BUDGET OF OPINION.—"JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HE'LL PHUNT EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

If southern congressmen would agree among themselves to support a bill granting pensions to Confederate veterans who are no longer able to support themselves there is a possibility that it might pass.

The matter came up during the consideration of a private pension bill recently and a number of southern men denounced the proposition and declared that under no circumstances would they vote for such a measure.

Several claimed that the southern states were taking care of the Confederate veterans and that it was not part of the duty of the federal government to pension them.

The statement was made that 95 per cent of the Confederate veterans are in favor of the proposed legislation. If that is true it would seem that the sentiment in favor of such a measure would soon reach the members of congress from that section.

A bill has been introduced into the senate of the United States, proposing an amendment to the federal constitution which provides for the enactment of uniform marriage laws in all the states and territories, but it carries with it a prohibition, in case of separation or divorce, for the man with the new bill. He has been gathering up some statistics, and finds that in 1867 there were granted 9,937 divorces, or 27 for every 100,000 population; in 1906 there were 82,062 divorces, or 86 for each 100,000 population, that in actual numbers there are more than seven times as many divorces granted in 1906 as in 1867, or allowing for the increased population, divorces had increased 319 per cent.

Do you wonder that the subject is attracting attention?

Chicago women are highly jubilant over the result of their first day of registration. Half a dozen points made against them in advance were answered by the results of that day. Nearly 154,000 women registered and, as far as the reports go, none hesitated a moment about telling her age.

It is reported that the polling places were everywhere swept and garnished in preparation for the event and that when the polls were opened men accustomed to smoking at the registration seats threw away their cigars and abandoned their pipes and braced up in fine style.

In many cases it seems that flowers were sent in and stood on the tables all day, and that registration day partook something of the nature of a reception to a 5 o'clock tea, barring the fact that the most striking feature of the day in a broad sense was the fact that much the heaviest prostitution of women came from the districts that are regarded as the wealthier sections of the smart set, the wealthy and those who have fine homes.

In such districts the vote is reported as averaging about four women to one man, and leading women of the city, headed by Mayor Carter Harrison and Mrs. Harrison, went to the polls and registered.

My idea of a city manager is bearing fruit and I have received many communications from various cities regarding this new theory that has been put into practice, and found so satisfactory. Every big business today has a manager, one who is over all and head of all and one to whom the whole organization brings the final decisions. One who is absolutely responsible for what he knows and not what he does. Such a man is needed in every city to manage the city. No alderman can do it, no commissioners can do it and get the proper results. The alderman cannot do it because they have no time to devote to the business of the city and keep up with their own business affairs. They do as well as they can but many things slip by them. The commissioner form was thought of as perfect, but here the old adage of "too many cooks" steps in to spoil the broth. Should one commissioner have the improvement and the other commissioners disapprove of it the improvement, no matter how important is not made. For instance, the other day at Orlando, under the commission form of government Clark Robinson, who was for many years a member of the fire department and probably knows more about fire fighting and the needs of Orlando in this line than any other man in the city wished to buy a chemical apparatus, similar to the one used here in Sanford. The other commissioners do not thank Orlando needs a truck and they are bargaining along with horses who are jabbing their heads off each day and wishing to get to a long distance for on "them" to save their lives. Robinson evidently knows or should know what he is talking about and yet his hands are tied by the other commissioners. Now take the city manager. If Orlando had one he would immediately place figures of the expense of keeping horses on their relative worth as against the auto truck. The efficiency of both and the right of the tax payer to have good service and fire protection.

He would prove conclusively that he was right and then he would buy the truck and make good with it because his job would depend on showing results and knowing this the city manager always makes good. The idea is not new in the industrial world and every business man in the world knows that the manager makes the mark. There can be but one head to anything and the present style of governing cities by the efforts of aldermen or commissioners is all wrong. The aldermen and the commissioners can form a board of equalization and arbitration on matters that may come up for discussion from time to time but the manager is the real thing in city affairs and is coming into public notice every day. Listen to this from the Lakeland Telegram:

"The commissioners of the city of Lakeland held an interesting session last night, lasting until midnight. The official minutes could not be procured today, but will be published tomorrow. The most important matter engaging the attention of the board was the consideration of the proposition to engage a municipal manager for the city. The operation of such a manager, to be on the job at all times, and to take charge of all the details of the city administration, under general plans outlined by the commissioners, constitutes the principal distinction between the aldermanic and commission forms of government. The selection of such a man is therefore a matter of the gravest consequence, and after considerable discussion, it was decided to insert an advertisement in the Lakeland Evening Telegram and also in the Manufacturer Record, inviting applications in writing for this responsible position. It may be that if a man specially trained in the management of municipalities can be secured at a salary the city can afford, he will be employed, or if a local man, who is deemed entirely competent, can be found, he will be given the appointment."

The political situation in Seminole continues to engage the attention of the people who have time to discuss it and from time to time the entrance of another candidate in the field. But it seems to me that more important than any other one thing in this direction is to decipher the new primary law and find out what the author of it really meant when he framed it. For instance if you take a day off and read the new law and will look up section unattached and empty six regarding the county commissioners, you will be referred to section unattached and referred to section unattached and referred to section unattached and referred to section unattached.

For instance, the sheriff, county clerk, county judge and superintendent of public instruction are elected for a four year term. In 1912 these officials were elected for four years. County division came along and the offices were appointed in the new county and their appointments read "until the general election," but this primary is not the general election for the four year men and the question arises now as to whether these officials can be made to stand for election for a two year term. This question may be all wrong and I may be full of premises in my deductions, but I leave it to my readers, feeling that they can be depended upon to chew the rag just as consistently and as long as can

Velocity of Light
The first determination of the velocity of light was made by Roemer in 1676. The method was based upon the observation of the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites, phenomena of frequent recurrence and easy observation. Assuming that light required time when it moved from place to place through space, the interval between successive eclipses would appear to shorten when the earth is approaching Jupiter and to lengthen when the earth is receding therefrom. Homer found in his observations that such was the case and that the interval was conditioned by the rate of speed at which the earth changed places relatively to Jupiter. From these constant Homer computed that light expended about sixteen and one-half minutes in crossing the earth's orbit. From this is deduced a velocity of about 186,500 miles a second.—Harper's Weekly.

Points in Wedding Etiquette.
With the exception of May, which is considered an unlucky month, and Lent, the quiet season, there is no time of the year when wedding ceremonies are not constantly taking place.

As might be expected, the preparations for a wedding take up not a little time and forethought. There are so many small details to be considered, various minor points of etiquette to notice, and a hundred and one things to remember if the actual day is to be gone through by all concerned without hitch or inconvenience.

The magnificence or simplicity of the ceremony depends, of course, on the worldly position of the bride and bridegroom, though certainly the present day tendency is toward a rather disproportionate display, as every year presents become more numerous and costly, the bride's trousseau more elaborate, while immense sums are expended on decorations, catering and such like items.

The popular fashion of white satin and orange blossoms for the bride's attire still holds its own, though there are occasional innovations made, such as the wearing of gold or silver brocade and touches of color on the train, while quite recently, instead of the usual white bouquet or sheaf of lilies, the bride carried a great bunch of crimson roses.

For winter weddings muffs of fur, lace and chiffon have replaced the flowers, or sometimes a prayer book bound in white and silver.

The invitations are sent out a full three or four weeks beforehand in the name of the bride's parents, the bridegroom supplying a list of those of his own friends whom he wishes invited.

As regards the bouquets, those of the bride, bridesmaids and bride's mother are supplied by the bridegroom, who also pays all fees connected with the ceremony.

The cost of the reception and the carriages for taking the bride and guests to church are provided by the bride's parents, but the bridegroom pays for the carriage or motorcar to the station after the reception.

At one time it was considered incorrect for a widow to be followed by bridesmaids on the occasion of her second marriage, but this rule is often broken. Sometimes, however, the custom of a "matron of honor" is followed instead.

The number of bridesmaids varies considerably, four to six being most usual, but two, ten or twelve or in their place several small children are often seen.

The chief bridesmaid holds the bride's bouquet and gloves during the service, and all the bridesmaids and the parents on both sides follow to the vestry for the signing of the register.

Keep Your Hands Quiet.
The hands of some people seem to have acquired the secret of perpetual motion. A girl who has this fault should set about conquering it immediately if she does not want to do damage to the nerves of those who have to be with her and wreck her own. The instant she realizes that she is pulling at her hair, combing, or collar, or giving her belt a vicious jab, let her stop and hold her hands fixed in her lap, no matter what effort it requires.

Look about in the theater, or tea room, or street car. Hardly a girl has her hands to repose. Most are fidgeting at some article of dress as they talk, or, what is worse, fidgeting the dress of her companion.

The manager of an office where there are many girls had to put up a notice that clerks must not touch articles on her desk when they came to speak to her. She says that one when making a report would pick up a pencil and draw weird figures on the desk blotter. The pencil-booked paper clips to her, making a long chain that the manager had the work of unhooking; another tapped the desk with a pencil during her conversation. In short, actively a girl came and stood beside the desk with quiet hands.

The wall around a public telephone is another indication that most people while using the line must still be working with their hands, for always there is a mass of pencil scratches as far as the hand can reach.

Essay on the Human Hair

Under the microscope human hair is a more or less complex and very remarkable tissue. In size, shape and texture it is a sort of concrete structure, as well as color (these factors or less variation of details. Architecturally curly hair differs from the straight variety; kinky hair has a special construction of its own which explains the kinks; there is a reason, apparent under the microscope, for the curly, the straight, the wavy, the silky, and all other varieties.

Trees and Lightning.
The electrical resistance of trees is quite great, a quality which protects them to a considerable degree from lightning stroke. This resistance varies greatly with the character of the tissues and also with the temperature. This fact results in an annual and daily period of resistance. The cambium layer shows the least electrical resistance, followed by the pith, phloem and sapwood.

An English girl has adopted the profession of visiting cook, and will devote herself to teaching the indispensable art. She believes that "kitchens were beautiful, and not the stuffy, stodgy jungles that they so often are, and that if women dressed for their work in them with the care that they dress for a ball, cooking would no longer be regarded as drudgery and a monotonous business."

CELERY BRINGS BETTER PRICE AND PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

COOL WEATHER AIDS IN KEEPING STUFF CRISP

CELERY CARRYING FINE AND GOOD PRICES WILL PREVAIL DURING REMAINDER OF THE SEASON

Celery is looking up and during the remainder of the season will bring the best of prices. The cool weather is causing the celery to hold up better and it is doing forward in excellent shape. This week celery is bringing from $1.00 to $1.25 here in Sanford and will bring even better in a few days as the Florida celery is about finished.

Death of W. S. Baldwin

W. S. Baldwin, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Sanford died Tuesday night after suffering a paralytic stroke last Sunday.

Mr. Baldwin was 82 years of age at the time of his death and was hale and hearty until the first stroke of paralysis some months ago impaired his matchless health. He was born in Girard, Ala. in which state he passed his early childhood coming to Florida in 1887 to take the position of station foreman with the J. T. & K. W. Ry and held that position until the road was sold to the Plant System.

Mr. Baldwin was distinctly a lodge man, being a consistent member of the Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges. He joined the Masons in Alabama in 1883 and has been an Odd Fellow for 43 years and is probably one of the oldest members of those lodges in the state. He was Past Master of the Masonic lodge here and held the position of Tyler at the time of his death.

His duty to the lodge was not sufficient religion for him and he looked ever to higher inspiration of the church and was a member of the Baptist church for the past fifty-five years and in his fraternal life his spiritual life was the same sweet story of devotion to duty. In his home life also was the fruit of his noble spirit of this good man shown at every turn and his family and his hundreds of friends will miss him sadly.

Mr. Baldwin bequeathed a wife and daughter, Mrs. J. W. O. Slaughter, to mourn the loss of kind and indulgent husband and father and one whose life was devoted to their happiness.

The funeral services occurred yesterday, the Odd Fellows having charge at the residence and escorting the body to the church. Hon. J. T. Sell of DeLand, Past Grand Master of Florida Odd Fellows had charge of the services and they were rendered in a beautiful and most impressive manner.

At the church Rev. George Hyman, pastor of the Baptist church officiated and memorial addresses were made by J. H. Ferguson for the Odd Fellows, C. R. Walker for the Masons and Jno. D. Johnson in behalf of the Baptist church, all of them attesting in beautiful tributes the worth and integrity and Christian life of one of the noblest works of God.

Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery, the impressive rites of the Masons being carried out for the brother who for so many years had assisted in these ceremonies for those who had gone before.

It can truthfully be said of W. S. Baldwin that the world has been better for his having lived in it.

RATE MEETING POSTPONED

For Interested Shippers of the Lines of A. C. L. and Seaboard

On January 20, 1914, the Railroad Commissioners of the state of Florida gave notice that they would hold a meeting in the city of Ocala, Florida, March 30th, and in the city of Kissimmee, March 30th, at which time they would hear arguments presented by the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and the Seaboard Air Line Railway in support of their application for relief from the application of the Long Ash Short-Haul Act of the legislature, and at the same time hear whatever might be presented by interested shippers along the lines of these two railroads.

We now find that the time which will have to be considered at this meeting is so voluminous that it has become necessary to postpone the meeting as heretofore held at the Commission's will therefore be in session at the court house in the city of Ocala on the 27th day of March, and at the court house in the city of Kissimmee on the 26th day of March at 10 o'clock in the morning.

All interested shippers, located on either the line of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad or Seaboard Air Line Railway, interconnective between Jacksonville and Ocala, Ocala and Tampa, Jacksonville and St. Petersburg, Live Oak and Lakeland, and other points, and also the Astor branch of the Coast Line, will meet the Commissioners at the Ocala meeting, and all shippers located on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad between Jacksonville and Sanford, and between Sanford and Tampa, and along the Charlotte Harbor Division, will meet the Commissioners at Kissimmee. Shippers along the Wildwood Orlando branch of the Seaboard may meet the Commissioners at either Ocala or Kissimmee.

The Commissioners hope that the shippers will take enough interest in these meetings to attend the same.

Missionary Society Meets

The members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church held a very enjoyable meeting Monday night at the residence of Mrs. N. F. Perine with a large attendance of ladies present.

In the absence of the pastor, Mrs. Marvin Mitchell, the minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. G. Kennedy after devotional exercises led by Mrs. Edgar Biggers. A sketch of Rev. T. T. Hicknor, Home Missionary and State agent, was given by Mrs. Mrs. Hymus. Business of the evening followed after which a social hour with refreshments was participated in by the ladies.

The next meeting will be held as a week of prayer for Home Missions with meetings Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7:30, in the shack.

SANFORD IS PROTECTED

Killing Weather Does Not Touch The Favored Celery Delta

Sanford has made the claim that many of the cold spells that sometimes reaches the southern peninsula or that is played up in the California papers as reaching Florida are never felt in this section and the people here have guavas, avocado pear trees and other foliage that is said to be most tender and they are growing here and have been growing here several years. Another one added to the list is that of the mango tree, said to be the most tender and subject to the killing frosts that now and then slip into the Sunshine state where we are not looking. But here in Sanford the lake protection is worth thousands of dollars to the grove and demonstrates beyond peradventure that water protection in Florida is the real thing.

Today Mr. C. H. Lether, the well known Sanford avenue grocer, sent to The Herald office a branch of the mango tree that is growing in his yard with the blossoms untouched by the awful freeze that was predicted by the weather bureau of California and the one that never touched us. The mango blossom demonstrates better than any other agency the fact that in Sanford you can raise anything all the time.

KISSIMMEE BORING FOR OIL AND COMPANY HAS BEEN FORMED

LOCAL CAPITALISTS HAVE FAITH IN SCHEME

EXPERTS ARE CONFIDENT

HAVE INTERESTED KISSIMMEE MEN IN THE GREAT PROJECT OF BORING FOR OIL

They are boring for oil at Kissimmee, Florida, the well diggers had already reached a depth of eighty feet and they are determined to dig 4000 feet or more until oil is reached or until it is conclusively proven that there is no oil.

The Kissimmee Valley Gazette of Friday gives the account of the formation of the company. When the geologists first began the organization of this company in Kissimmee to bore for oil in this section they were generally classed as a wild performance, but the project has been a success.

The first act of this company was to select a place to start boring, and Kissimmee Park was considered the most favorable. That point settled, machinery of the best make was purchased and experienced men put to work getting it in shape and last week a carload of casing arrived to be followed this week by another carload. The derrick is in shape and the machinery oiled and the first test thrown out of the hole that we all had a hundred thousand barrels a day.

But the story of what the company is doing is best told by the president C. W. Ward in a letter to a gentleman of the East Coast who wrote asking for information. We have formed a corporation under the laws of Florida for the purpose of boring for oil. We have purchased a first class standard outfit at a cost of about $1,000. It is here and installed and boring has begun across the hole.

Kissimmee is about eight miles from Sanford. We are starting with a two inch casing and will advance to ten inch and later go smaller when necessary as we go down. This machine is capable of boring 4000 feet more and we propose to go down the limit, if we do not strike oil before. No very deep wells have been bored in Florida, and what the formation may be, nobody knows.

Celebrated Men Here

to Passes the Limited train and brought out on board three distinguished Americans who were on their way to Ft. Myers: Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and John Burroughs.

Thomas Edison, the great inventor has a winter home at Ft. Myers and he is such a busy man that he does not always accept it even for a part of the time in the winter. He is accompanied by Henry A. Knickerbocker, the flutist, and John Burroughs who is a great student of nature.

They were very much surprised that the city of Sanford had already presented the editor of The Herald with a Ford car and will discuss the matter in their native tongue. Mr. Ford has given a car to both Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Burroughs and their wife while they are in Florida and the editor of The Herald is next in line.

The White Party Here

The J. G. White party arrived here last night in their private car and will spend the day looking over the celery fields and their utility plants here. They represent the principal stockholders of the Southern Utilities Company, who own and operate ice plants, water works and lighting plants in many southern cities. In Sanford they have the ice water, gas and electric plants and if there was anything else they would probably own that and Mr. White will talk tonight here to our business men. The whole party will be regaled with a big fish fry and picnic at Woodland Park at noon going down in the launches, Mammie and Ania May will be returning this evening.

While here last year Mr. White was greatly interested in the subject of a tourist hotel for Sanford and it is devoutly to be hoped he and his party can be interested in the proposition during their stay here.

Primary for Postmaster

A wire was received in our city late yesterday afternoon announcing the appointment of Hon. W. M. Platt for postmaster of our city.

The news is received with much gratification to the many friends and supporters of Mr. Platt and certainly the plan of a preferential primary for the selection of postmasters which was held in January several months ago for the purpose of selecting a candidate.

Mr. Platt entered this primary with several other gentlemen and was successful in receiving the nomination of the primary for this position, since which time his appointment has been urged by almost the entire patronage of the office.

Mr. Platt will take charge of the office as soon as he receives his commission and to represent postmaster. Mr. Platt is a well known man in this city and so has been able to organize the primary party for the position of postmaster and it is gratifying to the promoters of same to know that their plan has been recognized by the department at Washington.

The primary was called by authority of a mass meeting of citizens and four candidates entered the race, securing the highest man should be declared the winner for the office. A very large crowd was present and the first primary nomination was made when a committee was called for the cash high amount to run over, resulting in the nomination of Mr. Platt. Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27.

Congregational Church

The congregation of the Congregational Church in Sanford will have their next meeting on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The pastor will be Mr. W. A. Ginn and will give the subject of "The Love of God." The church is located on the corner of First and Second streets.

Crown Will Be Crowned

Mike Crown, one of the most popular railroad officials in Florida, was recently promoted from assistant superintendent of the Jacksonville district to superintendent of terminals in Jacksonville and in order to show their high regard and esteem for this popular gentleman the congregation of the Jacksonville district will present him a handsome diamond ring at a meeting to be held in Sanford.

The ring was purchased through Collet & Hull, Lakeland jewelers at a cost of $585 and is now on display in their windows. The donors assigned the important duty of the ring purchase to J. A. Ratliff, and that he made a selection of a handsome piece of jewelry is borne out by the ring which was made to order and which, in addition to the diamond bore the emblem of a Thirty-Second Degree Mason. Mr. Crown holding this high degree in the Masonic order. Lakeland Telegram.

Presbyterian Church

The congregation of the Presbyterian church will be fortunate in having two visiting vocalists Sunday morning. Miss Allison who has sung for several services and Mrs. Clara Thomas, a gifted vocalist of Cincinnati, who will sing with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ginn. The subject of the sermon will be "The Friend of Sinners."

At the service Sunday night Miss Allison will begin singing and the pastor will preach upon "Cheerfulness, taking the various commands of Jesus." He will also read the letters of the four Gospels and studying the foundations for cheerfulness that Jesus offers each of them. The service begins at 7 o'clock.

The Sunday school is still without a modern Sunday school equipment which will provide club rooms for men, etc.

The State Good Roads Association has postponed its annual meeting from February 24 to some date as yet not named.

WEST APPOINTED TO SENATE BY GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA

WELL KNOWN IN FLORIDA AND SOUTH GEORGIA

TAKES BACON'S PLACE

OTHER NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD AT THIS BUSY READERS

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27.—W. S. West of Valdosta, former president of the Georgia senate, has been appointed United States senator from Georgia by Governor Slaton to serve until the expiration of Senator Bacon's term and qualified. The election takes place in November. After the withdrawal of Edward Clark Howell of the Atlanta Constitution from the contest, Mr. West conceded that Mr. West should be appointed, though there were several distinguished South Georgia candidates to be considered. Mr. West is heavily interested in timber lands in Florida and is well known in this state. The appointment will be pleasant news to his numerous friends in Florida.

A general snow storm throughout the southeast Wednesday, the weather bureau records of twenty years standing. A white blanket covered the Atlantic seaboard as far south as southern Georgia and light drizzles of snow were reported through the Gulf States. New Orleans and Mobile had their first snowfall in more than ten years. In south Georgia snow reached a depth of from 10 to 15 inches for the first time in a score of years. Columbus and Savannah, Ga., each reported two inches. At Miami, Fla., and neighboring cities more than three inches had fallen before noon and the storm showed no signs of abating. In Birmingham and throughout Alabama generally snow began to fall early this morning and continued during the day. Charleston, S. C., experienced snow flurries as did Atlanta and practically all of southern South Carolina and Northern Georgia. Falling temperature accompanied the storm. At New Orleans, Mobile and other Gulf ports the thermometers hovered about the freezing point and the snow melted as it fell, but crippled traffic in many cities in Georgia.

District Attorney Whitman tonight indicated it was his intention to move for a second trial of Charles Becker, police murderer, charged with the murder of Judge H. H. Campbell. A number of other cases were also reviewed by the State Court of Appeals. Becker will be brought here tomorrow and placed in the Tombs.

Admiral von Dettlich admits he informed the British naval commander in Manila bay at the time of the Spanish-American war that he would shoot any American officer who attempted to land a German vessel to make repairs and establish his identity, according to the orders of Admiral Dewey. This admission was made today in this case as a further part of the events given to the Associated Press. The controversy between Admiral Dewey and the German admiral over the visiting between the vessels of the various powers, which, according to Admiral von Dettlich was quite pronounced. He had admitted there was a certain justice in Admiral Dewey's complaint as to the German ships being constantly at sea the move although this was necessary in no way meant to be unfriendly.

New eight hour law for women workers in the National Capital went into operation today. Laundries and many other service establishments threatened to increase in charges to the public. Moderate priced restaurants prepared to replace waitresses with men. The law provides that women under eighteen shall not be employed between seven and eight o'clock.

Responsible protest for fifty convicts were signed by Governor Colquitt yesterday and with their departure from the Huntsville penitentiary today the state will inaugurate an experiment in the management of prisoners without guards or shackles and a profit sharing plan for their work on public roads.

The state will receive $2 a month for each convict. Half of this will go to the penitentiary fund and half to the man's personal account. The county in which the men work will maintain them without the expense of guard and overseers. Governor Colquitt today announced that preparations were about complete for the paroling of forty more men under similar conditions to the Texas State railroad for construction.

The Seminoles county committee, J. N. Whitner chairman will meet on March 7, principally for the purpose of adopting a resolution fixing the rate of assessments against candidates.

Under the old primary law, the executive committee named candidates at an arbitrary rate exceeding 1 per cent of the salaries attached to the office. According to the Bryan act, the committee will now be permitted to select a candidate for an amount not exceeding 100 per cent of the salary attached to the office. In the old days the committee received these assessments and defrayed all expenses attached to a primary election.

Now, according to the Bryan act, the county commissioners assess the candidate 1 per cent of the salary and arrange all expenses for the election. The applications, or oaths, of candidates for state office are to be filed with the secretary of state, while the applications of candidates for county offices are to be filed with the clerk of the board of county commissioners.

The executive committee of a political party is required to furnish copy of the form for the oath of candidate to any applicant making application free of charge. If a candidate is to be voted for by electors of more than one county, oath must be filed with the secretary of state not less than thirty days previous to the day of election, but it to be voted for by the electors of a single county oath must be filed with the clerk of the circuit court not less than twenty days before the day of the election.

The impression prevails that the Bryan act is one of the most complicated pieces of legislation ever enacted in Florida, and that few really are able to draw a correct conclusion regarding some of its provisions. There is a growing feeling against the act, and an attempt, so it is understood, may be made to repeal the law at the next session of the Legislature.

Father Bresnahan Has a Message for Sanford Citizens. In addition to the usual Sunday night services during Lent we shall have in the Catholic church a special lecture or sermon, interesting especially to those who are not Catholics. From personal contact with our citizens during the past three years I know there are many of them who have never been in a Catholic church, never heard a Catholic sermon, never read a Catholic book treating of Catholic doctrine, and yet think and some believe they know more about the Catholic church than Catholics themselves. They have heard many things about the Catholic church that are not true and being creatures of prejudice they have believed them. Profoundly in this regard, as in all cases where it exists, is the result of ignorance and so every Sunday night during Lent our church doors will be wide open for all to enter and listen to the Catholic doctrine explained by a Catholic. I know that those afraid of hearing the truth will not attend. No one need fear to hear anything offensive. All seats will be free and it will be a case of first come first served. The opening lecture next Sunday night will be on the Bible. The audience will be given a chance to ask questions. If you are a worker after truth and anxious to deal fairly with all men you will come and bring your friends. P. J. BRESNAHAN.

COMPLICATED PRIMARY LAW

If the interpretation of the new Bryan primary law by certain county officials is correct, the county Democratic executive committee has been dissolved of many of its duties and may become nothing more than a campaign committee to arouse enthusiasm at election times.

Under the old primary law, the executive committee named candidates at an arbitrary rate exceeding 1 per cent of the salaries attached to the office. According to the Bryan act, the committee will now be permitted to select a candidate for an amount not exceeding 100 per cent of the salary attached to the office. In the old days the committee received these assessments and defrayed all expenses attached to a primary election.

Big Cabbage Head. R. H. Murhead holds the championship so far in the Herald contest for big cabbage. It brought one in yesterday that weighs 21 pounds and has a spread of leaves across the head of three feet. The cabbage is on exhibition in the window of A. P. Connolly on Magnolia avenue and is attracting considerable attention and is undoubtedly the largest head of cabbage that has been raised in this section. If there are any larger ones bring them in and take The Herald prize.

BARGAIN NEWS FOR MONDAY MARCH 2nd.

Objects to Trumpeter.

The following article was sent to The Herald with the request for publication and lest there be others who would rush into print in the attempt to tell the editor and business manager how to manage the paper we reply to the letter below:

Editor Sanford Herald:
Dear Sir—In the issue of The Herald of Feb. 20, 1914, appears an article under the heading "Trice's Trumpeter." The articles under this heading furnished by M. P. A. Bureau, Jacksonville.

I had always believed that The Herald was a clean, straight paper and was very much surprised to see such an article in it. The fact that it was a paid advertisement doesn't make any difference. The article is a direct whiskey "Ad," and the M. P. A. (meaning the Mercantile Protective Association) is one of the strongest saloon organizations in Florida.

The entire "Ad" (for that is what it is) is an attempt to break down the power of temperance and righteousness and to give the saloons that power and "liberty" which will destroy both soul and body as no other power on earth can destroy them.

I am glad it was not a write-up of your own, for I believe you are not that kind of a man.

I wish to refer you to the American Issue (Florida Edition) Feb. 1914, pages 4, 5 and 6, for evidence of the truth of what I say.

I hope you will not further disgrace the leading paper of Seminole county by any more articles (whether "Ads" or otherwise) from the M. P. A. or any other such "association."

You will also see by the American Issue that the saloon people are registering the negroes in Jacksonville to beat the band, as to defeat the better element of citizens.

Hoping you will give this matter your careful consideration and thanking you for the good paper you are giving us, I beg to remain,

Yours respectfully,
H. CELLAR.

Like a great many other thin skinned and thick headed prohibition talkers Mr. Cellar is afraid of the arguments of the anti-prohibitionists, and takes the stand that they should not be allowed space in the newspapers when in reality they have as much right to space in the paper for their arguments as the prohibitionists. The editor of The Herald has never in any of his newspaper ventures accepted whiskey advertisements in dry territory, not wishing to flout them in the face of the readers when the majority of the people by their votes declared the county dry. He has always voted the dry ticket and has probably given more of his time and space for the prohibition cause than Mr. Cellar has ever given or will give the rest of his natural life. But we have always fought the saloon in the open and granted them the same rights that we wanted ourselves in the argument, and that is the right of free speech. We have met them in the paper and on the stump and if Mr. Cellar was on any when the last state wide campaign was on he would have remembered that The Herald editor and Will Upshaw of Atlanta led the temperance rally in the park in Sanford one Sunday afternoon.

We have never dodged any issue but we are broad enough to grant that every question has two sides and there are just as many anti-prohibitionists who read The Herald as there are prohibitionists and both of them are entitled to space in the Herald. It is this narrow minded, Puritanical idea of Mr. Cellar's that places the Prohibition cause in a bad light every time the question of wet and dry comes up and that is the idea that unless the anti-prohibitionist is denied every right under the sun to speak or write or argue the cause is lost.

The Herald is a broad minded paper and at present is edited by a broad minded man and we have always given every individual the inherent right of free speech granting always that he has just as much sense as we have and certainly a perfect right to his arguments.

If the Merchants Protective Association, which is composed of whiskey dealers want space in The Herald to argue anti-prohibition they can have it, for we are not afraid of their arguments, as Mr. Cellar's wants to be. If any other anti-prohibitionist wants to set forth his side of the story in The Herald he can do so. If Mr. Cellar wants to take space in the Herald to refute any of these arguments he can do so, providing of course that they all pay for this space, and we charge for it, because if we did not they would fill the columns to the exclusion of other reading matter, and no one is particularly interested in this matter at this time. When the question of wet and dry arises in our county The Herald will be found as ever on the dry side and our arguments will no doubt have more weight than those of some of our thin skinned, canting Prohibition brothers who know as much about the booze questions as they do about politics, newspapers, etc.

Meantime, we reserve the right to run The Herald as we see fit in the future just as we have done in the past and will treat every man fair and square.

You Should Register Now.

The Democratic executive committee of Alachua county has issued an address to the voters of that county concerning the necessity of registering, and it is so well adapted to the needs of the situation in every county that The Herald reproduces it:

The last legislature passed a new primary law, known as the Bryan Primary Election Law, which is now in force, and this law requires that a new registration shall be had every two years, before the primary election of that year, and only those who register anew shall be permitted to vote in the primary election. The fact that you are "over age," or that you were born and raised and have "always lived and voted in your present precinct," does not count—you cannot vote unless you register again, under this law. If you fail to register you cannot vote. The registration books are now open in every precinct in Alachua county, and will close on February 28th. You must register before that time or you cannot vote. Our information is that the new registration is heavy in Jacksonville, Tampa, Pensacola, and other cities, while in the rural districts of Alachua county it is light, and the people seem indifferent concerning it. This is an alarming condition, because, unless our people register, the cities will choose the candidates who will occupy the offices and our people will have no voice in the selection of those who make and execute the laws which govern them and materially affect their property and happiness. Alachua is distinctly an agricultural county and a leader in things educational, and our people cannot afford to deliberately forfeit the influence and power that exist in large voting strength. We urge every Democrat to register at once, and to see to it that your friends and neighbors register, so that Alachua county shall continue to occupy its position of influence and power, and that every citizen shall be qualified to participate in the important primary election to be held next June. Register today! There is no time to lose.

NOTICE

In making up the tax rolls for the year 1914 the property owners in Seminole county can assist me in securing a correct record of every piece of land in the county by having the entries made direct from their deeds. For the year 1913 there were 437 pieces of land in Seminole county entered on the rolls to UNKNOWN. While this does not place a cloud upon the title, still it does not prevent the owner from paying taxes on land that does not belong to him and allowing property to be sold for taxes. One person brought in his deeds and receipts for two years back and found that he had been paying on land that was not described in the deeds and in the meantime his own land had been sold to the state for taxes. With your help in having all entries made direct from the deeds, all errors of this kind can be eliminated and a correct record made of each title, thereby insuring to the property owner that he will have to pay only his own taxes.

Beginning on the 16th of February I will be at the various precincts in the county to receive tax returns and after that date I can be found in my office at the court house. After the first of March I shall keep the office open until nine o'clock each evening, in order to allow those who are employed during the day to come in and talk over the matter of assessments.

THOMAS K. BATES,
Tax Assessor.

Doubly an Agnostic.

Professor Mahaffy was once examining a man who had put himself down as an "agnostic" on entering college. He was having a hard time at Mahaffy's hands "over some "crux" passages in a Greek book. "I believe, thir," said Mahaffy, "that you are an agnostic in religious matters." "The man feebly acquiesced. "Well, then, thir," said the professor, "I can quite assure you that you are an agnostic in Greek as well."

LOCAL WOMEN AGREE WITH STAGE BEAUTIES

Of all women in the world, probably those on the stage are most particular about their personal appearance, and especially in the care of the hair; and when such leading stage beauties as Ethel Barrymore, Elsie Ferguson, Natalie Alt, Louise Dresser, Rose Coghlan, Lorette Taylor and many others are so enthusiastic about Harmony Hair Beautifier as to write in praise of it, that is certainly evidence that it does just what they say it does—that is, beautifies the hair. There are many women right in this town, and men, too, who regard it as indispensable, because it makes the hair glossy and more silky, easier to dress and make stay in place. Sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or tightness.

Both preparations come in old-fashioned, very ornamental bottles, with stoppers tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Retail Stores, and in this town only by us.

Letter From Raymond Hitchcock to the Royal Tailors

When I ordered my first Royal Tailored Suit I ordered it on a dare.

The suggestion that you could make a perfect fitting Suit to measure, without a try-on, amused me. It's hard enough, goodness knows to get right fitting clothes with a dozen try-ons. But to get a fit with no try-on at all—why, the idea seemed as visionary as a broken soap bubble!

And since you guaranteed to "make good—or take back the suit—I just took you up in the spirit of sheer gamble.

Well, when the Suit came, I found it a darling. It fitted me as though I were born in it, and more; that that, it had that exclusive something, called style and individuality that every tailor strives for, and so few achieve.

And this without a single try-on, without any of the usual re-chalking and re-hacking.

You can surely put me down as a Royal Tailor enthusiast.

Yours very truly,
RAYMOND HITCHCOCK.

MOORE'S STATION

A party of Kalamazoo, Michigan, celery growers were visiting celery fields here last week. They were greatly taken with our manner of bleaching, etc. There all celery is bleached with old Mother earth baked up on both sides. Also were trying to get some of our plant settlers to come to their fields to set plants next season.

A great amount of spring celery has been set, both self bleaching and green, a far greater increase than heretofore. L. A. Brunley & Co. have set 40 acres, Florida Gardens Company have 10 acres out looking fine. Celery of any kind looks good again. Price up to $1.25 per crate this week and the greater part of early celery is gone.

A social is being planned to take place at the church March 6th.

The Florida Gardens lettuce exhibited at the Orlando fair was given the blue ribbon over a number of other exhibits.

E. M. Fenlon, who is spending the winter here is making a tour of the state this week.

Mrs. F. N. Estel of Cambridge avenue is spending some time in Mulberry with her son and family. A little new grandson is the special attraction.

Mrs. Sarah Middleton of Orlando is the guest of her nieces, Mesdames G. W. Guerry, C. C. Morris and Miss Ella Ingram.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griswold of Owosso, Michigan are guests of their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Howard. They are much interested in our trucking business and may buy a farm.

PAOLA POINTS

News has just been received at his old home at Twin Lakes, of the death early in January of Dr. L. M. Moore. No particulars were learned, but the simple fact of his death. Dr. Moore was a prominent figure in Sanford circles in early days. He was agent for the Sanford Grant and made the first map of the Grant, we think, and was also Sanford's first postmaster. In later years he was a popular dentist, but left Florida some twenty years ago to practice his profession in Chicago, Ill.

Dan Jones left for Tampa last week, expecting to return before going to his home in Georgia in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Leggett tended the fair at Orlando last week.

School closed at 1:30 Monday afternoon to allow the children to attend the funeral services of Mrs. McGuinn.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. McGuinn, the Paula packing house shut down for one week, resuming work on the 25th. J. A. Jenhour of Jacksonville visited his sister at Twin Lakes for a few days last week.

Bricks are being unloaded at Twin Lakes ending for the paving of the First street road to Sylvan Lake.

Frank Brown and his friend, Wm. Bell have gone to Tampa to attend the Gasparilla celebration.

Mrs. Emerson returned from a visit to Mt. Dora to attend the funeral of Mrs. McGuinn. Mrs. Safford of Mt. Dora also attended the services.

It seems impossible for the weather clerk to give us more than two perfect days in succession, and perhaps we ought to be thankful for that much, but Florida folks are spoiled in the way of weather, and grumble not a little at this blow one day, rain the next, and all but freeze the next, and long for less change.

In Memoriam

And yet again the dark angel of death has visited our little community, and stopped with icy touch, but gent y, the pulsing of another heart.

Mary E. Bishop, wife of A. M. V. McGuinn, passed peacefully away at 3:25 a. m. Friday, February 20th.

Mrs. McGuinn had been in her usual health until within a few days of her death, when she contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. In her frail condition she was unable to withstand this dread disease, and in spite of every care and attention she sunk to rest. It was a great blessing that her brother, George Bishop and his wife were here to assist Mr. McGuinn in giving her the loving care of "own people," and also the presence of the professional skill of Dr. Williamson of New York city, who was in constant attendance. Noting was left undone that skill and love could offer, but "He gives, He takes, He will restore, He doeth all things well."

Mrs. McGuinn was the only daughter of William J. and Mar. Bishop and was born in Algonquin, Canada, Feb. 27th, 1853 and was married to A. V. McGuinn of Cleunage, Canada in 1875.

Owing to delicate health, Mr. and Mrs. McGuinn came to Florida over twenty years ago, and have made their home in Paola ever since, until last summer when they built a charming little home in Demorest, Ga., where they had spent several pleasant summers and made many friends.

Paula was still to be their winter home and we did not feel that we had lost them at all.

While Mrs. McGuinn had been in poor health all these years she had kept up her round of home and social duties with wonderful energy and courage. Always bright and cheerful she was ever ready to lend a hand to those who needed aid and the vacancy she leaves will be hard to fill.

In early life she became a member of the Methodist church and was always active in all church work, organizing and conducting a Sunday school in Paola at a time when all activities were under a pall of the freeze that ruined so many. She worked with might and man to keep up some interest for an almost paralyzed people, and for a time her school with attendant social picnics, etc., was about all the life there was among us.

On the afternoon of the 23rd a large congregation of friends and neighbors assembled at the McGuinn home to pay their last tribute of esteem to one who had long welcomed them with lavish hospitality. Services were ably conducted by a personal friend, Rev. Phillips of Demorest, Ga., and Tavaras, Fla., Miss Helen Iserman, presiding at the organ.

The day was beautiful, and with its bright sun, soft air and budding vegetation, seemed typical of that spring time of Eternity to which we all look forward with such faith and patience as our Master gives us.

The casket was deeply covered with beautiful floral emblems, gifts of many sorrowing friends and was placed temporarily in a small house in one of the orange groves until Winter's icy chill will permit the burial in Canada.

Of Mrs. McGuinn's near relatives there remain her devoted husband and three brothers, Dr. J. N. Bishop of New York city, James Bishop of Chicago and George W. Bishop of Brockville, Canada. To them our whole community extends heartfelt sympathy and shares in their sorrow.

Paula, Fla., Feb. 25th, 1914.

Expert Optician Coming

We have arranged with A. K. Hawley, of Atlanta, Georgia, to have with us on March 5th and 6th, an expert optician. If you need glasses or a new pair, or if you want to have your eyes examined, please call on him at the time mentioned and he will be glad to do so.

Remember we have a variety of this equipment and a complete line of optical goods, and we guarantee our work. All examinations are free and glasses repaired. We will be glad to fix glasses. Don't forget the date, March 5th and 6th and be sure to take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity.

For the Ironing Board.

Put the ironing board with a thick quilt or old blanket, then lay the board on the table and cut a piece of heavy muslin so it will fit the board loosely. Sew it up, leaving the slip open at each end. Make two of these slips and change them frequently. Thus the ironing board is always clean, and the padding will not have to be changed for months.

A Relic of History.

A newly rich woman, who was anxious to make a favorable impression in her neighborhood, decided to show her collection of antiques to the bishop when he called. The time came, and one by one she displayed the whole collection, giving him the history of each piece. "There," she said, pointing impressively to an old yellow teapot, "that teapot was used in the Boston tea party."

It Would Seem So.

"What do you consider the most important even in the history of Paris?" asked the obsequious landlord of the American tourist. "Well," replied the tourist, who had grown weary of distributing tips, "so far as financial prosperity is concerned, I should say the discovery of America was the making of this town."

SURELY, A BENEDICT'S JOB

Care Taken by Burglars to Remove Traces of Their Work Somewhat Convincing.

The burglars who, after blowing up a safe the other evening, thoroughly washed their finger prints from the pryings imprints of the law, had the careful observer to meditate on their antecedents and speculate on the probable consequences of this novel application of an old idea.

At a venture we would say that these ingenious disturbers of the peace have in their time trodden the uncertain paths of wedlock. Where else could they have learned to cover up the tracks of their misdoing in so masterly a fashion? Where but on the conjugal hearth are found the most effective devices of dissimulation and disguise? One can easily picture a typical illustration.

Wife is out visiting her mother. In the parlor hubby sits expectantly with a smile of anticipation curling about the half-burned end of his cigar. A ring at the door bell! Enter, in hilarious procession, half a dozen intimate friends with bundles carefully concealed about their clothing. The bundles are produced, the corked drawn, the company gathers round the polished board, the cards are dealt and loathed melancholy of blackest midnight and wife's scruples born promptly hence.

It is now time for wife's return and the point of the story. The sin has been committed and the transgressor must cover up his tracks. Here is where your safe-washing, burglar learns his game. The ash-stained table is scrupulously washed; the cigar butts gathered on a tray and thrown to the mercies of the night; the smokes-laden air is purified with breeze from the outer world; the bottles carried away and everything put in order. Now bring on wife and Sherlock Holmes! The washing of the safe is inevitable; emphatically so if we assume that our burglars' friends may on occasion have been related to the kitchen, aproned and belabored with a clutter of dishes waiting in the pan.

The idea promises to have interesting ramifications. From now on the unscrupulous gentleman who lives by his wits will take pains to wipe his penitence forger's checks and the ash-stained bank cashier will have the same thoroughly whitewashed before he leaves, thus turning the detective's completely empty track. Now back Evening Sun.

Nothing to Fear.

Two chums were spending an hour in intimate chat at the club. The conversation veered round to the love affairs of the disappointed looking one. "Why don't you propose to her?" asked his companion. "I'm afraid." "Afraid. And yet she loves you?" "Oh, awfully." "You agree with her father in politics?" "Yes." "You agree with her mother in religion?" "Yes." "You agree with her brother as to which is the best football team?" "Yes." "Then, damn the old man, if I can't do what you're afraid of!"

Love is Similar to Sunlight

How the sunlight seems to watch for a chance to get through the smallest opening in the clouds! Love, which forgives because it is love, and which waits for every opportunity to manifest kindness, is not going to wait to be asked to forgive. Ignore the wrongs you receive and think over the good that has been or yet may be, and the evil will dwindle into nothingness.—Robertson

Ballard's SNOW-LINIMENT
Is the Right Remedy for All Abrasions of the Flesh.
If the wound is cleansed and the liniment applied promptly, the healing process begins at once and the wound heals from the inside outwardly, thus performing a perfect cure. That leaves no scar. If the wound heals on the outside too quickly, pus forms under the surface and breaks out into a stinging sore that is hard to cure and inevitably leaves a bad scar.
Owners of blooded stock prefer this liniment to all others for that reason, and they use it not only on fine animals, but on human flesh, as it does its work quickly and thoroughly.

To Our Friends and the Public in General

After much thought and consideration we have come to the conclusion that we can better serve the public and ourselves by consolidating our Dental Practices.

And by placing our practice upon a cash basis we can pay cash for our material and be able to do your work about thirty per cent cheaper than heretofore.

This will be our policy—prices cash, but much lower.

We wish to thank our friends and patients of the past, and hope to see you in our new parlors, which will be open on the first of March in the G. & W. building.

Seminole county should have a grand next year. We have everything to make one a grand success.

The Gasparilla celebration in Tampa was a howling success and the Sanford people who have returned home look like it.

"This is a poor man's country," said a tourist. "And if you don't believe it, go out and try to make a fortune in amount anywhere from 25 cents up."

The man who used to spend all his time perfecting perpetual motion has a new diversion; he's trying to cross aeroplanes so they'll lay eggs.

Less dress and less pomp is the platform of Mrs. Bowen Schumacher of Chicago. Less pomp may be all right, but less dress - this ought to be a campaign worth watching.

Candidates in Seminole county are numerous, and the columns of The Sanford Herald are blossoming with them. They are much more forward over there than in Orange. Not a candidate has announced - not a gun fired. In Seminole all county officials are to be elected this year, the appointments made by the governor under the organization of the new county holding only till January, 1914 - Orlando Sentinel.

WHY LARGER NAVIES?

According to figures compiled by the Illustrated London News in 1888, the leading world powers, all aiming to be following in the footsteps of the "Prince of Peace," expended approximately the following sums on the naval equipment: Great Britain, $65,800,000; France, $40,000,000; Italy, $23,500,000; United States, $13,000,000; Russia, $18,000,000; Germany, $11,900,000; Austria, $5,600,000.

Twenty-five years later the order and approximate expenditures are these: Great Britain, $231,500,000; United States, $144,000,000; Russia, $122,500,000; Germany, $114,400,000; France, $93,000,000; Italy, $81,300,000; Austria, $29,500,000.

The "fourth" nations who make a pretense of being following in the footsteps of the man who came to bring peace to the world, is catching on and has been doing so for nearly 350,000,000 in the equipment of her navy.

Secretary Bryan, whose chief lecture is entitled "Principles of Peace," is in the position to exercise some influence in the direction for war, and the agencies for war establishments continue to increase and our nation more and more hears the appearance of the "ruffled front" of the war.

PIN HEAD CRITICISM

Over in Orlando a citizen stopped his paper, The Reporter-Star, and otherwise criticized the "modus vivendi" because the name of one of his children was omitted from a local notice in the paper in which the names of other children appeared. The omission was intentional, of course, on the part of the reporter, and as the paper explained, but the citizen, in the absence of testimony, preferred to charge it to the law and unworthy motive in spite of the part of the paper because of some previous ill feeling.

Newspaper men everywhere, and to their deep disgust, are frequently confronted with experiences of this kind. Toiling all day, getting up local news from many sources, in which there are often scores of proper names, and preparing their copy for the printer, it would be marvelous if mistakes or omissions did not occur through pure unintention, and yet when they do occur the persons who find themselves aggrieved, with utter selfishness and inconsideration and monstrous exaggeration of their own importance, promptly charge it to spite or dislike on the part of the editor. Such a conclusion is invariably false and unjust and sometimes idiotic.

No newspaper man ever seeks by such puerile contemptible methods to get even with anybody. He hurts his paper by doing so, does violence to every newspaper instinct in him, gets even with nobody, and pillories himself before the whole community as a petty, spiteful fellow. And yet the pin heads who criticize him, shutting their eyes to the perfectly plain, natural and reasonable explanation that the error or omission complained of was purely accidental, through some mistake of the reporter or the reporter's informant, insist that the editor is willing to do himself and his paper injury in the community that supports it in order to take the terrible revenge of leaving somebody's name out of a social event or falling to note some item of local interest. Such petty and malicious critics are wrong in practically every instance, but they annoy like the buzzing gad flies they are and they are a nuisance to every newspaper.

There isn't a paper in Florida that would omit a name from a legitimate local item or fail to print that item itself from motives of spite or dislike, and the people who charge such motives lay themselves wide open to the suspicion that what they charge upon others they would be ready to do themselves if opportunity presented.

CALIFORNIA AND FLORIDA

No Comparison in Climate or Business Opportunities

Here is the way some of the people out in California are talking about Florida. It is from a letter from a citizen of Berkeley, California, to the Florida Grower.

"I was talking to a gentleman the other day and it pleased me to hear him boast Florida as he did. He had been a hotel keeper in Orlando for about eight years, and has lived here in California for about two years, so I believe is in a fair way to judge and to make comparison between the two places. He said: 'As for climate, Florida has California beat all to pieces, and as for opportunities in almost any line, and especially agriculture the west is not in it with Florida and the south.'

"Now, this gentleman came here to go into business, but after investigating, has found all lines more or less full to the limit, and is going back to Florida, where he made his money and where he knows the opportunity awaits him to make more money. He is going to stay just long enough to see the 1915 exposition, and then no more California for him. In fact, he said he was so anxious to get back to sunny Florida that he may take his family this spring and not wait until after the exposition.

"The point I am trying to bring out is this: While California is a grand and resourceful state that has gone ahead by leaps and bounds with home seekers coming in at great numbers every day, I believe there are going to be a great many disappointments and even failures with land prices soaring to and beyond the limit as they are at present. (Not always the best land, either) I can't see where the opportunities are for the average man. I don't want to be classed as a knocker, but facts are facts. I have investigated several land propositions here with the object of buying, but Florida offers the best inducements. I have bought here and intended to make my future home in 'the land of almost always summer.' I trust you will excuse this rather long letter. I feel as though I should hope the good state of Florida, even though I am not a resident thereof.

Municipal Business Manager

Many cities and towns all over the United States whose citizens desire up to date methods in running their municipalities are employing business managers whose duty it is to run the town or city's affairs in much the same way that a business manager would run a big mercantile establishment. The idea of a business manager in looking after municipal affairs comes from Germany, where most of the small towns and cities have such officials. These managers are not men for any political reasons but instead for their ability to conduct all affairs of the town or city in a businesslike manner. Already several towns and cities of this country have adopted this method and the latest town to decide on this plan is Glencoe, Ill., one of the leading and best known suburbs of Chicago.

Glencoe is a beautiful suburb whose residents are mostly men who are well up in the business world of Chicago and it is only natural that they should prefer the business manager plan in the conduct of the municipal affairs of the suburb. Glencoe village trustees and M. W. Glencoe, village trustee, advised for a business manager and not less than 150 applications were received. Mr. Gil, chairman of the village board, in outlining the duties of the new manager compared the city governed by a manager to any big business firm - its citizens as stockholders and its trustees as directors. It is apparent that the idea of a business manager to conduct municipal affairs is one that will grow in popularity.

When business men of a town come to the conclusion that the affairs of a municipality should be conducted in a business way they are considering one of the most important phases of community development. When a town is improved in its government in its improved as a place in which to trade. On the other hand, the town that does get the trade of its own people and community is likely to be the best town in government and in everything else.

THE TAX COMMISSION

They Are Working Hard to Hold Down the Job

To the Tax Assessors of the Several Counties of Florida:

Gentlemen - The Tax Commission since its organization last July has been working to find the best plan to get all assessors for the year 1914 to assess all property on a uniform basis, one county with another. On investigation we found that heretofore property had not been assessed at a uniform rate varying from 10 per cent to 75 per cent of its true cash value. This was in violation of law but was done by custom and consent among the assessors. The Tax Commission, knowing that these conditions existed, suggested to the assessors in a convention in Tallahassee in November that they all agree and pledge themselves to assess all property for the year 1914 on the same basis of not less than 50 per cent of its true cash value. We believed at the time, and so advised the assessors, and still believe that, under the conditions now existing, which cannot be changed at once, it was not best to jump to a full cash value this year; but the assessors failed to adopt our suggestion and adjourned without taking any action or making any agreement as to a uniform assessment. This left us with nothing to do but to instruct them to comply with the law and assess at full cash value. Since then the assessors met in convention in Jacksonville on February 2 and passed resolutions adopting our previous suggestion, agreeing to assess all property for the year 1914 on a basis of 50 per cent of true cash value. We believe that this, which is in line with the suggestion made by us to the tax assessors while they were at our request in convention in Tallahassee in November, will be better for the tax payers under the existing conditions and we approve this action and withdraw our order for a full cash value for year 1914 and notify all assessors to assess all property for 1914 at 50 per cent of true value in compliance with this pledge and resolution.

We suggest that all boards of county commissioners and school boards arrange their special levies so as to work to a full cash value assessment later as required by law.

The Tax Commission will visit the different counties in the state and confer with the assessors and use all means in their power to see that property in every county is valued and assessed on as near a uniform basis as possible. We hope every assessor in the state and every board of county commissioners will work harmoniously with us to the end that each county will bear its just portion of the taxes necessary to successfully finance the state and county governments.

We hope that all assessors will use diligence to get all taxable property on the tax books, as it is unjust for some to pay taxes and the others escape when all are receiving the same benefits from the government.

Respectfully,
John Neel,
John S. Edwards,
R. J. Paterson,
Tax Commission.

Now here is wondrous kindness. Mason is providing for pensions for school teachers by "having school teachers put aside a small part of their salaries for providing annuity funds." Georgia is noted for the handsome way it treats its school teachers, anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes and Mrs. L. E. White, Mrs. Barnes mother left Wednesday morning Mr. Barnes going to Beaufort, S. C. to look after the lettuce deal there for his firm and Mrs. Barnes and her mother for Pensacola, where they will remain for several weeks visiting relatives before joining Mr. Barnes in Beaufort. Mrs. Barnes work in Expression will be continued by Mrs. Gertrude Green, who is an Emerson graduate and an excellent reader.

Services at the Methodist church on Sunday were conducted by Rev. J. A. Bowen of Birmingham, who is spending the winter at Enterprise, and preached in Rev. Steinmeyer's absence as he is attending the Sunday school convention in Hot Springs, Ark. The sermon was of patriotic nature and as it was Washington's birthday there were flags and a large portrait of the "Father of his Country." In evidence Dr. Bowen used for his subject "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." His sermon was a masterful effort and any one hearing him could but feel proud of being an American and also that he lives in a Christian nation. Mrs. T. A. Newton sang a beautiful song at the morning service.

IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Ceell Butt, delightfully entertained the Etire Noct Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. S. Dickens. The room, where the tables were arranged were attractively decorated with cut flowers, roses predominating. Four tables of players enjoyed the game of auction, two tables having been added to the club tables in compliment to Mrs. S. L. Martin of Brooklyn, N. Y., a pleasant visitor to Sanford. At the conclusion of the game, the club prize went to Mrs. F. J. Gonzales for highest score. Mrs. L. G. Stringfellow and Miss Elizabeth McLaughlin cut for consolation, a bouquet of exquisite pansies, and Mrs. Martin was presented with the guest prize, an attractively bound book. The hostess assigned by Mrs. M. S. Dickens and Mrs. A. B. Wallace served a delicious salad of tomatoes and grapefruit, with waters and coffee, the plates being garnished with a boutonniere of pansies. Those present were Mrs. L. G. Stringfellow, Miss Gene Wickler, Mrs. S. L. Martin, Mrs. J. W. Dickens, Mrs. Geo. A. DeCotter, Mrs. T. E. Wilson, Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Mrs. C. G. Barnes, Mrs. J. W. Neal, Mrs. F. J. Gonzales, Mrs. A. B. Wallace, Miss Belle Smith, Mrs. M. S. Dickens, Mrs. A. W. Fitts, Miss Elizabeth McLaughlin, Mrs. Geo. Fox and Miss Peachea Leffler.

Miss Laura Fish was the charming hostess of the auction bridge club Tuesday at her home near Cameron City. Two tables of players participated in the game, Mrs. C. M. Vorce winning highest score and receiving the prize, a handsome towel trimmed with hand crocheted lace. Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, nut bread, olives, nuts, cake and coffee were served at the dining room table, which was appropriately and artistically decorated with Washington favors of hats, hatches and books, while the centerpiece of cherry blossoms gracefully interwove in the candleabra was most attractive. Miss Fish's guests included Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mrs. S. Puleston, Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. H. M. Papworth and Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin.

There will be a social and supper at Moore school grounds on Friday, March 6th. Will serve punch, ice cream and cake. All are cordially invited.

Sanford House Dance

The dance given at the Sanford House by the boys was up to the high standard set by those in charge. The music was furnished by the famous DeLand orchestra and delicious punch was served at intervals during the numbers. On account of the absence of The Herald society reporter a detailed account of the affair is lacking but in the opinion of the many who were present it was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season and thanks are due to those who so ably arranged the program and successfully carried it out. The boys intend to give one more dance before the close of the season and every one is looking forward eagerly to that time.

Ben Hur Organizing

Mr. I. L. Andrews, prominent in fraternal work in Florida is with us to organize a court of the Tribe of Ben Hur. A great court of the order has been instituted in Jacksonville and courts will soon be instituted in every town and city in the state. The order has many members in Florida who hold their membership in the east and west and so on.

The order takes its name from Gen. Lew Wallace's great book, Ben Hur, a tale of the Christ.

The order has 125,000 members and is growing rapidly in thirty-five states, in which they are doing business, has a reserve fund of over $1,500,000, growing each month. Ben Hur is an adequate rate, order based on national fraternal congress tables of states and does not sell cheap insurance that could make the order unable to pay the beneficiaries. The order collects sufficient to enable us to pay all obligations at any time after certificate has been delivered.

Ben Hur has no sealed policy or cumulative policy, but pays full amount any time after certificate is taken up and first payment made. Ben Hur admits men and women on equal terms. Part of our offices men, poor women, has a most beautiful initiatory work taken from book Ben Hur.

We invite all true men and women of Sanford to become members of this great order. Charter membership fee will be $5.00, which includes examination fee.

Call on or address I. L. Andrews at Dr. Miller's office.

There will be a cooked food sale Saturday afternoon at Roberts' Grocery.

The law provides that failure on the part of the county commissioners to provide county maps or to provide signboards at all intersections shall subject them to removal from office upon the complaint of any citizen. This looks like a dangerous power to put in the hands of an officer's political enemies.

IN MUSICAL CIRCLES

Mrs. Clara Thomas Ginn, a lyric soprano and one of Cincinnati, Ohio's most popular church soloists will sing in the Congregational church here next Sunday night.

Rehearsal for the Grand Fetevoe this Friday evening, also Monday evening, March 2d, 7:30 p. m.

The singers are doing finely in the preparations for the great Musical Fetevoe. The event is going to be a big one, a real affair in which all the citizens of Sanford will take the highest degree of pride.

In addition to the anthems and Miss Aspinwall's solo at the Congregational church next Sunday evening Mrs. Clara Thomas Ginn, the Jenny Lind of Cincinnati, will be heard in song and solo. Mrs. Ginn will sing Large Luzzi's Sing Hallelujah with Glad Reising. Name should be of hearing this sweet singer. She will be here for one Sunday only.

What Cures Eczema?

We have had so many inquiries regarding Eczema and other skin diseases that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. Prescription, can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. Prescription.

Drop into our store today, just to talk over the merits of this wonderful Prescription.

Use Of Calomel Practically Stopped

Dangerous Drug Giving Way for Safer More Reliable Remedy

Hundreds of people in this vicinity alone have stopped the use of dangerous calomel when their liver is acting slowly, and take Dodson's Liver Tone instead.

Dodson's Liver Tone is always safe and has none of the bad after-effects which so often follow the use of calomel. It is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid that starts the liver gently and surely, and relieves constipation and biliousness and causes no restriction of habit or diet.

Many preparations have sprung up that imitate the claims made for Dodson's Liver Tone, but remember Dodson's Liver Tone is the tried and tested remedy that has proven such a good medicine and is so satisfactory to every user—is the reason these imitations are on the market.

Dodson's Liver Tone cannot hurt any one, and if it fails to do all that is claimed for it, L. R. Philips & Co., who sell it, will give your money back with a smile.

AT THE FORGE FIRE

Why an Old Blacksmith Heeded the Appeal of an Escaped Convict.

By H. M. EGGERT.

The hunted man who had emerged from the mangrove thickets that fringed the road stopped, straightened himself, and passed the sleeve of his ragged coat over his eyes to wipe away the sweat that blinded him. Not fifty yards ahead he saw the red blaze of a smithy fire, its bright tongues darting among the cloud of whirling sparks that spun like midges in the darkness. Beside the black silhouette of a huge old man bent over the anvil, the fall-like arms thrashing upon a red-hot shoe.

The hunted man crept forward. The fine white dust of the roads had powdered him, oozed from the laggard and plastered him, so that the pattern of his suit was indistinguishable; it would have been hard, too, to tell whether he was old or young, negro or white.

Through the warm February night, a warm breeze from the south, though it dripped sweat, the man stretched out his hands toward the blaze as though to warm them. What he desired, however, unconsciously symbolized by the action, was rather the warmth of human intercourse. It was days since he had heard a human voice.

At that moment there sounded, very musical and very far away, the bay of a hound. The man's straining ears caught the sound, he hesitated no longer but, gripping the anvil, fled from a soft iron thimble shirt for any other offensive use, he slouched toward the smithy and peered in at the door.

"Can you give a stranger a shake-down, mister?" he called to the smith.

"Come in, friend," answered the smith, not looking up. "Sit down beside the fire and rest you a spell."

The man obeyed, taking his seat in the shadows and pulling the ragged hat well over his eyes.

"You be from Tampa, friend?" inquired the smith, pausing in his work and looking up for the first time. Something about the man's appearance killed a man, the lowest and meanest vermin that ever crawled.

The smith stood facing the convict quietly, but the kindness in his eyes had given place to leathing.

"I'll give no help to a murderer!" he cried. "Whose shoe's that, by man his blood's about to shed. That's in the Good Book. Be you gone, for you'll get no help from me."

Staring there defenceless, he yet bowed the man who had the knife in his coat. The fugitive did not even remember it.

"You'll hear me first," he pleaded. "I never murder, could be justified, this was my first day." "I'll tell you every thing there's time to tell me," he went on rapidly, disregarding the old man's threatening gestures. "I was raised in Bodmin and came to this country eight years ago to marry my girl, the girl who was pledged to me. She'd come here first as lady's maid. There was another Bodmin man, I told him of Milly before he set sail to work in the mines."

"The mines, you say!" shouted the smith, starting into the other's face. "What mines?"

"The phosphate mines at Hicks Crossing. He came here, I'd sent Milly a message by him, the black-headed hound. I heard no more of them, but when I reached the town I found them both. They had been married four months. They had a cabin in the fields, I met her at the door. Her eye was blackened and her arm bruised. He'd done that the night before. I found him in the mines and put my knife through his heart."

"Whose heart?" screamed the smith, trembling violently. "What was his name? Whose heart?"

"Himman's, I tell you—"

The old man's hand fell heavily upon the shoulder of the convict and in his eyes was a strange look of peace.

"There's an old suit behind that curtain, friend," he said in an expressionless voice. "Put it on; then sit by the fire. After a while I'll have a bite for you. Haste you!"

The hound was giving tongue along the road.

"But—but—" stammered the convict. "You knew Himman?"

"He married my girl," answered the old man quietly.

English Colliery Superstition.

A curious custom prevails among the Durham (Eng.) colliery women. Whenever they put clean sheets on the bed, they also place three small bits of coal on it. If they omit to do this, they think the husband will meet with an accident before the sheets are changed.

Device Stops Tail Switching.

To prevent a cow from switching her tail in the face of a person milking her a man has patented a chain and hook to hold her tail against one leg.

Family Trees Defined.

While the family tree of the elephant runs mostly to Frank, that of the chorus girl does nothing of the sort.

Difference Between Two Words.

The vast difference between the words "may" and "shall" can be fittingly described by those who have gone before the parole board.

Never Even Tepid.

"Have you hot water in your house?" "Have I? My dear boy, I am never out of it."

Rather Dull.

When we get down to it, life hasn't half as many complications as a ten-cent melodrama.

Various Weapons.

The bike, the strike and the hike have all made history.

Unfit.

She—"Why do you work so hard?" He—"I am too nervous to steal."

Growing Children

THEY SHOULD BE PROTECTED AGAINST INTERNAL UNCLEANLINESS AS WELL AS EXTERNAL CONTAMINATION.

The delicate organs of the maturing child are more susceptible to the influence of disease and infection than are the more seasoned organs of grown-ups. Malaria, taken an early and strong hold of the child's liver and causes headaches, loss of appetite, indigestion, cramps and many other dangerous conditions.

These are the signals of warning nature provides that your child may be relieved of impending sickness.

The proven remedy, Carwell's Liver-Aid, which is a purely vegetable compound should be in your medicine chest ready to administer at the first sign of a disordered liver.

We Promise You Relief from All Stomach Troubles Or Your Money Back

We honestly believe we have the best remedy in the world for indigestion and dyspepsia. We urge you to try it at our risk. If it doesn't relieve you—as we feel sure it will—we'll give back your money without a word. You know us—your family druggist. You know we wouldn't dare recommend anything we didn't know about, nor dare to break a promise. Therefore, when we recommend any remedy it is because we believe it to be better than any other to relieve the ailment for which it is made, and when we prove our faith in it and our sincerity toward you by promising to give back your money if it doesn't relieve you and in every way satisfy you, you have no possible excuse for doubt or hesitation.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets

are, we honestly believe, the best remedy made for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all other Stomach Ills

We Know They're Good Delays Are Dangerous You Risk No Money

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, in addition to other ingredients, contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two great digestive aids used by the entire medical profession. They soothe the inflamed stomach, check the heartburn and distress, stimulate a healthy secretion of the gastric juice, aid in rapid and comfortable digestion of the food and help to quickly convert it into rich red blood, and thereby into flesh, bone and muscle. They relieve stomach distress promptly, and, used regularly for a short time, tend to restore the stomach to a comfortable, easy-acting, healthy state. They aid greatly to promote regular bowel action.

Don't neglect indigestion, for it frequently leads to all sorts of ill and complications. The pain and discomfort is not the most unfortunate part. The fact that when the stomach is not acting right, the material needed to repair the wastes that are constantly taking place in the body is not being given to the blood either in the proper condition or fast enough is far more serious. Nothing will cause more trouble than an unhealthy stomach. The blues, debility, lack of strength and energy, constipation, biliousness, headaches and scores of other serious ailments result from the failure of the stomach to properly do its work.

Our willingness to have you use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets entirely at our risk proves our faith in them. We always sell them this way, and it is because we know that they have greatly benefited scores of sufferers to whom we have sold them. There's no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll give you no questions. You needn't sign anything. Your word is enough for us. We know that when they help you you will consider it money well spent even if they had cost you ten times as much. If they don't help you, the money you paid for them is yours, and we want you to have it.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores—the World's Greatest Drug Stores. In convenient boxes—three sizes: 25c, 50c, $1.00.

Intemperance
By John C. Trice
Intemperance is admittedly one of the greatest curses of the age, but the people have been educated to a misconception of intemperance. It is just as erroneous to believe that intemperance applies alone or with any more force to the excessive use of alcohol as it is to believe that the headquarters of the evil one will be found in a gilded rum-shop. Both of these beliefs are natural outgrowths of the theory of prohibition, as it is taught. The divine injunction to be temperate in all things, carries with it just as strong a plea for temperate eating, temperate speaking, and temperate action and thought toward our neighbors, as it does for temperate drinking.

In fact there is a special commandment against intemperate preaching. In His instructions to those who were to carry on the work after Him, the Messiah is reputed to have said: "I do not wish that any man should be baptized in my name, but that he should be baptized in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit." This is in line with the whole life teachings and example of He who said it, and indeed it is a distorted mind which can find in it justification for ostracism, boycotting, abuse and vituperation. All of these things are intemperate, and who can deny they cause aches in the hearts of millions of people everywhere.

Prohibition and the Drugs

Florida Times-Union
The letter, with the stirring commendation of the medical profession, has been made some time ago, and the drug habit in this country. We are told that the United States is now second to China in the per capita consumption of opium. Our courts are often called upon to deal with the opiate fiend and other drugs, and it remains to be seen whether the enforcement of prohibition is a profitable even degree for the de-struction and dispersion of opium. It is a fact that the use of opium has been increasing since the prohibition of beer and wines, and this was hailed as a sign of health. Now we are told that the percentage of opium consumption increases beyond all former examples.

In a neighboring county two fishermen came into a country store late at night, wet and cold. They could not buy whiskey and so they bought a pair of brandy lozenges. One of them died and the other was blind for months. The physician, finding the fruit had been put up in diluted wood alcohol. Can it be supposed that a bottle of whiskey or a dozen bottles of brandy would have proven as fatal? Many examples like unto this might be cited. We cannot be sure that prohibition is responsible, but the doubt naturally arises. Can it be established that prohibition is less familiar in the countries that have gone dry without a corresponding increase in the use of narcotics drugs?

Here is a case where the legislator should collect information from the physicians scattered throughout the rural district, and from the druggists in the towns. All of us know that the law is powerless to restrain a habit once formed, and if we prescribe whiskey only to promote the use of something worse, the rigid moralist should be made to yield place to the practical statesman. It is not for us to decide and we do not, but a serious responsibility for the legislator to handle where indicated.

An Ibsen Play at Rollins

The School of Dramatic Art at Rollins College have in rehearsal "A Doll's House," a three act play, one of Henrik Ibsen's prose dramas which will be presented by their best talent on Wednesday evening, March 4.

The career of Ibsen, who has so often been called the father of modern drama, is not a detail. Three of his greatest works, Lovers' Comedy, Brand and Peer Gynt were written in verse and not even Goethe himself has been thought to the world a dramatist of force more amazing. Ibsen is the enemy of all convention; he is battling for granted. Close as we are to the production of Ibsen's play, we can hardly judge rightly yet of the fate which is actually being wound off the loom under our very eyes. Ibsen has created a new form of drama, and he is himself superseded by some still more vivid painter of actual life. We must look upon him as the first of dramatic realists. Those who desire to account for Ibsen's eminence, may find the reason in an old couplet of Dryden's which says: "They who have succeeded on the stage have still outdone their genius to their age." Whatever is unsettled, sinister and critical in the close of the last century has at least found an exponent in the author of "A Doll's House."

The cast of characters for the play is as follows: Torvald Helmer, Henry D. Fordham; Nora Helmer, Maud Enlow; Dr. Rank, A. J. White; Nils Krogstad, Clarence Tilden; Mrs. Linden, Grace Tilden.

Why the Man Walks in Front

When a man and a woman are walking together, the man usually walks in front. This is a very old custom and has its origin in the fact that the man is usually the stronger of the two. He is usually the one who has to carry the woman, and he is usually the one who has to protect her. This is why the man walks in front.

Florida Woman Made Able to Eat Her First Meal After Two Years

Mrs. McManus Takes Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and Quits "Soft Diet"
Mrs. E. McManus of 324 East Chestnut street, Jacksonville, Fla., suffered so seriously from stomach troubles that she lived for two years on soups and soft diet.
"I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and I feel much better. Here is a part of my letter:
"Your medicine is the greatest remedy on earth. Enclosed find order for three more bottles. I have eaten my first meal in over two years since taking your medicine. I have been living on a soft diet, but thank God, I am much better."
People everywhere have had just such experience. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy has been proven a health restorer by thousands who have taken it. It is known everywhere.

"Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. Many declare that it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure that it has saved their lives.
The cause of the remarkable success of this remedy is that it is so gentle and so effective. Be sure it's Mayr's, Go to the L. R. Phillips & Co.'s drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing in cases they know of and to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 151 166 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

TELLS HOW TO MAKE MONEY GROWING FIGS
This book treats this important fruit as completely and thoroughly as it does citrus fruits, etc. There is no section of the citrus or cotton belts in which figs do not thrive. Figs are increasingly in demand and the fruit is destined to become an important commercial factor in Florida and all the Gulf Coast Country. Plant fig trees now.
Diversify in Fruit Growing—It Pays
Even in the heart of citrus Florida it will be found profitable to grow some fruits other than oranges and grapefruit. Many tropical fruits, also figs, Japanese persimmons, plums, pears and peaches should be planted. In many instances these can be interplanted in citrus groves and a good income derived from them without injury to the citrus trees.
Griffings' 1914 Tree Book
This work gives lists of the fruits that can be grown to advantage in any section of the South. It tells which of these may be grown in the same orchards and groves. Griffings believe that diversified fruit growing is as important to Florida as diversified farming is to the whole South and they have developed their nurseries accordingly. Send today for free copy. Nurseries at ten convenient Gulf Coast points.

"THAT STILL SMALL VOICE"

Mr. Editor—Many years ago in the old country it was the practice to enact laws, and, as it were, "Place them under a bushel, then take in all who of-fended against them to be punished by fine for the replenishment of the public treasury. The ruling class, which were composed of the noblemen, did not believe their subjects had any right to know, or were capable of understanding, what they were about in the manipulation of the affairs of their govern-ments. This ruling class believed they were infallible, and of divine right were created for the purpose of ruling their underlings, and that these in return were created solely for the purpose of being ruled, and to support the government; without knowledge of how it was being managed, or of having any voice in its management. In their wisest conceits these rulers little dreamed of the danger of going too far with the secrecy of their acts, and the oppressions created there-by. They little dreamed that beneath the time worn garments of these common people there breathed a sense of unrest that would some day reveal itself in forms to demonstrate that they were the real men who were giving their lives and their all for the support of the government, and the men who run it, at whose hands they received no little recognition. "This still small voice" began manifesting itself around the scanty firesides and on the street corners wherever these serfs and sub-jets of the ruling class happened to have time to give expression to their feelings. Speaking at the claims of these mal-contents and knockers, the rulers hard-ened their hearts and stiffened their necks, and chuckled in their satisfac-tion of being able to manage the affairs of the government without suggestion of dissent from those who in reality bore the burden of it. Without taking time to care in detail the events which resulted from this state of affairs, it will be sufficient to draw the attention of the reader, and he will at once recall the tragic downfall of these once-noble empires along the coast of the Mediter-ranean Sea, and of the men who brought it about because of their arrogance and conceit in ignoring the mainstay upon which they depended for sustenance. "That still small voice" again began manifesting itself when the Puritans, the Pilgrim Fathers, the Quakers, and others braved the wilderness of the New World, and faced savage Indians and wild beasts that they might enjoy freedom and the right to participate in the management of the government. For the support of which they were so regularly and abun-dantly called upon. These people, like the bird which has flown from captivity, having tasted true freedom, thought it had its hardships, were vigilant in the protection and promotion of it. When the ruling class of the old world sought to extend their special laws and oppres-sive practices to include the American Colonies, the colonists, having learned their lesson, rebelled. They in bold language, proclaimed the principle, that to place burdens upon them without giving them a part in levying such bur-den was tyranny. Every school boy in the land knows the awful tragedy that followed, and the price in suffering and human lives that was paid for what Thomas Jefferson wrote in the preamble of the Declaration of Independence, "That governments exist for the benefit of and derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. Upon this basic principle the nation then estab-lished soon became a statue of liberty, as it were, to all the people of the world. Throughout all of the states, as they entered the union, then established, embodied, in their make-up as the finan-cial basis for all law-sentiments and principles similar to those enunciated by Jefferson, and which have been guarded with wary eyes since that time. Let there be an open and avowed as-sault upon those principles at that time expressed, and since, in substance, em-bodiment in all our constitutions, both national and state, and the man who makes it await his certain doom and rightly so. Yet if we look about us do we not find these principles being at-tacked and undermined by cunning and ingenuity which are largely taking away the benefits guaranteed by them. None dare openly oppose these principles while they enact laws in violation to them, and deny to the citizens the in-formation concerning their official acts which the law requires them to give. Do we not find our legislatures pass-ing special laws levying burdens upon us without our knowledge or consent, and in violation of constitutional provisions which require such laws shall be passed, and in the doing of which they ignore and break down the very constitution which they have sworn to protect and uphold. Do we not find officials withholding the of-ficial acts and proceedings of themselves as administrative bodies, which the law requires shall be made public, and in the doing of which they ignore and break down the same law which gives them their power to act? Do we not find contracts for public work being let in private and without that competitive bidding, the benefits of which the law seeks to secure for the protection of the public; and in the doing of which they ignore and break down the very law under which they claim the power to act. Do we find the law maker and the official circumspectly looking to the law, and the principles of public policy as established by law, and the principles of public policy as established by law, as their guide in offering to make laws for and in administering the law to others? Of a certainty these still slumbers, even though it be unspoken, "that still small voice," which has in times past wrought such havoc among those who claim the right to serve, but who refuse to do so when entrusted with the privilege and power of service. From time out of mind the Anglo-Saxon people have been a patient people, but there comes a time when patience ceases to be a virtue; and then, well, we are told to beware of the wrath of a patient man! I shall close by vouching the broad statement to the effect, that when those who serve are afraid to trust those whom they serve with a full knowledge of all their acts of service it is getting about time to change servants. Having written that without saying anything I shall now close lest I do say something, but per chance I may come again.

THE OLD HOME PAPER CHANGES POLICY

The old home paper is to adopt a new policy concerning the publication of news. That is, The Old Home Paper (thinks it is about to adopt a new policy, because the editor is on the warpath this week. But next week the paper will contain the same kind of news that has made it so popular with its readers in the past. The occasion for the wrath of the editor of The Old Home Paper this week, as related in the issue which reached you yesterday, (for the welcome visitor from the little old town, always arrives by Saturday mail) was a letter received from one of its subscribers. "Please send me as many extra copies, free, of last week's issue of the paper as you can find around the office," said the letter. "It contains a long obituary of my aunt who lived in Illinois. Also please publish the enclosed clipping from a Texas paper about the marriage of my niece." "I will send you here," but it will help fill up the paper. If it does not cost you anything I wish you would also put a piece in the paper to say that I have two good calves for sale. Last week I received a notice that my subscription is due. Please stop the paper as times are too hard for me to waste money on newspapers. It was not the nerve of the subscriber imposing on the editor of The Old Home Paper that offended him, and which promises to revolutionize the policy of a lifetime in the liberality of this old publication. No, indeed; for ever since the paper has been established the editor has never failed to record the death of the aunts of his subscribers and to print long obituaries clipped from Illinois papers or Ohio papers, or papers from any other state, although nobody in all the little old town knew anything about the deceased aunt or was at all interested in her death. But that is the way the editor has of pleasing his subscribers. No one in the little old town ever gets a letter announcing the death of a relative of the marriage of a relative without insisting upon The Old Home Paper devoting as much space to the event as the local paper did in Ulster county, New York, where the folks lived, devoted to it.

"I have some news for your paper," a woman telephoned the editor. "This morning I received a letter from a cousin of mine who lives in Paducah, Ky., and it announces that her daughter was married there last month to one of the most prominent young men in the city. He drives a hack from the Illinois Central Depot to the Paducah House. My cousin also sends me a clipping from a newspaper there. If you will send some-thing up to the house I will send it down so you can print it. It is only a short notice, and I would like to have it re-ferred after you copy it." "Did this relative of yours ever live in this town, or visit here?" asks the editor weekly. "Does anybody in the town know her?" "No, answers the subscriber. "But lots of my friends have heard me talk about my cousin in Paducah, and they will be interested in knowing that her daughter is married." So the editor prints the piece from the Paducah paper with a notice at the bottom that "The bride is the accom-plished daughter of a cousin of Mrs. Brown of our city." And on the strength of Mrs. Brown having given the editor this news story to enliven his paper, Mr. Brown comes down and tells the editor about his pen of Plymouth Rock chickens and gets him to insert a line in a half column story about the chickens to the effect that "Mrs. Brown has concluded to part with a number of these chickens in order to encourage the production of blooded poultry in this community. He will sell them in lots of $5 per trio and will sell eggs for hatchings at $3 per 15 eggs." No less than four of the six columns of The Old Home Paper's new actions are given over to the newspaper spon-sors in the little old town, and the editor has never made a complaint. But when they write in to say it is wasting money to pay the annual subscription price of $1 per year for The Old Home Paper it is time to start a revolution. Therefore, the announcement in this week's issue, which you observe, a course that hereafter we will make a charge of 5 cents a line for all local items in this paper that advertise anything on which the advertiser expects to make a profit. Exchange.

MADE FROM HUMAN HAIRS

Most Remarkable Series of Portraits Placed on Exhibition in German Studio. Portraits made out of single hairs, each hair being some 30 inches long, can be seen now in the establishment of L. P. Federmeyer in Germany. His work is considered as really the most remarkable of its kind in the world and he is becoming known as a genius in his profession. On the walls of his establishment may be seen hanging moltoos and de-signs and, higher up, large bust por-traits of world famed men. You glance at them as you would glance at any picture on entering a home, but when you are told that these pic-tures were made up entirely of human hairs, without a single line of paint, crayon or pencil, you are half inclined to doubt the veracity of the proprietor. When he produces a magnifying glass and you see hair, some of it chopped almost to powder, your doubts are sat-isfied. There are pictures of Victor Hugo, Gambetta, the French statesman, and Napoleon I. There is one picture of a group of cabinet ministers. The re-markable thing about it is that each of the seven portraits comprising the cabinet is made up of a single hair, not longer than thirty inches.

Penn's Inexhaustible Elm Tree.

When the old tree fell it was utilized after the American fashion. A few cords of it were sent to the Penn family in England; an armchair was made from it and placed in the com-missioner's hall in Kensington. Hun-dreds of thousands of work stands, vases, paper weights, knife handles, paper cutters, etc., were made from the remainder of it. During the Continental in Philadelphia in 1876 a new apparatus was given to the man-ufacture of the great elm rolls, and several planing mills had all they could do to supply the demand. Prob-ably there never was a tree so re-markable for its versatility. Pretty and useful articles of pine, maple, wal-nut, oak, ash and cherry were made from the great elm and sold to the reverential tourists from all parts of the great republic. It is estimated by the careful statistician who com-piled the facts for this work that not less than six cords of hickory walking sticks, with the bark on, were made of this great elm and sold to centen-arial pilgrims from the city.—G. J. Burdette, "William Penn."

HEREDITY AND POSTERITY

BY STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The success or failure we make of life is due as much to our parents as to ourselves. A recent writer has expressed it in these words:

"Our fate makes the future man, but in the same way we are ourselves made by a choice and a will not our own."

A man may, within limits, mould himself, but the materials he alone can use were handed on to him by his parents, and whether he becomes a man of genius, a criminal, a drunkard, or an ordinary healthy, well-conducted and intelligent citizen must depend at least as much on his parents as on his own effort, or lack of effort, since even the aptitude for effort is largely inborn.

Our observations of men go far to prove these statements, and if we accept them literally, we must conclude that a good many of us start in life with petty heavy handicaps. Nature through all the ages has been evolving a better race of men, as she has been improving the breeds of animals, but it has been through the harsh law of the survival of the fittest. The strongest have beaten down the weaklings and have propagated their kind.

The individual has been sacrificed for the good of the many. Men and nations have been destroyed that the world might reach its present stage of development.

This path of progress, marked by ruin all the way down, suggests that the individual is limited in the utmost possibilities for personal development, physically and mentally. In any direction he reach is short; he cannot attain nor grow beyond fixed and narrow limits.

Yet the mighty spirits that have been the exceptions, have proved the rule and have been the great minds of history that have showed the way to larger things and possibilities.

The individual alone advances but a little way beyond the averages of mankind. He is limited by his inheritance by the materials he has to work with, which have been given him by his parents.

He is handicapped by the smallness of his inheritance, or his life may become a grand success from the same heritage. From it he gains the impetus which carries him up or down, for even "the aptitude for effective effort is inborn."

Such in outline is the fatalistic teaching of cold science unmeliorated by the doctrine that makes every man his brother's keeper. This splendid twentieth century is teaching new lessons, of the brotherhood of man and the world brighter and better for them.

But if we are limited by our inheritance through our parents, we in turn are imposing limits upon the next and the following generations.

With our greater knowledge we are prepared, if we will to transmit to our children a richer heritage than we have received, to impose a lighter handicap and down larger incentives to the best things.

In Florida a State Asylum for the Insane about twelve hundred patients are being cared for.

Of the entire number of insane in the state, probably four-fifths are in the state institution, the whites predominating slightly. In the state school for the deaf and blind are more than two hundred children.

In both institutions the numbers are increasing from year to year by ratios larger than the growth of the population of Florida.

Why?

One reason at least, is that the state of Florida imposes no restrictions upon the marriage of the feeble minded nor upon those who are known to have been born of a parentage from which mental unsoundness, if not actual insanity, might be inherited.

Economists favor the idea that the state shall give financial aid to those who have been incapacitated for self-support through misfortune or through fault of their own; they approve of state care of the indigent insane, but no honest man ever believed that the state should deliberately foster or even permit the breeding of mental defectives, to transmit their incapacity to other generations and to bring into existence lives that are worse than living deaths.

A medical authority has compiled the records of the descendants of two brothers, who lived a hundred years or more ago in this country. One married a weak minded girl. The several generations that followed were crowded almost exclusively with mental defectives, insane and criminals, who became a curse to the state and a continuing source of enormous expense.

The second brother married a bright young woman in his own class of society and their children down to the present generation have been good citizens and useful, some of them eminent in literature and the arts and finance and among them men and women great in the history of the country.

Is it right, that Florida—that any state—shall permit such things? It has the right to protect itself, to protect its citizens, who act collectively the state.

What will Florida do about it?

Winter in Maine

Augusta, Me., Feb. 24, 1914.

R. J. Holly, Editor Herald, Sanford, Fla.

For some time I have been thinking that a fair and unprejudiced description of a Maine winter would interest many of your readers, particularly those who have never lived in the north, and I decided to write one. But when I looked my vocabulary over I found I lacked the proper words that were printable to describe such a winter as we are now having. I found that it would require a great deal of study of the English language to find words and phrases that would do it justice. I had searched Webster's Unabridged from A to Z to find suitable words and had almost decided to abandon the idea when I chanced to read a poem from the pen of Mary Sweetland of Bangor, Me., giving a description which I think does it justice, and so clearly describes our present winter that I will not try to improve it. The poem reads as follows:

Wintering in Maine
O' No, we've not forgotten
Those grand winters up in Maine,
When being three feet from the stove
Is actually a pain.

When you shiver down to breakfast,
And you shiver up to bed,
While your teeth all wildly rattle
Like a dice box in your head.

When the wind mournfully whistles
In a million different keys,
And shrieks and wails a wild refrain
Through a million leafless trees.

When the snow is so persistent
That it comes right through the door,
And all around the window sills,
And heaps upon the floor.

Then you wade around in snow drifts,
Till life is one grand sneeze,
And when you have the flu
On one or both your knees.

You start out in the morning
The frost bites you to the face,
And you're only saved from bad words
By a large amount of grace.

It seems a dozen demons
Start dancing in your toes,
And a pair of frosty pinchers
Are a-hanging to your nose.

Then you think with one aversion
Even though your companions peek
Of a place said to be warmer,
On the other side the Sky.

O no, we've not forgotten,
We can't forget, you know,
With the faithful old thermometer
Forty degrees below.

It may be Maine is changing
To an atmosphere less keen
But not without resistance
From the young 1914.

ENTER THE OYSTER.

There's an R in the Month That's Good For Bivalves.

For scalloped oysters prepare a pint of water and season them with half a teaspoonful of salt and half a salt-spoonful of pepper. Into one-third cup of melted butter stir a cup of cracker crumbs. Butter a shallow dish, put in one-fourth of the crumbs, then half of the oysters, then one-fourth more of the crumbs, the remaining oysters and a thick layer of crumbs on the top. Bake twenty minutes or until the crumbs are brown and the juice bubbles up on the edges. In doubling the recipe half as many cracker crumbs will be sufficient.

Cream Oysters on the Half Shell.
Four cups of water, a cupful of hot water, one of milk and one of cream, with a little salt. Set into a kettle of hot water and let boil; then stir into the water a spoonful of butter and a little salt with white pepper. Take from the fire and add two heaping table-spoonfuls of corn starch wet with cold milk. By this time your shells should be washed and buttered and a fine oyster laid within each. Range the shells closely together in a large baking pan. Stir the cream very hard and fill each shell with a spoon. Bake five or six minutes in a hot oven until the shells become warm.

Oysters in Cream (German Fashion).
Drain twenty-four oysters, add the juice of a lemon, one ounce of butter, salt and pepper and bring to a boil. Melt one ounce of butter, add two teaspoonfuls of flour, one-half pint of white stock, a spoonful of mushroom ketchup and cook and stir five minutes. Blend the yolks of two eggs with half a cupful of cream or milk, add to the sauce and pour over the oysters.

To Insure Success in Preserving Fruit.
Success in preserving, as in other branches of the culinary art, depends largely on a strict adherence to rules.

For instance, it is well to avoid tin or metal utensils, as fruit acids attack metals and occasion a disagreeable and unwholesome flavor, and a dull off-color is frequently the finished product. White lined utensils are preferable.

The shape of the pans may seem an unimportant matter, but it is well to bear in mind that broad rather than deep pans are advantageous, since the weight of fruit is apt to crush that below.

It is a vast help to have the necessary utensils, which include scales, measuring cups, jelly bag, wooden spoons, a wooden pestle, a colander of wicker or similar ware, earthen bowls, a large mouthed funnel, silver plated knives and forks, a skimmer, a ladle, a pitcher with long, narrow pointed lip, a row sieve and two or three pans.

Fruit for preserving in any form should be fresh picked or gathered and slightly underripe. Such fruit insures more perfect shape in the finished product and eliminates the possibility of fermented fruit or the loss of pectin or jelly making property.

Handle soft fruit (peaches, berries, etc.) as little as possible. If it is to be canned in jars put it into the jars at once on a surface or otherwise prepared for it.

All berries must be washed but then a few at a time into a colander, pour cold water over them and turn at once upon a heavy sieve to drain, then hull.

Large hard fruit, as apples, pears and quinces, should be washed and wiped dry before paring.

Cut apples and other hard fruit for jelly into quarters, removing all wormy portions or imperfections. Retain the skin and cores. The cores of quinces should be discarded, as the excess of gummy properties does not improve jelly.

MAIL PLAN TO AID CONSUMER.

Burlison to Give Him Direct Access to the Farmer.

Washington.—The recent decision of the house committee on agriculture to ask for $104,000 instead of $94,000 to maintain the new division of markets in the department of agriculture makes known the plan of Postmaster General Burlison to use the division of markets and the parcel post to bring farmers and consumers together, with a view to lowering the cost of living.

Circulars are to be distributed along rural free delivery routes telling the farmers of the trade opportunities offered by the postal service. These circulars will ask the farmers to record their names and addresses at convenient post-offices and then, periodically file statements of the produce they wish to market and the price. The circulars will also contain information as to packing perishable products for shipment. These data will be classified and distributed among consumers in bulletin form.

The department of agriculture officials are at work on practical phases of this plan of distribution. The extra $100,000 which the agricultural committee has agreed to give is to be used to teach the farmers how to get and hold city trade.

TO END MENTAL TESTS.
Department Makes It Easier For Students to Enter West Point.

Washington.—An order which will make it possible for candidates to enter the United States Military academy at West Point without taking mental examinations was issued at the war department.

It provides that a candidate may be exempted from the mental examinations credited by the Military academy if in good standing in any institution accredited by the Military academy, if the entrance requirements for such institution include proficiency in algebra, geometry, English as outlined by the college examination board, or if he can present a certificate of graduation and proficiency from institutions accepted as standard by the college examination board or if he can present a certificate showing he has passed examinations as prescribed by the college examination board.

It is expected that this order will encourage young men to enter West Point and result in decreasing the number of vacancies there.

NOTICE.
In settling up the tax rolls for the year 1914 the property owners in Seminole county can assist me in securing a correct record of every piece of land in the county by having the entries made direct from their deeds. For the year 1914 there were 147 pieces of land in Seminole county entered on the rolls to L. N. KNOX. While this does not place a load upon the title, still it does not prevent the owner from paying taxes on land that does not belong to him, and allowing property to be sold for taxes. One person brought in his deed and receipts for two years back and found that he had been paying on land that was not described in the deeds and in the meantime his own land had been sold to the state for taxes. With your help in having all entries made direct from the deeds, all errors of this kind can be eliminated and a correct record made of each title, thereby insuring to the property owner that he will have to pay only his own taxes.

Beginning on the 15th of February, I will be at the various precincts in the county to receive tax returns and after that date I can be found in my office in the court house. After the first of March I shall keep the office open until nine o'clock each evening, in order to allow those who are employed during the day to come in and talk over the matter of assessments.

THOMAS K. HAYES,
Tax Assessor.

THE SANFORD HERALD

Published Daily, Tuesday and Friday Morning By THE HERALD PRINTING COMPANY... J. HOLLY, Editor... HAYNEK, Business Manager...

Thomas Edison says that the year 2110 will witness the ordinary man living as well as the man with two million now lives, but somehow or other we cannot enthuse over this idea one little bit.

According to the experts March will prove to be the proverbial dog coming to roting and we earnestly hope for the benefit of our northern friends that the month will be our ally. Here in Florida we do not have the roaring quite so much.

The girls of Florida counties are organizing canning clubs to can the surplus fruits and vegetables that are now wasted in the fields. Could we expect the girls of Seminole and especially of Sanford to stop darning and bridging long enough to investigate the advantages of this idea or is this matter too much?

The registration books will be open again at the office of the supervisor in Sanford on March 15th. Now, you lazy voters can still get a chance to register and come in while the water is low. The Bryan law evidently was framed with the idea that the ignorant voter needed a guardian.

Reports state that snow fell in every state in the Union last week except Florida and that report should forever settle the controversy about where the winter coast of America is situated. The weather report of this week will be another advertisement for our state and especially for Sanford and winter vegetables.

One of the greatest changes in newspapers is that of the Fort Pierce News under the able management of Chas. Emerson and J. M. Emerson. They have polished and improved in every way the paper taken over by them several months ago and the News is now one of the best papers on the east coast and fairly bristles with the boasting spirit of the Emersons. They are live wires and should be appreciated by the people of Fort Myers.

Editors usually are an easy bunch. Most of them don't like to make hardships for any one. I guess they are too free hearted or too much afraid of offending some one. Anyhow, most of them are overdrawn at the bank, owe the paper and type foundries, houses and as a class are considered to pay or "dead beats," when the truth of the matter is that most of them have plenty of money and then to pay up all the bills and have something left over. Zolfo Truth.

The editor of The Herald was accused the other day of being a Socialist because he deplored the war in Mexico and hoped that the United States would never again be drawn into another war. If this feeling for humanity is Socialism then we are Socialist and don't care who knows it. Wars are caused by the capitalists and the poor devil who enlists bears the brunt of the burden together with the other poor devil who is forced to pay the war tax for many years after, while the capitalist waxes fat from the proceeds of slaughter.

Most all editors are theoretical farmers and consider themselves capable of advising practical farmers. We know an editor who farmed successfully for fifteen years and unsuccessfully for one year. He farmed successfully fifteen years on paper and failed the only year he tried to till the soil. This incident tends to show the extent of the knowledge of agriculture possessed by the average editor. -Starks Telegraph.

Shine hands, Bro. Robbins. That fits our case exactly and never again will we try the farm. Now write another one about the man who tries to edit a newspaper while he is farming.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK There are enough editors in DeSoto county to have an organization, and they frequently get together, have a dinner and an auto ride, and then talk shop. It is a good thing, but few counties in Florida have so many editors who are such good fellows. -Orlando Sentinel.

How about an organization of Orange, Ocoola and Seminole with perhaps Lake and Volusia also. There are some mighty fine fellows in these five counties. Joe - Sanford Herald.

DeSoto county organization has already accomplished much that has resulted in financial moral and social good and it is just in its infancy. Whooop local organization, boys, and you'll be dollars and cents ahead, as well as establish more friendly relations and a better understanding among the fraternity. -Zolfo Truth.

PAYING CASH

In the last issue of The Herald appeared an advertisement of two prominent dentists of this city who have formed a partnership and will operate on a strictly cash basis. This brings to mind the fact that more and more the people of the United States and especially in the south are beginning to realize the value of the cash system and the advantages of the cash system. The following from the Florida Record is pertinently proper.

During our short business career as a newspaper owner in this city we have noticed several things which might be better for a change, if such a change could be brought about. One of the things, and one of the most noticeable is the credit system which obtains in this city.

While we are not opposed to a certain amount of credit, that of giving and receiving the same, we have found that the proposition is vastly shrewd. Credit makes business, which everyone will admit. But a too long extended credit spoils the best kind of business and undermines the very foundations of staple business principles. Every business man in this city must admit that if he had less credit accounts in his books and more of the actual cash in the bank, his business would be far better. We know it, for we are in the same fix. If we had less credit accounts on our books and more of those accounts paid into our bank account, we would be better pleased. We are not quarreling with those who are on our books, because we know that their books are in the same condition.

When we started in business we were willing to give thirty days on all payments. We suppose that the majority of the business men did the same. Undoubtedly they have all found the same trouble which we are finding. How about a remedy?

Every business man were to make the rule that thirty days credit actually means thirty days credit and not sixty, and enforce it, business in this city would be one hundred per cent better. Let us see if we cannot get together and remedy this drag on business.

Banks are methodical in carrying on their business. If you owe the bank any money on a note, you can be sure of the fact that upon the day that the note is due, you must pay it, or have the legal machinery started to sell you up or out. At all events you are made to pay. While business men could not, or would not do this, still there should be some pressure exercised to stop the evil of too great a credit and then business will pick up amazingly.

Opportunity on the Farm

What man, woman or child does not have the ambition to earn money? Such an ambition is entirely natural. It does not indicate that all persons crave the power which they think the possession of money will give. Rather, it means a yearning for the self respect which comes with the knowledge that the work accomplished is of recognized value. The reward sought is not power, but independence. Young persons, as well as older folk, are eager for, and need a certain amount of the experience that is obtained by producing and selling a marketable product. A city boy has an ambition to sell newspapers because it gives him employment and makes him feel himself a part of the business world. Why should not the country boy have a like opportunity? A business enterprise that centers in the farm has all the advantages of newspaper selling and few of its disadvantages. Through contact with the business world, a money earning industry for young persons on the farm should broaden their interests, should aid in keeping them out of the community ruts, and should present farm life in its right perspective.

During the summer months there are many weeks when the boy and the girl on the farm have little to do. If those weeks were occupied in planning, organizing, and conducting an enterprise that would bring money returns, time often wasted might be used wisely, since business experience and training would be gained.

The complaint is being made that young persons are leaving the farm for the city. In some cases their action is justified, since no employment has been provided for them that yields adequate compensation. Helping with the farm work has afforded the only opportunity for boys and girls to gratify a natural craving for adventure and excitement, and, unfortunately, service on the home farm has too seldom proved a tangible return.

Such an enterprise might consist in developing a small business for the disposal of products that often are wasted. Consider the bushels of fruit that rot on the ground every year. This unmarketable material might be gleaned by the young persons on the farm, and be made to form the basis for a small, but profitable industry.

In the southern states there are canning clubs, the success of which may be taken as an indication of what could be expected from similar work in our own state. For example, tomato clubs, which have been organized by the federal government, provided an industry for boys and girls on the farm and utilize bushels of tomatoes that were formerly wasted. Canning begins only when shipping tomatoes to northern markets is no longer profitable. Canning outfits are set up in the fields, and the canning process, which is carried on out of doors, is supervised by a trained person. Tomatoes are canned in tin, and the finished product is marked by a standard label which is a kind of guarantee of the excellence of the product. Thus, by canning tomatoes, club members are able to obtain returns on a large crop which otherwise would be a total loss. Not only does this enterprise bring its financial reward, but, what is still more important, the development of the young persons and their increased interest in farm life give to the south a return, impossible of measurement. These young persons who are being trained in business principles and business operations are becoming alert; they are developing keenness and ingenuity. -Farmers Farmer.

Always Have Good Situations

The lovers of good clean entertainment will be pleased when they learn that the celebrated Swiss Bell Singers will be in Sanford Friday, March 6th. This company, as every one knows is one of the kind that brings gladness to the hearts of those that are worried and furnishes entertainment to the old and make merriment for the youth. This company will vary from its regular rate when in Sanford and will give a special patriotic matinee for ladies and children at prices within the reach of every one. Adults 25c, children 15c. The evening performance will be entirely different from the matinee with a program more appropriate for grown ups. Prices at night are 25c and 50c.

Seats on sale at Maxwells.

Bates is Busy

Tax Assessor T. K. Bates is busy these days getting up the tax roll and not waiting for the tax payer to come to his office. Mr. Bates is going out to the various places in the county and seeing them for himself. He has been over the east side of the county and is now engaged in the Ovida section where his work will keep him during the remainder of the week. Mr. Bates states that Seminole will show up in good shape in the next tax roll and much valuable property has been added to the assessment roll that formerly was overlooked. Under the efficient administration of Mr. Bates property is not being raised beyond the limits of the owners but all property is equalized and put in at the real value. He also has very good systems for the better efficiency of his office and will perhaps be under the necessity of having an assistant in his office during his absence in the county.

Woman's Club

Notes From All Departments Of The Sanford Woman's Club

Saturday was the Music Department day at the Woman's Club and the members of this department gave a very beautiful reception to which the whole club were invited. On account of the extremely inclement weather the attendance was not as large as was expected but those who braved the elements were richly rewarded in enjoying one of the most pleasant affairs given at the club this season. The color motif in decoration was green and yellow and graceful festoons of Spanish ribbons and green vines were brightened with quantities of nasturtiums of various shades of yellow. Receiving the guests as they arrived were the officers of the Music Department: Mrs. David L. Thrasher, Mrs. Annie Stinson, Mrs. George L. Hoy, Mrs. David C. Marlow and Miss Elizabeth Y. Chandler.

The beautiful program that had been prepared for the entertainment of the club was opened by Miss Chandler, in some extremely interesting and well chosen remarks on the Verdi and Wagner Centennial. The musical numbers were mostly selected from choice productions of these two favorite authors. The first was a piano duet, "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star" by Wagner, that was well rendered by Mrs. Cecil Hunt and Mrs. Margaret Davis. Mrs. Jesse Stinson, next on the program played two pretty selections on net: "Sheep Well, Sweet Angel" by F. Alt and "Oh Promise Me" by Benjamin De Koven. Miss Stinson was accompanied by Miss Davis. Mrs. "Pascio" Powell charmed the audience with a violin solo, "Miserere" from Il Trovatore by Verdi. This was delightfully rendered, Mrs. R. B. Deas accompanying on the piano. A delightful number was a piano duet, from "Mozartette" Verdi, played by Mrs. Cecil Hunt and Miss Davis. Two of the prettiest numbers of the program were the duets, "Dreumling by Shely and "Who Daylight goes by Neudinger, sung beautifully by the club chorus of whom Mr. George L. Hoy is the efficient leader. The ladies singing were, first soprano, Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Della Farmer, Mrs. T. A. Nowt, Miss Appollonia, Miss Stinson, second soprano Mrs. George L. Hoy, Mrs. C. L. Pulley, Mrs. Powers, Miss Stewart, Mrs. Kate Atton, Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff, Mr. George Fox, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Gertrude, Mrs. Morgan and Miss Joan Stinson. Accompanist, Mrs. Cecil Hunt. Space around the piano, where the spotlight was partitioned off with stately ferns and festoons of vines and flowers, that made a very charming picture. Mrs. M. Martin was with hostess for the day and her assistants were Mrs. O. W. Brady and Mrs. C. H. Lofler. Delicious grape nut salad, wafers, olives, coffee and coffee were served. The ladies who decorated and otherwise assisted in making the pretty affair a success were Mrs. Della Farmer, Mrs. Cecil Hunt and Miss Stinson.

The many friends of Harry Ward are glad to see him back in Sanford for a short stay. His immense wire and fence factory at Decatur, Indiana takes his time and attention, but Harry likes Florida and Sanford better than his native state and hopes at some future date to so arrange his business affairs as to make Sanford his home all the year round. He is the kind of man that Sanford needs all the year round.

Social at Moore's Station

The members of Moore's Station Sunday school will give a fruit social next Friday evening, March 7th, at Moore's Station church for the benefit of the Sunday school. A short but very interesting program has been prepared, which all will enjoy. Each lady is supposed to bring a small box or basket of fruit, and these boxes are to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. All are most cordially invited to attend.

The organ was ordered through the Indian River Music House in Titusville and was made to order, being manufactured in Stanton, Va.

There will be a social and supper at Moore's school grounds on Friday, March 6th. Will serve punch, ice cream and cake. All are cordially invited. 56-11

In Visitors' Honor

An artistic arrangement of yellow jessamine and bamboo made a happy effect in the decorations for a charming tea given by Mrs. Geo. Peters on Saturday afternoon in Geneva. The guests of honor were Mrs. F. E. Phillips, Mrs. L. M. Miss and Mrs. B. A. Sturdivant. The hours from two to five were pleasantly spent. The color scheme was carried out in the refreshments, which were elaborate and delicious.

The guests invited were Mrs. Henry Baker, Mrs. J. A. Wicks, Mrs. T. O. Powers, Mrs. A. W. Davis, Mrs. C. A. Raulerson, Mrs. D. W. Adams, the Misses Anne and Irene Peters and Mrs. Marie Pomposelli.

Telephone Directory Printed

The telephone directory for the Sanford Telephone Co. has been printed from the press and is one of the best of the kind that has ever been printed in Sanford. The directory gives all the Sanford subscribers as well as Geneva, Ovida, Chulgoffa and other towns and has also some valuable information regarding the city. The telephone subscribers' names are in large and legible type and can easily be read in the dark, making the directory an indispensable aid to the young ladies who wish to gossip over the lines while impatient subscribers are trying to get the doctor. Get a directory and call by numbers.

People on West Side Object to the Fertilizer Factory

At the meeting of the city council last night the question of the rebuilding of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Co. came up and the people who reside near the factory and who yesterday obtained an injunction against the rebuilding of the factory were present, represented by their attorney, George C. Herring and the Virginia Carolina Co. represented by the local manager, E. B. Brown and the general manager, H. F. Sams of Savannah. The city council decided after hearing both sides that a committee of the council, the fertilizer people and the residents of the West Side meet on the proposed site, his morning and come to some agreement.

The people living in the vicinity of the factory are kicking on the near proximity of the factory and since the burning of the factory have been talking of injunctions to stop the rebuilding unless the new factory was moved closer to the lake shore. The Virginia Carolina Co. claim that to move such a long distance from first street would be impossible and the probabilities are that the factory will never be rebuilt as the owners are not at all satisfied with the location since the F. E. C. Ry. moved their lines from this district and there are several other Florida cities that are very anxious for the factory to come to their city.

It is hoped that an amicable settlement of the affair can be reached today and that the factory will remain here and the people living in that locality will be satisfied with the change of location.

While no one cares to reside near a fertilizer factory it seems that some changes could be made that would satisfy both sides to the controversy, as the residents of the West Side are not in favor of the removal of the factory, but only see that it be moved farther toward the lake shore. The Virginia Carolina Co. are a valuable adjunct to our manufacturing industry and are purposing to enlarge from time to time and the city of Sanford cannot afford to lose them.

Biggest Optician Coming

We have arranged with A. K. Hawks Company of Atlanta, Georgia to have with us on March 5th and 6th one of their expert opticians. If you need new glasses or if your old ones are unsatisfactory, visit our store during this period and let our optician examine your eyes and adjust your glasses.

Remember we have arranged this engagement and secured the services of a man of ability and reputation, and that we personally guarantee his work. All examinations are free and only regular prices will be charged for glasses. Don't forget the date, March 5th and 6th and be sure to take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity.

Florida Peanut Butter

Hurbank has the distinction of manufacturing the first peanut butter in Marion county. Messrs. F. P. Taylor and Ed Blakenhorn are making this toothsome produce on a small scale now and will enlarge their plant as business increases. They brought forty pounds to town this morning and sold it to the Carn-Thomas Company. It is of very fine flavor and if anything superior to the well known brands. Mr. Taylor is from Kansas and Mr. Blakenhorn is from Wisconsin and they settled at Hurbank about a year ago. -Ocala Star.

Welfare Department Meeting

The Welfare Department meeting on Thursday, February 25 was unusually interesting.

The gentlemen of the city were invited to be present, but owing to the inclement weather the general attendance was small.

Mrs. Waldron read a paper which had been prepared by Mrs. A. E. Phillips, who was chairman of the committee on the day of the Commission on Government for Florida, giving a full and comprehensive explanation of the theory and a brief of the city government by a general manager and board of trustees. Mrs. Phillips called attention to the origin of the commission form of government after its destruction by flood and of its successful operation then and subsequently. After quoting freely from the statistical report from the Moines, Dayton and Wichita, which are notable among the three hundred towns and cities of the United States which are testing the same theory under varying charts.

After the reading of Mr. Phillips' able paper, some magazine articles upon the subject, pro and con, were read and a lively and friendly discussion ensued. "What can Commission Form of Government do for Sanford?"

The chairman, Mrs. Tolson called for Mayor Thrasher's opinion of its application in our city.

Mr. Thrasher discussed it at some length, but concluded it was wise to wait and observe its operation in our sister city.

Mr. J. N. Whitner was next called for, but thought that with Mayor Thrasher and his corps of oilceers backed by the Woman's Club we need not consider its adoption in Sanford.

Let such gatherings of our men and women become more frequent and better attended, where we may discuss matters of interest to us all. Who are our club women but the home makers of Sanford? Who more than they are concerned in every cause and phase of our city's life, and who can or will be better or such loving helpers as the wives, mothers and sisters of our townsmen?

Will Hold Their Own Fair

Ocala County Experts to Take Initiative in County Fair

The Weekly Gazette announces this week a movement to hold the Ocala County Fair in Kissimmee next year - some time during the latter part of January.

This year was the first time Ocala county had competed for prizes at the Sub-Tropical Fair at Orlando, and within a very short while got together an array of products that won enough blue ribbons to barbecue a hog with. These products showed at Orlando were not planted or grown for exhibition, but were taken as they came and put in to make the exhibit as large as possible. These very things won blue ribbons and were the talk of the county of people from all over the United States and were started to learn what fertile soil the county really possessed.

There is not better way to advertise the resources of a county than through the agencies of an annual demonstration of the products that the soil grows, the cattle that the ranches feed, the implements that our mechanics make and the arts that our populace craves, and an opportunity within reach of the residents of Ocala county to demonstrate these things at home. We initiate the movement for holding a month county fair and livestock exhibit in Kissimmee in the early part of 1915.

The expense incurred in putting on this exhibit would be very small compared with the value that the county would receive in the way of advertising, as thousands of people would then visit us who otherwise, perhaps, would never. These visitors would have the opportunity of seeing the soil that produces the products and many of them would buy and locate among us. To attract the people is one of the biggest secrets of success - it is in the only way in which to build up a town and country with desirable citizens. - Kissimmee Gazette.

Volcanic Ash for Cement

For some time a Japanese company has been engaged in the exploitation of the use of volcanic ash in connection with Portland cement and it is claimed that this combination is particularly valuable in the construction of works which are submerged in salt water. It is claimed that the cement thus formed possesses greater tensile strength and is denser than ordinary Portland cement. It is thought that should this industry prosper it might well be extended to the Philippines, where a great deal of volcanic ash is available.

PRACTICAL TALKS BY GOVERNMENT FARM EXPERTS

No. VIII.—Bookkeeping on Farm—Profitable Production of Hogs.

(Official News Summary of the United States Department of Agriculture.)

THE Department of agriculture in putting out a system of farm bookkeeping emphasizes the importance of the farmer conducting his farm on a businesslike basis. Farming is a business, the same as banking or running a department store, the department states. It is a business which involves the production and sale of several kinds of products.

The problem of the farmer is to meet conditions on his own farm in a way which gives him the greatest net return for his labor and the use of his capital. He should receive interest on his capital as well as wages for his labor; but owing to the lack of proper records, few farmers know what wages they actually receive. There is reason to believe that the majority of the six and a half million farmers of the country are really living on the interest of their investments rather than on the profits of their farms.

Farm bookkeeping does not require that the account be kept in a particular form or upon a certain side of the page, but it is a logical selection and arrangement of farm data to permit correct interpretation.

The difficulties of farm bookkeeping are generally overestimated. Complex forms and methods do not always mean successful farm accounting, for sometimes a few pages of well selected records are of more practical value than volumes of figures. Inasmuch as the farm business and the home are practically inseparable, personal and household accounts are needed to balance the books. Both of these accounts are best handled by grouping the items as much as possible.

A complete inventory is the first and most important step in starting the accounts. The determination of proper values is a matter of good judgment, aided by a study of current market prices. The cash transactions on a farm may be kept in several ways, but entering the items directly in their respective accounts appears to be one of the most satisfactory methods.

A thorough understanding of what constitutes farm receipts and expenses is necessary, otherwise the profit of the farm is seldom figured correctly. A farm is a combination of enterprises, and a study of each enterprise in its relation to the others is of the utmost importance. Wheat may be a profitable crop to grow, oats an unprofitable one. Records of the separate farm enterprises will show the facts in each case.

Labor distribution records are seldom kept by farmers, yet such records are in many respects equally as important as the cash account. A good bank balance is often the result of the efficient use of farm labor.

Crops which are grown as a profit may by being fed to a poor class of live stock have this profit turned into a loss. Live stock records, although not so easy to keep as those on crops, are often more useful to the farmer. It is poor policy to lose by injudicious feeding the profits on the crops grown. Live stock production records are a guide to the qualities of animals kept. Good accounts are within the reach of every farmer. The few minutes regularly spent on them will yield larger returns than an equal amount of time devoted to farm work, provided proper use is made of the information the records contain.

Good Country Roads Pay.

The direct effect that changing bad roads into good roads has upon land value and the general economic welfare of a community is shown in several concrete illustrations gathered by the United States department of agriculture. The department has issued a statement on the subject, based upon a mass of information gathered by the office of public roads, which is making a special study of the economic effect of road improvement in the country. According to data gathered, where good roads replace bad ones, the values of farm lands bordering on the roads increase to such an extent that the cost of road improvement is equalized, if not exceeded. The general land values as well as farm values show marked advances following the improvement of roads.

As the roads in no way affect soil fertility or quality of the farm, advances are due essentially to the decrease in the cost of hauling produce to market or shipping point. Farms are now regarded as plants for the business of factoring, and any reduction in their profits through unnecessary heavy costs for hauling on bad roads naturally reduces their capitalization and value. With reduced costs for hauling profits are increased, with the result that the farm plant shows satisfactory earnings on a higher capital value.

The automobile also has begun to be an important factor in increasing rural values. Where good roads are introduced, immigration is particularly marked where road conditions are favorable. In fact, the figures of the department seem to indicate that good roads indirectly increase the demand for rural property, and the price of farm land, like that of any commodity, is ruled by the relations between demand and supply.

Creamery Industry.

The creamery industry of the country has developed to such an extent that in most dairy sections competition has become so keen that creamery operators, in order to be successful, must use every means within their power to keep their operating expenses at a minimum and also market their products at the best possible advantage. Opportunities for increasing the revenues of creameries are sometimes overlooked and wasteful practices are often permitted. However, reports to the department of agriculture show an improved condition in the creameries.

The department recommends that the products of the creamery be utilized to better advantage. If creamery managers will do this and also undertake some side lines that will use spare power and labor, the creameries will be placed on a better paying basis by reducing the operating expenses. The sale of sweet cream and the manufacture of ice cream are among the suggestions offered by the department to increase the output of dairies.

It is stated that in some sections of the country the sale of sweet cream has proved satisfactory and profitable. It not only has enabled creameries to market their cream more economically, but has been a means of improving the quality of the product generally. The method usually employed by creameries in selling sweet cream is to grade the milk or cream in the receiving room. If the whole milk is received it is at once run through a separator and the cream secured, having a definite amount of fat. If farm separated cream is received and it does not contain the required amount of fat, it is re-separated in order to bring it to the standard required.

Cans used for shipping sweet cream must be perfectly clean if a fine quality of cream is to be furnished. The cans should be washed and steamed immediately after the cream has been removed from them and before any portion is added to dry or harden on the can or become decomposed. After the cans have reached the creamery they should be rinsed and sterilized with live steam, then drained and cooled before again used. If care is exercised in grading, pasteurizing and cooling the cream it may be shipped for considerable distances and with reasonable care remain in good condition for a week or more.

A great many creameries have successfully undertaken the manufacture of ice cream as a side line. The enormous increase in the consumption of ice cream, together with the fact that it is now generally on sale in the small towns as well as in the large ones, has opened new fields for its manufacture.

Profit in Hogs.

To produce pork profitably hogs must be fed and grazed on permanent pastures and crops particularly planted for them. It is the advice of the experts of the farmers' cooperative branch of the bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture, "Seldom is the practice of hogs for slaughter a source of profit unless proper grazing and feeding methods are followed.

In the spring, summer, and fall there are many crops for pasturing hogs, but during the winter the crops to select from are limited. On almost every farm the production and keeping of hogs in winter are expensive and generally not profitable, for the good reason that large quantities of corn are fed without products of green crops. More winter grazing is needed, for which many crops are adapted, the most reliable being, however, rape, rye, oats, wheat and barley.

For grazing purposes these crops should be sown on especially well drained and prepared land that is rich or that has received a liberal application of manure. Good winter pasturage does not thrive except on the best drained lands. Other lands are entirely too cold and lacking in air for winter-plant growth.

The seedling should be heavy to insure a thorough stand. The young plants will grow slowly in the winter, and many plants will be needed to furnish plenty of pasturing. Crimson clover will do well with rape, rye, oats, wheat and barley and will mean an improvement of the land.

CITY FATHERS HOLD MEETING ATTENDING TO IMPORTANT MATTERS

CITY WILL FURNISH CURBING FOR BRICK ROADS

FERTILIZER FACTORY SMELL

BONDS WERE VALIDATED AND ARE READY FOR SALE—OTHER MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE

The city council met in regular session March 5th, 1914, at 7:30 p. m. Present, B. W. Herndon, president, J. D. Davidson, J. Adams, C. H. Dinges, R. C. Maxwell and W. W. Abernathy, absent, H. E. Tolar.

A petition signed by J. H. Colnar and many others regarding that their part of the city be furnished with lights, and that Fourth street be opened, was referred to the street committee with power to act.

Mr. Crump, Mr. Porter and Mr. Shepherd appeared before the council, and complained that they had received no sanitary service and asked to be relieved from paying the charge. They agreed to pay when they received service.

A petition objecting to the erection by the Virginia Carolina Chemical Co. of a warehouse on their proposed site was presented. After argument it was agreed that the council would meet all parties on the ground at 9 a. m., March 10th, and see if some satisfactory agreement could be made.

Mr. F. L. Woodruff asked that the city furnish the curbing for the proposed brick road which will be laid by the county within the city limits. Action was deferred.

Dr. Miller suggested that the city join the county and rent rooms and hire a nurse for the care of paupers. The expense to be pro rata. Moved and seconded that the matter be referred to the city physician. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the street committee be authorized to place 20 household lights at such points as they may select. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the clerk notify the bond trustees that the issue of $50,000 has been validated, and instruct them to proceed to advertise the sale of same. Carried.

Moved and seconded that all money hereafter received for new paving be deposited at interest.

An ordinance entitled an ordinance amending Section 152 of the Revised Ordinances of the city of Sanford, Florida, relating to the paving and curbing of streets and sidewalks, was read and passed.

Moved and seconded that the bills as signed by the president and approved by the finance committee be paid. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the treasurer be instructed to make a report of the financial condition of the city to each regular meeting. Carried.

Moved and seconded that Councilman Davidson and City Engineer Williams go to Fort Myers, where the city is doing its own bulkheading, and inspect the work and get such information as would be useful to the city. Carried.

Moved and seconded that in view of the fact that the city is under contract with the brick company to do all funds collected for the larger part of the new paving, to pay the amount due them, that the city cannot receive vouchers in payment of such paving. Carried.

M. W. LOVELL, City Clerk.

BRICK ROADS BEING BUILT IN SANFORD SPECIAL DISTRICT

BAD PLACES MUST BE MADE GOOD BY CONTRACTOR

SANFORD-ORLANDO ROAD NOW BEING BRICKED AND PARK AVENUE WILL SOON BE PAVED

The brick road building in the Sanford special district is progressing at a rapid rate. The contractor will be obliged to do over much of the road between First street and Monroe and build in a better manner, as the present condition of the road does not meet with the approval of the county commissioners at all and they have given the people in charge fair warning that the engineers and contractors must make good.

MARSHAL BROWN HONORED

Former Engineer Is Remembered By The Boys

In the private office of United States Marshal J. Clifford Brown, on the third floor of the government building, the marshal for the Southern District of Florida was taken completely unaware yesterday afternoon just as the clock in the tower of the building was striking the hour of four.

During the early part of the afternoon there had been several former railroad co-workers of Marshal Brown, among them, friendly visits and finally they arrived in a body while at the same time the deputy marshals entered by another door, the occasion being one of those which come to men who are remembered by their friends.

In addition to the preservation remarks of the committee, consisting of W. M. Parkie and R. H. Waghorn, a message in writing was delivered to Mr. Brown from the following:

"My brother, during your years of service among us as a locomotive engineer, your good conduct and helpfulness for you, and as a result of our appreciation of your good work in our ranks, we have now well spent this jewel and wish it goes for best wishes for your health, happiness and prosperity."

This was signed by all of the former railway co-workers of Marshal Brown, who for a number of years was one of the engineers on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and who always took an active part in the affairs of the Order of Railway Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Marshal Brown, previous to his appointment, resided in Lakeland and during his last session of the legislature was representative from Polk county and was chairman of the committee on labor.

Since his removal to this city with his family, Marshal Brown has made many new friends and is making a splendid record as an official of the United States district court.

WOMAN'S SCREAMS THE CAUSE OF NEIGHBOR DROPPING DEAD

SAW NEGRO IN HOUSE AND RAN TO NEIGHBORS

LADY DIES FROM FRIGHT

Other News and Views of the Land of Flowers, Showers and Vegetables. St. Petersburg, March 6.—The demand for lady if supper was ready, and the presence of a negro man in her home so frightened a woman of this place yesterday afternoon that she ran screaming to her next door neighbor, and the result was that she so scared her neighbor that death resulted. According to Mrs. Butler Brooks, whose home the negro entered, the man walked into her residence about 6:30 last evening, and questioned her about supper, while she was unaware of his presence, and, thinking that her mother was addressing her, she turned to answer, and seeing the negro standing before her, became so frightened that she ran screaming to Mrs. Williams, her neighbor, for refuge.

MADE A LONG TRIP

W. H. Underwood Has Been North West and Down in Old Mexico

W. H. Underwood has just returned from a trip that included points north, west and over to old Mexico. Mr. Underwood, who is contemplating some extensive improvements in his neighborhood, was in the city yesterday, having just returned from a long trip to the north, west and down in Old Mexico. He was in Juarez when Benton was killed by General Villa and was a witness to the big indignation meeting held at El Paso, Texas over that cold blooded murder. He visited every point of interest on the bloody border on the Mexican side and states that the Mexicans are glad to get back on American soil.

WON CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Mr. J. T. Rowe, who recently came here from West Florida to practice law, has just received notice from the Supreme Court of the rev. trial of the Circuit Court of the Second Judicial Circuit, in a murder case wherein the firm of Adams & Rowe, of which Mr. Rowe was formerly a member, represented the defendant. The defendant was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to hang. There were no eye witnesses to the killing the verdict being based solely upon testimony of witnesses as to statement made by the defendant, the testimony of the doctor making post mortem and the statement of the defendant at the trial.

WHOLE COUNTY WILL VOTE

On the County Commissioner's Accord—ing to New Primary Law

That the county commissioners will, in the June primary, be nominated by the people of the county at large is the opinion of prominent Democrats. On the year 1900 the constitution of the state provided that the commissioners be appointed by the Governor. In 1900 when the primary came into practice, an amendment to the constitution provided that the commissioners be elected by the people of the county at large.

THINGS UNION SHORT TALKS

Near Liverness a short time ago one of the hunters killed an animal that doesn't seem to have yet found a name. The quadruped is said to resemble a fox, a kangaroo, a dog, a wolf and a few other things, and not to be near enough to any to be identified with the special breeds. Anyway, since the animal was shot and stuffed and placed on exhibition some have come into Liverness to tell of depredations made on their fox yards in a peculiar manner, and the hunters who brought down the quadruped are given credit for exterminating an unwelcome resident of the woods.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keely have been entertaining at their home on Crystal Lake in honor of the birthday of Paul's mother, Mrs. A. W. Keely. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith, son and daughter of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan of Paola were also present.

THE BOARD MEETING OF THE FLORIDA FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS WAS HELD AT THE FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN IN TALLAHASSEE ON TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY OF LAST WEEK

Mrs. William Hoeker of Ocala, president of this organization presided at the meeting. While in the Capital City the members of the executive board of the federation were guests of the department of home economics of the college, and were shown many social courtesies which made their stay a most pleasant one.

THE UNIFORM STRAWBERRY GROWERS OF PLANT CITY HAVE NO MORE NOW of the Strawberry Times. They are working double time. Day time they are in the fields, and at night they are in the city. The industry is growing rapidly and it is estimated that this year the growers will produce something over 17,000 for the shipments of the previous five or six years, and that the receipts at Plant City, for the season, will be brought to $85,000, which is certainly a neat little package of money. The four was expressed, some few years ago that if any considerable amount of berries were raised the price would fall and these shipments unprofitable. The reverse has been the case. Every year the acreage is increased and the demand grows steadily ahead of production. The average price realized by growers within the past week or two has been 22 cents a quart, at which price it pays handsomely to ship.

THE $50,000 SCHOOL BOND ISSUE VOTED BY THE ORLANDO DISTRICT HAS BEEN APPROVED AND THE MONEY WILL BE AVAILABLE IN ABOUT TWO WEEKS

This fund is for the purpose of building and equipping a new school for Orlando to be erected on the northeastern portion of the city.
