Attorney Seeks To Restrict Commission From Waging Fight Against Canal Tax

Reverses Position On Old Question

Once Foe Of Project, DeCottes Switches To The Other Side

A complete reversal of position was noted today in the action of George A. DeCottes, legal attorney, in the institution of proceedings by which he seeks to restrain the County Commissioners from taking legal action to prevent, if possible, the levy of a one-mill tax for the benefit of the St. Johns River Navigation District.

Mr. DeCottes, for two years one of the most outspoken opponents of the canal, is, by virtue of his latest step, placed in the position of favoring the canal and approving the imposition of a tax which to defray certain expenses said to have been incurred in preliminary work done by the Canal Board before the waterway project was voted down last year.

The injunctive proceedings are brought in the name of J. F. Pearson, local business man. The action follows closely upon the institution of a similar suit, authorized by the County Commissioners, who, acting upon petitions bearing the signatures of several hundred property owners, distrusted council to take whatever legal measures were necessary to prevent, if possible, imposition of the canal tax.

It was recalled today that Mr. DeCottes fought the canal proposal in the newspaper and spoke often on the question and published in the Herald many statements dealing with the legal aspects involved in the case. After several remedial legislation had been enacted to satisfy objections to the original canal measure, Mr. DeCottes again came to force as an antagonist to the project. The Canal Board sought by unusual proceedings in 1922 to compel Alexander Vaughan, tax collector, to place the one-mill levy on the assessment books, Mr. DeCottes, as county attorney, professed his services free of charge. He ultimately went to the Supreme Court, and Mr. DeCottes stated it's fee in the litigation sum of $1,000 plus $100 inographer's fees and copy Supreme Court decision.

Mr. DeCottes is successful in his efforts to restrain the County from employing counsel to the case, it will mean that a mill tax will be collected, at the taxpayers of Seminole will have to pay out approximately $11,000 toward the cost of the rejected waterway. In addition it would pave way for a similar assessment the next three or four years. (Continued On Page Two)

Utah Reaches Rio With Hoover Party

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 21.—(INS)—President-elect Herbert Hoover's goodwill tour of Latin America reached its climax today when he began a three day visit to Brazil, the biggest and richest of the South American republics. For the moment the U. S. dreadnaught Utah entered the harbor, saluted by thundering canons and the flags of various nations. It was evident that this visit was to be the most colorful and joyful of the 7,000 mile journey to date. The Utah steamed into the bay at 12:05 P. M. (10:05 A. M. E. S. T.) and anchored shortly before 12:30 while 12 brass bands played overhead and the sirens and bells on all the ships in the harbor set up a tremendous din.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—A large, blonde-haired man, giving the name of "William Goldsmith," was the Paris purchaser of morphine, opium and cocaine, valued on illegal markets at $4,000,000, seized upon the French liner Rochambeau at New York in the general American drug investigation, it was disclosed today by International News Service after an investigation in this city and Havre. "Goldsmith" is now believed to be Berlin.

U. S. Treasury Department agents, who have been investigating the European activities of the international drug ring, are making a report to Washington based upon information obtained by International News Service.

"Goldsmith," who had no permanent Paris address, bought the narcotics from Le Favrais and Pianelli, 32 Rue Richelieu, a chemical firm, ordering them shipped to Renner and Company, 10-15 Market Street, Rochester.

There were nine crates in all. The purchaser, according to the French firm, asked that all be numbered from 601 to 609 inclusive and he shipped under the name "Le Garde," without the sender's address.

While agents from New York said that the crates were marked "parcels postale," the chemist declared that each bore a red label with the word "salon." There was an entirely separate crate marked "scrubbing brushes," but "Goldsmith" explained he was sending "brushes" for the convenience of an American client who would not officially declare the narcotics for fear they might be "hijacked."

It is understood that the excise taxes given out informally on Wednesday, very nearly complete the list.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Half a dozen witnesses were under oath to appear before the federal grand jury today when it opened its inquiry into the international drug ring which is alleged to have run 25,000,000 worth of cocaine, morphine and heroin into New York since May.

HIGGINS LEFT-ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 21.—(INS)—Only one member of the family of Theodore Roberts, veteran actor, will share in his estate. It was revealed here today that he is Edward H. Higgins, a nephew. In the will which will be offered for probate today the executors named John Higgins as the sole heir to the vast amount of the estate.

John Higgins led a sharp advance with a 7 point jump to 222. Radio sold up 6 at 232 on revival of the merger rumors and the promise of a definite announcement "today or tomorrow."

Anadarko copper sold up 2 points to $10.12 on the prospect of an increased dividend. It is held that the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, an Anadarko, was unanimously selected as the 1929 convention site of the 50 annual student world poster.

The market was up 10 points in response to the recent Presbyterian College, in Clinton, Ark., award of the 1929 track meet to be held next year.

Senate Postpones Action On Both Measures Till New Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine today endorsed the new McNary farm relief bill and urged congress to enact it in time to apply on the 1929 crops.

Jardine went into detail in announcing the measure, giving his endorsement to the provisions for a Federal farm board, the creation of agriculture stabilization corporations and for government loans to co-operative organizations.

Long's "big navy" bill, it became apparent today,

The action of the Senate in postponing debate on both measures until January 3 sounded a death knell to the hopes of administration leaders for enactment of the new crop control measure first. This would have made their task easier than to secure its passage once the Senate had approved a treaty, which its sponsors contend will outlaw all war between the warring nations of the earth.

The Senate, "irreconcilable" meanwhile welcomed the delay as a period in which to seek recruits for their resolution, amending publicly a set of terms under which America would ratify the treaty. Under the irreconcilables' terms, the treaty would not involve the United States in the conditions of any other treaty, would not restrict her right to act at any time in self-defense and would not commit her to take punitive action against any offending nation. The fate of the resolution remains in doubt although administration leaders predict its defeat.

The irreconcilables hope to win over a majority of the Senate to their resolution in the debate after Christmas. They have contended that the treaty is but a gesture toward peace and that its real meaning and danger lay in the international correspondence which accompanied its negotiations.

KING'S RECOVERY IS NOW REPORTED ON FIRMER BASIS

Physicians Issue Bulletin Stating King Is Still Improving

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—King George's progress towards recovery is now established "on a firmer basis," the attending physicians announced at Buckingham Palace late this afternoon.

The King's heart action is strong.

This bulletin which was issued after a consultation by five of the royal physicians, says:

"A consultation has taken place in order to make a comprehensive survey of His Majesty's present progress, and to discuss lines along which treatment in the immediate future can best proceed. The condition of the right side of the chest is improved, and there is evidence of a more normal respiratory function."

"Healing of the empyema with its severe local infection, though satisfactory must be of necessity, be a lengthy process. The heart is slowly gaining power and, while exhaustion remains profound, a slight excess of general strength is noticeable."

"The further course of the illness must, from its nature, be slow and not without difficulty, but we are happy to state that the King's progress is established on a firmer basis." It was signed by Sir Hugh Rigby, Sir E. Farquhar Gossard, Sir Humphrey Rollett and Lord Dawson of Penn.

"The King passed a good night and there is a continuation of His Majesty's slow progress," the morning bulletin read. It was signed by Sir Stanley Hewitt, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn.

The royal physicians, in an official review of the King's illness published in the British Medical Journal today, indicated that the worst was over.

They stated that the ray treatment was improving beneficially but emphasized that His Majesty's weakness necessitated the slowest progress. They revealed in their review that during the graver periods of his illness, the King was at times delirious.

London newspapers, commenting on the official review of the King's illness today, agreed that there was a reasonable prospect of His Majesty's eventual recovery. Nevertheless, all appeared to believe that his recovery was still a long way off and that many anxious periods would be encountered.

The royal family will spend Christmas at Buckingham Palace for the first time since 1918 when the late President Wilson's visit to England made the usual Christmas holiday celebration at the royal estate at Sandringham impossible.

All of the royal family will be at the King's bedside by Christmas, Prince George, his youngest son, will arrive aboard the HMS Engaria tomorrow. The Duke of Gloucester is due at Southampton from Cape Town aboard the Balmoral Castle on Christmas Eve.

Dated at Sandringham, Nov. 20.

PARIS'S FAMOUS BALZAC DRAWS CROWD IN EXHIBIT

Generous Supply Of Nudes Displayed At
Paris Annually Show

By Alice Langeller
PARIS, Dec. 21.—(INS)—It isn't a salon, it's a saloon ("bathroom") is the general remark made by visitors to this year's Autumn exhibition, now being held in the Palais.

Among the 2,800 works by known artists, there is a more generous supply of nudes, in every possible position and in many and varied dresses. They are not, however, attracting as much attention at Balzac's, which has reopened at this Jubilee exhibition, (the Salon is celebrating its twenty-fifth birthday) after an absence of thirty years.

Forty-two American artists are showing their works, among them the able landscape painter, Charles Thorndike whose "Ferme de l'Estoune" and "Paysage de la Rivière" are characteristic of the picturesque regions. Theodore Butler is showing two tended garden scenes and transports a bit of old estampe which is very good to look at. Louis Heron has views of Corsica and Ethel Mowbray some scenes from Nice, John Schofield, Alice Muth, Emerson and Maud Moore and also among the Americans exhibiting one of the portraits comes from the hands of Countess Pecorini, who was Miss Buckhill of Philadelphia and who seems to give promise of following in the steps of the late Mary Cassatt whose works are much appreciated in France.

In all fairness, it must be said that some of the best work in the Salon this year is exhibited by women from all nations. One can be proud of her representatives, Edna Goss and D. Coles are showing some elegant interiors.

American sculptors include Edmund Turner, with figure of a draped woman well worth viewing. Sydney Waugh has "Vierge de l'Annonciation" in stone which has been greatly sculptured by French and American architects for its architectural character.

Alfred Cash has a well-studied head together with a mask and Richard Lounsway

BOLIVIAN ROW IS SEEN LIKELY TO INVOLVE OTHERS

South American Diplomats Regret Hostilities At This Time

EDITORS' NOTE— Roberto Gómez, author of the following article on the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute, has just been transferred to the New York office of International News Service from South America where he served as a native of Chile, Mr. Gómez has made a study of South American politics.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—One of the break of belligerency between Bolivia and Paraguay is not only a serious problem in itself, but holds grave possibilities for the peace of South American states.

It was unfortunate that the Bolivian-Paraguayan quarrel should flare up just as the territorial controversy between Chile and Peru has been amicably adjusted.

Because of the fighting that has already taken place, the Bolivian-Paraguayan situation has become increasingly delicate and difficult, despite the peace activities of the Pan-American conference in Washington, the League of Nations and various South American republics.

The people of the United States must consider the Latin American temperament when they view the Bolivian-Paraguayan trouble. According to the Latin American viewpoint, "Blood calls for blood" in the case of such clashes as have recently taken place.

It is certain that all conservative South Americans regret that the trouble should have reached a crisis during the goodwill visit of President-elect Hoover to South America.

Paraguay is a small country, not prepared for war, and with limited resources for carrying out a protracted campaign. It is widely believed that the capture of Fort Vanguardia was never inspired by the Paraguayan government, but due to the zeal of the Paraguayan garrison on the frontier.

Bolivia's point of view, however, lies its justification in the fact that the war against Chile in 1879 when she lost Antofagasta and her outlet to the sea, she has an isolated republic. She is going to the east for a sea outlet on the Plata river.

BABSON BELIEVES HOOVER WILL BE GREAT EXECUTIVE

Florida Will Benefit By New Administration, Says Statistician

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 21.—Governor Smith's statesmanlike and patriotic appeal to the American people to give their wholehearted support to President-elect Hoover in the working out of his policies is a tribute to the Governor's fair-mindedness and proof that his highest desire is for the welfare of the wide-American people regardless of political party.

Mr. Hoover will administer the affairs of the nation as an engineer and not as a politician; every action of the country will receive equal consideration and all groups will be accorded fair treatment. Actions of the country that are lagging from a business standpoint will receive constructive efforts to better conditions. Moreover, in first and foremost an engineer and every good engineer works first for the strength of the weakest part of the machine training and instinct he is as constituted that he cannot sit idly and do nothing to improve parts of the machine that are not functioning perfectly. Hence, we may say on the legal indulgence of the law on the beginning of a period of more uniform distribution of prosperity.

"Mr. Hoover can be depended upon to do his best," said Mr. Babson, "for the farmer. He understands the problems involved and no one else will be able to bring back depressed agricultural areas. He has said that he will call a special session of Congress next Spring if the short Democratic session fails to pass a relief measure. If such a law is passed during the December session, the special session, of course, is unnecessary. Hoover is sympathetic with rural farm relief, and the agricultural sections can look for legislation."

Political Map Expect Favorable Reaction. Program.

An unduly undervalued stock market production is more than any other factor. Consequently

New England will receive the benefit of his great technical skill in the form of some constructive program for the improvement of the textile industry. Already there are signs of returning confidence in textile circles. Immediately after Mr. Hoover declared in his Boston address that the textile business had turned the corner, there began a more active buying movement of cotton goods and the whole trade has shown increasing confidence. Of course, there are limitations to the extent which any one man, no matter how astute his position, can influence economic trends. Mr. Hoover, however, knows the conditions of the textile industry better than any other. President we have ever had. Leaders in the textile business have confidence in him, and confidence is the basis upon which prosperity depends.

Florida Will Benefit

"Florida should reflect the general confidence of the nation in the future of business. Northern capitalists will be more ready to invest in that state than they have ever been since the collapse of the boom in 1925. Business prosperity in any section depends fully as much on psychological factors as in material resources. In the past three years of depression Florida's attractions have been just as alluring from an agricultural, climatic, and recreational standpoint as they were during the wild boom of the three preceding years. The only difference was that capitalist had lost confidence and withdrawn their investments from the state. To be sure the hurricane of two months ago was a serious disaster. However, the changing sentiment, the renewed confidence and the implicit faith in Mr. Hoover as a doctor of business troubles should more than offset the retarding influence of the hurricane. Florida is now probably at the beginning of a new period of prosperity. There are a number of straws that show the wind is blowing in that direction. One illustration is that immediately after election an important Florida municipal bond issue, which had been hanging fire for a number of months owing to the inability to sell it was snapped up without hesitation. This happened because wealthy investors once more have confidence that business is going to improve and that Florida will recover.

Parody Of Burns On 'Auld Lang Syne' Is Presented To Federal Library In Capital

Version In Author's Handwriting Received As Gift From Charles Hamlin; Several Other Literary Treasures Displayed

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 21.—A new version of "Auld Lang Syne," in the handwriting of Robert Burns, has been received by the Library of Congress as a gift from Charles J. Hamlin of the Federal Reserve Board, says "The Washington Star."

It apparently is a parody of one of the Scotch poet's best known songs, written by the author himself as a joke after the original song had become popular.

The version reads:

Should auld acquaintances be forgot
And never thought upon,
Let's ha'e a waught o' Malaga

The library has noted out its collection of manuscripts or celebrated authors for a case of literary exhibits just arranged. Among the treasures to see before the public are the manuscript of "Old Ironsides" by Oliver Wendell Holmes, and an unpublished version of Rudyard Kipling. The case also contains the manuscript of seven stories by the late Thomas Hardy included under the title, "A Group of Noble Dames."

But probably the most valuable of all the original manuscripts of twenty poems by Dana Gibson Bartlett, including twelve poems that appeared originally in "The Harvard Lampoon."

These may be the manuscripts which Rossetti, in a fit of grief over the death of his wife from an overdose of morphine, placed in his coffin. Years afterward, he was persuaded to have the coffin opened and published them. They constitute one of the two or three greatest achievements of English literature. These poems were reprinted in 1921 from Mrs. Anne H. Frost and Catherine E. Blundell.

Notice is hereby given that on January 1, 1932, there will be a meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the office of the Chamber in the City of Clermont, to consider the formation of a chamber of commerce for the purpose of furthering local interests. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m.

Dated this the 22nd day of December, A. D. 1929.

AL'S NOMINATION IN 1932 OPPOSED BY DIXIE SOLONS

Representative Green Of Florida Believes Donahey Good Choice

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(INS)—A movement among southern congressmen to another quickly any movement designed to make Governor Alfred E. Smith the Democratic presidential candidate in 1932 was disclosed today in the wake of the attack of Representative Ralph Gilbert (D) of Kentucky on the party's recent came party management.

Bringing to the floor of Congress a political discussion which has been going on in the cloak rooms, Mr. Gilbert declared that Smith's nomination is "unthinkable."

Although some party leaders privately expressed regret that Gilbert has brought up the subject before the public, inquiry developed that other speeches will be made in the near future along the same line.

In making his speech, Gilbert took cognizance of proposals made already by many admirers of Governor Smith that he be kept in the public eye in the next four years and then nominated for the presidency.

The speech was openly endorsed by two members of the Democratic southern delegations who supported Governor Smith.

I agree with Mr. Gilbert. The democratic party made a mistake in nominating Governor Smith, said Rep. Lowry (D) of Missouri.

"I said so at the time, but supported him. It doesn't seem to be the wise thing to consider him in 1932."

I think that Smith is impossible in 1932," said Representative Green (D) of Florida. "While he had a fine record of constructive achievement to take before the people, other considerations made his nomination a mistake. I believe that Governor Donahey of Ohio or some other outstanding dry protestant would have been elected on the Democratic ticket."

It is certain that all conservative South Americans regret that the trouble should have reached a crisis during the goodwill visit of President-elect Hoover to South America.

Paraguay is a small country, not prepared for war, and with limited resources for carrying out a protracted campaign. It is widely believed that the capture of Fort Vanguardia was never inspired by the Paraguayan government, but due to the zeal of the Paraguayan garrison on the frontier.

Bolivia's point of view, however, lies its justification in the fact that the war against Chile in 1879 when she lost Antofagasta and her outlet to the sea, she has an isolated republic. She is going to the east for a sea outlet on the Plata river.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Matt. 10:42 And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.

THE SOUL TO THE BODY

Death is my mercy was my liberator.

And I can quit the tyranny of you,

Now I can skim across the sun's gold crater

And do the sundry things I longed to do;

Walk on the colored clouds when evening comes,

Inhabit trees, be wind to whisper by,

Fall in the lonely rain and beat hot drums,

Or fly with wild gorse through an autumn sky.

Yet I am tortured with this jealousy,

Finding you cold and wistful and at rest;

You have put on for Death the finery

You bid from me who hungered at your breast.

JESSICA POWERS

Good afternoon. Have you had the flu yet?

Only two more shopping days in which to buy the kiddies something for Christmas.

It is only fair to expect, now just before Christmas, that Clarence Saunders has married again, that he will change the name of his "Sole Owner" to "Sole Owner."

The fifteen million dollar bill for the relief of farmers hurt by the September hurricane has passed the Senate. Lets see now, didn't we have some good beds damaged around here.

At a late hour this afternoon just before going to press, the price of pinworms had not yet begun to rise in spite of Dr. Hinman's assertion that they are the real cause of appendicitis.

Thomas Pagini, a Chicago traffic officer, is the kind of a cop they need in Chicago. In the whole department he was the quickest man on the draw. The only trouble in the fast time he drew, he shot the wrong man, hitting himself in the leg before the gun was used.

Senators of Sanford published The Herald of this city the other day. From all indications the smallest department of the University of Florida and the Florida State College for Women will have some fine material from the city next year. — Gainesville Sun.

Pat Harrison calls the administration's attempt to have the bill to prohibit the sale of what he calls "drinking water" passed right along with the Kellogg treaty to outlaw war, bad names. He says the bill would show the country that peace is an important factor in the morale of the people.

There is in the bill providing for the expenses of the post office department an item that will, if it passes, be in the sense the other day. Or at least, the Republicans members of that body had an opportunity to make a magnanimous gesture, indicating their purpose to carry out their oft-repeated campaign promises.

Did they do it? Not so that The Congressional Record could notice it.

Perhaps the party had a plain why, when it had a chance to make good its absolute declination to carry out its promise. On the other hand, the Democratic introduction of the amendment intended to be used in destroying the liquor traffic—if this can be done.

Here in Denver, a very thoughtful man is charged with being, in a manner of speaking, the author of the present legislation, according to the best information available.

A hand of college scientists researchers propose to investigate the cause of tuberculosis in a study probably illustrating the many causes of the disease to determine the conditions, practice in hospitals, for psychiatric care, especially in Democrat and Christian.

Holly Substitutes

Since the Florida legislature has enacted a law prohibiting the cutting of holly, many persons are perhaps wondering what plants or shrubs they might best use for Christmas decorations, a custom which they would quite naturally regret to abandon. It has been suggested that myrica and mistletoe, which grow in abundance in this section, are excellent materials for beautifying the homes at this season. Their odor is pleasant, they are easily obtained, and they lend an atmosphere of the Yuletide season.

Myrica, or myrica cerifera, is perhaps better known as wax myrtle or candleberry. It grows luxuriously throughout the South usually to a height of three or four feet, although it is found sometimes as tall as eighteen feet. It is readily identified by evergreen, almost rectangular, lanceolate leaves, with two small serratures on each side at the point, sprinkled with resinous dots. Small dry drupes or nuts grow on the bushes and have a commercial value being sometimes used for making candles. When ripe they are covered with a greenish-white wax. It makes an especially satisfactory Christmas decoration as the bark and leaves, when slightly bruised emit a most appealing fragrance.

The mistletoe should be in great demand at the Christmas season, not only because of its abundance, but also because of the unusual artistic effect with which it can be used. This shrub belongs to the family Loranthaceae of which there are almost five hundred varieties. The species found in this country, particularly in the Southeastern part of the United States is the Phoradendron flavescens. It is found growing upon oaks and various other kinds of hardwood trees. With its forked stems, its yellowish-green, obtuse, obovate-lanceolate leaves, and its small white translucent berries, it is particularly appropriate for Christmas decorations.

In a state like Florida where we have such a wealth of material from which to choose for the proper decoration of our homes at Christmas time, it seems particularly unfortunate that a bad habit into which we have fallen of almost invariably using holly should almost effect the extermination of one of our most beautiful plants. Christmas can well be Christmas without holly decorations, so let's let the Holly rest this year and give it a chance to recover from the onslaughts of previous seasons.

Tourists And Agriculture

We have long been of the opinion that the backbone of Florida's development should be tourist and agriculture. It cannot be denied that Florida has reached the present stage of its progress because northern capitalists saw that its ideal climate and bathing beaches provided the finest places in America in which to spend the winter. But Florida has in its soil and in the things which that soil will produce something even more of an asset than in its hotels and apartment houses.

"Florida will never grow rapidly to the great commonwealth which it is destined to be," says Arthur Brisbane when interviewed recently by a reporter on the Jacksonville Journal, "until it learns to depend upon other things besides tourists. Tourists alone will not make a state; it must have a diversity of things. Agriculture. That, what Florida should develop. Industries, if they are needed, should be obtained."

"Perhaps the biggest thing in Florida's favor today," he continued, "is aviation. I have long been a booster of aviation and it will have a great part to play in the future development of not only Florida, but of the nation."

"In a little while airplanes will be flying 300 miles an hour. That will make Florida three or four hours from New York. That is just as close as Atlantic City is to the metropolis today."

"And here's a point. Mammoth planes will come to Florida carrying people of wealth because it is easier to reach Florida than any other part of the country. Planes have difficulty in flying over mountains."

"The reason Florida has suffered from adverse publicity is simple," he went on to say. "It has suffered because it is in the public's eye probably more than a great many other states. It has come to be known as the rich man's playground."

"It shouldn't be known as such, for the poor have as much fun there as the man with money. But everybody looks at Florida. And when a windstorm comes along, its damage is greatly exaggerated."

With the proper development of agriculture which is sure to come just as soon as farmers in the North and other sections of the country realize that in this state there are millions of acres lying idle which will grow anything on earth, and with the continued increase in the tourist traffic as certain as the further development of the airplane is certain, nothing can keep Florida from becoming one of the two or three greatest states in the Union.

Let's see. Were we not promised a strict enforcement of the prohibition laws, in the pre-election Republican promise? We were, unless the general recall election is entirely catawampus and not to be ruled upon.

Well, the Republican party had a fine opportunity to carry out its promise, in the sense the other day. Or at least, the Republicans members of that body had an opportunity to make a magnificent gesture, indicating their purpose to carry out their oft-repeated campaign promises.

Did they do it? Not so that The Congressional Record could notice it.

INDIANS IS VOTED FOR JULY

Never Is Selected As Place For Powwow;
Thousands Expected

DENVER, Dec. 21.—(INS)—An Indian congress, bringing together in peaceful powwow representatives of all the tribes of America for the first time in history in prospect as a group of Indian leaders forwarded a plan which they will present to the Congress of the United States.

Delegates, numbering several hundred, from all the tribes scattered over the territory west of the Mississippi River will gather in Denver next July. It plans matriculation for a two week's convention where they will smoke their pipes of peace and recount, in friendly manner, battles of the days of tomahawk, war paint, arrows and wigwams.

Meet In Denver
Thousands of Indians in addition to the delegates would probably flock to Denver during the convention.

Such a conclave would be given a special camping ground in one of the city's parks or tourist camping grounds, where the Indians could dress in their native costumes and display their famous beadwork, baskets and blankets.

It was pointed out that 90 percent of the Indians of the country live west of the Mississippi River. Denver is the geographical center of their universe, and therefore the convention was brought here, the mile high city would probably be made the Indian capital of the world.

Government To Aid

Financial support for the meeting would come mostly from the national government, which will be asked to appropriate $25,000. Colorado will be asked for $15,000, and the Indians themselves will be called upon for $10,000 to be raised through individual subscription.

Members of the Colorado delegation in Congress have already introduced bills asking approval of proposed congress, with an application to aid in financing the meeting.

AIRPLANES SAFE
AS AUTOMOBILES
SEEN IN FUTURE

Harry F. Guggenheim
Enthusiastic About
Possibilities Of Air

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Progress in the development of the aerodynamically safe airplane which will compare favorably with the motor car in safety and ease of operation, were explained by Harry Guggenheim, president of the General Guggenheim Fund for the promotion of Aeronautics.

Solving of planes and fog are greatest problems of aviators

Undoubtedly by far the most serious cause of airplane accidents today is due to the stall," he said. Mr. Hendley Page has been working for many years on the development of the stalled wing. The effect of the slot is to delay or prevent the breakdown of the air stream around the wing which with ordinary wing section occurs at speeds of about sixteen degrees to the wind. It is the breakdown of the flow which causes the loss of control. Recently, Mr. Page has invented an automatic device which prevents the loss of control and eliminates the possibility of an unintentional stall.

To Aid Progress

Follow the aerodynamically safe and efficient interests in the airplane, involved in safety, may not require for the time being, but ordinary development, the mechanical and electrical, and that is flying.

GO TO LIVE CHACO CIELO LARGE CLINIC AS GREETER IS NOW HEALTH ADJUNCT

Regular Physical Examinations Expected To Be Disease Check

CHEGAGO, Dec. 21 (INS)—A community effort designed to save life and reduce economic waste has been proposed for Chicago.

President Roosevelt's examinations in the community will save a vast sum annually through the prevention of illness and will be free to employees and employers and will succeed in saving money, Hurley, Chicago manufacturer, who first suggested the clinic.

More than a million dollars will be raised by the public and Hurley has offered his aid to raise the amount.

Lots By Hurley
Hurley has offered his aid in finding names of older workers in American industries for younger men in order to physical examination of workers to their best advantage.

In the preparation of the clinic, would be done away with by the community clinics. The clinic would examine workers and recommend practicalities which would affect changes of occupation.

At present losses each year to the nation from preventable illnesses among 42,000,000 employees amount to $1,000,000,000, or over 47,500,000,000, eight-hour days, which amounts to a direct loss of three billions per year in productive capacity.

The Chicago manufacturer declared that under the leadership and cooperation of Northwestern and Chicago universities, the clinic may be pointed to eliminate this loss, as well as do away with the needless suffering and family distress which lies ahead.

Preventive Defects

Hurley declared that business losses from declared health defects were estimated at one-half of man's existence compared to the loss from preventable bodily defects and breakdown among the nation's population.

In a statement Hurley said:

"Medical leaders and students of medical conditions recognize the importance of preventive medicine, but the scientists have not yet reached a point of availability for the masses of people. Men and women of science are engaged in the development of health conserving institutions or in entire hospitals for observation but persons of average means, due to the cost of treatment, cannot afford this preventive service."

"Chicago should take the initiative to the rest of the people, to make our sources of our economic security and progress, by establishing scientific economic clinics of health insurance, in connection with well-known specialists in every branch of therapeutics in charge of the various departments."

Expect Sheriff To Arrest Indian For Murdering Widow

DETROIT, Dec. 21 (INS)—An Indian, who is thick and not in his 20s, camp here today that the sheriff of Calumet County will break century-old custom and arrest Chief Justice James Jackson, 72, for the killing of his widow in a little cabin in the woods.

Officials said that since no official record of the killing had been made, there is little in the country, there is little in it to hot water to catch him.

As long as there is individual recrimination, he will not be caught.

In order to protect the sheriff, he has been told that he must provide that the work should start with the date when the Secretary of the Interior has confirmed for sale of water, which will be used for the diversion of the diverted water to the Imperial Valley.

The provision calls for amortization of the cost with 50 per cent.

The proposed power plant was a home of contention during the debate in Congress. The bill, introduced three months ago, has been referred to the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation, and the Senate Select Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation in the House.

The Indians, who have been all along in the water rights battle, have been asked to join the negotiations.

They have been asked to join the negotiations.

PARAGUAY ONCE SOUGHT RICKARD FOR WAR LEADER

Offer To Stage His Biggest Battle In 1913 Was Rejected

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—How he narrowly missed promoting a fight far bigger than any that he was yet staged, nothing short of a war between Bolivia and Paraguay, was explained recently by Tex Rickard who claims to know more about the present dispute between the two countries than any man in the United States. Mr. Rickard passed eight years of his life in Paraguay, raising cattle and killing them packing and shipping them, and he still owns about 500 square miles of land in the Gran Chaco, the disputed territory.

In 1913 Tex Rickard was one of ten Texan cowboys who were sent there by the Farquhar Syndicate, a concern which was interested in the development of the resources of the country. Rickard and his outfit were to clear the country, fence it, stock it with cattle, and generally supervise the field work of the syndicate.

Toured Back when Threatened "In 1913," said Mr. Rickard, "I came up through the Argentine with twenty cowboys, 50,000 head of cattle and a train of about fifty wagons, with the idea of crossing into Paraguay across the Pilcomayo River, the boundary between Paraguay and the Argentine. Well, as soon as we got into Paraguay we came across a lot of forts, all filled with Bolivians. And these Bolivians—soldiers they were—said that if we didn't turn back they'd shoot us. So, you see, as far back as 1913 Bolivia had just quietly annexed a province of Paraguay as far down as the twenty-fourth parallel."

"Well, we thought we'd better go round, so we came on again and went south through the Argentine to Asuncion and I crossed across the eastern boundary, the Paraguay River. When we got there we told them how there were a lot of Bolivians sitting in forts in the middle of Paraguay, and that vexed them a bit. It was the first they'd heard of it; I guess

"Any way, they all came around crossed here I was the first white to me, the President, the Cabinet man ever to have crossed it."

Sent Defeat For Bolivia

"That stretch of country there is filled with thirty or forty thousand Indians, big Indians, too, and though lots of white men had gone in there before me none of them had ever come out again. Just before I went in a bunch of surveyors had gone in to explore. Well, a few months later the Indians came out with a lot of surveyor's instruments, compasses and glasses and telescopes and things like that, trying to trade them. They got the instruments back, but they never saw the surveyors again. The Indians didn't trouble me any, though, I guess the other fellows didn't treat 'em right."

Drought And Frosts Hurt Florida Crops

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 21 (INS)—Lack of rainfall, freezing weather and heavy frosts during the past week were very detrimental to the fruit and vegetable crops of Florida, according to the weekly report of A. J. Mitchell, government meteorologist, issued today.

Moisture is badly needed, especially in the uplands of the state, while low temperatures either severely damaged or killed young vegetation in the western and central sections of the state.

In some instances replanting was necessary, the report said.

Florida Democrats Remain Split, Says Political Observer

Regulars Bent Upon Ousting Chiefs Of Revolt But Giving Ranka New Chance'

Harmony Is Urged By Governor-Elect

Anti-Smith Group Is Clamoring For Resignation To Realign Job

Anti-Smoothie's

Democrats present a article appearing in the New York Herald Tribune relative to political conditions in Florida. The story is as follows:

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 18.

Self-damaging as it may appear,

Florida Democratic organization seems bent on ridding out of party those who led the anti-Smith revolt which landed the state in the Republican Presidential column and put the Republican party "on the state map" for the last time.

Despite a plan for harmony

Doyle E. Carlton, Democratic Governor-elect, and warchings from some of the solidly Democratic state press that resistance to the return of Hoover Democrats might justly make John T. Crawford, veteran Democratic National Committee, stand on his commitments that the rank and file of the old-timers are welcome, but their leaders.

Many Joining Republicans

The result is that revolt leaders of the counties have quieted over to the rapidly organized Republican party and those which Republican state leaders have been assured would join the Republican party to hold over ten per cent of the Democrats in the state and nation.

Democrats violently disagreed as to the moral and legal of party members to support

Governor Smith's candidacy, the question is, party which the Democratic State Commmittee, preparatory to the election of 1928, must decidwhether to enforce in the pre-existing state law law

from the primary of a given voter who did not support that party's nominees in the preceding election.

Challenge Validity Of Law

In the other time, the original anti-Smith leaders, including potential candidate for Governor challenge the validity of the and the right of Mr. Crawford to speak for the party as up to the executive committee to say whether the Democ-atic party in Florida is to be a minority party."

were won the battle for in-the election of 1928, and buy any kind of oil without thinking very much about it.

Here's a Texaco Service you'll appreciate

Let your neighborhood Texaco Station take care of your car. Drive in every five hundred miles. Ask the attendant to see if the oil should be drained. Have the shackles and chassis lubricated. Do this regularly. Your car deserves it.

Well cared for cars are quiet cars. Clean, full-bodied golden oil in the crankcase, freshly greased spring shackles and gears cushioned against wear and noise are easily worth the little time it takes for thorough Texaco Lubrication Service.

Texaco Golden Motor Oil is clean, clear and full-bodied. It holds its body at highest engine temperatures . . . and flows freely when the engine is cold. Texaco is free from the impurities that cause other oils to thicken and slow up during the winter months. It protects from the first turn of the starter.
