

'Grandad Tom' Well-Known Oviedo Resident Dies

By MARIAN JONES
OVIEDO—Many who knew him throughout the state will mourn the passing of one of Oviedo's long-time citizens, the Rev. J. N. Thompson.

He was a well-known figure in the days gone-by, mixing and mingling with the local citizens, especially in religious work, as well as with many outsiders. It will not seem right for him not to be sitting on "his bench," as he called it, by the Post Office. In his later years, he even really believed that was his own bench. His wife, as well as he, enjoyed the joke of Brother Thompson making someone move off that bench one day. When the Halloween pranksters would move it, he would search for it faithfully. It was with deep regret we watched his failing health for the past several years, but he still "came down town to get his mail" now and then. Even the Sunday before he was stricken with his fatal illness, May 17, he attended the church of which he was the former pastor.

We loved "Grandad Tom," as he was known to us and our boys as well as his family, most of whom we have known for so many years. Our love and sympathy go to "Granny Tom" and all of these dear people—as well as from the many who knew him.

Born in Hridsville, Ga. on Sept. 21, 1870, he came to Florida with his parents, J. J. and Mary Thompson, settling at Alafia.

He became a Missionary Baptist minister early in life and served his first pastorate at Surreyn, Ga.

Later he served several churches in Florida, namely, El Hubel, Tampa; First Baptist Church, Punta Gorda; Terra Ceia, Ft. Pierce; La Crosse, Micanopy; Havana; Island Grove and Wistler Garden were the cities in Florida where he also held pastorates. His last important pastorate was at Oviedo, coming here in 1918. He served as pastor of the First Baptist Church here for six years.

When he retired, he bought a home and settled here with his wife and small son, his wife, the former Annie Carlton Thompson, is also beloved by the citizens of Oviedo, having retired about three years ago as a teacher in the local high school.

The Rev. Thompson died at the Florida Sanitarium, Orlando, after a week's stay in the local institution.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. in his own church in Oviedo, the Rev. Louis L. Day, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the O. and Rev. George Carlton assisted cemetery, with Brison Muneral Home, Sanford, in charge of arrangements.

He is survived by his wife; one son, James Allen, who is superintendent of public instruction at Vero Beach one grandson, J. A. Jr.; and one great grandson, David Allen, all of Vero Beach. Also three brothers, G. T. W. G. and J. Q., all of Plant City. Also three sisters, Mrs. Ida Lewis, Tampa; Mrs. Phil Colson, Ponce de Leon; and Mrs. W. J. Evans, Island Grove and a host of nieces and nephews.

May God bless each and every one of these.

"It will be necessary that the man on duty will only have to check once in a while to see that the motors are not running hot." Through the installation of this system, City Manager Knowles told the board of commissioners "our operation can become much more economical." The authorization for the automatic system was unanimously approved by the board.

The board also took action on a request to send one man from the Sanford Water Department to Atlanta, Ga., to attend a water meter repair school. The cost for this school will only be $150, said the City Manager.

The action was approved. Knowles told the Board of Sanford City Commissioners that the staff at the City Water plant on French Ave. could be, if necessary, reduced to two men.

Some Widows Can Get GI Loans

The widow of a World War II or Korean conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the veteran's death was service-connected.

The statement was issued today by Benjamin S. Beach of the Veterans Administration Office. However, he added, if the widow herself is an eligible veteran, she accrues no additional GI loan rights because of her husband's death.

Widows of World War II or Korea veterans whose death was service-connected, also may obtain direct loans from VA in home areas eligible for direct loans.

Direct loans, Beach said, are obtainable for the purchase of a home or farmhouse. The law prohibits direct business loans.

GI loan applications from widows, based on their husbands' deaths as a result of World War II service, must be made by July 25, 1958. For Korean conflict eligibility, loans must be made before Feb. 1, 1963, Beach said.

Two Fairglade Jersey Dairy Cows Receive Rating

Two registered Jersey cows owned by Fairglade Jersey Dairy, Geneva, have been rated Tested Dams by The American Jersey Cattle Club.

The Tested Dam rating indicates that a Jersey cow has three or more progeny that have qualified themselves on one of the programs of official testing of The American Jersey Cattle Club, which has its national headquarters in Columbus, O.

The cows in the above herd that earned the distinction and the average production of their qualifying progeny are as follows: Sybil Clara Chance with three progeny averaging 9,308 lbs. milk and 412 lbs. butterfat, and Observer Treva Penny with three progeny averaging 8,546 lbs. milk and 475 lbs. butterfat. These records are computed to a twice-daily-milking, 305-day mature equivalent basis.

The Tested Dam rating is a valuable aid to dairymen in enabling them to select breeding heritance. All tests made on the stock from cows with proven progeny of the cows winning the award are made under the supervision of the state agriculture college.

However, a copy of a letter from the Sanford Merchants Association, dated May 21, read: "The Merchants Association recognizes the historical and advertising value of the clock at First St. and Park Ave., and would like to see the clock preserved in Sanford, but since it supplies no practical service in its present location, tends to distract drivers, is an obstruction to the operation of emergency vehicles such as police and fire, reduce effective traffic width at the intersection and prevent a cross-walk alignment, we therefore recommend its removal from the street surface."

Others to speak against the removal of the clock were Ed Lane, prominent insurance and real estate man, Henry McLaulin, optometrist, and several unidentified speakers.

Commissioner F. D. Scott called attention and the unanimous approval of the clock. Commissioner A. L. Wilson recorded Scott's motion and the unanimous approval of the board was recorded.

Mayor Gatchel stated "I promise you that no further action will come up regarding the removal of the clock so long as I am Mayor."

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The House defeated today another administration attempt to restore economy cuts in President Eisenhower's defense budget. Members rejected, 137 to 133, a proposal by Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Mich., to add $ million dollars to the Army's research and development fund. That is the amount cut from the bill by the House Appropriations Committee. The vote narrowly affirmed a pattern set Tuesday when the House turned down, 145 to 113, an $8 million dollar increase in Army funds for maintenance and operations. The rejection amendments were part of a Republican package looking to restoration of $314,500,000 of a committee cut totaling $2,587,000,000. The administration lost another round when Chairman Carl Vinson D-Ga. of the Armed Services committee called for a single motion which would wrap up all their amendments not previously approved. Leaders called the House into session two hours earlier than usual in hopes of disposing of amendments and passing the bill late today. Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said a score of more Republicans jumped to the economy side in the first test while only half a dozen Democrats were seen to vote for more money. Martin, refusing to concede he was licked, promised a fight on each of today's amendments. He said all defeated GOP amendments would be wrapped into one and offered just before passage of the bill for a possible roll call vote.

Anderson Nominated Successor

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey resigned today. President Eisenhower nominated Robert B. Anderson, former secretary of Navy, as his successor. Humphrey's resignation will become effective at a date no later than the close of the current congressional session. Anderson's nomination was sent to the Senate at noon today for confirmation. The White House also disclosed that Randolph Burgess, now undersecretary of Treasury, would leave his present post to accept another government appointment. The White House declined to say what the new Burgess assignment would be. Humphrey's departure from the government has been expected for some time. Back to Business He informed the President that he had to give up government service as a matter of "absolute necessity" because of the illness and recent retirement from business of one of his former partners. The President had known for two years that Humphrey planned to step out of the Cabinet. But the actual decision had been postponed repeatedly. Today, Eisenhower told Humphrey that the actual receipt of his letter of resignation filled him with "profound regret."

All Accidents Have Causes Says Safety Chairman

The chairman of the Safe Driving Council at the Sanford Naval Air Station issued a "Back the Attack" bulletin on traffic accidents in an effort to reduce Memorial Day disasters on the highways. "All accidents have causes—especially vehicle accidents." He said "You may find in the following suggestions what there is about your driving that might cause you to have an accident." The SNAS Executive Officer, who serves as chairman of the Safe Driving Council, listed eight suggestions that might cause an accident. Each one of the suggestions were in the form of a question pointed directly at something which might occur during the time a driver is traveling from one place to another. He asked: (1) Do you allow others to distract your attention while driving or do you keep your eyes and attention carefully on the road and the full time of driving? (2) Do you reach for packages, light a "smoke," look up addresses, while driving rapidly, or do you bring your vehicle to a slow rate of speed first? (3) Do you allow your attention to wander to scenery, billboards, and people on the sidewalk, or have you trained yourself to merely glance at them? (4) Do you "day dream" on long runs, or do you avoid thinking of things that absorb you? (5) Are you careless of park-off cars and what may be behind them, or are you alert to what?

Tomorrow is Memorial Day, the traditional day for all Americans to pay honor to all those who have given "the last full measure" for their country. There will be a Memorial Day Service starting at 11:30 A. M. at the Band Shell, located at Park Ave. and the lake front. The host for this year's observance will be the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Seminole County, led by Post Commander Michael Thomas. Chairman for the Memorial Day Services will be Chester Macek. The blessing will be given by Rev. Lyons of All Souls Roman Catholic Church. The closing prayer will be given by Chaplain William Fuller of the Sanford Naval Air Station. It's everyone's duty to pay honor to those who have died for us, so be sure and attend these services.

This seems like a good spot to say "welcome aboard" to Chaplain Fuller who has relieved Chaplain Arnold at the Naval Air Station. I had the pleasure of meeting him yesterday, and he seems like a wonderful person.

Doris Belcher, (Cdr. Deans secretary) is home in bed battling the virus. Understand from her husband that the boys have it too. Hope they're all up and around soon. I guess even if your husband is a corpman, you're not immune to such things!!

Have been trying to remember to get his in for weeks, and probably wouldn't have remembered it today if it wasn't for Irene Dulek's calling and reminding me! If you haven't made a trip out to the blast for your new I.D. and Medicare card, you've only got until the thirtieth of June to do so! All dependents, including children OVER 10 years of age, are required to have these, so don't delay any longer!! Get out there as soon as possible and try to avoid the last minute rush that always seems to be a part of these things!! Watch the time though! The hours for having your picture taken are as follows: Weekdays only, from 8:00 A.M. to 11:30 A.M., and from 12:30 P.M. until 2:30 P.M. However, they will not take any one after 2:00 P.M., in order to have them finished by 2:30. So, if you can't get here before 2:00 P.M., better wait until the next day.

The new hours for the Florida State Bank have appeared in the paper already, but I do want to clarify one point for all Naval personnel who make use of the Naval Air Station Facility Office. Starting on July 1, the base bank will also be closed on Saturdays, but the hours they will be opened will remain the same as they are now. Paydays, from 8:30 A.M. until 2:30 P.M.; and all other days, . . . from 9:00 A.M. until 2:00 P.M. NO NIGHT HOURS are contemplated for the station banking facility! Hope this is clear to everyone. This won't be in effect until July 1, as previously stated, but if you have any questions, you can call the base bank. The number is FAirfax 2-3344. This is NOT a base extension; it has to be dialed.

I'm all alone with the boys again! For about two weeks, any ways. My "better half" left last Monday to go aboard the U.S.S. Saratoga, one of the new "super" carriers! He's part of the crew of the ONE "AJ" that will be taking part in next week's "carrier operations". It's quite an honor, since the President of the United States will be on board to observe these "operations"! Members of the crew are Lt. Dean Ortman, pilot, Elliot Fenwick A02 navigator-bombardier, and Jim Greenwood A02, third-crewman. Need I add that they represent VAH-5? This is another honor for "Sanford's Savage Sons", as their's will be the only plane from this base taking part in this operation.

Campaign To 'Sell' Nutrition Told

WASHINGTON 27—Americans aren't getting as much good as they should out of their abundant food supply.

The ironic fact that the nutritional content of family diets is going slightly downhill at a time when Uncle Sam is struggling with food surpluses has diet experts searching for new ways to sell the A-B-Cs of good eating.

Some leading nutritionists met here at a recent nationwide conference to compare notes on the problem. They were armed with stacks of figures from a new Agriculture Department survey.

The study shows, among other things, that 10 per cent of American family diets are actually "substandard" and many more are well below desired levels in some basic food nutrient counts.

Must Sell Health
A new campaign to "sell" nutrition is the dietitian's answer. They concede they're up against such things as long-term eating patterns, stiff competition for the family food dollar, and diet fads and food pills.

Dr. Faith Clark, chief of the food consumption section of the Agriculture Department's household economics research division, states the problem simply.

She cites figures which show the average American family spent three times more on food in 1955 than in 1948. Food prices, however, rose only 7 per cent during the period, to account for only a small part of the increase.

Her figures show that family rations of calcium and ascorbic acid Vitamin C actually lost ground. Vitamin A allowances remained unchanged, and protein and other basic minerals and nutrients showed only slight gains. Dr. Clark concludes that most of the additional food money was spent on more expensive, not more nutritious, foods.

Not Enough Value
Other figures show that about 29 per cent of family diets are not up to National Research Council goals for calcium; 25 per cent were under the ascorbic acid goal; from 15 to 20 were behind in Vitamin A and about 10 per cent lagging in supplies of protein.

Milk is the prime source of calcium. Meats, fish and eggs are major sources of protein. Dark green and yellow vegetables are rich in Vitamin A, and citrus fruits are leading sources of ascorbic acid.

Dr. Clark is quick to point out the figures do not mean the nation is suffering from malnutrition. Far from it. American diets as a whole, she notes, have shown "considerable improvement" since the last large-scale diet survey in 1953 when one-third of American diets were classed as "poor."

But Dr. Clark said most of the improvement occurred between the mid-thirties and 1948, the early post-war period. There has been little gain since.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee. Isa. 26:3.

What Will Happen To Taxpayer When Wages, Salary Diminish?

When people demand more and more services of their government, whether it be federal, state, county, or municipality—the answer comes in added taxes to take care of the growing and mushrooming demands.

And that is the position we find ourselves in today. Additional state taxes are being added—it was necessary to take care of the demands upon it. Teachers' salaries, rights of ways, roads, social welfare, care of the indigent, school buildings, and many others made necessary the greater burden upon the individual wage earner.

Of course, everyone has expected that the tax load would become heavier. And the addition of any amount, however little, would create a greater and more cumbersome burden upon the individual.

There's another side to the question of taxes — one that is frightening, perhaps, if individuals are concerned with the future.

The question was asked yesterday, when the announcement was made public that the gigantic tax bill was approved in Tallahassee and that lawmakers were looking into additional avenues to create even a greater gusher of funds for the monstrous budget which must be financed. "When salaries begin to recede, what happens to the tax—do we continue to pay it?"

So far as is known, there has been no escape valve attached to the tax laws adopted by the federal government, the state legislatures, the county commissioners, or the municipality. They will continue on unabated regardless of the going up and the coming down of the wage scale or the salary agreements.

To be fair to the millions of individuals, there should be some way to escape—should there be an entrenchment or a recession—the necessity to continue paying the more than forty per cent of an individual's earnings into the coffers of government.

Of course, this gives just another avenue for talk; since already most of the nation, looking apathetically at the happenings to the left and right, yell "economy" out of one side of the mouth and "gimme my share" out of the other side.

Now, another can be added. "What're we gonna do if . . ."

Since the die has been cast as far as this year's taxes are concerned, we can only hope that from now until the next session when "spenlers" will converge on the capitol again; those who are in charge of spending money which has been appropriated will look at these huge amounts as if they were the owners and spend accordingly.

If the proper programs of economy, savings, and carefulness could be instituted, at least fifty per cent of the monies collected in taxes, could be set aside in savings. These could be stockpiled until the budget comes up again for consideration.

The modern career man in government, however, seems to live up to the trend—spend all that is appropriated and ask for more. Unless this is the attitude one cannot be successful in office.

Individuals must take the opposite view—spend only what is necessary so that there will be enough to pay the taxes.

In order to save our government and develop it into a business-like organization there should be some individuals entwined into the organization to control the purse strings.

There is a sensible question though . . . "What will happen to the taxpayer when wages and salary begin to diminish?"

Remember What War Really Is Like

It is well that we pause and remember on Memorial Day. The speeches and the parades help us to remember. But in remembering we should try to know what it was really like for the men whose memories we honor.

War isn't really parades and heroic words and medals and bright ribbons. It's anguish and torment; it's sore feet and filth; it's fatigue to the point of despair, and loneliness at night and at noon; it's fear that gnaws at a man's stomach and almost shrivels his soul.

Our liberty has not been bought cheaply.

SANFORD ATLANTIC NATIONAL BANK

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
The first story I ever wrote on the subject of ramie was written 35 years ago when I was on the staff of the Florida Grower. Since then I have talked and written about ramie because I am confident that some day it will bring millions of dollars to Florida.

My good friend Nathan Mayo saw a future in ramie many years ago and has done much to encourage consideration of its possibilities by both growers and industry.

Ramie is a fiber plant that produces a fiber superior to long staple cotton. It has been used for centuries and is recognized as one of the most valuable fibers known to man. Its principal asset is its long wearing qualities, it wears like iron and has been successfully used in hundreds of ways.

The orient has had a monopoly on the production of ramie because of favorable growing conditions and cheap labor which enables production at a price that prevented competition from this country.

Now after years of experimentation a new type decorticating machine and process has been developed that will permit Florida to compete and a group of enterprising men have organized a corporation to engage in the commercial production of ramie in Florida.

The new decorticating process was developed by William Pierce of Belle Glade. His machine automatically shreds the bark from the plant and removes the valuable fibers from the gum, staining the cleaned fibers in convenient lengths and does the job quickly and efficiently making it possible for Florida to successfully compete in its commercial production.

The characteristics of ramie that make it so attractive to textile men are its high resistance to abrasion, freedom from rot and mildew, it is stronger when wet than when dry, high tensile strength and the ease with which it can be combined with other fibers such as cotton, linen, wool, rayon, orlon or nylon.

Its uses are practically unlimited and cover a range from heavy marine rope, fire hose, tires and down to the finest cloth for wearing apparel. Ramie suits compare with the finest Irish linen and wear longer. Handkerchiefs made in Japan of ramie have been marked in this country for years and their quality is excellent.

The new firm that will undertake to market ramie as a competitive fiber is Piece Florida Ramie, Inc. which has already purchased extensive factory and growing properties. The project is being financed by Palm Beach and Broward county men who see a great future for it since the plant can be grown in the Florida area with success.

The new organization is taking over the properties of the Newport Industries which has pioneered the growing and marketing of ramie in the Florida on land of the United States Sugar Corporation. Last year Newport produced 2,250,000 pounds of ramie fiber, most of which was shipped to Japan.

Once the bugs are eliminated and we begin producing ramie on a competitive basis it will mean employment to thousands of agricultural and industrial workers and those behind the project see this new industry as rivaling citrus, winter vegetables and cattle.

Serious new trouble in North Africa is complicating the French cabinet crisis.

While President Ren Coty is trying to find a premier to succeed Guy Mollet, the relations between France and its former protectorate of Tunisia are at the breaking point.

Last Tuesday — the day Mollet was forced to resign after losing a confidence vote in Parliament — France suspended payments on its $5 million dollar a year aid program to Tunisia.

The reason was that the French government believed that the arms which it was sending to Tunisia were being relayed to the rebels in Algeria.

Premier Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia responded by announcing that he regarded French-Tunisian economic agreements as having been cancelled.

Other Aid Plans Sought
Bourguiba then started a series of conferences with the diplomatic envoys of the United States and other countries on the possibility they might give the aid France refused.

The United States was brought more directly into the North African situation last Thursday, when the diplomatic representatives in Washington of 11 Arab countries made a formal request to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that American aid to France be suspended.

This request was based on the allegation that France was guilty of terrorism in its campaign against the nationalist rebels in Algeria.

The Algerian rebellion lies behind most of France's present troubles.

Reluctantly—partly due to United States encouragement of "nationalist" movements all over the world—France granted independence to its protectorates of Tunisia and Morocco in 1955.

Algeria, which is the most important of France's African possessions, remained as it had been — a part of France itself politically, with representation in the French Parliament.

Open Rebellion Continues
Open rebellion broke out in Algeria on Nov. 1, 1954. This rebellion continues.

France is using nearly 500,000 troops in fighting the rebels. It is estimated that the campaign will cost France one billion dollars this year. Morocco borders Algeria on the west, Tunisia borders Algeria on the east. Both Morocco and Tunisia are openly on the side of the Algerian rebels. Also, Tunisia lies between Algeria and Arab Libya. There is no doubt that the Algerian rebels are getting arms from Libya through Tunisia.

Successive French premiers have vainly sought a solution of the Algerian problem which would give the country a great measure of self-rule but would keep it as a part of France politically.

The French cabinet situation is so tangled that Paris dispatches now suggest the only solution will be to get Mollet back as premier.

Whoever does get the job will inherit the Algerian-Tunisian-Moroccan headache.

AMINS—SANDY SIGN

WASHINGTON — Virgil Akins of St. Louis and Randy Sandy of New York have been signed for a 10-round middleweight fight at the Capitol Arena May 24. The bout replaces a lightweight contest between Paul Rosi and Joey Lopez, which was cancelled because Rosi injured his hand in a boat last week.

Buy Bathing Suit With Psychology

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK 28 — A woman should buy a bathing suit with psychology as well as swimming in mind, says designer Rose Marie Reid.

"When I talk about psychology, everybody thinks I mean a suit to catch a man," said Miss Reid.

"Well, that is a by-product. But I mean a woman should choose a suit which gives her confidence on the beach. It should have evening dress appeal."

Part of that confidence apparently comes from cover-up. For Miss Reid is just one of several manufacturers this season stressing more, rather than less, on the figures at the beach.

Women are Modest
The American woman doesn't want the bold suit anyway, said the designer in an interview. For two reasons. She is inherently a modest soul. And the man likes her that way.

"This is why the bikini never had a chance here," said Miss Reid, a suit designer for 20 years. "This country never has worshipped nudity. . . I don't think it ever will."

"Oh, I know, some men say why don't we make suits more daring? But they hastily add they don't want their wives wearing them."

"Our showroom models even want the modest suits. And they are girls whose figures are so flawless they'd look good in a coat of paint."

Modesty prevails, even though Miss Reid said figures are steadily improving.

Taller and Slimmer
"When I started designing," she said, "a typical order might be for one size 10, two size 12, six 14s, four 16s and two 20s. Now, it is more likely three 10s, four 12s, two 14s, two 16s, an 18 and two 20s."

"We women are growing taller, but we're staying slimmer," she said.

Designer Reid, a divorcee and mother of three children, introduced the suit engineered from the inside to fit and control like a foundation garment. She helped the whole industry promote the higher-priced glamorized suit, and also helped it sell women on the idea they needed a bathing suit wardrobe.

One New York store recently featured a cocktail swim suit — explaining it was for cocktails around the pool.

M Q Ranch Is Scene Of Party Given For B. Stemper

Billy Stemper, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stemper was feted with a Ranch swim Party, Friday afternoon upon the completion of his four years of South Side Primary School.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Morris entertained a group of Billy's playmates at their M. Q. Ranch near Osteen.

The boys assembled after school at the South Side and motored to the M. Q. Ranch where they were met at the entrance gate by the "Boss Man" and "Boss Lady" on horse back. The boys climbed aboard a huge old fashioned board wagon driven by the "Boss Man" and were escorted in to the ranch property by Billy riding horseback on "Pete" accompanied by the "Boss Lady on "Topper."

Upon arrival at the "Rustic Cook House" the young "Green Horns" were served cold drinks by Billy's mother Mrs. Stemper. The afternoon was spent sight seeing over the M. Q. Ranch's numerous bunkhouses and other buildings, after which the boys went swimming in the crystal clear "Lake We Choose Ya" (Indian Name, meaning Friendship).

The afternoon activities were highlighted when the "Boss Man" took Billy and his friends by boat to "Otter Island" and directed them in a "Mock Battle" of capturing the island from imaginary Indians.

At the close of a very merry afternoon of fun the group was then called to the "Cook House" by bugle call, where they were served ice cream cones and cake bearing Billy's name and Congratulations and also milk donated by "Baby" the M. Q.'s special milk cow.

Billy was then presented a pair of black western cowboy boots from the Herman E. Morris quartet. The boys then left for home saying the afternoon had passed too fast.

Those invited to this occasion were: Ferrell Hlekson, Bobby Henderson, John Guy, Larry Sitten, Mike Wolford, Vinny Atkinson, and Carl Atkinson.

TESTING COLOR FASTNESS

Pre-washing tip: Keep an old white bath towel near your washer or laundry tubs and use it to test color fastness. When there is doubt about a garment, soak a small inconspicuous section briefly in lukewarm water, then blot between folds of your "test towel." If the dye stains the white, even slightly, be sure to wash the garment separately in lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinses. It's wise to wash it as quickly as possible and give it an extra-thorough rinsing.

NEW YORK UP—The ladies of the links insist that a chunky youngster named Wilfi Smith is the new Babe Zaharias of women's golf.

This is much like comparing the rookie Mickey Mantle with Babe Ruth, or this year's winner of the National Amateur with Ben Hogan.

But the fairway fillies figure that the 20-year-old Wilfi can't miss.

League All-Star Game June 21

ORLANDO—Players on the Florida State League's 15th annual All-Star game to be played Friday night, June 21, will be selected by the league's eight managers and sportswriters.

Schaal said that in "order to make the teams really representative".

Manager of the teams will select the bat-boys.

One of the game may not be known until midnight June 9, the deadline, for today's pennant race, Schaal pointed out, is "the finest we've had in years."

The North team won last year's contest, 4 to 3, in an exciting game at Orlando, making it three straight times that a North team has whipped the South entry.

The league's eight umpires will work the game, four of them in charge thru the middle of the fifth inning. Hal Weaver, the National Association's umpire supervisor for the southeastern states, may be a special guest who will "work" the first inning.

There are many reasons. First of all, she powders the ball a long ton. Add to that the slither touch of a pickpocket on the greens and he poise of a second story man in an empty house and you have the qualities which won the Dallas Open and are kept hot well up. Among the money winners elsewhere during her brief four months as a pro.

Looks Like Patty Berg
Wilfi is the breezy young Californian who looks enough like Patty Berg to be her sister and has been making golf headlines since she was 14. At that age, only two years after playing her first round, she won the championship of the country club at Gradsalaja, Mexico, where her parents had moved from Redlands, Calif.

That was a tremendous incentive for the 5-foot, 6-inch redhead with the prize crop of freckles. Two years later, at 16, she copied the Women's Western Open and at 17 she took the World Amateur at Tam O'Shanter.

Last year Wilfi had a tremendous grand slam within reach when she took the British and French Amateurs but then fell by the wayside in the U.S. event. It was enough to convince her that she had the shots to make golf a paying proposition, so she turned professional.

Her Current Goal
Right now she's one of the big threats in the Triangle Round Robin, which has attracted the top 16 women pros to Virginia Beach, Va., in a five-round tussle May 29-June 2.

If there's anything Wilfi, a solid 160-pounder, likes better than golf it's her 1928 Ford during car.

"Of course it runs," she flares. "I drive it all over and have put 7,500 miles on it since I turned pro in January. It's a wonderful car even though none of the other girls will ride in it with me."

RIVER ROAD
FORT WORTH, Tex. — Boatmen rowing down a flooded street in Fort Worth Monday spotted a sign that said they were navigating River Road.

"But they do follow her, in more modern machines, just to be sure that Wilfi doesn't break down and get lost somewhere. After all, there was only one Babe Didrikson Zaharias. Anything remotely resembling her is a real prize at the box office. And Wilfi, they'll tell you, is it.

Lack Of Attendance At Baseball Games May End Season For Local Semi-Pro Team

League President W. Harridge Will Retire In December

NEW YORK UP—American League President Will Harridge will retire when his contract expires in December, informed sources have disclosed, and will be succeeded by General Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox.

A quorum of American League owners already has decided on the affable Cronin, it was said, and his post will be taken over by Asst. General Manager Stanley Buckey Harris.

"This will be denied all over the place but will until December and see what happens," the sportsman asserted.

Supporting the revelation is the fact that the 22-year-old Harridge, president of the league for 25 years, has not been robust and previously has contemplated retirement. Cronin, elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in January, 1954.

League's Fourth Hire
Cronin, if elected as expected, would be the league's fourth president. And the quiet San Francisco Irishman, an able administrator, would supply the same type of executive leadership as the spare and silent Harridge.

The one major difference between them is that Harridge never played a game of ball in his life and Cronin was a 20-year man in the major leagues.

Except for a brief period with the Wabash Railroad, Harridge has spent his life in the front office of the American League. He was a passenger representative handling the American League account for the railroad when Han Johnson, first president of the league, hired him as a secretary in 1911.

F. S. Bernard succeeded Johnson and, on his death in 1931, Harridge was elected to the presidency, which he has held without interruption.

For Cronin and Harris: It will be a case of turn about being long-delayed lay play.

Wm A. L. Pennant-Cronin had been up twice with Pittsburgh but it was Harris who made a regular out of Cronin at

The Sanford Semi-Pro showed signs of wobbling financially under the handicap of being almost unrepresented last Sunday afternoon in Memorial Stadium and there was some indication that they could not finish the first half of the schedule should a repetition occur next Sunday afternoon.

In an attempt to keep baseball in Sanford for the summer and the possible hopes of bringing Sanford back into the Class D, Florida State League circuit next year, W. C. "Red" Hires said that the team is almost gone.

Already in debt, the team will probably be unable to continue the rest of the season if there is not a good gate Sunday afternoon. "We want to bring baseball to Sanford this summer," Hires said, but we can't do it if we don't meet expenses."

The big problem, other than financial, will be holding the members of the team together if they play before an empty stadium. While it's true that the men have come together for the love of playing baseball, it's also true that attendance as poor as last weekend is an outlandish insult.

With a burning sun to contend with in the afternoon is bad enough, but the psychological effects of knowing that people won't sit in the shaded stadium, drinking pop, eating popcorn and watching their team turn in action must be very unrewarding.

Talking to people on the streets, anyone would get the impression that Sanford is a baseball town.

Jim Hawkins, who pitched for Station University during the past season, had similar expressions.

CHAPTER 21
DR. WILKINS SMITH laughed indulgently, and got to his feet. "Oh, what a doctor owes to the popular magazines!" he said with an elaborate gesture of dismay. "They feed you lay people a medical word here, a phrase there—and before we can ever begin to help you, we have to break down all that misinformation."
"It's especially bad in a situation like yours, Nolen. I hope you will take my word for it that the operation must be done at once!"
Nolen shook his head. "But—you're sure it's cancer, Doc?"
"I've twenty years of experience with such things, my boy."
"Ah-huh . . ." Nolen looked fidgety at the chat in Wilkins Smith's hands. "Those other doctors wrote that down?"
"I made the diagnosis. But, yes, it's written down. We don't do that unless we're sure." Dr. Wilkins Smith stood up and looked at the chart to the bed. "I suppose you would want to send for your family . . ."
"No," said Nolen. "They live pretty far. My mother's not well. But I do have a friend here in town . . ."
"Can we reach him by phone?"
"Could I, maybe, talk to him myself?"
"I think that could be arranged. I'll have a phone brought in. You'll see him scheduling this for some time tomorrow. If he comes and wants to talk to me, I'll be available right here in the House, until two, then in my office."
He went bravely out of the ward, and Charles Nolen lay utterly silent. Within an hour the telephone was brought to his bedside, and he let the orderly send him how to get his party. Nolen talked briefly with his friend, telling him where he was and what the operation scheduled for the next day. Then he relinquished the phone to the orderly, and lay scowling at the ceiling, his breathing heavily weighted.
Just as the orderly and his cart were about to disappear through the door, Nolen spoke faintly. "You might tell the Doc that my friend will be here in an hour."
"I'll do that, pal," said the orderly man, kindly.
In ten minutes the orderly and a nurse came to push Nolen's bed out of the ward, and down the hall to the elevator and thence to a small room which was to be his alone for a short time. His small belongings were transferred to the closet.
"After surgery," said the nurse cheerily, "you'll go back with other men."
"I got a friend coming to see me. Ned McCarthy."
"I'll leave word at the desk. Now, you just relax, Mr. Nolen. The room was just big enough to contain the hospital bed, a metal table and a chair. The door stood half-open, and the man in bed could hear feet, and sometimes wheels, approach and pass by.
But he heard his friend's approach, and the nurse's clear, "In here, sir." And "Mac" walked in, stocky, almond-eyed, smiling.
They had time for no more than a brief greeting, a subdued, "Hi, Charlie." "Hello, Charlie, this is tough!"
Then Dr. Wilkins-Smith came in, bustling, important, a cigar cold in his hand. Mac rose from the chair and stood before the doctor's desk. "Hello, Charlie, this is tough!"
"I made the diagnosis. But, yes, it's written down. We don't do that unless we're sure." Dr. Wilkins Smith stood up and looked at the chart to the bed. "I suppose you would want to send for your family . . ."
"No," said Nolen. "They live pretty far. My mother's not well. But I do have a friend here in town . . ."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-R. I.) to colleagues paying him tribute as the oldest man ever to serve in Congress:
"If they know they're right, they should keep on. They'll win in the end . . . a clear conscience and hard work will win in the end."
CHICAGO — National League President Warren Giles on a report of a proposed three-team franchise shift:
"I don't want to have to deny anything and then look bad by having it turn out another way."
WASHINGTON — Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.) denouncing the House Appropriations Committee's attempt to force the Army to keep operating the Murphy Hospital, which has more staff personnel than patients, at Waltham, Mass.:
"This is the grossest case of extravagance and inefficiency that I have ever heard of. It is the most willful misuse of federal funds that I have ever heard of."

ALL BORN CROSS-EYED, the three sons of Mrs. A. C. Franks, of Kansas City, Mo., are comforted by their mother after successfully undergoing operations to correct their vision. PREBBLES, the new butler at Evergreen Manor, had dubious references, but a certain swagger and glint in his eye that pleased Mrs. Wainwright.
Passing the vegetables at a formal dinner one evening, Prebbles came to a very deaf old lady. "Peas, ma'am?" he inquired. No answer. "Peas, ma'am?" he repeated more loudly.
The old lady saw him hovering over her and lifted an ear trumpet in his direction.
Prebbles was surprised but undaunted. "Well, if that's the way you want them, lady," he chuckled, "that's the way you'll get them." And down went the peas into the ear trumpet.
Herb Shriner, emphasizing the sparsity of population and real estate in his Indiana home town, explains, "It's so small, the whole place is located between two parts of a billboard above ad!"

Golf Course Is Being Planned For Tanglewood

Wellborn C. Phillips Jr. announced today the completion of the sale of a tract of land in the Tanglewood area as the site of a proposed 18-hole golf course. The 165 acre tract was purchased by A. J. Snyder & Associates for a figure in excess of $60,000. The transaction was handled through the Orlando office of Peter Hupsten. Phillips said his hoped-for construction will start in the near future. "With recreational facilities so greatly overvalued in this rapidly growing area," Phillips said, "a golf course in Tanglewood would be a most welcome addition to the community." It is another part of Tanglewood's success story. The number of families living in Tanglewood is rapidly approaching the 100 mark. Other homes are under construction and Tanglewood is very quickly becoming one of the outstanding residential areas in the Northeast area. It's very gratifying to see it progress so swiftly and successfully.
Coinciding with this announcement regarding the Tanglewood development in Southwest Seminole County Phillips announced that five additional homes were released for construction last week in the Little Venice area of

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

Polly Brubaker and Spook Hook were hostesses for the VAH-11 luncheon Monday. The luncheon was held at the Langford Hotel in Winter Park. The girls were seated in the small dining room, for privacy, but the doors were left open for the models, since yesterday was the day for the weekly fashion show. The delicious lunch was made even more delightful by the good looking clothes that passed on parade. There is a fashion show every Monday at the Langford, and parties are welcomed from Sanford. Polly said the food, service, and courtesy was excellent.

The centerpiece was a spring hat filled with garden flowers. Attending were Anne Bear, Louise Andres, Margaret Hendrick, Virginia Deremegio, Bert Burkholder, Jean Rossi, Camille Metzger, Sally Warwick, Thelma Fenner, Ann Purdy, Joanne Thompson, Pat Trou, Tommy Tennyson, Terry Martin, Audrey Brownlee, and Kay Downs.

A farewell coffee honoring Betty Mountcastle, Rosemary Duncan, and Claire Lynch was given by Marty Millaps Monday morning at the B.O.Q. The Mountcastles and Lynches are getting out of the navy, and the Duncans have orders to M.I.T.

Cokes and coffee were served to the guests and there were platters filled with calories of cookies and rolls. Brazilian pepper surrounded the bowl of ice which held the cokes. Attending were Dodie King, Ruth Norvell, Anita Hadden, Millie Barlow, Lio Cleveland, Mac Edwards, Lil Gray, Jeanne McGuire, Helou Griffin, Treta Michel, Mildred Loper, Betty McClane, Polly Savage, Virginia Shaff, Amy Baber, Mike Stone and Sally Weigle.

By this time the results of the Sanford Naval Air Station Combined Charity Drive have been made public. I hope that everyone has had a chance to see how the $11,135.00 was distributed. Each man who donated was given a chance to specify where his money should go; to which charities. At the same time, many wives were also giving on the same front—to each volunteer who rang the doorbell. This sum of money is pretty large it seems to me, when you consider that each man must have given a minimum of three or four dollars. If we could get EVERYONE in the county to give that much, we would not be extending drives all the time. It is plain to see where the preferences lay in charities for these men. Some of the donations were given to organizations that did not have organized drives.

Next year the Naval Air Station will participate in the United Fund Drive locally, besides several others. Due to Defense Department directives, the combined drive has to be discontinued. But for all you volunteer workers who have so often been turned away with the statement "My husband

Keeping Kids Happy On A Long Auto Trip

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

If you are embarking on a long vacation trip in the family auto this summer, I may be able to save you some trouble. For unless you are properly prepared, youngsters can be pretty trying traveling companions.

Long before you leave, make a visit to the neighborhood dime store and invest a few dollars—dimes do not go far anymore—in several small toys or games which you can spring as a surprise on your children when the occasion demands. Keep them hidden until you actually need them in the car to quell an argument or to soothe a tantrum.

Simple Toys Best

Coloring books, a deck of cards and such simple things probably are best for tiny tots. For older girls, dolls which they can dress or paper out-cuts will keep them occupied for a long time. Boys can find amusement in cardboard press-out of soldiers, boats, cars and the like.

Of course, you've got to make a certain amount of room for the children's favorite traveling toys which they will need throughout the trip.

Games are good time-passers. As you start out in the morning let each member of the family make a guess as to the number of out-of-state license plates you'll spot during the day. Give a daily prize to make the game worth while.

Let Them Count

You can set a time limit on counting things on each side of the road.

For example, let the youngster on one side of the car count the number of white houses seen within the next ten miles. Let the other child do the same on his side.

Be sure you have a pillow or two so the kids can take a comfortable nap.

Frequent Stops

Stop at the side of the road every couple of hours and tell the youngsters to race to a certain point and back. Do this a few times and they will run off their excess energy.

However, be sure these impromptu races are staged in safe spots away from speeding cars.

Just one word about eating. Traveling is apt to be hard on a child's stomach, so don't make things even more difficult by filling him up on drinks and candy. Make sure his meals are at least adequate, even if they are only sandwiches and milk.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. N. C.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?
Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, in bones.

It may occur with old age, with disease of a limb and in women passing through the menopause. Usually, prescribing a combination of male and female hormones, along with an adequate diet, and calcium and phosphorus preparations, will correct this disease.

Williams One Of Four Judges Named To 9th Circuit By Governor

TALLAHASSEE 27 — Gov. LeRoy Collins today appointed four new circuit judges for the 9th Judicial Circuit, including Angus G. McInnis of Sanford, outspoken former state legislator. Williams, who managed Brailley Odham's unsuccessful gubernatorial campaign in 1951, resigned as assistant state attorney to accept the new judgeship. Collins named Melbourne attorney Thomas R. Waddell Jr. to succeed him.

Collins named George E. Adams, Orlando, to succeed Barber as county attorney but did not immediately name a successor to Smith.

The 9th Circuit, comprising Brevard, Indian River, Martin, Oklawaha, Orange, Osceola, St. Lucie and Seminole counties, received the four additional judges as a result of a recent population count and enabling legislation.

Present judges in the circuit are Frank A. Smith, Orlando; Vassar B. Carlton, Titusville; A. O. Kanner, Stuart; and Terry Patterson, Winter Park.

Local Veterans Organizations Take Part In Observance

Memorial Services were held today to "commemorate those of the Armed Forces who have answered the last call."

The joint services, held at the bandshell at 11:30 today, were participated in by veterans organizations of the community.

Chester Macke of the Fleet Reserve Association, and general chairman for the Memorial Day observance presided after an introduction by Michael Thomas of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other organizations taking part were the American Legion, the Disabled American Veterans, the Spanish American War Veterans, and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Prayers were said by the Rev. Richard Lyons of All Souls Catholic Church, the Rev. Milton Wyatt of the First Methodist Church and Chaplain Fuller of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Also participating in the Memorial Day services was the National Guard which fired a salute at the closing of the ceremony. Taps was sounded immediately following the volley.

Children Make Field Trip Today

Nearly 50 children of the first grade of Mary Bryan School in Kissimmee arrived in Sanford today at noon for their annual field trip.

The group was in charge of Mrs. George Best, teacher. Also in the group were a number of mothers of the children.

It was the first train ride for the youngsters. They arrived by Atlantic Coast Line.

Graduation Is 'Family Affair' For Duda Family

Graduation might be termed a "family affair" for the John Duda family of Oviedo, as both of their sons will receive a degree from the University of Florida in June.

Edward, 24, and Walter, 21, will both be awarded a Bachelor's degree in agriculture at commencement ceremonies on June 3.

Edward entered the University in 1950, and during his freshman year, played on the "Gator" baseball team. His college career was interrupted in 1953 when he was called into the Army. After two years in the service he returned to the University to continue work toward a degree. During that time he married the former Nadye Fleming, of Oviedo. They have an eight-month-old son, Danny.

Walt began his studies at the University in 1953, and while in college became a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, the Society of Agricultural Engineers, the Agriculture Economics Club and Gamma Delta, Lutheran organization. He, too, played on the freshman baseball team and on the varsity team for two years.

After graduation plans for both of the boys are to join the family business. They are the third generation to join A. Duda and Sons.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA COMMENCEMENT will be twice as much fun this year for Mr. and Mrs. John Duda, Oviedo, as both of their sons (pictured above) Walter and Edward will receive degrees.

Jackson Receives Appreciation Gift From Kiwanians

Captain Robert W. Jackson received a gift of a silver engraved bonbon tray yesterday—a gift of appreciation from members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

The Sanford Naval Air Station Commanding Officer, a member of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, was surprised at the gesture of his club members.

Presented by Ed Lane, chairman of the Kiwanis Club Social Events and Sunshine Committee, those attending the luncheon meeting affirmed the presentation with rounds of applause.

Lane said in his presentation "You have done more to cement the friendly relations between Navy personnel and the citizens" (Continued on Page 10)

Smathers: Serious Problem Facing Home Building

WASHINGTON — Senator George Smathers, (D-Fla.), in a speech on the Senate Floor supporting a proposal which would provide for a lower FHA down payment schedule, stated:

"I fear that we do not fully realize the very serious problems which face home building today. As a result of the credit conditions of the past 18 months, home building is very sharply down from the peak year of 1955."

He emphasized that in the first four months of this year—the very time during which builders normally start the bulk of their year's production, home building is off 19 per cent from last year and down 31 per cent from 1955.

"Not only are housing starts for 1957 at the lowest level in the past decade," he continued, "but the present rate of home production per thousand of population has actually dropped below the ratio of production in 1924, 1925 and 1936."

Smathers further stated, "But perhaps even more important than the question of mere volume of new home production is the suitability of those homes which are produced for families of modest income. Following the collapse of real estate and home building in the early 1930's due to the unsound financing practices of the boom years of the 1920's, the Congress of the United States enacted one of the greatest and most significant pieces of legislation ever enacted by this Congress or by the legislature of any government. I refer to the National Housing Act which established the Federal Housing Administration. This was based upon the wise and far-seeing principle that the great masses of our people should be provided an opportunity to purchase their homes and to carry them on credit terms which they can afford. It expounded the idea that the soundest kind of financing was that which allowed a family to acquire its home with a low down payment at low interest rates and with a long-term mortgage repayable in modest monthly installments. Over the years this formula has been enormously successful."

"Examination of available data clearly shows that the demand for modest priced housing still continues high, there are still millions of families who want the opportunity to own a home." (Continued on Page 10)

Board Will Be Set Up

A strong countywide zoning bill incorporating powers to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners to zone the area adjacent to the Sanford Naval Air Station, passed the House and Senate yesterday afternoon, according to a joint announcement made by the Seminole County delegation in Tallahassee.

The bill empowers the Board of County Commissioners to set up a five-man zoning Commission to regulate and restrict within the territory of Seminole County, not included in any municipality, the zoning within the area.

It also empowers the Board of Commissioners to appropriate and pay out of the general fund of the county a sum for the purpose of defraying the expense of zoning and administering the provisions of the act.

The act also incorporates the powers of Chapter 333, Florida Statutes as well as providing such additional powers as set out in the bill.

The bill specifically states "All points of law relating to zoning in Seminole County in the interpretation of this act where any conflict develops shall be controlled by the provisions of this act."

The county may be divided into such districts, shape and area as deemed best suited to carry out the purpose of the zoning bill; and within such districts the Board of County Commissioners may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings and structures on land and water.

It is set out in the bill that all regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout such district but the regulations of one district may differ from those of other districts.

The bill, passed yesterday, points out that the Board of County Commissioners shall appoint a zoning commission to serve at the pleasure of the board which shall recommend to the commission the boundaries of the districts and appropriate regulations to be enforced.

It is also set out that the Board of County Commissioners may appoint a Board of Adjustment composed of five members to hear appeals.

Applications for permits are included in the zoning bill as well (Continued On Page Ten)

WASHINGTON 27 — American officials voiced "disappointment" today over Britain's decision to increase its trade with Red China. The British action, it was feared may lead to further weakening in allied trade controls with the Soviet Union, Red China and the eastern European Communist states. Officials also expected some anti-British reaction in Congress.

ARLINGTON, Va. 27 — Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said today this generation has an "unique" opportunity to eliminate war. Speaking at Memorial Day services in Arlington Cemetery, Quarles said he has never seen war so horrible that it no longer can serve the policies of any nation. He said the United States while maintaining a powerful peace-time military force, must devote its efforts to achieving "a better system of maintaining law and order in the world."

Civic Center 'Modern, Appealing'

Material evidence of the new Sanford Civic Center designed "mainly for our teenage children and the universal use by teenagers and adults" will be on hand in a short time, City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday at its noon luncheon meeting.

"It is quite modern and appealing to the eye—a product of Architect John Burton," Knowles said.

Seldom do you come up with something original—there is no other like it, the Sanford City Manager explained. He also said that the new Sanford Civic Center will be of less cost to the city than a conventional building—will be completely equipped within the budget—and will be aid conditioned.

Describing the building to the Kiwanis Club luncheon group, Knowles said that the auditorium will be of laminated wood beam construction, with a dome and large glassed area.

Praising the architect, Knowles said that by using an original design the city was saved much expense.

"The auditorium will be of level floor construction with seats not fixed so that 1,000 people can be seated by using a collapsible wall between the auditorium and the banquet room," said Knowles.

He explained that the kitchen will be equipped to serve up to 1,000 meals. "Teenage recreation will be in the wing where a snack bar, reading room, television, radio, billiards, pool, checkers, arts and crafts will form a part of the program," explained the City Manager.

The patio will be of glassed concrete where a skating rink can be placed, and outdoor dances be held under floodlights from the roof, he said. Outlining other service features including a parking area and service entrance, Knowles said "It is the best designed community center the City of Sanford can secure."

"We are now awaiting final approval of the plans and awarding of the contracts," Knowles told the Kiwanis luncheon group which is, as he described it "the main attraction—the feature that sold the Capital Improvement Program."

However, the City Manager outlined other features of the program as he named the second and new fire station, the colored swimming pool, two new fire pumps and two 20-yard garbage packers.

"The Sanford Civic Center is one of the biggest assets for the city to undertake which will later mean a year 'round recreation program with a year 'round recreation director."

Knowles told the Kiwanis club that it was expected that bids would be advertised by June 15 with bids in the architects office on July, 15.
