

Joan Foster, Bride

By Alice Ross Colver

SYNOPSIS
After a long and arduous courtship, Joan Foster and Todd Hunter had set a date for their wedding. It will be held on May 21, 1954, at the home of Joan's mother, school teacher, Mrs. Joan Foster Foster, at 1000 N. W. 1st St., in New Jersey. The bride is the daughter of the minister and has a gentle, pleasant mother. Her father is a simple, kind man who loves his wife and daughter. It is their wish that they be united in matrimony.

CHAPTER SEVEN

"AND NOW," Joan said, "you're going to live over at the manse."
Betty nodded. "Mike and I started our married life that way. We had just one room at mother's, not even our own kitchen. Of course, it was home to me, so I didn't really mind. But I was glad when we could get an apartment the next year."
Betty had come out to spend the day with Joan and talk over plans for the wedding. It was nearly May now and the place had never been more beautiful. The water was out in full bloom, its fragrance filling the air everywhere. The apple blossoms were pink on the trees and all the azaleas in the garden alongside the porch were in thick bud. Joan wished she were having her wedding this month, but that would have rushed things a bit. Besides, it was better to wait until Ed had finished the term at Columbia, for then they could have a honeymoon of nearly three weeks before he had to start in on his summer work there.
The two girls were sitting on the screened veranda, where Betty's little girl was playing in a small area near them which they had roped off with chairs and a table. She was a good child, demanding no attention but inevitably receiving it because of her engaging ways and looks. She had red hair, like Mike's, in ringlets all over her head, and great eyes that were similar to Betty's in their size and in the curling sweep of their fringing lashes. But Betty's were gray while little Beth's were a deep dark brown. For the rest, she was plump and dimpled and happy, as most babies who are greedily loved and wisely cared for are apt to be. Joan could hardly keep her gaze from her as she scooped and gurgled in a jargon all her own to the tummy and leg doll that Betty had brought along for her.
Joan went on.
"I'll take you over later and show you the rooms we're to have. But if Mrs. Hunter says to you, as she can't to exercise class, I'm so glad we're going to have a" daughter in our house. All my life I've wished for a daughter and it's wonderful to think we're going to have one—I really think I'll scream."

"She probably will," Betty answered miffily, "because she probably is."
"I know that those words sometimes ring a portentous bell in my ears. You see," Joan suggested for faint anxiety from her. "It's a faring, anyway. Todd's father, I mean. A little on the frigid side physically—the heart. But you'd never guess it because he never mentions it. Let's talk about the wedding, though. After all, that's what you came out for. What do you think of the date?"
"Well, I thought of Sue and Elaine, naturally, because they were in our crowd at college. But Sue's only due to arrive in August so that's out, and Elaine—I don't know whether I can count on her or not. She expects her second infant the last of this month and she's written me that she sure still has her old self again. You know, I can't make it. She'll be due, she says, and leave both children home. I know she'll be here if the possibility can be made out. You know how she feels about you, Joan."
"Yes," for a brief moment Joan's thoughts flashed back to those four college years when Elaine had been so much a part of her life. The time had been filled with storms and stresses as far as their relationship was concerned. Then, finally, during the Christmas holidays when they were both juniors, they had struck up a contented understanding. Joan had thought would meet forever. Instead, in her absence and absence and bitter pain, they had quarreled over Donald Barton the following summer. It was now all Joan's fault she admitted it now freely, but at the time she had blamed Elaine. Not until their senior year, a full year later, had the atmosphere really been cleared between them. Yet in spite of that, Elaine now always insisted that her happiness had really been given her by Joan.

"It was knowing you and the friendship you gave me that made me into the kind of person Donald could love," she had said.
"Poppycock, of course. Just the same, Betty was right. Elaine would certainly get here for the wedding."
Joan continued, "Well, okay. Elaine for one I could ask Johnny, I suppose. But she feels awkward in long dresses, Betty. You know she never would go to any dance of a thing that was formal at college. She always ducked out. I really don't believe I've ever seen her in anything but a tailored suit or a gym outfit."
Betty nodded.
"But," Joan drew a breath—"I sent an airmail to Pam. She was the girl I roomed with in Zurich—I wrote you all about her. Remember? She was the one who was married in Paris to Tim Blakelee. That was in the spring, just before Fred was taken ill. Well, they stayed over another year so Tim could study at the Sorbonne, but they're due back in June and I wrote her that she just had to get here in time to be a bridesmaid at my wedding. I'm waiting for her answer now."
"Good. I'm crazy to meet her." "You'll like her. She reminded me of Elaine a bit. They're both tall and dignified and sophisticated-looking." Joan paused. "I think I won't have more than three, Betty. If Sue could be with us, I'd ask Mary Hunt. She and her husband, Chuck, were the ones we went to Italy with, you know. But she's not sure she can come all the way from Kansas."
"Whatever you decide, Joan."
"Besides, I don't want a big formal wedding, and a lot of bridesmaids implies that I want as well—a cozy kind of wedding. Practically the whole town is going to be invited, though, so I don't know as cozy is the word."
Joan laughed and threw out her hands in the gesture of helplessness. "Honestly, the date of people we have? There's Mother's list and my list and the Hunter's list and Todd's list. We just can't say anyone. Not in Mapleton, at least. The two families have always lived here, you see. And of course Todd's father is known and loved by people both in and out of our church." She looked at Betty suddenly. "You were smart to stage your wedding in the college chapel, weren't you?"

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

ANY D L B A A X R
LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

WINN'S TV NEWS

Let me assure you, we are just as disappointed as you that WDBO-TV did not get on the air as planned. We are reprinting a letter that was just received from the station explaining the situation:

WDBO-TV
30 So. Ivanhoe Blvd.
Orlando, Florida
May 15, 1954

Gentlemen:
Here is an up-to-date progress report on WDBO-TV. The fact that we will be unable to make our last published target date of May 15th, is as much a disappointment to us as we know it is to you. Circumstances beyond our control may be a somewhat phrase, but in this case it is more than just an excuse.
Our TV antenna is complete, our building is being finished, much equipment is in place, and we are bending every effort both night and day, to make haste to reach the air with our test pattern by the first week in June.
Commercial programming will begin as soon as a feasible test pattern transmission proves out.
Your continued interest in our problems and the resultant schedule of programs is appreciated.
When we reach the air, we will be using our full power of 100,000 watts.
(Signed)
Walter E. Sickles
Director for Television

We have had a big demand recently for used 12", 14" and 17" table models. If you own one of these and have thought of trading it in on a larger set, now is the time to trade. We are offering top trade in allowances, as high as $200.00 on a 24 inch Console.

Whether you want a Philco, a G.E. or an Admiral, we have a large selection to choose, and remember, on our sets, you get free of extra charge, 90 day guarantee on all parts, 90 days labor, and 1 full year guarantee on your pleasure tube.
For a limited time, everyone who comes in to see the new Philco 2-way door refrigerator, will receive, free of charge, a beautiful plastic napkin holder.

Candidate States Segregation Edict Doesn't Apply Here

TAMPA (AP)—J. Tom Watson, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against school segregation "is not applicable in its present status" in Florida.
Watson, Tampa lawyer and former attorney general of Florida, said yesterday state officials should take the opportunity of intervening in Supreme Court arguments slated on the issue next fall.
Watson said in a statement that Florida was not one of the four states which were parties to the segregation suit in which the Supreme Court ruling was made.
He said Florida has a constitutional provision making segregation legal, which has been upheld by the Florida Supreme Court.
"The Supreme Court of the United States has consistently re-

Segregation Found But One Problem Of Schools In South

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—If groves and whites were immediately reshuffled throughout the South's school system "the same general deficiencies in physical facilities, teacher training, curricula and the like would exist."

This is one of several conclusions set forth in the most intensive non-partisan study of school segregation ever undertaken in the nation. It was made by the fund for the advancement of education, formed by the Ford Foundation, and made public recently.

Entitled "The Negro and the Schools," the study is the result of research by some 50 educators, sociologists and economists. It is written by Harry S. Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock, Ark.

In such a reshuffling of white and Negro students in the South, says the study, "abstract justice might be achieved, in that the deficit would fall evenly upon members of both races, but the overall standard of public education would not be materially improved."

The study does not recommend changes but describes existing conditions in many sections of the country. The foundation made Ashmore's book available to newspapers and periodicals for unrestricted use. Following are some of its highlights:

"The South is only now reaching the point where there are enough classrooms and enough teachers to meet the minimum demand of its children for education. There has been general discrimination against Negroes, it is true, but it could have been corrected only by pouring additional money into the total system or by lowering the standards of white schools."

"If at any point in the past discrimination had been wiped out by total integration the effect would have been that some Negroes would have gone to better schools and some whites to worse—but no appreciable economies would have resulted to make additional funds available for improvement of the total system."

"Southern schoolmen 'have had to recognize—as the public often has not—that the gap between white and Negro schools is only one aspect of the region's total problem, and that there is no way that it can be considered apart from the overall deficiencies of the Southern school system."

"The general disparity between white and Negro schools has its counterpart in the inequalities between urban and rural schools in the South. In every state there are counties in which the best white school by any standard of comparison is inferior to the worst Negro schools in the larger cities. And the educational problems of the rural South have been increased by recent population trends, which in the decade after 1940 saw a loss of 4,200,000 people in the farm areas of the 13 states."

The states are Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

"Recent improvements in the South's rural schools have only begun to scratch the surface of the accumulated deficiencies. Between 1940 and 1952 the gap between per pupil instruction expenditures in metropolitan and rural counties widened from $20 to $44, and in capital outlay from approximately $2 to almost $37."

While Negro "equalization," considered in the perspective of the total needs of the South's school system, "would become a secondary item in a budget that also looks into account the increasing school population, urban-rural equalization, and a modest degree of general improvement."

"If the South undertook to meet all of these needs by 1962, its total school bill in that year would amount to about 2 1/2 billion dollars, an increase of more than 50 per cent over the 1951-52 figure."

"Could the South afford these costs? The answer is yes—if its income continues to rise at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent a year, and if it continues to spend 3 1/2 per cent of its income on public schools."

Outside the South "the most conspicuous generalization is that segregated schools are now principally the product of a larger pattern of separation of the races."

Negroes migrating from the South have most often settled in the decaying hearts of cities. A striking example of this is Chicago where about half a million Negroes are jammed into 11 square miles of the South Side.

"In Chicago it can be demonstrated that segregated housing has not only made for segregated education, but for inferior education. The schools in or near the Negro neighborhoods are the oldest in the entire system, and provide the least adequate physical facilities."

In the words of Dr. V. G. Fausch, superintendent of schools in Columbus, Ohio: "If integration of races is a by-product of establishing better schools, then we shall have integration of races. I can see no good reason for drawing district lines just to create integration any more than to create segregation."

The book then states: "This issue is not likely to be resolved soon, but those on both sides can agree that segregation in education in the non-South will not be eliminated so long as rigidly segregated residential patterns survive."

In communities where educational integration of whites and Negroes has been carried out under permissive or mandatory state laws a variety of techniques have been used.

In Tucson, Ariz., for example, where the Negro population is small, it was accomplished at one stroke. In Phoenix, on the other hand, it was approached gradually, beginning with kindergarten and the first three grades.

"The most important factor in integration of the public schools in the non-South, finally, is community attitudes. It is axiomatic that separate schools can be merged only with great difficulty, if at all when a great majority of the citizens who support them are actively opposed to the move. No other public activity is so closely identified with local mores."

Bruney, Dachshund Cares For Duck

OMAHA (AP)—There's just one thing that makes Bruney, the dachshund, a little sore. That's when Punch, the Easter duckling, decides he's a dog and books on to one of Bruney's bones.

Otherwise Bruney has taken the job of raising Punch in stride. He's been doing so ever since Judy, another Easter duckling at the John Wagner home, died. Bruney washes Punch's feathers and even permits him to dip his bill in the dogfood, drawing the line only at bones.

At night the Wagners put Punch in a box. The duckling's squeaks of protest bring Bruney running. The dog tips over the box and the friends retire to Bruney's rug.

Science and Your Health

THE THREE-PART EAR

1 Outer ear collects sound waves. 2 Middle ear transmits waves. 3 Inner ear controls balance.

4 Sharp objects can damage ear. 5 Consult doctor for ear pains.

By Science Features

Most people think the ear is simply that shell-like thing seen on both sides of the head. But actually it's a complicated mechanism that, like an iceberg, has more to it than meets the eye. Behind what you see are two internal parts essential to hearing: the middle ear and the inner ear. The external or visible ear collects sound waves and directs them through a canal to the drum. These waves vibrate against the drum and the impulses are picked up on the other side by the middle ear. The vibrations are then transmitted through the inner ear to the brain. In addition to its role in hearing, the inner ear also acts as the organ of balance that is responsible for any feeling of dizziness or nausea when the body undergoes rapid, unusual movements.

The delicate mechanism of the three-part ear are very sensitive to infection and, since the ear is open from the outside, many diseases can enter. For example one common ear ailment is caused by an infection of the mastoid. These cells in the middle ear become inflamed and fill up with a fluid that turns into pus, producing pain and fever and hampering hearing. Remarkable control of this infection has been obtained through the use of antibiotics. Three British physicians found terramycin highly effective when applied to 41 cases of mastoiditis. The drug dried up the fluid and cleared the infection in 83% of the patients. Prior to the use of antibiotics, operations were necessary to remove the infected mastoid cells and to drain the pus.

Unemployment Up In Factories

Unemployment in Southeastern factories (including Florida) rose again for the sixth consecutive month to reach a high of 1,921,000 in March, according to a report received from the U. S. Labor Department. This report raised the total of unemployment by 6,800, more than listed in February's report. Most of the layoffs occurred in Florida, Virginia and the Carolinas the reports states. He says this could lead to setting up a warm and sympathetic relationship between parent and child which would be important in the entire development of the child.

Youngster Tries To Swat Bees

RICHMOND, Va. — Roger Clark's mother told him about the bees recently. A little early, maybe — Roger's only 6 — but just in the nick of time, at that. Leaving home to go to Sunday school, Roger suddenly noted "a whole bunch of bees" on the front porch. He rushed back in the kitchen for a fly swatter. Armed with not one, but two, such weapons he hustled back outside and opened fire with two swats — both, fortunately, missed — before Mama showed up and straightway whisked him out of range. "They weren't bees" — they were bees. A whole swarm of 'em.

American Horse Rated Favorite In English Race

SEPMARKET, England, (AP) — Cecil Boyd-Rochfort pointed at a massive bodied, 16-hand colt heath just after dawn today and said: "That's the American, Ambler II. He's favored for the Epsom Derby. If he wins next month it will be the most ironical thing that ever happened in horse racing. "I trained William Woodward's horses for 23 years with the one big object of winning the English derby at Epsom. I never managed to win the derby for that fine old American gentleman. "Last year Mr. Woodward died. Now here we are less than a year later with one of his horses, Ambler II, top favorite to win the race the old gentleman wanted so badly. "Ambler now belongs to William Woodward, Jim and from the looks of him he's capable of becoming the second best in history to bring the New York Stock Exchange to a dead stop. "Seventy three years ago an American horse won the English derby. The stewards quit work to celebrate as did the horse crowd all across America. The winner was Inouquois. The owner was tobacco magnate Pierre Lauroillard. The year was 1878. No American-bred American-owned horse since Inouquois has won the English derby. "An Ambler victory over Epsom's "shape-a-hilly" mile and a half track June 2, would rate just as high in racing as Ben Hogan's victory in the British Open last summer does in golf. "Never fear that Ambler can't win the derby," trainer Boyd-Rochfort said after the dawn-to-breakfast exercise on the historic heath in Cambridgeshire. At recent odds callers he was a 6-1 favorite. "When Mr. Woodward died last year in New York his son was preparing to sell off all his father's horses in England. Someone in America asked him if he really planned to sell such a fine horse as Ambler. "Young Mr. Woodward telephoned me from America. I advised him to hold tight to Ambler and he agreed. "Ambler has perfect temperament. When he won the one mile Craven stakes in April he went to the winner's circle as quiet as he could be. He wasn't excited at all. The way he ran it was quite obvious that he's good for the derby distance of a mile and a half. "The colt was foaled at the Hancock stud in Kentucky and then went to Woodward's Belair stud farm in Maryland. Old Mr. Woodward himself selected him from a group of yearlings to send over here to me. "He wanted to win the Epsom Derby so much he always picked out the yearlings he thought were best. His judgement of horses was the best I ever saw. We never won the derby but we won the one thousand guineas, the St. Ledger twice and the Epsom Oaks classics. "Ambler is the last of the Woodward horses here at Freemason Lodge stables. What irony it would be if he won."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q: I'm a World War II veteran who went back on active duty after Korea. When I did so, I put my National Service Life Insurance premiums under waiver. I've just been separated, and I understand that the waiver will last for 120 days after my separation. However, I plan to go back into service again before the 120 days are up. Will I have to apply for another waiver of premiums?

A: No; there will be no need for you to apply for another waiver. So long as you re-enter service within the 120-day period, VA will continue to waive your premiums while you're on active duty — just as though you never had left the service.

Q: I am the widow of a World War I veteran, and I have applied for a VA pension. At the present time, I am in a nursing home. My husband is paying the expenses. In figuring my annual income, for pension purposes, must I include the cost of keeping me at the nursing home?

A: Money paid to the nursing home, to cover cost of maintaining you there, is not considered as income, for purposes of a VA pension.

Q: I want to go to school under the Korean GI Bill. Since I was discharged before August 20, 1952, I understand I'll have to begin before August 20 of this year. Would it be possible for me to file my application now, and begin class this coming fall?

A: No. Under the present law, you actually must begin your studies before the August 20 cut-off date. The filing of an application alone is not enough.

Q: I'd like to train in a foreign country under the Korean GI Bill. Will VA pay my way abroad and back?

A: No. You will have to pay your own travel. All you will receive from VA while you're in a monthly allowance to cover each month of training.

(Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando, Fla.)

Unwise Resolution

Republican Senator William E. Jenner and Democrat Pat McCarran have introduced a resolution calling for the severing of diplomatic relations between the United States and Soviet Russia. The Senators maintain that this action would inform the enslaved peoples of the earth that we no longer intend to negotiate with their oppressors or to recognize them as equals in the council of nations.

There can be no doubt that the resolution was inspired by a justified dislike of Communism and the policies of the Soviet Union. On the other hand it would be foolish and dangerous for us to adopt such a resolution.

As long as official relationships between the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. remain intact official correspondence and communication are possible. This makes it easier for us to register complaints and to refute Communist propaganda and to know what to expect of future Soviet policy.

If we were to sever relations the Russians would exploit the move as notice that the United States wants war and is unwilling to negotiate for peace. A great many countries which are on our side at present would be antagonized by what might seem a deliberate refusal to seek ways to avoid war.

It is necessary from time to time to re-evaluate our foreign policies and to take drastic action when it is called for. It would be unwise, however, to take drastic action without some guarantee that our position would be strengthened by it. There is no indication that the Jenner-McCarran resolution would do anything but weaken it.

An Alliance Sought

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is seeking a Southeast Asia alliance which might yet block the Communist drive in Indo-China. The idea could develop along lines similar to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which has acted as a deterrent to Communist aggression in Korea.

If the talks at Geneva fail to bring a reasonable settlement in Indo-China the prospects for such an alliance will be brighter. Any country which became a member of a Southeast Asia alliance would be aware that it might mean having to intervene in Indo-China. But they would also know that their mutual strength might make the Reds more reasonable and eager to make peace.

Secretary of State Dulles, who has the full approval of the President in his statements and actions, has decided to face certain risks at this time rather than to stand aside now only to have a show-down later.

No matter what happens in Indo-China a Southeast Asia alliance can prove useful. The combined might of the participating countries can serve notice that the path of aggression in the future will be a costly and disastrous one. The Reds seem to respect

Frederic March Former Bank Teller

NEW YORK (U)—In 1926 a young bank teller named Frederick Bickel got paid $7 for a single day's work as an extra in a silent movie. Overwhelmed at this vista of sudden wealth, Bickel decided he was tired of counting other people's money and went adventuring into the world of the theater.

Some of the other tellers naturally thought Bickel was crazy to give up a nice warm job in a cage for an actor's hungry freedom. But in this case the banking world lost a handsome teller—and gained an even more handsome depositor.

By 1937 Frederick Bickel was known by sight to more people than J. P. Morgan—under the name of Frederic March. A U. S. Treasury Department report listed him as having the nation's 61st largest earned income—$444,887.

Today March, a veteran of some 50 plays and 24 motion pictures, is still handsome and youthful looking. But he and his equally talented wife, Florence Eldridge, have taken a long hard look at the years behind, and the years ahead—and decided the rest of the journey should be more relaxing.

"They've had plenty of fun along the way and brought up two children, but they worked hard for both money and fame. We have no long term goals left now," March said. "We're tapering off. And my wife agrees it's about time."

"We're not even reading new plays. We're not looking for any. Right now I guess I'm theater only strength. Recognizing that fact means making ourselves strong enough to deal with them.

Super-Bomb

Whatever else the human race can do, it has not yet invented a destructive weapon equal to the forces of nature. The Russian newspaper Red Star recently made the rash assertion that an underground explosion of a hydrogen bomb would produce a blast like the most terrific volcanic eruption known, that which in 1883 destroyed the island of Krakatoa in the East Indies.

The rashness of Red Star's assertion is indicated by the fact the Krakatoa's explosive force equalled billions and perhaps trillions of tons of TNT. No hydrogen bomb could approach that. It would take thousands, perhaps tens of thousands of bombs, each with an energy of 20,000,000 tons apiece, to equal Krakatoa.

Evidently this is mere Russian idle boasting. The Russians can do many things, but there are limits.

Weapon Against Secrecy

When public officials refuse information to which the public is entitled, there may be a simple remedy. At the annual convention of the American Newspaper Association, A. V. Burrows, publisher of the St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette and News Press, reported that when city and county bodies withheld legitimate news, his paper ceased to publish the names of the officials. That brought results. It could work in other communities, too.

MILK — Rust in a pail could spoil a whole vat of milk. The soluble salts in iron rust cause new bacterial spores to form by the thousands when milk stands at room temperature.

Protecting milk from rust is especially important when the milk must take a lot of handling and heating.

IT'S IN THE BAG — Paper bags are turned out to the tune of forty million a day in the worlds largest bag factory at Savannah, Georgia, U.S.A.

Republican Says Reds Hampered

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (U)—Here's one Republican who wants to give Democratic former President Harry Truman "credit for trying to get the Communists for three years in Korea."

Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn), chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Far East and a longtime medical missionary in Asia, told the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs convention last night.

"If the Communists hadn't gotten tied up in Korea they would have gone directly to Indochina, and by this time, they would have it. During the Korean War, the truth of communism leaked out."

STEP UP—Senator George Smathers is expected to be named to the Senate Finance Committee to replace the late Clyde R. Hoey, of North Carolina who passed away last week. If this appointment is made, Senator Smathers will give up his seat on the Interstate and Insular Affairs Committee. But he will retain his place on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce and Small Business Committee.

AMERICA obviously stands for human rights and opportunities. Man is recognized as a child of God and stands above human institutions, as the Creator's supreme creation. Man has a right to life and to freedom. He has a right to impartial freedom before the law. He has a right to be free from oppression and free from crushing coercion. He has a right to work, to serve and to pursue happiness.

STILL HIGH MAN—For those who like comparisons, "He-coon" Bob Sikes has had a higher percentage of votes than any other state or district candidate for the past two Florida elections. For example, in the recent primary he beat his candidate by nearly eight to one.

CHANGES GOOD?—Congressman Jim Haley likes the outlook for his race in November. He just beat his Democratic opponent by about five to one and says he is confident of victory. He points out that there are 90,000 Democrats in his district and only 11,000 Republicans. His strongest county is DeSoto with only 25 registered Republicans and 4,123 registered Democrats. Besides that, "Smookey" Sutton, former Democratic mayor of Lakeland is running against him in a Republican turn-out deal that isn't exactly calculated to win him any Democratic votes.

BIG ROAD PLAN—Road Chairman Cecil M. Webb was back in town this week to push his nationwide road building plan. He attended a meeting of the Florida Congressional Delegation, sitting with representatives of the National Bureau of Roads. Under Webb's plan, the Federal Government would take the lead in financing a huge highway construction program. Among other money to be granted, the government would turn over to the states the present two-cent Federal gasoline tax.

Investigation's Future Uncertain

WASHINGTON (U)—Even Thurston the magician would get uneasy trying to watch the rabbit to see what he did in in the Senate investigation of the Army-McCarthy fight.

The hearings, which started April 22, seemed all but dead last Monday after they were shut down for a week. They're supposed to start up again next Monday. That's no sure bet.

The inquiry began as an attempt to find out who was lying—Secretary of the Army Stevens and his aides or Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and his aides—in their heated basket of charges and countercharges.

But now McCarthy says that from his viewpoint "the all-important thing is the motive—who started this, who is responsible for the Army charges."

Sen. McCarthy yesterday said he was responsible. He'll probably have to repeat that under oath. If and when he does, McCarthy may say he's still not convinced.

If he insists finding the motive takes precedence over finding the truth or falsity of the charges, he may use it as a reason for walking out without testifying.

No one yet has explained how the Senate subcommittee making the investigation could force McCarthy to testify or even attend the inquiry if he didn't want to. He couldn't be arrested and brought in.

McCarthy is in Washington on Senate business. And under the Constitution no senator can be arrested while serving as a senator except for treason, a felony or a breach of the peace.

McCarthy is in Washington on Senate business. And under the Constitution no senator can be arrested while serving as a senator except for treason, a felony or a breach of the peace. However, he has never said he wouldn't testify, and he has taken the stand once briefly already.

Yet after all this time only two of the main witnesses—Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams—have been called on for full testimony and neither of them has finished yet.

Four main witnesses remain to be called: McCarthy; his subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn; his chief of staff, Francis P. Carr; and H. Strive Hensel, assistant secretary of defense.

Before they ever finish, if the hearing lasts that long, squads of other witnesses undreamed of now may be pulled into the case.

Nevertheless, Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), acting subcommittee chairman, who said the hearings will begin again Monday, predicted they'd wind up in about 10 days after that.

That may turn out to be as before the hearings started the

Herlong Reports

By SYD HERLONG
In this first news letter since the primary I hasten to express my sincere appreciation for the wonderful vote of confidence you gave me. It is an inspiration for me to work harder than ever for the best people in the state.

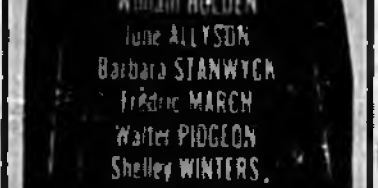

Executive sessions are now being held in the Committee on Agriculture. The general question is the rigid versus flexible price supports. I am naturally pressing for the adoption of the Herlong Farm Bill, which provides for flexible supports, but with a cushion to prevent the change-over from causing too great a shock to our economy.

All of us must realize that we can't continue building up huge surpluses with high support prices. Unless we get away from it gradually we will some day be faced with a complete collapse of our farm economy. Surely the consumers too have an interest in this legislation, as they pay the high prices for the food they eat. I have some support on the Committee, but most of the members are from high price support areas. The result no doubt will be a fight on the floor of the House. My bill will, I believe, receive much greater support than I expect.

I want to publicly thank the hundreds of people who wrote, wired, and called me extending congratulations after the election. I will write you all, but we are so swamped with work in the office now that we haven't been able to get all of them out yet.

Symptoms of Ulcers

By HERMAN M. BUNDEVELT, M.D.
MEN and women suffer from completely different symptoms when they have ulcers.

In men, the pain of an ulcer is quite typical in most instances. It is usually a severe gnawing pain below the ribs that is relieved following eating and then recurs an hour or two following the food intake. The pain is often helped by taking baking soda or by eating food.

Ulcers in Women
It is interesting to note that women do not suffer the same type of symptoms as men when they have ulcers.

In many instances, women have odd complaints which do not seem in any way to be those of an ulcer. However, a diagnosis of ulcer is finally made after extensive X-rays have been taken. In many instances, other nervous symptoms cloud over the ulcer symptoms to a great degree.

The severity of a woman's ulcer often is not enough to warrant surgery. However, extremely nervous women may have ruptured or severely bleeding ulcers in some few instances.

In most cases, women respond well enough to treatment, so that they do not suffer any future difficulty. Their symptoms can usually be controlled easily by diet and the new ulcer medicines given under the direction of the family physician.

Bleary eyes, women with ulcers are in need of psychiatric help in straightening out some emotional problem. When these emotional upsets are relieved, the ulcers usually do not recur.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mr. R. P.: What causes one's teeth to wear away? I am careful to keep my teeth in very excellent condition.

Answer: It is due to a disturbance known as dental erosion. It is believed that some chemical process causes a gradual softening of the surface of the teeth. The mechanical force of eating causes a further deterioration of the teeth. Sometimes too vigorous or too frequent brushings may be at fault.

If the teeth are eroding to a great extent, crowns or caps may have to be put over them.

Great Gains are Ahead For Florida and You— Don't Let Machine Politics Block the Road

VOTE MAY 25TH
Citizens of Florida stand on the threshold of great opportunity in this rapidly growing State. Whether we shall go forward to enjoy the gains in store depends largely on the honesty, efficiency and sound policies of the leader we vote into the Governor's chair.

FLORIDA MUST GO FORWARD
We can not allow political gravy-train riders to continue plundering and sapping our economy if we are to stay abreast of needs and keep moving forward.

We can not be deluded by the fear spreading of desperate politicians who, seeing their machine swamped by more than 400,000 Odam-Collins votes in the first primary, are fabricating rumors, deceitful inferences and even bald lies to save their gravy-train.

LET'S GET THINGS DONE
We must consider our pressing needs for more schools, good highways, and better State institutions to serve Florida's fast-growing population. Will these things be built by using millions of dollars to pay-off and enrich political pals? Or will they be more sure of early completion with the taxpayer's money invested honestly and wisely to the maximum benefit of the whole State?

YOU HAVE THE ANSWER
The answers to those questions are obvious, but do you know that you and other thinking, independent citizens like you held the answers in their votes? But no matter what you think; if you don't vote, your thoughts don't count. Make your thinking count at the polls and urge your friends to go and vote to carry Florida Forward with Collins.

Miss Gene Nunnally, Other Officers Are Installed By Sanford BPW Club

The new officers for the year 1954-1955 for the Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club were installed Tuesday night at a formal ceremony in the auditorium of the Sanford Junior High School. Preceding the installation, members and guests attended the club's annual banquet.

The speaker's table was presided over by the retiring president, Mrs. B. E. True, and seated with her were the other retiring officers, the incoming officers, and the State Chairman of Public Affairs Committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Rose, and Miss Adrienne Watts, past president of the Orlando Club, both of Orlando.

Following dinner, a program of entertainment was presented by members of the Junior High School clubs, accompanied by Mrs. W. G. Fleming. A charming dance was given by Jeanette Harvey and Lynette Driggers, students of the Dunbar School of Dancing, and songs by a group of seven, Peggy Lundquist, Inez Prescott, Eva Swartz, March Woodson, Lynette Driggers, Eva Jo Wynne, and Dottie Williams.

The new officers were installed by Mrs. Elizabeth Rose, who employed the integral parts of the Federation Emblem, the Winged Victory of Samothrace, the Torch, the Scroll, and the Ship. Mrs. Rose presented these emblems as symbols of their new duties to Miss Gene Nunnally, president; Mrs. Lillian Carhart, first vice-president; Mrs. C. E. Hunter, second vice-president; Mrs. E. E. Baker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. I. Pryor, recording secretary; and Mrs. O. T. Pearson, treasurer.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Rose spoke to the group on the ideals of the Federation, and the dependence of the entire organization upon the individual member of each club for its continuing success.

Mrs. True then received the past president's pin from Mrs. Rose, and Miss Nunnally was presented the president's pin. A gavel, a tiny pin to wear with her president's pin, Mrs. True turned over the gavel of office to the new president, who in accepting it, pledged her efforts to the club's continued support and assistance.

A light note was introduced at the conclusion of the evening, when Mrs. Margaret Graham ceremoniously distributed to the retiring officers small gifts.

Magnolia Circle Husbands Feted With Fish Fry

The Magnolia Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met Tuesday for their first meeting of the year, entertaining their husbands with a fish fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meeks with Mrs. J. M. Meeks as hostess.

During a brief business meeting, it was decided to donate a gift of $2.50 toward buying a rookery in the Everglades National Park. Miss Gene Knight, guest speaker, showed some beautiful color pictures of flowers and scenes that she had taken while stationed in Hawaii for 31 months with the Air Force.

Attending with Miss Knight were her mother, Mrs. O. G. Knight of Orlando, and her aunt, Mrs. R. E. Poirifoy, chairman of the Magnolia Circle in Sanford.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Joel Fields, Mr. and Mrs. W. Herron, Mrs. Marjorie Morganstein, Mrs. E. D. Laska, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Nichols, Mrs. and Mrs. C. L. Seminole Hi

Immediately after school on Tuesday afternoon the Seminole Staff met and rode out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox in Enterprise for the annual staff picnic. Swimming at Green Springs, boating on the lake, archery, and volleyball games were enjoyed during the afternoon and that evening a delicious supper was served on the lawn.

In appreciation of their efforts throughout the year, Miss Sievert and Mrs. Fort were presented with gifts from the staff. Miss Sievert's gift was two pieces of her dress and they presented Mrs. Fort with a beautiful batiste blouse and a pair of earrings.

Those enjoying the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Cox were: Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Ernie Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fisher and daughter, Patty Beth, Mr. and Mrs. Fort, Miss Rebecca Stevens, Miss Sallie Williams, Marvin Gumbel, Joel Moss, Stanley Katz, Jimmy Hollinger, Imogene Bostick, Jon Sanditer, Carol Lechelt, Rosemary Greener, Martha Owen, Ann Minis, Mary Mikolajek, Patty Walker, Nancy Hountruff, Paulette Casson, and Grace Marie Stinecoper.

On Monday night the SIS band marched in the state Lion's parade in Orlando. Throughout the parade the famous dance in "Lonely Days" was performed for an enthusiastic crowd that made the band feel at home as they were a lot like the crowd in New Orleans during Mardi Gras.

The band made its final out-of-town appearance yesterday as they marched in the Watermelon Festival parade in Leesburg. At their special uniforms they wore dangle earrings, white shirts with watermelon seeds on the back, straw hats, and white shoes. Also our band was a part of the program in the stadium in Venetian Gardens. There they were the only band presenting a concert, this being the third consecutive year that they have done so. The remainder of the afternoon was spent enjoying various other events.

This performance marked the final ring for the twelve seniors in the band. They are: Marvin Gumbel, Ronnie Anderson, Rodman Brumley, Rosemary Garner, Dickie Kendall, Frank Murphy, Nancy Reuniter, Stella Brownrigg, Evelyn Clarke, Janie Bigleby, Philip Toney, and Grace Marie Stinecoper.

Milton Berle Holds Top Record Of 290 Hour-Long Shows

HOLLYWOOD — Milton Berle is here to finish off his TV season, and he says he'd like to do his shows in Hollywood all the time.

Berle holds the amazing record of 290 hour-long shows on TV. He has been on camera throughout most of them, and nearly all have originated in New York. Easterners who have watched the westward movement of TV production may be pained to learn that Uncle Miltie favors working on these sunny shores.

"Sure, I'd rather work out here," he said between rehearsals for one of the three shows he will do in Hollywood. "It's better for me in New York I don't sleep you know all the city noises. And you know me—as long as I know Lindy's is to be over until 4 in the morning, so there."

"In Hollywood, it's different you go to bed at 10 o'clock."

Berle said he didn't know whether he would get his wish to work out here regularly. It's up to the sponsor, and so far the sponsor

West Side P-TA Has Last Meeting; President Installed

The last meeting of the school year of West Side P-TA was held recently at the school with the president, Mrs. B. L. Beard, presiding. The devotional was given by Mr. George Pittard. On arrival members were given attractive booklets containing reports by the officers and chairman for the year and the by-laws of West Side P-TA.

Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, principal, reported on the complete parasite test being given all students. Mothers with children who will be in the first grade at West Side next year were advised that the children could be taken to the Health Center on Thursday mornings for the pre-school checkups and that the children could be invited to school after school is out in June.

Mrs. Moran's room was first in the room count and Mrs. Neider's was second. It was decided to give Mrs. Echols' room a prize also as the count was close. A covered dish luncheon in honor of the teachers will be held by the P-TA the second week after school is out.

An impressive installation was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Giles in which the following officers were installed: president, Mrs. Robert Parler, vice president, Mrs. George Alford; secretary, Mrs. Jack Stempert; treasurer, Mrs. M. Garrett.

Mrs. Beard then presented gifts to the teachers, lunchroom ladies and Junior Lovely League members also presented to the teachers, lunchroom ladies, officers and chairman of the year.

Mrs. Alford announced that mothers who could should make fancy work, etc. for the carnival to be held in the fall.

Religious sandwiches, cookies, and need tea were served to about an mother present by the mothers of Mrs. Echols' room.

Milton Berle Holds Top Record Of 290 Hour-Long Shows

HOLLYWOOD — Milton Berle is here to finish off his TV season, and he says he'd like to do his shows in Hollywood all the time.

Berle holds the amazing record of 290 hour-long shows on TV. He has been on camera throughout most of them, and nearly all have originated in New York. Easterners who have watched the westward movement of TV production may be pained to learn that Uncle Miltie favors working on these sunny shores.

"Sure, I'd rather work out here," he said between rehearsals for one of the three shows he will do in Hollywood. "It's better for me in New York I don't sleep you know all the city noises. And you know me—as long as I know Lindy's is to be over until 4 in the morning, so there."

"In Hollywood, it's different you go to bed at 10 o'clock."

Berle said he didn't know whether he would get his wish to work out here regularly. It's up to the sponsor, and so far the sponsor

The sale of Series E & H Savings Bonds continues on the increase in Florida according to an announcement today by W. A. Patrick, chairman of the Treasury's volunteer savings bond committee for Seminole County. "Purchases in Seminole County during April year of $13,300 and for the first four months of 1951 total of $72,136."

"Sales for this period in the state are now more than $2 million ahead of the same months last year 1950," Mr. Patrick stated. "Florida has now reached 32% of the year's quota of $71.6 million which is the volume the Treasury has assigned our state to achieve during the current year. It is gratifying that the owners of more than 75% of these are holding on to them and earning three per cent compound interest on the maturity value under the automatic extension plan which Congress authorized in 1951. It is the Treasury's policy in following sound money practices to achieve new sales volume at least equal to the redemption of matured E and H bonds. The score so far shows the Treasury ahead by $72 million."

come tax returns during the years we served in the Legislature."

"I am willing to disclose mine and let's see who is the big rich man in this race."

In their joint appearance at the Leesburg watermelon festival, where he was given 20 minutes to speak, Johns did not refer to Collins. But in later talks at Sanford, Oviedo, Winter Park and Orlando he attacked his opponent on many fronts.

He accused Collins of posing as a friend of the farmers, the sportsmen and the old people now that he is running for governor although, Johns said, the Tallahassee senator had fought and voted against legislative bills to give farmers a gasoline tax refund and in 1953 to provide funds for higher old age assistance payments.

He charged Collins with "making a deal" with commercial fishermen to permit stalling in fresh water lakes.

Johns also said Collins had "used his influence as a senator to secure 30 extra days of hunting for big plantation owners in Leon County. 'Something you and I didn't enjoy.'"

At Oviedo he read from what he said was a clipping from the Gainesville Sun that quoted Collins as telling a rally that Johns supporters had passed the word that improvement of Northwest 13th Street would be halted if property owners failed to vote right.

He then said he had a letter signed by 32 merchants along the Gainesville street saying they had not been threatened directly or indirectly with a stoppage of work on the project.

Johns said he had been informed a poll conducted by Joe Abram of Jacksonville showed him defeating Collins by 4,000 votes on May 25. But, he said, "I think it will be 88,000."

eratic gubernatorial nomination Tuesday.

He said "I don't discount the operation the acting governor has been using since he took office and put together a political machine that is well oiled." Collins said Johns' state machine was tied in with "numerous county machines and the racketeering element."

The Tallahassee candidate talked to campaign workers today and worked on plans for the final bit of politicking.

He speaks on television here tonight. Tomorrow he spends the entire day seeking votes in Broward County. Collins makes his bid for the Northwest Florida vote in a Saturday swing from Tallahassee to Pensacola.

Collins came here after speeches at the Florida Watermelon Festival in Leesburg and a barbecue rally at Palm River near Tampa.

He brought out two new points yesterday. One was when he said he would veto any bill including creation of a tax commission which would take away benefits of the homestead exemption.

Revision of the 1953 law which gives rebates of four cents a gallon on fuel used in farm machinery also was advocated by him. He argued the law benefits only the big man and the little farmer receives practically no aid from it.

"Let's revise it and make that law beneficial to all the little farmers," he said after asking for a show of hands for all those at Leesburg who had received fuel oil rebates. Only one raised hand was spotted.

He got into the homestead exemption discussion after saying that Johns and his supporters are spreading rumors that Collins is against the exemption. The rumors aren't true, he said, and described them as "shoddy politics."

At the Palm River barbecue a driver of a sound wagon with a Johns sign on it kept calling out after Collins started talking. Collins referred to the incident in his talk as "some ill mannered person—that's putting it mildly—bothering us." The loud speaker shouts ceased.

South Koreans Go To Voting Polls

SOUTH—Koreans from crowded, bomb-swept cities and shell-riddled farms trooped to polling booths today to vote for a new South Korean National Assembly.

The election has been called an off-year test of President Syngman Rhee's popularity.

Rhee and his wife were among the first to cast ballots in Seoul this morning.

An estimated eight million ballots were cast before the polls closed at 5 p. m., and it may be two days before complete returns are in. Good weather helped bring out a heavy vote.

Despite cries from the independent and opposition blocs of police intimidation and interference and equally strong denials by government agencies of such activity, the voting appeared to be peaceful. The nation is under an emergency police alert.

Rhee's Liberal party says it expects to win 110 of 203 Assembly seats. The major opposition Democratic Nationalists are pessimistic. They look for only 20 of their men to be elected.

Rhee's forces hope to capture enough seats to gain a working majority in the legislature—something they have not had since 1952.

Bank Manager T. H. Millea Jr. explained with some embarrassment, the visitors probably set it off accidentally.

However, he said he was pleased to learn the alarm worked so well.

Atomic Scientists' Magazine Attacks Oppenheimer Case

CHICAGO—The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists lashed out today at the government's suspension of the security clearance of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer as "a breach of faith."

The Bulletin, sponsored by a number of scientists who pioneered development of the atomic bomb, took an unprecedented step of adding 16 pages to its May edition for a thorough discussion of the Oppenheimer case.

Nearly two score of Oppenheimer's colleagues or friends expressed faith in his integrity and loyalty.

Oppenheimer is chairman of the Bulletin's Board of Sponsors. Oppenheimer, who guided the work of scientists contributing to the development of the A-bomb, was denied further access to classified material on the ground he associated with Communists in the early days of World War II and later opposed development of the hydrogen bomb.

The Bulletin's editorial board said in an editorial:

"It seems to us a breach of faith on the part of the government to call upon a man to assume such heavy responsibilities in full knowledge of his life history and then after he has demonstrably done his best and given the most valuable services to the nation to use the facts to cast aspersions on his integrity."

Albert Einstein commented that "the systematic and widespread attempt to destroy mutual trust and confidence constitutes the severest possible blow against society."

Spicy Magazines Are Considered

ATLANTA—Chatham County Sol. Gen. Andrew J. Ryan has the blessing of the Georgia Literature Commission in proceeding against a spicy little magazine called "Scop."

Ryan sent the commission for its perusal four pocket-sized magazines containing photographs of nearly nude models.

It looked them all over and decided yesterday that while none is the highest form of entertainment, "Scop" is the one Ryan would have the best chance of prosecuting successfully. All four were sent back to the prosecutor.

"Scop" is published by Candid Magazines Inc., New York.

Against the wishes of its chairman, Dr. James H. Hester of Atlanta, the commission decided to turn a small pocket calendar over to Atlanta Sol. Gen. Paul Webb without recommendations.

The calendar, turned in to his teacher by a six-year-old boy, shows a kneeling girl dressed in a large black hat, a black veil and black gloves.

"Highly dangerous, foul and indecent," declared Wesley in urging the commission to recommend prosecution.

"We are still passing the buck," he complained when it did not.

Helgoland Has Been Of Value In Strategy

ISLE OF HELGOLAND, this red-cliffed German island in the North Sea has earned a reputation for its pirates, submarine pens, lobster and stubborn folk who weathered two world wars.

The words for the German anthem, Deutschland Ueber Allen, were written on Helgoland in 1841 by a German political refugee, Germany's great pirate, Klaus Störtebeker, and his crew hid out there. German U-boats of both great wars used it as a base.

It has been called "GBRaltor of the north," "Pearl of the North Sea" and a x x x x trouser button.

Its present mayor, Peter Rickmers, who was born on the island, says:

"Nearly anything you want to call Helgoland is true."

Today snoring bulldozers, rumbling trucks and the clang of hammers bellow a song of reconstruction in the cause of peace.

Helgoland is 130 square acres of red sandstone poking out of the blustery North Sea about 23 miles from the German mainland.

The British took it from Denmark in 1807. They traded it to Germany when Otto von Bismarck, the "iron chancellor," offered German holdings in East Africa.

But Bismarck recognized Helgoland's strategic value. It was a natural staging base in case of war and a vantage point close to the bustling traffic lanes of the North Sea.

Dubious tribute was paid to Helgoland's military sea base in a World War I song which urged the Allies to "knock the 'I' out of Helgoland."

In the past war, comment was more to the point.

The Allies mounted a 1,000 plane raid April 18, 1945, which showed red bombs on Helgoland for 102 minutes.

Their mission was two-fold: to smash Hitler's concrete submarine pens and to blind the eye of a vigilant outpost.

Casualties were light. Nearly all Helgolanders were snug in bunkers gouged deep into the cliffs. But physical damage was tremendous. The little city perched atop the cliffs and beach buildings were wiped out. The submarine pens became a jumble of grey wreckage.

Less than a month later the war was over for Germany and for approximately 3,000 Helgolanders.

Britain took over the island again. The islanders were evacuated in the mainland and Helgoland was used as a demolition site for captured German ammudition. Later Royal Air Force planes used it as a practice bombing range.

The West German government and crusty Helgolanders waged a constant and highly vocal campaign for its return. Finally the British accepted a lonely coastal sand dune as a new practice target, and on March 1, 1952, returned Helgoland to Germany.

Now it's a closed island, subject to casual visit only by government permission.

Five hundred brawny workmen, half of them native Helgolanders, are busy putting it back in shape.

It will cost about 20 million dollars, and take several years to restore homes, mainly for the people who used to live there. Politically, the island is part of Schleswig-Holstein, which is helping the federal government foot the bill.

When restoration is complete, Helgoland again will be a busy lobster-fishing port and, in summer, a North Sea tourist attraction which once boasted a 5,000 population holiday peak.

Permanent dwellings are planned for about 3,000 people. There will be hotels, too. Things will be easier than before. Helgoland used to import its drinking water from the mainland, but that won't be necessary anymore.

"We have discovered a fresh water well," Rickmers said, "it will be enough for all our needs."

Joan Foster, Bride

By Alice Ross Colver

CHAPTER EIGHT

BETTY smiled at Joan's comment about her wedding in the college chapel. "It certainly makes a lot of sense. All my friends were right there for one thing, and most of Mike's college friends were right there for another. It's just the way to do it. Unless they arranged their own if they could. It's not, it's just too bad. Yes, I planned the easy way. The economical way, too," she added.

"That's another thing," Joan said. "I want Mother to let me help with the expenses. I could help with the sale of my first book, Betty, and while I didn't exactly make a fortune, still I could pay for a part of the wedding. I could buy my own dress, at least. And I could take care of the invitations for the photographs. But Mother won't hear of it. She says I don't want to be a burden on her. I'm not. I'm just living. It would be doing it and so. Look! Beth has her thumb in her mouth. Do you think she's asleep? Or hungry? Or what?"

"Both, probably," Betty rose and went over to the make-shift table. "Hi, honey bunch." She leaned down and kissed her on the cheek. "Getting sleepy-time for you? Let's go have our lunch and then you can take a nap on Auntie Jo's swing. Won't that be nice?"

Lunch — with Betty's big eyes slinking over with drooping lids as she ate. Somehow Betty fed her and managed her own meal. To Joan it was a relief. To Betty it was a relief. And after they had all finished, Betty settled the little girl under a blanket out on the swing. Then, while Joan, who liked to be useful, was helping Annie with the dishes, Joan and her mother joined Betty on the veranda where they continued their planning.

"The church will hold about five hundred people," Mrs. Foster said. "And now that we've finished computing our lists, we find we're asking just about that many. Of course, they won't all come. Especially those from out of town. But we can probably figure on four hundred, anyway. We're going to have a long —"

Argument Hot in Community

TWO HARBORS, Minn. (AP)—A stranger in this little town on Minnesota's rocky north shore, looking out on the darkened business district at night, finds nothing to suggest a city in ferment.

But beyond the brightly lighted windows in the homes of the city's 4,000 residents, a bitter argument rages hot. It's about hospitals and doctors.

Basically the controversy concerns two concepts of medical practice and hospital care. The local struggle is a struggle between private and public medicine all over the country. It seeks a resolution to these questions:

"Who should control medical care? Who should own the hospitals?"

One side here is represented by a group of residents who have established a cooperative medical care and hospital plan. By a hospital, hired doctors and set their own charges.

On the other side is a group desiring a more conventional "free community" type hospital, free choice of doctors on the part of patients and fees determined by doctor.

Both groups profess a common goal: better health for everybody. Intense community interest in the issue has been whipped up through mass meetings, the black newspaper ads and column after column of letters to the editor which hurl such invectives as "deliberate lies," "barbery," "heavy handed threat," "bigotical bludgeoning."

Two Harbors has a hospital, built some 30 years ago on the edge of the business district and within easy view of the Duluth, Missabe and Iron Range Railroad yards and the docks on Lake Superior.

Originally, two doctors owned the hospital. They were a professor and not a business to be operated by a lay group. I believe that when the doctors retired, residents of the city bought the hospital and established a cooperative hospital and prepayment plan.

Today five doctors are employed by the hospital. They're guaranteed minimum salaries ranging from $7,500 to $11,000 a year. Their building —

The hospital also admits private patients and co-op employed doctors are permitted to serve them with fees split evenly between them.

To satisfy state law, the co-op is divided into two segments. The Community Health Center, Inc. operates the hospital. The Community Health Assn. operates the prepayment plan. Members must belong to both parts.

Membership in the prepayment plan costs $5 a year — or $100 for life. Individual members pay in addition $5 a month for doctor and hospital service. A family of two pays $9.75 for doctor and hospital service, a family of three or more $11.75.

Here's what members get for their money: office calls, hospital and doctor service benefits and a complete physical examination annually.

If members are to cash in on the plan, their choice of doctors is limited to those employed by the co-op. If hospitalization is necessary, they go to the co-operated hospital.

Each member of the co-op plan has one vote in the operation of the hospital and the prepayment plan.

The cooperative hospital here is a dingy, half-colored frame hulk of a building with three stories.

MISERY MARCHERS ward off an attack by Dan Durbin in this scene from Universal International's "Ride Clear of Trouble" Technicolor Now playing at the Ritz Theater.

'Misery Marchers' Are Assured Of Aid

ROME (AP)—Italy's blind "misery marchers" assured officially that something will be done to boost their $4-a-month pensions, called off their plans last night for a showdown hunger strike on Perugia's streets.

The budgeted reforms of some 200,000 blind and women marched into Rome yesterday carrying signs: "We Too Have a Right to Live." Sixty began the march from Florence May 8 and their ranks were swelled by blind demonstrators from cities all over Italy.

Paolo Bentivoglio, president of the National Assn. for the Blind, said some 1,000 "extreme poor" blind men only get 1,000 lire (about $3) a month and efforts to have this increased to $5 have failed.

Officials promised the marchers they would do all they could to increase the pension.

For every gold-leafed acre reforested in America last year, four privately-owned acres were planted to trees. The totals 49,300 acres of private land, 116,600 acres of government (local, state, and federal) land.

Monmouth Officer Asks Retirement Because Of Health

EATONTOWN, N. J. (AP)—The Army's chief intelligence officer at Ft. Monmouth, which has been the target of a probe by Sen. McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, has applied for retirement on health grounds.

Andrew Reid, 54, of Eatontown, has been in the civilian post since 1946. He said he suffered a heart attack Dec. 27 and has not been back on the job since. He said last night he applied for retirement April 6.

Reid was praised by McCarthy for doing a good job at Ft. Monmouth. The intelligence agent had testified before the subcommittee in Washington Dec. 9.

During the 1932-33 fiscal year, two-thirds of all the wildfires on protected land occurred during the four-month period (December 1 to March 31). More timberland—61,000 acres—burned in January than in any other month of the year.

Large crops of slash pine cones occur at irregular intervals of 2 to 3 years.

LET'S KEEP THIS Man of Action OUR GOVERNOR

Your Homestead Exemption Will Be Safe With CHARLEY JOHNS as GOVERNOR

A State Tax Commission is a menace to your Homestead Exemption benefits. CHARLEY JOHNS IS OPPOSED to such a Commission. His opponent favors it.

A State Tax Commission would have the power to go over the heads of local City and County Tax Assessors and raise your homestead assessment, thereby wiping out your Homestead Exemption benefits. Ask your local Tax Assessors.

Do you want authority taken away from your local City and County Government? Do you want to risk your Homestead Exemption benefits? Do you want more power centered in Tallahassee? If not, you will vote for CHARLEY JOHNS for GOVERNOR.

CHARLEY JOHNS, Man of Action, has PROVED he is the man to govern Florida for the NEXT TWO YEARS. Let's keep this Man of Action our GOVERNOR and keep Florida moving ahead.

Talmadge Called On His Statement

ATLANTA, Ga. — The telephone rang far into the night after Gov. Herman Talmadge commented on the U. S. Supreme Court decision striking down public school segregation.
He had said that Georgia people "cannot and will not accept a legal political decree which overturns their accepted pattern of life."
Many hecklers telephoned from distant places. Wearily, Talmadge finally turned over the phone answering to his wife.
"Tell those Yankees the governor isn't here. Tell them he's busy reviewing troops."

SAYS DOGS ARE NUISANCE
SMITHFIELD, R. I. — Dog of free Warren Manchester says so many dogs are following children to school that they are causing a nuisance, distract children in their classes by lighting in the schoolyard and create accident hazards by running into the street.
