Viet Cong Rockets Kill 27 Da Nang Civilians

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong marked the 23rd anniversary today of Ho Chi Minh's proclamation of Vietnamese independence with a rocket attack on Da Nang that killed 27 Vietnamese and wounded 46. All but two of the casualties were civilians.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the enemy gunners fired 31 Soviet 122mm rockets into Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city before dawn. The majority landed in residential areas.

It was the most savage rocket attack on the civilian population since a barrage of 30 rockets on Saigon nearly eight weeks ago killed 19 civilians and wounded 116.

Five of the rockets hit the U.S. Navy's administrative headquarters in downtown Da Nang, and five caused light damage at the big airbase, but only one American Marine was wounded. The other military casualty was a South Vietnamese soldier who was killed.

Lighter barrages hit a military post at Dien Ban, 13 miles south of Da Nang, and Tam Ky, a district capital 35 miles southeast of Da Nang. At least five militiamen were wounded in these attacks.

A heavier barrage of 100 rockets and mortars on Sunday hit one of two Special Forces camps near Tay Ninh, northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border. The U.S. Command said one American and five Montagnard mercenaries were killed and two Americans and 17 Montagnards were wounded.

It was on Sept. 2, 1945, as World War II was ending, that Ho Chi Minh emerged from relative obscurity and in Hanoi set up the first Republic of Vietnam. Ever since, Hanoi has dated independence from that date, although it was not until 1954 that the French were defeated and Vietnam divided.

Hanoi Radio indicated the anniversary observance would continue through Sept. 4, and Saigon newspapers foresaw a prospect of intensified rocket and mortar attacks during this period. Allied intelligence officers agreed that such attacks appeared likely.

Allied ground forces reported at least 268 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in ground sweeps in the northern provinces during the weekend. Four Americans were reported killed and 58 wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers dropped nearly 500 tons of bombs on enemy infiltration routes, mostly northwest of Saigon between the capital and the Cambodian border.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of the 300th American warplane shot down over South Vietnam. It was an F4 Phantom lost near Tam Ky. Both crewmen bailed out and were rescued.

Poor weather cut the number of air strikes against North Vietnam slightly, but 100 missions were flown against supply targets.

R. E. Porter learns a representative of Fairchild's helicopter subsidiary has been in Sanford for more than six weeks, dickering for space at SNAS. This is not to be confused with a second "chopper" repair company seeking to move in. And it is the Fairchild representative who has been hiring all those retired gobs. He's been here so long, 'tis said, that he is writing campaign speeches for a local political candidate.

Some good — some looked blurred, as from a moving camera. John Spolski and Bill Vincent, out in the Sanford police cruiser, reported same difficulties.

Rose and Wilk's restaurant has until the end of the month to decide whether to invest more money in their eatery located in Valdez Hotel or close. To remain open, the Bowmans will have to install new kitchen floors and ventilate the hotel bathrooms, used by patrons of the restaurant. This expense added to recent cost of $3,000 spent a year ago in kitchen and $500 for a hot water tank makes the outlook for continuing rather dim. To invest this sort of money in a building that has been condemned has created a kind of uncertainty in the minds of the operators. One thing, Rose says, "we are not going to leave Sanford."

17,000 Enrollment In Seminole Schools

First day of school confusion plagued several Seminole County schools today.

County Supt. William J. Phillips said some problems were encountered by the double session at South Seminole Junior High and there were bus problems and crowded conditions at South Seminole Elementary school.

Crux of the double session confusion evolved around students, who failing to register before start of school, found themselves in a quandary over what session, morning or afternoon, they should attend.

Phillips said the situation would be resolved today and things would settle down to normal in the next day or so.

Another situation expected to clear up in next day concerns bus schedules for schools on double sessions. This is especially true of Sanford Junior High, where Lake View students are assigned to afternoon double sessions until new seventh grade facility is operational in October.

School bus routes start approximately one hour before school time, according to Henry Muse, school bus co-ordinator.

Approximately 17,000 students were forecast for enrollment in county's facilities of learning which will include one all-portable operation at Spring Lake.

The complete bus schedules for double session operations are as follows:

Florida School Rolls Up 5%

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Florida children flocked back to school today in record numbers with some reporting to double sessions in rented facilities and portable classrooms.

State School Supt. Floyd Christian said statewide enrollment was up five per cent over last year. He said it was caused by Florida's normal growth rate and the post World War II baby boom.

"We have some counties that are going to be real crowded until their building programs get started," he said. Christian listed Hillsborough, Orange and Broward as the most troubled counties.

"These counties have building programs under way, but they'll have some crowding and some double sections," he said.

Broward County (Fort Lauderdale) opened doors to about 100,000 children, the largest enrollment in the county's history. And double sessions already are planned to relieve crowding in some of the 100 schools.

The system's building count was cut by one Saturday night when flames destroyed the 45-year-old Hollywood Central Elementary just 60 hours before summer vacation was to end. Those students will be off at least until Thursday while school officials hunt new class space.

In Dade County (Miami), the state's largest system, 21,800 students trooped to class for an enrollment hike of 5.33 per cent in 214 buildings. The state average of enrollment increase was exceeded partly because of a countywide kindergarten program.

Dade will require 9,016 teachers to man the classrooms. Crowding forced some kindergartners into rented facilities, primarily churches, and some secondary schools will run from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in double and triple extended days. In addition, the county set up 500 portable classrooms in school yards.

Duval County (Jacksonville) listed 124,000 students in 133 schools in the state's second most populous district.

Another 76,200 youngsters answered the school bells in Orange County (Orlando) where the 99-year-old system will operate 99 schools—counting six new air conditioned edifices.

All but three schools are filled to capacity, but local officials said no extended sessions were needed to accommodate the growing student population.

From kindergarten to high school, Pinellas County (St. Petersburg) counted 73,000 students, an increase of 4,000. Some of the 3,330 instructors worked in 29 new classrooms, including a new junior high.

Fifteen additional portable classrooms were required to augment the [illegible] in Lee County (Fort Myers) to provide for a public school population grown to 17,500.

And at Cypress Lake High School there was a lunchroom problem. Tables ordered for the new facility did not arrive and students carried their lunches or walked to a nearby junior high for a hot meal.

7 Held In Two Raids

County authorities made two raids during the weekend that resulted in seven arrests.

An Altamonte Springs woman is free on $5,000 bond today after she was arrested Saturday night on an illegal possession of morphine charge.

Louise Willis Hendry, 742 Hermit's Trail, was booked after Sheriff Peter Milliot and Deputies Jack Bushor and Ken Brown found a supply of morphine in a food cannister in the woman's kitchen.

The 46-year-old beautician was bonded out of county jail Sunday evening and will face a Sept. 19 arraignment, the sheriff said. Assisting county lawmen in the investigation were agents from Florida Bureau of Law Enforcement and Winter Park police.

Milliot said the raid resulted from an investigation into a report that started over a month ago.

In another week-end report, six men were arrested Saturday night on gambling charges. [illegible] Floyd charged Willis Lee [illegible], Andrew King Jr., Horace Jenerette Jr., Bernice C. Hadden, Charlie Grant Jr., and Luther Hamilton with being involved in a "skin game."

All except Hamilton were released on $35 bond and will be arraigned later this week. The arrests resulted from a raid on a Franklin Street home in Oviedo.

The SISTERS (Sanford's Interested Sarahs to Encourage Rejuvenation) boat award was won by Ronald Stapleton of Sorrento.

Blonde Donna Allen of Orlando is the 1968 Miss Central Florida Regatta Queen.

She was chosen Monday afternoon by a panel of four judges who had to choose from a bevy of six lovely lasses, as they paraded their beauty and talents before a standing room only crowd of Seminole Countians at the Sanford Civic Center.

Donna, a 21-year-old University of South Florida Senior, sported her 34-22-35 qualifications to capture the bathing suit preliminary before making a clean sweep to the title.

Donna, daughter of Orlando marine dealer Robert Allen, moved to take the title from Debby Dalton, last year's title holder, who was on hand to present a very good intermission number and act as a partial emcee for Virgil Bryant, who had to desert his duties for the final number of the Rotary Club show.

Vietnam War Slips Into Lull

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers kept up their protective attacks on the approaches to Saigon, but otherwise the Vietnam war appeared today to have slipped into another of its periodic lulls.

The eight-engine bombers struck eight times Monday night and today at suspected enemy positions west and northwest of Saigon, mostly 25 to 35 miles away from the capital.

B52 raids have concentrated increasingly closer to Saigon in past days, indicating enemy units have slipped through their way through the outermost defense lines set up to protect the capital. But a senior U.S. source said it appeared that enemy units were not ready for a full-scale ground assault on Saigon within the next few days.

A terrorist in the capital killed two Vietnamese and wounded eight with a grenade today in front of the U.S. AID headquarters. Hundreds of Americans were at work in the big concrete building in one of Saigon's busiest sections. Preliminary reports indicated that the terrorist escaped.

Viet Cong forces killed another 20 civilians, wounded 50 and burned down 35 houses in a heavy mortar attack and ground assault on Long Thanh, a district town 20 miles east of Saigon. The town's defense force of 100 militiamen and 40 policemen reported one of their men killed and eight wounded, while enemy casualties were not known.

Another 16 civilians were killed and 12 were wounded when a bus triggered a Viet Cong land mine near Phan Thiet, a provincial capital 10 miles northeast of Saigon.

Some observers thought the enemy had begun its long-expected third offensive when it shattered a two-month lull in the war on Aug. 18 with fierce attacks in Tay Ninh Province along the northwest approaches to Saigon. The fighting spread to other areas, and the enemy radio announced last week that an offensive was under way.

But the U.S. Command refused to characterize the action as the third major enemy offensive of the war, even after the first week of fierce fighting when 7,349 enemy troops were reported killed by allied forces.

Enemy forces gradually have gone back to shelling and terrorist attacks less costly to them in terms of casualties — and have launched no significant ground attacks in the last four days. However, allied forces searching for the enemy have touched off some fighting.

Enemy gunners struck in the Da Nang area again today, hitting a U.S. supply base with 25 mortar shells. Spokesmen said American casualties were light.

An enemy rocket attack on Da Nang Monday killed 27 civilians and wounded 46.

A delayed report said 238 enemy mortar and artillery shells hit U.S. Marine positions just below the demilitarized zone Monday, but the Marines were well dug in and suffered no casualties.

Allied troops found 16 Russian 122mm. rockets aimed at the U.S. military compound at Kontum in the central highlands and wired to go off in series. One rocket had hit a highway next to the compound, but the others did not fire because of a short in the wiring. An ordnance team disarmed the 190-pound rockets.

The North Vietnamese, meanwhile, celebrated their nation's 23rd anniversary Monday with a rally in Hanoi and a reception in Paris, site of the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace negotiations. The two top North Vietnamese envoys at the peace talks told newsmen they see no prospect of a breakthrough toward a cease-fire any time soon.

Le Duc Tho, a member of the presidium of North Vietnam's Communist party, and Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief negotiator, also told newsmen they see no essential differences in the American Republican and Democratic platform planks on Vietnam.

In a broadcast speech from Hanoi, North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong repeated previous Communist conditions for peace in Vietnam: an end to the bombing of the North, withdrawal of all U.S. and foreign allied troops from Vietnam, recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, and negotiations with the Front.

HHH Urges Probe Of Chicago Riots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has called for a blue ribbon citizens committee investigation into the roles of demonstrators, police and news media in the bloody protest disorders in Chicago.

The Democratic presidential candidate made the proposal in New York Monday after marching in a Labor Day parade up Fifth Avenue.

Humphrey said the committee whose members could include lawyers, sociologists, police and media representatives but not public officials—should focus on "the actions of the demonstrators, the conduct of the police and the role of the media."

"I don't know who's really involved, everybody makes charges and countercharges," Humphrey said. "But I do think it was a sad enough picture to the American public that it necessitates a very objective analysis."

He said a group such as the Ford Foundation could take the lead in forming the committee.

Humphrey over the weekend defended Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's police measures. But he said Monday he did not condone beating of demonstrators with clubs and said he didn't think Daley wanted to condone it either.

Humphrey's remarks were in interviews on education station WNDT-TV and for Barry Gray's program on WMCA, both in New York.

Third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace said meanwhile Time-magazine in Chicago and the mess both national parties have gotten us into have boosted his chances for election in November.

"That crowd of demonstrators in Chicago was trying to take over the city," Wallace said in Darlington, S.C., "and they would have if it hadn't been for the police."

On the Republican side, presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon's camp rejected Humphrey's proposal that they jointly support the efforts of Paris peace negotiators—saying he already has indicated such support.

A statement issued by Nixon's campaign political director, Robert Ellsworth, called Humphrey's appeal "a bit of old-style partisan hijinks."

In North Dakota, Eli Doherty, a New Rockford Weekly newspaper publishers, and Robert P. McCarney, a Bismarck car dealer, seek the GOP nomination to oppose incumbent Democratic Gov. William L. Guy.

Nixon made clear last spring Ellsworth said, that he would do nothing during the campaign that would jeopardize America's bargaining position in the exploratory talks for a Vietnam war solution.

"If Mr. Humphrey wishes now to associate himself with that position," Ellsworth said, "he is at liberty to do so."

Four Iowa Republicans are competing for the nomination to succeed retiring GOP Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper. Gov. Harold E. Hughes appears certain to win the Democratic nomination.

Nevada Lt. Gov. Ed Fike of Las Vegas and veteran prosecutor William Raggio of Reno are competing for the GOP nomination to run against incumbent Democratic Sen. Alan Bible.

In other political developments:

—Formation of a fourth party with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as its presidential candidate was urged at a rally in Boston Common Monday which drew some 3,000 people. The rally was called by the Citizens for Participation Politics, an offshoot of McCarthy's Massachusetts campaign for the Democratic nomination.

—Humphrey's presidential candidacy was endorsed by W. A. (Tony) Boyle, president of the 190,000-member United Mine Workers of America union on the eve of a UMW constitutional convention in Denver that may also endorse Humphrey.

—Both major party vice presidential candidates spent Labor Day golfing—Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew with other Republican governors in Columbus, Ohio, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie at Kennebunk Beach in his home state of Maine.

"A Day At The Zoo," a skit that displayed several of Miss Allen's talents.

She showed two large animal drawings while reciting her own poem; as an encore on the same routine, she planned to a recording entitled "Feelin' Groovey."

Miss Allen's victory was just a shade better than Rosemary Walton of Sanford, who scored a close first runner-up spot over Sharon Curtis of Palatka, who placed third in the contest as second runner-up.

The Sanford second place entry took second spot in the bathing suit competition and scored high in talent battle with an unusual tumbling act.

Rosemary, 20, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Walton and was sponsored by Eaker's Competing for the GOP nomination to run against incumbent Democratic Sen. Alan Bible.

In other political developments:

—Formation of a fourth party with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as its presidential candidate was urged at a rally in Boston Common Monday which drew some 3,000 people. The rally was called by the Citizens for Participation Politics, an offshoot of McCarthy's Massachusetts campaign for the Democratic nomination.

—Humphrey's presidential candidacy was endorsed by W. A. (Tony) Boyle, president of the 190,000-member United Mine Workers of America union on the eve of a UMW constitutional convention in Denver that may also endorse Humphrey.

—Both major party vice presidential candidates spent Labor Day golfing—Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew with other Republican governors in Columbus, Ohio, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie at Kennebunk Beach in his home state of Maine.

Florida Tallies 'Safest Holiday'

MIAMI (AP) — Florida had its safest Labor Day weekend in recent years with 21 deaths reported in traffic accidents during the 78-hour period that ended Monday midnight.

The Florida Highway Patrol predicted 20 persons would be killed. Last year, 21 persons died in Labor Day holiday auto accidents.

Traffic accidents in the entire nation during the Labor Day weekend claimed a record number of lives for that three-day holiday period.

The toll of 637 was more than 10 times as high as the number of Americans who died in combat during the weekend.

The previous highway death record for Labor Day was set in 1966 when 638 persons were killed. The 1967 traffic toll for the same weekend was 606.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 575 to 675 persons might die in traffic in the weekend which began at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

The Associated Press, for comparison purposes, surveyed traffic deaths during the nonholiday weekend starting Aug. 16 and tallied 518.

The worst single accident of this holiday period killed eight North Dakota teen-agers Sunday in a two-car crash on Interstate 94 west of Jamestown, N.D. They were returning home from a party.

Five persons were killed and eight others were injured Monday night in Union County, Ark., in two traffic accidents that occurred 45 seconds apart.

The lowest death count for a Labor Day weekend since World War II was 246 in 1966.

The deadliest holiday on traffic records was the four-day Fourth of July celebration in 1967 when 732 persons were killed.

In other accidental holiday deaths, 42 persons drowned and 24 died in boating accidents.

Occupation End Urged

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders charted a careful course today, seeking an early end to the Soviet occupation.

Informed sources said Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek told the party's central committee not enough attention of other states in the Warsaw Pact as a limiting factor in the speed and forms of our own political development."

The new, predominantly liberal 21-man Communist party presidium—elected Sunday—met Monday with instructions from the central committee to work for both speedy withdrawal of the 650,000 occupation troops and implementation of the reform program begun in January.

Dubcek's speech was interpreted as a warning to the reformers to go slow. It also appeared to be traditional Communist self-criticism for not anticipating the Soviet intervention.

Vecerni Praha, the only newspaper published in Prague Monday, said the central committee also voted to:

—Support the party leaders who negotiated the agreement in Moscow accepting the Soviet occupation and reimposing press censorship while allowing the liberals to remain in office.

—Restate Czechoslovak allegiance to the Warsaw Pact and repudiate the idea of neutrality.

—Indefinitely postpone the party congress that had been scheduled Sept. 9 to purge orthodox, conservative Communists still in office.

Informed sources said three weekly newspapers active in the liberalization drive would not be permitted to resume publication. They are Literarni Listy, the writers' association paper; a student magazine and the news magazine Reporter. The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda called Sunday for the "liquidation" of Literarni Listy.

Prague was calm Monday as a new school year began. Youngsters returning to classes heeded an appeal from Vice Premier Frantisek Hamour not to gather in large groups near the monument to St. Wenceslas, which has become a shrine honoring those killed in Soviet blockade. A boy and a girl carrying national flags stood there all day.

Virtually all anti-Soviet signs and slogans were gone from walls. Radio broadcasts indicated compliance with new instructions not to call the Soviet troops "occupiers."

Reds Killed

SEOUL (AP) — Three more North Koreans were killed over the weekend in three clashes with South Korean army units along the demilitarized zone.

Gables Gallery Opens

THE CORWINS—Richard and Beverly and children, Eric, Paula and Mark, are shown with some of the paintings being displayed by area artists at their Gables Gallery opening this weekend. (Herald Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Corwin are adding another area of culture to the Sanford area by opening the Gables Gallery, formerly the historical Sanford Mansion at 431 Magnolia Ave.

They have collected paintings and other art work of outstanding central Florida artists and are also featuring art of exceptional caliber by local artists. Beside appealing to the connoisseur of art and to those who love to browse, they are in the process of forming art classes for adults and children. For the present, Dick Corwin will teach the adult painting classes and Beverly Corwin will instruct children in elementary procedure. As soon as there is a demand, sculpture and other art media will be taught.

Corwin studied Fine Art for 12 years during which time he attended Andrew Mellon School in Pittsburgh, the Virgin Island College and also studied under Alan Jones, Barklay Sheaks and Pat Perrin. He was instructor at Fort Eustis, Warwick College and Hampton, Va., where he also operated an art gallery. He has done art restoration at Marlos, in Washington, D.C. He specialized in portrait painting for five years, is a fine sculpturer and in the commercial art field he has illustrated magazines, books and posters for Colonial Williamsburg beside doing research and development of Historical Information while there. At Penn University he studied Technical Directing and Acting and later did all phases of theatre work including leading parts in acting.

Beverly Corwin has studied fine art at Lake Sumter Junior College in Leesburg, Institute of Art, Minneapolis, and various private teachers. She also has a background of teaching, has entered exhibits and won awards.

The Corwins are the parents of three children, Mark, 11 years, Paula, 9 years, and Eric, 4 years.

Our Competitive Season Starts Full Blast

Competition IS the name of the game!

Especially is that true in this post-Labor Day season. And this year there is the presidential election which must take first rank in importance.

But there are others. Time was when baseball was king, when the World Series had not other meaning, when Ty Cobb made the headlines before the colorful "Babe" took over and the Yankee's sluggers-row spelled bad news for the opposition.

That of course has changed. Baseball still is in the sports spotlight, but the pigskin warriors have invaded baseball weather and now produce those spectacles of color, brawn and brains that fills the stadium and captures prime TV time from summer to spring.

We do not hesitate to state again that this is competition. Nor would we downgrade the participator sports of tennis, golf, swimming, jogging or bowling.

This year, however, there is urgent need for still another field of competition which unhappily, stays under a cloud of apathy or frustration in less challenging times.

For want of a better term, this could be called citizen action. It would include not only the obvious duty for citizens to register and vote, but to do so guided with a minimum of personal motivation and a maximum of decision based on principle.

From now until Election Day in November the competition for voter support will become increasingly sharp. Every indication is that emotions will be aroused either by selfish purpose or by the very events themselves.

Nationally it will be what Vice President Humphrey, carrying the standard for the Democrats, has termed "hard-fought." How Richard M. Nixon, GOP presidential nominee sees and will conduct his drive will be more apparent after he opens it in Chicago this week.

Then there is the increasing strength being mustered by those outside the regular political organizations who would capitalize on the stresses which exist in both Republican and Democratic ranks.

Of these there is no question but the challenge to the regulars posed by former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama is most serious. Polls have shown him growing in popularity in almost every region. In Florida his strength is basic and wide-spread.

In the aftermath of the Democratic National Convention those attempting to form a fourth party or seize control of the Democratic from within have decided that the time is ripe for them to move. So the competition in the political arena can be expected to be hot.

There is, however, another arena where competition is not only welcome but in which the future of our city and county might well be determined. That is a competition in which every resident of our area would compete to hasten the day when Sanford-Seminole stands ready and prepared for the growth years which lie directly ahead.

No sober-minded or thoughtful resident can question that this is a challenge, that growth is going to take place with or without local help and guidance.

This is a competition serious and grave enough to elicit the kind of response that will test the calibre of our leadership and the capacity of our residents.

So the World Series will come and go; the football frenzy will wax and wane; the national leadership of our country will be fought for and decided. Even the individual athlete may attain that skill which will let him square his shoulders when the game is over and breathe a sigh of relief.

But the sobering fact is that the future of our area is the base on which all of these great achievements must rest—easily with controlled growth or uneasily with opportunists from the outside seeing what we do not want to see and doing what we should be doing.

Yes, Labor Day—the summer holidays are over. And, adapting that old typewriter exercise to these comments, let's pound out: "Now is the time for every good man to come to the aid of Sanford-Seminole!"

Useful Pruning

Just about everybody hereabouts knows about pruning and tree trimming. This year it has been something needing almost constant attention to control.

Thus, when a report from the "Washington Report" of the United States Chamber of Commerce arrived with a "head" announcing its subject as "Trimming The Patronage Tree" we dropped our pruning shears and grabbed a black-lead editorial pencil.

What the chamber is discussing is one of those growth in bureaucratic federal government which was established in 1950 and did a good job.

Its title is the "Subversive Activities Control Board." And while we do not intend to enter into any deep comment on its function or the present need of it, yet we would print the following excerpts for our readers to read and contemplate.

"Its job was to expose 'Communist-action' or 'Communist-front' organizations and force them to register so that everybody would be aware of their affiliations. There is no question that it did a creditable job for a while—until its wings were clipped by a Supreme Court decision.

"The Court ruled that requiring Communists to register would violate their Constitutional rights not to incriminate themselves.

"So, the Board found itself with little to do, and in the past two years has done nothing. It hasn't held a single meeting—let alone a hearing—to justify its existence in that period. Yet, it continues as a federal agency, and at an exorbitant cost to the taxpayers.

"In fiscal 19677, SACB spent $280,000, most of it—$254,989—in salaries for 17 people. Each of the five Board members received $26,000. Now, with the new federal pay raise, the rate is $28,000. In 1968, six of the 12 staff people received Civil Service Grade 16 pay, from $8,900 to $11,500 annually—a rather large number of higher paid employes.

"In view of the Board's extended period of inertia, it could come as a surprise that SACB has asked for an increase in its appropriations to $425,000 in 1969. Some of the money would go for five more staff members."

Washington Report then comments: "If the country is going soft, it's in the head—to permit the continuation of wasteful agencies that add needlessly to the federal deficit. The present Congress still has time to squash this plum from the patronage tree."

How does all this strike you?

"We' Or "They" Say

By all accounts, "they" are everywhere, wouldn't you say? How often have you heard someone say, "They say . . ."? "They" (one group) run our government, and "they" (another group) are trying to take over our government.

It's all very confusing. Unless, of course, you understand that we, the people, not some ubiquitous and all-powerful "they" are in charge of our own destiny as a nation. There is no "they." There is only us.—Birmingham (AL) News

Bank Free Lunch

A bank in Connecticut serves cream cheese and date-nut bread sandwiches to customers waiting in line during the lunch hour.

It probably hopes that showing an interest in the customer's best interests will help interest him in the bank's interest rate, all of which is in the bank's interest. Anyway, it's an interesting approach to banking.—Columbia (S. C.) State.

Czech Affairs And Experts

By RAY CROMLEY

It is no surprise that the Russians moved into Czechoslovakia.

What is astounding is that so many American professors, political leaders and scholars were surprised that the Russians would do this thing in 1968.

They had talked so much about a change in Russia's attitude that they believed it.

This leads one to wonder at the competence of these men.

For the Russian record of the past few years has certainly not been one of change. It has been consistent with the Soviet decision to invade Czechoslovakia.

In 1968, within Russia, writers and other dissenters have been suppressed with a heavy hand. The Soviet Union has been the chief supplier of weapons to old Ho Chi Minh in his invasion of South Vietnam and Laos.

In 1967, the Soviet Union was the leading behind-the-scenes instigator of the Israeli-Arab war.

For years, the Soviet Union has supplied the arms, funds and technicians which have made possible Castro's attempted underground takeovers in Venezuela, Bolivia, Guatemala, the Dominican Republic and other Latin countries. The Che Guevarra expedition was one publicized example of a series of such attempts. The Soviet Union likewise has been supplying arms and technical aid to totalitarian and subversive groups in African countries.

These are not signs of a change.

Soviet interest in signing a limited nuclear test ban treaty and a nuclear nonproliferation treaty was not a softening of its attitude. Soviet officials believed these treaties to be in the Soviet interest, just as American officials believed them also to be in the American interest. So far as can be determined, the treaties do not lessen Moscow's tendency toward aggression or to promote underground subversion. American officials learned to their surprise—after reading the fine print—that our space treaty with the Soviet Union does not even prohibit a Soviet fractional orbiting bomb.

The Soviet Union did join with the United States in warning Red China when Peking intervened in India. This was not surprising since Moscow and Peking were rivals for influence in India.

The first essential in government, business and in everyday life is to know the facts, and to recognize them for what they are, whether these facts be palatable or not or whether they agree with our theories or not. About the worst folly a man can be guilty of is to believe an untruth simply because it fits his beliefs.

Yet many of those who teach our children, do our socio-political research, seek to advise our government or invoke scholarship in protest are apparently abysmally ignorant of the governments in Moscow, Peking and Hanoi, just as many men in prominent places in another era were ignorant of the nature of Nazism until Hitler marched his armies over much of Europe.

During the publicized Vietnam teach-ins some time back, this writer listened to weeks of argument. Among those on both sides were professors of high repute and older experts of stature. Yet in point after point, on both sides of the argument, the ignorance of fact was astounding.

Most listeners were not experts on the subject at hand. Few had been witnesses of the events being argued. There was no easy way to know who was telling the truth.

This is propaganda. It is not a basis for decisions.

H. L. Hunt Says:

Doubt Mellowing Russians

Weeks ago when the World was watching the internal crisis of the East European Communist bloc, the do-gooders were shouting that the good-ol' Russians were not going to repeat what happened in Hungary in 1956. As a matter of fact, they didn't. They just simply waited until the Czech leadership was off-guard; moved a massive military force into the small country; quieted the Czech leaders; and presto, the Iron Curtain bloc remains intact with no bloody repeat of history.

There are many, however, who never thought for a moment, that the Soviets would use any restraint whatsoever in dealing with the liberalizing Czech nation. To have allowed the split from the traditional socialist stand would have been in complete conflict with the communist strong-hand rule. There can never be freedom in a communist nation because freedom would allow dissent and dissension is what communists fear most. This is clearly evidenced by the Soviet's armed intervention in Czechoslovakia.

This incident should act as a warning to the U.S. that any attempts at cooperating with the deceiving and conniving Russians will only result in a "stab in the back." They have demonstrated this trait in every peace seeking actic our nation has taken in this direction.

Interpretive Report

Open Investigation Is Need

CHICAGO, ILL. — Much more than a closed FBI investigation is needed to expose all the ugly sides of the outrage in Chicago. What is needed is a thorough public inquiry to tell it like it was, and not the way the American public heard it from Gene McCarthy or Abe Ribicoff.

The brutal reaction of the Chicago police in response to ample provocation by organized and disciplined anti-war demonstrators involves many different aspects of what is wrong in America today. Vice-President Humphrey called for an FBI investigation. What is needed is a representative public commission to examine every aspect, police brutality as well as Communist incitement, the moral culpability of Gene McCarthy or the lack of it, the police state of Mayor Daley or the lack of it.

This one revolting incident in the streets of Chicago while the Democratic Party was nominating a candidate for president compresses into a few hours a fantastic nightmare. It raises these questions for which there are only partial and mostly prejudiced answers.

Are idealistic young people, trying to find their way in a difficult and puzzling world, being used as the cutting edge of anarchy by older revolutionaries who do not mind if 300 or 400 of the passionate kids get their heads split and arms wrenched? Has the protest movement gone beyond the bounds of all acceptable standards of peaceful and petition to redress grievances?

To what extent have well-meaning public figures lent themselves in the interest of their own political advancement to the "politics of confrontation" which has as its only immediate objective paralyzing and then tearing apart the existing system?

Or, was the protest demonstration as it was seen on Michigan Avenue, an emotional expression of deeply felt aspirations of idealistic young people for a better world? Should they have been welcomed to Chicago, sheltered, fed and permitted to express themselves, and take part now in the great process of democracy which they later will control?

Are their grievances justified? Do they have a vision? Do they love all mankind or merely hate the draft? How have their views been formed? By exposure to a wide range of facts or to the prejudices of college professors, editorialists and intellectuals who have objections to the Vietnam war more visceral than logical?

Were Mayor Daley's efforts to maintain order in Chicago a reflection of the old system of suppressing opposition and an expression of the storm troopers of the politics of confrontation?

If it is accepted that order must be maintained, there is the central question of how that is to be done and what methods and procedures are justified under what conditions to maintain order. This question needs a great deal more study.

Were the Chicago police justifiably reacting to a "beard-er, dirty, lawless rabble" bent on disrupting and paralyzing the Democratic convention, or did some policemen just lose their heads under dirty-word taunts from a bunch of lively kids?

The story comes to you either way in Chicago. Anyone who has merely seen the shocking film clips of police beating up the kids needs a somewhat broader vision before arriving at firm conclusions.

The FBI won't give us anywhere near the whole answer. We will hear from the FBI that in some instances and possibly in violation of federal laws on civil rights the police reacted in the spirit of Mayor Daley's previous doctrine of shooting looters.

We will also hear that kids were organized and exhorted by David Dellinger, who calls himself a non-Soviet Communist and organized the march on the Pentagon last year. Among the others involved were Tom Hayden, of students for a Democratic Society, which took over Columbia University, closed it and now has succeeded in pushing out its president, and Jerry Rubin, head of the Youth International Party (Yippies).

But that will not help much. Congress will wish to investigate the Chicago outrage, and that may not help much either. A deep, thorough, unprejudiced, publicly conducted inquiry is needed to bring out in the light of day why and how it was that the city of Chicago and the nation should have another outrage on its conscience. Beyond that, the established authority needs publicly acceptable guidelines on how to handle the politics of confrontation.

Helen Fuller Says:

Daley Described—Dissected

WASHINGTON — The Chicago nominating convention may be the "The Last Hurrah" for the last of the big-time Bosses of the Democratic Party — Mayor Dick Daley. Like the fictional hero of that book, Daley has outlived his day.

Even as late as 1968 the Democratic pros were accustomed to the old Roosevelt rule "Clear it with Daley." Daley's veto, as much as anything else, caused Roosevelt to dump Henry Wallace as Vice-President in favor of Harry Truman. That changed history. It was Daley's early OK that gave John F. Kennedy an early leg up in his contest with Hubert Humphrey for the 1960 nomination.

There are some other less creditable items in the record of this former garbage disposal chief who became mayor by a fluke 20 years ago and has sat firmly in the saddle ever since.

The Daley Organization is built on ward organization, loyalty to the machine, and suitable awards to the loyal—the same Irish system that made Boston Boss Curley and the political pillars of Kennedy power in that city rule their roost.

The result was that in state and national elections Boss Daley, by lifting his little finger, could deliver a whopping proportion of the total vote a candidate needed to be nominated.

Over the years, being a born politician, Daley formed a common front with other such born politicians as Democratic Gov. Davey Lawrence, Pennsylvania and New York National Committeeman and for a long while New York City boss, and the odiferous Boss Hague of Jersey City.

Together these local satraps made up a rickety sort of national political Round Table one King Arthur put to purer uses centuries ago. But none the less effective.

But why spend so much time on the ancient history of a man I label a has-been?

Because so much of the disaster that descended on what should have been a solemn occasion was Daley's doing. And it was his doing because those —like President Johnson and the candidates to succeed him could have said a loud "no" to his plans for turning Chicago into an armed camp while there was still time to create reasonable security precautions that would have calmed demonstrators instead of enraging them further.

But Daley told it as it was. "I'm running this convention," he told some of the press. "Whether anyone believes it or not."

Whether he will have the power to do that again is, for the first time in a quarter-century, in question.

LBJ Plans Study Of E. Europe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, ending a long stay at the ranch, heads back to Washington this week with a review of the East European situation apparently the No. 1 item of business.

Johnson has called a meeting of the National Security Council for 3 p.m. Wednesday, mainly to discuss the continuing Czechoslovakia situation and the reported buildup of Soviet troops along the borders of Romania.

Exactly when Johnson would depart for Washington was not known.

The President has called a Cabinet meeting for Thursday at 11 a.m.

Johnson last met with both the security council and the Cabinet when he spent three days in the capital during the height of the crisis triggered by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Since then he has kept in touch with the situation through telephone conversations with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, security aide Walt W. Rostow and others back in Washington.

It was during such consultations by phone that Johnson learned last Friday of rumors that Soviet troops were massing along Romanian borders, possibly intending to invade that satellite nation which has pursued an independent foreign policy.

"Let no nation unleash the dogs of war," Johnson warned in a hastily prepared add to a speech before some dairymen at San Antonio.

Administration sources since have reported receiving Soviet denial of invasion rumors.

Except for a speech in Detroit from which he flew on to Washington for the brief mid-August stay, Johnson has spent most of the month in Texas. He left town after Congress adjourned for the political conventions. Congress returns Wednesday.

Every Litter Bit Hurts

NEW ORK (AP) — Citizens who remember to use litter receptacles while enjoying the Labor Day weekend will be doing their part to cut down on 4 million wasted man-hours of labor.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., estimates this is the amount of labor necessary to pick up the nearly 11 million cubic feet of litter strewn across the countryside during an average three-day holiday weekend.

Allen H. Seed Jr., executive vice president of the national litter prevention organization, said such a cleanup job costs the nation's taxpayers about $9 million.

"The little bit of labor exerted in using a litter receptacle can mean a substantial saving in dollars and beauty," said Mr. Seed.

Prior to the 16th century, confections or candy was sold only by spice merchants and pharmacists.

Congressmen Trek Back To Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — With one ear tuned to the presidential candidates and the other to the voters back home, congressmen return Wednesday to face some hot political topics and the possibility of a long session.

Thornless matters before the Congress are stricter gun controls and President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

The nomination is still in the Senate Judiciary Committee and it's anybody's guess when —and if—it will reach the floor.

Warren himself said two weeks ago in a speech that he expects to be around to open the court's fall session next month. If Republicans carry through with a threat to filibuster, Warren may have to keep his pledge to President Johnson to stay on indefinitely.

Johnson has nominated federal Judge Homer Thornberry to fill the vacancy that would be created by elevating Fortas from associate justice to chief justice.

The Judiciary committee, however, has shelved action on Thornberry until the Senate either confirms or denies Fortas.

Two bills that would ban the mail order sales of rifles and shotguns reached the Senate just before Congress adjourned for the national political conventions Aug. 2. One was reported out of the Senate Judiciary Committee and the other came over from the House.

Backers of even stricter legislation have threatened to battle on the floor for inclusion of registration and licensing provisions which were soundly defeated by the House and by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A third measure that could erupt into controversy is the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, still in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Since the Russians invaded Czechoslovakia, there have been suggestions that Senate ratification be put off for a year.

Foreign aid, already battered down to a million dollars less than President Johnson asked, may run into some additional flak because it is a controversial issue that becomes even more so in an election season. A bill authorizing $1.96 million in foreign aid for the current fiscal year is now before House-Senate conferees. The authorization is likely to survive but appropriations could be much lower.

The Senate returns to face an appropriations bill for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments as its immediate order of business. The House has four relatively minor bills on the docket for this holiday week.

But something may develop on the political front Sept. 11, when the House Committee has scheduled a meeting for consideration of a proposal to suspend equal time provisions of federal law for the presidential campaigns.

Georgia Demos Split By Confab

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Democrats have divergent views on their party as a result of the Democratic National Convention, which threw out half its regular delegation because of its racial makeup and the manner in which it was selected. For example:

"Right now the Georgia Democratic party is the underdog of all underdogs. It's got a long way to go. I think it will survive, but things may have to get worse before they get better," said former Gov. Carl E. Sanders.

"The Georgia party is stronger than ever. I don't see what happened at the convention affecting the structure of the state party at all," said James Gray, state party chairman.

"I would hope we could rebuild the Democratic party so it has room for all groups liberals and conservatives," said State Rep. Julian Bond.

The convention rejected half the regular delegation and seated half of a challenge group led by Bond—a move which has driven some conservatives out of the party, left most of the moderates angry and resentful, and created a polarization of party factions.

The effects of the credentials committee's action, which state party officials contened was politically motivated and resulted from a "double cross" by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's forces, already are being felt.

Gray, who under party rules must certify all Democratic candidates, says he will make a determined attempt to keep electors for the national party nominees off the Georgia ballot.

"I'm not going to certify the national party electors," he said. "I'm going to call a meeting of the state executive committee and try to put up our own electors under the Democratic emblem.

"Now that the convention is over, they (national party leaders) have got to come back and do business with us," said Gray, who headed the Georgia Democrats for Goldwater in 1964. Harry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, carried the state in the first GOP presidential victory in Georgia since Reconstruction.

Gray's plan to keep the national nominees off the Georgia ballot already has touched off what some observers inside the party describe as the beginning of bitter infighting on whether to turn away from the national party.

Some moderates say they reluctantly went to Chicago with a delegation led by Gov. Lester Maddox, then stayed to ride out the storm and don't intend now to watch their efforts go down the drain.

And if Gray is successful in convincing the state executive committee to run a slate of independent electors, a legal fight is likely to ensue.

A list of avowed independent electors running under the Democratic emblem almost certainly would be challenged in the courts by the group which challenged the delegation and which is now challenging the reappointment of the state's national committeewoman and committeeman.

Even Maddox has expressed differences with Gray on the matter. Despite his announced plan to oppose the Democratic ticket, Maddox says Georgians should be able to vote for it if they wish.

Some long range effects of the convention defeat on the state party also are already evidence.

Party leaders and officials such as Sanders, Lt. Gov. George T. Smith and Comptroller Gen. James L. Bentley say publicly and others acknowledge privately, that the party's old method of selecting its executive committee and its delegation to national conventions is dead.

In the past the incumbent governor has named all members of each convention delegation, and controlled all its votes under a unit rule.

He also has appointed all members of the executive committee, giving him virtually complete control over the party.

Sanders, an almost certain candidate for governor again in 1970, is already publicly calling for a liberalization of party rules to allow more grass roots participation in party affairs.

"I don't say that the old method did not serve the party in the past, but now, for the sake of all Democrats, there will have to be some changes," he said.

"If what happened at the convention did nothing else, it knocked out this business of the governor naming all the convention delegates," he said.

Bond, 28, a Negro state representative from Atlanta, said he hopes that he and those of his political philosophy can begin to make themselves heard within the party rather than from without.

"All we wanted out of this seating contest was a place in the party," he said. "We weren't out to wreck it."

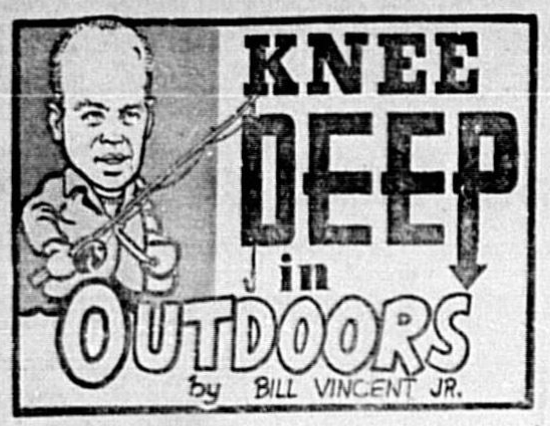
Seminoles Have Depth Problems...

Stumpf Impressed, But Injuries Take Toll



The bass are playin' games but they're hittin' pretty good along the shore line in Lake Harney, on plastic worms.

The specks have been doin' real well on Missouri minnows in and around Lake Monroe and at the railroad bridge. Also, large speck catches are bein' hauled out of Lake Jessup with as many as 100 specks to the catch. Pinkey Hart at Hiley's Fish Camp has called in three times this past week with large fish reports.

The entrance into the Marina seems to be fishy smelling, and if you are wondering what it is try fishin' with a live minnow and see what happens. No reports on catches but a lot of smell of fish.

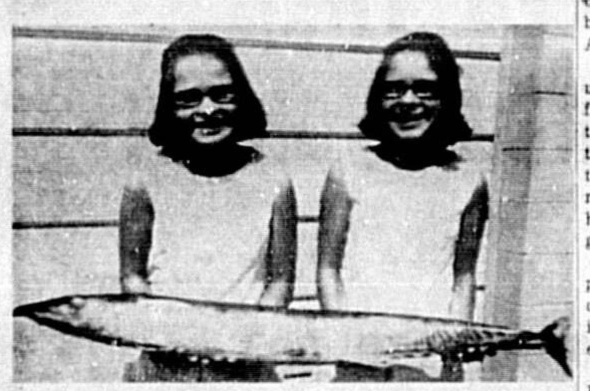
Just when you think you have tried every conceivable way to catch a bass, someone comes up with a new wrinkle. The latest method is to sit straddle of your surf board, paddle with your feet and work a fly rod at the same time. Daryl McLain and Mike Grant have been using this method of late to good advantage as evidenced by this picture of a nice six pound bass caught by Daryl on his fly rod. Daryl and Mike were fishing one of several small lakes around Osteen.

Mr. W. T. Edwards of Lake Harney had good luck this past week when he landed two nice bass weighing five and six pounds apiece. Mr. Edwards was using the plastic worm.

The blue gill and shell crackers are still biting real good in the mouth of Lake Jessup on live worms.



JUDY AND DEBBIE TEMPLE—identical twins, are shown with a 17 pound wahoo, which Judy caught while fishing off the Viking out of Ponce DeLeon Inlet. They caught a variety of nice fish, bonita, dolphin, spanish mackerel, barracuda, wahoo and amberjack. The three top catches will be mounted by Dick Dove, and then displayed at Capt'n Joe's Restaurant.

SPECIAL TO ORANGE, SEMINOLE AND BREVARD COUNTIES

TALLAHASSEE—Plans for an active Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission reserve officer program were announced today by Dr. A. E. Frye, Commission Director. The new program is being set up as a pilot operation and will initially be limited to Orange, Seminole and Brevard counties. If the reserve officer program proves successful, it will be expanded to other counties.

According to Frye, the reserve officer program will, in essence, consist of a group of conscientious conservationists who will receive training in wildlife law enforcement, game and fish management and public relations. Once trained, the reserve officers will form a uniformed cadre to assist wildlife officers and other Commission personnel with conservation projects.

To be eligible for the GFC reserve officer program, an individual must be at least 25 years old, reside in Orange, Seminole or Brevard County, and make application for the reserve program. Applications are available from the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission at 1239 S.W. 10th St., Ocala, or 417 N. Paramore, Orlando. Deadline for applications is September 18 and all applicants will be required to take an examination and interview prior to appointment.

Frye said, "For many years we have had requests from sportsmen to assist in the program of wildlife conservation, and we feel that the GFC reserve program may be an approach that will allow participation of the citizen-conservationist and at the same time strengthen the force of the Commission."

According to Major Brantley Goodson, Chief of the Commission's Law Enforcement Division, "We don't expect the reserve officer to become a citizen-enforcement officer and generally, where law violations are concerned, the reserve officer will be working with one of our wildlife officers. On the other hand, the reserve officer will be able to relieve our enforcement personnel from many duties other than direct law enforcement, such as school programs, fair programs, and meetings of civic and sportsmen clubs."

The GFC reserve officer will wear a special uniform designed by the Commission to designate the individual as a member of the reserve force. He will be required to attend the training school and be responsible to the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission while on official duty.

Central Florida's "darkhorse" prep eleven, Seminole High has been on the practice field for three weeks and a picture of the upcoming season is starting to focus. Coach Ralph Stumpf gave a little insight on the upcoming turf schedule when he said, "We are very impressed thus far, but we are having depth trouble."

Troubles have also began to affect what many people thought would be the starting backfield for the SHS team this year. The only secure spot is the signal calling position which has been nailed down by the talented duo of Senior's Skip Senkarik and Bob Lundquist.

Bill Bracken, who was injured in the latter part of the '67 campaign, has been working out at one of the halfback slots after having a knee operation during the winter. This knee has come back to haunt Stumpf as Bracken has started to have troubles with the injury and this may affect the dream look which the backfield had before practice opened.

John Nieman just returned from a visit to Viet Nam and has found three players vieing for his fullback position. They include Ronald Skeen, a transfer from Florida Central Academy in Sorrento, Dana Yelinek, and David Lee, two returnees from last year's Junior Varsity squads. Skeen is a real "find" for the Seminoles but has been having physical problems which may affect his starting chances, while Yelinek and Lee lack some of the varsity experience needed to cap the slot. Nieman will have a tough time in wrestling away with the slot but his last year's experience coupled with his performances from previous campaigns will probably see the Senior in the driver's seat when the Seminoles open against Titusville Sept. 20.

The end slots appear to be nailed down by experienced Tom Sandage and newcomer Larry Kerse. The Seminole coaching staff is extremely pleased with Kerse's ability and Coach Stumpf gave local fans a real preview of the newcomer's talent when he said, "He has average speed, but his arms seem like they are six feet long when he goes after a pass."

In the line there are many problems which the Seminoles will have to iron out before their opening contest. Working hard to cap the center position is Tommy Benson who weighs 190. Benson has been working out during the summer and appears to have a good inroad to the slot.

This year's schedule rates with the toughest ever, and the Seminoles are keeping their eyes and ears open as the September date gets closer.

Denver's Youthful Outlook

By FRANK PITMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos may be a better ballclub than in 1967 when they were last, as usual, in the American Football League.

But their problem in crawling out of last place is compounded by improvement of the other AFL teams.

As last season, the Broncos under Coach Lou Saban will field probably the youngest team in professional ball. While that holds promise for the future, it also carries the threat of mistakes by beginners in the harsh business of winning games.

Saban, in his second year, has pretty well wiped all remnants of the Bronco teams that finished last in seven of the AFL's eight seasons.

This process has stripped the Broncos down to sophomores or rookies at key positions and this season's results likely will show it. But the old cry, "Wait 'til next year," resounds.

Saban's troops suffered a serious blow in preseason play with the loss for many weeks of No. 1 quarterback Steve Tensi, who suffered a cracked collarbone.

Without Tensi, the vital quarterbacking chores fall to Jim Leclair, grabbed by Denver last year after he was lopped from the San Francisco cab squad, and John McCormick, a Bronco veteran, trying comeback after a year's retirement.

Leclair, 6-foot-1, 207 pounds, played collegiate ball at C.W. Post in Brookville, N.Y. He's shown promising form a few times this season but rookies who make it big at quarterback are rare.

The defensive line may be the team's best unit with performers like Dave Costa, Rex Mirich, Pete Duranko, Rich Jackson, Jerry Inman and Larry Cox.

The sophomore linebacking corps, featuring John Huard, Chip Myrtle, Carl Cunningham, Frank Richter and Fred Forsberg, also looks adequate.

Two rookies at the cornerbacks, Drake Garrett of Michigan State and Charlie Greer of Colorado, need to develop rapidly. Starters at the safeties have been Bobby Ply, a seven-year veteran, and Jack Lentz, sophomore from Holy Cross.

The offensive line seems improved with Larry Kaminski in his third year at center and two sophomores, George Goeddeke and George Gaiser at guards. Starting tackles are Sam Brunelli, in his second year, and rookie Wallace Dickey, a 260-pounder from Southwest Texas State.

Damascus Continues Streak

More Scents sniffed the sweet smell of success, but it was swept away by the wind-like charge of Damascus.

Angel Cordero Jr. broke Meadowhill's More Scents on top and he was still there with a little more than 100 yards to go when Damascus charged by to win the $108,200 Aqueuct Stakes Monday at Aqueduct.

In the other six-figure race on the holiday's national thoroughbred racing program—the $113,000 Benjamin F. Lindheimer Handicap at Arlington Park—War Censor drove through on the rail and won by three lengths over Irish Rebellion.

Damascus earned $70,330 for Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft and War Censor took down $68,636 for Fourth Estate Stable, but this was just pocket money compared to what a quarter horse named Three Oh's won for Dr. John D. King of Waxahachie, Tex.

COACH DICK COPELAND

FSU High On Sanford's Gray

F.S.U.

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida State University footballers dusted their pads for the first time this season today and donned them for a pair of workouts.

After a light practice Monday, Coach Bill Peterson said three new faces among the Seminoles will be familiar to fans before the season is over. He identified them as interior lineman Randy Cassady, a junior college transfer from Florala, sophomore linebacker Barry Rice of Fernandina Beach, and sophomore end Mike Gray from Lake Mary.

"Those three are going to play someplace before the season is over," Peterson said. "They're names to remember."

Gators

GAINESVILLE (AP) — Ray Graves ordered the University of Florida football team into pads today and scheduled a controlled scrimmage for Wednesday. But All-Southeastern Conference fullback Larry Smith won't be working out.

Smith suffered a pulled leg muscle in the final Gator workout in shorts Monday.

"We plan to hold him out of normal practice for a week to 10 days although he should be jogging by the end of this week," Graves said. "Part of holding Smith out is precautionary. We don't want to rush him along too quick."

The 6-foot-4, 218-pound Smith was voted All-SEC as a sophomore and junior and is considered an All-American prospect.

Miami

MIAMI (AP)—Stepped up contact work is slated for the University of Miami football team today as Coach Charlie Tate and his aides seek some early answers on their reconstructed offensive line.

Only James Schneider of Willow Grove, Pa. and Don Brandy of Miami were starters last year and Brandy, a center, was shelved for the 1967 campaign, after suffering injuries in the opener at Northwestern. Schneider took over a game or two later and finished the year as center.

With Brandy well again and back at center, Schneider has moved to left tackle with George Hopgood of Miami, a reserve guard in 1967, as the right tackle. Charles Fullerton of Hollywood is the right guard and James Chaltas of Homestead the left guard. Ends are David Kalina, junior college transfer from Wilmerding, Pa., and Ray Heinly, Pottsville, Pa. Only Brandy and Heinly are seniors; the others are juniors.

Some of these athletes are in positions different from those which they played last spring and some of the shift results are doubtful. Behind almost every one of them is an eager sophomore, just waiting to grab off a starting role and this hope may be under way before long.

Monday's two practices brought no full scale offensive scrimmage. The closest the athletes came was in the closing minutes when a few plays were run against defensive units attired in pads. The line had some head knocking both morning and afternoon.

Vandy's A Strong Contender

By RON SPEER

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Coach Bill Pace is even taking advantage of Nashville's Grand Ole Opry in his drive to build Vanderbilt into a Southeastern Conference contender in football.

One of the Commodores' brightest prospects is 235-pound end Karl Weiss, who cast his lot with Vanderbilt after a visit to the country music capital of the nation.

"I just love those Opry people," said Weiss, a 6-foot-5 sophomore end counted on to catch passes for the Commodores this fall.

"I go back there and talk to Tex Ritter and Minnie Pearl all the time," Weiss said. "Ole Tex Ritter's my favorite."

Weiss, who strums the guitar, said he isn't good enough to play with the Grand Ole Opry stars.

"The only time I play and sing is when I'm in my room with the door locked," said Weiss, who passed up offers from Florida State and Ohio State to attend Vanderbilt.

Pace, starting his second campaign with the Commodores, said that on the football field Weiss won't have to play second fiddle to anyone.

"The Grand Ole Opry did start having Friday night shows after we got Weiss," Pace said. "But I really don't think that was the reason."

However, Pace is willing to utilize country music, the school's academic stature and an athletic center under construction to attract top players.

Weiss was among the first boys recruited by Pace, who said he believes he has another standout group of players in his freshman squad.

"When these freshmen play a year," Pace said, "I believe we'll be able to hold our own with anyone."

That would be startling change, because Vanderbilt has won only 15 games in the last eight years.

"I'm real encouraged and optimistic about the future of football at Vanderbilt," Pace said. "We just need to win a big one."

The Commodores have plenty of chances to knock off a big rival this year, with Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee on the schedule.

However, Vanderbilt lost its top two quarterbacks. Gary Davis and Roger May, and the nation's leading receiver, Bob Goodridge, from last year's 2-7-1 team.

"We've got to replace our pitcher and catcher — and we haven't done it yet," Pace said. "But our receivers may be better this year than last because they are not all in one package."

SWEATY CHANGE—It was a different kind of sweat for Dick Williams last season. The Boston Red Sox manager was leading his club to the 1967 American League pennant in a tight race. This year, however, the Red Sox are virtually out of championship contention. Now, the sweat is confined to pitching batting practice. The anguish has changed from mental to physical.

Bob Gibson Sinks Cincinnati With Shutout

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Gibson is good, but even he needs help now and then. Like, perhaps an occasional ache in the opposing pitcher's ankle.

Gibson, St. Louis' ace righthander, on his 20th game of the season Monday night, beating Cincinnati 1-0 with some 10th inning aid from Gary Nolan's heel and Julian Javier's bat.

Javier stroked the leadoff homer that broke the scoreless duel and gave the Cardinals their victory. But if Nolan's aching Achilles tendon hadn't acted up, Gibson might still be pitching.

Nolan had throttled the Cards on five hits and fanned eight through the first nine innings but then the pulled Achilles tendon in his right ankle started bothering him, Reds' Manager Dave Bristol brought in submariner Ted Abernathy.

Javier, who had only two homers all season, greeted Abernathy with No. 3 and Gibson had the run he needed.

In other National League action on a busy Labor Day, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Houston 6-1 and 4-3 in 10 innings, Atlanta topped New York 3-1 and then batted to a 2-2 tie ended by rain after six innings. San Francisco battered Chicago 8-4 before the nightcap as halted by darkness tied at 1-1 after nine innings, and Philadelphia swept two from Los Angeles 5-4 and 7-5.

In the American League, Washington swept a pair from Chicago 1-0 and 11-3, New ork split with Baltimore, winning 4-2 before losing 4-3 in 10 innings. Minnesota tripped Boston 5-1, Oakland split a pair with Detroit winning 4-0 and then losing, 4-3 in 10 innings, and Cleveland topped California 4-2.

The four-hit shutout was Gibson's 12th of the year and it marked the third time in the last four seasons that the Cardinal ace has reached 20 victories. He missed only in 1967 when he was out for two months with a broken leg.

Gibson struck out eight and two of the four sing'es he allowed came with two out in the 10th inning as the Reds staged a last-gasp rally.

Bob Veale pitched a three-hitter and Donn Clendenon drove in three runs, helping Pittsburgh to its first game victory over Houston. Rusty Staub homered for the Astros.

The Pirates completed the sweep when Chris Cannizzaro's single drove in Bill Mazeroski with the winning run in the 10th inning of the nightcap. Mazeroski had singled and raced all the way to third when center fielder Jim Wynn let the ball get past him.

Juan Marichal won his 24th game for the Giants as Jesus Alou's four hits and four runs batted in paced a 17-hit San Francisco attack. Jack Hiatt had a two-run homer.

Mike Lum's two-run homer carried Atlanta past New York in their first game with Cecil Upshaw saving the victory for starter George Stone, who happens to be his cousin.

Olympic Tankster Trials

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — No one can take anything for granted in swim racing.

Don Schollander and Charlie Hickcox had one event and set world records at the U.S. men's Olympic trials, yet in their final appearances both were only also-swams.

Zach Zorn, a 21-year-old UCLA aquatic sprinter, won the 100-meter freestyle equalling the world record of 52.6 seconds while Jackson Horsley, a 16-year-old from Seattle, captured the 200-meter backstroke in 2:08.74 Monday night.

Schollander, the Olympic star who won four gold medals in 1964 including one in the 100, finished fifth. Hickcox after winning the 400 and 200 individual medleys in world record times plus the 100 backstroke wound up fourth behind young Horsley.

"He had a lot of tough races," said Horsley of Hickcox when asked if he were surprised the Indiana University star wasn't close to him.

Holder of American records in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, Zorn found it no surprise that he had beaten the rest of the U.S. stars.

"I swam my own race," he said. "I wanted to go out as fast as I could and then come back."

Murphy Makes One Shot Pay High Stakes

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Murphy, $30,000 richer after winning the Thunderbird Golf Classic, attributed it all to a key shot on the 15th hole.

The chunky, red-haired Murphy held a one-shot lead over Bob Lunn as the pair, playing together, approached the 190-yard, par three water hole.

Lunn, hitting first, put his ball 10 feet from the pin but Murphy got within six feet. Then Lunn missed his putt and Murphy made his to take a two-stroke lead.

"That was probably my best shot of the round," Murphy said. "I just took a six iron, hit it up in the air and it landed near the hole."

Murphy ended with a 68 Monday to give him a 277 for the four days of play over the 7,035-yard, par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course. It was his second consecutive tour win.

Lunn, who also won two straight tournaments earlier in the year, finished with a 69 for 280 and a tie for second with Australian Bruce Crampton, also with a 69.

Homero Blancas was fourth with a 72 for 282 as third-round leader Gary Player skied to a 76 for a fifth-place tie with Dan Sikes, 70, and Jack Nicklaus, 71. Defending champion Arnold Palmer shot a 71 to finish in a four-way tie for 10th place at 286.

The biggest challenge to Murphy's victory was a downpour that threatened to wash out the entire round just as he was approaching the 18th green.

"It delayed play for 1½ hours and left large lakes in the bunkers and fairways.

A Flying Finish Put On By Foyt And Andretti

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and A. J. Foyt of Houston put on a flying finish before a crowd of 18,400 Monday afternoon with Andretti winning the 100-mile Ted Horn Memorial Auto Race by 1.7 seconds over Foyt at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Andretti took the lead on the eighth lap and held it until the finish with Foyt driving right on his tail pipe for 14 of the last 15 laps. It was Andretti's third victory of the 1968 U.S. Auto Club season.

The victory moved Andretti into second place in the national point standings with Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., holding his lead at 3,250. Andretti moved into second with 2,3[illegible] tal and Al Unser, Bobby's younger brother, is third with 2,334.

Florida State League

Miami and Orlando strutted their winning style Monday night to close out the Florida State League season and head for the Governor's Cup playoffs beginning tonight.

Miami rolled easily to the championship with an 11½ game lead over Cocoa in its own Eastern Division and a five game lead over Orlando which ended on top of the Western Division roster.

Miami dumped West Palm Beach 6-4 while Daytona Beach cut Cocoa down 3-1 to broaden the Marlins' already decided pennant dash by a game.

Orlando bested close-chasing St. Petersburg 3-1 to gain a 2½ game lead in the Western Division and come up second best in the league.

Tonight, Miami journeys to St. Petersburg to begin a best of three series. The second, and third if necessary, game will be played in Miami. Orlando will host Cocoa tonight to begin their playoff with the games switching cities nightly until one team winds two. The winners of the division playoffs then will meet in another best of three series to see who gets the cup.

Miami managed to win Monday night when Cliff Matthews drilled a seventh inning two-run double, his second two-bagger of the night.

Steve Brye whacked a solo homer to spark the Orlando effort, but the two deciding runs scored when batters gained bases on balls with the bases loaded.

Daytona cut Cocoa down when the Dodgers gained two scores in separate innings without a base hit and Red Canada drove in another run.

Mario Guerrero blasted a three-run homer and scored twice more for Fort Lauderdale to spark an 8-1 victory over Lakeland.

DeLand rallied — with RBIs from Bronco Grace, Shorty Stoner, and John Majors—to a 4-2 win over Tampa in the eight inning of their game.

The final league standings showed the Western Division had a harder fought battle for supremacy. Cocoa, which wound up second in the Eastern circuit, would have earned only a fourth place berth in the Western Division on the basis of percentage points.

Question: What are your suggestions to beautify Seminole County?

Steve Derwiany, Rolling Hills.
I think people should inspect their own immediate area and begin there. Trees, shrubbery and flowers do wonders to lawns. Tall palm trees could be planted in the median of 17-92, thus making the highways look much better. Care would have to be taken in doing this so as not to block the view of drivers. People destroy things themselves and blame others. If you live in a clean place, you feel better as far as your health is concerned.

Elizabeth Screeney, Grant Street, Longwood.
I think Seminole County is fine the way it is, although certain parts may need cleaned up. I live in a very nice neighborhood and can't complain about anything.

Red Harper, Lake Mary.
This county needs its public parks cleaned up. More recreational areas are needed in the county also. They could be planned with flower gardens and things to make them look good. Families enjoy going to places like that.

Juanita Moore, 2402 Cedar Avenue.
Clean up and paint up. This means a lot to the county as a whole. Each one doing his part will help all of Seminole. One doing good encourages another to keep his property up. Planting trees and shrubbery along the public highways would certainly benefit the county as far as looks are concerned.

Bill Loudermilk, 2827 Sanford Avenue.
The grass on these vacant lots need to be cut and cleaned up. These old abandoned fruit stands should be torn down and removed. Also, the car junk yards need to be fenced from the public highways.

Frank Platt, Coleman Circle.
Get these vavant lots cleaned up. I'm a retired landscape man and I still enjoy the beauty of trees, flowers and things like that. A lot has been done for the approach into the county from DeLand, but the South Seminole entrance is so different. There's so many little "used articles" stands beside the road it doesn't look good at all.

Phillip Pressley, Shepherd Road.
The grass beside our highways need to be cut and the trash needs to be cleaned up. Something should be done about planting shrubbery or flowers in the median of 17-92. It would make the highway look much better.

Tower On Lake Proposed

Inquiring Reporter:

Thanks for the invitation for suggestions to beautify Seminole County.

One of the very loveliest views we have is the approach to Lake Monroe on Interstate 4 from Daytona Beach. The necklace of lights which is Sanford is particularly lovely after dark.

Something tall on the firm foundation where the band shell used to be might enhance the picture still more and serve to identify Sanford. I suggest a tower with a winding stairway to a lookout balcony and above that revolving light emblems. Several figures which might be used are a sailboat, a Gothic tower, church spire, "Elbow Room" for industry, a cornucopia of vegetables, an orange. Perhaps three emblems would be enough, for they need to be large enough to be identified at a distance. (Financed as advertising?)

I think such a tower would become a magnetic attraction. I hope nothing will be built which would shut off this beautiful view of our city from I-4. A causeway across the lake might do just that, is my greatest reason for opposing a causeway!

A contest for the design of such a tower as I suggest is another idea for stimulating interest and participation.

Thanks again for this opportunity.

Few Kids Fiddling These Days

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Is the violin out of tune with the times?

The stringed instrument is apparently so dissonant with the free-wheeling spirit of this age that few kids nowadays aspire to be fiddlers. As a result, many symphony orchestras are having difficulties in filling violin positions, according to authorities n the feild.

In the good old days, "everyone in Odessa was born with a violin or a piece of gold in hand," as a saying goes. The city by the Black Sea, and other areas of Russia and eastern Europe were the sources of many leading violinists including such virtuosi as Jascha Heifetz, Isaac Stern, Nathan Milstein.

"It isn't so any more," says Louis Krasner of Syracuse University, noted for the first performances of composers Albert Schoenberg and Alban Berg (Berg wrote his own violin concerto for Krasner).

Krasner talked about the past and present of his beloved art in the living room of his house here containing two violin-shape ashtrays, a Steinway piano and a framed lock of Beethoven's hair.

Krasner chaired the 1964 String Symposium at Tanglewood where concert masters, violinists and string teachers gathered to discuss "the string shortage."

"The violin deteriorated because composers are not writing for it anymore," he explained.

"They'd rather write for electronic music. It is possible to play new music on the violin but it would be difficult.

"Then there are other financial problems. Some major orchestras give a 52-week contract with fringe benefits, but in many cases the violinist has to work part-time somewhere else in another capacity.

"And it's no longer glamorous to be a violinist. Virtuoso days are over in music. If you become a violinist, you'll play in an orchestra as one of the members.

"Audiences have dwindled. There are other entertainments.

Park & Shop Appliance Under New Management

WILLIAM TOBER

William Tober was recently appointed manager of the Sanford Park and Shop TV and Appliance store, located at First and Magnolia in downtown Sanford. Tober comes to Sanford from Elkhart, Ind.

He brings with him wide experience in the appliance field — having served for many years as a salesman, manager and as a buyer of name brand TVs and appliances in carload lots. This fits in with the Park and Shop operation of buying name brand appliances in large volume, thereby getting a lower price, then passing this saving on to the public.

Bill Tober expresses great satisfaction with the Park and Shop service organization, which consists of skilled and experienced technicians in both white and brown goods. He is impressed with the motto of the entire organization, from manager to delivery boy, "Every customer must be a happy customer."

Tober is a member of the Baptist church, and has been active in civic and community affairs , with special emphasis on youth activities. He has coached boys' club baseball and basketball teams.

Agri-Confab Scheduled

Leo Butner, manager of Sanford State Farmers' Market, and Mrs. Butner and Frances Garrow, secretary, will attend the Florida Department of Agriculture 1968 annual conference at Gainesville Wednesday through Friday of this week.

Speakers at the conference will include Sen. Spessard Holland, Sen. Gerry Thomas, U.S. Commissioner of Agriculture Orville Freeman and University of Florida President Stephen C. O'Connell.

Theme of the conference this year is "PRIDE" with the letters signifying personal responsibility in daily endeavors. One of the highlights of the conference will be the dedication of the new Doyle Conner building. An awards presentation is scheduled for retiring Lee Thompson, director of finance and accounting, who served as commissioner of agriculture in 1960. Thompson was born in the Sanford area.

Ike Reads Westerns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower is spending more time reading now that he's showing steady progress recovering from his seventh heart attack.

"His progress continues to be favorable," said doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital Monday.

Eisenhower, 77, is reading Western novels to while away the time, doctors said. The five-star general and former president has been bedridden most of the time since suffering the first of four heart attacks in Palm Springs, Calif., April 29.

Two Inches

NELSON, British Columbia (AP) — The town fire department waited two years for a new fire truck to be built to specifications and when it finally came it was two inches too big for the fire station. A department spokesman said a station wall would have to be removed to make room.

Couple Marks Anniversary

DR. AND MRS. WILLIAM M. SHEDDEN . . . on their golden wedding anniversary, Aug. 24, 1968.

Dr. and Mrs. William M. Sheddeen of Ormond Beach, observed their 50th wedding anniversary, Aug. 24, 1968. Highlighting the memorable event was their three children and families entertaining them at an anniversary dinner at Oceanside Country Club, Ormond Beach, complete with a traditional champagne toast, roast duck and wild rice and a beautifully embossed tiered cake.

The Sheddens were married Aug. 24, 1918, in Boston, Mass. He was captain of the Yale Track Team in 1915 and she is a former New England tennis champion.

Dr. Shedden recalls, "We came to Florida for three weeks but have been here for 24 years now."

He was chief surgeon at the Veteran's Hospital, Lake City, for 20 years and after his retirement there, went into practice working at Halifax and Ormond Memorial Hospitals until his retirement, July 1 of this year.

Since then, Dr. Shedden has been "dabbling in oils" and has more than 200 oil paintings completed, many of which are hanging in doctor's offices around the Daytona Beach area. He and Ann Luke a local artist, have just completed a mural at Ormond Beach Hospital.

The doctor is a Rotarian and his wife, a member of Republican's Women's Club. Both are members of Oceanside Country Club.

The Sheddens have two sons, Richard, who teaches jet flying for Eastern Airlines in Miami, and Robert, manager of Southern Bell Tel. and Tel. Co. in Sanford.

Their daughter, Mrs. Robert McColskey, is head of the Clinical Psychology Clinic in Pensacola. There are eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Rings Reign Supreme For Young Miss

Rings reign supreme for the fashionable back-to-school miss: from simple gold bands to elaborate costume rings and the classical favorites, rings set with cultured pearls, her birthstone and the popular Linde star.

Naturally, for her school days, jewelry with her school emblem has winning appeal: lapel pins, charms and rings that proudly identify her alma mater make her back-to-school jewelry wardrobe the completest!

They drove to Indiana and from there made flying jaunts to Detroit, Canada, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, and Virginia. Highlight of their trip was attending the wedding of their oldest granddaughter.

Bridal Shower Honors Betty Mann

The Holly Avenue home of Mrs. J. M. Leonard was the scene of a recent linen shower honoring Miss Betty Mann, fiancee of John McQueen. Hostesses were Mrs. David Leonard and Mrs. J. M. Leonard.

The party area was decorated with a profusion of beautiful roses, mostly pink and white arrangements carrying out the color theme of the evening. Gracing the coffee table was an exceptionally lovely arrangement using pink, white, red and yellow roses and greenery.

The hostesses presented Miss Mann and her mother, Mrs. Herbert Mann, with white baby rose corsages. The refreshment table was overlaid with a lace edged linen cloth and the centerpiece was a crystal container with silver base filled with pink roses. Flanking this were two three branched crystal candelabra with pink tapers and white bows.

Crystal and silver appointments and white linen napkins in teakwood napkin holders were used. Pink party punch was served from a crystal bowl with Lilies-of-the-valley and a miniature bride and groom frozen in an ice ring. Other refreshments included petit fours, assorted party sandwiches, nuts, mints and cheese and olive balls.

Prima Donna Goes Modern

By JOY MILLER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Beautiful, gifted Phyllis Curtin is booked two or three years ahead in opera houses and concert halls around the world, but she lacks a couple of things the so-called Golden Age singers had: the prima donna temperament and a flair for traveling in style.

Back in the days when the prima donna was somewhat larger tha life—whichever way you looked at her—it was an awesome sight to behold the old-style soprano in transit from, say, New York to Chicago.

Besides an entourage and array of trunks that would put royalty to shame, many a diva took along draperies, pictures and fancy pillows to make her train compartment homey.

But Phyllis Curtin, who is as unpretentious as she is talented, these days finds her chief traveling pleasure in the company of her 6½-year-old daughter Claudia and her husband, photographer Eugene Cook.

Right now they are on a seven-week tour of Australia and New Zealand where newspapers report that the brilliant Clarksburg, W. Va., soprano is bringing stamping, shouting audiences to their feet in standing ovations.

From there they will go to Scotland where Phyllis will sing with the Scottish National Opera.

Claudia fell in love with Scotland in 1966 when she visited it for the first time with her mother, who, singing Marguerite in "Faust," broke all box office records for the Scottish National Opera.

In order to crowd in more people, the thrifty Scots took the lights out of the boxes and shoved in chairs. Recalling it, Eugene Cook says with amusement: "Consequently it got darker and darker. Finally it was so dark we had trouble finding enough light to photograph."

Claudia also landed herself on the front pages. A reporter, making casual conversation, asked what she would do "while your mommy is singing." Replied Claudia: "I'm going to look for the Loch Ness Mouster."

Startled, the reporter said: "But you'll be staying at Loch Lomond."

"So what!" retorted precocious Claudia, "You don't think that monster stays in just one loch, do you?"

Her new theory of the loch-hopping monster landed on Page 1.

One month the brunette singer travels more than the old-time divas did in a year. Yet she claims that "so much travel doesn't affect the voice badly if you stay in good physical condition. If you're tired and suffering from lack of sleep, of course it's going to show.

"It's a tremendously personal thing. When I'm well it doesn't hurt me a bit to sing three times a week. On the other hand, I would love to be able to sit for awhile. Just sit and knit and garden."

The princess-line or sheath skirt is for the junior or misses figure; gored skirts are for the mature.

By GAIL BRATTON

Miss Sandra Jeanette Mikler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mikler of Slavia, and Jonathan Watson Davis of Slavia, were united in Holy Matrimony Aug. 30, 1968 at 8:00 p.m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church in Slavia.

Rev. John J. Kucharik was the officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony before the altar accented with white flowers, spiral candelabra with white candles and a profusion of potted palms.

Mrs. Betty Kohany, organist, presented a recital of nuptial selections. Miss Susan Duda and Miss Joyce Bellhorn were soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a formal gown of satin (also her mother's wedding gown) with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a neckline of lace. Her detachable cathedral train extended from the shoulders and her fingertip net veil was attached to a crown. She carried a bouquet of ivory roses and white carnations with stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister Miss Elizabeth Mikler. She wore a sky-blue semi-formal gown with the sleeves enhanced with lace. Her headpiece was a matching satin bow and net. She carried a single pink long stemmed rose.

Mrs. Robert Olliff, sister of the bride, attended the bride as matron of honor and Miss Carol Davis, sister of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid. Mrs. Olliff and Miss Davis were pink semi-formal gowns fashioned identically to the maid's of honor and carried a single pink long stemmed rose.

Elliott Davis served as his son's best man and Robert Olliff, brother-in-law of the bride, Andy and Joseph Mikler, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mikler chose a beige suit with white accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the groom, chose a powder blue lace dress with white accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

The reception was held at St. Luke's Christian Day School which was decorated with a profusion of white flowers and fern. Honorary hostesses were Mrs. Ann Duda, Mrs. Sue Colbert, Mrs. Betty Pempey, Mrs. Virginia Mikler, Mrs. Betty Duda, Miss Suzzn Duda, Miss Katherine Mikler, Miss Joyce Bellhorn, Miss Elaine Duda and Miss Mary Jane Mikler.

June Hutchinson Honored

The Rainbow Inn was the setting for a kitchen shower honoring Miss June Hutchinson, bride-elect, Thursday night. Hostesses were the Misses Joyce Jones and Katy Mann.

The party room of the Inn was gaily decorated in a bridal theme with a large umbrella covered with yellow and white nylon net and adorned with clusters of yellow and white roses and white ribbon, suspended from the ceiling over the center of the refreshment table. Yellow and white crepe paper streamers attached to the umbrella were fastened to each corner of the ceiling.

The hostesses presented Miss Hutchinson and her mother, Mrs. F. R. Hutchinson, with carnation corsages. June's was fashioned of green tinted carnations and white ribbon and Mrs. Hutchinson's was yellow with white ribbon. The hostess gift was an electric portable mixer.

Decorations on the refreshment table carried out the yellow and white color theme with white place mats, white plates with yellow roses and napkins to match. The centerpiece was yellow and white flowers and yellow nylon net in a white container.

Bridal games were played by the guests and prizes awarded to the winners.

Dorm Wear's Wide Awake To Fashion

The new fashion appeal of dormitory loungewear is enough to make any girl want to leave home.

Versatile styling in the form of multi-purpose outfits has taken loungewear from behind closed doors and brought it out on campus. Thanks to this new trend, the busy young coed can switch from classroom wear to nifty culotte loungers for study sessions, cubfests, or errand-running out of the dorm.

Made to order for quick changes and comfortable wear are the stein, zip-up styles in lightweight cotton corduroys. Cleverly designed with a deep inverted front pleat to camouflage the divided skirt, they look more like dresses than loungewear. In the same indoor-outdoor mood are short jumpsuits with concealed front zippers and the sportswear touch of chain belts. They're in colorful crinkled cotton prints that need little or no ironing.

Outfits designed strictly for dorm wear also have undergone dramatic changes. One of the most comfortable yet stylish of these is the floor-length culotte with wide flaring legs. In soft cotton challis printed in an exotic paisley, it's ideal for perusing lecture notes or hostessing a coffee break.

Robes, too, reflect a change. Favorites are the short length, ranging from just above the knee to mini-high. Now more aptly called "study coats," they're freshly interpreted in jewel-toned corduroys, paisley-printed cotton quilts, lustrous cotton satins, and bright-colored terry cloths.

When crocheting with double strand thread, insert the two threads through a small hole in a square of cardboard, and move the cardboard down as it is used. This keeps the strands together, prevents much tangling and does away with a lot of aggravating straightening of the thread.

Frontier Fashions Set Pace

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Indian maidens and girls from the Golden West will show up at campus pow wows this fall. All-American girls are wearing these two kinds of frontier fashions.

The Old West revival began in the United States but has also swept Europe. In Paris, Yves St. Laurent showed leather with fringe with models wearing squaw bands at their foreheads.

Hair stylist Paul Camenzuli says, "You can take your choice of mini, midi or maxi hairstyles and still have an Indian maiden look."

Early in the day, the short styles go to classes. In the evening, smart girls add hairpieces, dangling a long curl over each shoulder.

Camenzuli likes the effect of braids with this look too. Some girls may think that pigtails would be a bit much on campus though.

When he created mini, midi and maxi styles for a recent fashion show for Charles of the Ritz, the hairdresser put Indian bands on models' foreheads and painted intriguing little flower designs on their cheeks. "This is not recommended for school," he says, "but these are fun for play."

The warpaint worn by the models included eyeshadows in white, pale aqua and gentle sky blue and glossy lipsticks in desert colors.

They put on false eyelashes top and bottom and painted some others on in addition—again a look not for school, but for fun.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Mac, a divorced man, for about 2 years and he wants to marry me. I think the world of him, but he has the world's worst children. They are two boys, 15 and 17. Right now they are sitting in the city jail. They have been in trouble with the law more times than I can count. Believe me, the way they turned out wasn't his fault. He tried to raise them right but their mother let them run wild.

My question: I work for the city and if I marry this man I will naturally have to take his name. Well, his sons have had their names in the paper so much that the name is ruined and I am ashamed of it. Maybe I'm wrong to feel this way, but I have to look out for myself. Any suggestions?

UP A TREE

DEAR UP: Discuss it with Mac. He may not feel the same as you about it. A man (or boy) can "ruin" only his OWN reputation, and while he may have sullied the name he bears, right-thinking people don't condemn the whole family for the offenses of one.

DEAR ABBY: I've been trying to disregard this problem for some time, but it keeps nagging at me, so please print your answer soon.

Three years ago, a neighbor boy, who was 10 at the time, tried to molest our little 4-year-old daughter. Luckily it turned out to be nothing serious. However, other neighbors have told me that this boy has since been in the same kind of trouble with other young children.

The boy is 13 now, and he has been hanging around the home of some new neighbors who have a 4-year-old boy. I keep wondering if I should tell this little boy's mother about our experience. My husband says NO, I shouldn't get involved.

It worries me, Abby. If something happened to that little 4-year-old kid I'd feel responsible. What should I do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: If the parents of the 13-year-old boy appear to be intelligent, responsible people, tell them to keep their eye on their son for recurring signs of his old trouble. If they don't, tip off the new neighbors. You are already morally involved.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 60, married 27 years, no children and I have never written to a columnist before, but we had an experience I think should be published.

Saturday our lawn needed mowing, the garage needed cleaning , and I wanted to watch the ball game.

My wife saw four-teen-age boys walking aimlessly past our house, so she called to them, told them our lawn needed mowing, and asked if they were interested in earning a little money. They almost mobbed her. One grabbed the mower, the other the rake, another the grass shears. The fourth went around the house, found the hose, washed down the garage and driveway, swept out the excess water, coiled the hose neatly, and put it back where he found it. Then he started pulling weeds.

There was no arguing or bickering. They rotated all the jobs and when they were finished, our lawn looked the best ever.

My point is this: If more people would hire these boys to do odd jobs, and give them a chance to earn a little pocket money, it would give them confidence and dignity. I think you would then see a sharp decline in juvenile delinquency and vandalism. There are always little jobs they can do and it wouldn't cost much.

Just give the kids a chance to prove themselves, and you will be pleasantly surprised.

The man who wears both suspenders and a belt is secure if he remembers to carry a couple of safety pins for good measure.

South needed all these safety precautions to bring home his three no-trump contract.

There were plenty of tricks available if South could only establish them but he had to race against West's spade suit and West got the jump by opening the jack.

South had to win that trick, otherwise he would have only one spade stopper. Then South had to find a way to collect nine tricks before the defense could get five. Should the club suit behave properly there would be 10 tricks—five clubs, three hearts, one spade and one diamond. It became apparent that clubs was the suit to work on. South could take and lose a club finesse with safety because he would be finessing into West and South could afford to let West get the lead.

Therefore South led a club toward dummy's ace. His suspenders and belt were both functioning properly up to the point when West produced the queen of clubs.

South paused to get out his safety pins. Then he played a low club from dummy. His original plan had been to keep East out of the lead. He was not going to change it.

West made his best play He led a low diamond but South was working on nine tricks and went right up with dummy's ace. Then he ran off four clubs and three hearts for his contract. He tried for a 10th by leading a diamond toward dummy but East got in with the king and was able to lead a spade to his partner.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY—Dirt was so thick on the Venetian blinds in the house we recently moved into that they looked as if they had not been cleaned for at least five years. After I said it would take hours to scrub them, my husband suggested taking them to a do-it-yourself car wash, which I did. I laid them on the floor of the car wash and sprayed away. For 50 cents and 15 minutes of time they came out sparkling white.

MRS. K. B.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—At a recent auction, I bought a two-quart pewter pitcher that is extremely dull and tarnished. Please give me a few Pointers on how to rejuvenate its finish.—SANDRA

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Margaret that I have found some baking soda on a wet dish cloth and a bit of rubbing removes the brown stains from my glass oven door.

MRS. V. K.

DEAR POLLY—This is for Margaret, who has trouble cleaning the glass windows on her oven door. I solved this by using a razor-blade scraper, after having used every other method I knew without success. After CAREFULLY scraping so you don't scratch the glass, use either warm water and soap or a window spray cleaner to polish the glass. This worked very well on my stove.

Families who will be taking long trips can relieve the boredom of a lengthy drive by taking the letters on the license plates of cars ahead and using these letters as the first letters of words that can be made into an original quote as, for instance, L F B, "LET FUN BE." This has proven very interesting when driving on throughways or where there is little scenery.—PEGGIE

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

News from Paris says that buttons, beads and chains are IN! Very slim black coats have magnificent buttons of gold or silver. Black evening dresses have madly glittering necklaces sewn on the dresses. Gold or heavy silver cord is seen as straps and some of the cords go down the side of the dress and are woven into a purse which hangs to the knee.

Charcoal is the color for smart simple suits and a soft gray is very popular. Belts are back, and many are made suede with fringed ends.

Go through your wardrobe and see what can be done to add a touch of this new fashion fun.

* * *

Scarves are even more fashionable than ever. Simple dresses of jersey or sheer wool have a long side pocket and a scarf trails down to below the knees. Suits look different just by the way the scarf is folded, twisted or arranged. A wardrobe of scarves puts you in the Fashion set.

* * *

For at-home wear, fancy bows in black and bright colors adorn the back of your hair-do. The French roll is the resting place for a comb with tiny bows of ribbon.

* * *

A new color in this season's collection is a black-brown, deep, dark and very handsome for suits and coats. One ensemble had a black dress and the coat in the new black-brown. Very smart.

If you can sew and want a scalloped hemline, very new, just use the instant scallop-maker as designed by David Traum. These scallops give a new look to a too-long dress; just shorten it with the scallops. And this genius has designed a Hem-aid and button-hole guide. And as buttons are the Top of Fashion, you must know how to make a buttonhole.

In addition 40,000 persons are treated yearly as out-patients for "this worst type of mental illness."

About 12,000 persons are admitted annually to South African mental hospitals. Stander said, and the hospital population is growing by 500 each year.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

OUT OUR WAY

PRICILLA'S POP

SHORT RIBS

BUGS BUNNY

We The Women:

By Muriel Lawrence

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am 48, unmarried, a secretary. For the first time since my childhood, when my parents were divorced, my mother and I now live together. My home was boarding schools, for the story always was that mother had to keep me in them. I was told she had to earn money by her traveling job because my father didn't give us enough. But I don't believe this any more. My mother will sulk for days if I dine out. I've begun to doubt if she ever wanted me, loved me or cared for anyone but herself. . .

ANSWER: Don't be afraid of this new view of your mother. It does not have to end in hate of her as a self-centered person.

That end is what you're afraid of, you see. At least, it's my feeling that you're scared of this new view of her lest it force you to hate her. But it doesn't have to. Indeed, our chief reason for glorifying other people is terror of hating them if we see them as they are. Thus, for years we'll tell ourselves that mother loves us when, in fact, she cannot do it. We'll lie to ourselves, not because we so need her love but because of what the truth will make us feel.

But the truth about mother doesn't have to so destroy us. Not if we will grant ourselves the merciful time we need to get used to it.

At which point I quote a psychiatrist for whom I have vast respect, Dr. John L. Schimel. Speaking of what he calls "a more objective view" of a parent (or anyone else, for that matter), he says:

"It need not destroy all feeling for the person. It seems rather the springboard for mature confrontation of loneliness, our distinctiveness from others, death and its inevitability. From this solitary eminence love attains new dimension. Or perhaps even first becomes possible."

In other words, your new view of mother, given time, can produce new feeling for her far more real than all the glorifying idolatry you lavished on her as a child. It can produce inglorious acceptance of another human being who has, like so many of us, missed the boat.

So, the fact you have begun to outgrow what you yourself call the "story" of your mother's enforced abandonment of you as a child is no cause for fear. It was a bedtime story—comforting fiction for a little girl who needed its comfort. But you're no longer that little girl. And the comfort now is not trust in stories anyone tells you. It is trust in yourself—and in what your own experience tells you.

New Deep-Ocean Ship Will Hunt Lost Subs

By JIM STROTHMAN
Associated Press Writer

A revolutionary deep-ocean search and recovery ship is on the drawing boards and scheduled to begin sea trials within two years. If successful, it will greatly bolster the nation's ability to locate submarines lost at sea.

Working with Navy deep submergence rescue submarines to be deployed beginning in 1970, the new search ship offers hope that Skorpion and Thresher-type submarines sunk in the future can be found rapidly enough to save their crews.

Billed as "the largest and most advanced deep-ocean search and recovery vessel ever planned," the $5 million ship will be built jointly by Aluminum Company of America, headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Ocean Science and Engineering Inc. of Washington, D.C.

The heavyweight ship is to be named the "Alcoa Seaprobe," and—with an overall length of 24 feet and 50-foot-wide beam—will become the largest all-aluminum vessel ever launched.

Utilizing patented techniques and equipment, the surface ship "will possess the ability to hold its position in rough seas; search, core, drill, and sample mineral deposits on the sea floor, and locate and retrieve objects as heavy as 200 tons more than a mile beneath the surface," Alcoa spokesmen said.

Looking like an ocean liner with a towering oil derrick thrusting skyward from its mid-section, the vessel's vast potential stems from its power to probe the sea floor to depths far beyond the reach of most advanced deep-diving submarines and then to seek out, grasp and retrieve heavy objects which submersibles cannot lift because of their own limited buoyancy.

Unlike deep-diving submarines, which have limited range and station-keeping ability, the Seaprobe is being designed under a concept that the best way to find something on the ocean floor is to use a safe and well equipped observation outpost on the sea surface.

From the derrick mounted string of drill pipe will be lowered to the ocean bottom. The long pipe can serve either to support coring or drilling equipment, or to bear search sensors and recovery gear, officials said.

During an undersea search, a streamlined unmanned container—shaped much like a large tear drop—will be attached to the lower end of the pipe. Peering out from the container will be high-powered lights, television cameras, sonar and magnetometer sensors.

On the surface above, technicians in an observation and control room will watch the television and sonar signals conducted by a cable inside the pipe.

With sensors able to look at thousand-foot wide swaths of the ocean bottom and a Seaprobe's range of 10,000 miles, vast areas of the sea floor will be covered with far more detail and greater speed than now possible, officials said.

Once an object of interest is found, the pipe will be retracted and devices attached to the end which can first blast away silt, then grasp and lift the object to the surface. The Seaprobe, to be manned by a crew of 40, will be able to haul up objects weighing up to 200 tons from depths of up to 6,000 feet.

Submarines the size of Thresher and Scorpion weigh more than 200 tons, but research submersibles such as the Alvin could be retrieved. So could space hardware, weapons, many downed airplanes, art objects, treasure and other things of importance now lost at sea.

If the Seaprobe pinpointed the location of a large sunken submarine, Navy deep-sea rescue vehicles now being designed could be used to save the crew.

CAMPAIGNING in Vietnam while his father takes part in a different campaign at home, Randy Agnew, son of the Republican vice-presidential nominee, lugs a bag of cement. Randy, a SeaBee Petty Officer Third Class, was helping repair a damaged bridge in Hue.

Police Study Both Sides Of Law

COVINA, Calif. (AP) — Two wimen walking along Los Angeles' skid row turned into a parking lot.

One pulled a bottle from his pocket and they shared a drink.

As if from nowhere, two uniformed Los Angeles policemen appeared. They spread-eagled the wimen against a wall, searching them.

He was describing the "empathy" part of an elaborate training program for the 44 man Covina police department that has attracted wide notice in police circles.

Ferguson's "empathy" approach—providing the officer a firsthand experience on the other side of the law—has given participants a valuable insight into the emotional reactions of persons facing arrest.

"It take imagination, ability and capability to make a good officer," Ferguson says. And the 43-year-old chief, who looks more like a college teacher—which he is part-time—adds that "awareness on the part of the officer" is very important.

Since Ferguson inaugurated the "empathy" approach in 1967, his men have been booked in jails as suspects, walked picket lines and lived on skid row.

The training has broadened into academic channels too. All but two department members are enrolled in college.

Covina pays the tuition and book costs for college study, yielding what Ferguson calls successful, varied approaches to department problems. The college work is not limited to police or public administration studies.

Ferguson, who became a policeman in 1950, says he once had an attitude common to many officers: "Who says I need to change?" But when he enrolled in college, association with people expressing more than one view of a problem began to open his eyes.

"I realized that there would not be enough police officers to go around so it seemed logical to try to develop the ones we did train men in the "how to's" of police work.

One thing Ferguson emphasizes is following through on complaints. When somebody gripes about a traffic summons, a check is made.

One complaint recently wound up in the city manager's office. The officer had been extremely rude, according to the citizen, and the citizen had a bad attitude, according to the officer.

Ferguson called the citizen and asked him if he would like to ride on an eight-hour police shift. He then contacted the officer and told him he would be taking a member of the community with him to see how police operate.

By the time the shift was over, the chief says, the two were friends and both had a better understanding of one another's positions.

The future?

Ferguson plans to remain at Covina, where he says he is "working in a laboratory."

He's serious about it too. He recently turned down a much higher paying job on the faculty of a midwestern university.

A Problem

GLASGOW, Mont. (AP) — The school board recently ruled girls' dresses must reach the knee, but a survey showed Glasgow stores carry nothing as long as knee-length skirts.

"We can't buy them any more," said one perplexed clothier.

Mothers plan to bring the matter up at the Wednesday night meeting of the board. Current regulations say the girls will be suspended upon first offense and called before the board with their parents on a second offense.

When members of royalty died in ancient times, they were not only provided with their own house and furnishings, but their servants were also put to death to serve their masters in their tomb house.

Seminole County Construction Up 100%

Permits Total $16.6 Million In 11 Months

By DONNA ESTES

New construction value in Seminole County during the 11 months elapsed of the fiscal year so far is nearly double that of the entire 1966-67 year, Robert Brown, county zoning director, told The Sanford Herald today. Brown said with one month remaining before close of the fiscal year building permits for construction valued at $16.6 million have been issued by his office in comparison with $8.6 million for all of the previous year.

The director informed that the building boom is not being seen only in one phase of construction but is well balanced between commercial ventures and new home building. "We've had $3 million to $4 million worth of apartments, several million's worth of industrial buildings such as General Dynamics and Miami Brick and churches and schools as well as single family residences."

In the month of August, the county issued 134 permits for construction valued at $1,275,694. During the same period last year for building valued at $1,103,061.

Sanford's August total was 59 permits for $118,137 compared to construction value of $94,230 in August, 1967. Calendar year to date sees total of $1,897,472 in new construction in the county seat.

City of Casselberry's $3,378,076 in new construction from January 1 through Aug. 31 is for the most part single family dwellings. August saw permits with total value of $560,100 for 44 one family dwellings, two commercial buildings, two additions and two swimming pools. Great advance has been made since the same period last year when new construction in the south end city totaled $14,800.

Altamonte Springs, at the same, has issued permits valued at $1,356,839 in the eight months of the calendar year. In August the total was $268,200 worth of construction in comparison with $203,120 during August, 1967.

Local CAP Joins Hunt For Plane

Two Civil Air Patrol airplanes left Flying Seminole Ranch today to join in a search for a missing plane. The search planes are flown by 1st Lt. Errol Simmons and S/M Wayne Robinson. Observers are Chaplain Gr. E. Hodges and Cadet Helman.

The missing plane is a Piper Cherokee PA-28 (Color is green [illegible] piloted by Robert C. Redd, of Plymouth, Mich., and aboard with him were Redd's wife, brother and their three-year-old son.

The missing plane left Valdosta, Ga. Friday night en route to St. Petersburg. No flight plan was filed.

Others aiding in the search are 1st Lt. Don Knight and Sgt. George Jansen. Headquarters for the search mission today is in Gainesville.

Joe Gazil's original grocery (top) opened in 1950 and named the "Tip Top," was brought tumbling down this afternoon to reveal the new "Park And Shop Supermarket" (below) on Fourth Street at Sanford Avenue. City Budget To Be Aired

Time is rapidly turning into a major factor for the Sanford City Commission's efforts toward adoption of 1968-69 fiscal budget. Still left to be settled are questions like: Will there be a tax increase and, if so, how much? Will city employes be given a pay raise and if so, how much?

Answers to some of these questions may come tonight when the city fathers will attempt to decide budget problems and the tax situation. Both subjects are synonymous with the other and the solving of one will effect the solution of the other.

Still to be resolved is the general governmental budget, utility budget and level of tax assessment based on value of property.

Present tax millage is 16 mills, including debt service, and this must be reduced to 10; almost insuring a rise in tax assessments.

City recently completed an inventory into county's evaluation of city property and discovered that city's tax rolls were only about 10 per cent less than county's figures. With this information, it is reliably thought that the commissioners will bring city's assessment up to county's figures.

There are two reasons for this assumption: first, it is the state law and second and even a better reason, city needs money, and this is the easiest, quickest way to obtain cash to balance list of expenditures with projected revenue and maybe have enough left over to insure city employes a pay raise.

Explore Future

The labor market is changing as new discoveries offer opportunities never before available. In "CAREER CORNER" — beginning today on page 5A of The Herald — a leading researcher explains new and traditional career opportunities.

Whatever the commission does, it must do in haste, since all budgets, tax rates and etc., must be approved and read in form of a resolution before commission twice before adoption. Everything must be completed by October 1.

DR. EARL WELDON

SJC Prexy Gets $ Hike

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole Junior College board of trustees at its regular monthly meeting last night voted to raise the salary of president Earl Weldon to $20,000 annually.

The increase amounted to $2,500 over Dr. Weldon's former pay and is retroactive to July 1, start of current fiscal year.

Vernon Mize, a trustee of the two-year junior college, moved to increase the president's salary by approximately 14 per cent.

The college's teaching staff, with exception of Weldon, received an increase recently, when the school's 1968-69 budget was adopted.

This is the second pay increase given Weldon since he became the school's chief executive three years ago. He received a starting salary of $15,000 and was upped to $17,500 over a year ago when SJC was under the guidance of county School Board. State severed the connection with the School Board effective past July 1, when all Florida junior colleges were placed under state control. Only local School Board member remaining concerns the nomination by board, of two persons, to be presented to Gov. Claude Kirk for his approval of one as college trustee.

In discussions preceding the pay hike and with Dr. Weldon excusing himself from the room, it was brought out by Mize that, even with raise, Weldon's pay is still among the lowest in similar state circumstances, but it was felt that a larger hump could not be made at this time.

Other board members agreed to the increase with S. Joseph Davis, trustee board chairman, observing that SJC has to be competitive with the four other junior schools surrounding the college. "They are all paying their presidents more," he commented.

Salary schedules of 17 other state junior college presidents were compared and Dr. Weldon's pay was next to lowest, the other school listed $18,000 as president's salary.

Mrs. Thelma Clonts, trustee, reasoned that local people are

16,492 On School Rolls

Seminole County schools opened their doors for the 1968-69 term Tuesday and 16,492 students said goodbye to summer vacation and prepared for the coming nine months of study.

The total enrollment at the 25 county learning institutions was under the projected 16,629 students predicted by Walter Teague, school finance officer, before opening day. Teague was off his count by 137, but expressed the belief that total would eventually reach the expected mark.

Compared with last year's 16,790 figure, compiled at end of term, it was obvious that the recent exodus of Navy personnel did not greatly affect enrollment.

South Seminole Junior High with double sessions is tops in number of students with 1,586; next high enrollment was at Lyman High with 1,208 pupils.

Seminole High School came in third with a 1,083 enrollment; Sanford Junior High student body reached to 1,063 and Pine Crest came in fifth with 1,029 students.

Teague said Pine Crest was overcrowded and added that something would have to be done to alleviate the situation.

Complete first day attendance at other county schools were as follows:

Zoo, Park Group Eyed

Seminole County Chamber of Commerce projects committee today began an action which will lead to the formation of a steering committee made up of representatives from all local civic clubs and organizations involved in community efforts to re-locate Sanford zoo and establish a proposed Lake Monroe Park.

Projects committee chairman Thomas McDonald was directed to write a letter to all local clubs and groups requesting that each organization appoint two of its members to a steering committee, whose purpose will be to work in acquiring land for Lake Monroe project.

Appointed members will meet at a luncheon with projects committee within next two weeks to formulate plans and name a chairman to direct acquisition program. Chairman McDonald said he would work with John Krider, Chamber manager, in setting up exact date for conclave.

McDonald observed that several civic groups already had raised some funds for zoo projects through various promotions and mentioned that before matching funds from state or federal agency can be obtained it will be necessary for local participation.

The Lake Monroe Park project consists of a proposal to obtain land on lake front from Interstate 4 to Sanford Marina.

Park would house zoo and other attractions designed to lure travelers into area as they motor toward the coming Disney-World complex, expected to be completed by 1970.

School Enlarges

Seminole County Business School is offering several new courses this year. Advanced students may enroll in legal or medical courses if they wish to specialize in either one of these fields. The courses will include the particular terminology of its specialized field, office procedures, actual case histories, dictation, etc.

A course entitled "Charm for the Modern Woman" also is being planned for the fall schedule.

Any adult interested in registering for these or any of the other business courses is urged to do so as soon as possible. It is still possible to join most of the classes.

Youth Held As 'Nudist'

A 19-year-old Casselberry man has been arrested on two counts on indecent exposure on warrants taken by two 15-year-old girls who complained that Edgar Lee Totten of 1439 Lake Shore Drive, exposed his nude body to them in last Thursday afternoon incident on Old Oxford Road in Fern Park.

According to the report, the girls were horse back riding in the area, when a man suddenly jumped out of bushes near them. The tweagers fled the scene and reported the man to the authorities, who, after an investigation, charged Totten with being the man.

Oviedo

Pearson, Buckelew Win Seats

Oviedo voters, 308 of a possible 687, went to the polls Tuesday to elect one new councilman and return two to office for another term.

James Pearson, taking 210 votes over opponent Harold McBride's 79, was elected to the group 5 post vacated by W. R. Clonts.

Incumbents returned were Council Chairman W. H. Martin, with 216 votes, in group 3, and C. K. Buckelew, 188, over Justice of Peace R. A. Johnson's 124 for the group 4 seat.

Absentee ballots, still to be counted, are not sufficient in number to make any differences in results of the races, election officials advised.
