

Article On Taft By Zora Hurston In Post Magazine

A famous Negro writer who once washed dishes as help in Sanford kitchens is the recent author of a Saturday Evening Post article, "A Negro Voter Blazes Up Taft."

Zora Neale Hurston, born in Eatonville near Sanford, but now living in Kau Galle, is the author who through ambition, and taking advantage of her breaks has gained fame for her books on folklore, short stories and magazine articles. In her latest Post article of Dec. 8 she gives the reasons why she thinks the Negro vote as a Republican presidential candidate. She is the daughter of a Baptist minister who preached in Eatonville and Sanford and was a moderator of Florida colored Baptist convention. She worked as a girl of 14 and in her autobiography, "Dust Tracks On A Road," she vividly describes the boat trip down the St. John's from Jacksonville, where she went to school, on the old side-wheeler "City of Jacksonville" and the trip on the old ACL train to Maitland.

In her recent Saturday Evening Post article she expresses optimism over Senator Taft's chances of winning the Negro vote on his record in "throwing Bilbo out of the Senate," the writing of the Taft-Hartley Act which, she says, gives Negroes an equal opportunity where they would be discriminated against by union rules, and for his record as a "brainy" leader.

She cites Mrs. Taft as one of the Senator's strong points in getting Negro backing in Ohio. Mrs. Taft, she describes as a woman of wit and charm who is an effective speaker on her husband's behalf before colored audiences.

The Taft family background is also given in the article as part of the Senator's vote getting power among Negroes.

Garden Gate By NELL M. WILLIAMS Sanford Garden Club

BEGONIAS . . . and How to Grow Them (Part I).

The Begonias is the only horticultural genus of the family Begoniaceae. Botanists tell us that the Begonia has no genetic relationship with any other living plants. They are named for Michel Begon, a French botanist of Santo Domingo (1658-1710). They make up a large, varied group of succulent herbs or partly shrubby plants found widely distributed throughout the warm regions of the earth. Central and South America probably have more native species than all the other warm countries combined.

It is estimated that the number of species varies from 500 to 1300 and many of the natives have been introduced into cultivation. The number of varieties resulting from hybridizing and the horticultural forms developed in the gardens now runs into the thousands. This fact has resulted in a nomenclature that is still very confusing.

USES . . . Some variety of Begonia is to be found blooming every month in the year. In more ways than one the Begonia heads the list of house plants which may be looked on as permanent and annual bloomers. Many are grown for their handsome foliage, the showy flowers, summer bedding outdoors. Summer and winter under glass, in window gardens, in the full sun and in the shade. Some grow just anywhere with little care while there are those which defy the efforts of the amateur and professional. The vast group offers excellent opportunity for the collector providing he has the right growing conditions.

CLASSES . . . Dr. I. H. Bailey divides Begonias into four classes, according to the types of roots, tuberos, tuberous, rhizomatous and fibrous. Since the tuberos class has but one representative, B. Socotrana (one parent of our well-known Christmas-Flowering B.) the gardener divides his subjects into the three remaining groups. Due to the intermingling of all types the lines are not clearly defined in all cases.

De Bary Doings By KAY HENNINGER

As most of our readers know, it was a little more than four years ago that the community of De Bary was started. There was so much to do, that those who had bought land, built houses and made their houses homes, found little time for community life. To be sure, there were house parties, beach parties and a "show" or two, but it was not until May, 1948, that the big get-together for all the people of De Bary was planned.

On the last Sunday of May, more than five hundred people gathered on the grounds of the Joseph H. Schriener home for an all-day picnic. Many friends from nearby towns and cities were with us and, what was even more gratifying, neighbors who had never met before got to know each other on De Bary day. Many plans were promulgated on that day but there was a hitch. Where could we have a group meet? Where could we have a dance, concerts, motion pictures, rehearsals for plays and many other activities be enjoyed by all? We just had to have a community house.

The De Bary Civic Association, Inc., took the problem under consideration and after studying various plans, some good, some not feasible and some downright impossible, suddenly there was a bright ray of sunshine for at this time, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Schriener offered, they would donate a large corner lot overlooking a lake, for the building itself and would give the association an option on a number of adjoining lots at a nominal price. These might be purchased when and if needed for parking lot or playground.

At the December meeting the gift was accepted with much thanks, and it was decided to purchase two of the additional lots for parking space. Up to now, there had been a small building fund but all the plans seemed so nebulous and far off in the future. Now we have the land and with it the will to get going. The first step in that direction was taken on Friday evening when a record crowd filled the auditorium of the Enterprise school, which was loaned to us by our good friends in Enterprise. The entertainment was called "Through the Year" and was a series of 12 tableaux with incidental music and readings. It was written and produced by Lorothea Henninger assisted by your correspondent. We wouldn't try to name all the people who helped make the evening a success for there were so many willing workers, and each one did the job assigned to him to the best of his ability. We would not have you think us mercenary but we are rather proud of having added well over $100 to the building fund.

On second thought, we must mention by name one good friend who is too often neglected for 11 months of the year and then worked to death during the last month of the year. We mean Santa Claus! Just before curtain time, there was a commotion at the back of the auditorium and there he was with boxes of candy for all the children. He greeted them in his jolly fashion and told them he had made a special trip from the North Pole to see them.

Many of you will remember "Show Boat" when Charles Winger was in the cast. Do you remember how he beamed upon his audience when he announced his show and said, "It's only the beginning, folks, only these, beginning!" That's how we feel today as we subscribe to that other cliché, "Great oaks from little acorns grow."

Rural Common Sense By SPUDS JOHNSON

As practically all hunting in Florida is done in rural areas, farmers are especially interested in the hunting season.

Farmers own most of the land on which hunting is done, and, quite naturally, they want to bag some game for their own tables and they are interested in hunting by others on their property.

To avoid difficulties on a hunting trip, therefore, the wise thing to do before hunting on another man's property is to obtain permission from the owner. Because they have livestock on the land or because of other reasons, some farmers may not grant permission for hunting on their places, but many do permit neighbors and city folks to hunt. The farmer has a right to refuse permission for hunting on his land, and it should be respected.

Nearly every hunting season, officers receive numerous complaints from farmers whose lands have been invaded by hunters, and sometimes a hunter winds up in court as a result of failing to obtain permission. A hunting trip should be pleasant and recreational, and one way of making it so is to have the permission and good will of the owner of the land.

The University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service also calls attention to other points that are necessary for the hunting trip to be a pleasurable event: Have the proper license. Observe all regulations regarding hunting days and hours, bag limits, protected game, and guns and other equipment. Handle guns carefully. Do not carry a loaded gun in a car or into a house. Do not climb a fence with a loaded gun. Never carry a gun so it is pointing at another person, and never shoot at an object that is not plainly visible or toward other persons.

There are about 100,000 hunters—farmers and city folks—in Florida, and care and caution by all are necessary to prevent trouble and tragedy on hunting trips—occasions which should be pleasant, healthful and recreational.

Eight of the 18 men on the Notre Dame basketball squad hail from the state of Illinois.

President To Delay Notice On Clean Up

Once Fired William Willett Is Back On Government's Pay Roll Again!

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today exempted canned fried worms from price control. An EPA official says he does not know how much they cost. But it said it had found their price has a "trifling" or "insignificant" effect on the cost of living.

There were little orders for crepe suzettes, walnut sauce and canned rattlesnake meat among other things.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today again postponed an announcement of the drastic action he has promised to clean out "cronies" in government.

The White House wouldn't even say whether the announcement—originally scheduled for last week—would be made before Mr. Truman goes home to Independence, Mo., next Monday for a short Christmas stay.

Mr. Truman is not in a position to predict, Mr. Truman's Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters. There have been widespread reports that the President will set up a special unit, with Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York in a key role. Its job would be to look into allegations of corruption in government, take action against any officials found to have been acting improperly, and clear the names of all others.

Short told newsmen he didn't know whether the White House was working with congressional Democrats, including Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), who are drafting legislation aimed at curbing use of influence and stopping irregularities in government.

Meanwhile William E. Willett, who was described by a Senate investigating group as having yielded to "influence" pressure while he was an RFC director, was reappointed to his job on the government's pay roll.

Francis Whitehall, Undersecretary of the Navy, confirmed today that Willett has been appointed a $11,800 a year official in his office.

Willett came under fire of a Senate Banking subcommittee some months ago while serving as a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional investigation has begun behind closed doors into the killing of an American secret agent in Italy in 1944, and what the Defense Department did about reports he was slain by two other U. S. agents.

Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.) told reporters today that he conducted an all-day hearing Wednesday. The witness was Michael Stern, author of an account published in True Magazine last summer of the death of Maj. William V. Holohan of the cloak-and-dagger Office of Strategic Services.

Cole is the Republican member of a two-man House armed services subcommittee set up last October to look into the matter. The other member is Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.).

Michael Stern Testifies About Death Of Major Holohan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional investigation has begun behind closed doors into the killing of an American secret agent in Italy in 1944, and what the Defense Department did about reports he was slain by two other U. S. agents.

Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.) told reporters today that he conducted an all-day hearing Wednesday. The witness was Michael Stern, author of an account published in True Magazine last summer of the death of Maj. William V. Holohan of the cloak-and-dagger Office of Strategic Services.

Cole said he questioned Stern about details of his published account.

"He filled in the gaps in his story, and recounted the results of his investigation," Cole said.

Jaycees Take Lutheran Orphans On Christmas Shopping Tour

20 New Donations Increase Jaycee Fund To $634

The shopping tour almost didn't get started, the kids were having so much fun watching turtles, goldfish and monkeys at the Sanford zoo, but Jaycee Richard Farrell took them to the Jaycee's Christmas parade ballroom, and all the children hanging tight to their crisp bills trooped uptown to McClung's Toy Town where they immediately forgot all about Monkey Island.

One little tow-haired fellow whose head came just about counter level got inside the door and no farther. He slipped a giant green truck with a red cab under the table loaded with noisy mechanical gauges. He forgot about buying presents for his friends back at the Haven and just gazed.

The other kids had plenty of fun with the toys on the top of the table as they wound up roller coasters and a merry-go-round that played a tune. ## 11 Missing From Burning Ship In Columbia River

Coast Guard Rushes To Scene To Save 103 From Vessel

ASTORIA, Ore.—The Coast Guard said today that eight passengers and three crew members "possibly are missing" from the Danish midget ship Erria burning in the mouth of the Columbia River.

The Coast Guard said 23 passengers and 30 crew members have been accounted for. These estimates were based on the belief that 11 persons were aboard the ship when it anchored just inside the mouth of the stream in a clearing weather before attempting to cross the bar. Crew members were unable to say positively how many were aboard.

Early reports indicated that only one of those aboard went into the icy waters of the Columbia. He was Hugo Ray, Vancouver, B. C., a passenger, who grabbed a line hanging over the side of the ship when the fire broke out. The line was unsecured and he plunged over the side, but was quickly picked up by a Coast Guard vessel.

Ray's 11-year-old son, Bill, suffered a burned heel in the fire. Ray's wife and three-month-old son were safe.

The Erria, bound from Portland, Astoria, was carrying 103 persons.

The plane flew between a bridge roadway and overhead walk which are 125 feet apart.

Pentagon Completes Check Of POW Lists Given By Communists

One Shot Effort Is Made To Break Truce Deadlock

Supervision Of Armistice Is Turned Over To The Staff

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiators turned the problem of how to supervise a Korean armistice over to staff officers today in a "one-shot effort" to break the long deadlock.

The staff officers met for two hours at Panmunjom. Then they adjourned until Friday. There was no report of what happened.

An official Allied spokesman said U. N. subcommittee delegates suggested calling in the staff officers because there had been no progress for days.

"I give you my solemn word," said Brig. Gen. William F. Nierke, U. N. spokesman, "that the staff officers were because of the lack of progress rather than because of any progress."

Earlier in the day the Communists suggested their version of a compromise.

They asked the Allies to (1) permit construction of North Korean airfields, (2) accept the Red proposal for inspection by neutral teams of specified points and (3) drop a demand for aerial observation over all Korea.

In return, the Communists said they would accept the Red proposal for inspection by neutral teams of specified points and (3) drop a demand for aerial observation over all Korea.

The regular subcommittee will meet Friday regardless of the outcome of the staff officers' session.

There has been no announcement as to whether the subcommittee on prisoner exchange will meet Friday.

Allied negotiators said they need more time to check the list of 11,530 Allied prisoners supplied by the Communists Wednesday.

The actual method of exchanging prisoners remains to be worked out.

But the Eighth Army announced everything set to do at Panmunjom in Japan after they are freed. Plans also are being made for moving 132,472 Chinese and North Korean prisoners southward to the Yalu River.

Greeks Win Seat On U.N. Council After 19 Ballots

Red Satellite White Russia Is Defeated By 39-16 Vote

PARIS (AP)—American-backed Greece won a seat on the United Nations Security Council today, beating out White Russia on the 19th ballot.

The vote was 30 for Greece, and 16 for White Russia.

A two-thirds majority of U. N. members present and voting in the General Assembly today elected Greece and Pakistan to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of terms of India and Ecuador in 1951.

White Russia, one of the constituent republics of the U. S. S. R., was made a member of the United Nations, along with the Ukraine, under the Yalta Agreement which guaranteed Russia three member seats. Britain and others had backed White Russia for the Security Council.

The United States contended the agreement was for only a year. The Security Council is made up of the Big Five permanent members: Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States, and six rotating members who serve two-year terms.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky has violently denounced American support for Greece as a violation of an earlier gentlemen's agreement.

By STANLEY JOHNSON
PARIS (AP)—Two congressmen today attacked the U. S. counter-attack against the Soviet spy charges.

One of the congressmen, Rep. John A. Vorys, said the Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's "vicious attack" against the U. S. was a "gross violation of the Yalta Agreement."

Rep. John A. Vorys (R-Ohio) accused the Soviet delegate of trying to wreck "the two great forerunners of the United Nations, the United States and the Soviet Union."

Vorys, like Mansfield, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and a delegate to the U. N. General Assembly, said he delivered a stinging attack on Vishinsky's "pitiful stream of vituperation."

"You often wonder how to compete with the venomous attack but you realize that there are certain kinds of contests you do not enter with a skunk," Vorys said.

The two great achievements of the U. S. in this world are the United Nations and the Marshall Plan.

Only 250 More Left To Be Verified By Defense Officials; Gen. Dean Is Sick

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department still had about 250 names to check today on the Communist-supplied list of American prisoners of war in Korea.

The Pentagon finished the first phase of the huge job at 8:30 p. m. (EST) Wednesday night. At that hour, about 2,200 names on the full list of 3,198 had been identified.

Telegrams making a joyous Christmas season for hundreds of American families went out today. Nearly all of the next kind of the 2,940 men. But the sorrow deepened for the many more whose names were not listed.

About 25 soldiers on the identified list named nearest relatives at overseas addresses. Messages to these kin are to be sent today.

Prisoners identified at the Pentagon included 2,221 soldiers in addition to the 725 with overseas next of kin, eight Navy men, 58 Marines and 76 aviators.

The approximately 250 remaining to be identified presented special problems. The Pentagon decided at 8:30 Wednesday night to tackle these today. At that hour, the staff working on the list had been on duty 20 hours, ever since the names began pouring in from Tokyo Tuesday night.

They had been handed to United Nations officers seven hours earlier at Panmunjom, Korea, the site of the truce negotiations.

Even though the checking and dispatching of telegrams covering the 2,940 names were finished Wednesday night, the Defense Department continued working through the night to get the full list out to the press and radio.

At 2:40 a. m. after 2,100 names had been turned over to newsmen with the home town address and nearest relative of each prisoner.

There are 11,530 American prisoners of war in North Korea, according to the Communists. The release of the names would be a major step toward the release of the names of the prisoners.

A Pentagon spokesman gave some hope that the Communist list might be an honest one.

He said that nearly all of the names on the list were in the name of the operation and the release included more than 100,000 of the total score found on the Defense Department's list of official list of missing.

"The number of discrepancies has been negligible both in number and in type," the spokesman said.

Matthew 6: 25-34. No one can add one cubit to his stature or subtract one cubit. If we understand more we shall be more righteous. In the name of the Father, Amen. Will you pray with God?—Jb. 15: 13.

Be glad you live in Florida when you read about these ice and snow storms afflicting large areas of the country.

How would you like to be a political leader charged with the responsibility of raising taxes and passing laws like Winston Churchill in Britain?

The State Cabinet is alarmed over the increasing highway toll. Comptroller Gay says, "It's almost like taking your life in your own hands on the road today. When you drive along at 60 miles an hour cars pass you as if you were standing still." A more vigorous era of law enforcement may be in the offing.

Rep. Sikes told the DeFuniak Springs Kiwanis Club the other day that Socialism and the threat of war are the two greatest dangers faced by this country today. However, the threat of inflation, ruinous disastrous inflation, where it takes a basketful of paper money to buy a loaf of bread, is one not to be overlooked.

Secretary Acheson says more progress toward unity has been made in Europe in the last four years than in the previous 300. We are sometimes prone to forget that "unity" either on a local, or a national, or international, scale is almost a brand new concept. It is not so very long since the family was almost the sole unit.

Senator Kefauver of the Senate Crime Investigating committee is not enthusiastic about the new federal tax on bookmakers. "It is the worst thing that Congress ever did," he says, "and it will give up to haunt them for many years. The tax gives the sanction of the United States to something that is wrong." And that is very wrong indeed.

The value of Florida's truck crop is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at $112,000,000 as compared with $47,000,000 for the previous year. Truck crop acreage has increased from a ten year average of 180,000 to 244,000 last year. Tomatoes proved the biggest revenue producer, with snap beans second, and celery, grossing $13,075,000 in the state as a whole third. All this shows the importance of agriculture to the state of Florida.

Members of the Senate Appropriations Committee predict Congress will cut down on the aid spending next year. President is said to be considering some $3.5 billion dollars more next year. This is a very big sum of money for the country. It is a very big sum of money for the country. It is a very big sum of money for the country.

Half Secrets

In a recent press conference the President discussed the truce talks in Korea and then ruled that the discussion was off the record, meaning that the reporters present would not be permitted to write about the discussion. The incident in itself was not remarkable; the President and lesser officials often give reporters information for their own knowledge, which is not to be published for security reasons. In the case of the Korea discussion, the purpose of labeling it "off the record" presumably would be to prevent the Communists from obtaining the information through publication in American newspapers.

The remarkable point was that in this particular case, reporters noted, a representative of the official Russian news agency Tass was present. Naturally he would place any information gained in the press conference in the hands of Russian officials in Washington, who would communicate it to Moscow, whence it would be forwarded to Peking and the Reds in Korea. It would be both naive and foolhardy to believe otherwise. The net result of the matter was that certain information was withheld from the American people but passed on to the Reds, under the illusion of security.

It would not be much of a remedy to throw the Russian newspaper people out of Washington, as has sometimes been suggested. The remedy for such situations is to abandon the myth of the half secret, the type of information which is commonly known throughout the capital but is withheld from the people for security reasons. The people are the only ones who are denied such information; other governments, friendly or inimical, have no trouble in getting it. It is dangerous to place reliance in such supposed security which is not secure at all.

The Voter's Job

Do Americans think too little of politics? Thomas H. Reed, a former city manager, told the delegates to the Cincinnati convention of the National Municipal League that our people take more interest in sports than in matters of city, national and international affairs. He found especially incongruous the apparent fact that people have "to be kidded or cajoled into voting right or even going to the polls."

There is too much truth in this to be palatable. Only 48 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots in the last presidential election, while more than 80 per cent voted in the recent British contest. Despite all the "get-out-the-vote" drives, there is yet much to be done. The 1948 election showed a decline from the record of previous presidential elections.

One reason may be the terrific burden put on the voter. At one and the same election he may have to pick a president, a senator, a congressman, a governor and several state officials, delegates to two houses of the legislature, and a collection of county officials. Sometimes other offices must be voted on in addition, to say nothing of constitutional amendments and other issues. No ordinary citizen can possibly know personally more than a few of the candidates. No wonder voters find the effort futile and lose interest.

People Without Homes

As we sit in our warm, comfortable houses, secure in the friendship of our neighbors, it is difficult to imagine the distress of being hundreds or thousands of miles from home, friendless in a strange land. Yet the National Geographic Society estimates that between thirty and sixty million persons are in just such a position.

These persons are refugees driven from their homelands for a variety of reasons. Some left because they could no longer endure the tyranny of police states. Others were driven to their wanderings by natural catastrophes such as floods or earthquakes, or set out on their journeys because they lived in overpopulated lands where the choice had come to move or face starvation. Some were dispossessed in wars or political purges.

Many of these refugees look forward to better days when they will be able to return to their own. Others have left their homelands behind them forever, and plan to build new homes in any friendly land which will offer them haven. We who have homes can feel sympathy for those who seek for soil in which they can set their roots. An awareness of their plight may help us to make it easier for them and may give us a keener appreciation of our own good fortune.

 package that was almost as big as Dorothy who is just about a yard tall but she kept a firm grip on it occasionally setting it down on the crowded floor of McCrory's where she was shopping to rest a minute.

A magnificent mechanical racket that shoots around the floor shooting everything in range had the kids' interest in McCrory's but most of the youngsters did like Michael Cooper who asked the clerk, "I want to know how much this is."

"A dollar, seventy-nine," she told him and Michael hurriedly dropped the toy saying, "Oh, nope too much."

Having almost as much fun as the children were Jaycees Richard Farrell, Tim Crawford and Fred Clay as they wound up toys, acted as advisers and just watched the happy faces.

As the tired chaperons got ready to round the children up for the trip home, energetic blond Mauriene Bellhorn, who had taken the longest to decide on her presents, a gun and holster for her brother Don and a book for Frank Cooper was saying, "No, we can't go yet. I haven't got a present for Aunt Julie."

"Santa, won't you please bring me a little baby sister?" pleaded one little boy.

The use of teen age also expressed their wants very definitely such as the pretty miss who wanted a 6 foot two inch, blond boy friend weighing 180 pounds, and driving a convertible Cadillac.

A middle-aged and sad faced woman asked Santa what he would take with him when he drove back to the North Pole again. He replied that he would take mostly empty sacks and headcases from listening to people's troubles.

"Santa, please take my husband with you, I want to get rid of the old codger," she replied. "I want a new one next year!" asked Santa.

"No, don't bother," she answered. Santa said that he enjoyed passing out gifts at the big party for kiddies at the Presbyterian Church last night. He also appeared at a party for 80 children at the Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon.

He was at the Entrance School Friday, and through the courtesy of the local merchants, presented gifts at the party given by the DeBary Civic Association.

On Saturday night, Santa Claus will be at the Navy Center to pass out gifts to service men. He declared that Rudolph, the red nosed reindeer, is having a busy time hauling gifts to Sanford.

One of the greatest projects that Santa will undertake is to secure more benches downtown for one of Sanford's most outstanding organizations, "The Sitting Boys of Rest."

 erol that is on the air at that time.

It is felt that in this way not only will there be a psychological benefit for the participants in this effort but that there certainly will be a spiritual uplift that will be helpful to everyone.

Churches have long recognized the advantages of group prayer, and in the opinion of the committee members there is nothing more prayerful than the joining together in the singing of carols that so fittingly mark the worshipful atmosphere of Christmas.

Marion Harmon, director of WTRR, has placed the facilities of the station for this half hour at the disposal of the committee and the community and has said that the entire staff of the local station will be eager to help in any way.

The committee of business men sponsoring this activity urges anyone who wants to sing or make up "carol parties" for this period to get in touch with Mr. Palmer or Mr. Harmon.

Every radio in the county ought to be tuned to this program and no matter what the listener is doing at the time, he or she should join by singing or humming. Imagine the effect of the community singing Christmas carols together for a half hour. It will be wonderful; just wait and see," said Mr. Palmer.

DANGEROUS DRIVER

CHATHAM—The driver of a bus which plowed through a file of marching boy cadets here on Dec. 4, killing outright or fatally injuring 24, was accused today of dangerous driving.

The driver, John G. Samson, also was charged with "driving without due care and attention." He was ordered to appear for a court hearing on Jan. 7.

The Royal Marine Cadets, ranging in age from 10 to 13, were marching to a night boxing show when the bus hit them. Of 28 marchers, only 10 escaped death or injury.

 Ore., to San Francisco. The burning three-fourths of a mile off the Coast Guard station. She was at anchor, awaiting clearing weather before crossing the bar when the fire broke out.

E. L. Blyth, Portland, a passenger, said a man and his wife, he knew only as Mr. and Mrs. Brannon, possibly were missing. He said he had not seen them since the fire started. A boy in the family was safe, he added.

New members said they believed the fire started from a shorted cable. It spread rapidly through the 400-foot vessel.

Blyth said the order to abandon ship came five or six minutes after the alarm. The Coast Guard arrived quickly with two cutters and several lifeboats and began taking off the passengers in vessels from the U. S. Navy Station at Tongue Point and fishing boats also hurried to the scene. Coast Guard and Navy pumps poured water on the chartered vessel and smaller boats circled the area looking for survivors.

I've just learned that when Santa Claus finishes his year's work this Christmas he is planning to remain in Florida for a few days and rest up. You see the old boy is a tourist at heart and he just can't resist the charms of Florida.

Here is how it all came about. The enterprising citizens of Lakeland have invited the Pop Warner Foundation, sponsors of National Midget Football, to hold its championship play-off there between Christmas and New Year's.

The invitation has been accepted and the four top-rating Midget Football Teams of the nation will meet in the Santa Claus Bowl December 28.

There are over 1,500 Midget Football Teams scattered throughout the country and elimination contests leave four teams that will compete for the National Championship at Lakeland. They are from the following cities: Las Vegas, Nevada; Omaha, Nebraska; Knoxville, Virginia and New Orleans, Louisiana.

Traveling by train or bus these four crack midget teams will arrive in Lakeland on December 26. Sixty representatives of the National Foundation do not permit them to stay in hotels, each boy will be assigned to a Lakeland home, where parents with children of the same age will be their fathers and mothers while they are there.

These midget teams are composed of boys not over 13 years of age or weighing more than 109 pounds. Don't get it into your head that because they are small, they can't play football.

Folks who have seen some of their games say they put on a show that compares with the best of the big teams. They are as fast as greased lightning, can scurry through a rat hole and put everything they've got into the game.

The Pop Warner Foundation sponsors these youngsters on a non-profit basis as a means of developing character, civic pride, respect for authority, a competitive spirit and leadership.

The games will be sandwiched in between parades, bonfires, pep rallies and night-singing tours over the four-day period. The event will be broadcast nationwide over the Mutual network with top-flight sports announcers handling the microphone. National sports writers will cover the game, and newsreel and television cameramen will be on hand to record the events. All Florida will benefit by the national interest and publicity it will develop.

Colorful ceremonies will include a gigantic street parade headed by the Third Air Force band from the Hill Field, guest contest for the selection of the Little Miss Midget Football and presentation of beautiful trophies.

Before leaving Florida these youngsters and their chaperones

Christmas Luncheon Held At Country Club

A delightful luncheon and Christmas party was enjoyed yesterday by the members of the Sanford Women's Golf Association at the Seminole Country Club in connection with their weekly tournament.

Exquisite Christmas decorations by Mrs. Roy Frank Symes, Jr. featured varied arrangements of silvered foliage, colored balls and poinsettias, and luncheon tables were artistic with sugar plum trees and individual Christmas packages, gifts to the members from the Association.

A Christmas basket, presented by Mrs. W. G. Fleming for the Association, was given to Mammie Clarke, faithful employee of the Country Club for many years, for his family of nine children.

A lovely luncheon was served to the following: Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Charles Ginn, Mrs. Andrew Caraway, Miss Cecile Heat, Mrs. Bimes, Mrs. Earl Higginbotham, Mrs. Virginia Hart, Mrs. Buf Austin, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. E. C. Hayman, Mrs. Hugh Wheelchel, Mrs. Howard McLaughlin, Mrs. Ross Adams, Mrs. John Ivey, Mrs. Price Heard, and Mrs. Russell Pearson.

Also Mrs. John Schirard, Mrs. T. F. McDaniel, Mrs. Ray Herron, Mrs. F. D. Scott, Mrs. Andy Marsh, Mrs. Harry Woodruff, Mrs. George Thurston, and Mrs. Richard Farrell.

At the conclusion of the tournament, Mrs. Smith was high in Class A with a net score of 70, Mrs. McDaniel, in Class B with a net score of 79, and there was a tie for high in Class C between Mrs. Herron and Mrs. Woodruff, with a net score of 82.

Orange City Church To Present Cantata

The large chorus choir of the Orange City Congregational church, with assisting soloists, will present Adam Giebel's lovely Christmas Cantata, "The Traveler," Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock under the capable direction of Paul Arline, of DeLand, with Shirley Crouse, organist. The narrator will be the Rev. Willis K. Williams, minister of the church.

The Cantata is sung in two parts, and there will also be a dialogue of seasonal music. Assisting soloists include Mrs. Gustav Bruhl, soprano, of DeBary; Lynne Ferguson, boy soprano, of DeLand; Mrs. Heinz Wilke, soprano, and Mrs. Charles E. Cole, contralto, of Orange City; Paul Arline, DeLand tenor; and a Men's Chorus. Members of the choir are from DeBary, DeLand and Orange City.

The church will be beautifully decorated with Advent symbols and flowers, in charge of Mrs. Howard Turner. The program is open to the public, and all are welcome.

Junior Miss Club Plans Xmas Carols

Plans for carolling during the holidays were made at the meeting of the Junior Miss Club which was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Grace Marie Stinephor.

Lovely Christmas decorations were used throughout the Stinephor home and an exchange of gifts was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. M. Stinephor, and those present were Miss Rosemary Garner, Miss Patricia Toke, Miss Ellen Lynn, Miss Carol Loeschelt, Miss Jeanette Cleveland, Miss Patsy Collins, Miss Paulette Casson, Miss Sandra Dunn, Miss Barbara Cassabe, Miss Polly Graham, Miss Nancy Rountree, Miss Patsy Walker, Miss Joyce Jones, and Miss Martha Owen.

Miss Betty Northrup Northrup, daughter of Mrs. Effie Northrup of DeLand, became the bride of Sfc Charles Edward Raulerson, Jr. son of Mrs. Charles E. Raulerson and the late Charles E. Raulerson of Titusville, Dec. 16 at the First Baptist Church in DeLand. The Rev. R. Grady Snowden officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her first cousin, Raymond Northrup, Jr. of Daytona Beach. Nuptial music was played at the organ by Mrs. Cecil Sellers of Enterprise, and Mrs. Bernard Harkey of Sanford sang, "Oh Promise Me" and "Because".

Mail of honor was Miss Beverly Northrup of DeLand, and bridesmaids were Miss Autha Warner of Sanford, and Miss Mary Whidden of Tampa. Flower girls were Miss Jeanine Chrvia of DeLand and Miss Sydney Bruce of Fort Pierce.

Charles Ludcke of Sanford was best man, and ushers were John Showman of Sanford, Robert Chrvia and John Chrvia of DeLand.

The bride wore a wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace with a bodice outlined with satin braid, featuring long fitted sleeves and a pleated cascading into a deep train in back. She wore a crown of flowers and carried a finger tip two tier veil of Blusium. Her bouquet was of white carnations and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid.

Following the wedding a reception which was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. D. W. Canada at 1405 W. New York Avenue in DeLand. Following a short honeymoon the couple will be at home at 2608 Lumpkin Road, Columbus, Ga.

Miss Betty Northrup Weds Mr. Raulerson

Miss Betty Northrup Northrup, daughter of Mrs. Effie Northrup of DeLand, became the bride of Sfc Charles Edward Raulerson, Jr. son of Mrs. Charles E. Raulerson and the late Charles E. Raulerson of Titusville, Dec. 16 at the First Baptist Church in DeLand. The Rev. R. Grady Snowden officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her first cousin, Raymond Northrup, Jr. of Daytona Beach. Nuptial music was played at the organ by Mrs. Cecil Sellers of Enterprise, and Mrs. Bernard Harkey of Sanford sang, "Oh Promise Me" and "Because".

Boxing Titles Change Gloves With Dizzy Speed In Year Of Surprises

By FRANK RICK
AP News Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK—Boxing championships in 1951 changed hands faster than a plucked nickel at a carnival. There were three different winners in both the middleweight and welterweight divisions.

Edward Charles, considered the classiest of the current heavyweights, lost his crown when he put it on the line once too often against that creaking veteran, Jersey Joe Walcott, who admits to 37 years.

Ray Robinson, the fightingest champion of all, was forced to give up his welterweight crown because he could not handle the middleweight division. Then Robinson lost the pound crown to Randy Turpin, a British Negro, came to the ring.

In line with the sport's surges, an unheralded New York boxer, James Carter, gave like a man a solid thumping to take the lightweight title. It was Willie Pep's first title defense in 17 months.

The surprise to end surprises, however, was Walcott's victory over Charles. Walcott, in a terrific left hook to the jaw, had a little chance, being a 6 to 1 underdog in the betting. He had been beaten by Joe Louis on a questionable decision and then knocked out by "Boss" Gomez in 1949 and again to Ezzard Carter this year in Detroit.

But in Pittsburgh the old man of the ring came to life. With a terrific left hook to the jaw he knocked Charles down for the count in 35 seconds of the seventh round. In the emotional reaction to his amazing success Walcott nearly fainted.

Tonic part of the bout, held outdoors in Forbes Field on July 16, was that it was arranged as a charity spectacle. It drew 28,000 fans who paid $24,004. The Dapper Dan Club of Pittsburgh received 10 per cent.

In signing for the bout, Walcott had agreed, in the event he won, to defend within 90 days against Charles. But when Jersey Joe thought it over and recalled all the poverty he had faced in 31 years of professional fighting, he decided to rest on his laurels.

Walcott failed to make one title defense, or even a non-title showing. Chances are he will fight Charles outdoors next summer, if he fights at all. He has been idle since last July, preferring to cash in on personal appearances.

Next in the line of surprises was Robinson's setback at the hands of little known Randy Turpin. It was called "boxing's greatest upset" in a quarter of a century when Turpin won in London. It was Robinson's second defeat in his career.

Two weeks previous in Berlin, Robinson had ducked under the ring to avoid being hit by bottles and other missiles tossed by irate German fans after a referee disqualified Robby for hitting Gerhard Hecht in the kidneys. The bout was called "no decision."

The return Robison-Turpin bout had more fan reaction than any bout since 1938 when 70,000 saw Louis knock out Max Baerling in a return meeting. Robinson-Turpin fought in the Polo Grounds before 61,370 fans who paid $797,626. Plus $250,000 for motion pictures and theatre-television, the bout went down in ring annals as the ninth million-dollar flat attraction.

Robinson, fighting savagely to regain the title, stopped Turpin in two minutes and 52 seconds of the 10th round.

After Robinson quit the 147-pound class, Johnny Bratton of Chicago was named NBA welterweight champion. The New York boxing board concurred when it was drawn by a split decision over Charley Fuster in Chicago.

Bratton, however, held the crown for only two months. In May he lost a unanimous but dull 16-round decision to Kid Gavilan in Cuba in Madison Square Garden. They met again in Chicago on November in a 10-round non-title bout and Bratton, though out-classed, gained the benefit of a draw crowd reaction and a draw by the experts.

Bratton had won but the experts were unanimously for Gavilan. Gavilan's lone title defense was with stormy protest. In August 8,197 fans (a 77 bout) saw debris into the Garden ring when Gavilan was awarded a split decision over Billy Graham. It was the same night that George Forman, 23-year-old Brooklyn heavyweight, was knocked out by Regis Donoghue of

Cage Prosecutor Says More Names To Be Disclosed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Assistant District Attorney Vincent O'Connor, en route to New York today predicted the names of other kebab fixes will come to light. Kebab fixes will come to light in a six-day investigation up against a blank wall, O'Connor conferred briefly Wednesday with Gov. Lawrence Wetherby before departing.

"I want to state most emphatically that our department does not mean we are dropping — or even considering dropping — our investigation of Kentucky players who definitely know are involved in the fixes."

Nowhere in his remarks did O'Connor indicate whether the players involved are present or former members of the Wildcat squad. At Lexington, President H. L. Donovan hastened to assure the public the university has not played and shall not play any more about whom we have any ground for believing xxx has participated in any "fix."

In a prepared statement, Dr. Donovan expressed thanks to O'Connor and his staff for their help and cooperation in "our effort to clear up the scandal" in which the University of Kentucky players have been implicated.

O'Connor, who was invited to Kentucky by Gov. Wetherby, said after their conference: "The identities of these (U. K.) players and the games they fixed will become publicly known at trials of others." He added the players can escape prosecution because the fixing was not done in New York.

Praising Wetherby and the university for its aid, O'Connor said he will bring to "justice" those who have been indicted for "corrupting" three former Wildcats — Alex Gross, Dale Harshbarger and Ralph Beard. All three have admitted accepting bribes to regulate the point spread in basketball games.

O'Connor said his attempts to remove clouds of suspicion from innocent players were thwarted by the refusal of others to talk. During the assistant district attorney's investigation, two Lexington attorneys — John Young Brown and Elmer Drake — announced they had been retained as counsel for certain players and would not permit them to be questioned except in their own defense.

Since Kentucky has no sports bribery law, the attorneys argued the players have not broken any law and that O'Connor did not have authority for their arrest. O'Connor said he is concentrating on Kentucky games played during the 1949-50 and 1950-51 seasons.

Washington Quint Has Opportunity To Gain Top Rank
By TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Washington Huskies, Pacific Coast Conference champions, have a golden opportunity to become the No. 1 college basketball team in the nation.

Their chances of gaining the top rung in the Associated Press Poll depend on what they do against Minnesota at Minneapolis Friday and Saturday.

Currently ranked No. 8, the Huskies opened their Midwest invasion Wednesday night by bowling over four-time Big Ten champion Washington State, 68-55. It was Washington's sixth straight victory after a defeat by Utah in Huskies' avenged this defeat the next night, 60-44.

If the Huskies whip Minnesota, conqueror of Kentucky, No. 2, team which in turn walloped the currently top-ranked St. Johns of Brooklyn, quintet, the PCC outfit would be certain to gain prestige.

Unbeaten Pennsylvania opened a Midwest tour by edging Pitt, 55-52, at Pittsburgh, with a rally in the last three minutes. Penn plays tonight at Michigan and Saturday at Notre Dame.

Oklahoma A. M., beaten Tuesday night by Southern California, turned the tables on the Trojans by winning, 68-57, in a doubleheader at Tulsa; the second game Tulsa whipped Missouri, 60-55.

In a twin bill at Dallas, Texas, Christian beat Texas Tech, 58-54, and Southern Methodist took McNebraska, 61-54, at SMU's Derrell Murphy flopped in 31 points.

Seton Hall ranked 16th, had an easy time against Baldwin-Wallace, 55-37, while Western Kentucky, No. 18, experienced more difficulty in beating Xavier of Ohio, 55-52. Navy beat Cornell, 68-57, and Florida humbled Tennessee, 66-47. Columbia stayed on a late Fordham rally to win, 61-46, and Army opened a season with a 66-55 thumping of Illinois.

Jax Beach Names Manager For New FSL Team In 1952

The newly organized Jacksonville Beach class D ball club was the fourth team in the Florida State League to agree on a manager for the coming baseball season as they verbally signed Leon Red Treadway, a former New York Giant, to act as player manager for the club yesterday.

Earlier this week the Orlando Senators announced the signing of former Sanford manager Ed Levy for his second season as the head of the Orlando club and Cocoa last week named F. D. Peg Rambert relief pitcher and first baseman from Fort Lauderdale.

Harry Hatcher, recently chosen manager of the Jacksonville Beach club, which will stage home games in the Jacksonville Greater Beaches Stadium, said last night that Treadway formally sign with the Class D team.

The beach nine apparently will get off on the right foot in its initial year as a member of the State loop, as Treadway, who'll be playing manager, is a 300 plus hitter.

Red Marlon, former manager of the Birmingham Barons of the Class A Southern Association, who resides at the beach, lauded Treadway's league ability. "He should lead the league in hitting," Marlon said after learning that the Virginian will perform here.

The 30-year-old, 185-pounder who bats from the right side and throws right-handed, started his pro career with Wilson, S. C. of the Coastal Plains League in 1941 where he batted .328.

Gustafson himself admitted today that the Miami offense has him worried. He said that plenty of improvement will have to come between now and New Year's Day.

Gustafson pointed out that any team possessing the power to run over Auburn as Clemson did, must have a pretty potent offensive. He said: "Right now, we are pretty certain of one thing—we're just not ready to stop a team of Clemson's caliber."

The Miami condition book has ordered extra conditioning work for the defensive unit and plans daily scrimmaging for them for several days. Gus needs a lot of scrimmage against the single wing," Gus said today as he sent his changes through their third workout in preparation for the clash.

The loss of Joe Bartolovich on the defensive club has hurt the team. In order to help the situation, Nick Chickello, a shrewd offensive tackle, has been moved into the defensive team. Nick is a rugged man and he may be called upon to be a 60-minute man in the Clemson game.

If Gus decides to keep Chickello on both the offensive and defensive line, he will be the third Hurricane to play both offensive and defensive football.

The Miami offensive, which has been pretty potent against a lot of good ball clubs this year, has been snared since the team refused to work for the Clemson battle. According to Gus, the offensive warriors seem to have lost none of their zip and speed by the lay-off. Gustafson has been running hocket on the first team backfield with Dooley and Pud Constantine in the halfbacks and Harry Mallon at full back. Frank Smith will continue to take things lightly through the rest of this week.

Trainer Dave Wike said today. There is little chance that he will scrimmage at all before the Clemson game, Wike reported.

They are Jack Miles, who holds the National AAU Flying Rings title; Gene Rabbit, co-holder of the National Sidehorse championship; Team Capt. Jack Sharp and Regna twins—Carmine and Joe.

The five will compete as individuals, not a team, during their Christmas vacations. All are residents of New Jersey or Pennsylvania.

Florida's J. Hall Tops Conference Punt Return Men

GAINESVILLE (AP)—Lester Kennedy, Tulane, topped the Southeastern Conference pass interceptors for 1951; J. (Papa) Hall, Florida, was the leading punt returner; Harry Jones, Kentucky, led the field in kickoff returns, and Alabama's Bobby Marlow was the best punter.

The conference scoring was paced by Junior Halfback Hal Payne, the hard-running Tennessee Vol who punched over 14 touchdowns.

These leaders were announced today by SEC Football Statistician Joe Sherman, University of Florida sports publicist.

Kennedy's eight interceptions were only two off the all-time Southeastern record of 10 turned in by Mississippi's Bobby Wilson in 1949.

Hall, returning 24 punts for 369 yards and one touchdown, was followed by Bill Blacklock, Tennessee, who ran back 311 yards with 12 punts. No. 3 in the department was Zippy Morocco, Georgia, with 281 yards on 23 returns.

Second place in pass interceptions was a four-way tie between Charlie Oakley, LSU, Vince Dooley, Auburn, Bobby Wilson, Alabama, and Claude Huppe, Georgia, each with six.

Jones' leadership in kickoff returns came on 371 yards with 15 kicks; Jack Nichols, Florida, was second with 265 yards on 12 returns; and Vince Dooley, Auburn, placed third with 250 yards for nine returns.

Bobby Wilson, Alabama, topped the punters with a 61.9-yard average on 65 kicks; Florida's Rick Casares was second with a 59.1 yard average for 33 booms; and Zuke Bratkowski, Georgia, held third place with a 56-yard average on 57 punts. Wilson and Bratkowski each had one kick blocked; Casares had two.

Marshall ranked only sixth among the flychasers but he out-ranked all his rivals in total chances accepted. The tow-headed Philly speed merchant took care of 560 chances. Brooklyn's Duke Sieder, with 366 chances, was his closest rival.

The Cards led in club fielding with a mark of .889. Brooklyn participated in the most double plays, 102.

Fielding Records Show For 1951 Kluzewski Better Than Hodges

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is the better fielding first baseman? Gil Hodges of Brooklyn or Ted Kluzewski of Cincinnati.

Prepare for a surprise. According to National League fielding averages, Kluzewski, the big lumbering Reds' strong boy, was the top defensive first sacker in the league with 97.7 fielding percentage (than Hodges' 97.2).

They say figures never lie, but a lot of fans would be willing to wager that the averages are all wet. Kluzewski never was renowned for his dexterity with a glove while Hodges is considered a fancy Dan around the bag. The Hodges rooters can point out that although Kluzewski made more putouts and committed only five errors to Gil's 12, the Dodger star topped Ted in assists, 136 to 88, and participated in 56 more double plays.

Here is the best fielding team, according to official figures released Wednesday: First base—Ted Kluzewski, Cincinnati, .977. Second base—Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .962. Third base—Billy Johnson, St. Louis, .978. Shortstop—Virgil Stallcup, Cincinnati, .968.

Ashburn ranked only sixth among the flychasers but he out-ranked all his rivals in total chances accepted. The tow-headed Philly speed merchant took care of 560 chances. Brooklyn's Duke Sieder, with 366 chances, was his closest rival.

Ex-Giant Treadway Is Appointed As Player-Manager

Miami Mentor Is Polishing Offense For Bowl Contest

CORAL GABLES (Special)—The University of Miami defensive, which bogged down badly in the Pittsburgh game not so long ago and looked none too pleasing to the coaches in the Helix clash, is the chief concern of Coach Andy Gustafson these days as he preps his Hurricanes for their New Year Day (bowl) game against Clemson's Tigers at Jacksonville.

Coaches For North, South Teams Indulge In Luxury Of Optimism

By BEN FUNK
 A college football coach's life is just one big worry after another. But there are a few who get a chance once while to throw away their towels, relax and enjoy a building a football team. Such fortunate individuals are Coach Gus Gustafson of the Army and Coach Gus Gustafson of Miami, the coaches for the Shrine's North-South game each Christmas in the Orange Bowl.

The incessant pressure and the regular season out way they can lose their hair and have fun in the holiday. They can even be optimistic about a luxury denied all coaches the first of September to the part of December.

Listen to this talk from Coach Gustafson, who has edged over Hickman in the South series.

"My squad has the greatest potential of any I've coached for this year. It has balance, speed, power and devastating pass attack. Bill (Vanderbilt quarterback) is the greatest passer I've ever seen. He has pinpoint accuracy much speed on the ball it's impossible to intercept."

Hickman will see the North squad out for the first time today, assistant, Peahead Walker, who handled the early drills, said he would tell Hickman the Yankees have so much spirit they "can't lose."

As for Wade, Walker said the North has not one, but two, past-ers who are just as good as the Vanderbilt ace—John Coatta of Wisconsin and Bob Black, former Army quarterback who transferred to Colorado College after the West Point cribbing scandals.

Gustafson is under one severe handicap. He has to switch his mood back and forth from cheerful to gloomy twice a day. From the South practice sessions, he goes to another field where he is training his Miami Hurricanes for the New Year's Gator Bowl game with Clemson.

And the Hurricanes, he means, are far from ready for that one. A starting offensive line began to shape up Wednesday in the South practice. In the backfield, it was Wade working with Zippy Morocvo of Georgia, Billy Tidwell of Texas A. & M., and Ed Weber of William and Mary.

In the line were Joe Kirkland of Vanderbilt and Don Brown of Florida on the ends; Dick Yalvington of Georgia and Bob Werckle of Vanderbilt at the tackles; Fred Smith of Oklahoma and Bill Dawkins of Florida State at guards, and Carroll McDonald of Florida at center.

In the North offensive backfield during Wednesday's drills were Coatta at quarterback, with Jim Ryan of Yale, Jim Monahan of Rutgers and Bob Pinnell of Xavier. Running in the offensive line were Dewey McCunnell of Wyoming and Joe Hilo of Villanova at ends; Jack Gearding of Xavier and Bob Felch of Holy Cross at tackles; Joe Sklinski of Purdue and Gerald Andette of Columbia at guards, and Jim Creamer of Michigan State at center.

Football Coaches To Set Plans For Blue-Gray Tussle

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)—The coaching brain trusts for the North and South pull into town tomorrow ready to start working for the Blue-Gray football game.

The 48-players—24 to a side—don't arrive until Saturday, however. That gives the coaches an extra day to get together on the formations they will throw at their rivals.

Opening workouts for both the Yankees and Rebels are scheduled Saturday just a week before the game.

Head men on the two coaching staffs are Rip Engle of Penn State for the North and Geynell Tinsley of Louisiana State for the South.

Engle has as his assistants coaches by Williamson of Wisconsin and Dick Harlow, formerly of Harvard. Tinsley's aides will be coaches Rex Enright of South Carolina and Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist.

Although there's been no definite announcement, both the Blues and Grays probably will use the popular T-formation in the 11th annual game. In the past the squads have stuck with the offensive system familiar to a majority of their players.

Two All-Americans and a host of all-conference and all-sectional stars are liberally sprinkled through the rosters of both squads. Pat O'Donahue, defensive end from Wisconsin, and Joe Palumbo, Virginia guard, are the All-Americans.

O'Donahue will head a North squad which is rated the best since 1948. That's the year the Yankees won 19-13 for their most recent victory. The North has won only four games, the South eight.

With such a classy squad on hand, Yankee coaches Engle,

Jose Ferrer, William Prince and Mala Powers, in a scene from "Cyrano de Bergerac," a United Artists release, showing today and Friday on the Ritz Theater screen.

Air Lines Announce Big Tourist Travel

NEW YORK—Eastern Air Lines today reported a "tremendous" demand for accommodations to Florida which, it said, indicated the biggest boom year in that state's travel history.

To try to meet the demand for seats, Eastern said it was putting planes of a new fleet into operation as fast as received instead of waiting until there were sufficient deliveries for complete new service schedules.

The airline said the first two of its 80-seat Super-Constellations already had been put into service. With their greater speed and passenger capacity, they can complete three round trips between New York and Miami every 24 hours to add a capacity of 528 passengers daily.

The first twin-engine 40-passenger Martin 304 of the new fleet also has been put into operation to provide extra sections of 60-passenger new type Constellation schedules.

Eastern said its Florida capacity had reached approximately 4,000 seats daily, an increase of 30 per cent over last season.

Georgia Tech's cross country team closed its season by capturing the AAU title in Atlanta.

A capacity crowd of 22,000 is expected.

Christmas Parade Put On In Negro Business District

Streets of the Negro business community were lined with spectators yesterday as the Business and Professional Civic Club put on a Christmas parade as part of the holiday celebration.

Leading the parade which marched down Sanford Avenue and through Goldsboro was the color guard of the Charles Young Post 207 of the American Legion. Two bands, the blue, white and gold uniformed marching musicians from Leeburg and the green and crimson uniformed band from Jones High School in Orlando, took part in the holiday parade. Six high school drummers beat out time for the marchers.

Flats included Business and Professional Civic club entry show a class room scene and a view of Christmas Eve at home, two smartly dressed little boys

ATOMIC CRASH HARWELL, Eng. On—A truck from this British atomic experiment center crashed with another truck Wednesday night and spilled radioactive water over a road.

Farm workers dashing to the wreck were warned off by the driver of the water truck. "Keep away!" he shouted. "It's dangerous!"

Then came a miniature "fire-drill" of the atomic age.

Police closed the road. Men from Harwell in hip boots and specially treated garments rushed up and sprayed fluid and a white powder over the water.

Decontaminated the road was was opened three hours later.

The University of Florida's 10 football opponents registered 46 first downs rushing and the same number on passes.

During a little girl on green and white decorated bicycle which got the most applause from the spectators and a Jolly Jaws Club float. Highlight of the parade was Santa Claus who bounced out a jolly laugh from atop a blue and white float.

Nation's Traffic Toll Hits 999,750 Wednesday Nite

Death Total Expected To Pass 1 Million On Saturday

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic toll today neared the one million mark. The National Safety Council said the grand total had risen to 999,750 Wednesday midnight.

It added:

"The remaining deaths are expected to occur by about noon Saturday if the anticipated travel and accident pattern does not change."

But the council also advised driving and walking Americans that the millionth death can still be postponed by improved traffic behavior in the final hours.

The statement was in effect, the flag signal for the final laps in a race against death that began Sept. 13, 1939.

That was the date of the first known motor vehicle fatality in this country. The victim was 11. H. Blais. He slipped from a trolley and was run over by a horseless carriage in New York City.

Thereafter, the toll rose — slowly at first and then with alarming speed.

Fatalities reached a peak of 39,000 in 1941. They slumped off during World War II, then rose to the 1931 average of around 100 per day.

Now Motorized Death is nearing the end of his drive to the one million milestone, with his elapsed time indicated at 51 years, three months and eight days.

"It is a tragic and ironic circumstance that the millionth death should occur almost on the very eve of Christmas," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president.

"To those Americans who are shocked — and I know that many are — it seems an appropriate time for each of us to pledge redoubled efforts as drivers and community leaders toward prevention of wanton recklessness on the highway."

The council has promoted M Day in the hope that the day of sorry reckoning will help to slow the rate of slaughter.

The council does not intend to name the millionth victim. Nobody can do so with certainty. The main reason is that traffic fatalities for the first 32 years of the century are estimates — not actual figures.

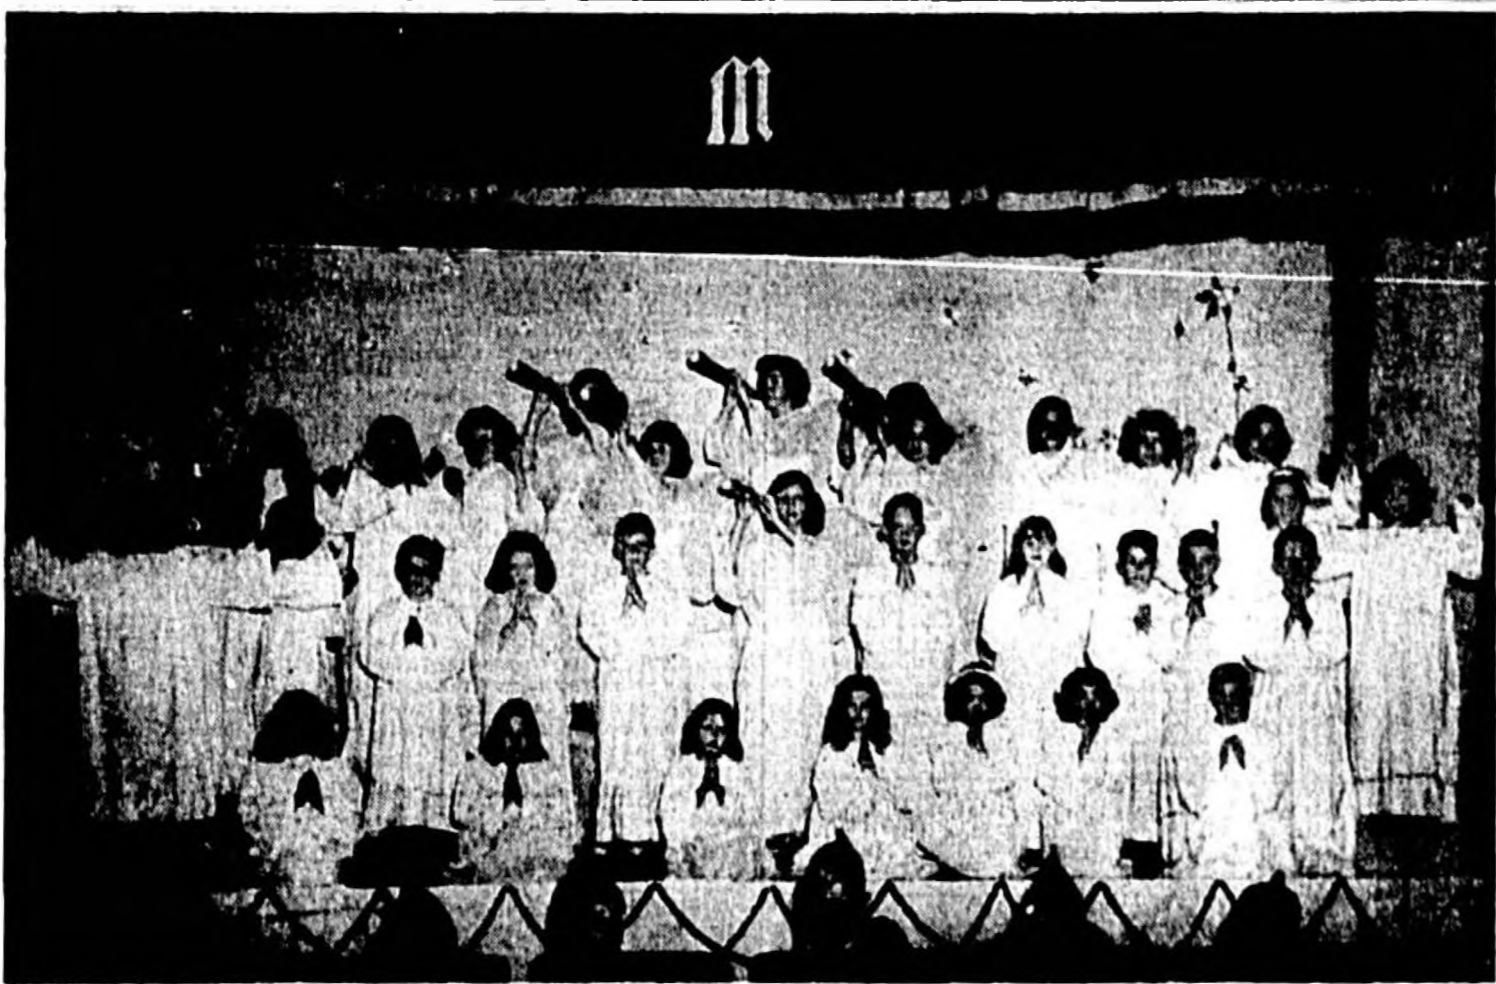

Recent death statistics — up to including those of Wednesday midnight — were compiled by the council from reports from state accident record bureaus.

From Wednesday midnight on, The Associated Press participated in the task of collecting reports of motor vehicle deaths — all deaths in accidents involving a motor vehicle on a street or road.

These figures will be given to the council's statisticians in Chicago twice each day. The council will tabulate them and work in that it calls a "retroactive factor." That means it will add a certain number of deaths, based on statistical experience — to cover deaths which normally go unreported on the day it occurs.

That day may be Saturday. But the day and hour depends on the

Lake Monroe School Christmas Program

Pupils of the Lake Monroe School, of which Roy W. Nichols is principal, enjoyed a Christmas program on Dec. 13. This was climaxed by the chorus singing Christmas carols, the singers representing all grades of the school. The program included the singing of "Jingle Bells" by the primary grades and a play by the Junior High School. Afterward Santa Claus gave candy to everybody.

Automobile Group Asks Higher Prices As Safety Measure

DETROIT — The auto industry moved for higher prices today as insurance against rising costs in 1952.

Ford, Studebaker, Hudson and Kaiser-Frazer have applied for higher ceiling prices, the government said Wednesday. Auto industry sources said other car makers are expected to follow suit.

It was understood, however, the price increases, if authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), would not apply to 1951 models. The auto manufacturers seek authority to raise prices on 1952 models if they feel increases are necessary to keep a safe operating margin.

Ford and the three independent weather and the degree of caution of motorists and pedestrians from now to M Day.

But the experts, while hoping for the best, expect the worst.

The council estimates that — barring a huge wave of caution — 600 Americans will lose their lives in traffic accidents during the four-day Christmas holiday weekend. This estimate of deaths — 600 — is the largest the council ever has made for a holiday.

Extortion Case Of Hubert S. Fry Is Heading For Jury

TAMPA — The case of Hubert S. Fry, charged with trying to extort $3,000 from the father of his former wife, headed for a federal jury today.

The ex-wife, beautiful Betty Long Fry Frazier, 21, testified Fry came to her father's home in Ashland on the night of Sept. 3 and forced her to drive with him to Flagler Beach. She said Fry, 23, was in a "drunken condition and was carrying a gun."

Fry, a former Tampa filling station attendant, has been charged with kidnaping in state court, but that case has not been set for trial.

Admitted in evidence by Judge J. Barker was a letter Fry admitted writing while at Flagler Beach to Mrs. Frazier's father, Latimer A. Long, an attorney. It threatened to kill her unless Long paid $3,000.

Fry denied he had any intention of harming his former wife and said he still loved her. He contended he had been trying for some time to effect a reconciliation and that she came with him willingly. She was with him when he was arrested Sept. 6 at the East Coast resort.

Mrs. Frazier denied there were any plans for a reconciliation. She said she allowed Fry to come visit her at her father's home only to see their two small children. She remarried after divorcing Fry in 1948 but her second husband was killed in Korea last spring.

Minister Pilot, Killed In Plane, Blind In One Eye

OCALA — Testimony today in a Methodist minister killed here Nov. 27 when his Civil Air Patrol cub collided with an airplane was blind in one eye and did not have a valid pilot's license.

Charles S. Collier, Civil Aeronautics Board investigator from Miami, said the Rev. John May, 33, Anthony had lost his left eye in a 1946 automobile accident.

Civil Aeronautics Administration Safety Agent W. E. McLean testified that May had not had a recent medical flight check and that his pilot's certificate, issued in Kentucky in 1941, was not valid.

McLean said May, a World War II Air Force veteran, had not applied for a medical flight check earlier. Two Eastern Airlines pilots told the CAB investigators that although they had been notified by radio that "local traffic" was using a runway, they saw no other plane aloft the day their craft clipped the wing of the minister's cub over the airport here. They said both were watching for it.

Capt. J. E. Bishop, Atlanta, said he was in the left cockpit seat of the plane with 17 passengers aboard landed safely, but little damage after the collision at about 500 feet.

Bishop said "I saw a cub enter and fell a slight dump as though the plane had hit a bird." Most of the passengers were not aware of the accident.

The hearing was recessed until Monday. Mr. P. Bourdon, assistant chief of the CAB hearing and reports division, said the hearing was in "preliminary" but not determine responsibility for the crash.

Chinese Reds Are Using Christmas For Propaganda

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL, Korea — Chinese Reds are using a new kind of propaganda on the Korean War front — Christmas stockings.

The U. S. Eighth Army said Chinese cloth stockings full of Christmas cards, cheap presents, and invitations to surrender were being "delivered" by the Reds.

Most are brought across the lines by Korean farmers. Others are snaked across and left where Allied troops can find them.

A typical stocking was shown to correspondents today. It contained a handkerchief, a wooden cigarette holder, a Christmas card with a litting verse, a safe conduct pass urging Allied soldiers to surrender, a lapel pin "peace dove," and a variety of pictures.

The pictures were designed to contrast the hardships of war in Korea with the luxuries of life in the United States.

Another showed the grim face of a Marine as photographed by Life magazine's Dave Duncan. In contrast was an American beer advertisement showing a family gathered around a loaded dinner table on Christmas Day.

Under the family group was this caption: "Those who love you want you back home safe and sound. Find a way out. It is no disgrace to quit fighting in this unjust war."

Other drawings included the face of a soldier: "Why not go back to her?"

A civilian wearing a red necktie: "How would it be to get back into civvie?"

A plump girl with a 5 sign on his necktie: "Why fight for him?"

This is the verse that appeared around a loaded dinner table on Christmas Day:

"All plump folks are brothers in deed. I wish you and we want life and peace. If you go home the war will cease. An Eighth Army colonel called the stockings 'pitiful and cruel' and added:

"All this stuff demonstrates how hard the Communists work at psychological warfare, and it also demonstrates how atrocious their conception is on how to appeal to the American soldier."

One Korean farmer delivered a package of the Christmas stockings under a truce flag. He said two Red soldiers escorted him to the foot of an Allied hill and told him to go the rest of the way alone.

The colonel called the farmer, "a Santa Claus with a Communist gun in his back."

Senator Monroney Plans Bill To Prohibit Influence In Tax Cases

WASHINGTON — Sen. Monroney (D Okla.) said today he will introduce in January a bill to prohibit any member of Congress from interfering in a tax case pending before the internal revenue bureau.

Monroney, one of the authors of the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946, said his proposed measure would place tax collection agents under Civil Service, (2) require publication of any intervention by a lawmaker in RFC loan cases and (3) bar pensions to officials convicted of breach of public trust.

Internal Revenue Bureau scandals called in the suspension, but Grunwald to explain his association with Internal Revenue officials.

Although Grunwald demanded an open hearing, today's session was to take place behind closed doors (2 p. in EST).

Grunwald, something of a mysterious figure along the fringe of Washington officialdom, has been portrayed as an intimate of Charles Oliphant, recently resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau and an old friend of George J. Schoeneman who resigned last June.

Until Monday night, Grunwald was in a Washington hospital suffering from nervous tension and gastric intestinal disturbances. His name popped up several times in the subcommittee's hearings, disclosures from which contributed largely to the suspension and firing of some 59 tax service employees.

Grunwald was subpoenaed, found to be absent from his home and located finally in Georgetown Hospital. There he refused to talk until he could be heard in open session.

Among other things, investigators want to ask him about a $1,200 loan acknowledged by Oliphant when he resigned two weeks ago. Testifying before the committee, Oliphant described Grunwald as a close friend.

He said Grunwald took an interest in tax cases and once "told me he was helping Sen. Bridges, R. S. D., in a multimillion-dollar tax case against a Baltimore man. Bridges has said that whenever he is interested in a tax case, he always invested that any action taken be 'entirely proper and correct.'"

Monroney told reporters he thinks members of congress would welcome a prohibition against their interfering in any tax matters except their own.

"It would take the onus off of us if we were barred by law from interfering for a constituent or anyone else and it would make for more equitable disposition of all cases," he declared.

Another congress member, Rep. Herlong (D. Fla.), said today in his weekly report to constituents that there are some things Congress members cannot do. "For example, we are not able to get RFC loans for people," he said. "If you desire such a loan applied.

Plant Board Checks Numerous Nurseries

WASHINGTON — The Florida Plant Board in 1951 inspected almost a thousand more nurseries than were in the state 10 years ago, and intercepted destructive pests from Latin America, Italy and the Bahamas.

Plant commissioner Arthur C. Brown said most of the pests, including fruit flies, orange scales, bean weevils, stem borers, pink bollworms, and a type of citrus canker, were found in baggage of planes landing at Florida airports.

Brown reported that 3,055 nurseries, which cultivated 92,638,747 plants on 5,789 acres of land during 1951, were inspected.

His report said the board also identified xyloporis, a virus disease hidden on sweet lime or lemon stock which has probably been in Florida several years but has shown up very little because sweet lime stock has not been widely used.

The Plant Board also made a survey which revealed presence of the avocado weevil in 11 South Florida counties and identified the ground beetle, a soil inhabiting pest similar to the mealybug, in lawns of the Pensacola area.

Senator Calls For More Fast Tankers

WASHINGTON — Sen. O'Connor (D. Md.) said today this country must build more high-speed tankers to meet the challenge of Russia's expanding fleet of new and faster submarines.

O'Connor, who has probably been in Florida several years but has shown up very little because sweet lime stock has not been widely used.

The Plant Board also made a survey which revealed presence of the avocado weevil in 11 South Florida counties and identified the ground beetle, a soil inhabiting pest similar to the mealybug, in lawns of the Pensacola area.

Clay County Demos Prepare Platform Asking Debt Cut

GREEN COVE SPRINGS— (FNS) Startling evidence of the public frame of mind and present day grass roots thinking is evidenced in the platform adopted last week by the Clay County Democrat Executive Committee.

Unfortunately, space does not permit publication of the full text, every word of which is thought-provoking and constructive.

It calls for a return of the Party to the fundamental philosophy of Thomas Jefferson, pledges its support to the opposition to deficit spending and ever mounting taxation.

Calls for reduction of the national debt and the exercise of economy and efficiency in government, both national and state.

Goes on record as vigorously opposing not only the Communism of Russia, but every form of socialist ideology whether it be termed Communism, Socialism, Fascism, Planned Economy or the Welfare State, since they all have the same goal—the destruction of the liberties, rights and freedoms of the individual and lead to the rule of totalitarian dictatorship.

It calls for the purge of the dishonest and disloyal persons in government on all levels, elective or appointive. It deplores the lust for power in the executive, judicial and legislative branches of government, which is weakening public moral and is driving the nation down the road to Socialism, has exposed us to the horrors of war, weakened the national defense.

It solemnly declares that we have reached a fateful hour in our national history and that every citizen faces the choice of liberty or despotism, foreign or domestic and aligns the Democratic Party of Clay County on the side of liberty.

It views with alarm the infiltration of educational, religious, labor and other organizations by subversive groups which are undermining the confidence of our people in the traditional American system of free enterprise.

It encourages the youth of the nation to take an active interest in government, in defense of their heritage, and calls on the people as a whole to unite in opposition to the encroachment of centralization of government, defends states rights, and commends the press and radio for its efforts to arouse and awaken the people to the danger that confronts us.

It pledges its devoted and vigorous action against the invasion of federal or state government of the basic rights, privileges and immunities of the individual and expresses deep concern over the destruction by judicial interpretation and usurpation of our Constitution. Holds that public office is a public trust and abhors alliances between officials and racketeers, gamblers and law violators.

It calls upon the Florida Legislature to enact appropriate laws for referendum and recall of state and local officials who fail to perform the duties of their offices or fall in the public trust.

MERGER OF THREE German states, shown on maps above, into one, voted overwhelmingly by the combined 6,593,000 population, is believed certain of approval by the Allied high commission. One state, Hohenzollern, was the home of the World War I Kaiser. Capital is expected to be Stuttgart. Prior to World War II the area was governed as two states, but the Allies divided it into three to fit occupation zone boundaries. A constitution must be drawn up.

Plenty Of Cash In The Country, But Few Want To Lend

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK—Seldom before has there been so much money around. And yet it's going to cost you more to get loans from your bank.

Interest rates are rising, bankers say, because "money is tight." This paradox may seem doubly strange to the layman at this time. The national income is at a peak. Money in circulation is at a seasonal pre-Christmas high. Almost everything that is expressed in terms of money is at a record high: Sales totals of business, wages and salaries, dividend payments, bank deposits and tax collections.

How then can money be scarce? Bankers say that money isn't scarce, but that money for lending purposes is.

The pace of business has a lot to do with it, bankers explain. They point to the fact that their loans to business are now at all-time highs. And the demands of business for still more money to finance its record expansion of plant and equipment are making it hard for banks to find the money to lend.

The defense program also calls for more money to be lent by the banks—to finance factories tooling up, to take care of the purchase of raw materials, to carry payrolls for growing defense employment, to help business meet overhead costs while it waits for months to produce the arms and collect for them from the U. S. Treasury.

The Treasury itself is seeking money in less than six months it has spent eight billion dollars more than it has taken in. To keep its cash box operating, the Treasury has been selling notes to banks and selling tax-anticipation notes to corporations—all of this mopping up part of the money supply and making it scarce.

Money is particularly tight just now. Seasonally it should ease next month—stores will be paying back their loans out of the money they took in during the Christmas season, and corporations who have been borrowing from the banks to meet their December tax installments will be paying back out of their sales receipts. The Treasury deficit, too, will ease as the tax payments roll in.

But the banks think that the January easing in the money supply for lending purposes won't be as great as usual. They foresee increased demands for ready money as defense production is stepped up steadily.

And so they've raised their interest rates again. Rates on loans to borrowers with the highest credit rating went to three per cent here today—the highest it has been since shortly after the bank holidays in 1933. Rates on other business loans are expected to follow.

In time, this increase will work through most interest structures. The interest that the Treasury must pay now for the money it borrows periodically has gone up. The price of many corporate bonds has gone down, meaning increased. Corporations floating

MADE SEVERAL MONTHS AGO, the photo at top shows Walter Wanger, his wife, Joan Bennett and agent Jennings Lang at a New York night club. Seated next to Lang (right) is Barbara Bennett, Joan's sister. Now, Wanger is charged with shooting Lang with intent to commit murder. The latter is in a Hollywood hospital where surgeons performed a delicate operation to remove a bullet from his groin. At bottom, left, Wanger is pictured after being released in $5,000 bail, returnable Dec. 20. At right, Joan Bennett talks to reporters at her Beverly Hills, Calif., home. The actress said there will be no divorce proceedings and hoped that her husband "will not be blamed too much" for shooting Lang. (International Soundphotos)

It marks another stride away from the "easy money" days that started in the Depression and were continued, at U. S. Treasury insistence, until last March. At that time the Federal reserve Board stopped holding up the price of U. S. securities—the chief way of holding down interest rates. The price of federal securities fell, and this meant that the yield you can get on money you invest in U. S. securities rose. Interest rates at the bank soon went higher, too.

The interest that the Treasury must pay now for the money it borrows periodically has gone up. The price of many corporate bonds has gone down, meaning increased. Corporations floating
