay.

People graduate from college with degrees in traffic engineering. They are supposed to be experts. The Department of Transportation (DOT) has many of them on its staff. Can they find no logical solution to this problem which can be accomplished in a relatively short time SDEN?

Apparently, the only thing we can do now is warn motorists. Pretend you are the only sane driver on that highway, especially at the bridge. Everyone else is a nut and is likely to change lanes suddenly or give you other problems. Only you know how to drive over the bridge properly and eafely.

Therefore, be on the alert for those others at all times. Don't talk on that cellular phone. Don't take a sip of your coffee or a bite from your hamburger. Keep both hands on the wheel, be sure your seat belt is fastened property, and beware of everyone else.

And let's tell the Department of Transportation and other transportation officials that we have a problem and demand a solution. They probably know this already, but perhaps don't think the motoring public realizes it as much.

That bridge on Interstate-4 over the St. Johns River is a threat, through an accident or through a delay.

We deserve better.

ELLEN GOODMAN Turning a scumbag into a star

BOSTON--I have long regarded Larry Flynt as the curse of the First Amendment. He ta the catch that comes with the freedom of speech. The asteriek on the Constitution. The right to publish a cartoon about Clinton and Paula Jones on the editorial page comes with the curse of a sexual satire in Hustier about Jerry Falwell and his mother. The right to an unauthorised wedding photo of JFK Jr. and his bride comes with the curse of a photo of Jackie O in the buff.

You want the freedom to say whatever you want? Fine, but you can't shut up the amutmelater.

Nevertheiess, there is one thing that Larry Fivnt is not. My here.

That brings us directly to The People Vs. Larry Fight, a film that opened with the most favoring reviews. This movie has morphed a curse into a hero with greater case than it transformed Flynt himself into Woody Harrelson.

Director Miles Forman has fulfilled Flynt's last fantasy: "I would love to be remembered for something meaningful." Flynt the movie bears as much resemblance to Flynt the man, as the R-rating does to his triple-X life.

I will spare you my ranting about the way that movies become history. See JFK or Evita, and you get the picture, or the pictures. But this biopic cleans up Flynt's act to fit producer Oliver Stone's description of the pornographer as someone "in the rapscallion tradition of Mark Twain's Huckelberry Finn."

The cleanup takes place magically by making women disappear. The love story of Larry and Althea edits Flynt's own relationship with other women and edits out his efforts on all women. This movie about a pornographer is virtually devoid of questions surrounding pornography.

We do see Flynt at some drugged-out moments. We see him introducing that Flynt had five wives, two of whom he actually trashed for promisculty. Without knowing he had, and neglected, five children, one of whom he refers to as a "lying little whacko."

In the movie the only serious opposition to Hustler isn't from women. It's from Jerry Falwell and the religious right. The magazine's most controversial act is a parody of a Dewar's ad.

This is all part of a rehab of Flynt's reputation. According to the title of his new autobiography, we are now to see him as An Unseemy Man. Unseemly? Well, maybe Politically Incorrect is unseemly. Maybe Don imus is unseemly. Larry Phynt is cons below unseemly of the evolutionary scale.

Of course, director Milos Porman was at a leadvantage. "I must admit that I have never ought Mustler magazine." he confesses, "and I believe I never will." How many of the movie reviewers are Hustler subscribers?

But if The People Vs. Larry Flynt is now the text for the debate about free speech, tell at like it is. Anyone leaving the theater should be handed a copy of Hustier before they go of for their sepress and their 10 OFUS about Courtney conversations Love's performance.

This is what's in the current Hustier:

Enough ads for phone sex to constitute a porn yellow pages. Dozens of centers of centerfolds.

Women having sex with each other with large plastic male organs strapped on. A feature called 'How to Know if Your

Girlfriend is a Dog."

Enough racist cartoons to "balance" an article against neo-Nazis.

And don't leave out Nataly's sexual fantary about occupying armies: "Bhe knows that her only hope for survival is complete submission to their will-a price she is prepared to pay." This is the porn that reduces a woman to the sum of her sexual parts. The real porn that is degrading, desensitizing and arguably dangerous.

In the film, Larry/Woody says, "If the First Amendment can protect even a scumbag like me, then it will protect all of you, because I am the worst." But the krony is that the filmmakers don't present "the worst." They turn the sick to the unseemly.

It's as if they didn't trust the answer to the question they ask the public: "You may not like what he does, but are you prepared to give up his right to do it?" They don't show what he does.

For my own part, I accept the curse that comes with the First Amendment. When the Falwell case went to court. I wrote a friend-ofthe-Flynt brief in this column. But I continue to regard him as an enemy.

Those of us who are free speech absolutists believe absolutely that you fight speech with more speech. I don't truck with censors. But opere me those in Hollywood who turn the scumbeg into the star.

gress -- a so-called supermajority ... would be required to borrow money.

You would think that the notion of living within our means would make good sense to those season, that time of the year when Congress keeps us entertained until basebali starts.

who govern us. The problem is, their good sense is clouded by a chronic addiction: They have a compulsion to spend. In the 28 years since we last had a balanced budget, gov-ernment spending has increased ninefold. and the national debt has soared from $370 billion to $5.3 trillion.

You would think rational people would comprehend that we cannot continue to anddle future generations with the burden of our gluttony. Again: Congress is not rational.

And so opponents of a balanced budget amendment - doctrinaire liberals, generally - have once more gathered their forces and are assaulting it with every weapon in their amenal, including exaggeration, bushwa and provocative nonsense.

The amendment, they may, is little more than a gimmick that would be unenforceable and would cheapen the Constitution.

We are talking about a national debt that devours nearly a billion dollars a day in interest. One-fourth of it is held by foreign investors. The national security is at state here, and that renders the problem worthy of a constitutional remedy.

The amendment, the skeptics say, would grant to a minority the power to control public spending because a mere two-fifths plus one vote would kill any measure that breaks the budget. Yes it would, and that's the point. The assumption of debt ought to be a deliberative process and it should be dif-ficult to pull off. Not to mention the fact that the same preferential logic governs cloture votes, the electoral college and jury verdicts.

Why is it that so few critics consider the possibility that regular balanced budgets might result in enduring benefits that far. outweigh the short-term advantages of borrowing? Fed chairman Alan Greenspan put It this way two years ago:

"Productivity would accelerate, the inflation rate would be subdued ... the underlying outlook would be generally improved for long-term economic growth. Real incomes ... would significantly improve, long-term in-terest rates would fall significantly and (Americans) would look forward to their children doing better than they."

But that sort of thinking is in short supply in Washington these days. More common is inflammatory foolishness of the sort that Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin served up in an article recently published in the Washington Post. A balanced budget amendment would as restrict a president's options, Rubin said, that he may one day have to stop writing Social Security checks. Somebody want to tell this demagogue he just struck out?

Saving stroke victims

ANAHEIM, Calif. - In a daring experiment, doctors are saving stroke victims by reversing the plumbing of the body's circulatory system, using veins to carry blood backward to oxygen-starved parts of the brain.

So far, doctors from UCLA Medical Center have tried the approach on six patients. Four have had virtually complete recoveries, escaping probable paralysis, while the other two were unchanged.

"There is a lot of excitement from our point of view, and the patients are ecstatic," said Dr. John G. Frasee, a neurosurgeon who developed the procedure.

Frasee described his experiment Wednesday night at the 22nd International Joint Conference on Stroke and Cerebral Circulation. He and colleagues worked on the procedure retrograde transvenous neuroperfusion - for eight years on baboons before attempting it on people.

Portofino:Rock shares Christ Evangelistic group reaches innercity, others

87 SUBAN (01 Heraid Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - Portofino:Rock has performed locally and hopes to reach more for the cause of Christ. Originating some seven years ago the group have spread the word of and sharing.

This evangelistic outwach ministry is operated by volunteer efforts and private donations with a focus of ministering to innercity neighborhoods and special events. It is overseen by a 12 member board of directors.

The name itself is Italian for beautiful port, refuge or final port. The colon (:) after Portofino is the English language equivalent of the mathematics equal sign and Jesus is the Rock.

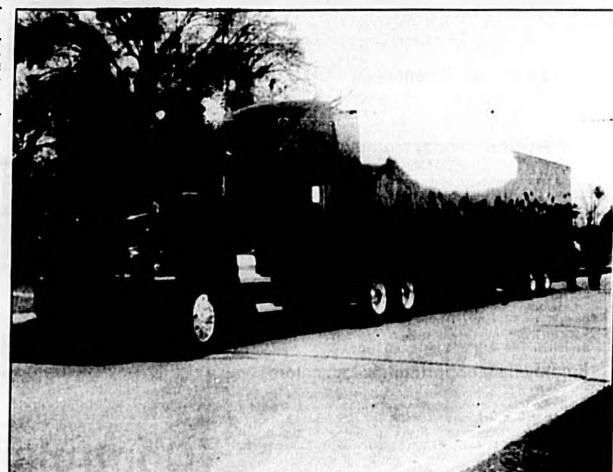

initially the organization began from a mere trunk of a car. Later they branched out to a small truck and at present the ministry uses a semi tractor and trailer fully equipped with stage and sound system.

Within the last three years Portofino has added a 27,000 watt lighting system for night presentations and a large canopy shade structure for hot days.

According to recent information Portolino Rock utilizes a 44 foot semi-tractor trailer with eye-catching Christian graphics and 36 foot built in stage and sound system as its "vehicle" for outreach. Presentations may include inspirational rap or contemporary music: powerful dramas that illustrate the love and forgiveness of Christ; mime: and personal stories from people whose lives God has touches. Preaching is not a part of Portolino:Rock.

The mission of the group "endeavors to empower the multitude of naved saints to be minaters of the gospel: anbd bring those who do not have a pernonal relationship with God into redemption by Jesus Christ."

Dave Fankhauser, founder of Portofino:Rock shares in a brochure how the organisation came to be. "This was an incredible car I was riding in. it could really fly. Here we were

What all of a sudden it took off over the backed up cars and trucks and soared like a plane up into the sky. It swooped left and right and then accelerated to a beautiful lake with gently sloped grass banks all around it. The radical car proceeded right to the center of the lake and loving family - security, peace, stopped. It stayed stationary rest and love well up inside them about six feet above the water's as they see home. It's the walk surface and didn't make any waves like a helicopter would. I was amazed. How did this car do this? As the car hovered there, I looked out and around me and noticed that the banks had thousands of people sitting arond the lake just watching the car. They too were amaged at what they new. Just then I woke

He further added,"Portofino is Italian for beautiful port or final port (and actually is a city on the Mediterranean). It's as though sallors who have been on a long voyage finally come home and all the wonderful emotions of the down the ramp to the hugs and kieses of those who have waited patiently for their voyagers safe return. It's home. And Rock is Jeaus, the entry port to our eternal home. He is where our heart is - love, peace, hope, forgiveness, security and safety. Portofino:Rock is the beautiful port of our lives." He conjudes by citing."Living through Jesus is just like riding places and puts us in situations we can only dream of. To be a Christian is not a loss of rights but an opportunity to see the talents of our lives utilized in unimaginable, exciting and Joyous ways."

For those interested in becoming involved, volunteers ask that others "pray for the outreaches, utilize the Portofino:Rock truck to facilitate your evangelistic outreach acitivities through your church or Christian organization, volunteer your time or services for regular efforts or special events and make cash or service donations to the outreach ministry."

For further indetigation write or call Portfino:Rock, Inc., 1311 Ridge Road, Longwood, FL 327BO or call 331-0331 or 260-1146 Mx.

Pastor speaks on consideration

SANFORD - Do you really love your wife ? Do you really love your husband ? Do you really love your parents ? Do you really love your children ? Then show some consideration for them.

In marriage, consideration involves faithfulness. The person who commits adultery is thinking only of himself or herself. That person is forgetting vows made before God, forgetting the commands of the Bible.

Consideration means putting the needs of others ahead of our own. Selfishness says,"Me first. It's what I want. I have to look out for my own interests."

up.'

But Christian consideration thinks of the needs of the other person and puts those needs first. It's not a popular way, but it's the way that pleases God.

Consideration involves kindness. A soft answer still turns make your home a happier place away wrath. Have you ever thought about how many arguments among couples and do.

in families are over totally insignicant matters?

But deep hurts may come from them. If we practice being kind one to another, we can help to eliminate some of those hurts.

So this Valentine's Day, why not give some consideration to your husband, your wife, your children, your parents ? It will and you a happier person.

And it is the Christian thing to

Love can make the world sweeter

In order to live as God would have us to live it's important to keep in mind how fie would have us to act in response to

Do unto others as we would have them do unto us."

If everyone showed the same wouldn't this world be a much difficult sometimes to share a smile instead of a complaint? Love can make the world go someone else.

SANFORD - In our lives we others. In Matthew 7:12 'round. Sharing the peace we neet people from every walk of (persphased) the Bible tells us to have found as a followers can be the greatest gift we can give others.

Stop and think before you say kind of love they want in return those harsh words and speak that unkind comment. You happier place to live ? is it that could make another's day a bit more pleasant and save them from passing on that grief to

Orlando Deanery Boychoir to perform

The Orlando Deenery Boychoir is a music outreach program of the Episcopal Catheral Church of St. Luke in downtown Orlando. Under the direction of Cathedral Musician Benjamin Lane, the group is made 21 boys, ages 8-14, representing many different denominations and cultural backgrounds. Founded in 1981 and affiliated with the Royal School of Church Music in England, the choir has performed with the Florida Symphony Orchestra, the Orlando Opera Company and the Bach Festival Choir. Honored by the City of Orlando with the titie,"Ambassacionat-Large," the group has in recent years toured much of the United States as well as Canada, England and Japan. # Appliances affect water use, energy

As the world population continues to grow, conservation of natural resources becomes an increasingly important activity for all of us. Our individual use of water and energy resources is significantly affected by the types of appliances we purchase for our homes and the ways in which we use them.

Now, innovations in home clothes washers are bringing increased water and energy saving opportunities to American consumers. These machines, known as highefficiency tumbler washers. use substantially less water than conventional agilator washers. Since heating the water accounts for about 80 to 90 percent of the energy used for laundering. this reduced water usage will result in significant energy savings.

Currently, two U.S. appliance companies and several European manufacturers offer highefficiency models in the U.S. Other U.S. manufacturers have announced plans to efficiency washers in the near future.

Tumblers, whether European or U.S.-made, usually are front loading, but some designs load from the top. Tumblers do not hae an agitator. Instead. A tumbling motion, much like that in a clothes dryer, tosses the laundry in and out of a aballow pool of water; clothes may not be totally Mechanical submerged. action is provided by the rotation of the drum In most tumbler washers, the rotation direction alternates to reduce tangling.

In general, tumble action ts gentler on fabrics than agitator action. However, as the tumble action lifts clothes and drops them back into the water, the load continually "breaks" the water surface and traps air into the detergent solution. Because of this action, high to excessive levels of suda can be generated with current U.S. detergents. Excessive suds can overflow the machine or interfere with the washer's proper operation. To prevent excessive audsing when using current U.S. detergents in a tumbler washer, it often is necessary to use substantially less detergent. However, using less detergent than is needed for the load size and soil content can result in inferior cleaning. A detergent specifically formulated for the tumble action would provide the best cleaning performance.

Typically, wash water use in high-efficiency washers ranges from four to eight gallons, and self-adjusts according to the load size and the fabrics' absorbency. Usually, three (sometimes two) cold rinses of four to eight gallons each are used. Total water usage per cycle can range from 15 to 32 gallons--about 1/3 to 2/3 that used by agitator washers.

As with agitator washers, water temperature is controlled by the water heater setting, machine design and water temperature cycle selected by the consumer. Most of the energy consumed by the laundry process goes for heating water. With much less water being heated, energy consumption in a high-efficiency tumbler washer can be 1/3 to 1/2 that used by an agitator washer.

The new high-efficiency tumbler washers to be offered by U.S. appliance manufacturers are expected to be designed for load sizes and wash times comparable to those of today's agitator washers. Detergent dispensers will be a new feature on some washers.

Information about specific laundry products and their use in high-efficiency washers, may be available from the toll-free 800 numbers listed on product labels.

Controlling mate not apt to change

Dear Mary.

About five years ago. I met a gal that I thought was made just for me. We have the same education, the same tileas about money, and we both like plays and music. I thought that after 40-something years of being single. I had finally found my mate.

Then she started trying to control me. She wants to tell me how to dress and what to wear when we go out. She demands to know where I am all of the time and who I am with. She even is trying to get me to buy a new car that she has picked out, although I am perfectly happy with the one I me for not doing what she wants me to, she will not have sex with me for several weeks.

Sometimes I think I should m break up with her and move on, but then I think of how much we have in common and de hope that eventually she will give up trying to control me, or maybe I will get used to it. I hate the thought of breaking up with her because I may never find anyone else I have so much in common with. What is your opinion?

Going in Circles

Dear Circles.

My first opinion on this is that if you only can be happy when someone else makes you happy, you are going to be miserable.

Priority number one in to decide you are going to reclaim your ability to create your own happiness. 1. She is not going to change, because she does not see her behavior as a problem;

2. If you keep looking for happiness outside yourself, you will probably just continue to bounce from one relationship to the next without finding the perfect missing piece of your personality.

Start working on yourself. As you change, you either will no longer want or need this kind of relationship, or she may feel a need to change and will stop trying to control you.

wonder if I could ever find r someone that suits me better. I i am one of those guys who really needs a woman in my tife to feel happy. I do not know if I should overlook our problems and As far as deciding whether you are better off with her or without her, only you can decide that. Remember two things:

Man married to television turns wives into widows

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "Driven to Distraction," whose longtime boyfriend was a television nut, I had to write. Believe me, I know how she feels, I was married twice, and toth of my husbands were addicted to television. Both tuned me out for that busy los. My first husband didn't even care what was on. He just needed the picture and the noise. He said they helped him "unwind." My second husband bought the angest set be could find and turned the volume up as load as it would go. A bomb could have gone off in the norm and it wouldn't have distracted him.

Once, I even stood next to the TV stark naked. He gave me a quick glance, then turned his head and went back to watching TV.

Please tell "Driven to Distraction" she had better think long and hard before she marries a man who is already married to television. Please don't use my name or the initials of the town I five in. This is a small town and everybody knows me. Sign me ...

EX-TELEVISION WIDOW

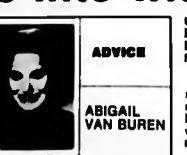

DEAR EX-WIDOW: If it's any comfort to you, I received letters from many other "television widows" singing your song. Television can be the subtle thief of precious time — and he or she who falls into the lazy habit of watching just anything that moves is destined to become an intellectual pauper.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing regarding the letter from the lady in her 70s who had been victimized by telephone scams and had ended up broke and in debt, not daring to tell her husband.

You told her to tell the Mr. because "two heads are better than one in a crisis." You should know that senior citizens have available more "heads" than just their own. Because of the number of older victims in so many different scams, there are ombudsmen in most (if not all) states who will give assistance or put these people in touch with those who can help them.

One of the services available in our area is free legal assistance, which this lady could use. It appears that not very many people, elderly or otherwise, are aware of the various kinds of services that are out there. The only way 1 became aware is through volunteer work that 1 do at a local senior center. Our omhudsman follows up on all kinds of abuse claims and counsels on any matter that may be beyond the capability of propie like the lady who wrote to you.

Tell your senior readers to find out where their closest senior center is and what services they offer. They do a lot more than provide hot lunches.

EVELYN TANNER, KAYSVILLE, UTAH

DEAR MS. TANNER: Thank you for a valuable addition to this column.

DEAR ABBY: The letter you printed from Dr. Davidson about medical treatment for what he calked "social phobis," characterized by fear of humiliation/embarrasament in front of others, took me back to the time I was 14 years old in a Catholic hoarding school.

I was very shy, and the sisters suggested I take a course in drama. This required me to stand in front of the class and recite poetry. I could feel my checks burning each time I had to nearform

"Annetic, there are thousands of women out there who would give anything to be able to blush. Besides, it's very good for the complexion!"

That worked! ANNETTE DOYLE, ROLLING HILLS ESTATES, CALIF.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY CHI-NESE READERS As is my custom, I would like to wish all of you a Happy New Year. In most years, I have sold, "Gung Hay Fat Chey," but several of you wrote to say that is not correct for all Chinese. It was suggested that I convey my wishes as follows: Kung Hei Fa Tsai; Kung Ho Hain Hai; Hain Nien Kuni Le; San Ni Fei Lo.

DEAR ABBY: You have printed many letters from the "other woman" — who is always hurt because her married lover won't leave his wife for her. Well, here's one from the married lover.

I am a mule who is almost 50 and have been experiencing one hell of a midlife crisis. My wife has wanted a divorce for about a year now, and somehow I keep convincing her to hang in with me.

I got involved with my younger secretary. She knew just what she wanted — me. She left her husband. I never asked her to or promised her anything; in fact, I tried to talk her out of it. I have broken off our affair, but she won't stop calling. She has played dirty, calling my wife and sending her ugly notes.

Abby, I have a devoted wife who still loves me. I'd have to be an idiot to leave her for a younger secretary whom I don't really know. My secretary wouldn't have liked the real me who my wife has put up with for 27 years. My wife did everything I wanted all these years. I insisted she stay home with the children, and then I became unhappy with her when all along it was me I was really unhappy with. I can only pray she forgives me someday.

Abby, we married men don't leave our wives because we're not crazy — we just act that way sometimes! I know this is a long letter, but please print it anyway because it needs to be said.

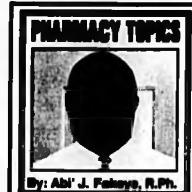

DAVE IN MONTANA

DEAR DAVE: I'm printing your letter in its entirety because every woman involved with a married man is convinced that her romance is the exception. Perhaps your letter will wake up a few dreamers.

The damage to your marriage may take some time to repair. Counseling may speed up the process and help restore the trust that's been violated. Good luck to you and your wife.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Bex 60448, Lee Angeles, Colff. 60000. # Let's go racing SANFORD - All right motorheads, it's our time of year.

If you are a motorsports fan (and I am a big one), there is not a better time of year, or a better place, for us than right here, right now.

While some of us have had our appetites whetted by the NASCAR Truck race and the Indy Racing League opener at Walt Disney World and the Rolex 24 at Daytona, not to mention the NHRA Winternationals drags last Sunday, nothing can match what will be available for local "hot rodders" the next week or so.

Everyone knows that Daytona 500 Pole Qualilying, the Bunch Clash, the ARCA 200, the Twin 125's, the NASCAR Dash Series, the first round of the IROC (International Race of Champions), the Busch Grand Nationals, and the Daytona 500 will be going on at Daytona International Speedway between now and next Sunday.

But some fans may not realize that within a 75 mile radius of Sanford, there are at least five short tracks holding special "Speed Weeks" programs.

In addition to DIS, and support races at Daytona Municipal Stadium, there will be events taking place at New Smyrna Speedway in Samsula, both the asphalt and dirt tracks at Volusia County Speedway in Barberville and at Lakeland International Speedway.

And normally this time of year, the World of Outlaws, for small ultra-powerful open-wheeled cars, make a trip to Florida for races at St. Augustine and Jacksonville.

If you like "minor-league" NASCAR (National Association of Stock Car Automobile Racing) racing. Volusia County Spredway is the place for you as it hosts events on both of its half-mile ia, one dirt, one paved

LAKE MARY - The summit is in site. A quartet of Seminole Athletic Conference soccer teams stand just two wins away from a spot in the state championships next weekend.

Three of the four teams will be on the road tonight as the Florida High School Activities Association Regional Semifinals are contested.

The only local squad with a home game will be the Class 6A-District 4 champion Lake Mary girls, ranked No. 4 in the state with a 21-2-4 record, which will host District 1 runner-up Pensacols in the Class 6A-North II Regional at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

The other girls' game finds 6A-4 runner-up Lake Brantley traveling to the Jacksonville area to take on Orange Park in a Class 6A-North 1 Regional

There is an oddity in the boys' games as both of the SAC teams will be headed to Tallahaasee. Class 6A-District 4 champion Lake Brantley, ranked 10th in the state with a 17-3-3 mark, will be at Lincoln High School for a 6A-North II entest, while 6A-4 runner-up Oviedo is at Leon High School for the second straight year in 6A-North I.

All of the games start at 7 p.m.

The winners of tonight's games will advance to the Regional Finels that will be play on Tuesday night. The sites and times of those games will be decided on Saturday.

Magic sweeps 'five-game plan'

ORLANDO - Five games ago. Orlando Magic coach Brian Hill said his team was on a five-game plan.

The Magic was coming off an ugly loss to Washington and faced four of their next five gamea at home against a mix of the NBA elite and the NBA dregs before this weekend's all-star break Five game plan?

The Magic completed its personal sweep with a 119-111 shootout win over the Boston Celtics last night at the O-rena. The Celtics are in the midst of a three-year losing slump but that new big man has been the one constant in an unconstant season for Orlando. He has been the man in the middle during a dissying amount of interchangable starting lineups

If you like Hooters Cup Late Models, which Wildwood's Dick and Wayne Anderson run regularly, then check out Lakeland International Speedway (located off Sr. 33 North of Lakeland just off 1-4).

But the track that really draws the local fans is New Smyrna Speedway.

The high-banked half-mile track will host the 31st Annual World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing starting tonight and running the next nine days.

Among the types of vehicals running at NSS will be All Pro type Super Late Models: NASCAR Tour and S/K type Modifieds: Limited Late Models; Florida/IMCA type Modifieds: Sportsman: Mini-Stocks: Bombers; and American Race Trucks.

Racing starts every night at 7 p.m. and for $20 (kids 11-and-Under are free) you can't hardly get a better band for your buck.

For you that are not fans of auto racing, don't expect a straight answer if you ask someone why they like racing. It's a very difficult question to answer.

As for myself, I really could not tell you why I like it so much, it's just something that gets under your skin and won't go away. I don't know if it's the roar of the engines, the side by-side competition of seeing one driver try to get their machine past another driver, or maybe just the chance to get out of the house and into the sunshine. But it really gets to you.

And I don't buy the argument that people only go to a race to ace a wreck. I don't think anyone wants to see someone crash, but a fan is appreciative of someone being able to save a car that goes into a spin or seeing someone walk away from a spectacular accident uninjured.

Over the last few years I have had the opportunity to take non-fana to a race for their initiation and it is amazing. When the announcer repeats the command "gentlemen, start your engines," and the cars roar to life, a shiver goes through your whole body that is phenomenal.

And then to feel the thunder of 40 cars coming through Turn Four at Daytona at 200 Miles Per Hour side-by-side, WOW.

I have yet to meet a person who has experienced the thrill of a race that has not become a diehard fan. Whenever I meet aomeone who went with meto a race all they can do is talk about racing. It really grows on you.

So why not head to a local track the next week or so and find out what several million people already know. Auto racing is a blast.

Oh, and if you like racing of the two-wheel kind. remember, Bike Week is only a little over a month away.

have new bleachers, dugouts. coreboard, windscreens, infield. It will be one of the tops in the state!" Miller is also excited about her team, which has local stars Dawn Cliett (Seminole), Michelle Field and Carrie McAuliffe (Oviedo), Brittany Scott (Lake Howell), Jamie Sharp (Lyman) and Nadine White-Davia (Lake Brantley) on the roster, as well as Deltona's Erin Matjub and Colonial's Kendra Bateman.

"It looks like we have a great shot at making the state playoffs this year," said Miller. "But only if we stay healthy and the players stay motivated towards their goal of reaching state. We are definitely talented and have a lot of game experience. Our defense is probably our strongest part - we won't be giving up many runs a game."

The probable starting line-up for the Raiders will be Field at first base, Sharp at second base, Sarah Dungey (Chasks, Minn.) at shortstop, Bateman at third base, White-Davis (46 stolen bases last year) in left field. Scott in center field, JoDee Woessner (Eden Prairie, Minn.) in right field and Jean Spanarelli (Orange Park, a first team All-State player as a freshman) as the designated player.

The battery will be either Rene Hooper (Atco, N.J.), Crystal Pittard (Tulsa, Okl.) or Cathe Murphy (Westfield, Ind.) at pitcher and Maljub or Jessica Overman (Brownsburg, Ind.) at catcher.

Seminole High School soccer co-captain Sabreens Sapp was named the Optimist Club of Senford's Athlete of the Week for her defensive play at the Lady Bobcat Soccer Invitational. Sabreena, playing with a pulled hamstring, plugged the middle of the field, as she and her team held P.K. Yonge to a 3-1 score, then blanked Gaineeville High School 3-0 in the consolation championship. Sapp was also named to the All-Tournament Team.

DAYTONA BEACH - About the only thing that Dale Earnhardt doesn't dominate in the Busch Clash is the blind draw for actting the lineup.

Earnhardt, as usual, picked an indifferent spot, ninth in the 14-car field, for Sunday's rich made-for-TV event at Daytona International Speedway, But don't bet against him winning the 20-lap, 50-mile sprint race on the 2½-mile oval.

The seven-time Winston Cup champion has taken the Clash six of the 10 times he has run the race that matches the previous year's pole winners.

In fact, Earnhardt has won the Clash in every odd year of the '90s so far. So this should again be his year, even if he is starting near the back of the all-star field.

"That sounds good to me," Earnhardt said with a wolfish grin. "It's our kind of race. We had a great test down here flast month), and I'm ready to go."

Terry Labonte, the defending NASCAR Winston Cup champion, picked the top spot in Thursday's position drawing. But Labonte wasn't all that confident that the pole in this race would be an advantage.

"Like always, the competition's going to be tough." Labonte said with a shrug. "It's hard to win, no matter where you start."

where the best place to be is."

Mark Martin got the outside spot on the front row, followed by Rusty Wallace, who was a wild-card selection from among all of the second-round qualifying leaders last year.

Dale Jarrett, who won last year's Clash and went on to win the Daytona 500 the next week. will start fourth.

"Nobody ever remembers who finishes second in this race." he said. "You just go all out. There's no real strategy."

DAYTONA BEACH - There aren't too many things Tim Steele hasn't won in the ARCA series.

The 28-year-old Michigan native won 11 races last year on the way to his second ARCA championship in four years. He has 16 wins in 66 career starts, and owns the series record of 11 superspeedway victories.

One thing his resume is missing, though, is a victory at Daytona International Speedway, where the opening event of the 22-race Bondo Mar-Hyde series will be contested Sunday. That's one reason why Steele is anxious to get going. He linished second last year to Jeff Purvia.

This is the only track ARCA runs at that we haven't won at," Steele explained. "We've put in all our efforts from November to now to be ready to run at Daytona. We need to win here and I know this Ford we're driving races real well here."

Actually, it's somewhat surprising to most racing people that Steele is back for another season in ARCA, still running for the team owned by his father, Harold. Why not Winston Cup?

"I was wondering that myself," Steele said. "The reason, though, is that sponsorship money wasn't there. If we were to go ahead and do that anyway, we'd have two strikes against us before we got there.

"I also had opportunities to go to Winston Cup with some teams that weren't Childress or Yates or Hendrick. It would be hard for me to do that with all I've put into it."

Steele's first go-round in Winston Cup racing taught him a tough lesson.

Steele, frustrated with the situation, gave way to the much-more experienced Derrike Cope, who finished out the season with Allison.

"It taught me that you don't get in something if you don't have the money," Steele said of his brief term with Allison. "It's hard for me to go to a racetrack when you're beat before you get there. I'm way too competitive a person to do that.

"I know that right now I could go out there and get a real comfortable job (in Winston Cup). I don't want to sound too cocky or confident, or try to say that I can go out there and win races and championships against the best drivers in the world right away. But I feel like I can do a pretty good job for somebody if I have the right situa-Besides running the full 22-race tion." schedule, Steele plans to enter five Winston Cup events - at Texas and Talladega in April, Devtona in July, Indianapolis in August, and Phoenix in November.

"We looked at running a limited Winston Cup schedule, but I felt I needed to be in the race car every week." Steele explained. "We'll do the full ARCA schedule and those five (Winston Cup) races and I'll be tested and fully ready for those.

bounds, it was Seikaly's best performance in an outstanding first half.

Not bad for a guy that left two teams on bad terms before arriving in Orlando.

"If you think about what Seikaly does, you know he gets a lot of casy baskets." said forward Gerald Wilkins (seven points). "He gets dunk after dunk and he hasn't had that in the past. Now he's on a team that can get the ball to him."

The Magic got the ball plenty to him in the first half. Seikaly dominated the smaller Celtics whoplayed without Dana Barros. Dee Brown and Dino Radja, the three best players on an already bad team.

As Celtic legends-turnedtelevision announcers Bob Cousy and Tommy Hensohn looked on, the likes of David Wesley and Eric Williams were helpless at stopping Seikaly, not to mention Penny Hardaway (25 points) and Nick Anderson (22 points).

It didn't look that way in the first half as Boston jumped out to a 30-28 first quarter lead and extended it to 59-51 at the half. Hardaway wasn't happy.

"Going into halftime, I was upset with myself," the all-start said. "I wasn't playing well and I knew I had to assert myself in the third quarter."

Penny wasn't the only one that wasn't smiling at halftime.

"I told them at the half that it was up to them to decide if they

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 41-year-old brother has incapacitating arthritis that his doctor believes is due to Lyme disease. However, there is no improvement after several prolonged courses of antibiotic therapy. Would intravenous antibiotics help?

truly has Lyme disease, he may be helped by several weeks of IV antibiotics. Lyme disease is a challenge to diagnose and treat.

bacterial infection commonly causes rash. fever, malaise, and joint pains, which may progress to a more chronic aliment, marked by heart inflamma-tion, brain infection and other complications.

The diagnosis is made by the appearance of a rash, and is usually confirmed by blood tests. In most cases, oral antibiotics will cure the infection in its earliest stages. Nonetheless, some patients --who are either undiagnosed or who tail to respond to oral therapy - may enter a second, more resistant stage of the disease, for which IV antibiotics are essential

Did you see those incredible photos taken by the Hubble Space Telescope of the six-trillion-mile-high gas and dust clouds? Inside, new stars are being formed. And we are seeing how it was 7,000 years ago because that's how long it has taken the light to reach

At the bridge table, you feel that your pauses are shorter than they really are, and that an opponent's play is slower than it is. However, some deals require careful thought - like today's. What is your plan in four hearts after West loads the club jack? When you've spent some time analyzing the problem looking only at the North-South hands, see if you can find the solution by studying all $2 cards. North's three hearts was a limit
