An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Carter verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

25,000,000 Unorganized Workers Are Viewed By Lewis

CIO ARMING NEXT AT
By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(AP)

John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization looks upon its contact with the mighty steel industry as "open season" to a labor reservoir filled with 25,000,000 unorganized workers.

Says a spokesman for the 15 labor unions in the Lewis group:

"If the biggest company in the United States Steel corporation is willing to bargain collectively with an 'outside' union, then the rest of the mass production industries will fall in line one and even harder."

True, he admitted, the CIO has made concessions to the great industrialists who run steel and automobile manufacturing, but they did not concede their one central theme—unrestored collective bargaining rights.

With that theme song, they believe they can organize any mass production group in good time.

The supreme confidence explains why the usually roaring John L. Lewis was willing to calm his voice down to a whisper.

He also has in the back of his mind the continued meaning of power for labor in the political field.

Just before the Carnegie-Illinoian steel unit of the Steel corporation made peace with the CIO affiliate, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, which includes 250,000 men, had just agreed to a new contract.

"We will win industrial democracy for the American worker, all right. We must have collective bargaining, of course, but also we must wield political influence before we gain our ends."

While he was speaking, labor's non-partisan league (which he directs) was bolstering its staff in Washington for its early March convention. The league plans nation-wide expansion.

"The greatest example of our political action occurred in Pennsylvania in the last election, where 180 steel communities for the first time voted against the wishes of the corporation, due entirely to the pressure of the steel union's campaign."

Meanwhile, unions affiliated with Lewis are canvassing the nation's industries. Already the United Mine Workers are organized practically 100 per cent. They vision organization in many

The federation claims a membership of 2,500,000, but the CIO group contends it has 2,000,000 of these, all organized by industry, not craft.

As for the dispute between the craft-dominated American Federation of Labor and the Lewis group, the CIO leaders dismiss it with a snap of their fingers.

Says the CIO spokesman:

"When and if we do go back into full co-operation with the AFL, the CIO tail will be wagging the dog."

A few days ago, there was some talk about another major earthquake. Los Angeles and environs were swayed by a long and continuously increasing motion.

Long Beach reported it was quite unlike the heavy 1933 shock, which came as a jolt. Today's movement was a sort of rhythmic shimmy with an east-west motion.

Santa Monica, Glendale, Pasadena, Anaheim and Alhambra promptly reported similar effects, while to the south intensity seemed to be greater.

Seven Die When Fire Rakes Home in Jersey City

Widow, Five Children, Brother-In-Law Are Victims

JERSEY CITY, Mar. 25.—(AP)—

Rose Burkhardt, 51, a wid-

w, her five youngest children and brother-in-law, burned to death today in a three-alarm fire which razed a three-story frame dwelling.

The other dead are John Gorman, 69; Philip, 12; Charles, 15; Florence, 17; Theresa, 10; Venetia, 9; and Rose, 20. Another daughter was the only occupant of the building to escape.

All available firemen and apparatus in the City were called to battle the fire.

Police and firemen awakened members of three families sleeping in an adjacent three-story building and helped them in reaching the street. Firemen said the Burkhardt family and Gorman were sleeping in their quarters on the second and top floors. Gorman operated a junk shop on the ground floor.

Firemen said they had to fight their way with axes through piles of mattresses, furniture and other articles stored there to reach the stairway.

Two other Burkhardt sons did not spend the night at home.

IRRATE PUPIL SHOOTS AT TEACHER

A identified court at Muskego, Ohio, received a very rude shock when Ramona Purcell, 16, blandly declared she was "very sorry" she fired pistol shot at her high school English teacher, Charlotte Kennedy. Happily, the bullet went wild, said Ramona. "She gave me low grades." The girl is shown awaiting transfer to a reformatory for an indefinite term. (Associated Press Photo)

Flood Control Study Is Made With Raindrops

Agriculture Department Tackles Job With Science's Aid

By LEC COLEBURN
CUSHCOTTON, O., Mar. 25.—(AP)—

By learning what happens to a raindrop after it hits the ground the new experiment station near here of the U. S. department of agriculture hopes to combat future floods.

"We've been a long time guessing what to do," says W. D. Elliott, director of the project on Little Mill Creek. "We now propose to make a scientific analysis of the entire problem."

Dozens of variously styled devices on which pillow and balsa were built daily, sometimes hourly readings, already have been installed on a 60-acre area, mostly privately owned.

One of the oldest gauges is a trapezoid, or "water meter." There are three of these. A bottom segment of earth, about eight by eight by 15 feet in volume, is surrounded by solid walls without disturbing the natural soil or rock formations.

Open at the top, it contains tubes and troughs which permit measurements of water seeping clear through the mass, water retained, and water which normally would run off.

The "meter" is varied from time to time to simulate grass, forest litter, extreme erosion, terracing, strip cropping, and similar factors.

Other equipment includes 13 stream gauging stations to record automatically the volume of water, soil samples to show how much soil is carried downstream, more than 100 rain gauging stations, and devices for recording water levels in wells.

This project, says Elliott, is the first conducted on a scale broad enough to base definite conclusions. It is expected to take three to five years and out of the findings the government hopes to determine current soil and water conservation practices.

The farmers on the land will continue their usual activities so that the data will be gathered under "normal" conditions.
