Faircloth Finds Site Impressive

Attorney-General Earl Faircloth, after viewing Sanford Airport Building 310 yesterday afternoon, said the structure was impressive and indicated it put Sanford ahead of other state areas in the location of a state police training academy.

Faircloth, a Democratic candidate for governor, spent most of Wednesday in the Sanford-Seminole area before leaving for Daytona Beach and a continuation of his political trek through Central Florida.

The attorney-general was invited to Sanford by city-county officials, who are attempting to get State Cabinet approval of a former Navy barracks building which could be leased with all needed facilities for $20,000 a year for use as a police training academy.

Faircloth, as a cabinet member, is instrumental in the selection of the academy site and his nod is needed if the city is able to convince other cabinet members, who have also been invited here, that the airport building is best for state taxpayers and citizens.

William Reed, head of the Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement, has requested that the cabinet put the school under his control at Tallahassee, but this would cost many times the low lease price for the airport structure.

Faircloth, touring the area, visited the Herald and voiced his opinion regarding the operation of the governor's office by incumbent Republican Claude Kirk.

The attorney general labeled Kirk as the biggest problem in the state today and said "it would be amazing if it was not so tragic." He added, "any Democrat would be better than him."

Faircloth said at least 20 per cent of the state's people don't like Kirk and compared this with figures which he had obtained which lists only six per cent dislike for President Richard Nixon and four per cent for Sen. Spessard Holland.

"The governor's had the opportunity to do a lot for the state, but hasn't," Faircloth continued.

Problem Tackled Tonight Where Will Budget Be Cut?

By BILL SCOTT
Sanford City Commission will meet at 8 p.m. tonight for a second 1971 budget session, and again will find it hard to cut $400,000 from the city operational document.
City Manager W. E. Knowles presented the budget to the commission three weeks ago and a budget review session was held a week later in which an estimated $20,000 to $22,000 was tentatively sliced from operational costs, which are projected at $2,181,970 while anticipated revenue was down to $1,800,000.

Faced with a $382,970 deficit, the commissioners quickly axed the figure to $400,000, but where do we go from here? It would appear that whatever fat there was has thus been eliminated and other out-of-balance expenditures are for essential services such as more police to meet the rising crime rate that has increased steadily for some time.
Because of the additional police needs involving drugs and...

$150 For Expense County Approves Expenditure

By MARION BETHEA
County Commissioners have authorized an expenditure of $150 from the county publicity account for a professional proposal to be prepared to the state cabinet upon the location of the State Police Academy at the Sanford Airport.

A letter was read to the commission from John Spolski, chairman of the Advisory Committee, stating that the cost of the proposal would be an estimated $300, and requesting that the commission pay half the cost.

Cammack To Speak

Mrs. Margaret Cammack, Geneva real estate broker who has been spearheading a battle to retain Decatur Air Field as an air base and industrial site, will be a speaker at tonight's meeting of the Seminole County Taxpayer's Association. The meeting will be held at the Pinesrest School auditorium at 8 p.m.

$24 Million In Permits

By CHARNER LEONE
Almost $24 million worth of building permits have been issued in Seminole County in the past 10 months. "But I don't expect that we'll surpass the year's total of $25 million we achieved last year," said Robert S. Brown, the Seminole County Zoning Director.
The total so far in this fiscal year (Oct. 1, Sept. 30) is $23,918,000.

School Zoning Faced Tonight

Not on the agenda, but it is possible that the Seminole County School Board may discuss zoning and pairings of schools at tonight's 7 p. m. meeting.
At a special Tuesday morning session, the educators voted to approve a board modification to the 1970-71 school desegregation approved plan to allow the high school facility for the Oviedo area and Lawson Elementary is now the 15 grades school. This in turn eliminated the black racial identification as required under the federal program.

Land Parcels Appraised

Appraisal of land parcels which are being considered for acquisition as county parks has been authorized by the County Commission at a cost of $2,000. County Planner, David Parr reported to the Board that the Planning and Zoning Board had met as requested, and determined that the locations were compatible with the county's comprehensive land use plan.

Defendant Appeals

Joseph Kenneth Dean, who is accused of rape in Orange and Seminole Counties, has requested a temporary restraining order against trying the cases in state courts. A hearing on the request will be held on Friday at 4 p.m. before Federal Judge George Young.

Dean has contended that two grand jury indictments in Seminole County and one in Orange County are unconstitutional because the state law on rape provides the death penalty, and requests that a three judge federal panel hear the constitutional challenge.

Defendants in the action are State Attorney's Robert Egan, Orlando, and Abbott Herring, Sanford. Because of state ramifications of the suit, there may be intervention by Gov. Claude Kirk and Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth.

It is anticipated that Judge Young will give a ruling on placing the case before a three judge panel on Friday.

Foes Of ABM System To Mount Final Drive

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Foes of President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile system are mounting a final drive next week to restrict expansion of the system.

But Safeguard supporters, who mass-mailed the draft of a bill to curtail $322 million and two ABM sites from the program, said they have the votes to withstand any challenge. The third effort will come on an amendment by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., to block construction of two additional ABM sites. The funds instead would be spent to improve the two existing sites.

Brooke said he would call the amendment up for a vote Wednesday. "I think the opposition to ABM has hit its peak and that we can now move on to other things," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., floor manager of the bill that includes expansion of Safeguard to two new sites. The Senate rejected Wednesday a 52-35 margin a bill by Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, to kill all Safeguard expansion funds except those for research and development.

SAIGON (UPI)—Waves of U.S. B-52 bombers dropped a half-million pounds of explosives and fighters bombed Communist gunners and napalm on North Vietnamese troop buildups around the beleaguered Allied artillery base O'Reilly near the Laotian border, military spokesmen said today.

North Vietnamese gunners responded by shelling the camp. Battle reports said Communist units, meanwhile, had infiltrated three more villages near Quang Tri City and north of an area where South Vietnamese troops and U.S. helicopter crews earlier killed 149 North Vietnamese troops.

Claim Is Investigated Egypt Moves Missiles

By United Press International
The U.S. State Department was investigating today a claim that Egypt violated the Middle East cease-fire by moving SAM and SAM-2 antiaircraft missiles to within 13 miles of the Suez Canal a few hours after the truce went into effect.

Under conditions of the cease-fire, now in its sixth day, Egypt said Israel agreed not to strengthen military positions within 23 miles of the canal. Robert J. McCloskey, a spokesman for the U.S. State Department which initiated the probe, said the department was checking to see if there was a violation of the cease-fire agreement.

No Further Delay On Court House Construction

Any further delay in starting the construction of the Seminole County Court House in Sanford is almost incredible to even contemplate. We deplore the action of the three Seminole County Commissioners who voted to increase the county tax levy by one mill to bring the funding of the construction towards completion.

Chairman John Alexander, experienced commissioner, and both Robert Parker and Edward Yarborough who have been sitting as commissioners for some time, are to be applauded for taking this very much needed step.

It is well to remember that the present courthouse was built in 1918, that it was the Elks Club at that time, and that any visitor who goes to the third floor will hear and feel the shaky construction which is now apparent.

It is also important that the residents of Seminole County do not forget that it was a law suit by some of those living in the south end that started the delaying legal procedures which prevented the start of the construction until Sanford could be officially designated as the local county seat.

Princess Approaches Awaited Day

By MARGARET SAVILLE LONDON (UPI) - A boy friend recently asked Princess Anne to go dancing. She declined because "I have to do my homework tonight."

The home work involved learning names and details that would confront her during the next day's public engagements. It is an important part of what Anne happily calls "my career" - being a princess.

Queen Elizabeth's only daughter will be 20 on Saturday and, much to Anne's pleasure, headline writers no longer will be able to tag her "Britain's teenage princess."

At 20, Anne is a poised and confident young woman. It has been two years since she left the fashionable Benenden School for Girls and assumed a steadily increasing share of royal family duties.

Her social maturity is reflected in her manner of dress. When she first appeared on the royal scene as a full-time princess, Anne wore vivid clothes and bright makeup that included strawberry-colored lipstick.

Now Anne dresses elegantly. She has learned to use makeup with restraint. The dazzling orange and scarlet outfits she wore as an 18-year-old have been replaced by more demure shades.

Garbage Collectors Must Comply

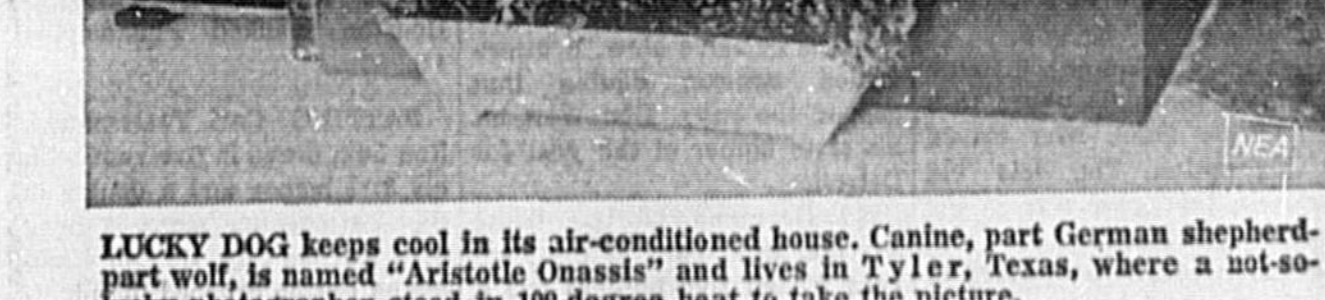

By MARION BETHA Seminole County's new garbage ordinance will go into effect on Aug. 17, and imposes regulations upon both customers and firms. However, in one of the stipulations of the ordinance, that collectors apply to the county for certificates of convenience and necessity, several firms have ignored the mandate.

County commissioners have been apprised that of the 22 refuse collection firms in the county, only four have made the necessary application. Of these four, only one sent the sample contract to be executed between customer and firm.

Commissioner Robert Parker also did not vote for the ordinance and told the commission that he would like to meet with the firms to work out plans.

Commissioner Sid Vihlen stated that the collectors should comply with the law by this Saturday in returning the applications with all information requested by the ordinance.

Commissioner Greg Drummond agreed, saying that proper standards must be met to serve the people... not what the collectors want. Varborough again voted no.

Scientists Hunting For Answer Garbage Cans May Hold Future Proteins

By G. DAVID WALLACE Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Scientists are rummaging through trash cans, sifting the seas and harvesting fungi and germs in the quest for cheap, plentiful sources of protein, the body's most important tissue builder. Their search, reported at the Third International Congress on Food Science and Technology now underway here, is fueled by the realization that in the stand-out room-only world of the future - and in already crowded countries - space is at a premium for the animals which provide men with protein.

Protein deficiency is a vital factor in the 10,000 deaths in North America on the average eat 66 grams of animal protein a person per day, supplemented by milk, eggs and cereals. But the individual consumption of animal protein in the Near East averages 14 grams, in Africa 11 grams and in Asia 8 grams.

It is in the animal-poor countries where scientists are pressing hardest to extract the proteins directly from grasses, grains and other substances. South Africans, Colombians and Guatemalans are already drinking beverages endowed with the exotic-sounding names of "Pro-Nutro" and "Incapa-na" and fortified by protein extracted from soybeans. Indians enrich biscuits and candies with peanut flour. And even in the United States, firms are test-marketing protein-enriched flour and noodles.

The products being tapped for protein depend on what's available: corn tassels at Kansas State University, sugar cane waste in Colombia, coconuts in the Philippines, weeds in Portugal, "pink fish" in Seattle. Researchers cite this comparison: A 1,000-pound steer makes about a pound of useful protein in a day, while 1,000 pounds of yeast can make 4,000 pounds of protein in the same period. There are problems. Swiss researchers reported their noodles made from algae had a sickly green color. Present alfalfa protein contains too much indigestible material. The Israelis said their soybean flour produced stomach gas. Researchers are being careful to scan their substances for any toxic or cancerous elements.

Dr. Phillip Handler, president of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences, notes that synthetic proteins are being synthesized.

By CLAY HARTSOE
Herald Sports Staff
Mike Jones is an eleven-year-old Florida Golf Champion. Mike Jones wants to compete for the national title. Mike Jones will not be able to compete unless the money can be raised to send him to San Diego, California.

Mike plays out of Land O Lakes Country Club in Caselberry. He plays with a five-handicap and most of his opponents is adults. The Jaycee's State Tournament for the time to eleven year olds, was Mike's latest victory. This win qualified Mike for a berth in the Junior World Golf Tournament in San Diego. All Mike needs is the money to go. Around $700 will be required to send Mike and his father to the tournament. Half this amount has been raised by the American League. The Jaycee's Association will sponsor a golf tournament this Saturday to raise the rest of the money.

The Mike Jones Day Tourney will be open to both amateurs and pros. The Calloway System will be used in this tournament.

Half the entry fee will go toward prize money and the other half will be used to help send Mike to San Diego. Tee-offs will start at 7:00 a.m. and end at 2:00 p.m.

All area golfers are invited to enter and help send Mike toward a chance to win the National Title he wants.

Oakland Closer To Lead

Only last weekend the Oakland Athletics were being counted out as serious pennant contenders. Now they lead the West. Today, however, they're camping on the doorstep of first place Minnesota, thanks in part to Camp Campaneris' 5-3 loss to Washington, eased the A's within five games of the top.

Campaneris, the Oakland shortstop whose real first name is Bert, led the assault against the Indians, smacking four hits — one of them a triple — and scoring four runs. Frank Fernandez contributed a three-run homer.

A manager John McNamara said he thought it was going to be one of those games after the Indians grabbed a quick 4-1 lead. "We used up three pitchers in three innings."

"Bob Locker did a great job," McNamara said of the veteran right-hander who blanked Cleveland through the final 2 1/2 frames.

In Wednesday night's other American League action, Baltimore edged California 4-1. Milwaukee stunned Detroit 5-1. Chicago White Sox trimmed the New York Yankees 5-1 and Kansas City split a two-night double-header with Boston, winning the nightcap 4-3 after the Red Sox took the opener 7-4.

Curt Flood Gets Strike One Called

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It's still three strikes before you're out, and Curt Flood's attorney said Monday that the Supreme Court will not hear his appeal. Flood's attorney said that it is up to the Supreme Court to decide whether to overrule the Supreme Court's ruling that Flood, an executive director of the Players Association, which has supported Flood in his suit, "I think everyone knew it would be difficult for a district court to overrule the Supreme Court."

"There will, of course, be an appeal," said attorney Allan Zeman.

Flood, a 32-year-old star centerfielder who has a .291 lifetime batting average with St. Louis, filed a $4.1 million antitrust suit against baseball after the Cardinals traded him to Philadelphia last winter.

However, Judge Cooper, in his 47-page decision on May 19, June 19 trial, upheld baseball's 31-year-old exemption granted by the Supreme Court from existing anti-trust legislation.

"This reserve system is a set of rules which binds a player to one club unless he is traded, sold or released."

"Clearly the preponderance of credible proof does not favor eliminating of the reserve system," Flood's attorney said in his decision. "Baseball Commissioner Bowie has expressed the opinion that the system is a necessary part of the game, and players can bargain out of it, if they wish to do so."

Flood said he had been in Philadelphia for more than three years. He said he had been in Philadelphia for more than three years. He said he had been in Philadelphia for more than three years.

New Strike Out Record Set By Card's Gibson

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Red Schoendienst said Monday that the Cardinals' chances before the game and the fireballing St. Louis Cardinals ace had to agree.

But before the night was over, the veteran right-hander had chalked up his 19th victory and snapped a major league record in the process.

The record-breaking first pitcher in history to strike out 200 or more batters in eight seasons — was probably Gibson's coming-in the third inning when he fanned Nate Colbert, giving him an even 200 for the year.

However, the 31-year-old workhorse had to go 14 innings before subduing the stubborn San Diego Padres 5-4.

He was reached for 13 hits but also fanned 13, upping his season total to 216, sending him ahead of former American League hurler Walter Johnson and Babe Waddell, who had shared the mark at seven seasons with Gibson.

"I didn't think I was throwing too good in the bullpen," Gibson said afterward. "I was lucky they were swinging."

"If you'd have seen him warm up, I wouldn't have given two cents that he'd go nine innings," said Schoendienst. "I was going to take him out after the 14th."

Carl Taylor, who won Tuesday's game for the Cards with a dramatic ninth inning grand slam and the co-ho hero along with Gibson, drawing a bases-loaded walk off loser Ron Willis, forcing in the winning run.

Gibson, when told he had thrown 118 pitches, shrugged and said: "I don't care about the number of pitches. They always talk about the number, but you can throw 90 pitches and lose."

He was saved that fate when Richie Allen clubbed his 32nd homer in the eighth inning, ending the Cards to tie the score at 4-4 after Colbert had slugged his 26th with a man aboard in the sixth for a 4-3 San Diego lead.

The victory was the Cards' 12th in 14 games and edged them to within eight games of the struggling Pittsburgh Pirates in the East Division scramble.

In other games, Los Angeles routed the Pirates 11-1. The New York Mets edged Cincinnati 2-1. San Francisco dropped Chicago 6-3. Atlanta ripped Montreal 8-7. Houston blanked Philadelphia 4-0.

Wes Parker raced home with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning on Pirates' reliever Dave Giusti's wild pitch and then the Dodgers broke loose for seven runs in the ninth inning to wallop Pittsburgh.

The loss, coupled with the Mets' triumph, dropped the Pirates' lead to only 1 1/2 games with New York in the East.

Red-hot Ted Sizemore drove in the second eighth inning run for the Dodgers with a single and Jeff Torborg dried a two-run single and Willie Crawford added a two-run double in the ninth.

The Dodgers, who have won four straight, to get within 11 games of the Reds in the West, have ripped 67 hits, scored 36 runs and are hitting .419 during their streak. Sizemore has batted at a .667 clip with 16 for 24 in his eight-game hitting string.

Touchy Situation Presented By Pat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — "It's a touchy situation," said Art Zachary, a big 219-pound defensive end of the Norfolk Neptunes football team.

He and other members of the team are wondering just how and where they are going to tackle Mrs. Patricia Pat Palinkas.

Pat is the first woman ever to be signed to play professional football, and she'll play her first game Aug. 22 at Foreman Field at the Kiwanis Bowl when the Neptunes meet the Orlando Panthers.

Other members of the Norfolk team aren't exactly ecstatic that they'll come face to face with the first woman player in professional football.

"Besides being a difficult situation in the dressing room, she might present a sticky problem on the football field. I don't like to think about it," said George Hughes, Neptunes football coach.

Pat Palinkas is a 130-pound blonde from Tampa, Fla., who signed a contract recently with the Orlando Panthers as a place holder. She'll hold the ball for the field goals and extra points after a Panther touchdown.

Pat was signed to the unusual contract when she accompanied her husband, Steve to place-kicking tryouts and Orlando coach Paul Massey signed the husband-wife team to one-year contracts.

Unofficial sources claim she's a better holder than he is kicker.

Florida's College Sporting Scene

On the Florida campus the past few years it seems there have been Peck brothers listed on some sports roster at all times. Contributing to this illusion is David Peck who has been listed at so many different positions on the football roster.

Peck has been an end, tackle, guard, defensive lineman and, last and not least, a center. He moved to center halfway through the spring drills and quickly put a clamp of the first team job.

David's brother Gene was a split end for the Gators for three seasons. Another brother, Tommy, was a swimmer of note in recent years. David threatens to put them all in the shade, however, with his football performance.

Perhaps the biggest mystery connected with the 1970 University of Florida football team is the situation in the middle of the defensive line.

Gator Head Coach Doug Dieck is not meaning about the situation here, rather he is being coy. He says that the position's personnel dictate what the position's composition will be.

The mystery is created because the candidate for top jobs are a sophomore, a senior who has never lettered and seldom played at a veteran who underwent shoulder surgery after spring practice, a veteran who has lettered while serving in a utility role and a veteran evidently bound for stardom before being struck down by illness last year.

Any resemblance between Florida's trio of first team linemen; off the field and on, is, as they say, purely coincidental.

Mike Kelley, 6-2 and 260-pounds, presently plays 29 hard-batted eggs in a variety of ways. Richard Buchanan is a gifted artist and can give perfect imitations of raccoons who have been hit by cars.

Fred Abbott is a talented, if great journalist who writes of the accomplishments of his friends and sends in color Polaroid pictures with his articles to prove he hasn't made up such wild fantasies.

Dr. Gary Martin, Louis' physician, said "It is in Joe's best interests not to attend."

Louis won the heavyweight championship on June 22, 1937 knocking out James J. Braddock. He retired from the ring March 1, 1949.

He had faced 71 professional opponents and bested 68 of them losing only to Max Baer, Gene Eward Charles and Rocky Marciano.

Frank Fontes, one of the country's outstanding placekickers, has signed a football scholarship to attend Florida State University. The Perth Amboy, N.J., resident attended Ferrum Junior College in Ferrum, Va., last year. He will be eligible to kick for the Seminoles this fall.

Moon Isn't Made Of Green Cheese... Or Is It?

Science Today
By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Apollo lunar landings provided fairly convincing evidence that the moon is not made of green or any other color or kind of cheese.

But all the evidence is not yet in and won't be until after additional Apollo visits planned by the National Aeronautics Administration (NASA).
"So it may be too early to assert dogmatically that the 17th century rumor about the cheese-like nature of the moon matter entirely was false.

In a recent issue of Science magazine, Edward Schreiber and Orson L. Anderson of the Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory, Palisades, N.Y., addressed themselves to this issue.

"They didn't come right out and say the moon is made of cheese. But they did suggest, supporting their arguments with a table, a chart, and 14 references and notes, that it behaves in a decidedly cheesy manner."
One of the ways of analyzing rocks is to observe the velocity of sound waves passing through them. In looking over results of moon sample studies, Schreiber and Anderson made a "startling" discovery.
The velocity of sound through moon rocks is roughly only a third that in rocks of the earth. So they made a search of earthly materials yielding similar sound velocities.

These materials turned out to be an assortment of Swiss, Norwegian, Italian, Vermont, and Wisconsin cheeses. The scientists emphasized that they didn't go into the question of cheese for comparison purposes. They merely listed a broad geographic distribution in order to preclude any bias that might be introduced by regional sampling.
The green cheese hypothesis is variously credited to the Dutch scholar Desiderius Erasmus (1466-1536), the English author John Heywood (1497-1595), and a fellow named John Frith who mentioned the matter in 1589.

Schreiber and Anderson didn't go into the question of why nobody is sure of just when Erasmus and Heywood were born or who John Frith was. But they did not knock the notion these gents severely noted.
Schreiber and Anderson said their late 20th century findings make them "suspect that perhaps the old hypotheses are best, after all, and should not be lightly discarded."
There were one or two small discrepancies between the lunar rock and earthly cheese sound velocity results. But they did not worry Schreiber and Anderson.
These small differences, the scientists said, "may readily be accounted for when one considers how much better aged the lunar materials are."

National Student Prexy Predicts More Unrest

By GALE TOLLIN
Associated Press Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The president of the National Student Association predicted today the coming academic year will see an increase in campus activism. "Much tougher and much more locally centered," Charles Palmer said in an interview he couldn't anticipate the specific patterns of increased student protest. But he said he was sure much effort would be directed against the Vietnam war, racism, pollution and corporations which manufacture war goods or contribute to contamination of the environment.
"U.S. military involvement in Cambodia this year made college people a little harder, a little tougher, a little more cynical about the responsiveness of the political system, a little more cynical about how the political process is dealt with in this country," said Palmer, of East Los Angeles, Calif.

"Next year will see a redefining of activism," said the 25-year-old graduate of the University of California at Berkeley. The NSA is holding its annual congress here.
The NSA says it has chapters on 300 college and university campuses and claims to be the nation's largest student organization. Its membership is counted by chapter, rather than by student.
"The exact thrusts depend upon what happens externally," Palmer said. "Let us become reactionary, we'll have to respond to what the President and other people are doing."
But he said there is bound to be activity against government, and it may include some directed at state governments, at mayors and at campus administrations. It will all depend upon what issues arise, Palmer said. Without recommending any one line of campus activism, Palmer said the time has come

FBI Reports On Crime Shows National Climb

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of pistols, rifles and shotguns by Americans has increased dramatically since 1964, the Federal Bureau of Investigation says.
Two out of every three murder victims in 1969 were gunned down, and one out of every four assaults involved a firearm, the FBI reported Wednesday in crime statistics for the past calendar year.
Murders and nonnegligent manslaughter claimed a total of 14,590 lives—including those of 86 law enforcement officers—in the United States during 1969, a 7 per cent increase over calendar year 1968.
Aggravated assaults, running the gamut from nonfatal shootings to sluggings, totaled 306,420 during 1969, up 8.5 per cent over 1968.

Guns were used in 63 per cent of the murders and 24 per cent of the aggravated assaults, the FBI said. Between 1964 and 1969, use of guns in murders went up 80 per cent and use of guns in assaults went up 143 per cent, the FBI said.
There were 178,500 armed robberies in 1969, up 14 per cent over 1968. Two out of every three victims looked into the barrel of a gun as they surrendered their money or valuables, the FBI said. All armed robbery rose 137 per cent between 1964 and 1969.

Symposium Proposed On Nuclear Power

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission called today for a "priority effort" to learn more about the effects of nuclear and fossil fuel power plants on the environment.
Commissioner James T. Ramey told a joint U.N.-U.S. symposium that ways must be found to minimize any significant adverse effects.

The symposium also received a study of nuclear plants in the United States and of the effects of pouring heated water into the environment, which concludes that the information necessary to effectively evaluate plant locations is "lacking or inadequate."
The symposium on environmental aspects of nuclear power plants is being held at U.N. headquarters by the International Atomic Energy Agency and the AEC.
"We know," Ramey said, "that steam electric power plants, whether fossil or nuclear fueled, are the most effective means for producing electricity, especially in the large blocks that are needed in industrialized nations."
"But as efficient as these plants are, they all do have some impact on the environment. We must gain a better understanding of the environmental effects peculiar to each type of steam electric plant and devise means to minimize any by-products of energy production which could have significant adverse effects on our environment. This must be our priority effort."

Ramey said such methods as regional planning for locating plants sites and early public hearings can help reach a balance between the public interest in power on one hand and the environment on the other.

Religious Battles Rage In Northern Ireland

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Roman Catholics in Londonderry, battling British troops for four hours early today, but the troops and barricades of barbed wire prevented a repetition of last year's bloody Aug. 12 religious warfare.
The rioting in Londonderry's Bogside district erupted just before midnight, after a day of Protestant parades in other parts of the city celebrating a 17th century Protestant victory over the Catholics.
Militant Catholics who had been penned in the Bogside all day opened up on the soldiers just before midnight with barrages of rocks, bottles and gasoline bombs.
Crushing behind riot shields, the troops fired about 50 rounds of their latest anti-riot weapon—six inch rubber bullets intended to cripple the legs. They scattered the rioters for only a brief time. The rioters regrouped for another round, and the soldiers responded with volleys of tear gas, filling the winding streets with clouds of choking smoke.
Three soldiers and one civilian were reported injured. Casualties among the rioters were not known. The Catholics held their own first aid stations deep inside their district.
The riot was a backlash reaction to the parade through Londonderry Tuesday of more than 6,000 Protestant men who marched in bowler hats and gaudy sashes to drum and life commemorating the lifting of a Catholic siege of Londonderry in 1689.

Last year's parade touched off fighting between the Bogside rioters and the Protestants which spread across Northern Ireland and has broken out again and again since, with more than a score killed and hundreds wounded.
This year, double barricades of barbed wire and thousands of troops and police kept the Catholics away from the parading Protestants. Although the government had banned the parade, the security forces did not try to stop the marchers because there was no confrontation between the two religious factions.
Sir Arthur Young, Northern Ireland's chief of police, said it was the attorney general's responsibility to "decide what is a procession." He said the names of some of the marchers had been recorded, and the attorney general would decide whether they should be prosecuted.

Only two brief incidents were reported.

Wedding Announcements

Fleming-Lyon

Miss Penny Jo Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Adam Fleming, Jr., Lake Jessup Terrace, Sanford, and Thomas Edward Lyon, son of Mrs. Florence Lyon, 2420 S. Elm Ave., and the late Lyon Lyon, were united in Holy Matrimony July 16, 1970 at 6:30 a.m. at the Central Baptist Church, Sanford.

The pastor, Rev. Freddie Smith, was officiating minister at the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with a profusion of palms. Four were placed across the front of the church accented by two standing baskets of large white mums, white g.adioli and greenery. In the center was a large white wrought iron arch entwined with baby's breath and greenery, flanked by two seven branched candelabra with tall white tapers and greenery.

Family pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows and a white sate card was used for the wedding party's entrance.

Mrs. Janet Korzan, organist, presented a program of appropriate nuptial selections accompanied soloist, Miss Paty Thompson, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of imported white organza and Chantilly lace. The Empire bodice featured a high scalloped neckline and Juliet sleeves with tiny satin bows. The A-line silhouette flowed from a triple sate bow at the front waistline and a double panel of matching scalloped gave the front a redingote effect and completely encircled the hemline.

A Chapel train swept from the Watsons back which was centered with a matching sate bow and streamer. Her double tier Queen's crown of Chantilly lace points, seed pearls and tpe cut crystals held a three tier fingertip veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of white carnations, real lilies-of-the-valley and sath ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Harriett Hill, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Cheryl Johnson was bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical formal length gowns of mint green crystalline organza lined with yellow pean de sole from the high round neckline to the skirt which were softly gathered at the waist.

Englehardt - McLain

By LEE MATHIEUX
Miss Barbara Ann Englehardt, daughter of Mrs. Connie Englehardt of Cocoa, and Daryl Gene McLain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLain of Sanford, were united in Holy Matrimony, Saturday, June 27, at 8:00 p.m. by Rev. B. Hamilton Griffin in the North Park Baptist Church of Orlando in a double ring, candlelight ceremony.

A profusion of potted green palms, two floor standards containing an assortment of white gladioli, carnations and large white standard chrysanthemums along with two spiral brass floor candelabra and an arch of brass which contained long-burning cathedral tapers were used as a background for the spoken vows.

The bridal couple chose the pried dies upon which they knelt for their final vows and the benediction.

Darwood Sattwire, organist presented an appropriate selection of wedding airs and accompanied soloist, Mrs. Joseph E. Mathieux who presented "Because" and "Always." He also accompanied Rev. Griffin who sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the final benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used.

The family pews were marked with large white sate bows. The lovely bride, who was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Mr. William Shaw, chose for her wedding a formal gown of imported organza over Peau de sole which featured a formal waistline and a bodice of imported Venise lace with a cascade of white roses, lily of the valley and white carnations which came to a

Couple Married 25 Years

By MARYANN MILES
Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Fetter of Maitland, formerly of Altamonte Springs, were the guests of honor at a "surprise party" following the Wednesday night Bible study at the Altamonte Springs Seventh-day Adventist Church. The occasion was their 25th wedding anniversary.

The Fetters were married Aug. 5, 1945, in Battle Creek, Mich. by Elder E. L. Pingston, in the Seventh-day Adventist tabernacle. From here they moved to New Market, Va. After seven years, they again went back to Battle Creek, stayed there for ten years, then on to Altamonte Springs for four years and have recently moved to Maitland. They have one daughter, Sandra Diane, and a son, Kerry.

Mrs. Fetter is head of the Health and Welfare of the church. Mr. Fetter is regional manager for the Ken Manufacturing Corporation from Atlanta, Ga.

Answers to other questions, however, showed only a widening generation gap. A belief that the gap is now the greatest ever was the sole other point of agreement.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Meyer and Mrs. Florence Meyer of Sanford, and Mrs. Margery Deppen of Casselberry, have had summer house guests including the following family members: Mrs. Cliff Oval, Oregon, Ohio; Mrs. Charles Popke, Monroeville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Glumm, Clyde, Ohio; David Pittino, Salem, Oregon; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voigt and family, S. N. dusky, Ohio.

During their visit, the houseguests enjoyed a family picnic and exploring the sights in Florida.

Mrs. Charles Benham and Mrs. Beel Henson cut and served the cake and Mrs. Robert I. Brison poured punch.

Mrs. McLain chose a gold and navy suit for her honeymoon and a corsage of white roses, lily of the valley and white carnations which were furnished by a wide band of white lace and a cascade of satin ribbons.

As the bride approached the altar, she paused for a brief moment and handed her mother and the mother of the groom one perfect long-stemmed red rose which she followed with a kiss.

Dan Cupid Scores In Renewal Of 56 Year-Old Romance

By DORIS WILLIAMS
After 56 years, Fred Smith, 79-year-old Deltona retiree, poses at a Daytona, Wash. nursing home with his fiancée of 56 years ago, Mrs. Ruth Winnett, an accomplished pianist. They were recently reunited after being married... but not to each other... for nearly 56 years. Cupid is working overtime for the happy couple... and according to the story-book romance currently in process... "they'll live happily ever after."

Winnett was born in Walla Walla, Wash. At the time Fred, a native of Ontario, Canada, was a pastry specialist in a hotel when he met Ruth Loeber. They became engaged but somehow "things just didn't work out."

Ruth later married Leslie Winnett of Walla Walla, Wash. and they lived on a ranch near there for 45 years. He died in 1907, just eight days before their golden wedding anniversary.

Fred left Walla Walla in 1914. Quite the showman, he took to the road where he appeared in minstrel, including Hollywood, Calif. for awhile. He traveled extensively, later married in Canada and moved to Detroit, Mich., where he and his wife lived from 1919 to 1927.

During the years, Fred worked in various capacities, engaged in real estate and fared quite well with investments.

The Smiths moved to Deltona in 1957. After flying here from Detroit, they purchased some property and Mrs. Smith died last November after the couple had been happily married for more than 49 years.

About three months ago, Fred began thinking about his first love and wrote to the Union Bulletin, Walla Walla, giving the newspaper Ruth's last known address. After research, a Union Bulletin editor located Mrs. Winnett and played the role of Cupid in reviving the 56-year-old romance.

Once again Fred put the cove on the road and flew to Walla Walla to visit Ruth who had written him she was ill and there was no point in making the trip.

The Deltonan wouldn't take "no" for an answer and arrived at the nursing home in Dayton while Ruth, who suffers from arthritis, was having lunch. She recognized him immediately.

"So it was that the romance was renewed and, once again, Fred "popped the question" from the sound of the situation, wedding bells will ring for the exuberant couple as soon as Fred can nurse Ruth back to health.

Not only is Mr. Smith a romanticist, but he feels that with an old-time remedy he has, that Ruth's health will be restored as if by magic.

"After all," he commented, "doesn't enduring love conquer all?"

Having a fun for travel, Fred has been around the world and returned not for long from another world tour. He mentioned a proposed trip to Norway at which I asked... "a honeymoon trip?"

His sparkling eyes nearly left their sockets as a broad grin spread over his face. I didn't get an answer!

In the meantime the proposed honeymoon plans to fly back to Washington, Aug. 19 to personally check-out his sweetheart's condition.

Ruth is now 77 and Fred will be 86 in December. It says love they will be bride and groom. White Fred is still in his 70's.

Who says romance and love die in later years? According to Fred, "It doesn't even fade away!"

Many Think Mass Transit Idea Could Make Nationwide Comeback

By ROBERT BUCKHORN
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mass transit, long ago jilted by the automobile-loving public, may be on the verge of a nationwide comeback.

On a downhill curve since World War II, the bus, the trolley, the streetcar and the commuter train now are being touted as the answer to such critical urban problems as smog and traffic jams.

This revival of interest in mass transit, comes none too soon. Since the number of passengers has dropped by one-third, over 235 bus and subway firms have gone out of business.

The Government support for mass transit is being cut. Two things combined to give mass transit a second chance. One is growing government support for mass transit projects. The other is a state of innovative ideas on how to move commuters with speed and comfort.

At the top of the idea list is the tracked air cushion vehicle. Propelled by an electric motor, this train-like vehicle rides over a guideway on a thin cushion of air and is capable of speeds up to 300 miles an hour.

Future? Not all France already has tested a working model. The Federal Railroad Administration begins its own tests next year at Pueblo, Colo. By late 1970s a 150-mile-a-hour vehicle may be in mile-an-hour version of the air cushion vehicle.

The Transportation Department is investigating the prospect of using these so-called train cars for mass transit and city-to-city travel. Operating as much as 1,500 feet underground, the trains would roll down ramps to stations, and then use a momentum and vacuum pressure to climb uphill.

Then there is the "SkyBus" system being used for DFL through commuters. Rolling on overhead tracks, the SkyBus cars tie downtown Pittsburgh to an outlying suburb. SkyBus is designed to be fully automated and controlled by a computer.

Other cities are using so-called "people-movers" to keep traffic moving from point to point in downtown areas and around massive airport terminals. The "Dashaveer," for example, consists of small, electric-powered units capable of carrying 20 to 34 passengers over a track at speeds of 80 miles an hour. It is being considered for use at a new Dallas airport.

While such exotic forms of transportation may be more eye-catching, for all but the largest cities in the United States, rapid transit usually means bus transportation.

Like the car, the bus is the victim of traffic jams. One solution to this is the reserved highway lane for buses. For example, under a federal-state project, one lane of Interstate 85 leading to Washington, D.C., from suburban Virginia, is now used exclusively by commuter buses during rush hours.

The subway, however, still is the only practical way to move large numbers of people rapidly through congested metropolitan areas. Washington is building a new subway system. In San Francisco, the $-mile Bay Area Rapid Transit, scheduled for operation in 1972, will provide modern cars with automated fare collection systems based on distance traveled. Chicago is making plans to replace its famed Loop elevated system with a subway.

By EDMOND L. BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A new foreign trade bill to curtail imports has been put together by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill was hammered together during weeks of controversy over such things as quotas on textiles and shoe imports. Officials were chary of predicting the impact of the measure on consumer prices in this country and on the United States' relations with its trading partners. For some 35 years the national policy has been to press for free exchange of goods.

There was agreement that any restriction of supply tends to raise the price of an article. Adding to the uncertainty in the possibility the Senate may try to make the bill even more restrictive. Its final shape will not be known until after the two branches of Congress name conferees to work out the ultimate language.

The measure gives Nixon some of the things he asked for and others—such as shoe quotas and a 10 percent tariff on imports of certain goods. It also gives him the authority to raise the tariff on imports of certain goods.

After a committee vote on final language Thursday, the bill heads for the House with action expected in September.

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Dissension in the ranks of the Casselberry Volunteer Fire Department has come to a head with the receipt of a letter by Mayor Curtis Blow and each member of the city council demanding an investigation of certain aspects of training, leadership and functions of the department.

The letter was signed by eight of the 25 volunteer firemen in the department and asked the council to look into the organization and training programs, public relations and educational programs as well as fire prevention, morale, and fire instructions and safety equipment.

Fire Chief Herman Joyce, chief since last October, but with 20 years experience as assistant chief, expressed complete surprise when informed of the letter.

"After all," he said, "we're a group of volunteers and you can only get them to do so much—you're lucky to get them to come out to a legitimate fire, let alone a fire."

New Foreign Trade Bill Will Curtail Imports

By EDMOND L. BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A new foreign trade bill to curtail imports has been put together by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill was hammered together during weeks of controversy over such things as quotas on textiles and shoe imports. Officials were chary of predicting the impact of the measure on consumer prices in this country and on the United States' relations with its trading partners. For some 35 years the national policy has been to press for free exchange of goods.

There was agreement that any restriction of supply tends to raise the price of an article. Adding to the uncertainty in the possibility the Senate may try to make the bill even more restrictive. Its final shape will not be known until after the two branches of Congress name conferees to work out the ultimate language.

The measure gives Nixon some of the things he asked for and others—such as shoe quotas and a 10 percent tariff on imports of certain goods. It also gives him the authority to raise the tariff on imports of certain goods.

After a committee vote on final language Thursday, the bill heads for the House with action expected in September.

Sanford Budget Chopped Away

Sanford City Commissioners, armed with a budget-cutting attitude, got down to serious business at last night's trimming session and chopped away money to operate the city's swimming pools and over half of the funds requested by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce for its 1970-71 operations.

By keeping the swimming pools closed, city saved $16,700 and by tentatively clipping $14,200 from the chamber funding, the commission indicated it would be willing to approve $10,000 for the chamber operation.

Observers believe this will not be the final chamber figure and expect the city to the amount by at least another $7,000 by the time the budget is finally adopted.

City faced a deficit of $422,970 at time City Manager W. E. Knowles submitted the unbalanced document which projected revenue at $1,896,000 with anticipated expenditures at $2,318,970.

Including last night's paring, the deficit dropped a total $216,163 to $206,807.

Other items deleted in the action included: $16,800 for a shop-building needed to house city equipment; $3,800 for new Civic Center stage curtains; $23,940 for a pulverizer and street sweeper at five years financing; $25,000 for a new borrow pit; $24,420 for new refuse paker on five-year financing, and $11,000 for aerial tile on five-year financing.

Not John's Plan Seminole Taxpayers Question Angel

By GARY TAYLOR
"Now let me get this straight young lady, this plan is not John Angel's and I don't want to hear about it," Rep. John Angel said last night at a meeting of the Seminole County Taxpayers Association.

Angel, the last speaker on the program, began his talk before 10:30 p.m. and the clock had already passed 11:30 when he finished a heated question and answer session.

Angel began by showing transparencies of the school board budget. He commented that he thought "this is what the taxpayers should be interested in."

But even before he had shown the last of the budget transparencies, the people began to get restless. "Why don't you talk about what we want to talk about," asked one of the crowd, adding "boasting and exaggeration." To this, Angel replied, "This is something I thought you might be able to do something about. On the other, I'm not so sure you could do anything about it."

Many of the people present, estimated at 100, came in from the school board meeting. It was mainly this hard-core group that stayed till the end.

"I'm going to Tallahassee," were the words of Sheriff John Polk another of the main speakers. Polk told of his fight to keep his budget intact with his major point that of an attorney for the Sheriff's Department.

Cleveland was selected to represent the Sheriff's Department and they told me to use the county attorney. The county attorney is as busy as a bee," Polk pointed out that he had asked $1,500 for this attorney. This is the same figure the County Commission has paid for Mack Cleveland who will represent the county, when Polk takes his budget fight to Tallahassee.

Polk also pointed out the need for a juvenile detention home and a place to house the mentally ill.

"This is something I thought you might be able to do something about. On the other, I'm not so sure you could do anything about it."

Working Mothers Protest To Board

By BILL SCOTT
Working mothers from Goldboro showed up at last night's Seminole County School Board meeting to protest against the board's 1971 desegregation plan that requires hiring first, second and third graders from the predominantly black neighborhood school to Pinecrest and Lake Mary Elementary facilities.

Reason for the disagreement with the board's plan, approved during the meeting, was that the women, most of them are heads of families with several children, expressed concern over having to leave for work before 7 a.m. and leave their children alone "on the street" until the bus came along and picked up the children.

The county commissioners authorized transfer of $3,000 from expenses other than salaries to the capital outlay account for purchase of the van. However, a joint resolution is needed in expenditures over $1,500 and Urban was requested to refer the matter to the Lake Mary Department.

The influx of new voter registration in the county was evidenced when Mrs. Camille Bruce, Supervisor of registration, requested utilization of two graphotype machines from the tax assessors office, on a temporary basis, for name plates for new registrations. Mrs. Bruce stated that it would be necessary to make between 1,000-2,000 new plates. Commissioners authorized the use, with the addition of an expenditure of $200.

Maintenance of Big Tree Park also came under the consideration of the commission. Problems still exist in the park relative to drainage and the road department was authorized to clean the drainage ditches and replace curbs. Commissioner Robert Parker also suggested that it would be advantageous to haul shell to the park for the walkways, and this was authorized by the commission.

Paving Question Gets Discussion

To pave or not to pave? That was the question in the minds of the Seminole County School Board during last night's meeting. The board is scheduled to approve paving its property on Pine Street in Sanford's Georgetown area to pave those city streets.

Walter Teague, school finance officer, informed the board that the bid for paving had been scheduled for property owners in that area by the city before going ahead with plans to assess extra taxes to provide for paving Georgetown's north-south streets.

City plans to assess property owners on both sides of the streets and since the board owns the Seminole Community Action agency is headquartered, the city would be assessed $3,000 for its share of the costs.

Jean Bryant, board member, suggested having Hugh Carlson, school aide, appear at the scheduled hearing and vociferously object to the assessing procedures. This motion passed with only Pat Buse, board member, voting against the measure. Buse said he would like to see the city pave the streets.

A discussion arose over giving the board property to Seminole Community Action and thus avoid the problems, but this was finally discarded since it was felt that government funded agencies like the action group could not own property.

Board Chairman Tom Naugle commented until he could meet with Mayor Blow but it promised to "look into and return to you" the problem to the best of his ability.

Mayor Blow told the board that as far as community relations go, Casselberry Volunteer Fire Department has the best in the area. He added that as the council had also been requested to investigate it was now their prerogative.

Casselberry Firemen Complain To Council

Dissension in the ranks of the Casselberry Volunteer Fire Department has come to a head with the receipt of a letter by Mayor Curtis Blow and each member of the city council demanding an investigation of certain aspects of training, leadership and functions of the department.

The letter was signed by eight of the 25 volunteer firemen in the department and asked the council to look into the organization and training programs, public relations and educational programs as well as fire prevention, morale, and fire instructions and safety equipment.

Fire Chief Herman Joyce, chief since last October, but with 20 years experience as assistant chief, expressed complete surprise when informed of the letter.

"After all," he said, "we're a group of volunteers and you can only get them to do so much—you're lucky to get them to come out to a legitimate fire, let alone a fire."

County Sanitarian Val Robbins, in a report to the County Commission upon exit requirements at the Seminole Turf Club, has stated that it appears that the facility will meet all requirements by the deadline tomorrow.

Robbins told the commission that the 21 stables, six are remaining open during the "off" season used for training of the horses. Robbins continued that the work force had been doubled at the track, and that as of Aug. 10, 38 per cent of the stables had been cleaned and had passed inspection, and 10 per cent had been sprayed.

The Aug. 15 deadline had encompassed spraying and cleaning of the stables which will not be used in training season.
