

OFFICIAL SAYS SHEARER PUT ONE OVER HIM

Declares Employment of Naval Observer Wasn't Mature Judgment Upon His Part

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(INS)—Samuel W. Wakeman, vice president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company, who has been described by his superiors as the official who actually employed Wm. B. Shearer to go to the Geneva disarmament conference as the representative of American shipbuilding interests, was examined today by the Senate committee that is investigating Shearer's activities.

Wakeman, a tall man with sparse gray hair, readily admitted that he had employed Shearer. He had been impressed, he said, with Shearer's apparent knowledge of naval and shipping affairs.

"Well, sir, I don't like to admit it, but he certainly did put it over on me. Super-salesmanship," Wakeman made this explanation to the Senate committee to how it came about that three American shipbuilding firms employed Wm. B. Shearer to represent them at the ill-starred Geneva disarmament conference in 1927. They paid Shearer $25,000 for the work and he is now suing them for $250,000 more.

Like other shipbuilding officials who have been called before the committee, Wakeman declared that Shearer was employed only "to observe and report the trend" of the conference, and denied that he was an obstructionist.

Wakeman said he thought Shearer could get "certain information" not available to the press for publication. He explained his firm has a contract government shipbuilding work and said "things were in a very unsteady state."

"I thought we should get some sort of hint on the conference," he said. "I didn't know what sort of stand I am perfectly willing to admit now that the employment of Shearer wasn't mature judgment. I was simply jassed off my feet."

Wakeman said he read the report sent in by Shearer from Geneva but that he had learned nothing valuable from their content.

Miss Trumbull Becomes Mrs. John Coolidge Today In Quiet, Simple Wedding

ARREST OF REAL WIGGINS' SLAYER EXPECTED SOON

Detective Says He Has Amassed Pile Of Evidence Against Killer

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 23.—(INS)—Arrest of the actual slayer of Mrs. Ellis May Wiggins, Gastonia strike martyr, was promised momentarily today by H. C. Guiley, a detective employed by the international labor defense to probe the killing.

Mrs. Wiggins, a young mother of five children, was shot down and killed by a mob of anti-communist vigilantes in Gastonia a week ago Saturday. Guiley declared he had amassed a pile of evidence against the man who fired the fatal shot.

"I just have a few loose ends I have to check up, and our case will be complete," Guiley said. "It will be only a short while now before we have an airtight case and nab the murderer." A thousand reward has been offered for the arrest of the killer by the American civil liberties union.

Meanwhile, Solicitor John G. Carpenter was summoning a batch of witnesses who will testify at the resumption of a coroner's inquest into the mob murder Wednesday morning at Gastonia. Once the hearing is started against new evidence of a "starling" nature will be drawn from the witnesses, the Solicitor intimated.

The hearing was scheduled to have been resumed Saturday, but Carpenter delayed it because of the discovery of new evidence necessitating the calling of a number of additional witnesses.

Seven men already have been named in the investigation. Each for a portion of the inquest witnesses identified them as men present on the scene of the mob slaying. Six of the men are employees of the Gastonia mill, owned by Loray Mill from which the Gastonia labor upheaval grew.

It was disclosed today that 50 organizers and secretaries of the anti-Communist workers union met in seclusion here to arrange for further organization work upon the battlefield of the communicative invasion of the textile South.

"Our work in the South shall not be balked," said Hugo Deiler, southern organizer for the N. T. W. U., after the session. "But because of the murder of Wiggins on organizers by Gastonia mobs."

Offering his assistance and co-operation, Mayor Nelson Gray today issued a proclamation urging the business institutions and citizenship of Sanford to lend their support and exercise every effort to make the second After-Supper Sale a greater success than the event staged in July.

Chief Roy G. Williams of the Police Department has also pledged his co-operation and that of his department on Wednesday evening, and will have charge of policing the course for the automobile race.

The complete program for the evening is as follows:

The weather man has promised rain and overcast clouds for the day. If the elements intervene, the 800 guests at the wedding reception will forgo the gay-hued luncheon and take refuge in the yellow-bricked manor.

On the arm of her father, Governor John H. Trumbull, of Connecticut, the bride will walk down the aisle in a gown of ivory satin and one half yard long and four and one half wide. The bridal veil was donated by the C. G. family having been in the family for generations.

While the guests are assembling there will be a half-hour concert which will include the March Triumphant by Oref, Wagner's Prelude to Lehengrin, Elza's bridal procession, the familiar "Ave Maria" of Bachgund, and just before the wedding march, "Promis' me" by Reginald De Koven.

During the ceremony, a vesper song of Mount Holyoke College, where Miss Trumbull is a student, will be played on the violin. It will be called "White Air" and played by Emil Heinger, hotel orchestra leader, to have often danced on their nuptial excursions.

Dr. William C. Hammond, organist of Holyoke College, picked up this fantasy from rural folk songs of Colchester Conn.

Solon Voices Dislike Of Naval Agreement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(INS)—The first rumble of Senate opposition to the British-American naval agreement broke out today. In a speech denouncing America's position in world affairs, Senator McKellar (D) of Tenn., attacked the Hoover-McDonald agreement as one which assigns to the United States "an inferior naval position." "There never was a worse time for us to have an inferior navy than right now," McKellar said, after citing America's enormous foreign trade, the tremendous sums owed this country by foreign debtors and the envy of American prosperity that exists abroad.

LETTER SHOWS PEACOCK'S WIFE WAS NOT TRUE

Communication To Her Aunt Tells Of Living In Apartment With Several Men

By James L. Kilgallen
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
COURT HOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Dorothy Heinzelman Peacock, slain "madcap" bride of Earl F. Peacock, wrote to her "aunt Ida" Hueston on Sunday, Jan. 20 last, that she was living in an apartment in New York City where several men resided, her mother, Mrs. Adelaide Heinzelman admitted under a severe cross-examination today at the trial of Peacock for murder.

Mrs. Heinzelman said "aunt Ida" had shown the letter to her. About that time Peacock was complaining to his mother-in-law that Dorothy was being at the apartment and that he knew where the place was and was going to shoot it up."

Q. (By Defense Attorney Sidney A. Syme). Did you go to Dorothy's apartment to do something about it?

A. I did not.

The sad-faced, black-garbed mother, who had been fighting to protect her daughter's reputation, insisted bitterly and with tears that she was not in her "living hell" with the other men lived and not living with them.

"There is a distinction there," declared District Attorney Frank Coyne.

Dorothy was slain on the night of Apr. 21, the first anniversary of her marriage.

Mrs. Heinzelman presented a pathetic figure as she wept bitterly to Syme's questions. She seemed eager to have her interrogation over with. "Now and then she glanced toward her son-in-law in the corner's dock, sitting beside his sister's heavily veiled mother, Mrs. Catherine Peacock. Mrs. Peacock wore a bright green plush cloak.

Flappers almost tore the buttons off the police in getting into the courtroom. They sat forward in their seats as Syme gridded Dorothy's mother.

Q. Do you know the names of the men who were living in the apartment?

A. She mentioned the name of only one.

Q. Was that Carlton Carroll?

A. Yes.

Q. Didn't Earl send you daughter a bunch of flowers on her birthday, Feb. 9?

A. I do not remember him having done that.

The identification was resumed after she had admitted her daughter had corresponded with Eugene Bussey formerly a student in Johns Hopkins University. She was asked if Peacock had not told her he and "the" quarrel because Bussey was visiting his home nights while he was at work. She could only remember Peacock having said he "did not like Bussey."

"That finishes the state's case," said District Attorney Coyne, shortly before eleven o'clock as Mrs. Heinzelman left the stand. Coyne then began reading several statements Peacock had made to the police after his arrest and also the confession he signed.

Drug Dens Said To Be Near Capitol Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(INS)—Four narcotic dens furnishing opium and other drugs to habitues, flourish beneath the shadow of the Capitol's dome, Senator Cole Blease (D) of South Carolina charged in the Senate this afternoon. Blease said the four dens were located "within two squares of the peace monument on Pennsylvania Avenue." The peace monument is located at the foot of the Capitol grounds. "This information is known to the people whose duty it is to stop that traffic," Blease added. Senator Hefflin (D) of Ala., followed Blease to charge that the prohibition law wasn't being enforced in Washington or other large cities. He said the authorities failed to make a real effort at enforcement.

LINDY LANDS IN BRITISH GUIANA SOUTH AMERICA

Completes Long Trip Over Caribbean Sea Without Incident On Trail Blazing Hop

GEORGETOWN, BRITISH GUIANA, SOUTH AMERICA, Sept. 23.—(INS)—Col Charles A. Lindbergh's Sikorsky amphibian plane, arrived here at 11:25 o'clock, enroute from Port of Spain, Trinidad, to Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana.

Pan American Airways, owner of the plane, has no ground station at this place. The journey across the Caribbean and along the northern coast of South America was made without incident. The weather was fine.

As the plane crossed swamps and dense jungles the following radiogram was despatched to the Pan American air station at Miami, Fla.

"The delta of the Orinoco, where we crossed, was 50 miles wide and filled with little islands. The water was high for this is the rainy season. Col. Lindbergh, who is at the controls, brought the plane down to an altitude of 500 feet. There are swamps and jungles below us. The brush is short and the vegetation is close and matted. There are no inhabitants."

"Mrs. Lindbergh is much interested in a flock of small birds of many colors flying near the plane. We can see wild animals, scattered through the underbrush at the sound of our motors, stopping to their mud flight at brief intervals to watch the new invader of their domain. Mr. Trippe's plane is on a direct line with us about a mile behind."

The following radiogram was sent by Col. Lindbergh: "Time 11:32 A. M. We are flying smoothly, well behind the clouds. The Colonel is keeping the check upon the charts. Two more Sikorsky amphibians are waiting, one at San Juan, the other at Paramaribo, ready to carry on."

"Mrs. Lindbergh is watching the route closely like a good pilot, adding notes in her diary and reading a chapter now and then in her book."

"This is the longest hop of the entire flight—329 miles to Georgetown. We are still over the Venezuelan coastal region. The low mountains 25 miles inland are deep purple in the mist. We are crossing regularly with Trippe's plane in the clouds with us. All well. Weather good."

Police attributed the shooting to another alcohol war in "Little Italy."

John Coolidge And His Fiancee Are Caught For Speeding, Then Released

PLAINVILLE, Conn., Sept. 23.—(INS)—The course of love runs smoothly even at 50 miles an hour. Florence Trumbull and John Coolidge, today's most famous lovers, nearly were pinched. The episode added extra gaiety to the festive arrangements for the wedding of the pair this afternoon.

Florence and John were in the private automobile of Governor John H. Trumbull on route to a reception at the Shuttle Meadow Country Club in New Britain last evening. John was driving and Florence was sitting close next to him in the front seat. Lovers are not expected to see other things on the eve of their wedding.

John was driving an anti-torcycle policeman Peter Cabelas was pursuing them. Cabelas had seen the machine speeder at 30 miles an hour on the outskirts of New Britain. He honked and chased and chased and honked.

Finally, after a half-mile he caught up. "Where do you think you're going to a fire?" inquired Cabelas.

"I really didn't know we were going so fast," exclaimed John displaying surprise.

"Didn't you know it?" Cabelas suggested to Florence.

"I didn't know we were going so fast, either," smiled Florence. Everybody kept looking surprised.

Where's your license, young fellow," asked Cabelas of John.

John showed him his license. Now Cabelas looked surprised.

"Are you the ex-president's son?" he inquired.

"Yes," said young Coolidge.

Then Cabelas recognized Florence. "Oh, yes," he said, "but don't do it again."

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—(INS)—How he tricked Henry Ford, Harvey Firestone, Hollywood motion picture stars and governors of several states was told today by George Gabor, 30, under arrest on a charge of impersonating "the third assistant auditor general."

"I did it mainly for the fun," Gabor said. "I like to travel and I enjoy being well entertained. A few weeks ago at San Diego they sent me with a motorcycle escort, and I was in the limousine with the elite of the city."

"D. A. Redwine, assistant United States attorney general, was one of my hosts. This is my second visit to Los Angeles. I first came here as Baron Von Krupp, son of the German munitions manufacturer, in 1926. Shortly afterwards I was arrested as 'Liquor-Lover, N. M.' and deported."

"I didn't stay in Europe long. I told the late Myron Herrick, ambassador to France, that I had lost my passport and he arranged my return at government expense."

"Of course I have a system of convincing persons that I am the person I pretend to be, but I seldom use the same method twice."

Gabor is said to have tricked Ford so completely that the auto manufacturer gave him an automobile.

ATHLETICS TAKE DETROIT TIGERS FOR SECOND WIN

Crowder Limits Nats To Five Hits And Browns Win, 1 To 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(INS)—Win, lose, or draw in the coming lawn parties with the Chicago Cubs, Connie Mack may well speak of his 1929 Athletics in the same reverential tone he uses when discussing his trumpeting White Elephants of the past.

The current edition of A's have done quite a bit for the old man. First they gave him his first American league flag in 15 years. Secondly, the flag they won enabled him to pass neighbor Huggins in the matter of pennants won. And now they seem in the way to score more victories than any of Connie's earlier Athletics.

Their ten-inning, 2 to 1, win over the Tigers yesterday, was their 99 wins against 44 losses. It seems more than probable that they will win five more games for 104 victories which will top the 103 of the 1910 A's—the highest number of triumphs yet scored by a stack team.

St. Louis, behind the air-tight hurling of Alvin Crowder, blanked Washington, 1 to 0. Goose Goslin's error paved the way for the lone home run.

Wesley Ferrell, sensational young Indian pitcher, stepped into the breach in time to stop a Red Sox upsurge, and Cleveland turned back the Boston boys, 4 to 2.

The Yankees and White Sox took one look at the bleak Yankee stadium and ran for their long flannels. They will make the game up by playing a double-header tomorrow.

Pittsburgh trimmed Boston, 10 to 3, in the only game played in the National League. Brooklyn and St. Louis, the only other clubs scheduled, were rained out. The Pirates' win gave them a five-game lead over the Giants in their battle for second place honor, glory and, need we add, money.

PAVING COSTS "College Love" Will Be Feature Picture At Milane Today

(continued from page one) ment should not be assessed against the abutting property. E. A. Douglass, pioneer resident who has contended for years that the 50-50 method of assessing costs of an improvement against the property, was not equitable, today viewed the decision as a substantiation of the views which he has held. Sizing up the situation, Mr. Douglass said:

"No city can make a law which conflicts with the state law. The court's ruling in this instance is very clear that a county cannot levy the entire costs of an improvement upon the abutting property unless it derives all the benefits. Therefore, from a taxpayer's point of view, it seems to me that the same principle would apply to the imposition of costs upon city property holders."

"I have always contended that paving costs in Sanjo, when the abutting property, would be illegal and uncollectable, except when a petition is on file from all of the affected taxpayers."

Mr. Douglass said he had always opposed the so-called 50-50 method of assessment and had never had any reason to change from that position. He recalled that some 18 months ago, with a view to settling the question of the courts, he had requested the City Commission to bring suit against him as a test case. He said the offer was never accepted. Sanford paving assessments, except in a few isolated cases, have been levied entirely against the abutting property. This method has been adopted under the authority of a state law passed in 1923 which provided that the legislature might enact special taxing districts and charge the cost of local improvements, in whole or in part, to the abutting property.

All of the coach's exhortations to his team in the clubhouse, picturesque with his vivid conversation aimed at this player and that, are brought in by Director Nat Ross both in dialogue and photography. The effect is exactly as though the audience were present in the room, seeing and hearing all the coach's efforts to put new life into his team. Every one has seen the player on the football field group themselves into a huddle just before they attempt a play. How their signals are given, what they say, all the quick, staccato decisions with which they determine the course of the ball are heard by the audience in this picture. "College Love" is essentially a football picture, the story progressing to the thrilling climax of the big game. But it contains as well all the fascinating spontaneity and color of almost every phase of campus life, including the beautiful torchlight parade which occurs on the evening before the gridiron contest.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 20 (INS)—A former North Carolina prisoner who was paroled a few months ago has written ex-Prosecutor Edwin B. Bridges of Charlotte, to warn three of the prosecuting attorneys in the Aderholt trial that New York gunmen are being sent to Gastonia "to take them for a ride."

The letter, according to Bridges, apparently came out of a sense of gratitude for his aid in securing a pardon for the long-term convict. The former prisoner is also known to Judge H. S. Patton, commissioner, and the two men have held a conference over the letter. Both were willing to place some credence in it.

"The prisoner said in his letter: 'They are raising money to bump off Mr. John Carpenter, Major A. J. Bulwinkle and Clyde R. Hoey. Please warn these men.'"

"Beat Them"

You don't have to use electricity to clean your carpets. Lift them off the floor, drag them out on the lawn and "beat them" for dear life. Well, you have just earned for every hour of back breaking and dusty flying work one cent and the job not half done. But you no longer "beat them" because you know your time, your health and your comfort are worth more than one cent an hour and that the Electric Vacuum Cleaner does the job perfectly. There is no waste in electric haste.

Get Good Meat

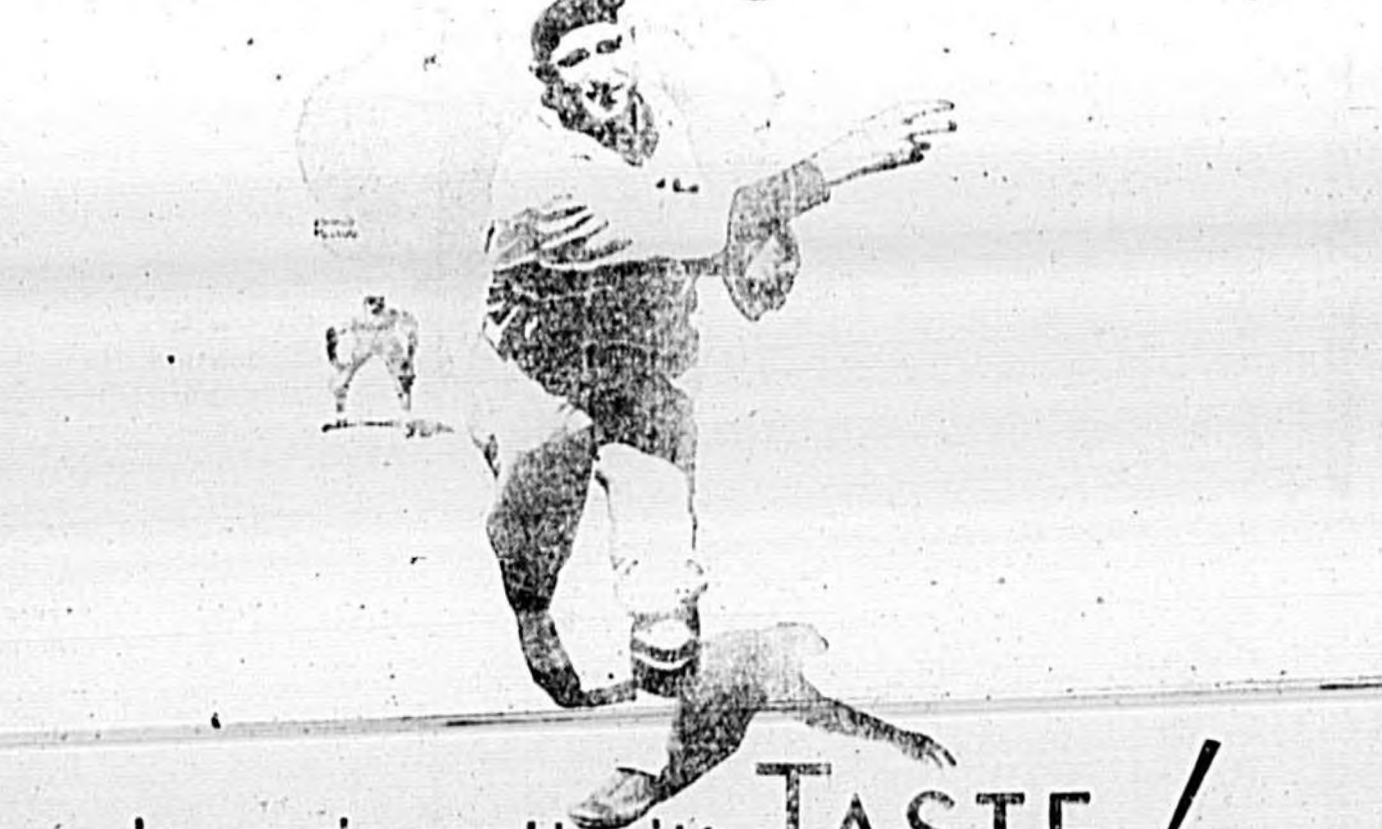

IF IN SOME places sustenance is difficult to obtain which to get good meat. So, if you find you can't obtain the quality of fresh meat you want, try some of the many canned meats which are always good.

Two of the most popular are canned corned beef and canned ham. To make a delicious hash, mix equal parts of corned beef, diced raw potatoes and butter. Put in a buttered frying dish and bake in a slow oven until the potatoes are thoroughly done—about 45 minutes probably. Some like to add a little minced onion or parsley to the hash before baking.

A jellied meat loaf may be made by running canned ham or corned beef through a coarse meat grinder until you have one and one-half pounds. Dissolve gelatin in half a cup of boiling water and add one-half cup of canned bouillon, one-half tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and

Good Without Fail: Other canned meats are ready to serve as entrees. In this group come chicken a la King, Hungarian style goulash, stewed kidneys, liver with bacon or onions, curried chicken, chop suey, and many others. Veal loaf, Vienna sausages, boiled beef, tongue and similar meats can be served surely heated or may be used in combinations, as can the corned beef and ham. They will insure you anywhere a supply of delicious meat of the first quality—without fail.

... in the box it's CONTROL!

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"DO ONE THING, and do it well." In making cigarettes, choose the one thing that counts—good taste—and give full measure!

From start to finish, that's the Chesterfield story. Good tobaccos, skillfully blended and cross-blended, the standard Chesterfield method—appetizing flavor, rich fragrance, wholesome satisfying character—
