Federal Warnings Draw Big Yawns

The seemingly endless series of cancer warnings emanating from Washington these days has given a lot of sensible people who know a severe case of fatalistic concern. "Everything causes cancer" is the frequently heard refrain as each new warning reaches a bemused populace.

A public bombarded with these warnings in recent years has come to suspect the relevance of testing procedures used to determine the carcinogenic potential of substances from saccharin to Scotch. Need we really be concerned if rats injected with the daily saccharin equivalent of 400 12-ounce cans of soft drink tend to develop bladder cancers?

Those whose doubts have been aroused now have a suitably impressive ally. Dr. William R. Barclay, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, had this to say in an editorial published in the Journal's current edition: Tests that form the basis of these reports are often conducted with dosages that exceed any to which man could be exposed, are given by inappropriate routes, and are finally evaluated by persons of questionable expertise in the field of tumor history.

Dr. Barclay hardly needed to add that, "Although ignorance of the existence of a hazard can be dangerous, false information can be even more dangerous." Not the least of these dangers is that posed by the credibility of a government perceived to be repeatedly crying wolf.

Dr. Barclay recommends that editors of medical journals carefully review government test procedures and resulting data used to justify a cancer warning and then publish their own assessments. A skeptical public would presumably welcome and benefit from such second opinions.

Better yet, the Food and Drug Administration and the federally funded National Cancer Institute should reconsider their standards for determining whether a substance is likely to cause cancer in humans. Until the federal government can convince people like Dr. Barclay, many of its cancer warnings aren't likely to produce more than a yawn from millions of Americans whose health might hang in the balance.

Space Fantasy?

Neither the Americans nor the Russians have a monopoly on ideas for future use of space technology. Scientific journals in both countries talk about space stations generating solar electricity and beaming it down to earth. They publish sketches of factories and laboratories in orbit, and space platforms to launch human voyagers on years-long trips to the planets.

All of this seems a bit closer with the return to earth of two Soviet cosmonauts, apparently in good health, after spending almost six months in the weightless world of their Salyut space station. Their 175 days in orbit broke the space endurance record set by a previous Salyut crew, and compared with the 94 days which was the limit set by a crew of U.S. astronauts aboard Skylab in 1973.

The Russians appear to be laying the groundwork for some of these future projects. We will find out when Moscow chooses to let us know. Our own manned space program remains in hibernation. The Space Shuttle, which will send astronauts into orbit for the first time since 1975, has run into development problems delaying its first launch. Originally scheduled for this year, the test is now set for next July at the earliest.

The reusable shuttle will open the way for frequent, relatively inexpensive missions carrying people and materials into orbit. The Russians have been going down a different track. Their program seems to envision putting crews in space stations for prolonged periods, using an unmanned cargo ship to ferry up supplies.

Whatever direction U.S.-Soviet relations may take here on earth, it is evident our spacecraft will be traveling the same stellar freeways in the 1980s and beyond. We can hope that the next chapters in the space story are inspired more by the friendly spirit of the joint Apollo-Soyuz mission of 1975, and not by the script of "Star Wars."

Around The Clock By DONNA ESTES. How many times have you heard citizens' groups urging people to write their congressmen about one issue or another? Florida's congressional delegation is pulling a switch. They are urging Floridians to write to the Secretary of the Navy about an issue — the possibility of naming a "capital ship of the Navy" the U.S.S. Florida. They want Floridians to support the proposal.

VIEWPOINT And Then After The Ayatollah

By DON GRAFF Holding the Ayatollah Khomeini's coat must be a full-time job for someone in what passes for a government in Iran these days. That grim eminence shows no hesitation whatsoever in taking on all comers in the factual infighting into which the glorious revolution against the shah's tyranny has degenerated in less than a year.

He has suppressed dissent Arabs in the vital oil-producing region at the head of the Persian Gulf and launched a military campaign against a Kurdish rebellion that turned out to be mostly his own imagination.

Meanwhile, his firing squads continue to pick off individual undesirable at a steady clip. His has been the type of ruthless performance that gives revolution a bad name. But it has been successful in guaranteeing that one question that need not be asked about Iran today is who's in charge.

LIGHTER SIDE Through Real America

By DICK WEST (aka RIMBEE) and RIMBEE (aka RIMBEE) WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three weeks ago, this date, I departed myself as a businessman and set forth in search of the "Real America" that President Carter keeps talking us exists somewhere out there across the wide Polaris.

A managery is essential in a quest of this sort. For if Real Americans suspect you are an itinerant Washingtonian, they won't give you the straight dope about themselves.

That probably is President Carter's problem. His forays into Real America, made without cloaking his true identity, give him a distorted picture of what is like out there.

To get an unvarnished version of what Real Americans are like, you've got to pass yourself off as one of them.

I made it a point of identifying myself as Rimbeest Rookerhenthorn, a turkey-wristle professor of Botany at the University of Wisconsin in Stevens Point, Wis. My traveling companion I introduced as "the missus," a Real Americanian that incident had a name with her name.

Except for being incongruous, I did the types of things Carter does when he ventures into Real America.

Unfortunately, I was unable to book passage on the Delta Coaster, the fastest Coaster train down the Mississippi. I did, however, spend an evening about the Mark Twain, a paddle-steamer that makes nightly excursions along the New Orleans waterfront as far downstream as the F. Edward Hebert Hotel in New Orleans.

Until you have seen the F. Edward Hebert Hotel through the night, you haven't seen Real America.

All up and down the river, I saw big crowds of Real Americans waiting on the levee. This illustrates the point I was making.

When Carter, traveling as president, saw big crowds of Real Americans waiting on the levee,

RONALD REAGAN Is There An Energy Facism?

Recently, a young California economist I know sent a detailed and thoughtful memo about the energy program President Carter announced in his July 15 television speech. About the same time, another friend, who is a prodigious thinker on the quality of American life, wrote to me from New England.

They have never met, but their conclusions are remarkably similar. In effect they say that, by letting politicians compound the problems they have caused about energy over the years, we are not only not solving our actual energy needs, but we are heading toward a sharp reduction of individual liberty, as well.

The California economist begged his memo, "The Sunday Night Sermon: Big Mother Emerges." He wrote, "The latest energy crusade advocates the most ruthless intervention of the state into the decisions and freedoms of the private sector — of human beings. Consider the spectacle: in the year 1979, the federal government in Washington is setting thermostat by command. The loss of wealth, of economic growth — as pronounced as they would be under the Carter proposals — are less than half the problem. The major issue is the threat to individual liberty and personal freedom posed by politicians trumpeting their pet power."

Cab Rate Hike Ordinance Due Sept. 10 In Sanford

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer An emergency ordinance increasing taxicab rates 25 percent across the board in the city of Sanford will be adopted by the Sanford City Commission Sept. 10, to be effective until other city law is revamped, the city commission decided this week.

Currently fares in the city, according to a set up of nine zones, range from 55 cents to $2.25 from various areas into the central part of the city. The increase will raise these fees from 60 cents to $2.71.

The rate increase will affect all nine cab companies operating in the city. Each of the companies has one cab, according to a city hall spokesman. Five of the vehicles are included in an association known as Sanford Cabs & Limos.

Felton Brooken of Sefaway was told by Mayor Lee P. Moore on Monday night, as a result of a fact-gathering visit to the Sefaway Cab Co. by City Manager Warren Knowles, to comply with city law now on the books by having his vehicles inspected by the police department.

Knowles also told commissioners the cabs are not obeying city law requiring certificate holders of the vehicles to imprint their names on the doors of the taxis. "The rate ordinance as now written," Knowles said, "is not and cannot be enforced."

The problem is with the wording in the ordinance. Consequently, he said, "They charge what the traffic will bear and the charges depend on which cab is called."

In addition, Knowles said, because no manifests are kept of information on who is picked up where and delivered to where for how much, it is impossible to enforce the ordinance. "The ordinance as written is not the powder to blow it you know where," he said.

He said the law requires cabs which are two or more years old to be inspected by the police department every three months. Knowles said the entire ordinance should be rewritten or the rate regulation portion thrown out.

The commissioners authorized preparation of an ordinance calling for associations of three or more taxicabs to operate 24 hours daily; for firms with less than three cabs to operate on a regular basis of five days weekly 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day; to require meters be installed in all cabs, and to delete the re-inspecting requirement.

Knowles suggested the city could be held liable if it does not regulate the safety of the taxicabs. It will take a minimum of 60 days to adopt the revamped ordinance. The emergency ordinance raising rates is to be adopted at the Sept. 10 meeting. It will remain in effect 30 days.

Pentagon Moving To Help Chrysler?

WASHINGTON — While Congress and the administration consider ways to help Chrysler Corporation out of its predicament, the Pentagon appears to be engaged in a quiet but massive bailout of Chrysler.

A revolutionary "space-tank" called the XM-1. The Army wants to build 7,000 of them at a projected cost of $1 billion to $2 billion. The XM-1 is a 100-ton tank with a 100-ton turret. It is a new way, it's hard to discourage them.

The trouble with the Chrysler-developed XM-1 is that it's operated by a turbine engine which, like those that power jet aircraft, is extremely expensive to build and run. The XM-1 is a 100-ton tank with a 100-ton turret. It is a new way, it's hard to discourage them.

On paper, the XM-1 looks great. The 10-ton tank can go up to 80 mph on a road. The XM-1 is a 100-ton tank with a 100-ton turret. It is a new way, it's hard to discourage them.

But the XM-1 is a 100-ton tank with a 100-ton turret. It is a new way, it's hard to discourage them.

Connally Plans Seminole County Campaign Stop

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Former Gov. John Connally, Republican presidential candidate, and his family, campaigning in Florida for the past three weeks, will end the current tour this week with an appearance and speech at the local GOP's presidential rally and fund Saturday. The event is scheduled from 3 to 6 p.m. at Camp San Pedro in southwest Seminole County off Dyke Road.

Connally, who was the former secretary of the navy's youngest son, Mark 27, and his wife, Anne. The couple earlier campaigned in Tampa, St. Petersburg, Leesburg and Mt. Dora. "We have been hitting the caucuses for the state convention in November," said the younger Connally.

"Although we've been working in the area less than a month, we came close to (Ronald) Reagan in Hillsborough and ended in a dead heat in Pinellas," said Connally, noting that Reagan is obviously the major contender for the Republican nomination in Florida. "Reagan support has been here for some time and (Congressman Phil) Crane has been here too."

"Either many Republicans have not decided who their choice for the party's candidate will be or they're soft on who they are for," Connally said. In both Hillsborough and Pinellas counties, he said, the delegates to the November convention in Orlando was by election. The delegates in Seminole County are to be selected Sept. 8 through a process of picking names out of a hat.

"It is an awkward way of selecting delegates," said Connally, "but it's drawing a lot of interest to the Republican Party in the state. The convention will add emphasis to Florida."

The convention itself, like the presidential primary next March, will not commit any delegates to the Republican National Convention in the summer of 1980. "The state convention gives us the opportunity to meet a number of people in Florida who will ultimately be supporters," said Connally. "It comes before the Iowa convention and the New Hampshire primaries and hopefully we will get a good bunch of public relations out of it."

Mark, a banker, who graduated from the University of Texas with a degree in finance, is a major supporter on the Connally team. He insisted the milk scandal which his father was indicted and later acquitted and his father's change of political affiliation from Democrat to Republican will have little effect on the campaign. "We look at it as a plus. He was found innocent. We are ready to pack up and go on to the next issue," he said. The Washington should Connally win the election. "He'll have plenty to do there and we're sure he will have someone more qualified to help him than us," Connally said. "We are a close family, but not that close."

"There are 3,800 people in Floresville, Tex. where we live. It is a good atmosphere in which to raise our daughter, Katie," said Anne. Connally said his father's major campaign theme is the need to take a hard line on inflation and his strong feeling that presidential terms should be limited to six years, with limited tenure as well for senators and congressmen. In addition, he said, his father believes the tenure of federal judges should be reviewed every 10 years, with a mandatory retirement age set.

Reward For Arrest Of 'Angel Of Death'

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — There's a new $50,000 price on Dr. Josef Mengele's head — making him number one on the list of most wanted Holocaust criminals. Mengele was a young doctor of medicine when he joined the Nazi SS to serve as camp physician at the Auschwitz-Birkenau complex in Poland. From his office above Crematorium Number One, SS Capt. Mengele allegedly directed the selection of men, women and children for the gas chambers and ran the camp's notorious genetics laboratory from May 1943 to January 1945. According to Nazi Hunter Simon Wiesenthal, the man who tracked down Hitler's extermination chief Adolf Eichmann, Mengele personally selected 200,000 children and 200,000 adults for the gas chambers during 1944 alone. Mengele, now 68, was dubbed "the Angel of Death" by camp inmates because it was alleged by he who decided who was strong enough for a life of slave labor and who was weak and should die. A total of 4 million people, most of them Jews, were gassed, shot, starved, tortured or worked to death at Auschwitz. As head of the Genetic Experimentation Laboratory, Mengele allegedly used thousands of children as guinea pigs in experiments aimed at fulfilling Hitler's dream of breeding a blond, blue-eyed race. For example, he allegedly tested dozens of different chemicals on children in search of an injection that would change the color of eyes from brown to blue. Most of these children died agonizing deaths.

As head of the Genetic Experimentation Laboratory, Mengele allegedly used thou-

What we didn't learn.

Maybe we're successful as funeral directors because of the things we didn't learn from books. Such as thoughtfulness. And understanding. And compassion. And respect. These are the qualities you can't get out of a book or a classroom — but they mean more to us (and to the families we serve) than anything we've ever been taught.

Cook Of The Week Former Ding-A-Ling Who Turns Rascal Plans Ahead

Erma Killian adjusts Ranchburgers seasonings.

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Erma Killian used to be a Ding-A-Ling but now she is a Rascal and she is proud of it. Of course it might help by explaining the Ding-A-Lings are a musical group in Deland and Erma was one of the musicians. About three years ago, she and the late Jerry Fresse thought Sanford should have its own band and they formed the Sanford Serenaders after rounding up several area musicians.

If that were not enough, she also plays bass guitar and banjo for a 4-piece dance band known as the Rhythm Rascals. Every Wednesday afternoon Erma and the other Sanford Serenaders can be found playing dance tunes at the Civic Center while the senior citizens trip the light fantastic. Erma gets her talent from a musical family. "My father played violin, one sister played the accordion, another sister the drums and me on banjo. We played a lot of Dixieland and music for square dances." The end came, however, when "my sister got married and broke up the band."

Erma and her husband, Jake, first came to Sanford from Canton, Ohio, to visit one of her sisters and then toured the state. When they decided to move to Florida 10 years ago they decided to settle in Sanford because they liked it best, she said. Music is very important to Erma and she and Jake often have people over to their house at 3513 S. Park Ave. for jam sessions where even the walls are decorated with musical instruments.

With guests dropping by unexpectedly and with her music playing, Erma and Jake often have people over to their house at 3513 S. Park Ave. for jam sessions where even the walls are decorated with musical instruments. Erma and her husband, Jake, first came to Sanford from Canton, Ohio, to visit one of her sisters and then toured the state. When they decided to move to Florida 10 years ago they decided to settle in Sanford because they liked it best, she said. Music is very important to Erma and she and Jake often have people over to their house at 3513 S. Park Ave. for jam sessions where even the walls are decorated with musical instruments.

Where's 'Bev' From 6 To 8 Every Morn?

DEAR ABBY: About Beverly, the beautiful, meticulously groomed wife who arrives at 3:45 every morning, spends two hours dressing and leaves at 6 a.m. for a 15-minute drive to her job which begins at 8 a.m. You seem to have overlooked a piece of key information. Just where is Beverly between 6 a.m. and 8 a.m.? Many of us will not be able to sleep until we know. Also, what kind of shape is she in when she arrives at her job? Still sleek and perfectly groomed? Or perhaps with a few spangles missing here and there? Office clerks who start out for work two hours early every day are usually a pretty shifty bunch!

If you would like to put a gunstone on this lady, many of us readers would be glad to chip in.

ARTHUR RYEM
BLOOMINGTON, IND.

DEAR ARTHUR: Where Beverly goes for two hours before work every morning is anybody's guess. She could be doing anything from attending yoga class to meeting a lover who works the night shift.

I wondered, too. But since her husband apparently isn't curious, I say, "Never wise up a champion."

DEAR ABBY: I am in desperate need of your help. I am a 15-year-old boy, clean-cut and religious, but I am a child molester.

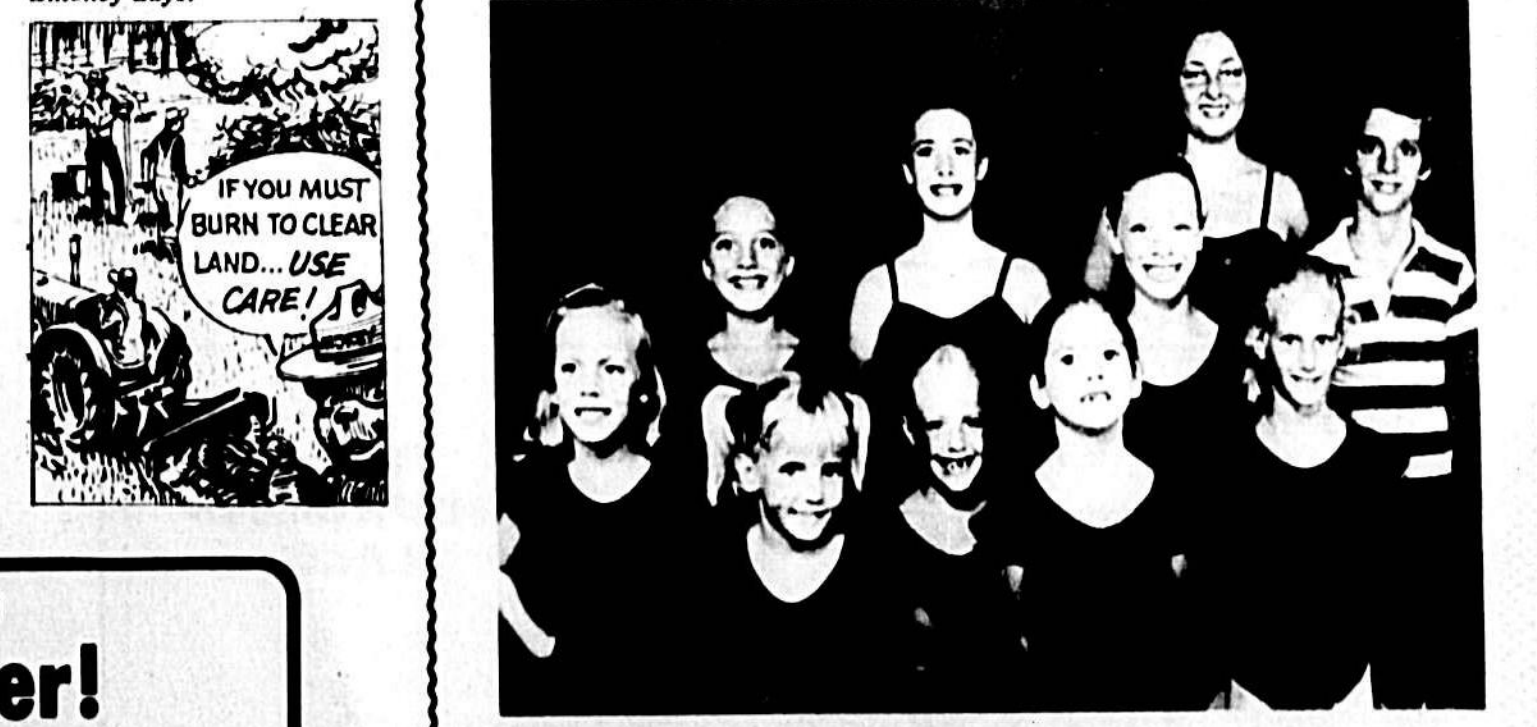

Everytime I baby-sit, or am alone with a child from a year or two older, I just can't control myself.

I know I have a problem. Please tell me where I can go for help before I do something really terrible. I am almost at my wit's end.

I can't talk to my parents about this.

DESPERATE IN UTAH

DEAR DESPERATE: You say you are religious. Could you talk to your clergyman about this? If not, please call your local mental health clinic and tell them you urgently need an

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BRDE OSOL

For Thursday, August 23, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY Aug. 23, 1979 Although it may not be evident to you, Lady Luck will be working on your behalf this coming year. Have faith and if an inner voice tries to guide you, heed it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Emotional disturbances occur today because you are in conflict with what you want in life and how to achieve it. Get your priorities in order. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail it for each to Astro-Graph, Box 488, Radio City Station, New York N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You are a little too touchy for your own good today and could allow harmless remarks to take on unintended meanings. Don't overreact before you analyze.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Make certain the people you spend your day with and the activities you share are worth the expense or you'll have regrets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Every once in a while while realizing it, you can place your desires above anyone else's rights. This could be one of those days. Watch out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A lack of understanding or not having all the facts could cause you problems today. The one you'd hurt would be yourself. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Just because you may want something from another doesn't mean he or she is able to deliver. Don't place in person in an uncomfortable position.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Failing to get along with others today may cost you a tendency to emotionalize facts rather than seeing things for what they are. Be logical.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unfortunately, the last thing you'll want to do today is to get to work yet that is where the demand will be. It's a fact of life, so grin and bear it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Loveliest comes from building a dependency on others to do things with us. You could experience this today unless you plan solo activities.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If a loved one disappoints you today, recall that he or she is only human. Instead of pointing the finger, try to perfect your ability to forgive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Co-workers won't be the easiest people to get along with today. South often has a look in the mirror to see if you could be contributing to the problem.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Wanting nice things and being able to afford them are two entirely different things. Check your bank balance before purchasing.

Allergic Reaction Can Be Tricky

DEAR DR. LAMB—When we sat down to dinner last night, my face was normal. Within 10 minutes of starting to eat, my face swelled up from the area just in front of my ear down to about 2 inches below the jawbone on my neck.

This happened once before and I went to the doctor about it. He said not to worry about it—that I would return to normal. I would like to know more about this condition and if anything can be done to prevent its happening in the future. I'm a 72-year-old man in good shape otherwise.

DEAR READER—Your description sounds like what we call angioedema. It used to be called angioneurotic edema but the changes in terminology reflect the recognition that it has nothing to do with neurosis. Quite the contrary, it's more often associated with an allergy.

You can think of it as a localized giant hive. The swelling is thought to be caused by a histamine reaction. The histamine reacts on the small blood vessels, allowing fluid to leak out of them and cause swelling.

It shouldn't be surprising that the medicines used to treat these conditions are antihistamines, adrenaline and corticosteroids, all of which are used in allergic-type medical problems.

You really should make an additional effort to find out what triggers these attacks. A common cause is a food allergy and the best preventive measure is to avoid exposure to such allergens. If you happen to learn that you're allergic to a certain type of pickles, for example, you obviously shouldn't eat them.

The allergic reaction may be to a drug such as penicillin. This sometimes gets tricky because there may be traces of penicillin in the milk that settling for four cubes, two hearts and the spade and diamond aces.

If he is worth his salt, he will try to make his contract by going after diamonds. He leads a diamond at trick two and will trump home unless West makes the brilliant second-hand high play of the diamond queen. If West fails to do that, South plays dummy's eight. If East takes this king, South will repeat the diamond finesse and score four diamond tricks. This plus a successful club finesse will be all he needs.

If East ducks, South abandons diamonds, goes after clubs and scores four clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and a spade.

Now see what happens if West sticks in that diamond queen. South can take dummy's ace, go after clubs and be down one. Or he can let West hold that trick with the intention of playing West for holding king-queen. He will then finesse diamonds, lose to the king and be at least two down since he will never score a diamond trick.

Celebrate Mexico's Independence Viva! Plan A Fiesta

To Americans, September may seem a little late to celebrate Independence Day, but to our neighbors south of the border, Sept. 15 commemorates Mexican Independence from Spain.

After defeating the Spanish ruling minority in 1810, freedom was declared from a church pulpit by Father Miguel Hidalgo, one of the leaders of the Mexican liberation movement. Now, every Sept. 15, the Mexican president declares freedom from the balcony of the National Palace as the people in the plaza below join in the celebration. Americans can enjoy the celebration by experiencing the special contributions to society by Mexican-Americans, one of which is good food. Tacos, tamales and tortillas have become popular favorites throughout the U.S. But there's more to Mexican cuisine than that, and to mark Mexican Independence, home economists have created a feast of delicious and less known Mexican dishes. Mexican Cheese Soup, Chili Corn Bread, and Red Snapper Mexicana are easy to make in your own kitchen.

MEXICAN CHEESE SOUP (8 Servings)

- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes, drained, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1 tablespoon chili powder
4 cups hot beef broth
1/2 lb. grated sharp Cheddar cheese
Heat oil in large heavy saucepan. Blend in flour. Add tomatoes, onion and chili powder; blend well. Slowly add hot broth; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Add cheese and stir until cheese melts. Serve immediately.

RED SNAPPER MEXICANA (6 Servings)

- 2 lb. red snapper fillets
1 tablespoon lime juice
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 small onion, sliced thin
1 large clove garlic, sliced
1 jar (8 oz.) Picante Sauce
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1/2 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon oregano
6 pimiento-stuffed green olives, cut in half
1 tablespoon capers
2 tablespoons jalapeno strips en escabeche
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons olive oil
Prick surface of fillets with fork and arrange in 12x12-inch baking pan; sprinkle with lime juice. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours. In large saucepan, saute onion and garlic in 2 tablespoons olive oil until vegetables are soft. Add Picante Sauce, tomato sauce, bay leaf, oregano, olives, capers, jalapeno and salt; cook and stir over medium heat until sauce mixture is slightly reduced, about 10 minutes. Pour sauce over fish fillets.

- 1 cup raw rice, cooked, according to package directions, cooled
2 cups sour cream
1/2 lb. grated sharp Cheddar, cheese
2 cans (4 oz.) diced green chiles
3 tablespoons butter, diced
1/4 cup (approx.) grated Parmesan cheese
Combine rice and sour cream, mixing well.

- 1 cup white vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1 clove garlic, minced
1 bottle (7 oz.) green taco sauce
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
6 green onions, including tops, finely chopped
1/2 cup diced cucumber
4 small tomatoes, seeded and finely chopped
1 can (4 oz.) diced green chiles, drained
6 tomatoes, cut into wedges
3-4 cup minced fresh parsley
Combine oil, vinegar, sugar, garlic, green taco sauce, oregano, celery seed, salt and pepper; stir well or blend in blender. Pour over combined chopped green onions, cucumber and tomatoes (reserve tomato wedges) and green chiles; stir well. Refrigerate, covered, 6 hours or more. At least 2 hours before serving, stir tomato wedges into marinade mixture, cover and refrigerate.

minutes, stirring often, or until most of liquid has evaporated. Transfer to serving platter and keep warm. Heat additional 1-3 cup oil and fry tostado crumbs, stirring until they begin to brown. Sprinkle over chicken.

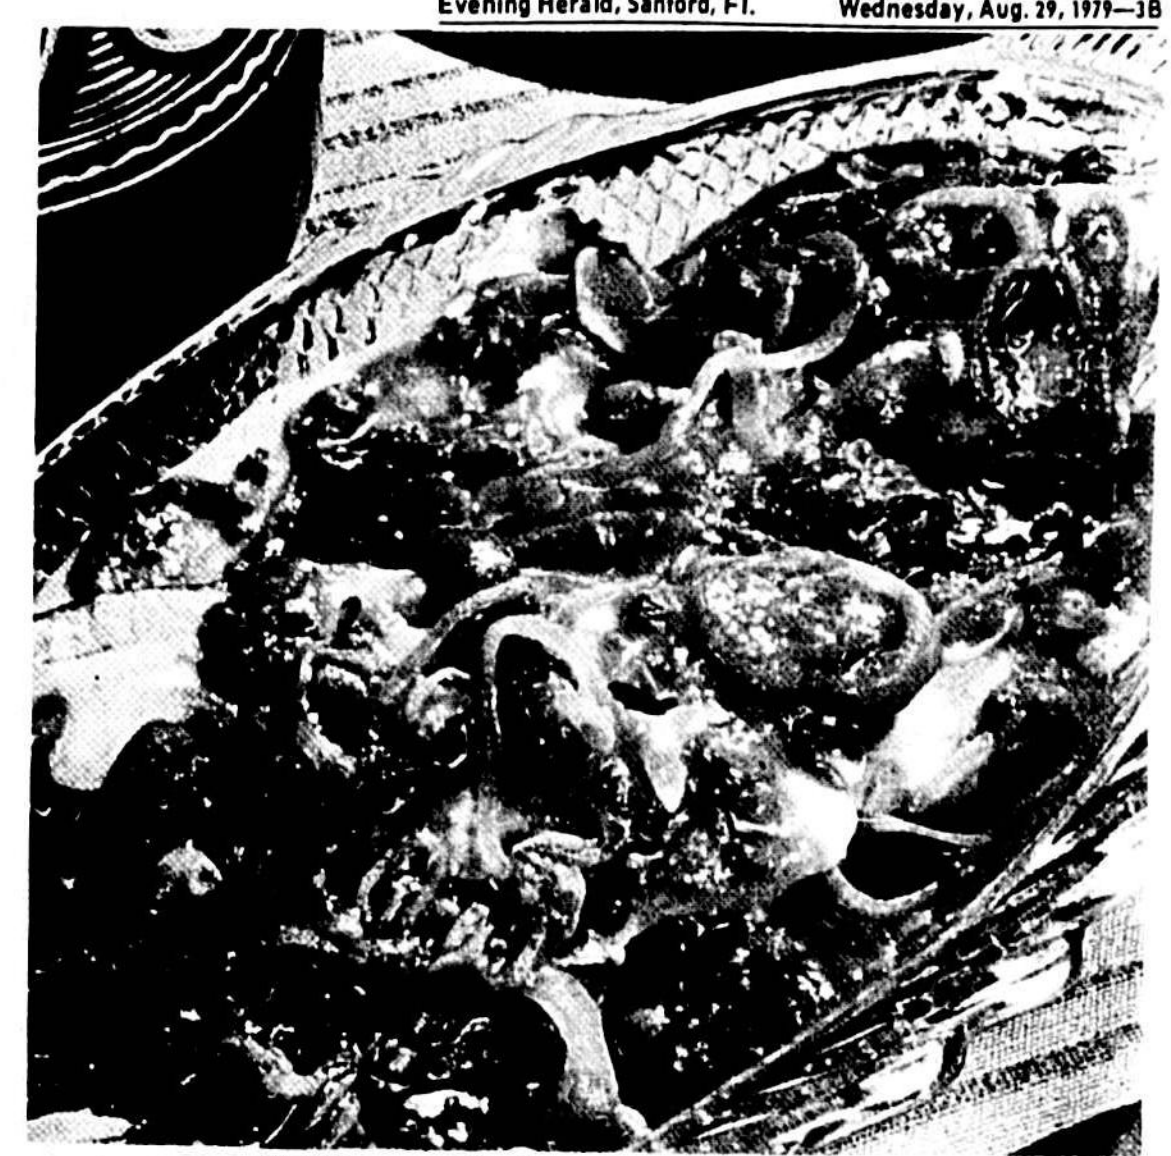

BAKED RICE WITH CHILES AND CHEESE (6 to 8 Servings)

- 1 pkg. (8 1/2 oz.) corn muffin mix
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup (1 1/2 oz.) cream-style corn
1 can (4 oz.) diced green chiles, drained
1/2 cup grated sharp Cheddar, cheese
1 tablespoon butter
Prepare muffin mix according to package directions; stir in melted butter, corn, chiles and 1/2 cup grated cheese. Use remaining butter to grease 9-inch pie plate; pour in batter. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center of bread comes out clean. Serve hot.

CHICKEN IN MEXICAN MEATSAUCE (6 Servings)

- 1 1/2-lb. chicken
1 small onion, halved
1 clove garlic
2 teaspoons salt
5 peppercorns
2 medium carrots, diced
2 medium zucchini, unpeeled, diced
3 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 small onion, minced
1 jar (8 oz.) All-Purpose Mexican Sauce
2 cups chicken stock
1/2 cup golden raisins
2 tablespoons slivered almonds
3 whole jalapenos en escabeche
1/2 lb. chorizo (Mexican spiced sausage) or hot and sweet Italian sausage, peeled, crumbled and fried
1-3 cup cooking oil
12 (1 box) tostado shells pulverized in blender or food processor
Place chicken, 1/2 onion, garlic, salt and peppercorns in large Dutch oven; cover with cold water. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, covered 30 minutes, skimming off foam occasionally. Add carrots; cook 15 minutes more. Remove chicken and cut into serving size pieces; keep warm. Measure out 3 cups stock, keeping remainder for another use.

- Heat 3 tablespoons oil in large skillet; add minced onion and cook until soft. Add stock and All-Purpose Mexican Sauce; stir over medium heat, cooking constantly, until sauce is reduced by half, about 10 minutes. Add reserved vegetables, raisins, almonds, jalapeno and fried chorizo to skillet, mixing well. Add chicken pieces, turning to coat with sauce. Cook gently for 10

Outdoor Barbecues Are Talking Turkey

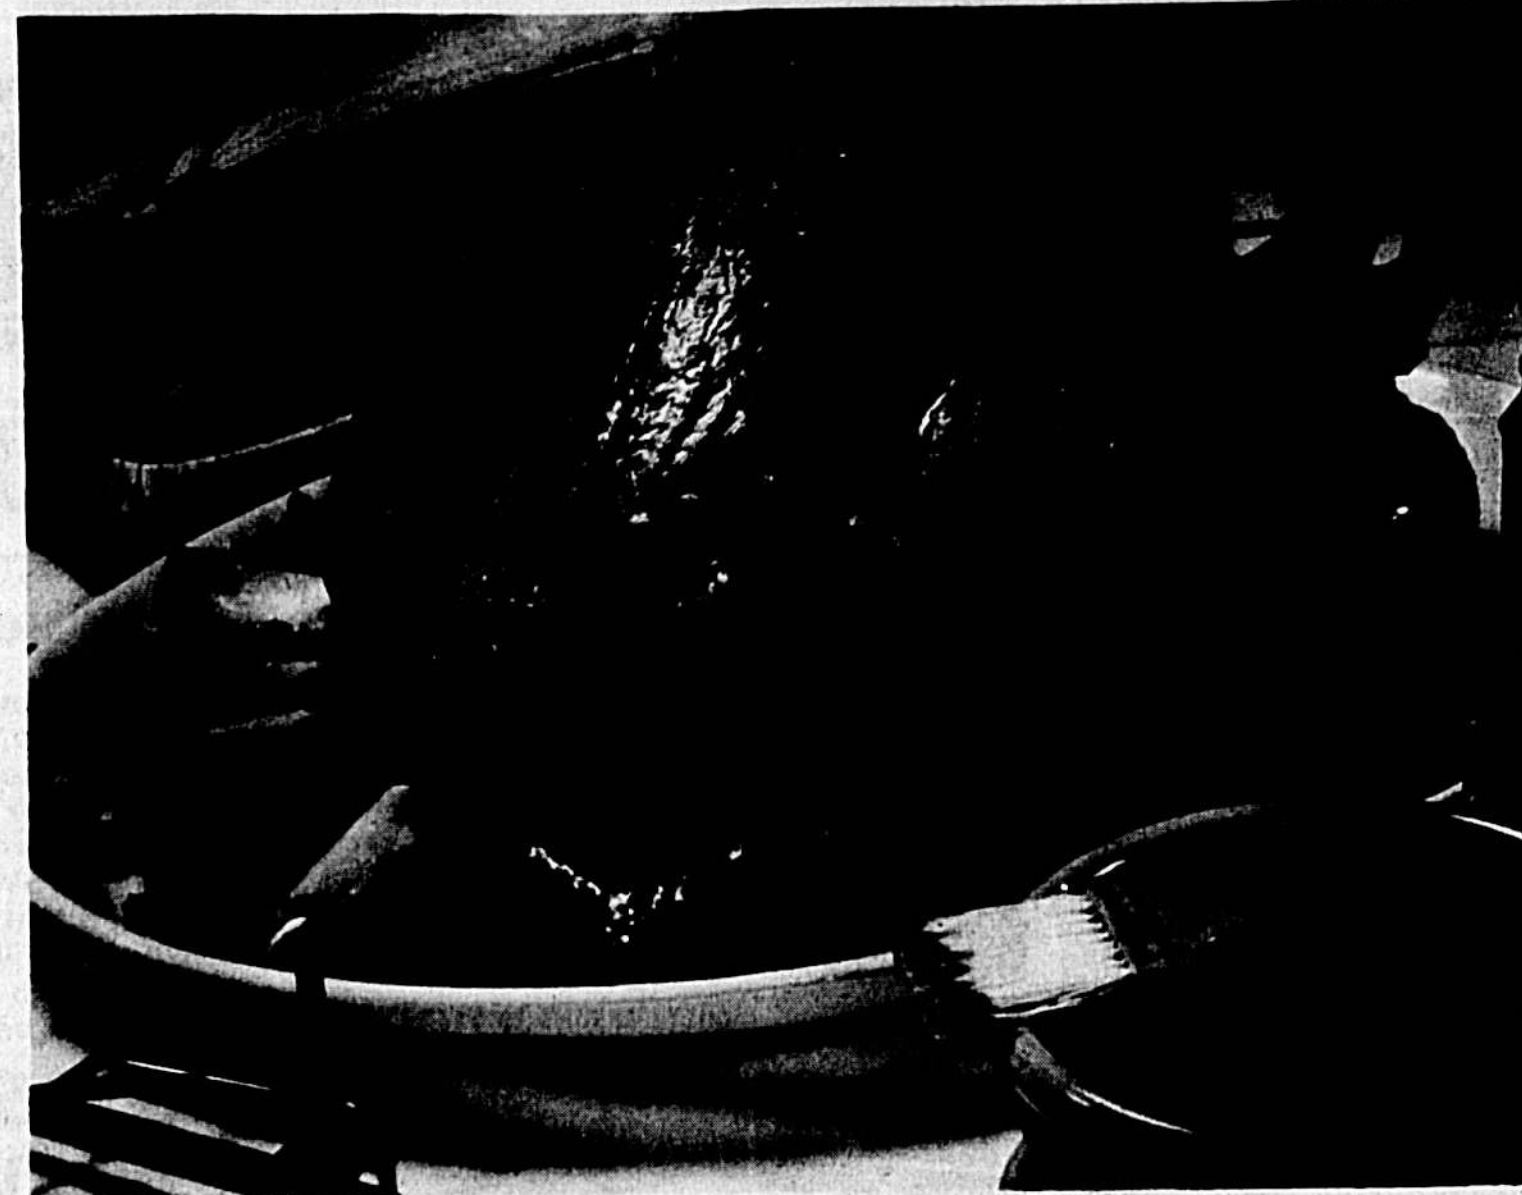

The minute you say "barbecue," you say "saucy" — for it's the sauce that is the secret of a wonderful barbecue. And have you heard the latest? People are barbecuing small turkeys on their rollers for excellent outdoor fare. The cost of turkey is relatively kind to the budget, and when the bird is basted with a tingling-tasting barbecue sauce, there's a feast to enjoy.

In the refrigerator. Then the meat is grilled briefly — be careful not to overcook — and marinade is heated and served to sauce the meat.

Outdoor eating takes the cook as well as the guests into the open. It's the ideal way to entertain in the good old summertime. Enjoy it with these excellent recipes.

BAR-B-Q TURKEY
 1 Small turkey, 6 to 8 pounds
 1/2 cup barbecue sauce
 1/2 cup catsup
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup soy sauce
 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

LOUISIANA
 1 Small turkey, 6 to 8 pounds
 1/2 cup Tabasco pepper sauce
 1/2 cup catsup
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup soy sauce
 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 1 clove garlic, minced
 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

New for the barbecue is a smaller turkey cooked outdoors on the rotisserie with a basting of fabulous homemade barbecue sauce spicy with catsup and zesty with Tabasco pepper sauce. Bar-B-Q Turkey Louisiana, easy on the cook and easy on the budget.

What makes an exciting barbecue sauce? Catsup, yes. Plenty of onion, and maybe garlic, too. And don't forget the Tabasco pepper sauce for the zing that rings unmistakably right in a fine barbecue sauce. It's traditional and it's so easy to use. The sauce that is made in our Bar-B-Q Turkey Louisiana recipe can be your summer standby for delicious outdoor cooking.

And then there are marinades, oil, vinegar and seasoning mixture — that help make less tender meats very tender and flavorful, and can be made in moments. Most such as flank steak is placed in a dish, the marinade added, and the meat steeped in it overnight.

Cakes Usher In Sweet New Year

On Sept. 22, the shofar will sound, and Jews the world over will celebrate the beginning of the Jewish New Year with the Observance of Rosh Hashonah. Rosh Hashonah begins a 10-day period known as the High Holy Days, which culminate with Yom Kippur, the day of Atonement. As with other Jewish holidays, Rosh Hashonah has its own special foods which symbolically and creatively reflect the themes of this time.

For this occasion, the popular challah bread is baked in spiraling, well-rounded loaves to suggest hope that the coming year will be enriched with increased good fortune. Also customary are honey and sweet dishes, which symbolize the hope that the days ahead will be sweet and happy.

ROSH HASHONAH HONEY CAKE
 3/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon baking soda
 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup honey
 1 can (6 ounces) Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 One-third cup brewed coffee
 4 eggs
 3/4 cup sugar
 1 cup chopped nuts
 Grease and line two 9x5x3-inch loaf pans with waxed paper. Set aside. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon, ginger, allspice and salt. In small bowl, combine honey, orange juice concentrate, oil and coffee. In large bowl of electric mixer, beat eggs; and sugar, continue beating until light and fluffy. Blend in dry ingredients alternately with orange juice mixture. Fold in nuts. Pour batter into prepared pans. Bake in 350 degree F., oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 325 degrees F. Continue baking 45 minutes longer or until cake tests done when cake tester is inserted in center. Remove loaves from pans. Cool completely. Remove waxed paper before serving. Yield: Two 9-inch loaves.

HOLIDAY ORANGE
 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 6 eggs, separated
 1 cup sugar
 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
 1 cup Florida orange juice
 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1 Florida orange, sliced
 Confectioner's sugar
 Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. In large mixing bowl beat egg yolks until light. Gradually add sugar; beat until thick and colored, about 5 minutes. Stir in orange rind. Blend in dry ingredients alternately with orange juice. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff
