Drive Which Asks For No Money But Means Much

IMPROVE SPEECH

AND GIRLS AND BOYS WILL HAVE SPECIAL WEEK ON THE SUBJECT

Good speech is decadent in America. Whether it is simply one indifference to what is fine and worthy in expression; whether it is the slang that is the proud possession of the children in the street and the college boys and girls; whether it is one fear of being considered "highbrow"; whatever may be the cause, it is true that we are speaking a language that is becoming not only less beautiful, but less efficient. Henry James has said that speech is the one thing in our wonderful civilization in America that we have not standardized.

It is expected that during the celebration of National American Speech Week—there will be, all over the land, a rallying to the standard of good speech. "Better speech for better Americans." Everyone during that week must do something for his language, make some definite contribution, or make some sacrifice. You may decide to give up a favorite and overworked expression, perhaps, "say, listen" or "sure" and try a good substitute.

The activities of Better Speech Week, under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Council of English Teachers have been planned with two objectives:

- 1.—To stimulate a love for our national language.
- 2.—To incite a desire for personal improvement.

The following has been suggested as a pledge:

I love the United States of America. I love my country's flag. I love my country's language.

I promise:

- 1.—That I will not dishonor my country's speech by leaving off the last syllables of words.
- 2.—That I will say a good American "yes" and "no" in place of an Indian grunt "umhum" and "nup-um," or a foreign "ya" or "yeh" or "nope."
- 3.—That I will do my best to improve American speech by enunciating distinctly and by speaking pleasantly and sincerely.
- 4.—That I will try to make my country's language beautiful for the many people of foreign lands who come here to live.

In connection with the celebration of this week in Sanford arrangements have been made for slogans, plays, talks, sermons, posters and contests which will attempt to make speech improvement a community concern. Do your bit. Watch your speech. Good English is largely a matter of habit. Get the habit.

HORROR OVER ASSASSINATION YESTERDAY OF PREMIER HARA COMES FROM ALL NATIONS

Attack Was Made By Demented Youth—Was No
Political Affair

(By The Associated Press)
TOKIO, Nov. 5.—Cablegrams expressing horror over the assassination yesterday of Premier Hara poured into Tokio today from the capitals of virtually all nations. The attack was made by a demented youth and there is no definite knowledge as yet that it had its genesis in political rancor which actuated bitter assault upon Hara and his government in the recent past.

THE CLYDE LINE BOAT OSCEOLA

Paraphrasing a well known nursery rhyme the recent booklet published by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce had the following:

This is the lake
That floats the boat
That carries the freight
And reduces the rate to SANFORD.

And when Secretary Pearman, of the Chamber of Commerce, wrote the booklet copy and this jingle the question of "Ship by Water" had not come up for any serious consideration by the Chamber of Commerce or the citizens of this section or any other part of the state. A few months ago, however, they received a jolt that shook them from their lethargic demeanor toward the river transportation when the railroads of the country decided to hit the public another swift one in the solar plexus and on the assumption that if one raise would do them no harm another would not hurt them and they would stand for it just the same. But the public is hardly ever stung twice in the same place the same year, going on the old principle that the stinger is always left in the spot where the biter is bitten. And when the shippers saw that the railroads intended not only to take that which was taken last year but to take what little bit was left after the freight was paid, they rose up in their wrath and said "they would be damned if they did" which meant, of course, that they would dam the streams and make deeper water in the river. So they were called together under the banner of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce and all the other trade bodies in Inland Florida came in and at the close of the game it was discovered that the railroads had no hands dealt them except poor ones and the "Ship by Water" movement had grown until it had swept everything else off the board. Since which time the railroads have never been mentioned except when the strike came on as a last resort in the rate raising business and now the shippers hardly know that the railroads are operating. It is all ship by water everywhere within one hundred miles from the river and it will be ship by water the next time you hear from them and the movement is growing until the congressmen and senators at Washington will have to stop listening to Tom

Watson on "who hit Billy Patterson" and get down to the real question of government aid for Florida rivers and especially the St. Johns river for we expect big boats to be coming here next year and more of them and in time Sanford will be the greatest shipping center in the interior of Florida. The picture above shows the Clyde Liner Osceola coming up to the dock at Sanford—docks by the way that are being enlarged to double the former capacity to take care of the big business that has accrued to the river by reason of the arbitrary rates of the railroads and the decision of the shippers to ship by water. "You can fool some of the people some of the time and all of the people some of the time but you can't fool all of the people all of the time" and this is an example of it.

NEW SPECIAL BETWEEN TAMPA AND THE NORTH

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 4.—The Pinellas Special, the Atlantic Coast Line's crack flyer to St. Petersburg, and the Tampa Special, the limited to the South Florida metropolis, both operated out of Jacksonville, will begin their winter schedules on November 16, according to an announcement here yesterday by A. W. Pritot, division passenger agent. The Pinellas Special will operate via Newberry, Dunnellon and Trilby, while the Tampa special will go direct to Tampa, via Palatka, Sanford, Orlando, and Lakeland.

The Pinellas special, this season, will be virtually a through train from Chicago, and the middle west and will be heavier than any time in the past, handling in addition to a diner, parlor cars and coaches from Jacksonville, four through cars from the northern territory and one from Washington. The Southland, a limited to Jacksonville from Chicago over the Pennsylvania, Louisville & Nashville, Central of Georgia, and the Atlantic Coast Line, will begin operating November 14, and will deliver to the special here through cars from Chicago, Indianapolis, Mackinaw and Cleveland, all for St. Petersburg, while the car from Washington to St. Petersburg will be put on at Jacksonville. The special will leave Jacksonville at 11 a. m. and arrive at St. Petersburg at 7 p. m. Northbound the first train will leave St. Petersburg November 17th at 11 a. m. and arrive at Jacksonville at 7 p. m. The Tampa Special will carry only one through car, a car from Washington. This train will leave Jacksonville at 10 a. m. and arrive in Tampa at 5:10 p. m. Northbound, the first train will leave Tampa November 17th, at 12:45 and arrive in Jacksonville at 7:35 p. m. Both trains on their northbound trips will carry through cars for the cities from which they begin their southbound journey.

The Southern Railroad and the Seaboard Air Line, in conjunction, will inaugurate the Suwanee Special, November 16th, the first train to be operated from the middle west to South Florida without going through Jacksonville. The Suwanee will be made up of the through cars assembled at Cincinnati, and will be delivered by the Southern to the Seaboard at Hampton, Fla., for Tampa, and St. Petersburg, arriving at its destinations early in the morning. Inauguration of the Suwanee has resulted in a reduction of $2.00 in railroad fare from the middle west to central and southern Florida points, the mileage being shorter than via Jacksonville. To meet the new rate, all railroads reduced their fares on routings thru this city.

EGGS THE CREMONA SECRET?

Idea Put Forward That Yolks and Beeswax Were Used in Fillers of Old Violins.

N. C. Holcomb, musical instrument maker of Norwalk, Ohio, believes he is making rapid advances in his efforts to discover the secret of the fine mellow tone of the Cremona violins. Musicians for years have wondered why many old Italian violins apparently made in a slipshod manner, should produce such clear sounds. Holcomb believes that the lost secret had to do mainly with the filler and varnish. Not long ago he was informed that a careful chemical analysis had been made of some of the finish on an old violin owned in Battle Creek, Mich.

This examination disclosed the fact that, before the varnish was applied, the wood was filled evidently with the yolk of an egg and beeswax. Profiting by this information, Holcomb rubbed these substances into the raw wood of a new violin before applying the varnish. The results were surprising, the instrument producing a tone that is usually associated with age.

Holcomb, by using tops of old tables and other furniture, obtains maple wood one hundred years or more old. Through a microscope it can be seen that in maple properly aged the cells are devoid of the sap and resin that makes improperly seasoned wood unsatisfactory. Holcomb has found out that, if varnish is applied to a violin before a proper filler has been used, the varnish penetrates the cells of the wood and injures the tone.

NO LONGER "CLINGING VINE"

Athletic and a Healthy Outdoor Life Have Increased the Weight of Modern Woman.

They're building 'em bigger. Dress-makers say so, corsetiers agree there's something in it, and now along comes cold, calculating science to explain why women weigh more than they ever did before.

Women are no fatter, say the physical culture experts. They're simply larger, and here's the reason: The women of today are one and a half inches taller as a class than 40 years ago. Their chests are larger, their waistlines have widened. Their muscles have hardened. All this makes them weigh more.

The changes, according to those who have made a study of the subject, are simple enough to explain. Women, especially during the last 20 years or so, gradually have been converted from the clinging vine to robust persons who are proud rather than ashamed of the physical feats they can accomplish. Participation in sports has turned the trick.

"Time was," explained William Herrmann, a physical training expert of Philadelphia, "when a woman thought vigorous use of the body and its muscles was untidylike. All that has changed, of course, and the gradual participation of women in sports and various forms of exercise actually has brought about a change in her height and her figure. The change in height is not simply a case of athletics having taught a woman to stand straighter. It is an actual change that can be measured."

Professor—"What! Forgotten your pencil again, Jones? What would you think of a soldier without a gun?" Jones (an ex-service man)—"I'd think he was an officer."

DISCOVERED USE OF MIRRORS

Diner Finds That Nocturnal Flirtations Are Greatly Aided by Properly Placed Reflectors.

"I know why they fill the walls of these restaurants full of mirrors," said Sidney.

"So do I," said his friend Aleck. "For the same reason they put chewing-gum boxes in the subway station. So's the flappers can fix their hair if any part of their ears should be showing."

"Not so," returned Sidney. "Watch me."

They entered a white porcelain restaurant, the walls of which were lined with mirrors that opened to the view a lengthy, interminable line of reflected restaurants.

They were seated a few minutes, and Aleck observed that Sidney was smiling cordially into space. There was no one near by except a flapper with an expressive back, the back being toward Aleck and Sidney.

"You act like a lunatic in the making," said Aleck. "What are you grinning at in that that food cantaloupe sign for?"

"I'm not. I'm looking at the peach. Ain't she a bear?"

Then Aleck, gazing in the direction he saw Sid's eyes were bent, looked in the mirror and was confronted by the gaze of the flapper with the expressive back. He saw that she had an expressive face. She was returning Sid's grin with an extra measure.

"Many a friendship's been made through a restaurant looking glass," observed Sid. "You don't mind eating alone, do you, Aleck? Excuse me." —New York Sun.

SAY NEW RELIGION SPREADS

Chinese Reported to Take to Mixture of Christianity, Taoism, Confucianism, and Buddhism.

It is reported that a new religion termed the "T'ai-chiao" has been established among the Chinese people of the upper and middle classes and is rapidly gaining ground. Teachers of the new creed state that it is a religion comprised of Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism and Roman Catholicism and other Christian beliefs. The god, which is the object of worship, is T'ai-jen, a figure of imagination. St. Mary and the monk, San Tsang, who is said to have brought Buddhist scriptures to China from India in the Tang dynasty, are also worshiped. The scriptures, which take the place of the Bible in Christianity, are the Book of Lao-tze.

This new religion is now prevalent throughout all provinces in China. It was propagated in Shantung by, it is said, a former premier, Chien Neng-hsun, and he now has the following of many high and influential people. The believers hold three regular meetings a week, and go through ceremonies which require more than four hours for completion. In Peking, the religion is said to be gaining ground among the officials connected with the government. Apart from new religions, reports have been coming from different places for some time of a revival of Buddhism, and not a little money is being spent in re-decorating temples and images.—North China Herald.

"A tailor's life is one of great temptation," said the man who runs a clothing pressing and repairing establishment on upper Broadway. "Few people realize how many valuables and the quantity of currency come into a tailor's possession through the negligence of his customers. A man sending his suit to the tailor just does not seem to be able to remove everything from the pockets. In the last year I have found everything from an indorsed check for $500 to a bottle of a once common beverage. Among other things that have come into this shop in the pockets of men's clothes in the past year are currency, police passus, stocks, bonds and other valuable securities, enough cigarette cases to start a shop of my own, matches, coupons, handkerchiefs, fountain pens, pencils, fraternity pins, lodge buttons, wallets, card cases, watches, knives, and scores of other such articles which men commonly carry." —New York Sun.

Concrete Boats in Italy.

Some years ago there was first broached the question of using concrete for shipbuilding, and since that time there have been many successful and practical applications of this idea. Indeed, the inventor Gabellini has succeeded in inducing the Italian government to adopt it for certain purposes connected with the navy. These boats have double skins and water-tight compartments, and, being craft of about 100 tons each, are able to withstand shocks by collision to a surprising extent. Their draft is little more than that of wooden vessels of the same size. A special advantage is that they neither rot nor rust; and they are easily kept clean. Many canal barges of the same material are in use in Italy; and concrete has been found particularly well adapted for the constructing docks and caissons.

Fish Choked Water Main.

James Littlefield of Dover, N. H., blamed the decreased pressure in the water main to the drought, but discovered the real reason when the hose with which he was watering his lawn began to squirt little fishes. The strainers over the outlets in the reservoir had disappeared, allowing the finny creatures the freedom of the city.

ORDER MINERS TO RETURN TO THEIR WORKS.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—Ohio miners who have ceased work in protest against the injunction issued in federal court at Indianapolis, abolishing the "check off" system, were ordered to return to work by the executive board of district No. 6, United Mine Workers of America after a meeting here today.

At the same time, Lee Hall, president of the district was instructed to notify all coal operators that compliance with their contract, which includes provision of the "check off" system of collection of union dues, is expected and that violation of it will result in strikes.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 4.—Six mines in Illinois were idle as the result of the sporadic strikes in protest against Judge Anderson's injunction against the check off system. These six, according to Walter Nesbitt, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Miners' Union, will work again tomorrow. The miners, he said, had not received the official order to remain at work, when they struck.

MONDAY—Nov. 7, banquet for Business and Professional Women's Club, at the Temple Girl's Home, on Park avenue, at 8 o'clock.

FOR MRS. METTINGER.

Mrs. D. A. Kelly entertained very delightfully yesterday afternoon at a sewing party at her home on Oak avenue, complimenting Mrs. J. K. Mettinger, formerly of this city, but now of Jacksonville.

A profusion of lovely autumn flowers were artistically used in decorating the rooms.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent with sewing, chatting about old times, and music, and at the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Kelly, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Peabody, served delicious refreshments of jellied pears, topped with whipped cream, cake, cottage cheese balls, nuts and coffee.

Invited to meet Mrs. Mettinger, were: Mrs. H. H. Chappell, Mrs. P. M. Elder, Mrs. L. R. Phillips, Mrs. G. W. Spencer, Mrs. T. W. Williams, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mrs. Clifford Peabody, Mrs. W. S. Thornton, Mrs. J. D. Parker, Mrs. Claude Herndon.

ENTERTAIN AFTER REHEARSAL.

Mrs. D. L. Thrasher entertained the members of the Thrasher-Woodruff bridal party following the rehearsal Thursday evening, at her home on Park avenue.

At a late hour, Mrs. Thrasher served a dainty ice course as refreshments. The guests included only the attendants and house guests.

RECEPTION LAST NIGHT FOR

MRS. LULA TUCKER PHILLIPS. Honoring Mrs. Lula Tucker Phillips, an informal reception will be given Friday night from 8 to 10 o'clock in the parlors of the Windsor hotel.

This informal affair is being arranged by the old pupils of Mrs. Phillips, who, as Miss Lula Tucker, served as principal of the old Central Grammar school of Jacksonville, resigning that office about thirty years or more ago. There are in Jacksonville today many men and women who were pupils in the Central Grammar school under Miss Tucker—and they will be glad of this opportunity to welcome Mrs. Phillips on her visit to the city.

It is a coincidence that she is now the guest of Miss Mary Hatter, and is residing in the residence in which she made her home during her term as principal in this city.

The former pupils of Mrs. Phillips are also invited to bring to the reception their husbands or wives, or other members of their family.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THRASHER-WOODRUFF

A brilliant social event of last evening, and in which much cordial interest centers both on account of the prominence and popularity of the couple, was the marriage of Miss May Ferran Thrasher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, to Mr. John Develin Woodruff, son of Hon. and Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff, which was solemnized at the Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

The church was beautifully decorated, the color motif of pink, green and lavender being effectively carried out with palms, ferns, bamboo and cut flowers. The chancel was covered in white with asparagus fern and smylax, forming a lovely background for the bridal party. Tall wicker pedestals holding palms and ferns were artistically placed. On the altar, silver and crystal candelabras held lighted tapers, which cast a soft glow over the artistic scene. In the center of the altar a tall crystal vase filled with white chrysanthemums was placed, while on either side were crystal baskets filled with roses, the handles tied with pink and lavender tulle. Graceful arches of green with pink and lavender flowers, marked the way for the bridal party. Under one the letter "T" was suspended with tulle and from the other the letter "W."

While the guests were assembling Dr. H. H. McCaslin, at the organ rendered appropriate nuptial music. Prior to the entrance of the bridal party Mr. Clarence Williams sang, "O Perfect Love" and "Beloved It Is Morn" and Miss Mable Bowler sang "At Dawning" by Cadman.

At the appointed hour, to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, the bridal party entered. First came the heralds, Miss Olive Newman and Harry Woodruff, carrying shepard's staffs tied with tulle. Miss Newman wore a dainty frock of pink tulle over taffeta with a tulle bow in her hair. Miss Mary Elizabeth Puleston and Mr. Ned Chittenden entered next, they were followed by Miss Daphne Wimblish and Mr. Harry Ferran, coming down opposite aisles. Miss Norma Herndon and Mr. Hawkins Connelly preceded the matron of honor, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, mother of the bride, who entered alone.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. D. L. Thrasher, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the officiating minister, Rev. E. D. Brownlee, and by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Ralph Woodruff, and here the impressive ceremony took place.

The bride was radiant in her exquisite wedding gown of white charmeuse with an over drapery of white silk lace banded with pearls and buckles. Her bridal veil of tulle was held in place with a bandeau of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies.

Miss Euleston was lovely in a girl's frock of rose taffeta with bouffant skirt, and carried pink roses tied with pink and lavender tulle.

Miss Wimblish was a dainty figure in green and silver taffeta trimmed with pink and lavender flowers. Her bouquet was also pink roses tied with tulle.

Miss Herndon's becoming frock was orchid taffeta with double ruffles, and her flowers were pink roses with tulle. The matron of honor's gown was of pink charmeuse with cream silk lace over drapery and sash of lavender "kitten's ear" crepe, she carried an arm bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception for the attendants, relatives and out-of-town guests, was held at the home of the bride's parents on Park avenue.

Quantities of lovely roses and ferns were used in the decorations and the wedding color motif was carried out in the refreshments of a salad course followed by an ice course.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff left for an extended trip down the east coast and other places of interest. Mrs. Woodruff is traveling in a becoming frock of blue tricoline combined with grey canton crepe, with smart hat and other accessories to match. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents.

The bride is one of the most popular girls of Sanford's social set, and is beloved by a wide circle of friends who join in wishing her all happiness in her married life.

Mr. Woodruff holds a responsible position with the Peoples Bank and has hosts of friends who extend congratulations and best wishes.

A bit of sentiment connected with this date was it being the birthday anniversary of the bride's father.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ferran, of Eustis, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ferran, of Eustis, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Ferran and family of DeLand; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, of Eustis; Miss Frances Matthews, of Eustis; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ferran and daughter of Eustis and Mr. and Mrs. Seth Woodruff, of Orlando.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

One of the jolliest affairs of the season was the masquerade party given by Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Joe Meisch, on Tuesday evening, at the home of the latter. The reception hall and spacious living-room were decorated with the conventional symbols of Halloween, the fire-place chiefly being a mark of much comment. Spanish moss was most effectively used, giving it all the desired spooky effect. Orange and black was the color scheme used in the cakes, candies, favors, etc.

Jolly games were indulged in but the special feature was dancing, which lasted until a late hour. The different costumes caused much merriment, especially those of "Aunt Dinah" and the two "Young Ladies" (?) who arrived late. There were fifty-five guests present.

D. A. U. BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. B. A. Howard was the charming hostess yesterday morning at a bridge party the guests including the members of the D. A. U. Bridge Club.

A very absorbing game of bridge was played during the morning and high score was made by Mrs. Aylette Fitts.

After several rubbers of bridge the hostess served a tempting salad course and coffee as refreshments.

Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. A. B. Wallace acted as substitutes for absent club members. The club members present were: Mesdames Fitts, Claude Howard, E. P. Morse, Hal Wight, Sam Yountz and Miss Mable Bowler.

HAVE YOU A JOB FOR EX-SERVICE MAN, READ THE FOLLOWING

Home Service Secretary, A. R. C., Sanford, Fla.

Dear Madam:— I feel it my duty to send you my thanks for your goodness in calling, and for the other things which under my present circumstances are a God-send. I will not burden you with the chain of unfortunate circumstances that have attended us through the summer.

I have been as a prisoner, unable to get away, owing to my wife's condition. I refrain from asking for anything, but I sure would like to get a job of any kind, in or near town if possible. It is most trying living so far back in the country with no way of getting our necessities. I have a great reputation as a hard and conscientious worker where I came from and any one was glad of my services. You asked what I can do. I am one of the so-called "handy men." Can do many things. I am a first class cook and can bake own bread, pies, pastry and etc. But am not much good in that line now where good hearing is essential, as I lost my hearing in the war. I am a good carpenter. I would not shirk any thing although I find that grubbing land is too hard for one who has had nerves shattered in Belgium. In time I can repay the Red Cross that they may pass on the good deed they have done for me. I have an honorable discharge, have what is called the King's certificate, the Mons Star, the Victory and General Campaign medal. I am not lazy, so do not think me undeserving. I am not a soldier now so do not expect anything from the Red Cross. They gave to me in my long months in the hospital in France, Belgium and England. I say God bless the Red Cross, I know it's worth.

But if possible I would appreciate your help in getting me work. Please forgive me for writing and accept my sincere gratitude for myself, my wife and children.

Yours sincerely,

The above letter was received by the Home Service Secretary of the A. R. C. If any one has work to offer this soldier, please call Phone 59.

NO OVERDRAFTS AT CLERMONT BANK EMPLOYEES MADE GOOD.

CLERMONT, Nov. 5.—This place boasts of a bank that in its ten years of operation never had an overdraft, the books not even containing provision for carrying such. C. O. Roe, president of the institution, declares his belief that it probably is the only bank in the state with such a record.

"If it is discovered during the process of closing the books for the day that a check has been taken in for which there are not enough funds on hand to cover," he said, "a notice is corporation against whom or which it is drawn, and if the deficiency is not covered before reopening of the bank the following morning, the teller or other official responsible for its acceptance makes good by transfer from his personal funds. The strict enforcement of that rule is effective in that it makes every employe of the bank careful to keep up with the condition of every account carried and so far as the customers are concerned it prompts them to be careful in the matter of issuing checks."

REMOVE RED LANTERNS MUST GO TO JAIL FOR OFFENSE HEREAFTER.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—As a result of the removal of red lanterns placed by the street department on obstructions as a warning to traffic and pedestrians, the city commission has instructed the city attorney to draw an ordinance fixing a maximum penalty of $200 fine, sixty days in jail or both, for persons found guilty of the practice.

It all resulted from the storm last week. With electric power off and homes in darkness, residents appropriated the lanterns as rapidly as employes of the department of public works placed them about thorough and dangerous places, Director Garvin reported to the commission.

Statue of First of Morgan Breed

In Middlebury, Vt., a few days ago, was unveiled this, the first public statue of an individual horse ever erected; and the ceremony was under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture. The statue is that of Justin Morgan, the famous Vermont stallion, which was the progenitor of the great breed of Morgan horses. It was modeled by Frederick G. R. Rotb of Englewood, N. J., and donated to the public by the Morgan Horse club.

PERMANENT EXHIBIT AT FLORIDA STATE FAIR COVERS BIG FIELD.

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 5.—The permanent exhibit at the Florida State Fair and Exposition, originally planned to include only soil products, has been broadened to cover the entire field of human activity and commercial development of Florida.

In other words, the establishment of a permanent display of agricultural, mineral, manufactured and forest products is now assured and the permanent exhibit and museum building at the fair grounds promises to become within a short time a point of unusual interest for local people and visitors twelve months in the year.

Particular attention will be paid to manufactured products, and Florida manufacturers will be allowed as much space as is necessary for the proper display of the materials they produce. The same applies to counties and communities desiring to take advantage of this opportunity of securing permanent advertising of an intimate nature in Jacksonville.

A building at the fair grounds will be set aside for the exhibits and museum and will be made a center of year-round interest. This will be included in the sight-seeing trips of automobiles and busses and there will be no charge for admission at any time. Manufacturers and others participating in the display will be allowed to station their own representatives at the building, and every possible cooperation will be extended them by the fair management.

It is believed that such a museum will grow in importance year to year and that within a short time it will become a point of compelling interest for tourists and prospective settlers. It will be made a clearing-house for Florida information and will provide visual evidence of the industrial and agricultural resources of each county and community represented.

William D. Flynn, director of exhibits for the Florida State Fair and Exposition, is handling the project, and is receiving assistance from all parts of the state. Mr. Flynn has been at work on the museum for some time, and states the indications are that it will be a success from the start.

The Sunday Morning Club, a Sunday school class for men only, meets every Sunday morning at the Star theatre. This class started three weeks ago with a small enrollment and is fast becoming one of the largest Sunday school classes in the State. New members are joining every Sunday, and each member is very enthusiastic in the class work. If you are not attending Sunday school, you should meet with this class. Good music is furnished by one of the best orchestras in Sanford. Mr. Ralph Stodghill, of Alabama, will lead the singing Sunday, November 6th. They extend to you a cordial invitation. WILL BOOST HOME PAPERS

Week of November 7-12 Set for Nation-Wide Endeavor

"Subscribe to your home town paper."

This is the slogan of a new nationwide movement backed by the National Editorial Association and other agencies.

The movement has back of it far more than a selfish desire on the part of newspapers to acquire increased circulation, for it is, in effect, a step toward the perfect unification of America by the strengthening of ties that bind everyone to his native soil.

The campaign is, moreover, an excellent opportunity to boost the home town. The men and women who were born and reared here have, some of them, been away for many years and many important changes have taken place—changes in which they would be greatly interested. It is more often the case than not that private correspondence overlooks those changes, however carefully one might attempt to write "the news" in a letter.

The newspapers, on the other hand, prints all the items of interest, large and small, and is the ideal medium through which to keep in touch with in the old home town.

In order to stimulate this movement we are this week offering an extra copy of The Weekly Herald to every subscriber who calls or writes for it. This extra can be sent, with a special subscription blank which we will furnish, to any member of the family who is away from home. Or, if preferred, we will mail a copy free of charge to anyone you designate.

NO LITERATURE ON DOOZE MAKING IN ST. PETE LIBRARY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—Persons in searching of receipts for the making of home brew would waste their time if they undertook to find any in the public library here. The librarian, in response to inquiries, declares not a volume in the building contains any reference to the making of alcoholic liquor and that so far there have been no requests for books containing such information.

"Saved From a Watery Grave," says headlines in a Florida paper. Suppose the funeral was put off until after the recent storm.

For Sale—One good horse, also good saddle. Apply Record office, Eau Gallie Record. Probably been giving a horseback opinion.

Looking over the past week's papers, it is evident that the newspaper fraternity made every effort to give uncolored accounts of the tropical hurricane.—Plant City Courier, Yes, naturally. They are all printed on white paper, old dear.

Liquor so strong with acid that it ate holes in paper was found in a recent raid in Oklahoma. Much of the bootleg stuff is just as deadly as that. The man who drinks the poison is a great fool.—Miami Metropolis. Yes, and being a paper man, we are afraid of having holes eaten in us. Where was it you said you bought that liquor, Bobo?

Two brothers in Plant City who were quoted as having hit a fellow worker over the head with a crow bar, have an explanation in the Courier saying they did not hit him with a crow bar, but with a hoe handle. The explanation should be sufficient only next time we would advise hitting him with a baseball bat and knocking him for a row of orange trees. There is nothing like making a complete job of it. The reader will please take notice that a hoe handle is much softer than a crow bar and all kinds of bars are out of fashion now.

STOP TALKING—GO GET 'EM.

"Prohibition Law Must be Enforced," is the heading of a long "special" Rev. C. W. Crooke, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, asks to be published in the Star Advocate.

As there are no saloons in Florida, why an Anti-Saloon League? And bootleggers and whisky-runners cannot be caught by proclamations. Rev. Mr. Crooke should get deputized and go get 'em.—Titusville Advocate.

FLORIDA MUST HAVE IT.

Refrigerator steamships to the number of 321 vessels are now supplying Great Britain with fresh meats, poultry and dairy products, fruits, fish and vegetables from all parts of the world, at a rate, and in condition, which makes these commodities easily available for its great population crowded cities.

Exclusive of the banana carrying steamers, the United States has but thirteen ships with refrigerated holds.

On Wednesday of last week, the San Benito, the largest electrically propelled and refrigerated cargo ship of the United Fruit Co., built and equipped in Belfast, arrived in New York with 30,000 packages of Valencia onions, 13,128 barrels of Alameda grapes and 10,000 boxes of Spanish figs.

Speaking of this cargo, E. L. Goodsell of the Fruit Auction Co., says in the last issue of the Fruit Trade Journal of New York: "In all my thirty-five years' experience I have never seen these grapes and onions arrive in such sound condition as the San Benito's cargo." The onions and figs were brought under refrigeration for the first time in the history of foreign fruits importations in a temperature of 50 degrees of cool air maintained during the entire voyage. All arrived, says the Fruit Trade Journal, "without waste or decay. Although Capt. J. C. Jackson of the San Benito declared his ship had been for twenty-four consecutive hours in a cyclone and the worst weather generally he had experienced in his twenty-four years at sea. The ship reached port in perfect condition so far as her equipment was concerned, maintaining an average speed of ten and a half knots.

Declaring that "Florida growers cannot prosper without such a service," Mr. Goodsell, gives some most important and interesting data on the shipment records of fruit and perishables in refrigerated steamers and points out the needs of this country along that line.

"If the United States had 300 steamers of the San Benito type," remarked Mr. Goodsell, "American consumers would enjoy South African, Australian, South American, Chilean, and Turkish fruit products impossible to bring forward without refrigerator ships. As it is, the fruit growers of California and Florida cannot prosper without such a service.

"Porto Rico, after years of staggering losses, can now thank the Atlantic Fruit Co. for establishing within the past thirty days a refrigerated steamship service which will save and make the growers of Porto Rico $1,000,000 in the next twelve months.

"Great Britain's food supplies are transported from all over the world in steamers whose cargo space is a refrigerated 'warehouse,' here are 321 steamers of this type alone under the British flag carrying foods and fruits to England.

"By the use of refrigerated steamers little waste from decay or deterioration results. The British consumer can count upon 10 per cent of England's food receipts as purchasable and eatable.

"In the United States the loss of fruits and vegetables from an estimated average yearly of 10 per cent decay in transit is a national calamity affecting producers and consumers. The former realize less for their shipments, while the latter pay higher prices than they would if the fruit and food products arrived in good condition."—Tampa Tribune.

BUYING AT HOME.

Humanity, being equipped with thinking apparatus that works backwards and sidewise equally as well as forward, cannot be expected to conform to consistency at all times. And it doesn't.

Here we are and have been preaching the trade at home doctrine, frequently encouraged and stamped with the approval of our home merchants. We have preached this doctrine so thoroughly that we have gone without needed clothing months at a time, waiting for something appropriate to show up in our local stores. We have paid grocery bills at home that we have decreased at least a third by bringing home the same goods in our car from special sales that were up at different points we have visited. We have even worn shoes that didn't fit because we preferred to accept the laces that our local merchants buy, as a matter of safety, rather than go outside and buy shoes that actually fit. Surely we have sold ourselves this idea of trade at home when we have gone so far as to purchase cigars of our local friends when we get jobbers' prices on better ones, and to purchase sundries at retail that we could buy wholesale because they are handled by the same firms from which we buy tons and tons of various kinds of paper during the year.

All of these things we have been writing about are staples. The quality is uniform. They are not a special made to order product that once made can be used by us and us alone. We have deliberately paid the higher price because it is necessary for us to do so and for all good boosters of Leesburg to do so if our merchants are to be encouraged to expand their business ideas and help Leesburg grow by keeping abreast of the times. They need and must have our trade. It belongs to them, PROVIDED:—

Now here comes the rub and the inconsistency. Numerous instances have come to our attention where some of these same people we have supported at an actual direct loss to our own pocketbooks have gone to other cities where prices were identical with ours and had printing done. They THOUGHT they were beating our prices a few cents or maybe a few dollars on some of the big jobs, but as an actual fact they were not. This may not be true in all instances but we do know it was true in some. It is possible that some of the work sent away went to shops where the old rule of thumb line of reasoning still prevails. Or it is possible some of it went to specialty houses where prices actually are less on one particular line of work than a plant equipped to handle everything from a postcard to a four-color bound book can give on that special line. If the difference in this kind of work is enough to count against the fact that the money is sent away where it has no chance of getting back into the till of the merchant who spent it, well and good. But remember this—the actual cost of the stock bought by the home printer, and the actual cost of the ink used, are the total that goes entirely away from home. The rest of the expense, which is usually more than two-thirds and is, sometimes nine-tenths, goes to pay wages and overhead and profit, if there is any, all of which has a chance of getting back into the merchant's till and bringing him in a bit of profit over and over again.

Do you know that the printing plant keeps more of its receipts at home than any other dealer in your city? Think it over.—Leesburg Commercial.

THOSE JOBLESS EX-SERVICE MEN.

Either the American people are ungrateful or they are afflicted with absent-mindedness to a degree that is little short of criminal. With the signing of the armistice a great sigh of relief and pride swept over this nation. "Our boys had turned the trick," won as we knew they would, and the homecoming of their sadly decimated ranks was a matter of great pride. There were aching hearts, too, but we consoled those who had lost their boy, or husband, or father, with more or less cheering statements of the glory attached to the memory of the lost ones. All very fine and comforting in small degree, no doubt, but what about the promises we as a people made to those who took the chance of going into the hell's-kitchen abroad with brave faces? Have we fulfilled them even in small part? Now you know and we know that that is rather an absurd question. We haven't even began to start to commence to fulfill them!

People of America, ex-service men are on the proffered list right now in the matter of employment. Thousands of disabled ones haven't even the start on what they actually require in the way of necessities for the actual sustenance of life, much less adequate training and hospital accommodations, so that they may once more take their places in the ranks of citizen wage earners, or regain health to the extent that they make a bare living, many of them forced to have recourse to the use of artificial members. And many of them are blind—what about that, America? True, these terribly maimed boys are being given vocational training, but it is not enough, and again we ask: "What about our promises?" Many of us sit back in seeming smug satisfaction over the fact that we have contributed more or less liberally to the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, or other fine workers for our boys, and think: "There, now I have done my share." Puny thought and puny deeds, people of America!

Many of you have doubtless read of the heroic wife who offered herself in bondage for her disabled-in-the-war husband. Does this look like we were doing our share or keeping our promises in even the smallest part? We are good little promisers, we people of America, but it is a noticeable fact that we forget equally as well as we promise. The patriotism has died down, and we are rapidly consigning our ex-service men to oblivion and want, and it is our candid opinion that many thousand veterans now are mere mendicants.

As this is constructive criticism we are going to take the liberty of suggesting a way and the means. Let every wage-earner, professional of business man donate one day's earnings to a fund (our boys gave hundreds of these at the imminent risk of their lives); have this fund placed in the hands of the right kind of a committee so that 75 per cent will not be altered away in clerical hire, and bolster up our hospitals, our vocational schools, our hitherto puny efforts with something real and substantial. No money gifts to be considered no charity, but schools, training, help for the establishment of farms assistance toward a competence. One day's earnings from those who did not serve in the war will do the trick. This little stunt will roll up billions. Why wait on a tardy and slow-moving government? We can do it, so think it over, and act.—Florida Grower.

The erosion we oppose alliance is because our forefathers were wise enough to locate America between two wide wet oceans.

Well, let us hope that the Yanks won't get in the little world series that opens at Washington on the 11.

FIFTY FAT WOMEN.

There are fifty fat women in New York who are reducing flesh under the supervision of the Health Commissioner. There is a prize given at the coming health exhibit at the Grand Central Palace.

The women have lost weight averaging from two to four pounds. Every woman agrees that diet and exercise were great for producing sleep.

"I have not had a good night's rest in several years," said one of the fat women yesterday. "I used to get up several times in the night between dozes and read. I read a whole set of Thackeray without inducing sleep. Now I am so tired when the day ends—and hungry, too—that I just pop into bed, imagine I am surrounded by chocolate creams and in a minute I am asleep. Another unusual thing: I now hate to get up in the morning. I am no longer the family alarm clock."

After setting-up exercises the squad is to walk directly into Central Park. The walk will be extended until the women feel that they have reached the limit of endurance. The fat women will dog-trot along Fifth avenue to the park.

Here is the bill of fare of Saturday:

Breakfast—Half a cantaloupe; one orange or glass of orange juice; cereal, any of the various kinds with tablespoonful of bran sprinkled over; skimmed milk is desired, but no sugar; two bran muffins; tea, coffee, or skimmed milk; skimmed milk may be taken in tea or coffee.

Luncheon—Celery broth; two medium size slices of whole wheat bread; chipped beef and white of two eggs, coddled or raw; lettuce or romaine salad, with lemon juice or vinegar dressing; no oil; tea or coffee; raw apple.

Dinner—Meat broth, clear, skim off grease; two slices of medium-size graham bread; hot or cold ham with little mustard if desired; no fat; boiled or steamed cabbage with or without vinegar; tea, coffee, clear, or buttermilk; cottage cheese, without any cream mixed in.

Petroleum oil upon retiring—a table spoonful.

Plenty of water between meals.

IS IT ANY WONDER?

A man was one day visiting a lunatic asylum, and while walking in the grounds he met a patient, to whom he said:

"Well, how did you get here?"

The man replied:

"Well, sir, you see, I married a widow with a grown-up daughter, and then my father married my wife's daughter, and that made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and my father became my stepson. Then my stepmother, the daughter of my wife, had a son, and that boy, of course, was my brother, because he was my father's son; but he was also the son of my wife's stepdaughter, and therefore her grandson, and that made me grandfather of my stepbrother. Then my wife had a son, so my mother-in-law, the stepmother of my son, is also his grandmother, because he is her stepson's child; my father is the brother-in-law of my child, because his stepfather is his wife; I am the brother of my own son, who is also the son of my step-grandmother; I am my mother's brother-in-law; my wife is her own child's aunt; and I am my own grandfather."

"That's why I am here, sir"—Answers, London.

B. E. SQUIRES WINS SECOND GUESSING CONTEST.

The second day of the DeVoe Mottleton demonstration and the guessing contest at the Ball Hardware Co., was even more successful than the first.

A large number of contestants, spurred by the success of Mrs. Paul Biggers, yesterday, entered their guesses as to the number of bristles in the DeVoe brush which was put on display early in the day.

At 5:30 in the evening a large number of people gathered at the Ball Hardware Co., store, to learn who had made the best guess. The actual number of bristles was announced by the DeVoe factory expert. After it was compared with the guesses it was found that Mr. B. E. Squires had made the closest guess. The Ball Hardware Co., presented him with enough DeVoe velour finish to mottle-tone the room selected in his home.

MILK RIOTS OCCUR IN NEW YORK CITY RESULT OF STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—More violence marked the fourth day of New York's milk strike, in which the deadlock showed no sign of weakening.

From various parts of the city came police reports of attacks on wagons by strike sympathizers and the spilling of milk in the gutters.

The sharpest of these disorders occurred in Brooklyn, where three wagons leaving a milk station were attacked. More than a score of shots were fired, two policemen were injured and nearly a score of men rounded up for questioning.

The wagons, each with a policeman on the driver's seat, had been sent out to peddle milk. Alleged strike sympathizers, taking refuge behind lumber piles, opened fire with bricks.

The drivers hid under seats. The policemen with drawn pistols stood on the running boards. They warned that they would shoot if the barrage of bricks did not stop.

"Go ahead and shoot," the entrenched replied. Then the shooting began and the crowd scattered. No one was hit. Soon reserves arrived and the attacking party was rushed. Two men, arrested for rioting, were held without bail.

On the lower east side, a crowd attacked a wagon carrying milk to a small store and hurled nearly a hundred bottles through the shop's windows, narrowly missing women and children.

Distributors reported more strikers had been replaced and that deliveries were being resumed.
