Our decisions may seem to b ersonal, but there are no such fecialons, Every one has followers, family or friends. We decide matfamily or friends, we decide mat-ters for generations yet unborn. We should make high decisions. But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.—Josh. 24:15.

Newspaper supplements and mag-azines are filled these days with attractive and alluring ads beckoning the reader to pack his car with family and baggage and spend the summer at the shore, in the mountains, or seeing the world. Most of those down here in Florida will spend their spare time renovating their properties in order to take care of next winter's northern visitors who don't believe in the theory that the best place to pass a vacation is in the home.

The politicians of course will take all the credit for curbing inflation this year, says Roger Babmoney for a rainy day. As a matter of fact, the people of America saved twice as much money in 1951 as they saved in 1950, put-ting over 22 billion dollars into saving banks, savings bonds, insurance and similar investments. If they had spent all that money, you would have seen some price increases that were really price in-

A New as Korea armistice talks resumed as Korea armistice talks resumed York Times survey on employment possibilities at 25 leading colleges ahows that salaries offered to graduates this June will be higher than ever before and that employers are offering special inducements to get the graduates they want and need. Things have changed in a few short the graduates they want and need. Things have changed in a few short years. There was a time when a college graduate went hat in hand to an employer and was gratified if he got an interview. Part of the change may be ascribed to the defense program. But part of it is an increased realization smong those who hire workers that education is an asset Ush cannot be overvalued. Those who leave the campuses this year walk into opportunities such a hase never before been offered. With these opportunities come responsibilities. How well this lunes graduates sheet the responsibilities will determine how many more doors to opportunity will be optical to them.

Eyes For Driving

"I didn't see," will be the tragic excuse for a high proportion of the automobile accidents of the summer driving season ushered in by Decoration Day, Dr. Elmer M. Soles, director of the Department of Public Information, American Optometric Association, declared recently.

Dr. Soles listed the following as the major visual requirements for safe driving:

Distance acuity — ability to focus and see clearly with-her the distance that is required to stop, regardless of driv-

Adequate field of vision - ability to see within an arc of at least 70 degrees to each side while focusing straight ahead.

Adequate depth perception - ability to tolerate bright lights and to recover quickly from blinding glare.

"It is important for every driver to know his visual capacities." Dr. Soles said. "If for any reason his vision cannot be brought up to par he may then be able to compensate for his shortcomings. That is, if he is weak in depth perception he will be especially cautious where space and speed judgment is required. If his field of vision is below par on one or both sides he can often avoid accidents by taking special pains to look frequently to the side.

"Acuity, the easiest of all visual problems to correct with glasses, is extremely important because it is necessary to see danger in time to avoid it." Dr. Soles warned against reliance on reading glasses which correct vision for nearpoint vision when safe driving requires special emphasis on distance vision.

Tax Abuse Bill

At last Congress may be going to take action to prevent recurrence of the tax scandals. A bill recently introduced in the House calls for a one year jail term and a $10,000 fine for anyone convicted of failure to keep adequate records of items listed as tax deductions, concealment of gross income, advice to tax payers as to how taxes can be evaded. The bill provides for penalties for fixers and extends the year amounted to $806,700,000, statute of limitations in tax fraud cases from three to six according to the State Chamber of years. This would give the government a longer time to Commerce. That is the largest total examine returns which seem suspicious and take appropri-

Thorough investigation and check on those who handle tax money is essential. Corrupt government employees should be caught and punished. But it is also well that those who help to corrupt public servants be tracked down and punished.

What the fate of the bill will be in Congress cannot be predicted. But some such measure is necessary and if it is not forthcoming many Congressmen are going to be asked the embarrassing question "Why?" when they seek re-elec-

Yesterday's Election

The people have spoken and the governor of Florida has been named for the next four years. Dan McCarty, young, conservative, studious Fort Pierce veteran of legislative as well as military battles, who narrowly lost to Fuller Warren four years ago, has been given his chance. The people have redeemed the error they made in 1948.

Sanford's candidate for governor showed surprising strength in the runoff as he did in the first primary. Anyone who can pile up close to 350,000 votes in a Florida election has nothing to be ashamed of, win, lose, or draw. Odham's strength in the large counties outside of Central Florida, like Hillsborough which he carried by 6448 votes, and Duval which he lost by only 627 votes, must be particularly gratifying to him.

Seminole County, and neighboring counties like Orange and Lake, as had been expected gave Odham a splendid vote. He carried every precinct in Seminole County except Altamonte, and won the county by nearly two to one. Orange county gave him a majority of 3556 votes and Lake one of over 600. Odham has made his name known throughout the state and will be heard from again in future battles

As loyal to Senator Boyle as it was to Brailey Odham, Seminole County voted to return the Sanford man to the State Senate by 1429 votes. This was more than sufficient to offset the slight margin of defeat which he suffered in the other county of the senatorial district. It was a close race, and a hard fought one, and Boyle deserves great credit for the gallant fight he made under most trying difficulties.

Congratulations are also due J. L. Hobby who carried the county in the sheriff's race, W. B. (Brown)) Miller who won the county commissioner's seat in District No. 1 and to John Meisch who defeated his opponent in District No. 5. It will seem very much like old times to see the name of John Meisch on the board again and we wish him every suc-

Humanizing Industry

The man on the assembly line, the backbone of American industry, is the subject of a study in the Harvard Business Review. It concludes that mass production in giant industrial plants tends to arouse a feeling of anonymity in workers and that human feelings of pride in work must be restored.

The research was made in a modern automobile assembly plant. It tells how an assembly line looks and feels to the men who work on it. The researchers found that mass production methods not only define a man's job but also Grandma Has Now Communists Again Threaten War Nation" was banned in Maryland mold the character of his relationships with his fellow em ployees and his relationships with management. Assembly line jobs are found to be "mechanically paced" and clearly repetitive." In addition, "they have a low skill requirement permit work on only a fraction of the product, severely limit social interaction and predetermine for nearly every worker any use he may make of tools and methods.

In other words, they are dull, and leave no room for creative ability.

These conditions are partially responsible for labor's restlessness today. Management for the average assembly line worker has become a depersonalized concept, just as jet-propelled grandma. too often the worker is a statistic on a chart for management. It is easy to strike against an impersonal object. It hated the thought of becoming a is tempting to refuse to bargain with a statistic.

clude a bathing beauty contest, watermelon eating contest where a score of bright-eyed, eager youngsters sink their teeth into ripe red watermelon until it liter-ally runs out their ears. It is really a sight to see those freckled-faced kids go after melons. How they can put away as much as they do in so short a time is more than I can understand. What happens to the seeds s another mystery for they don't take time to spit them out. Selecting the 1952 Watermelon

Queen was a difficult job and had the judges in a sweat for an hour or more. You see, in order to qualify for this contest a girl must already hold a title as win-ner of a beauty contest so it really is a "Queen of Queens" contest. Winner this year was Dianne Sena of Coral Gables who was crowned by Congressman Syd Herland while 20,000 onlookers cheered their approval.

Leesburg is a lucky town for it has a fine group of citizens who work together for the good of the community. George Rast director of the festival, is one of the best loved men in Florida, Although not a fair or festival man, he has certainly done a bangup job in Leesburg and like all fes-tival officials he serves without pay.

Another popular Leesburg man is Beverly Grizzard who serves the state as acting director of the Florida State Advertising Commision. Everyone likes Bev, and he has done more to advance the state through the careful and intelligent use of the limited fund available to the Commission than any predecessor. A lot of folks think Beverly Gizzard would make a mighty good Governor, and Peter Schall of Silver Springs in-jected a little 1956 politics into the festival program and urged the state to get behind Beverly and insist on his running for the office of Chief Executive on the next go-round.

Back in his Leesburg harness ngain is Bill Wells who returned May 1 a Secretary of the Chamber of Commercee. Bill left Lees burg a year or so ago to become secretary of the Sarasota Chamber of Commerce and lateer went with the State Advertising Commission, but he likes Leesburg and says he never really felt at home anywhere else, so he re-turned just in time to help set up the 1952 Florida Watermelon Festival, I am sure all the good people of Leesburg are glad Bill is back on the job

Keep your eyes on Leesburg for it is a central Florida community that is going places and you can count on it the 1953 Watermelon Festival will top this year's show so you better plan to be there.

Fear Growing Of Renewal Of Korean War

Another Outbreak Occurs In Koje Prison Camp With One Red Reported Slain

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON on - Threatening Rad hints of renewed large-scale warfare in Korea have been re-ceived in official Washington with deadly seriousness.

They have sharpened the belief of top-ranking authorities that the Chinese and North Korean Communists, having built up a inilion-man army and a more powerful all force during the 11 months of truce talks, may now launch a major offensive.

Official public statements here have generally been limited to emphasizing the capability of the Reds for attacking. But ever since the truce talks deadlocked several weeks ago officials have been privately talking of a big Red drive as a growing possibility.

The armistice negotiations stalled upon insistence by the United Nations Command that none of its Chinese and North Ko rean captives should be forced to go home, and upon a report of a survey among these captives that of 170,000 held only about 70,000 were willing to go home.
