Blazers Charge Paper In Conspiracy

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

Legal action may be taken against the Orlando Sentinel-Star newspaper by the Florida Blazers if allegations by Managing General Partner Rommie Loudd that the paper conspired to manipulate the team prove to be true, Blazer attorney Bob Deutsch of Boston told the Evening Herald Monday.

Deutsch, contacted at his Boston office said that all Sentinel reporters will be immediately barred from any contact with Blazers players or personnel on the practice field until the matter is settled.

According to Deutsch, Loudd feels that "it appears there has been some collusion between some people inside the Blazer organization and the Sentinel."

The nature of this secret agreement, Deutsch, a partner in the firm of Deutsch and Crasnow, said, is the Sentinel has been "reporting management problems and inside fights in the World Football League team that don't exist" in an effort to force Loudd out.

"There's no doubt that this has hurt the team tremendously, Deutsch said. The credibility of the Blazers has been ruined. When fans hear the team may be moving, they don't come to the games." Since the reports about a possible move to Atlanta, the "gate has been down steadily," he said. "If you have a winning team like we have, that just doesn't happen," added Deutsch.

Specifically, the alleged conspiracy is between the higher echelon newspaper personnel "who have brought pressure to bear on the reporters" and unnamed individuals inside the Blazer organization," Deutsch said. "We have a pretty good idea who these people are and will know more by later this week."

The Sentinel has been reporting a 'conflict' between Loudd and owner Dave Williams.

Deutsch said he was "speaking for Rommie who wants the people to know what's going on. He wants the story to be told by someone other than the Sentinel."

Deutsch said he will be in the Orlando area by Wednesday and "talk to some people and find out what is going on. We should know a lot more later this week."

Loudd, who is in Dallas conferring with a potential investor who Deutsch says "is well-known in the football world," will return "in a day or two."

Deutsch stressed that "just because he might get an investor in Texas doesn't mean that the team is going to move there. That's the type of thing the Sentinel was reporting. Every week, the team was going to move somewhere else."

Deutsch said that the newspaper had never even bothered to substantiate any articles concerning potential moves or in-house rifts.

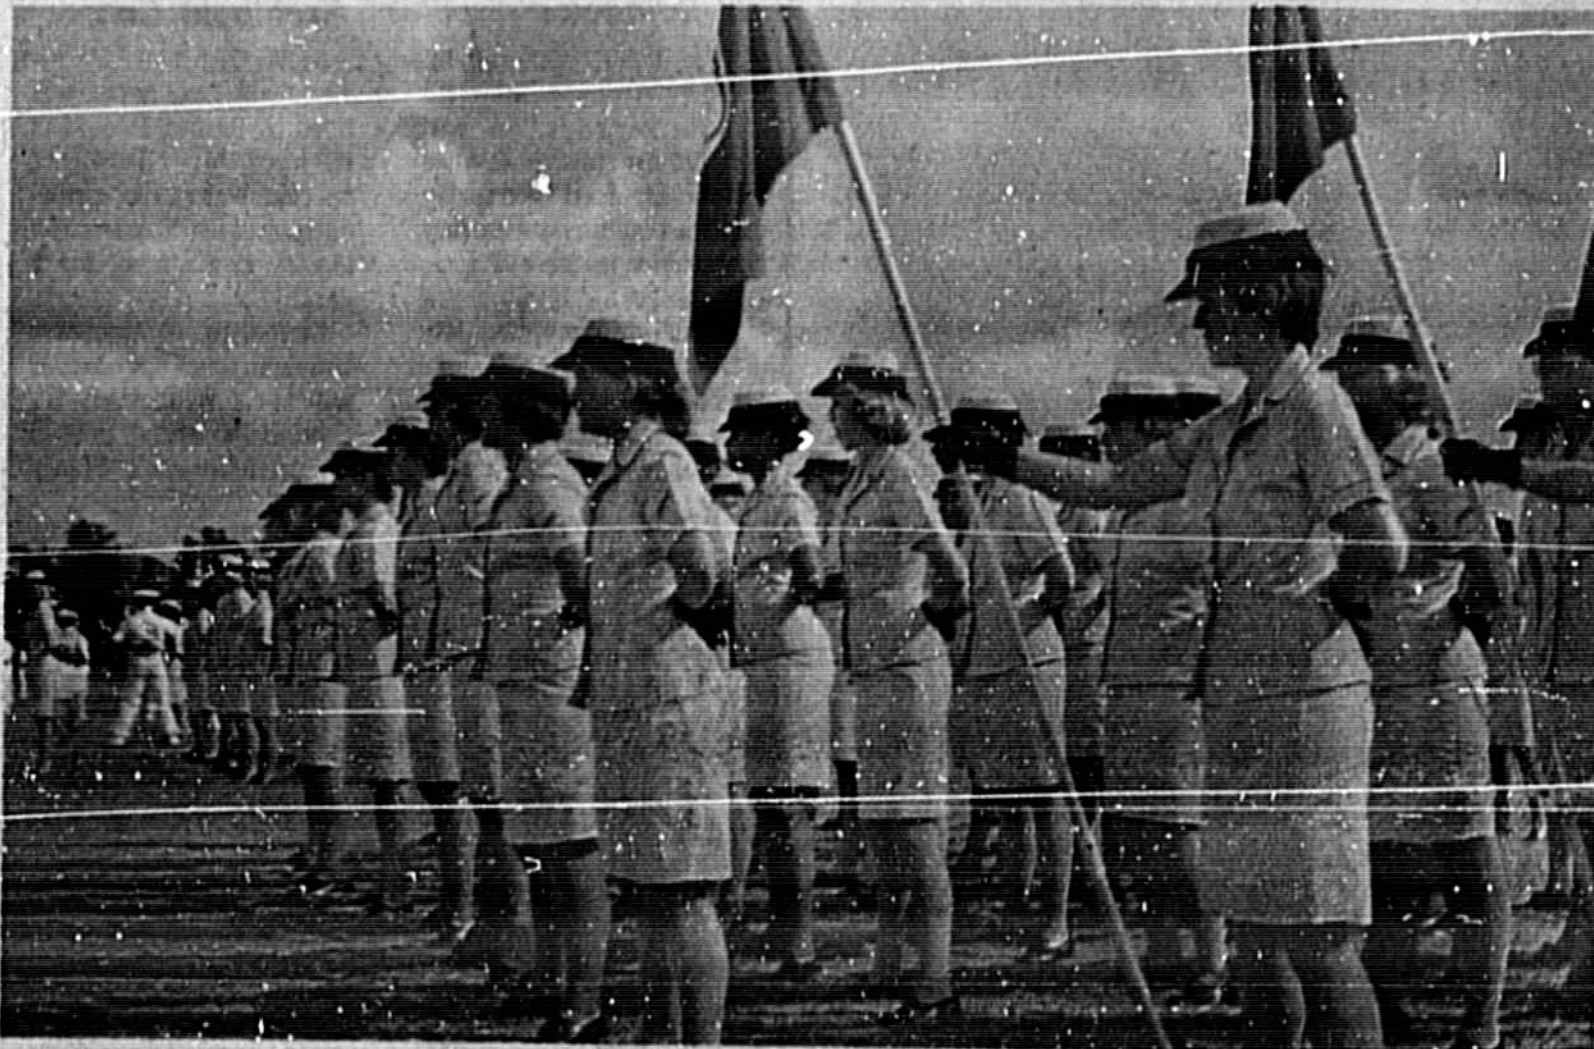

Deutsch cited a recent headline in the newspaper that described Loudd as "being in the crack" as typical of their bias. "They never come up with anything concrete," the attorney said.

Deutsch admits he is questioning "himself" if the firing (by the Sentinel of former sports editor) Bill Clark last month might have anything to do with the situation.

Deutsch said he talked with Sentinel Managing Editor Joseph McGovern at the time and was told that "Clark was too emotionally involved with the Blazers and that was a consideration" in the termination. "But now, I think that we may have been naive and overlooked a lot of things."

Countywide Fire Units On Job Despite Delays

By BOB LLOYD
City Editor

County firemen manned nine stations today as countywide fire protection for unincorporated areas went into effect in Seminole despite delays in delivery of some equipment and difficulties with a radio dispatch link.

Chief Fire Administrator Gary Kaiser said the 61 fire fighters over the county were being dispatched this morning via the Forest City fire station radio system until telephone crews could clear up trouble on a courthouse communications center—Five Points main transmitter link that was installed Monday.

Kaiser said hopefully the main station would be in operation by noon. Meantime communications were being maintained by telephone to the nine stations and by the Forest City radio.

"A teamsters strike has stranded five SCAT (quick attack) trucks in Illinois," Kaiser said, "but we expect them to arrive by Thursday."

A sixth SCAT unit, ordered from a different manufacturer, is scheduled for delivery in November.

The county firemen have all the equipment formerly used by separate fire control districts that were phased out last night.

County firemen are using borrowed or personal protective clothing such as hats and bunker coats today because of a two week delay in delivery of clothing ordered by the county.

Kaiser said the fire unit for the SR 434-14 area is temporarily based in an apartment at Springwood Village until a double-wide mobile home is located within the next two weeks.

Other fire units operating today from mobile homes were at Five Points, Chuluota and Midway.

One unit is located in the industrial park at I-4 and SR 46. Units are also based at the former Forest City, Fern Park, Seminole-Goldenrod, and Geneva fire stations.

The countywide fire protection program is funded by federal revenue sharing funds and a tax on property in unincorporated areas excluding agriculturally assessed land.

Until Oct. 15 residents in the Five Points, Guldenville, Geneva, Fern Park, Chuluota and Geneva should call 833-8111 for fire service. On or after Oct. 15 the telephone number will change to 830-1411, Kaiser said. County fire numbers in other areas are: Fern Park, 834-3311; Forest City, 862-1300, and Seminole-Goldenrod, 671-6869.

Officials said the new county fire stations will be manned around-the-clock, seven days a week, by a minimum of two full-time fire fighters.

MOTORCYCLE CRASH KILLS SANFORD MAN

Danny Ray Lee, 18, of Route One Box 91A, Sanford, was killed early today when his motorcycle crashed into bridge abutment on Orange Boulevard two miles west of I-4, the Florida Highway Patrol reported. A passenger, Hubert L. Capps, 18, of Lake Monroe, thrown 168 feet by the impact, was listed today in critical condition with head injuries at Florida Hospital South, Orlando. Shown above is investigating Trooper Ernie Jacobs.

Casselberry Cancels Rock Concert Tour

Rock concerts at the Seminole Turf Club are now a thing of the past as a result of action taken by the Casselberry City Council Monday night.

The council in a unanimous motion, denied the extension of a special ordinance that permits L and S Productions, Inc. of Winter Park to hold semi-monthly concerts at the facility.

Complaints about excessive noise from city residents in the area, and the admitted inability of the police chief to adequately deal with the traffic created by the concerts, were the reasons cited by council members for their decision.

But Attorney Robert Segal, representing L and S offered the council reasonable assurances that both problems would be rectified by the promotions company.

Segal said he had consulted with Dr. Gerald Ventre of FTU regarding noise levels and "he advised me that a re-positioning of the stadium speakers towards the grandstand would considerably lower the decibel level."

L and S also offered the free services of "a coterie of private policemen to supplement the Casselberry force for both traffic and crowd control."

CHARLES GLASCOCK

In addition, Segal reminded the council that the special ordinance contains a termination clause "by which you can terminate the resolution at any time if you feel that L and S has violated any of its terms."

Councilman Charles Glascock cited a petition with "almost 200 names" that he said complained of the excessive noise in the area during the past year's concerts.

Yet one resident whose property borders the Turf Club offered his unsolicited testimony that "these people didn't make any more noise than the horse track makes and it's every night a week." The concerts are only held twice a month.

But an older resident who also lives near the facility told the council that he was "tired of seeing half-naked bodies drive by who are dope-crazed" on their way to the concert.

After the meeting, one councilman commented that "a lot of people who complain about the noise think everybody at the concerts are on dope. Whether they are or not doesn't matter. What matters is that they think they are."

The L and S concerts in contrast with other rock shows, are generally recognized to be orderly and professional, with national names in the rock and country world appearing at the stadium to the enjoyment of local youngsters and their parents.

Polk Investigator Asks For Extension

Explaining that the investigation has bogged down while waiting for records, Eugene T. Whitworth, special prosecutor investigating alleged irregularities in Seminole Sheriff John Polk's office has asked Gov. Reubin Askew for an extension of his appointment.

In requesting the extension, Whitworth revealed his office has subpoenaed records of a Sanford bank which have not as yet been delivered to him in addition to the records of six area businesses. Whitworth refuses to name the businesses or the bank.

Whitworth was assigned the investigation by Askew after a state audit showed irregularities in Polk's department operations.

The appointment of Whitworth, state attorney for the 8th Judicial Circuit, in Gainesville, is to expire Monday. This is the second extension he has requested.

To grant the extension Askew must file a petition with the Florida Supreme Court.

Swofford Perjury Charge Dismissed

Only one charge — conspiracy — remains against former Altamonte Springs mayor Lawrence Swofford, who was indicted by the Seminole County Grand Jury last summer on several charges.

Circuit Court Judge David Strawn dismissed a perjury charge against the 20-year political veteran Monday.

Assistant State Atty. Bill Heffernan said, meanwhile, that he plans to appeal Strawn's decision.

The perjury count revolved around a disagreement between Swofford and Greater Construction Co. president Lester Mandell over the purpose of Mandell's giving Swofford $2,000 last December after "ty's election which saw Swofford ousted" from office.

Swofford said the money was a loan. Mandell contended it was a campaign contribution.

Strawn in a court order said, "It makes no difference whether the monies paid to Swofford after the election were paid as a loan or a gift or contribution."

"If he was not a candidate at the time, but merely an officeholder, then he violated no law by receiving the money," the judge said.

Strawn added that the state attorney's filed information does not assert that the payment was made for the purposes of bribery or as the result of extortion or for any illegal purpose.

The conspiracy charge is to be tried in county court, but no trial date has been set.

Mandell was named an unindicted co-conspirator by the grand jury.

Kids In Tattered Clothing Forgotten

WASHINGTON — The renowned Christian Children's Fund, like the old lady who lived in the shoe, has so many children it doesn't know what to do.

GAO made on-the-spot checks, the neediest are ignored "because they are often undernourished and, as a result, cannot study effectively."

As part of his study of charities, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., asked the General Accounting Office to investigate the Children's Fund, the GAO's secret report to Mondale may prove unsettling to the sponsors who frantically contribute $12 apiece to help one of the 188,000 children on the needy list.

The government auditors discovered, for instance, that the fund sinks $2.1 million of the charity money into advertising to raise still more money. The ads, showing tattered tots with pitiful faces, are heartrending. The solicited sponsors are given the impression that only the neediest are helped.

This is not exactly true, according to the GAO. In the Philippines and Colombia, where the government auditors discovered, for instance, that the fund sinks $2.1 million of the charity money into advertising to raise still more money.

The sponsor is urged to give his "child" a special gift on birthdays and Christmas. But the secret GAO study found in Kenya, for example, that only 25 per cent of the gift money ever reached the designated children.

As a similar school project in Hong Kong, 118 children were supposedly being assisted by the fund. When the GAO checked, it found none of the children were even enrolled. The school was pocketing the cash.

Supervision of the spending was catch-as-catch-can. Of 68 children's projects in Kenya, only six had been inspected as required. In the Philippines, only 46 of 78 projects had been evaluated; in Hong Kong, only 11 of 21; in Mexico, 44 of 67.

Mondale, distressed at the findings, plans hearings shortly. Not only the Children's Fund but other charities will be put under the spotlight. For example, the Foster Parents Plan, according to the GAO, "will not accept the most needy families in an area because they feel they are less likely to achieve (the goal of becoming self-sufficient)."

Footnote: The Christian Children's Fund conceded they were short of project inspectors. A spokesman said that as fast as GAO turned up deficiencies, the Fund began corrective action. The fund said there was no evidence of misappropriation of money, only of inefficient procedures. A Foster Parents spokesman said, "We cannot help all the needy so we help those among the neediest with a fighting chance."

WATCH ON WASTE: While President Ford is calling upon Americans to tighten their belts, the Smithsonian Institution is spending $4 million a year on obscure research projects.

A $70,000 project was approved this year, for example, for the study of wild bears in Pakistan. The study is supposed to help Pakistan control the wild bear population.

The Smithsonian has also funded an $11,540, two-year research project to classify a species of bisexual Polish frog. This expedition is explained as an effort to "allow Polish and American scientists to share the latest techniques in species identification."

A good many impoverished Americans might be more interested in eating than classifying frogs. Footnote: The money for these far-fetched projects is appropriated from surplus foreign currency owned by the U.S. government.

Looks Like We've Been 'Had' Again

It's hard to escape the feeling that we've all been conned again.

President Ford takes office, looks over the world and national situation and promptly dubs inflation as Public Enemy No. 1.

Everyone applauds. While we're still applauding this display of insight by our new President he goes a step further and announces a series of economic mini-summits on what should be done about inflation.

Out of this series of meetings attended by every highbrow economist and representative of business and labor in the country comes a consensus: Cut the other guy's share of the pork barrel.

The President follows up the mini-summits with a two-day "major summit" at which everyone restates his original views and adds additional evidence that either because of selfishness or ignorance no one really knows what to do about the economy.

But President Ford shows real leadership qualities. He asks us to make up lists of things we can do to halt inflation, swap them with our neighbors and send them on to him at the White House.

This may constitute a great public relations but it strikes us as a rather strange way to establish national policy.

While we're still reeling under the impact of learning that not one of those experts has had an original idea since 1930—and some not since the 1800s—the White House floats a trial balloon which, in effect, asks the little guy to bear the burden of the fight against inflation.

The administration is reportedly considering an additional 10 to 20 cents a gallon tax on gasoline. The purpose of the additional tax would be to discourage gasoline consumption and raise new tax revenues to finance federal programs such as public service unemployment.

Well, we can't fault that reasoning; the additional tax will certainly cut consumption, but considering the number of people it will force onto unemployment rolls simply because they will be unable to get to and from their place of employment, the tax had better be at least 50 cents if the money raised is going to finance public service unemployment.

Forgetting for the moment Mr. Ford's qualifications to be President of the United States, our heart goes out to him and his family in their moment of personal tragedy. We wish Mrs. Ford a speedy recovery and a long and productive life and for her husband and children, courage and faith in these troubled hours.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Catholic priest, Msgr. Lawrence J. Corcoran, made one of the few offers of personal sacrifice at President Ford's economic summit conference.

Magr. Corcoran, a delegate representing the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said he would accept a 10 per cent reduction in his income to help the economy if everybody else would do the same.

But it seemed that most everybody else expected somebody else to do the sacrificing. Homebuilders wanted subsidies, thrift institutions wanted incentives for more savings activity, people on welfare didn't want their programs cut, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said defense spending already was cut to the bone, businessmen said price controls wouldn't work for them, labor leaders said inflation has eroded wages enough.

Still there was virtually unanimous recognition by all of the 800 delegates who expressed themselves that somebody is going to have to make some sacrifice if the nation is going to survive with its economic problems.

Obviously, I'm referring to Highway Oil Co., in Sanford, which is owned by Kerr-McGee of Oklahoma. They have reduced gasoline prices a total of $10.7 million last June.

Now this is not intended as an indictment against this company. Quite the contrary. Question — If this is one of the smaller oil firms and they can afford to lower their prices — and yet be one of the most competitive outlets with lowest prices in town — why can't the bigger companies also offer similar benefits to the buying public?

Ford Gave Scandal New Life

The pardon fur has done one thing: It has shown that we are all living in a dreamworld if we thought the resignation of Richard Nixon would write an end to Watergate.

The pardon may have obviated the expected indictment of Mr. Nixon by the Watergate grand jury and spared the nation the trauma of seeing a former president facing imprisonment, but it has not nullified the subpoena he has been served with to appear at the forthcoming trial of his associates.

While he is immune from prosecution himself, as things stand now, Mr. Nixon must still testify at the trial of H. R. Haldeeman, John Ehrlichman, John Mitchell and three other former presidential aides scheduled to begin October 1, and under penalty of perjury answer questions about his role in the affair. The pardon has thus only returned Watergate to the headlines a few weeks sooner than would have been the case in any event.

Even if, as now appears more and more likely, Mr. Nixon's lawyers move to quash the subpoena re the grounds of their client's ill health, the former president will still be very much present in spirit in this, the biggest of all the Watergate trials.

President Ford has also added a new dimension to the scandal. He has made it a live political issue. It remains to be seen whether the American public will deliver a stinging rebuke to the Republican party in November — elections as the only means it has of protesting what many feel has been the ultimate coverup, the ultimate abstraction of justice.

And in 1976, even if all the Watergate trials are history by then, Watergate could play possibly be revived again when Gerald Ford seeks the nomination of his party — if not by fellow Republicans raising anew the question of his judgment in issuing the pardon when he did and the way he did it, certainly by Democrats looking for an issue.

All our fond hopes notwithstanding, Watergate, far from being finished, seems destined to carry over into the nation's third century of independence.

A phrase frequently heard in recent days, even from many who opposed the pardon of Richard Nixon, is that "The man has suffered enough. Why punish him further?"

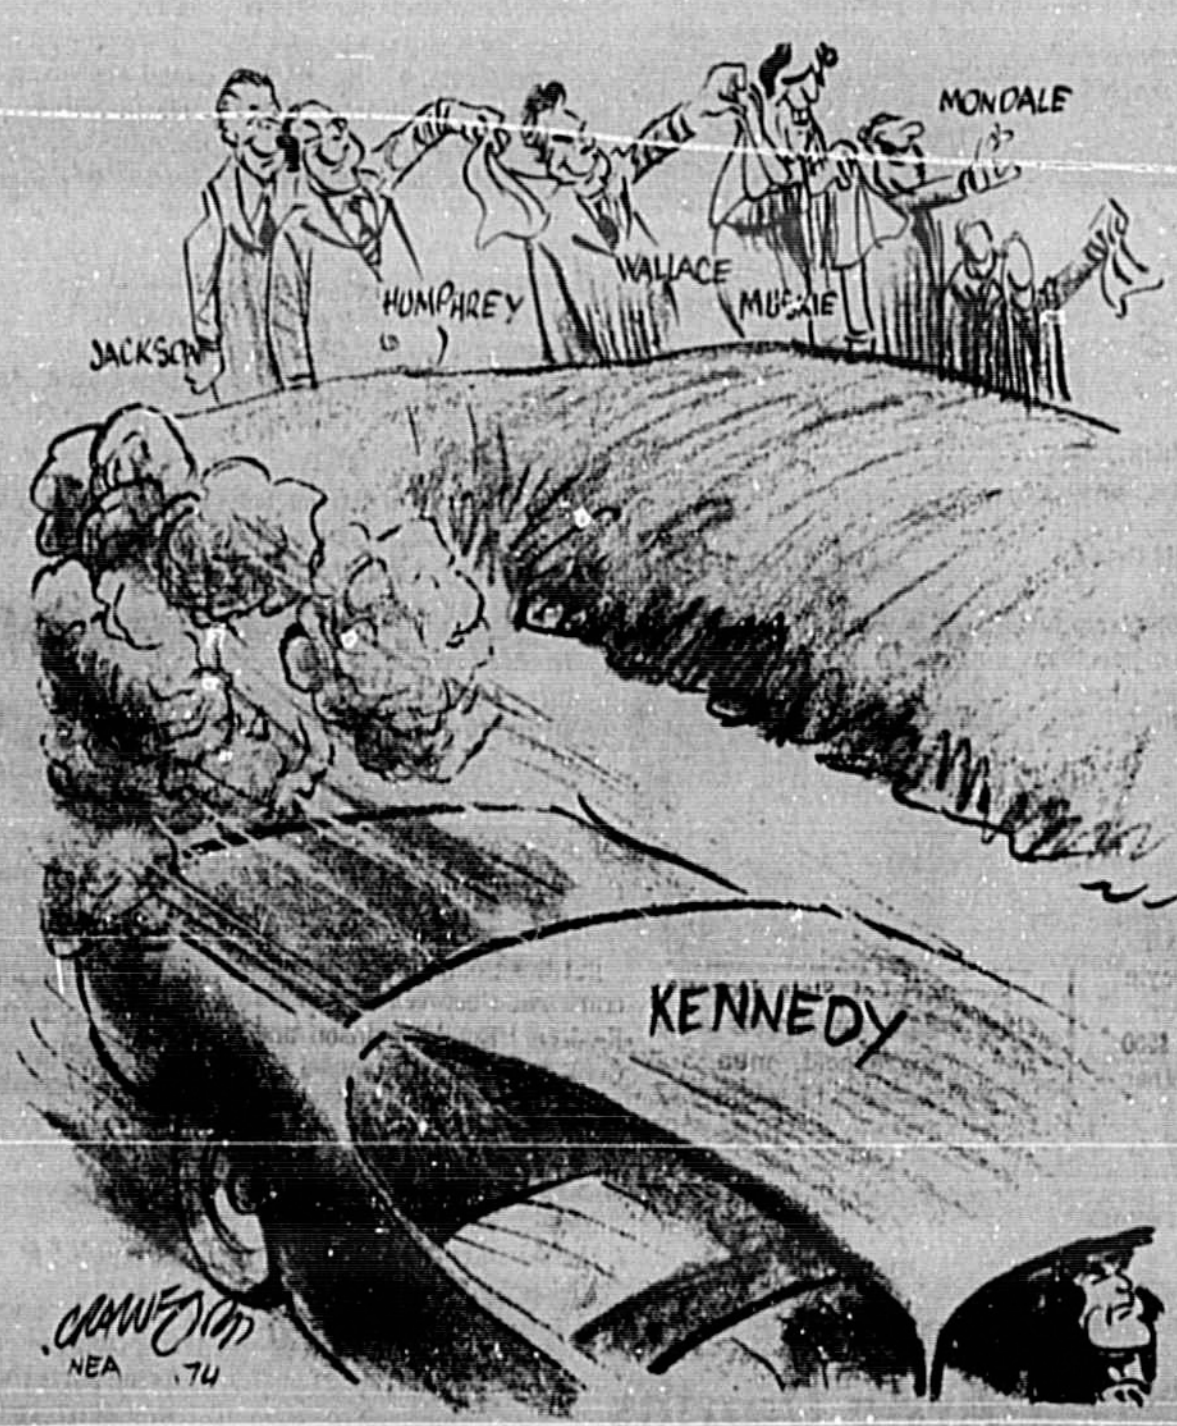

The reasoning, of course, is that being forced to resign in disgrace from the highest office in the land, and perhaps the most important in this world, is a crushing enough experience. To put the ousted president on trial like a common criminal would be, as another phrase has it, like drawing and quartering the body after it has been hanged.

This sensibility, this humility, has never been evident in Richard M. Nixon.

In involving the American presidency in the unsavory Watergate affair in the first place, whether before or after the fact, alone demonstrated his lack of respect for the office, for the law and for the people whose chief tribune he supposedly was. The continued absence of any admission of wrongdoing on his part only fortifies this harsh judgment.

The man has undoubtedly suffered, but not in the way most people understand by the word, and that is the suffering one knows when his own conscience convicts him.

THOUGHTS I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience, as did my fathers, when I remember you constantly in my prayers. — II Timothy 1:3. There are times in a man's life, when, regardless of the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees in prayer. — Victor Hugo, French novelist.

Lone Priest Only One Willing To Sacrifice

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Catholic priest, Msgr. Lawrence J. Corcoran, made one of the few offers of personal sacrifice at President Ford's economic summit conference.

Magr. Corcoran, a delegate representing the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said he would accept a 10 per cent reduction in his income to help the economy if everybody else would do the same.

From the 1950s I'd like to tell me "department," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and air return costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Rockefeller Bucks Bug Congress

"Walk wide o' the Widow and enjoy, for 'all o' Creation she owns." So wrote Kipling of Queen Victoria, and the lines sound strangely apt as Congress settles down to consider the fitness of Nelson Rockefeller for the vice presidency.

The immense holdings of the Rockefeller family unquestionably raise problems that simply do not arise in the case of other contenders for high public office.

The dominion acquired by the Rothschild family over the credit resources of Europe is the only close analogy to the place the Rockefellers have acquired in the American society. But whereas the Rothschilds' financial hegemony was built up painstakingly over a period of more than two centuries, the Rockefellers made it to the top considerably less than one. Today their joint resources are probably quite literally incalculable. In the oil industry, in real estate, in overseas investment and in a score of other fields, they stride the earth.

It is to Nelson Rockefeller's credit that, instead of merely sitting back and enjoying life as you or I might have done, he decided to go after the one thing his money couldn't buy: the Presidency of the United States.

But now the Congress prepares instead, with little or no dissent, to rally his designation as vice president—and promptly runs into a most inconvenient precedent. For some years, it has been great sport for populist-minded Congressmen to bullyrag presidential aspirants about their private wealth, and to insist that they divest themselves of it, or at the very least put it in a blind trust, lest their presumed greed for private gain overpower their sacred commitment to the best interests of the nation.

All this is nonsense, of course. The average presidential nominee is quite high-minded enough to put the country's best interests above his own, if it comes to that. And if he isn't, he is scarcely going to be turned into a pillar of virtue by an act of prevention or a blind trust.

But a precedent is a precedent nonetheless, and now, in the case of the second highest office in the gift of the people ("and also the lowest," as Mrs. Doyle remarked to Hennessey), Congress suddenly has to decide what to do about the wealth of Nelson Rockefeller.

It is no use pretending that technical conflicts of interest will be hard to find; the Rockefeller interests are so pervasive that scarcely anything coming before Congress, fails to affect them in some degree.

If help for the jobless means a public service employment program, which is likely, then the money must come from somewhere. Housing and Urban Development Secretary James T. Lynn acknowledged the dilemma in talking about a proposed special program for home mortgage subsidies to help the sagging housing industry.

He said the government would have to turn to the credit markets to borrow the billions that would be required, and that would result in some slight upward push on interest rates, with some inflationary consequences of its own.

When the sheep population of Australia was dying off, frantic ranchers over there thought defective rains might explain the sterility of the ewes and the fact that many miscarriages occurred.

But new, virile rams didn't stop the threatened extinction of the sheep. Then a chemical analysis of the soil showed that cobalt was deficient in the pasture fields.

Cobalt was then added to the blocks of sheep salt and dusted on the grazing lands. Presto! The threatened death of all the Australian sheep was dramatically stopped.

Apparently, the lack of only a tiny amount of cobalt would have caused the loss of an entire species! Maybe that is what also explained the gradual disappearance of the dinosaurs after their 80-million year rule of this planet! Brachiosaurus, for example, weighed almost 50 tons and consumed about 2,000 pounds of vegetation daily!

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Scarborough Drops Out

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Rather than create "a deadlock and bitterness in the Senate," State Sen. Dan Scarborough, D-Jacksonville, says he is dropping out as a contender for Senate president, the Florida Times-Union reported today.

Scarborough said he couldn't get enough pledges to win the post and offered to support Sen. Law Brantley, D-Jacksonville, the Times-Union reported.

"Even though I think Lew's late entry into the race was a crowning blow to my chances, in the interest of Duval County, I refer to support him if he has a chance," Scarborough said.

The leading candidate for the post for the 1977 and 1978 sessions is Sen. Kenneth Myers, D-Miami. Sen. Bob Saunders, D-Gainesville, also is in the race.

Gunter Vote Assured

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Rep. Bill Gunter, a Democratic Senate candidate in today's runoff, was assured of a least one vote before the polls opened.

Gunter voted absentee Monday, and then flew to Washington for debate on whether to consider a House reform bill sponsored by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo. Gunter has offered an amendment to the measure that would require more open committee sessions, similar to Florida's "Government in the Sunshine" law.

Gunter faces opposition in the race from former secretary of state Richard Stone.

Pinellas Election Ruling

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A three-judge appellate panel has told Pinellas County to go ahead with its Republican primary runoff as scheduled today. But election officials were told to withhold certification of the results until after a hearing.

The 2nd District Court of Appeal Monday stayed a lower court judge's order that would have thrown out the result of five races in the Sept. 10 primary and caused new first and second primaries to be scheduled.

The appellate panel said it would hear more on the case at a later, unspecified, date. The panel included Judges Robert Mann, Joseph McNulty and Stephen Grimes.

Farm Incomes Reported

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida farmers had average gross incomes of $57,700 last year, ranking the state ninth in the nation, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said today.

"Our 35,000 farms possibly netted a total of about $400 million after paying production expenses, taxes and other costs," Conner said.

He said the farmers spent about $1.1 billion to produce crops which sold for $2.02 billion.

point that the dinosaurs became less fertile and more susceptible to disease.

Over a period of several million years, they could thus have died off completely, though we still have torrid heat and lush vegetation in the Amazon as well as African jungles that abound sustain dinosaurs even today!

Prof. Swain of the Royal Botanical Gardens at Kew, now advances another interesting theory.

He explains that 120 million years ago the first flowering plants began to displace the ferns and evergreen forest of herbivorous dinosaurs.

Since the herbivorous dinosaurs often served as food for their carnivorous counterparts, any poison in the herbivorous creatures would kill off both types of dinosaur.

When the sheep population of Australia was dying off, frantic ranchers over there thought defective rains might explain the sterility of the ewes and the fact that many miscarriages occurred.

Jury Resumes Dickinson Probe

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — As voters at the polls determined the political future of Florida Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson today, a federal grand jury was to resume its probe of Dickinson.

The grand jury was scheduled to meet for the second day after reconvening its five-month-old probe on Monday.

The only witness called Monday was Charles Marchion, 75, a Jacksonville lawyer and long-time friend of Dickinson's who spent about an hour behind closed doors before the panel recessed.

The jury is continuing its lengthy inquiry into Dickinson's financial affairs and methods of granting state bank charters.

In today's Democratic runoff, Dickinson faced stiff opposition from Gerald Lewis of Miami for the comptroller's nomination.

Marchion said he was questioned about campaign contributions to Dickinson and told reporters he had never contributed. He said he was quizzed about "representations" by his firm.

Marchion said these clients included the Atlantic National Bank in West Palm Beach. Prosecutors allege money from Dickinson was once deposited in that bank to help pay interest on a loan for bank stock.

Marchion brought subpoenaed stubs of his personal checks from recent years and said after his appearance that he never had any business dealings with Dickinson, nor written Dickinson a check.

Two Dickinson associates have been indicted by the grand jury on charges of perjury.

Frederick C. Price was convicted last week on charges of lying to the grand jury about business dealings with Dickinson.

Also indicted was Marnie Mitchell, Dickinson's longtime personal secretary.

In the Mitchell case, a federal judge granted a trial delay Monday. U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman delayed proceedings until mid-December after lawyers for the 66-year-old Mrs. Mitchell asked for a continuance.

He said Dickinson and Donald Baker, investor and close associate of Bussey, tried to throw out the lowest bidder proposal, and Melody wrote a letter to the department with a list of things wrong with it, Bowen said.

Joe Roach, department purchasing agent at the time, said a review committee had recommended against the American Builders bid, but that Christian himself had approved it and awarded them the contract.

William Patterson, Melody's attorney, said the special prosecutors were going after Melody because he could not give them information about an alleged bid rigging.

He confirmed a prosecution charge that Melody worked for the state as a consultant at the same time he was paid by American Real Estate which was awarded a $487,000 contract by former Education Commissioner Floyd Christian.

Baker also said that Melody was being paid a straight salary by American Real Estate Management Co. and whether Robert N. Bussey commissioned him to draft the plans.

Bowen spent Monday afternoon giving the six-member jury background of complicated business deals and behind-the-scenes maneuvering of Bussey, a St. Petersburg banker and friend of Christian.

Bowen said in an opening statement that Melody was paid $1,500 by the state as a consultant to review bids submitted for 1969 migrant classrooms in 1969 by firms, including American Builders of Pinellas, a front organization for American Real Estate and Bussey.

James T. "Jake" Glisson of Evinston testified that Bussey did not want the bid submitted in the name of American Real Estate for American Real Estate with Christian.

Glisson operated a Bussey-associated corporation, and said he had reason to believe Dickinson was being paid by Bussey for the design work.

American Builders had submitted the second lowest bid, and Melody recommended that it be accepted, Bowen said.

Melody had also accepted $4,500 from American Real Estate to draw up the bid, Bowen added.

He said Melody and Donald Baker, investor and close associate of Bussey, tried to throw out the lowest bidder proposal, and Melody wrote a letter to the department with a list of things wrong with it, Bowen said.

Joe Roach, department purchasing agent at the time, said a review committee had recommended against the American Builders bid, but that Christian himself had approved it and awarded them the contract.

William Patterson, Melody's attorney, said the special prosecutors were going after Melody because he could not give them information about an alleged bid rigging.

He confirmed a prosecution charge that Melody worked for the state as a consultant at the same time he was paid by American Real Estate which was awarded a $487,000 contract by former Education Commissioner Floyd Christian.

Baker also said that Melody was being paid a straight salary by American Real Estate Management Co. and whether Robert N. Bussey commissioned him to draft the plans.

Bowen spent Monday afternoon giving the six-member jury background of complicated business deals and behind-the-scenes maneuvering of Bussey, a St. Petersburg banker and friend of Christian.

Bowen said in an opening statement that Melody was paid $1,500 by the state as a consultant to review bids submitted for 1969 migrant classrooms in 1969 by firms, including American Builders of Pinellas, a front organization for American Real Estate and Bussey.

School Bid Conspiracy Aired

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Baker also said that Melody was being paid a straight salary by American Real Estate Management Co. and whether Robert N. Bussey commissioned him to draft the plans.

Bowen spent Monday afternoon giving the six-member jury background of complicated business deals and behind-the-scenes maneuvering of Bussey, a St. Petersburg banker and friend of Christian.

Bowen said in an opening statement that Melody was paid $1,500 by the state as a consultant to review bids submitted for 1969 migrant classrooms in 1969 by firms, including American Builders of Pinellas, a front organization for American Real Estate and Bussey.

James T. "Jake" Glisson of Evinston testified that Bussey did not want the bid submitted in the name of American Real Estate for American Real Estate with Christian.

Glisson operated a Bussey-associated corporation, and said he had reason to believe Dickinson was being paid by Bussey for the design work.

American Builders had submitted the second lowest bid, and Melody recommended that it be accepted, Bowen said.

Melody had also accepted $4,500 from American Real Estate to draw up the bid, Bowen added.

He said Melody and Donald Baker, investor and close associate of Bussey, tried to throw out the lowest bidder proposal, and Melody wrote a letter to the department with a list of things wrong with it, Bowen said.

Downgraded Gertie Drifts In Atlantic

MIAMI (AP) — Gertrude, downgraded from a hurricane to a tropical storm, drifted slowly westward in the Atlantic today, still far from the Windward Islands.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said that Gertrude's winds had dropped to 40 to 45 miles an hour as the storm's center moved northwesterly at about five m.p.h.

Near dawn today, the diffuse center of Gertrude was reported near latitude 12.0 north and longitude 58.0 west or about 120 miles east-southeast of Barbados.

Forecasters said Gertrude apparently continued dissipating during the night and may be designated a tropical depression later today.

Hurricane warnings were discontinued for a 300-mile stretch of the Windward Islands from Trinidad and Tobago on the south to Martinique on the north.

Residents of that Caribbean island chain were warned, however, to stay alert for further advisories, and that gale warnings may be required for portions of the Windwards today. Small craft were advised to stay close to port.

Gertrude formed quickly and reached hurricane strength of more than 74 m.p

Nixon Aides' Trial Begins Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once mighty officials of the Nixon administration were back in the nation's capital today for trial on charges they tried to block Watergate break-in.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who presided over the original Watergate trial nearly two years ago, summoned 170 prospective jurors for the start of a selection process that could last one week or more.

Twelve jurors and six alternates will be chosen. Sirica has said he hopes to complete the trial by Christmas.

The five defendants include former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-White House aide Ehrlichman and John D. Ehrlichman.

The defense and prosecution have subpoenaed former President Nixon as a witness.

Neither Nixon nor his lawyer, Herbert J. Miller, has made any public response to the subpoena Monday, however, to John C. Langnes, the acting former President's physician, said he believes it would be "at least a month, maybe three months," before Nixon could travel from California to Washington.

Nixon entered Memorial Hospital Center of Long Beach, Calif., a week ago suffering from a recurrence of the pleuritis that troubled him during his last year in office. After he entered the hospital, doctors disclosed that a small blood clot had moved from Nixon's left leg to his right lung.

While still president, Nixon was named an unindicted co-conspirator in the case. President Ford subsequently granted him a pardon for any federal offenses committed while he was in office.

The defendants sought unsuccessfully to delay the trial until next year on the grounds the trial would be a waste of money, but Sirica ruled against them.

Prosecutors say the trial is necessary to establish the truth about the break-in and cover-up.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury last March 1, alleged that all five defendants conspired to thwart the investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters in order to hide the identities of the administration and Nixon campaign officials who planned and knew about it.

Charges against a seventh defendant, former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson, were dismissed after he pleaded guilty in a separate case.

All five defendants are charged with one count each of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All but Mardian also are charged with one count each of obstruction of justice.

In addition, Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are charged with one count each of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All but Mardian also are charged with one count each of obstruction of justice.

DEAR ABBY Daughter Told 'Real Whopper' BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Grandma thinks she was "done wrong" by her son and daughter-in-law because they asked her to babysit for them while they took a course in landscaping...

Well, tell her she's lucky. My daughter got us to take her child for five months. She told us she was trying to get her life straightened out, and was working overtime to earn money to fix up her house so she and the baby could have a nice place to live...

Now we find out that our daughter had taken up with a man who didn't want the child around. Three weeks after the baby went back to her, she phoned and asked if we wanted to adopt him because she was going to give him up and marry the man she'd been living with.

It's one thing to have kids who are liars. Some are bigger liars than others. GRANDMA You're not only the coop, she used you to feather her love nest.

DEAR GRANDMA: You had a letter in your column from a handicapped person who resented seeing perfectly able-bodied drivers stop at parking spaces marked "Reserved for the Handicapped"...

Abby, one need not be crippled to be handicapped. Many disabilities are not visible. A heart patient, or one with severely reduced lung power may be more seriously handicapped than someone on crutches.

DEAR WIFE: Thank you for pointing out something that never occurred to me. You are far more insightful than I.

DEAR ABBY: I didn't know how to address letters to my daughter who lives with her boyfriend out of town, so I asked my psychiatrist who has letters to Jane and John Doe. Now that's what I do.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 8900, L.A., Calif. 90049. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR POLLY: I have cross-stitched four small samplers (9 by 4-and-a-half inches) that picture antique cars and would like to make place mats with the samplers between sheets of plastic. I have heard there is a way to do this. Will someone tell me how? I want the mats to be waterproof so they can be wiped clean after use.

DEAR POLLY: I think I have help for Mrs. D.G. who has acquired a used refrigerator with a door that has turned off-white. I removed some stickers from my refrigerator door and was shocked to see that the door had yellowed around the stickers in spite of constant washing and waxing. After trying to clean it with detergent and hot water and liquid spray cleaners I knew it was clean but it was still yellowed. I was afraid a harsh cleanser would scratch the finish so I tried foam spray bathroom cleanser. After several applications it removed the yellow and my refrigerator looks great. Thanks for a wonderful column. —LOUIS.

DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Mrs. R.S. that last year I painted my old refrigerator with an epoxy spray paint bought at the hardware store. My refrigerator was originally white but is now a beautiful harvest gold. This paint comes in white, avocado and copper. —CLAUDIA.

DEAR POLLY: Those who wear shoes with rubber composition soles have probably discovered that when you scuff off the back rim it is impossible to get sole dressing to stay on. If you go over the soles with a black felt marking pen it stays on longer and requires only an occasional touching up with the pen. —CLARENCE.

DEAR POLLY: When going camping put each egg in a small plastic bag and then put them back in the egg carton. If one should break it will be contained in its bag and then be scrambled rather than wasted. —PAT.

DEAR POLLY: Please tell me how to get mildew out of a canvas tent that started while still damp.

DEAR POLLY: My hobby is collecting refunds. A current list of refund check comes made out in my husband's name. This is a nuisance. —MRS. C.E.G.

DEAR POLLY: I am answering Jean concerning her annoyance with people yelling things by phone. I am such a representative and my coworkers and I have the following answers for her. This is the only type of work some people can do. It gives their jobs and they are not dependent on others to take care of them. For some it is a case of learning about the U.S. and the people who live here. We work for large firms and believe in what we sell. People, in general, are very nice and if we call at an inconvenient time we apologize and ask to call later. Our last words are we are sorry if we annoy you and suggest you get an unlimited number so that we do not annoy you again. Thanks, Polly, for letting us have our say. —LORETTA.

DEAR POLLY: My children have an indoor ring toss game but the rings were worn out. I cut the middle out of some large elastic lids from the egg-pot coffee cans. These outer rims make excellent rings for the set. —SYLVIA.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am in my late 60s. I was told 10 years ago I had an enlarged prostate gland, but not to bother about it unless it bothers me.

Recently I was examined by a different doctor as my other doctor passed away. He told me my prostate gland was enlarged, too. I have no problem urinating, but do dribble for a minute or two when I think I'm finished.

My question is, do you think I should be operated on at this time or should I wait longer?

DEAR READER: It depends entirely upon how much obstruction you have. You can't always tell that by just doing a manual examination. The prostate can enlarge outward and not significantly compress the urethral drainage from the bladder. It can also enlarge

DR. L. E. LAMB Less Activity Needs Less Food

DEAR DR. LAMB: Is it true that people over 45 require only a small portion of food?

DEAR READER: It is true of some but certainly not all. If you become more and more inactive physically then you will need less and less food.

Also, if you let your amount of muscle diminish because you never do anything that works your muscles under a load then you will use even fewer calories just sitting around than you did earlier in life.

That decrease in caloric value by your body after 40 is often associated with loss of muscles. If you keep active, and particularly if you do strength exercises to maintain the size of your muscles, you will still be able to eat as much as always and not get fat. It doesn't take long to do strength exercises and if you do them regularly it will help a lot. Examples of these are chin-ups, push-ups, knee bends, weight training and some isometric-type exercises as opposed to walking 10 miles.

Walking, jogging and similar activities are endurance exercises.

In the only other American League game scheduled, the Cleveland Indians edged the Boston Red Sox 2-1.

The Orioles' triumph was their seventh consecutive and their 14th in the last 16 games. They have posted a 26-6 record since Aug. 29 when they were third, eight games behind leader Boston.

An Oriole victory would force New York to win tonight and Wednesday in Milwaukee. That would give the Yankees a 90-72 record and the Orioles an 89-73 mark.

"This is a big one for us because all we have to do is win one of two games to tie. The pressure is definitely on the Yankees," said Oriole second baseman Bobby Grich, who drove in three runs in three separate trips to the plate.

Baltimore didn't waste time against Tiger starter Mickey Lolich, who became the first all-league loser for Detroit since Hooks Dauss was 13-21 in 1920.

Lolich, who has lost six successive games since winning his 16th, gave up four of Baltimore's five second-inning runs. Davis singled, Don Baylor doubled, Brooks Robinson hit a two-run single and Earl Williams belted a two-run homer. A walk by Mark Belanger, a stolen base, a walk to Paul Blair and a single by Grich produced run number five.

Grich hit a solo homer off Fred Holdsworth in the sixth while Belanger singled in two unearned runs off him in the ninth.

Jim Perry posted his 17th victory, scattering nine Boston hits. The Indians scored twice in the fourth inning on Charlie Spikes' single, John Ellis' double, a infield out and Dave Duncan's two-out single off Bill Lee.

Edgewater Still Second; Hollywood Hills Drops

ORLANDO (AP) — Upsets changed this week's Florida Sportswriters Association prep football poll as Hollywood Hills plummeted from first place to fifth in Class AAAA and the second half of the AAAA top ten fell from the rankings completely.

Tallahassee Leon moved to the top of the AAAA poll after pasting Springfield Rutherford 50-0.

Last week's leaders in the three smaller school classes stayed on top by unanimous choice: Lake Wales in AAA, Monticello Jefferson in AA and Frostproof in A.

Here are the results released Monday by class (record followed by number of first place votes in parentheses and total points):

- Class AAAA 1. Tallahassee Leon, 2-0 (7) 79 50 2. Orlando Edgewater 2-0 (1) 50
- Class AAA 1. Lake Wales 2-0 (8) 80 2. Leesburg 1-0 66 3. Glades Central 1-0 (1) 53 4. Plantation 2-0 52 5. Delray Beach Atlantic 1-0-1 18 6. Gainesville Buchholz 1-1 39

Kison, Forsch Keep Pirates, Cards Tied For NL East Lead

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

Bruce Kison of Pittsburgh and Bob Forsch of St. Louis, a pair of pitchers who were pretty much overlooked in the pre-season analyses, matched three-hitters Monday night to keep the National League East race in a flat-footed tie.

Kison rode pinch-hitter Richie Zisk's tie-breaking seventh-inning triple to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs, while Ted Simmons' three-run homer in the first inning provided more than enough of a margin as Forsch pitched the Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Meanwhile, in the NL West, the Houston Astros prevented the Los Angeles from clinching the title by beating the Dodgers 4-1. Los Angeles now leads second-place Cincinnati by two games, with two to play.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2.

Kison had a shaky first inning, allowing two singles, a hit batsman and a bases-loaded walk to force in a run, but then settled down.

Kison, 9-8, allowed just one single and a walk the rest of the way — by far his strongest game of the season and his first complete game since 1972.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis each have two games remaining. The Pirates play host to the Cubs while the Cards are at Montreal.

"I made a perfect pitch," said loser Bill Bonham, 11-22. "It was a change-up, low and away. I don't see how he hit it."

Forsch, a rookie called up from Tulsa in July, pitched no-hit ball for 6-2-3 innings before finishing with a three-hitter at chilly Jake Park in Montreal.

Mike Jorgensen broke up the no-hit bid by hitting what Forsch called "a bad pitch, a fastball up and over the middle of the plate" for a two-out double in the seventh. Ken Singleton followed with a single for Montreal's only run.

The Dodgers, who clinched a tie for the NL West title on Saturday, still need either a victory or a Cincinnati loss to win the crown outright.

Orioles May Not Back Into Pennant

DETOIT (AP) — Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver is being cautious. He doesn't want to say anything to psychologically aid the New York Yankees.

But the Yankees need more than a slip of the tongue today — they need to win their last two games while Baltimore must lose at least one of its last two for New York to even tie for first place in the American League East.

Monday night the Detroit Tigers sure didn't do anything to aid the Yankees, psychologically or otherwise.

Baltimore battered Detroit for 12 hits and nine runs in the first four innings enroute to a 13-6 victory before a chilled, raindampened crowd of 6,575 at Tiger Stadium.

In the only other American League game scheduled, the Cleveland Indians edged the Boston Red Sox 2-1.

The Orioles' triumph was their seventh consecutive and their 14th in the last 16 games. They have posted a 26-6 record since Aug. 29 when they were third, eight games behind leader Boston.

Hole-In-One In Casselberry

Larry Heisey, 21 Jackson Court, Casselberry, smashed a hole-in-one while golfing last weekend at the Land O' Lakes course in Casselberry.

Heisey, using a number two wood, teed off on the second hole and saw his ball fall into the cup 185 yards away without once bouncing on the green!

The feat was witnessed by Heisey's wife Deborah, daughter Angela, and another golfer.

Club pro Bill Brentley notified the Wilson and McGreger sporting goods companies of the accomplishment, since Heisey was using Wilson clubs and McGreger balls. Brentley expects the firms to acknowledge the hole-in-one with awards.

Brentley, who confesses he "only played 25 games in my life," finished the par 33 course with a 32 score—and decided to quit while ahead and forgo the back nine.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Stars' Game Will Be Fun

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte Stars' first home game might be dry, thanks to state regulations. The city council voted Monday to allow the World Football League club to sell beer during home games. However, a state alcohol beverage control administrator said it could take 10 days for the state to grant final approval.

The Stars, who recently moved from New York, play their first game in Charlotte on Oct. 9 against Memphis. Under North Carolina law, the state regulates the sale of all alcoholic beverages.

State ABC spokesman Wiley Ruff said the board would expedite the application since it was a "revive venture." Applications normally take up to three weeks for processing, he said.

Spirits Trim Roster

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Greg Kohls of Syracuse and Randy Nolls of Marquette, two rookie free agents, were released Monday by the Spirits of St. Louis as the American Basketball Association club trimmed its roster to 14. Kohls, a 6-foot-7 guard, and Nolls, a 6-9 forward, played basketball in Europe last winter.

Included among the 14 is star forward Billy Cunningham, who was said to be planning to report today to the training camp of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Cunningham played two seasons for the Carolina Cougars of the ABA, but contended that when the club's franchise was switched to St. Louis, his contract was invalidated.

Texas Tech And A&M in Top Ten

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas A&M and Texas Tech, a pair of perennial Southwest Conference champions, found themselves listed among the nation's top 10 college football teams Monday in the Associated Press weekly poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

A&M, 3-0, got into the prestigious top five this time around, advancing from ninth to fifth on the strength of a 26-15 victory over Washington. The Aggies collected 554 total points and even drew a first-place vote on one ballot.

Texas Tech, 2-1, was not even listed in the top 10 last week, but vaulted into the No. 10 spot this time after shocking Texas 97-3. Ohio State, 3-0, remained the nation's No. 1 team after defeating Southern Methodist 25-9. The Buckeyes collected 25 first-place votes.

Thomas Shocked With Coach's Ax

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joe Thomas, a man of decisive action, is seldom caught unprepared. But even he was surprised at being named head coach of the Baltimore Colts.

Thomas, the team's general manager, was suffering through another setback in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium on Sunday when owner Robert Irsay dropped his bombshell.

Not long before, Irsay had visited Coach Howard Schnellenberger on the sidelines and urged that Marty Domres be named head coach of the Colts.

Thomas said shoddy tackling on Sunday may have been caused by lack of mental and physical preparation. As one of his first changes, he said practices on Friday and Saturday would be shortened considerably.

According to sideline observers, Irsay didn't respond then. Instead, he stormed into the locker room minutes after Philadelphia beat the Colts 30-16 to inform players and Schnellenberger that the coach was fired.

Thomas, sweating profusely and obviously shaken, had failed to beat his boss to the locker room after being unable to change Irsay's mind about the snap decision in the box.

By Monday, however, Thomas was ready to accept yet another challenge and willing to face any criticism that may come his way.

"I'm not worried about blame," he said, when asked what happens if the team continues its current three-game losing streak. "If we get beat, we get beat. We'll just have to go out and try to improve."

That (expensive deleted) ball club will go on the field and win if I have to play myself," the former fifth-string college quarterback at Illinois yelled as he emerged.

Season Of Baseball's 'Orchidaceous Records'

By IRA BERKOW

NEW YORK (NEA) — It was the philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson of Concord, Mass., and not, as some baseball fans might first think, the outfielder Chester Arthur Emerson of the 1911-12 Philadelphia 'A's, who said, "For every strength there is a consequent weakness. ... Every sweat hath its sour. ... And for everything you gain, you lose something."

The world generally knows that Henry Aaron broke Babe Ruth's record for most home runs in a big-league career. Rarely known, however, is that Aaron this year added to his record of having hit into more double plays — slightly over 300 by late September — than anyone in history.

The baseball universe has excitedly and rightly concerned itself with the record Brock established in 1974 of most stolen bases in one season. He broke Maury Wills' mark of 104. What has been lost amid the stentorian crowd chants of "Go, go" whenever the winged Brock slips his feathery body off of first base, is that Brock may break the National League record for having been caught most times in a season, 36, held by Max Carey.

And Brock has an outside chance for the major league caught-stealing record of 38, held by Ty Cobb (established in 1915, the year Cobb stole 96 bases — the record until Wills' 1962 season).

Ryan this season struck out 360 or more batters for the third straight year — a head-revolving and record-shattering performance. After Ryan's notorious smoke has cleared, however, we also learn that he has set the record for leading the American League in sport since human beings, including sports heroes, are imperfect. And unless we dehumanize these athletes by delving them, their "consequent weakness" for their "every strength" ought duly to be reported, too.

Brock, in fact, is on the threshold of dropping out of one negative category in the nation. And sports is the area where we look to have our spirits raised. As the late Chief Justice Earl Warren once said, "I read the sports section first. The rest of the paper records man's failures, while the sports section records man's triumphs."

There are, alas, also failures in sport since human beings, including sports heroes, are imperfect. And unless we dehumanize these athletes by delving them, their "consequent weakness" for their "every strength" ought duly to be reported, too.

Brock is tied for the major league record for having struck out 100 or more times the most seasons, nine. Willie Stargell shares this nugatory mark. Stargell will strike out 100 times again this season. Brock may not. And because Brock has cut down on strikeouts, he has been getting on base more often. Thus, he has had more chance to steal bases (or be caught stealing, as the case may be).

Convenience & Satisfaction

Customer convenience and satisfaction — these are the main factors in the continuing popularity of Mixon Auto Parts stores. The entire organization is built around these two ideas. First, for convenience there are two stores, one at 3rd and Magnolia in downtown Sanford, and the other at 3150 Hwy. 17-92 serving the south Sanford area. Next, the hours are arranged for customer convenience. The downtown store is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday. Try to match those hours elsewhere. The 17-92 store is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

For the convenience of do-it-yourselfers the downtown store has a machine shop. Bring in your parts, and Gerald Flynn, who has over 10 years experience as a machinist, will give you an expert job.

Consumer satisfaction is obtained by offering a complete line of quality name brand parts at reasonable prices, courteous, competent and available service — and a guaranteed service.

The stores are owned by Roy and Lee Mixon who are father and son. They opened the downtown store about seven years ago when Roy Mixon, who was born and raised in Sanford, saw the need for an auto parts store. The 17-92 location was opened in March, 1972 so that customers in the southern end of the county wouldn't have to travel all the way into Sanford for their parts. If they have to order a part, they usually get day service. Besides parts Mixon's has tools of all kinds, air conditioner parts and sell trailer hitches at both stores. Tune up your parts at the 17-92 location and they will send them to the machine shop promptly, saving you several miles of driving if you live south of Sanford. Complete valve grinding,

For Clean Healthful Fun

CLEAN HEALTHFUL FUN AND GOOD EXERCISE... Skate City located between Sanford and Orlando off Dog Track Road.

If you're looking for clean, healthful fun at a reasonable price for singles, couples or an entire family, the place to go is Skate City Roller Rink located between Sanford and Orlando off Highway 17-92 on Dog Track Road. The rink is visible from the highway.

You'll enjoy the healthy exercise of skating in one of the most modern roller rinks in all of Florida. The skating floor of the smoothest terrazzo is 80 ft x 100 ft. In site, large enough to handle up to 700 skaters in comfort. You slide quietly over the floor in rhythm to the music from an ultra-modern sound system.

Skate City Roller Rink is managed by John Mikler who is also a part owner. His wife, Eleanor, helps out when needed and there are a full time and 16 part time employees, including four floor guards.

Select your skates in the new self-service rental skate room where 650 pairs of skates ensure that you can find a perfect fit to the shoe skate size of a tiny tot or a seven foot giant. A courteous attendant will assist you in the proper selection to ensure you the fullest skating enjoyment. These skates are all equipped with precision wheels and most are now some with all new urethane wheels which give quieter and smoother skating. Of course you may use your own skates and enjoy a saving.

Adjacent to the skate room is a large, well stocked Snack Bar where you can refresh yourself with food, candy bars, soft drinks and poppies. There is also a sales room where roller skates are available in several price brackets, and skating accessories ranging from Pom Poms to skate cases and skis await your selection. Sturdy, picturesque wooden arches support the roof over the skating arena, and there are plenty of soft seats overlooking the floor where you can sit and watch the skaters whirling gracefully around to the strains of melodic music. There are 10 pinball machines for your amusement, and excellent lighting and railings around the skating floor for your safety. First aid service is available. The determination of Mikler that Skate City Roller Rink continue to be a clean, wholesome place where all the family can enjoy themselves is shown by his risk policy: "We are keenly aware of our responsibility to the community to maintain a decorous place for the entire family. Our rules of conduct and dress are dictated by rules of good taste and safety, and are strictly enforced. We solicit the patronage of only those who wish to comply with them."

Winter Hours—Monday 7:10 p.m. Tuesday—Private Parties Only. Wednesday—7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Thursday—Private Parties Only. Friday—7:30 to 11:00 p.m. Saturday—9:30 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday—1:30 to 3:30 & 4:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Special discount rates are available for church, school, club or birthday party groups of ten or more at any public skating session. For private party groups must number at least 50 for matinees, and at least 150 for evenings.

There are class instructions for children from toddlers through age 12 every Saturday to teach fundamentals in proper roller skating.

Skating is good exercise. It enhances gracefulness, improves coordination, strengthens muscles and sharpens your sense of balance. So for family fun at its finest, plan a trip to Skate City Roller Rink. It's good for you and it's fun too.—ADV.

Rotary Engine In Setback

NEW YORK (AP) — The Wankel rotary engine suffered a setback in the United States this past week when General Motors Corp. said it was indefinitely delaying its introduction.

GM is the only American automaker which had announced plans to build and use the engine, which produces power through a rotating central core rather than conventional pistons. GM said the Wankel wasn't able to meet antipollution standards without using excessive amounts of fuel.

Ford Motor Co. and American Motors also had licensing rights to the engine, but Ford has shelved its Wankel plans and American Motors has never announced any. Chrysler hasn't gotten involved with the engine.

While GM's decision may have set back the engine's use in this country, it didn't appear to rule out later use.

Sawhill announced that the government was considering a massive investment in solar energy, and money—comes this Tuesday when the NYSE, American Stock Exchange and a variety of other markets extend their trading hours from 3:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. EDT.

Needham argued that the hike, along with an increase in trading volume, could bring some $130 million in new revenue to brokers that belong to the Big Board.

Rains Are Deadly

NEW YORK (AP) — George E. Wilson, whose company provides safe-driving information for its car and truck fleet leasing clients, says rain probably plays a part in two-thirds of all bad weather highway crashes. More people are killed on rain-slicked roads, he points out, than on ice and snow-covered roads combined. In a heavy rain, he cautions, the tires of a fast-moving car can actually ride like a hydroplane on the film of water.

The two best ways to avert rainy-weather accidents, Wilson says, are to slow down and leave more space between your car and the one ahead. It's essential to keep windshield wipers and defogger in good condition. Also you're less likely to make like a hydroplane on water-soaked roads if your tires have plenty of tread and are properly inflated.

Commissions 11

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Symphony has awarded grants to 11 composers to create works for performances in honor of the Bicentennial, during the 1975-76 and 1976-77 seasons.

Composers are Stephen Barton, Zensington, Md., a song cycle for baritone and orchestra on poems by Sylvia Plath; Luigi Dallapiccola, Florence, Italy, an orchestral work; Robert Evert, Washington, a cantata for small orchestra and choir on texts by Mark Twain; Gene Gutche, White Bear Lake, Minn., an orchestral suite on the theme of Columbus; Ulysses Kay, Teaneck, N.J., a work for orchestra and narrator; Benjamin Lees, Great Neck, N.Y., a passacaglia for orchestra; Frank Martin, who is Swiss, living in the Netherlands, a symphony for wind instruments; Juan Orrego-Salas, a Chilean teaching in Bloomington, Ind., an oratorio on a theme of Genesis; Robert Russell Bennett, New York, a choral work set on themes by William Billings; Gunther Schuller, Boston, an orchestral work, and William Schuman, New York, his 10th symphony and a choral work.

Ranchers Selling Land Want Ads Don't Cost, They Pay To Stay In Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a lifetime of cattle ranching, 74-year-old Arnold Christensen sold his 4,200 acres of grazing land just to stay in business.

Third-generation rancher Stanley Van Vleck made money selling timber, clay and recreational services on 8,000 acres of grazing land, but lost money raising beef.

Despite rising retail prices, the ranchers say their per-pound earnings stayed below 1961 levels until 1973. They sold livestock at less than cost, sometimes losing $100 a head. They cut back production and borrowed from banks. As a last resort, some sold property to raise funds.

"We work like hell but we're still borrowed up the hill," said Christensen, of Arbutuck, Calif. "People say, 'Why not get out?' But this is all I know."

Christensen, who figures he lost $300,000 to $400,000 between 1964 and 1968, sold three ranches totaling 8,200 acres between 1960 and 1972. He now leases 12,000 acres in three Northern California counties, with 4,000 head in the "Lacy C Bar F" cow-and-calf operation.

"You're lucky if you can sell a top quality 500-pounder for 35 cents a pound," he said. "That's $175, but your actual production expenses would run about $250."
