AN MAKING WORLD RECORD

A. Winston, General Agent of the Pilot Life Insurance Company for Central Florida, to Stage Unique Campaign for World Record

Mr. Eubanks of Searcy, Ark., a very small town, won a World Record for Searcy recently in a 15-day production campaign. Troy Eubanks held the record for a while, 150 applications; then Portland, Ohio, at 227; Anderson, S. C., at 320; Meridian, Miss., at 24; Nashville, Tenn., at 367; and now the honor belongs to Searcy, Ark., at 408 applications in a 30-day period. But not for long, for so good people of Sanford, who do do anything they desire, will save the opportunity to take this distinctive World Record away from Searcy and make it hard for any other city to take it away from Sanford.

Beginning on April 15th and ending for two weeks, Mr. Winston is going to do his level best to win for Sanford and his agency, World Record in the insurance field, by writing the largest number of life insurance applications ever written by one man in a similar period of time.

Mr. Winston wants the Sanford people to help him cut Mr. Eubanks' time in half and exceed his total business.

Sanford on Front Page. By winning this World Record, Sanford will go on the front page of big letters before the eyes of the entire insurance world, and the Sanford agency will be well found in its use of usefulness and service to the people of the community.

This gives every one an easy, non-expensive way to help our city instantly, simply by allowing a small part of their life insurance increases to a specific time when will react in much honor and distinction for Sanford.

AMERICAN MOVIE HEADS TO PURSUE BRITISH INVASION

British Film Makers Declare Empire Being Americanized By Subtle Propaganda Of American Motion Picture

LONDON, Mar. 23.—The moaning and wringing of hands over the sad state of the British moving picture film business waxes louder day by day. Perhaps the public cares, but it shows no inclination to cease crowding into the hundreds of British theaters where American films are run off almost exclusively year in and year out.

The British film makers cast many an envious eye at Hollywood, and they lift their voices, fervently hoping to catch the ears of both government and the people, and protest that even England's own dominions and colonies are being Americanized by the subtle propaganda contained in the celluloid products of the studios of California and New York. Last their arguments fall on deaf ears, trade, the very life blood of the empire, is brought into play. It would seem that trade has broken itself of the habit of following flags; these days it follows the film. There is a very active campaign on to have the Baldwin government slap a heavy tax on foreign films and help the tottering movie magnates of this country until their business grows up and becomes steady on its feet. The government has so far kept silent upon its intentions, if any, as regards the movies.

Meanwhile dollar-denominated magnates of the movies bristle in from

Mexican Town Is Making Plea For Safety And System

TEPIC, Nayarit, Mexico, Mar. 28.—This city, capital of Nayarit state, is enjoying, rather enduring, two sets of "presidents" or mayors with their allied officials and assistants.

The recent election was criticized by the "mins" for the ground of irregularity, and they refused to turn over the keys of the treasury to the other faction, which claimed victory in the balloting. The result has been administrative chaos, and business men are hoping that one side or the other soon will be ousted, so the city can settle down and enjoy its usual calm.

Since the advent of the dual administration, two sets of lean and hungry tax collectors have been besieging the stores and business houses, presenting their respective demands. At first, through a practice evolved of wisdom during the revolution both sides were placated by donations. But the Tepic fares has continued so long and money is so scarce that the "adding houses" refuse to come through with more "tax" contributions to either faction. An appeal has been sent to President Calles to straighten out the tangle.

The new regime recently scored one smashing victory. By sheer force it drove from the streets all policemen of the old administration.

Hostilities In Los Angeles Take Move To 'Oust Squatters'

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 27.—The old variety of young man-about-town who finds it convenient to while away the hours in a comfortable lobby chair in a fashionable hotel, whose reflex preclude his permanent residence there, has been forgotten temporarily by hotel detectives in Los Angeles. They have come to center their attention on the "squatter."

Squatters usually are tourists who come to Los Angeles, take an inexpensive room and join the cafeteria lines, but every afternoon and evening go to a smart hotel, clad in their best garments. They settle into chairs where they have a good view of the passing pageant, and there they tarry, hour after hour, while the hotel guests and their friends are often crowded out.

"Some of the sitters have favorite chairs and get angry if they find some one ahead of them" said a hotel house man. "It's all a free show, and the idea that hotel

English To Follow U. S. Milk Inspectors

LONDON, Mar. 24.—An International Milk Congress in London, similar to that held in the United States last year, is under consideration by the ministries of agriculture and health. Veterinary opinion in this country is so impressed with steps taken by the United States to prevent the spread of tuberculosis through milk taken from infected cows, that strong representations made to governmental authorities here are expected to result in similar measures in England.

Two Unidentified Men Found in Gas Tank Car

A True Story With A Happy Ending

Having the bad habit of the movie habit, the cigarette habit, the punch-board habit, the joy-ride habit, and a rather toney taste in clothes habit, a young man of moderate income who was married a few months ago to a young woman possessing a corresponding collection of money-spending habits was acquiring a set of "jumpy nerves" and a gloomy visage that threatened to wreck this marriage barque when an interesting thing occurred that righted the sails with prospering breezes and sent it voyaging into happy seas.

The wife had to go to a dentist's office to have a tooth treated. While awaiting her turn she picked up one of the invariably stale magazines that are part of a waiting room's furnishings, and her eyes fell on a caption, "Building Peace O' Mind." Now there was nothing quite so absent in the life of this young woman as "peace of mind," so she deftly removed the article from the magazine, slipped it into her bag, and when she got home she sat down and read it word for word.

It was old advice, but it was actually new to this girl who had never heard anything like it in her harum-scarum, irresponsible life in her father's home. The article dealt with the subject of "business management for the home" and opened with questions that seemed to be addressed directly to this worried girl, "Do you budget your funds? Do you keep books? Are you using common sense in your expenditures? Are you insisting that your husband puts aside a steady sum for a family saving fund?"

Now it happened that the fretful young husband dashed home that afternoon, ready for a grand flare-up that would "end the farce," as he grimly termed it, when he found his wife so earnestly engaged in mysterious figures on a sort of tally sheet, his curiosity compelled him to slip noiselessly in behind her to see what was up.

You know the rest. Neither of the young people is a fool nor an idiot. A frank discussion of the budget idea resulted in their attempt to establish one. The article said that "generally speaking, the safe plan is to spend no more than 25 percent for rent; no more than 20 percent for clothing; no more than 20 percent for food. That's a total of 65 percent, leaving 35 percent out of which about 15 percent can be set aside as a rule for insurance, taxes, etc., leaving a minimum of 20 percent with which to play."

Then the article explained that it is how you use that 20 percent that determines your future financial safety. The young man has recovered his pleasant smile. His nerves are calm. He has had to "cut out" the habits that were using up too much of the fund for the budget. His wife has done likewise. And they talk with earnest confidence of that coming day, when the 20 percent to "play" will insure some "gorgeous times."

Queer and Sinister

In one of the illustrated sections of a Sunday newspaper is a fine photograph of the interior of one of the airplanes used for passenger service in England. The view shows six comfortable looking seats, upholstered in leather, on each side of a center aisle very much like the aisle of a railroad passenger coach. Travelers enter the air-car, walk along the aisle to their seats from which they can look out of side windows down upon the country over which they fly.

That type of air plane, it seems, is quite common in Europe, and it is the ordinary thing to fly from London to Paris or to Berlin, or to Rome. Traveling through the air is not regarded as hazardous, and the planes in use are as superior to American planes as a de luxe automobile is superior to an ox-cart.

On British lines, alone, last year the number of passengers carried was 54,240. French lines exceeded this number. C. M. Ripley, of the General Electric Company, recently returned from Europe and reported that he traveled 5,000 miles by water, 2,000 miles by air, and only 800 miles by railroad.

But in this country there is no opportunity for air travel like that. Here we are just TALKING about the need of improving the air service. We are fifteen years behind the countries of Europe in our air-travel achievements. Do you get that? Do you get it, that if you would hunt up an automobile built in 1910 and stand it beside a 1925 model you would get a fair comparison between the American airplanes of today and those of Europe?

Europe is already a network of great organized uniformly operated airplane routes. And so safe is this travel, insurance companies cover the risks at small premiums. Only one fatality in 2,663,300 miles of air travel on the British and Dutch air lines is the record for the last five years.

And while what Europe is doing in the development of air lines is extremely interesting, it is also exceedingly disturbing. Just what is obstructing the development of airplane service in the United States? Is some sinister power at work crippling the nation's war strength and curtailing its ability to increase to increase its efficiency in countless other ways?

Let's have an explanation of this queer tardiness in the growth and use of airplanes in America.

FAILURE IS, in a sense, the highway to success, inasmuch as every discovery of what is false leads us to seek earnestly after what is true, and every fresh experience points out some form of error which we shall afterward carefully avoid.—John Keats.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

A Shakespearean actor was left stranded in a small town in Michigan. This was in the days when there still were Shakespearean actors.

He obtained board at the local hotel until a remittance arrived to take him back to Chicago. As he had no funds for tipping purposes he got scant attention from the servants.

One day he pushed and pushed the push button in his room without getting an answer. Then he got out of bed, put on his trousers, and overcoat, turned the coat collar up about his bare throat and ventured through the hallway until he came to the rotunda opening down upon the office floor.

"Hello! Hello!" he called in his best speaking voice.

"Water want?" answered back a youthful menial impertinently.

"Hello," said the Thespian with much dignity, "I desire my laundry to be brought to me forthwith!"

"Gwan!" said the boy, "You didn't have but half a shirt when you hit this town."

"That," said the actor, "is the laundry to which I refer."

There is an English church where a lace hangs in the porch. It is used for communications for the pastor. Cranks put their notes in it, but occasionally it does fulfill its purpose. Recently the minister preached, by request, a sermon on "Recognition of Friends in Heaven," and during the week the following note was found in the box: "Dear Sir—I should be much obliged if you could make it convenient to preach to your congregation on 'The Recognition of Friends on Earth,' as I have been coming to your church for nearly six months, and nobody has taken any notice of me yet."

The Little Stock Raisers. Common Sense Signs. No more Song? Nonsense. The Eugenists Mean Well.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

PRACTICALLY ALL the little stocks raised their heads and sang for joy at the closing hour of the Stock Exchange yesterday, as violets and pansies lift up their heads after a shower.

What it was that made the stocks feel so cheerful you may decide for yourself. It was complete foolishness that made so many get rid of good railroad stocks at low prices, merely because the St. Paul road went into the hands of a receiver.

IN HIGH finance things are managed by high financiers. And next to making a railroad pay big dividends the most profitable thing you can do is to turn it into a receivership. A railroad in a receivership is like a chicken cooking on the stove. It's good news for somebody.

A STATEMENT by Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, regarding the security of France and other European nations indicates that common sense and sanity are gradually reasserting themselves in Europe.

That Europe's nations cannot go on forever competing against each other in armament, or coalitions built up one against another, is becoming clear.

THE BRITISH are the most practical, the French the most logical, of European nations. The Germans, Italians, Poles, Greeks and Russians realize, because they can't help realizing it, that war does not pay. It ruins the vanquished and bankrupts the victors.

THE CHOICE of Europe now is some common sense arrangement that would give a chance for peaceful development to all of the nations. Germany and Austria included, or continuation of the struggle for supremacy in armament and population, that must end inevitably in such disaster as the world has never seen.

The sensible speech by the British Foreign Secretary, and its welcome in France, by all except a very bitter minority, are hopeful signs.

PROFESSOR THOROLD, scientific German musician opera with orchestra only, no human singing, no human voices. Opera is growing too big for the human voice, and it can no longer do justice to the creations of musical genius. So says the professor, and it may be so. But if the professor imagines that any orchestra can replace the human voice in Wagner's "Spring Song," or "Evening Star" song, he is mistaken.

A PLAIN little girl with a simple little voice, singing "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon" can't do all that a banging, whanging fiddling orchestra can do.

But that simple voice CAN do things that the orchestra CANT do, and never will do.

Therefore, young ladies taking singing lessons needn't worry. Patti, or Jenny Lind, will always find a job.

IN NEW YORK City, assorted high brow, physicians, psychologists, eugenists, economists, sociologists, many of them from abroad, are discussing birth control.

The question is how to enable the mother to regulate and control the size of her family. Who but the mother has a right to say what size the family shall be? asks the birth control advocate.

SUCH QUESTIONS are important. Some believe that war would end if fewer children were born. That's nonsense. War starts in the brains of a few—conquerors, financiers or autocrats—not in the mind of the dull mob.

If anybody imagines that the Japanese wouldn't want part of California, if there were only thirty million instead of sixty million Japanese, doesn't know human nature.

THE EUGENISTS in the birth control convention plan for a better race by "artificial selection," which would mean picking the right husband for the right wife. You can do that with cows, horses, etc. But with them you only breed a body. Among human beings you produce that very mysterious thing called a soul, and that's different.

You might marry a John L. Sullivan to Hypatia, or a Michael Angelo Moses to the Venus of Milo, and be bitterly disappointed in results.

On the other hand, a tall, fierce country girl, Nancy Hanks, probably unable to read or write, marries a local noble do well, and the result is Abraham Lincoln. The Lord seems to reserve for himself certain problems.

SOONER OR LATER

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. HOLLY

Every time I see the lake at Palm Beach filled with yachts it makes me think about Lake Monroe and the wonderful possibilities we have here and the time we have lost in allowing these opportunities to slip. Lake Monroe is the finest bit of water for pleasure craft in the state and with the upper St. Johns and the lower St. Johns river there is no end to our possibilities.

There were so many high lights at Palm Beach that it would take a week to even start to tell about all the big things in Rotary and the fine entertainments pulled by the folks at Palm Beach and West Palm Beach. The readings of Eddy Geist at the banquet at the Royal Poinciana Hotel Friday night was worth the trip down there.

Did not see H. P. Smith, or Joe Earman or any of those folks down there who we would like to have seen so much—it was just too busy a time to see anyone unless you happened up on them like Frank Gonzalez happened on two of his old friends who used to "Paint" with him.

There is always a fly in the ointment or bugs in the cotton or worms in the celery to spoil an otherwise perfect day. Just here at the height of the celery season when millions were being made by celery growers some guy discovered that worms were liable to destroy the crop and immediately the price dropped. I wonder just what would happen if nothing happened to any of the crops in the United States for one season. The calamity howlers would probably get to a sanitarium.

It makes me impatient every time I go away and see what other cities are doing. Of course I know that some day Sanford. In Lake County it is difficult for Sanford to get a sign times we cannot vision them. We have so much here to make a thriving commercial community but so few business men of Sanford are really interested in helping to put it over.

There should be signs at the Cheney Highway crossing into Seminole county telling the people that Sanford lies this way. At present we cannot put up a sign on Orange county soil. It sounds funny but this is a fact. At the Indian River junction there is a sign of the Florida Automobile Association that reads: "This Way to Orlando." Not a word about Sanford. In Lake County it is difficult for Sanford to get a sign on the road. What is the matter with folks? Are they afraid of Sanford's growing popularity?

Henry Ford is now working on airplanes. I am looking forward to the day when Ed Higgins will be demonstrating airplanes instead of Lizzies. Ed would look good spinning around in the ambient atmosphere in a Fordless Ford in Hand. Many guests are arriving in Sanford for the spring season and we should get up something for their entertainment. Tourists like to linger in Sanford on their way north. They love the farming and the lakes and rivers and the river trip to Jacksonville. They would stay longer if we would put on something for them while they were here. Of course the Chautauqua next week is good and will entertain home folks and visitors as well.

And speaking of celery and holding the same by storage reminds me that many years ago I advocated the holding of celery right here in cold storage and pointed out that the growers would save enough in one crop to build a cold storage house here. It would hold enough celery to keep the market steady and instead of giving the celery away to be stored in northern markets it could be stored here. But you cannot reason with the growers here any more than you can reason with them in other parts of the county. However, the day is coming when celery will be cut in half here and the same land will not be planted year after year, when all celery will be washed and stored, when the spirit of standing together will prevail—but I will be dead.

The new hotel will start this week but I will be in Gainesville at the Press Meeting and cannot possibly give the enterprise by blessing. However there will probably be other full fighters here to attend the christening and tell the people how it was done. Of course we all know how it was done but it receives more color to tell it differently each time. What the real people are interested in is not who started the hotel but how soon will it be finished and the tourists gathered here.

Some of the recent auction sales in and around Sanford remind me of the following from the Tarpon Springs Leader: "Ladies and Gentlemen, here is the opportunity of a lifetime. A beautiful business lot, only two miles from town, twenty-five foot frontage. What am I offered for this wonderful chance, who'll start it at a hundred? Let me hear you one time."

A baseball fan in the crowd turned to his companion who was slightly deaf. "I hope St. Louis won," he shouted. "One, I'm bid, who'll make it two? yelled the auctioneer. "I hope so, too," shouted the deaf man.

"Two, I hear, who'll make it three?" "Yes, it's several miles to Wall Springs," a stout man was telling a thin lady, "I think it's three."

"Three hundred, who'll make it four?" "Four," cried a golfer on the adjoining links. "Four, I'm offered, who'll make it five?"

"I'll bid five hundred," said a small man with a large mustache. "Who'll make it six, who'll make it six, who'll make it a half?—it's going, friends, it's going, going—SOLD to that gentleman down there, for five hundred dollars a front foot," the auctioneer said with a look of relief on his face.

"After a few sympathetic bystanders had carried the auctioneer away the crowd adjourned in the checkers and horseshoes for the balance of the day.

SATURDAY SERMON

BY DR. F. D. KING

"WILLING TO SHOVEL" OR DOING THE IMPOSSIBLE. Matthew 25:14-20.

If you will go with me this morning to the heart of the parable which we have just read, you will learn at least one lesson concerning the return of the Lord Jesus. Very surely we shall see a wately full attitude taught. Very surely we should be watching for the return of Him who has gone away for a time but what shall we be doing while we are watching? The wife of a husband down on Second street leaves the city for a visit to some of her friends in another state. When she goes away she tells her husband that she will return but is not certain about the exact date. The husband watches every mail and reads with interest the letters which come constantly but he is not careful to keep the home in the condition which his wife left it. When she returns, she is met at the train and the elated husband carries her to the home, but when they reach the home, she finds that the grass has grown in the yard and has not been mowed. The beds have been used but the husband has spent all of his spare moments reading and answering her letters, and the linen has not been changed. The table ware has been used but it has not been carefully cleaned and kept.

But this man has a neighbor whose wife also went away to the mountains for a rest. This man too read with care the daily letter, and set up late at night answering those letters. With eagerness he read every letter to see just when his wife would come home. One day there came a telegram telling him that he might expect her on the next train, and at the train they greeted each other, and were soon in the home again. Her attention was at once attracted by the new coat of paint on the house, and then she saw that the yards had been carefully mowed, and all the rooms had been carefully kept. Learn at once the teaching of the parable of the two husbands. It is wisdom that we watch for the return of the Lord Jesus, and it is perhaps greater wisdom that we keep ourselves very busily engaged in the work which He has entrusted to us, so that when He returns, He will find that we have been true to the trust.

A Trust Which Should Challenge There is something very significant in the first sentence of this parable. "For it is as when a man, going into another country, called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods." I think you will agree with me when I say that Christ has shown wonderful confidence in you and me in entrusting to us the most valuable gifts in His possession. He has shown confidence in us again in making us responsible for all the Christian activities, and the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ.

What is to be the Christian ideals of this city? The Christian men and the Christian women must answer that question. What is to be the work of that class? God is depending upon the members of that class for the answer. What history will the Women's Missionary Union make? There is another opportunity with a responsibility, and the members of that body must answer that question. What is to be the history of the church? Members, the answer must be given by you. If we can just realize the truth of those about us, our thoughts and our conduct will forever be different. And that is not all; the atmosphere will be purer, the standard of living will be higher, and peace and power will be the possession of many because we have lived, and thought, and wrought.

Some time ago one of our religious papers had a series of articles under the caption, "Willing to Shovel," and these articles told how men who ultimately became millionaires began life by accepting such jobs as cleaning the manure from the sidewalks or sawing wood. We know that the foundation of colossal fortunes have been laid by taking advantage at first of little opportunities, and then the larger opportunities opened, and they were entered in the same spirit. You can Do With Your Will Power." Mr. Russell H. Conover says, "Some people pause for the opportunity when opportunity has been playing a tattoo on their reason skulls for years."

"Straightway he that received the five talents went and traded with them, and made other five talents, and made other five talents." And now the capital is doubled, and the opportunities are doubled, and it is possible to rapidly become possible. By using wisely what we have, we get what we have, and by doing what we can we have the ability to do what was formerly impossible for us. Why not advance from what are regarded as the simpler tasks to the more important, and the more responsible? Who said that you could not advance if you have the right courage to try? Who claims that you cannot reach the heights if you are ready and willing to make the right effort?

It was General Swift of Massachusetts, who in a nominating address made a very happy application of this truth when he said, "I nominate for Governor of this state a man who, when he was a farmer's boy, hoed to the end of the row." That saying, "He hoed to the end of the row," (Continued on page 5)

FLOWERS IN WOMAN'S CLUB SHOW TO BE LOCALLY GROWN

In the many newspaper accounts of Flower Shows being held all over our country just at this time, constant mention is being made of hot house specimens, and of wonderful collections being shipped from distant points. In the Flower Show which is to open in the Woman's Club house, Monday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, so far as is now known to the committee, not one single exhibit will be of anything that may not be grown and blossomed out of doors in this section of Florida.
The Florists of Sanford and Seminole County are taking great interest in spite of the fact that for this even no distinction is being made between the professional and the amateur grower of flowers. Stewart the Florist, Mr. Londenberg, Mr. E. B. Stowe, Mrs. W. A. Ginn, and T. L. Mead, specialist of Oviedo, are all entering beautiful things from their gardens in several different classifications. Of those who sell flowers, but not in a distinctly commercial way, Miss Annie Hawkins, Mr. Muse, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Henley and Mrs. Went, will all show their practical interest.
The one great aim of this show is to demonstrate the possibilities of ordinary conditions of soil and climate and to encourage the finer aspects of ornamental horticulture. Mrs. E. Markell will have a table of garden literature, an abundance of catalogues and reference books, and will gladly answer questions about varieties and times of planting. It is hoped that every garden will spare at least a little of its bounty. An arrangement of sprays is one of the things especially desired as this is rather rare here, also the varieties of legonia and acia just coming into bloom, and other shrubs that have lovely blossoms, like baubinia and the Crimson Lake Bougainvillea.

Those wishing to entertain parties during the show will be provided for by the following committee: Mrs. Walter Wight, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. Bolz and Mrs. Davis Hart. Engagements may be made through any one of these or with Mrs. MacDonald at the Hotel Montezuma.
Among those who have made reservations for Monday afternoon and evening, are Mrs. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. Henry Ward, Mrs. Stella P. Arrington and Mrs. John C. Bennett.

Four beautifully appointed tables were decorated with pink Radiance roses, snap dragons and ferns. Dorothy Perkins roses were used as favors for all except the honor guests, the places of honor guests were marked with Radiance roses.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Robert Torrence, Mrs. C. W. Clark, Mrs. R. L. Glenn, Mrs. H. R. Stevens, Mrs. Fannie McConnell, Mrs. A. J. Metcalf, Mrs. M. Minark, Mrs. Robert Hassell, Mrs. F. L. Woman's Club Board Managers To Meet

The Board of Managers of the Woman's Club will meet at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Presidents office, and all members are urged to be present. The regular business meeting of the club will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday Apr. 1, instead of its regular time of 3 o'clock, on account of the fact that the Chautauqua program will begin that afternoon. There will be a very brief business session, with no social feature.

The House Committee Dance will be given Apr. 20 at the Woman's Club, with Mrs. R. A. Newman as chairman. The date has been changed from Apr. 17 because that is the date of the big pageant to be given by the Sanford Schools.

to the end of the row," became a campaign slogan all up and down the state, and Mr. Talbot was elected by one of the greatest majorities ever given a governor in Massachusetts.
But how can we make progress in things which are more important than building a colossal fortune or being the governor of a state? We make progress in these higher realms by following the same method—by obeying the same law.

Make the best group leader in the society to which you belong, that the state has produced and the state and the nation will call for your services. Concentrate your thinking and your effort on the teaching of that Sunday School class and the winning of those who ought to be in the class; study with constant diligence how to attain the highest possible end and your efforts will be rewarded by your being ushered into a much larger field of service. Study how to win the lost about you to Jesus; speak to God often for power and wisdom and unconsciously you will grow in the finest virtues known to human intelligence, and your influence will be limited only by the boundary lines of the planet.

did not waste a moment; there was no charge of embarrassment. What did he do that made it necessary for the Master to take the money from him and give it to another? Is there anything more serious than the losing of the most valuable things of life? And yet we see those around us suffering these losses constantly. Why are so many lives impoverished by such losses? Why are so many promising careers blasted because the finest things of life are taken from those who hold them?
Christian Men and Christian Women: I remind you that God opens only those doors for us which He would have us to enter. He brings to us just the opportunities which He knows we should use and can use, and we are sinning against Him and ourselves and all the interests of the Kingdom of God in the world when we fail to use and to use in the most thoughtful way these privileges. Oh, my people, the sin of failing to make the most of these rare privileges! They are given to us at the cost of the life of our Lord! They are given to us at the cost of God's greatest wisdom! When a door opens before this church, how criminal for those of us who are members to fail to enter it! When an opportunity comes to you as an individual, an opportunity for doing that which God has designed that you shall do, use it and use it wisely. If we fail to do this, the chance passes and passes forever. God has opened the door of privilege for the churches. If we fail to enter, the door will close, and we must assume the responsibility, and pay the penalty. And what a penalty it will be! "Take the talent from him," is not that severe punishment? But listen: "Cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth." God has given to us our opportunities at a tremendous cost, and what a tragedy it is to deal with them carelessly! In the name of Jesus, I beseech you let us determine here and now that we will use these rare gifts in the spirit in which they were given, and then Christ Jesus Himself will say to us: "Well done * * * I will make thee ruler over many things." "When Jesus comes to reward His servants, Whether it be noon or night, Faithful to Him, will He find us watching, With our lamps all trimmed and bright? Have we been true to the trust He left us? Do we seek to do our best? If in our hearts there is naught condemns us, We shall have a glorious rest."

DAYTONA TEAM IS CAL CONTEST INNER FRIDAY

Daytona High School Plavers Show Makings of Excellent Aggregation Though Gained Lost By 11-9 Score

(BY R. L. SHIPP)
A game featured by loose play by the Sanford High School ball team went down in defeat Friday afternoon in their first game of the season, with Daytona the final score being 11-9. The pitching and slow infield caused a greater number of hits to be made than should have according to the number of hits poked out. However, the aggregation showed up much better than was expected of them in their initial fray. Weak spots were found which can be remedied in the next game easily. Only two men who started the work for the locals was the effective hurler of the two, giving up only two hits in innings, but poor support provisions undoing Woodruff, who had him, threw quite a damper on the Daytona camp when they gave him heating the "ole with his left arm and right when they could be heard muttering—'Oh Lord, a southpaw!'"

Formation In Chickens Found

Break formation that resembles a cluster of white grapes, and in the dressing of the body for cooking, was brought to the Sanford Herald office Friday morning. Subsequently the same was carried to the Basket Market it was put on display. It had been the property of Schmidt, 1201 Elm Street, and had appeared to be in excellent health. The freak was of such size that, in comparison with the remainder of the flock, it seemed to be of almost size.

New King of Bantams

Introducing Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, the new bantamweight king. Charley acquired the title the other night by decisively defeating Eddie "Cannonball" Martin over the 16-round route at Madison Square Garden, New York. Figured as more or less of an outsider, Rosenberg tore into the chap who had been termed "the second Terry McGovern," and left no doubt as to the winner. Even Martin's staunchest admirers were forced to admit their man had been thoroughly whipped. Rosenberg is the seventh pugilist to hold the bantam crown since the termination of the World War. Whether Rosenberg can cling to the laurels for more than a limited span remains to be seen. He's shown here with his smile of victory and in ring attire.
