We're doing something to clear the air. We breathe the same air as you breaths. And we've really been working to improve it.

Since 1990, on the average, we've reduced carbon monoxide emissions from our engines by about two-thirds. Hydrocarbons have been cut a full 80%. And all our engines now run efficiently on the new low-lead or no-lead gasolines.

In fact, if all cars on the road had the emission controls of the new Chevrolets and if all industries made similar strades, we'd be breathing as as fresh as it was in 1940.

A pier extends into the Hal-Ifax River - a stocked fish pond adjacent to it, and a deep water canal borders the camp on one side. Bait and tackle is available for this type of fishing at the camp office, and many anglers, especially children, who do not care to venture out upon the ocean, try their luck here. While waiting for the fishing eraft to dock, visitors amuse themselves by looking over un-ing the sharks, sea-turties, and many other varieties of fish in the stocked pond. Tantalizing smells from the grill whets the appetite and quite a few people who merely came to look end up enjoying one of the tempting dinners. Those who prefer to cook their shrimp or fish at home can buy them

Two shrimp boats are now operating out of Inlet Harbor and all of the catch from these commercial boats is sold through the camp fish market or prepased in the gill. Some of the larger party fishing craft are converted to shrimpers in the Winter "off season" when cold and windy weather discourages pleasure fishing. Tangled lines and orderly confusion ensues as the mate and captain pass the rods over, under, and around the tackle, of other anglers until the big ones are landed or break off. As each one is hooked, the mate tries to see that each one aboard has his chance to fight one of these bruisers. After several have been landed, the school disappears as suddenly as they came and

Sometimes, two or more of Duties of the mate or mates (larger capacity boats have two) is to keep the passengers supplied with bait, unhook and mark each anglers fish so they can be identified when the day is over, and help with the tackle as needed. Only the red snapper, grouper and other large edible fish are marked. The sea bass, being so common, are iced in the fish box and divided by the fishermen upon their return to the dock. The mates also clean fish if the passengers desire. A small fee is charged for this and ice and bags may be obtained to transport the fish Trolling boats, as the name implies, do most of their fishing with the motor running and the lures trailing out behind to entice the surface striking varieties such as king mackeral, bonita, dolphin and with very good luck, a sailfish. By TOM HOGE Associated Press Writer A pleasant way to spend a East or are visiting that part of the country is to drive to Stratance at the Shakespeare Festival Theater and top it off with dinner at the nearby Publick

I drove up from New York a few weeks ago and had a picnic on the sweeping lawn outside ? the picturesque rustic theater % as I watched the boats sailing E on Long Island Sound a few After taking in a matinee of -The Merry Wives of Wind-ermaid Tavern. The fare, in-The kitchen of the attractive avastano, who seems to enjoy ental over it, as some of his leagues elsewhere do. At 16, while still in high school, Savastano got a job as grill man in Newport, R.I. where he had gone to school Then he moved to Stratford boy in the Mermaid. After two years in the army, Savastano worked for a while as chef in a restaurant in Cinnnati, Ohio, then returned to the Mermaid. When the transrmation from Mermaid to Publick House took place a few ears ago, Savastano became hef. He set up a menu that inuded many of the most elaboate foods from the European ontinent, but the specialty was arty early American fare.

"Early American dishes are ast as challenging to prepare as those from the Continent," he said. "Their seeming simplicity is deceptive. To prepare a clam chowder or broiled lobster that is just right is as difficult as an intricate French wine sauce."

"The difference between traditional American cooking and traditional French," Savastano continued, "lies chiefly gredients.

"With their original homelands so far away and sea travel so slow," he went on. "The first Americans could not readil yimport the ingredients for their menus. They had to make use of whatever was native to their region."

One of the tastiest dishes offered by Savastano is his Squash Pie which is as American as a gingham gown, Here is the recipe:

SQUASH PIE 1½ cups squash 's cup light brown sugar % cup granulated sugar tablespoon molasses 12 tablespoon nutmeg, cinna mon & ginger 14 teaspoon cloves 16 teasopon salt

2 eggs slightly beaten 1 cup milk Mix in the order given. Line pie plate with crust. Pour miyture into lined pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour.

PINEAPPLE REFRIGERATOR DESSERT

Given in answer to a reader's 12 ladyfingers, split 1 package (3 ounces) lemonflavor gelatin

1 cup boiling water 1 can (8% ounces) crushed pineapple

2 egg whites 14 cup sugar

1 container (8 ounces) heavy Line bottom of 9-inch pie

plate with about half the ladyfingers. Cut remaining ladyfingers in half crosswise and place around sides of plate. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water: add undrained pineapple; chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy: gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until mixture forms stiff shiny peaks; set aside. Without washing beater, beat cream until stiff; set aside t cup whipped cream for garnish. Blend gelatin mixture into remaining whipped cream, then fold in egg white mixture. Chill again, if necessary, until mixture is thickened. Pile into ladyfinger-lined pan. Chill until firm-about 2 hours. Garnish with reserved whipped cream.

The interesting feature of the dressing is that it uses bacon fat instead of oil, finegar, water, sugar and salt go in, too. and the dressing is thickened with eggs. The dressing must be hot when it is poured over the greens so that it will will them. For cole slaw, however, the dressing should be cooled slingtly, mixed with shredded cabbage and chilled for several hours before serving. When we tried the salad dressing recipe in our test kitchen, we poured it over 4 cups of knife-shredded iceberg lettuce, If you prefer to use mixed greens, you might choose romaine, escarole and chicory. The donor of the recip esays, "One of my favorite ways to serve the dressing is to pour it over dandelion greens. But you must gather these in the early spring when they're still tender and not bitter.

Hot Meals Follow School

Back to the classroom for the kids means back to less casual 🖯 cooking for Mon. Heralding the m shift of seasons, the school bell calls for more meals that come ? o the table from the range than the refrigerator.

Even so, Mon's still liberated! The apron strings that tied her # to the kitchen have been snipped at the modern grocery where most foods are but an easy step from the table and teasonings come in envelopes. Her work has been cut by such 2 onveniences as trimmed meats s ackaged ready for the pan and prunes pitted for eating "as is" or easy plumping.

Since good grades at school in start with good nutrition at 2 home. Mon's homework can ontribute to a favorable report card. Meal planning and prepration, although simplified, are still serious business as bodybuilding protein, vitamins and minerals are important to learning. A poorty nourished child just doesn't perform as well in both mental and physical ac-

Presented here is a dinner that combines good nutrition, ease of preparation and appetite appeal. It features popular pork hops baked to tenderness on a bed of fluffy rice, seasoned deiciously with a package of onion oup mix. Prunes, apples, celery and walnuts are blended with ruby red Russian dressing rom a bottle for a tasty variaon of Waldorf Salad.

Some foods merit an "A" in good nutrition. Pork is one of em as it provides a nutrition plus. In addition to the high uality protein, vitamins and minerals contributed by all neats, pork is the richest natural source of thiamin, the 'pep" vitamin essential to healthy nerves and muscles and the digestion and assimilation of Prunes, too, are especially rich in important vitamins and ninerals, among them vitamin A. iron and potassium. In addition, prunes, "naturally sweet" and popular for a snack as they come from the package, provide the quick energy children need.

6 pork chops, cut 1 to 116 inches thick 2 tablespoons lard or drip-

1 cup uncooked rice 1 envelope Lipton Onion Soup 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms 2 tablespoons diced pimiento Hot water

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Spread rice in bottom of rectangular baking dish (131/1x 9"x2"). Reserve 1 tablespoon of seasonings from envelope of onion soup mix and sprinkle remaining seasonings and bits of onion over rice. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid, and distribute mushrooms and pimiento over rice. Add hot water to reserved mushroom liquid to total 3 cups liquid and pour over rice. Arrange browned chops on top of rice mixture and sprinkle chops with reserved seasonings, Cover tightly with foil and bake n a moderate oven (350 degrees) until just tender. 43 minutes to 1 hour, depending upon thickness of chops. Remove foil and continue cooking or 10 minutes longer, or until any excess liquid evaporates. 6 ervings.

PRUNE WALDORF SALAD 1 package (12 ounces) California pitted prunes

2-3rd cup sliced celery 2 apples, each cut in 12 Wish-Bone Russian Dressing

Seminole County is receiving a federal grant of $89,600 for use in relieving the jobless situation here. The grant is being made under the Emergency Employment Act, according to County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond, who said he had been so informed by U. S. Rep. Louis Frey (R-Winter Park). Drummond said that the specifics for the > implementation of the grant will be outlined Tuesday morning at a meeting in the regional office of the U. S. Department of Labor at Atlanta. Drummond said he will attend the Atlanta The Greater Sanford area was declared an em-

McDilda stated that Seminole County's unemployment is above the national average. Unemployment rate in June was 6.9 per cent and in July 6.2 per cent. Seminole County's employable population, Mc-Dilda said, is 22,700 of which 1,400 are unemployed, including non-farm and agricultural labor. Employed persons number 1,000 in agriculture, 16,100 in nonagricultural pursuits and 4,200 in other pursuits (selfmeeting the requirements of the employed, etc.), for a total of 21,300.

Republican reaction to the long-anticipated Lindsay switch Wednesday ranged from the view that it was overdue to expressions of loss by some liberal members. The White House had no comment.

In his announcement, Lindsay scored the Nixon administration and said his shift "represents a renewed decision to fight for new national leadership. . . . Whether this means I will run for president I do not know."

"I welcome John Lindsay to the Democratic party," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien in an eight-word statement.
